ADDRESS

TO THE

CHRISTIAN READER.

IN the Notes to this Work we have neither omitted any observation that was material, or inserted any thing superfluous; we have only directed our attention to such passages as manifestly appeared to want explanation; which we have given in so concise, plain, and easy a manner, as to render the Sacred Writings intelligible to every capacity.

There is not a son of Adam, whatever his condition may be, whether in prosperity or adversity, in temptation or deliverance, in health or sickness, but he may find in this book some balmy comfort, to the quieting of his conscience, and to the advancement of his salvation. In short, the Holy Bible is the great light to our paths, our comfort in affliction, our shield and sword against Satan, the school of wisdom, the testimony of God's favour, and the food and nourishment of our souls.

Moses, the author of Genesis, appears to have written it with a view to establish the Jews in the worship of the one true and only God, in opposition to the Polytheism and Idolatry which they might meet with in their progress to the land of Canaan. He strikes, indeed, at the root of idolatry at once, by asserting, that all the visible world was created by one great Supreme Being, and created in time, consequently not eternal.

Moses writes indeed concisely, but in a nervous and expressive manner, and in many places has delivered himself with great majesty and sublimity of thought. He is, confessedly, the most ancient writer in the world, and the only one that has given any rational account of the first ages of mankind.

We are created reasonable Subjects to the King of kings; and, as such, are endowed with powers and capacities adequate to our stations; but however honourable such a distinction above the rest of the creation may be, we must not so far exalt ourselves, as to suppose that we are the only rational beings dependent on the divine favour. It is possible there may be millions of intellectual beings between God and man, dispersed through the immensity of creation, with talents and appointments suited to their design and use.

It is the peculiar privilege of Man, above any other inhabitant of this world, that his Creator has revealed himself to him, has permitted and commanded him to offer up his prayers and thanksgivings, with the gracious assurance that he shall be heard and attended to. God has likewise provided, in the course of his providence, that the history of man should be preserved, and handed down to him, through many ages, as incorrupt and clear as possible; and that the evidence for its authenticity should be such as no candid friend to truth need dispute.

To this, in his appointed time, he added the promise of a Saviour, who should descend from the Throne of his Divine Majesty—God blessed for ever! even his own Son, who should redeem the whole race of man from the penalty incurred by the sin of their first parents. This promise, delivered in the prophetic writings of his holy and inspired servants, was literally and circumstantially fulfilled, to the confusion of that unhappy people to whom he was expressly sent, and who rejected him; but to the glory and consolation of the Gentile world, who received and embraced his religion.

If any thing can ~~add to the credit and authority of the Old Testament~~, it is, that our Blessed Saviour continually makes quotations from it, both from the Law and the Prophets; and recommends to the Jews, that they should examine these very writings, as ~~authentic proofs that he was the Saviour and Redeemer of the world~~:—"Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of me."—And again he says to them, in another place, "~~For many ye~~" "Moses, ye had believed me; for he wrote of me."

This circumstance must be an additional incentive to the study of these very ancient and sacred memoirs of the old world: and may that all-gracious, all-governing Providence, "who caused these Holy Scriptures to be written for our learning, grant that we may in such wise hear them, read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest them, that by patience and comfort of this his holy Word, we, and all the whole race of mankind, may obtain the blessed completion of his heavenly promises, through the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ, our only Saviour and Redeemer! Amen."

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS Book is called Genesis, that is, Generation, or Birth, giving an account of passages during upwards of two thousand three hundred years, viz. from the creation of all things to the death of Joseph. In which history Moses, by divine inspiration, treats of the creation of the world, with all the parts and uses in it, but chiefly of man, who alone was made after the image of God. The great things of God's law and gospel are here written, that they might be reduced to a greater certainty, might spread farther, remain longer, and be transmitted to distant places and ages, more pure and entire than possibly they could be by tradition. That part of the Bible, called the Old Testament, contains the acts and monuments of the church, from the creation almost to the coming of Christ: the truths then revealed, the laws enacted, the prophecies given, and the chief events that concerned the church, its commencement in Abel's family, and continuance in the families of Seth, Enoch, &c. We have here likewise the rise of apostacy, begun in Cain, and carried on by his posterity, separating themselves from the holy seed, till by their monstrous provocations they had brought an universal deluge, to destroy all mankind from off the earth, excepting only Noah and his family; out of which, as the church did again spring forth, so another apostate race, carrying on the former enmity to a greater height, not only fell into idolatry, after it had continued a considerable time in Shem's descendants, but breaking out into all outrages, and tyrannical oppressions, it was almost extinct among those numerous nations that proceeded from Noah's posterity. But God calling Abraham into the Land of Promise, who was an idolater in Chalden, and giving him temporal and spiritual promises, and especially that of the Messiah coming out of his loins, and confirming it by a special covenant sealed by circumcision, the church began now to take root, and to be embodied in Jacob's family under the name of Israel. And here God undertook the protection of his people and worship, by the visible presence of Christ her head, that Angel of the Covenant, going continually with them, comforting and defending them, till they came into Egypt, where the church continued until Joseph's death; at which period this book ends.

CHAP. I.

1 The creation of heaven and earth,—3 of the light,—6 of the firmament.—15 The creation of the sun, moon, and stars;—20 of fish and fowl;—24 of beasts and cattle;—26 of man in the image of God, &c.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.
2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 ¶ And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. In the beginning God created, &c.] In the beginning of time. Time began with the production of those beings that are measured by time. Before the beginning of time there was none but that infinite Being that inhabits eternity. Should we ask why God made the world no sooner, we should but darken counsel by words without knowledge; for how could there be sooner or later in eternity? God created, i. e. made it out of nothing. There was not any pre-existent matter, out of which the world was produced. The fish and fowl were indeed produced out of the waters, and the beasts and man out of the earth, but that earth and those waters were made out of nothing.

The heaven and the earth.] In the Hebrew it is the heavens and the earth: for there are three heavens mentioned in Scripture:—1. The aerial heaven, viz. the place of birds, clouds, and meteors, Matt. 26. 64. Rev. 19. 17. and 20. 9.—2. The starry heaven; the region of the sun, moon, and stars, Gen. 22. 17.—3. The highest, or third heaven; the dwelling of the blessed angels, into which the apostle Paul was caught up, 2 Cor. 12. 2.

2. And the earth was without form, &c.] That is, this terrestrial globe, which we now inhabit, was a confused, indigested heap, or chaos, having neither beasts, trees, herbs, nor any thing else that now adorns it.

And the Spirit of God moved, &c.] Not the wind, which was not yet created, as is manifest, because the air, the matter or subject of it, was not yet produced; but the Third Person of the glorious Trinity, called the Holy Ghost, to whom the work of creation is attributed, Job 26. 13. as it is ascribed to the Second Person, the Son, John 1. 3. Col. 1. 16, 17. Heb. 1. 2. and to the First Person, the Father, every where.—It is a metaphor from birds hovering and sitting upon their eggs, to cherish, warm, and quicken them. Hence we learn that a chaos was the first matter. That this chaos was without form and void, (lohu and hohu), confusion and emptiness, so these words are rendered, Isa. 34. 11. It was shapeless, it was useless, without inhabitants, and without ornaments; the shadow or rough draught of things to come. To those who have their hearts in heaven, this lower world, in comparison of the upper, still appears to be confusion and emptiness.

3. And God said—Let there be light, &c.] That is, commanded, not by such a word or speech as we use, which agreeth not with the spiritual nature of God; but either by an act of his powerful will, called the word
No. 1.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

6 ¶ And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.

of his power, Heb. 1. 3. or by his substantial Word, his Son, by whom he made the worlds, Heb. 1. 2. Psa. 33. 6. who is called the word, John 1. 1, 2, 3—10. 2 Cor. 4. 6. And God said, Let there be light, and there was light. This light was some bright and lucid body, probably like the fiery clouds in the wilderness, giving a small and imperfect light, successively moving over the several parts of the earth, and afterwards condensed, increased, perfected, and gathered together in the sun.

4. And God saw the light, that it was good.] The great beauty and blessing of the universe: like the first-born, it doth of all visible beings most resemble its great parent in purity and power, brightness and beneficence. It is agreeable to God's purpose and man's use. For, as the light of the morning befriends the business of the day, so the shadows of the evening favour the repose of the night, Job 7. 1.

And God divided the light from the darkness.] i. e. Made a distinction or separation between them in place, time, and use, that the one should succeed and shut out the other, and so by their vicissitudes make the day and the night.

5. And God called the light Day, &c.] This verse seems to be placed out of the order of time, as the creation of the sun is not mentioned till the sixteenth verse, and no regular day or night could happen till then. We must remember, that Moses is not writing as an astronomer, but as a prophet and lawgiver.

And the evening and the morning were the first day.] The evening or night is named before the morning, which is the day, because the darkness was before the light, verse 2, 3. Hence, in ancient times, almost all nations, particularly the Jews, began their natural day, consisting of twenty-four hours, by the evening or setting of the sun, Lev. 23. 32. The Romans afterwards began it at midnight, and we have followed their method.

7. And God made the firmament.] An expansion, so the Hebrew word signifies, like a sheet spread, or a curtain drawn out. This includes all that is visible above the earth, between it and the third heaven; the air, its higher, middle, and lower region; the celestial globe, and all the orbs of light above; it reaches as high as the place where the stars are fixed, for that is called the firmament of heaven, ver. 14, 15.

And divided the waters which were under the firmament, &c.] The waters under the firmament are seas, rivers, lakes, fountains, and other waters in the bowels of the earth. The waters above the firmament, or
B 7

8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.

9 ¶ And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.

11 And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit-tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years:

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth,

18 And to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good.

above the heavens, as they are called, Psa. 148. 4. are the waters in the clouds; for the clouds are called waters, Psa. 18. 11. and 104. 3. and are said to be in heaven, 2 Sam. 21. 10. Matt. 24. 30. and the production thereof is mentioned as an eminent work of God's creation, Job 35. 5. and 36. 29. Psa. 147. 8. Prov. 8. 28. and therefore it is not credible that Moses in his history of the creation would omit, which he doth, if they be not here meant; and these are rightly said to be above the firmament, i. e. the air, because they are above a considerable part of it.

8. And God called the firmament Heaven.] It is the visible heaven, the pavement of the holy city. The height of the heavens should remind us of God's supremacy, and the infinite distance that is between us and him: the brightness of the heavens and their purity, should remind us of his majesty and perfect holiness: the vastness of the heavens, and their encompassing the earth, and influence upon it, ought to remind us of his immensity and universal providence.

10. And God saw that it was good.] The separation of the waters was begun on the second day, verse 6, &c. but not perfected till this third day: therefore God's approbation of that work is not mentioned there, but here only.

11. And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, &c.] Fruitfulness therefore is not a quality essential to the earth, but a virtue which has been given it by God; and besides, the production of plants, flowers, and fruits, is a mystery above human understanding, and is inexplicable by the laws of matter and motion.

14. And God said, Let there be lights, &c.] Namely, more glorious lights than that created the first day, which probably was now condensed, and reduced into these lights; which are higher for place, more illustrious for light, and more powerful for influence, than that was.

And let them be for signs, &c.] They are for signs of the weather and of the seasons, by their rising and setting, Matt. 16. 2. The lights of heaven do not shine for themselves, nor for the world of spirits above, they need them not; but they shine for us, and for our pleasure and advantage. Lord, what is man that he should be thus regarded? Psa. 8. 3, 4.

16. And God made two great lights, &c.] God probably made the sun of that great mass of luminous matter which he had created the first day, verse 3, 4. perhaps adding some more new matter to make up this vast body of light, which the modern astronomers tell us is one million of times greater than the earth, its distance from the earth being no less than ninety-five millions of miles. The moon is an opaque body, and enlightens the earth only by reflecting that light which it receives from the sun, and is far less than the least of the fixed stars: but because it is very near us, in comparison of the stars, it enlightens us more than all the stars together; and for this reason only, is called a light, and a great light.

20. Moving creature;] Or, creeping thing; A word which belongs to all those living creatures, who move with their bellies close to the element they live in. Hence it is used both of birds which fly in the air, Lev. 11. 20. and of things creeping upon the earth, as verse 24. of this chapter, and of fishes that swim in the sea, as here.

And fowl that may fly above the earth.] From this translation of the verse, some learned commentators have been led to think that the fowls were produced out of the waters as well as the fishes. But others are of opinion they were created out of the earth, as the beasts were; because it is expressly said, chap. 2. 19. And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air, &c. They therefore think the verse should have been rendered thus, which is more agreeable to the Hebrew text: And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly 19 And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

20 ¶ And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

21 And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth; which the waters brought forth abundantly after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

22 And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

23 And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

24 ¶ And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so.

25 And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

26 ¶ And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

27 So God created man in his own image; in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

28 And God blessed them; and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

29 ¶ And

the moving creature that hath life, and let the fowl fly above the earth, in the open firmament of heaven.

24. Cattle;] i. e. Those tame beasts which are most familiar with, and useful to men for food, clothing, or other service.

And beast, &c.] The wild beasts, as the Hebrew word commonly signifies, and as appears further, because they are distinguished from the tame beasts, here called cattle.

28. Let us make man, &c.] The plural us, and our, afford an evident proof of a plurality of persons in the Godhead. It is plain from many other texts, as well as from the nature and reason of the thing, that God alone is man's creator; the angels rejoiced at the work of creation, but only God wrought it, Job 39. 4, 5, 6, 7. And it is no less plain from this text, and from divers other places, that man had more creators than one person. See Job 35. 10. John 1. 1, 2, 3, &c. Heb. 1. 2. And as other texts assure us that there is but one God, so this shews that there is more than one person in the Godhead; nor can that seeming contradiction of one and more being in the Godhead be otherwise reconciled, than by acknowledging a plurality of persons in the unity of essence. It is pretended that God here speaks after the manner of princes in the plural number, who use to say, We will and require, or, It is our pleasure. But this is only the invention and practice of later times, and no way agreeable so the simplicity either of the first ages of the world, or of the Hebrew style. The kings of Israel used to speak of themselves in the singular number, 2 Sam. 3. 28. 1 Chron. 21. 17. and 29. 14. 2 Chron. 2. 6. And so did the Eastern monarchs too, yea, even in their decrees and orders, which now run in the plural number, Ezra 6. 8. I (Darius) make a decree; Ezra 7. 12. I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree. Nor do we remember one example in scripture to the contrary. It is therefore a rash and presumptuous attempt, without any warrant, to thrust the usages of modern style into the sacred scripture. Besides, the Lord does generally speak of himself in the singular number, some few places excepted, wherein the plural number is used for the signification of this mystery. Moreover, this device is utterly overthrown by comparing this text with Gen. 3. 22. The Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us. Therefore there are more persons than one in the Godhead. How many there are, other texts plainly inform us, as we shall see in their proper places. And whereas he saith not now as he did before, Let the earth or the waters bring forth, but, Let us make; this change of the phrase and manner of expression shews, that man was, as the last, so the most perfect, and the chief of the ways and works of God in this lower world.

After our likeness.] Which principally consists in his nature, not that of his body but of his soul. The soul is a spirit, an intelligent, immortal spirit, herein resembling God, the Father of spirits, and the soul of the world. 2. In his place and authority. Let us make man in our image, and let him have dominion. Yet his government of himself by the freedom of his will, has in it more of God's image, than his government of the creatures. 3. And chiefly in his purity and rectitude; in knowledge, righteousness, and true holiness, in which St. Paul chiefly places this image, Eph. 4. 24. Col. 3. 10.

27. Male and female, &c.] Hence we learn that Adam and Eve were both created on the same day, though the particular manner of Eve's creation is related in the next chapter.

28. Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth.] It is, First, a command, obliging all men so far as not to suffer the extinction of mankind; thus it did absolutely bind Adam and Eve, as also Noah, and his sons and their wives, after the flood. Secondly, It is a promise or benediction, as appears from verse 22. where the same words are applied to the brute beasts, who are not subject to a command. Thirdly, It is 29 ¶ And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat.

30 And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so.

31 And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

CHAP. II.

1 The first sabbath.—4 The manner of the creation.—8 The planting of the garden of Eden.—17 The tree of knowledge only forbidden.—19, 20 The naming of the creatures.—21 The making of woman, and institution of marriage.

THUS the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them.

2 And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made.

3 And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it; because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made.

4 ¶ These are the generations of the heavens and of the earth when they were created, in the day that the LORD God made the earth and the heavens,

5 And every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew: for the LORD God had not caused it to rain upon the earth, and there was not a man to till the ground.

6 But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

7 And the LORD God formed man of the dust of ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.

8 ¶ And the LORD God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed.

9 And out of the ground made the LORD God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

10 ¶ And a river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads.

11 The name of the first is Pison: that is it which compasseth the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold;

12 And the gold of that land is good: there is bdellium and the onyx-stone.

13 And the name of the second river is Gihon: the same is it that compasseth the whole land of Ethiopia.

14 And the name of the third river is Hiddekel: that is it which goeth toward the east of Assyria. And the fourth river is Euphrates.

15 ¶ And the LORD God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden, to dress it, and to keep it.

16 And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat;

17 But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die.

18 ¶ And the LORD God said, It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him an help meet for him.

19 And out of the ground the LORD God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air, and brought them unto Adam, to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof.

20 And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field: but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

21 And the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof.

22 And the rib, which the LORD God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.

23 And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of man.

24 Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh.

25 And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

CHAP.

a permission expressed in the form of a command, as other permissions frequently are, as Gen. 2. 16. Deut. 14. 4.

29. To you it shall be for meat.] It is neither affirmed nor denied that flesh also was granted to the first men for food, and therefore we may safely be ignorant of it. It is sufficient for us, that it was expressly allowed afterwards, Gen. 9. 3.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 1. And all the host of them, &c.] All the creatures in heaven and earth are called their hosts, for their multitude, variety, order, power, and subjection to the Lord of Hosts. Particularly the host of heaven, in scripture, signifies both the stars, as Deut. 4. 19. and 17. 3. Isa. 34. 4. and the angels, as 2 Chron. 18. 18. Luke 2. 13. who from these words appear to have been created within the compass of the first six days, which is also probable from Col. 1. 16, 17. But it is no wonder that the scripture saith so little concerning angels, because it was written for the use of men, not angels; and God would hereby take us off from curious and impertinent speculations, and teach us to employ our thoughts about necessary and useful things.

2. He rested on the seventh day.] This is spoken after the manner of men, for our example and instruction, that we might keep that day as a day of religious rest.

3. And God blessed the seventh day:] By conferring special honours and privileges upon it above all other days, that it should be a day of solemn rest, and a day of God's bestowing singular blessings upon his servants and worshippers.

And sanctified it.] Separated it from common use and worldly employments, and consecrated it to the worship of God, that it should be accounted an holy day, and spent in holy works and solemn exercises of religion. Observe, 1. That the solemn observation of one day in seven as a day of holy rest, and holy work, is the indispensable duty of all those to whom God has revealed his holy sabbaths. 2. That sabbaths are as ancient as the world. 3. That the sabbath of the Lord is truly honourable, and we have reason to honour it; honour it for the sake of its antiquity, its great Author, and the sanctification of the first sabbath by the holy God himself.

5. For the Lord God had not caused it to rain, &c.] The two great means of the growth of plants and herbs, viz. rain from heaven, and the labour of man, were both lacking, to shew that they were now brought forth by God's almighty power and word.

7. And breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, &c.] This divine breath was the spiritual and intelligent soul, which distinguished man from beasts, of which God was immediately the author and creator.

8. And—God planted a garden eastward, &c.] That is, eastward from the place where Moses wrote, and the Israelites afterwards dwelt.

Eden here is the name of a place, not that Eden near Damascus in Syria, of which see Amos 1. 5. but another in Mesopotamia or Chaldæa, of which see Gen. 4. 16. 2 Kings 19. 12. Isa. 37. 12. Ezek. 27. 23. It was in or near to Mesopotamia, in the confluence of Euphrates and Tigris.

And there he put the man, &c.] Hence it appears that Adam and Eve had been created out of paradise; see verse 15.

9. The tree of life, &c.] Various are the conjectures with regard to the nature of this tree. The ancient fathers and others think it was so called from its having a virtue, not only to repair the animal spirits, but also to maintain them, and all the organs of the body, without decay. And this seems probable from what Moses himself tells us, chap. 3. 22. that had man, even after the fall, eaten of the tree of life, he would have lived for ever.

The tree of knowledge of good and evil.] Some are of opinion, that this tree was of a poisonous nature, directly opposite to that of the tree of life, being baneful to the human constitution. It seems to have been set before man as a trial of his obedience, and that he was not to aspire after more wisdom than became him, nor to take upon him to decide for himself what was good, or what was evil, right or wrong, independent of his Maker.

17. But of the tree of the knowledge, &c.] This was a prohibition surely of little consequence to our first parents, when the garden abounded with every thing their soul could desire; and, if we grant that this was a poisonous plant, as there is reason to think it was, the all-gracious Creator, by this prohibition, only forewarned man, as he valued his life, not to meddle with its fruit, however fair and tempting it might appear to his eyes.

In the day that thou eatest thereof, &c.] That is, thou shalt lose all the happiness thou hast either in possession or prospect, and become liable to death and all the miseries that attend it.

18. And the Lord God said, It is not good that the man should be alone.] It is not convenient either for my purpose of the increase of mankind, or for man's personal comfort. Man is a social being, and so desirous of fellowship, that we even pine and grow sick of life, when we are destitute of companions to share the blessings with us.

I will make him an help meet for him.] That is, I will make him a creature like him, or, as the Septuagint has it, his other self; one like him in nature, and knit to him in love, in whose society he may rejoice, and in whose amiable perfections he may find continual delight.

21. And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, &c.] That he who was without sin might feel no pain in the taking away of his rib.

24. Therefore shall a man leave his father, &c.] That is, the nuptial tie shall be stronger between the husband and wife, than that of nature between a child and his parent.

CHAP. III.

1 The serpent deceiveth Eve.—6 Man's fall.—15 The promised seed.—16 Man's punishment.—22 and loss of paradise.

NOW the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

2 And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden:

3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

4 And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die.

5 For God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened; and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

6 ¶ And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her, and he did eat.

7 And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig-leaves together, and made themselves aprons.

8 And they heard the voice of the LORD God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the LORD God among the trees of the garden.

9 ¶ And the LORD God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou?

10 And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself.

11 And he said, Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat?

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. Now the serpent was more subtle, &c.] What sort of serpent this was, whether it was only the visible shape and appearance of a serpent, as some think those were of which we read, Exod. 7. 12. or whether it was a real living serpent, acted and possessed by the devil, we are not told in scripture. Perhaps there is none now like it in all respects. Probably is was of the kind of those winged serpents, which are still found in the eastern and southern parts of the world, styled fiery flying serpents, called seraphims; and termed fiery, not merely from their inflammatory venom, but because they appeared shining like fire when they flew in the air, Isa. 14. 29. And from hence those lofty angels, who were frequently employed by God to deliver his will to mankind, were called seraphs, or seraphims. The devil is therefore thought to have made use of this kind of serpent, that he might resemble one of those angels of light. That which the devil aimed at, was to persuade Eve to eat forbidden fruit; and to do this he took the same method that he doth still. 1. He questions whether it were a sin or no, ver. 1. 2. He denies that there was any danger in it. 3. He suggests much advantage by it. As to the advantage, he suits his temptation to the pure state they were now in, proposing to them not any carnal pleasure, but intellectual delights. 1. Your eyes shall be opened. You shall fetch a larger compass in your intellectual views, and see farther into things than you now do. 2. You shall be as gods. As Elohim, mighty gods, not only omniscient, but omnipotent too. 3. You shall know good and evil—that is, every thing that is desirable to be known.

Yea, hath God said, &c.] The particle yea is generally used as an addition to something spoken before. Perhaps it referred to some discourse Eve had with herself, which Satan took hold of, and grafted this question upon. Or the words may be rendered, It is true indeed God hath said, Ye shall not eat, &c. Thus does he artfully begin a discourse, in order to draw her into a parley: but those that would be safe have need to be suspicious, and shy of talking with the tempter.

4. Ye shall not surely die.] It is not so certain as you imagine, that you shall die. God did say so indeed for your terror, and to keep you in awe, or he had some mystical meaning in these words; but do not entertain such hard and unworthy thoughts of that God who is infinitely kind and gracious, that he will, for such a trifle as eating of a little fruit, ruin you and all your posterity, and so suddenly destroy the most excellent work of his own hands.

5. For God doth know, that in the day, &c.] If you would have the whole of the matter, and God's design in that prohibition, it is only this: He knoweth that you shall be so far from dying, that you shall certainly be exalted to a more noble kind of life; and the eyes of your minds, which are now shut as to the knowledge of a world of things, shall then be opened, and see things more fully and distinctly. You shall know good and evil, as the very name God hath put upon the tree may teach you. Knowing good and evil is an Hebrew phrase, and is as much as to say, you shall be ignorant of nothing; see Gen. 24. 50. and 31. 24. Deut. 1. 39. 2 Sam. 14. 17—20.

8. And hid themselves, &c.] Being sensible of God's approach, and filled with shame and consciousness of their own guilt and dread of judgment, they foolishly attempted to conceal themselves in the thicket.

12 And the man said, The woman, whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

13 And the LORD God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

14 ¶ And the LORD God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field: upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life.

15 And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed: it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

16 ¶ Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception: in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee.

17 And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it; cursed is the ground for thy sake: in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life.

18 Thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee: and thou shalt eat the herb of the field.

19 In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return.

20 And Adam called his wife's name Eve, because she was the mother of all living.

21 Unto Adam also and to his wife did the LORD God make coats of skins, and clothed them.

22 ¶ And the LORD God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil. And now, lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever:

23 Therefore the LORD God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken.

24 So

9. And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou?] This he asks, not that he was ignorant of it, but to make way for the following sentence, and set a pattern for all judges, that they should examine the offender, and enquire into the offence, before they proceed to judgment. If God had not called to him to reduce him, his condition had been as desperate as that of fallen angels.

14. Upon thy belly shalt thou go, &c.] From hence it seems probable, that this serpent before the fall either had feet, or rather did go with his breast erect, as the basilisk does at this day.

15. And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, &c.] And the man too; but the woman alone is mentioned, for the devil's greater confusion. 1. The woman, whom as the weaker vessel thou didst seduce, shall be the great occasion of thy overthrow. 2. Because the Son of God, who conquered this great dragon and old serpent, Rev. 12. 9. who came to destroy the works of the devil, 1 John 3. 8. was made of a woman, Gal. 4. 4. without the help of man, Isa. 7. 12.

It shall bruise thy head, &c.] By the head of the serpent is meant his power and authority over men, the strength whereof consists in death, which Christ, the blessed seed of the woman, overthroweth, by taking away the sting of death, which is sin, 1 Cor. 15. 55, 56. and destroying him that had the power of death, that is, the devil, Heb. 2. 14.

And thou shalt bruise his heel.] By his heel may be understood, either Christ's humanity, whereby he trode upon the earth, which indeed the devil, by God's permission, and the hands of wicked men, did bruise and kill; or his saints and members upon the earth, whom the devil doth in divers manners bruise, vex, and afflict, while he cannot reach their head, Christ, in heaven, nor those of his members who are advanced thither.

16. Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception, &c.] Next to the serpent the woman, who was next in order, because she was first in the transgression, received her sentence.

And thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee.] Thy desires shall be referred and submitted to thy husband's will and pleasure, to grant or deny as he sees fit. It is God that multiplies our sorrows, I will do it: God, as a righteous judge, doth it, which ought to silence us under all our sorrows; as many as they are, we have deserved them all, and abundantly more. Nay, God, as a tender father, doth it for our necessary correction, that we may be humbled for sin, and weaned from it.

20. And Adam called his wife's name Eve, &c.] Before this she was called Isha, woman; but now, in gratitude to his Maker, who in his wrath for their offence had remembered mercy, he called her Eve, the mother of life, as the whole race of mankind was to spring from her womb.

22. Behold, the man is become as one of us, &c.] Most commentators understand this as an ironical expression, like those, 1 Kings 18. 27. Eccles. 11. 19. See what he has got, what advantages by eating forbidden fruit! This is said to humble them, and to bring them to a sense of their sin and folly, that seeing themselves thus wretchedly deceived by following the devil's counsel, they might henceforth pursue the happiness God offers, in the way which he prescribes.

CHAP. IV.

1 The births of Cain and Abel.—8 The murder of Abel.—11 The curse of Cain.—19 Lamech and his two wives.

AND Adam knew Eve his wife: and she conceived, and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the LORD.

2 And she again bare his brother Abel. And Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground.

3 And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the LORD.

4 And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof. And the LORD had respect unto Abel, and to his offering:

5 But unto Cain, and to his offering, he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

6 And the LORD said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen?

7 If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him.

8 ¶ And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him.

9 ¶ And the LORD said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother. And he said, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper.

10 And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground.

11 And now art thou cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand.

24. So he drove out the man, &c.] This signified the exclusion of him and his guilty race, from that communion with God, which was the bliss and glory of paradise. But whither did he send him when he turned him out of Eden? He might justly have chased him out of the world; Job 18. 18. but he only chased him out of the garden: he might justly have cast him down to hell, as the angels that sinned were, when they were shut from the heavenly paradise, 2 Pet. 2. 4. but man was only sent to a place of toil, not to a place of torment.

And he placed at the east of the garden of Eden, cherubims, and a flaming sword, &c.] That is, a detachment of cherubim, armed with a dreadful and irresistible power, represented by flaming swords which turned every way, on that side the garden which lay next to the place whither Adam was sent, to keep the way that led to the tree of life.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 4. And the Lord had respect, &c.] Or, looked to him with a gracious eye, kindly accepted and owned him and his sacrifice, and testified this, Heb. 11. 4. to Cain and all there present, either by express word, or by some visible sign; probably by consuming his sacrifice by fire from heaven, as the fathers generally think: whereby also God did afterwards frequently signify his acceptance of sacrifices, as Lev. 9. 24. Judg. 6. 21. 1 Kings 18. 38. 1 Chron. 21. 26. 2 Chron. 7. 1.

7. Unto thee shall be his desire: i. e. Subject: he shall and will yield to thee as his superior, and thou, according to thy own heart's desire, shalt rule over him.

10. The voice of thy brother's blood, &c.] In the Hebrew it is bloods, either to aggravate the crime, or to shew the plenty of the blood spilt, or to charge him with the murder of all those that might naturally have come out of Abel's loins.

11. Which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand.] The earth did as it were blush to see her own face stained with such blood; and therefore opened her mouth to hide that which she could not hinder.

14. And it shall come to pass, that every one that findeth me shall slay me.] Quest. Whom did Cain fear, when it appears not that there were any but his father and mother?—Ans. So ignorant people conceive; but it is foolish to imagine there were no more men than are expressed in this book, where God never intended to give a catalogue of all men, but only of the church, or those who had some relation to, or concern with it. Nay, that there were very many thousands then in being is very credible, upon these rational grounds and suppositions: 1. That Adam and Eve did, according to God's precept and blessing, Gen. 1. 28. procreate children presently after the fall, and God's gracious reconciliation to them; and consequently their children did so, when they came to competent age. 2. That those first men and women were endowed with extraordinary fruitfulness, and might have two or more at a time, (as divers persons long after had,) which was then expedient for replenishing of the world; and the like may be judged of their children, during the world's infancy. 3. That this murder was committed but a little before the hundred and thirtieth year of Adam's age, which appears by comparing Gen. 4. 25. and 5. 3. before which time, how vast and numerous an offspring might have come from Adam none can be ignorant that shall make a rational computation.

12 When thou tillest the ground, it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength. A fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth.

13 And Cain said unto the LORD, My punishment is greater than I can bear.

14 Behold, thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the earth; and from thy face shall I be hid; and I shall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth: and it shall come to pass, that every one that findeth me shall slay me.

15 And the LORD said unto him, Therefore, whosoever slayeth Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him seven-fold. And the LORD set a mark upon Cain, lest any finding him should kill him.

16 ¶ And Cain went out from the presence of the LORD, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east of Eden.

17 And Cain knew his wife; and she conceived, and bare Enoch: and he builded a city, and called the name of the city, after the name of his son, Enoch.

18 And unto Enoch was born Irad: and Irad begat Mehujael: and Mehujael begat Methusael: and Methusael begat Lamech.

19 ¶ And Lamech took unto him two wives: the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah.

20 And Adah bare Jabal: he was the father of such as dwell in tents, and of such as have cattle.

21 And his brother's name was Jubal: he was the father of all such as handle the harp and organ.

22 And Zillah, she also bare Tubal-cain, an instructor of every artificer in brass and iron: and the sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

23 And Lamech said unto his wives, Adah and Zillah, hear my voice; ye wives of Lamech, hearken unto my speech: for I have slain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt.

24 If Cain shall be avenged seven-fold, truly Lamech seventy and seven-fold.

25 ¶ And

15. Vengeance shall be taken on him seven-fold.] God having said, in Cain's case, Vengeance is mine, I will repay; it had been a daring usurpation for any man to take the sword out of God's hand.

The Lord set a mark upon Cain.] To distinguish him from the rest of mankind. What this mark was God has not told us, therefore the conjectures of men are vain.

16. And dwelt in the land of Nod.] In the land which was afterwards called Nod, that is, of shaking or trembling, because of the continual restlessness of his spirit. Those that depart from God cannot find rest any where else.

17. And he builded a city.] Partly to divert his troubled mind with business and pleasure, and partly for his own security against the enemies and evils which his guilty conscience made him fear, notwithstanding the assurance which God had given him.

21. He was the father of all such as handle the harp and organ.] Or, the lovely instrument; but what kind of instrument this was, even the Jews do not understand.

22. And Zillah, she also bare Tubal-cain:] Whom (as the learned conceive, and the agreement of the name and function makes probable) the heathens worshipped by the name of Vulcan, the god of smiths; and his sister Naamah, so called from her beauty, which her name signifies.

23. And a young man to my hurt.] i. e. Be it so, that I have slain a man, and that a young man; why do you concern yourselves in it? It is to my own wounding and hurt, not to yours; I must suffer for it, not you. Some take this to be a sorrowful confession of his bloody crime; q. d. I have murdered a man to my wounding, &c. i. e. to my utter ruin, or to the wounding and grief of my heart and conscience. But this seems not to agree either with the quality of Cain's family, or with the temper of Lamech's person, or with the design of the Holy Ghost in this place; which is to describe, not the virtues, but the crimes of that wicked race. According to the marginal translation, the sense may be this: Fear not for me; for if any man, though in his youth and strength, should assault me, and give me the first wound, he should pay dearly for it; and though I were wounded and weakened, the remainder of my strength would be sufficient to give him his death-wound. The words also may be otherwise rendered; the particle chi being taken interrogatively, as it is, Isa. 29. 6. and 36. 19. and elsewhere. Have I slain a man to my wounding, and [or] a young man to my hurt? i. e. that thereby I should deserve such a mortal wound or hurt to be inflicted upon me by way of retaliation. You have therefore no cause of fear either for my sake or your own.

24. If Cain shall be avenged.] If the slaughter of Cain shall be punished in him that shall kill him, whosoever he be, my death shall be much more certainly and severely revenged by God upon any man that shall murder me. These words may be either, 1. A profane scoff. q. d. Since Cain, my father and pattern in murder, was so far from being punished by the hand of God, that he had a special protection from him, that no man should dare to touch him; I shall not fare worse than he, and therefore have no reason to fear either God or man. Or, 2. An argument or ground of his security: q. d. I am not only secured by my own strength, but by God's providence; which certainly will

25 ¶ And Adam knew his wife again; and she bare a son, and called his name Seth: For God, said she, hath appointed me another seed instead of Abel, whom Cain slew.

26 And to Seth, to him also there was born a son; and he called his name Enos: then began men to call upon the name of the LORD.

1 The genealogy, age, and death of the patriarchs, from Adam unto Noah.—24 The godliness and translation of Enoch.

THIS is the book of the generations of Adam. In the day that God created man, in the likeness of God made he him:

2 Male and female created he them, and blessed them, and called their name Adam, in the day when they were created.

3 ¶ And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his image; and called his name Seth.

4 And the days of Adam, after he had begotten Seth, were eight hundred years: and he begat sons and daughters:

5 And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years: and he died.

6 ¶ And Seth lived an hundred and five years, and begat Enos.

7 And Seth lived, after he begat Enos, eight hundred and seven years, and begat sons and daughters.

8 And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years: and he died.

9 ¶ And Enos lived ninety years, and begat Cainan.

10 And Enos lived, after he begat Cainan, eight hundred and fifteen years, and begat sons and daughters.

11 And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years: and he died.

12 ¶ And Cainan lived seventy years, and begat Mahalaleel.

13 And Cainan lived, after he begat Mahalaleel, eight hundred and forty years, and begat sons and daughters.

14 And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years: and he died.

15 ¶ And Mahalaleel lived sixty and five years, and begat Jared.

16 And Mahalaleel lived, after he begat Jared, eight be more watchful over me, who have not committed any such horrid crime, than over him that killed his own innocent brother.

26. And he called his name Enos:] Which properly signifies a miserable man, to note the great wickedness and wretchedness of that generation, which the Hebrew writers generally observe.

Then began men to call upon the name of the Lord.] Doubtless God's name was called upon before, but now, 1. The worshippers of God began to stir up themselves, to do more in religion than they had done; perhaps not more than had been done at first, but more than had been done since the defection of Cain. Now men began to worship God, not only in their closets and families, but in public and solemn assemblies. 2. The worshippers of God began to distinguish themselves: so the margin reads it. Then men began to be called by the name of the Lord, or to call themselves by it. Now Cain had built a city, and begun to declare for irreligion, and he and his followers called themselves the sons of men: those that adhered to God, began to declare for him and his worship, and called themselves the sons of God.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. Of the generations of Adam, &c.] The first words of the chapter are the title of the argument of the whole chapter; it is the book of the generations of Adam. It is the list or catalogue of the posterity of Adam, not of all, but only of the holy seed; and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came; the names, ages, and deaths of those that were the successors of the first Adam, in the custody of the promise, and the ancestors of the second Adam.

In the day that God created man.] Observe here, 1. That God created man. Man is not his own maker, therefore he must not be his own master; but the author of his being must be the director of his motions, and the centre of them. 2. That there was a day in which God created man; he was not from eternity, but of yesterday; he was not the first born, but the junior of the creation. 3. That God made him in his own likeness, righteous and holy, and therefore undoubtedly happy; man's nature resembled the divine nature more than that of any of the creatures of this lower world. 4. That God created them male and female, for their mutual comfort, as well as for the preservation and increase of their kind. 5. That God blessed them. It is usual for parents to bless their children, so God the common Father blessed his; but earthly parents can only beg a blessing, it is God's prerogative to command it.

3. And begat a son in his own likeness, &c.] Adam was made in the image of God, but when he was fallen and corrupted, he begat a son in his own image, sinful and defiled, frail and mortal, and miserable hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters.

17 And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred ninety and five years: and he died.

18 ¶ And Jared lived an hundred sixty and two years, and he begat Enoch.

19 And Jared lived, after he begat Enoch, eight hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.

20 And all the days of Jared were nine hundred sixty and two years: and he died.

21 ¶ And Enoch lived sixty and five years, and begat Methuselah.

22 And Enoch walked with God, after he begat Methuselah, three hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.

23 And all the days of Enoch were three hundred sixty and five years.

24 And Enoch walked with God: and he was not; for God took him.

25 ¶ And Methuselah lived an hundred eighty and seven years, and begat Lamech.

26 And Methuselah lived, after he begat Lamech, seven hundred eighty and two years, and begat sons and daughters.

27 And all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred sixty and nine years: and he died.

28 ¶ And Lamech lived an hundred eighty and two years, and begat a son.

29 And he called his name Noah, saying, This same shall comfort us concerning our work and toil of our hands, because of the ground which the LORD hath cursed.

30 And Lamech lived, after he begat Noah, five hundred ninety and five years, and begat sons and daughters.

31 And all the days of Lamech were seven hundred seventy and seven years: and he died.

32 ¶ And Noah was five hundred years old: and Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

AND it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them, like himself; not only a man like himself, consisting of body and soul; but a sinner like himself, guilty and obnoxious, degenerate and corrupt. He was conceived and born in sin, Psa. 51. 5.

5. And all the days that Adam lived, &c.] The long lives of men in ancient times are mentioned by heathen authors; and it was wisely so ordered by God, both for the more plentiful increase of mankind in the first ages of the world, and for the more effectual propagation of true religion and other useful knowledge in the world. And many natural reasons might be given why their lives were then longer than afterwards.

24. And he was not.] He appeared not any longer upon earth, or amongst mortal men. The same phrase is used Gen. 42. 36. Jer. 31. 15.

God took him:] Out of this sinful and miserable world unto himself, and to his heavenly habitation. See Luke 23. 43. And he took either his soul, of which alone this phrase is used, Ezek. 24. 16. or rather both soul and body, as he took Elias, 2 Kings 2. 12. because he so took him that he did not see death, Heb. 11. 5.

32. Noah begat, &c.] i. e. He began to beget; God in mercy denying him children till that time, that he might not beget them to the destroyer, that he might have no more than should be saved in the ark; Or, having before that time begotten others who were now dead, and having the approaching flood in his view, he began again to beget a seminary for the world. Of these three sons here following the eldest seems to be Japheth, Gen. 10. 21. the second was Shem, as appears, because he was but an hundred years old two years after the flood, Gen. 11. 11. the youngest, Ham, Gen. 9. 24. But Shem is first named, in order of dignity, as being the progenitor of the church, and of Jesus Christ: and because he and his progeny is the principal subject of this whole history. For the same reason Abraham is named before his elder brother Haran, chap. 11. 26.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 1. When men:] i. e. Wicked men, the posterity of Cain, as appears from the following verse; who are here called men, and the sons of men, by way of contempt and of distinction; mere men, such as had only the nature and qualities of corrupt men, without the image of God.

Began to multiply, &c.] Namely, more than usual, because they practised polygamy, after the example of their predecessor, the ungodly Lamech, Gen. 4. 10.

Daughters were born, &c.] So doubtless were sons also; but their daughters are here mentioned, as one principal occasion of the sin noted in the next verse, and of the following deluge.

2. The

2 That the sons of God saw the daughters of men, that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they chose.

3 And the LORD said, My Spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years.

4 There were giants in the earth in those days: and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men, which were of old, men of renown.

5 ¶ And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

6 And it repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart.

7 And the LORD said, I will destroy man, whom I have created, from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8 But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD.

9 ¶ These are the generations of Noah: Noah was a just man, and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God.

10 And Noah begat three sons; Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt before God; and the earth was filled with violence.

12 And God looked upon the earth, and, behold, it was corrupt: for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them: and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth.

14 ¶ Make thee an ark of gopher-wood: rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch.

15 And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of: the length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

16 A window shalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish it above; and the door of the ark shalt thou set in the side thereof: with lower, second, and third stories shalt thou make it.

17 And, behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven: and every thing that is in the earth shall die.

18 But with thee will I establish my covenant: and thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons' wives, with thee.

19 And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee: they shall be male and female.

20 Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind: two of every sort shall come unto thee, to keep them alive.

21 And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou shalt gather it to thee; and it shall be for food for thee and for them.

22 Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he.

C H A P. VII.

1 Noah with his family enter the ark.—17 The beginning, increase, and continuance of the flood.

AND the LORD said unto Noah, Come thou, and all thy house, into the ark: for thee have I seen righteous before me in this generation.

2 Of

2. The sons of God, &c.] The children of Seth and Enos, the professors of the true religion. For, 1. Such, and only such, in the common use of scripture, are called the sons and children of God, as Deut. 14. 1. and 32. 19. Isa. 1. 2. and 45. 11. Hos. 11. 1, &c. 2. This title manifestly relates to Gen. 4. 26. where the same persons are said to be called by the name of the Lord, i. e. to be the sons and servants of God. 3. They are opposed to the daughters of men, the word men being here taken in an ill sense, for such as had nothing in them but the nature of men, which is corrupt and abominable, and were not sons of God, but foreigners and strangers to him, and apostates from him. 4. These unequal matches with persons of a false religion are every where condemned in scripture as sinful and pernicious, as Gen. 26. 35. Exod. 34. 16. 1 Kings 11. 2, 3. Ezra 9. 12. Nehem. 13. 23, &c. Mal. 2. 11. 1 Cor. 7. 39. 2 Cor. 6. 14. and therefore are fitly spoken of here, as one of the sins that brought the flood upon the ungodly world.

Were fair;] Beautiful, and set off their beauty with all the allurements of ornaments and carriage.

Which they chose;] Loved and liked, as the word choosing is taken, Psa. 25. 12. and 119. 173. Isa. 1. 29. This is noted as the first error, that they did promiscuously choose wives, without any regard to their sobriety and religion, minding only the pleasing of their own fancies and lusts, not the pleasing and serving of their Lord and Maker, nor the obtaining of a godly seed, which was God's end in the institution of marriage, Mal. 2. 15. and therefore should have been theirs too.

3. Strive with man.] The Spirit then strove by Noah's preaching, 1 Pet. 3. 19. and by many inward checks, but it was in vain with the most of men; therefore saith God, he shall not always strive, for that he also is flesh—incurably corrupt and sensual, so that it is labour lost to strive with him. He also, that is all, one as well as another; they are all sunk into the mire of sin, as the word flesh is commonly used, as John 3. 6. Rom. 7. 18. and 8. 5. 5—7. Gal. 5. 17.

An hundred and twenty years.] Quest. How did God perform this promise, when there were but an hundred years between this time and the flood, as appears by comparing Gen. 5. 32. with Gen. 7. 11?—Ans. 1. The increasing wickedness of mankind might justly hasten their ruin, and forfeit the benefit of this indulgence. 2. This promise, though mentioned after that, Gen. 5. 32. yet seems to have been made twenty years before it; for that verse is added there out of its proper place, only to complete the genealogy; and therefore, after this narration, it is repeated here in its due order, ver. 10.

4. There were giants, &c.] Men so called for their great strength and force, whereby they oppressed and tyrannized over others: for this is mentioned as another sin, and cause of the flood; and therefore they seem to be here noted for their violence, which also is expressed verses 11. 12, 13.

Which were of old, &c.] Which were proper to the first ages of the world; for the succeeding generations were generally less in stature and strength of body, and therefore not so famous for personal exploits. Or these words may be joined with the following, which were of old, i. e. among the men of that first and wicked world, men of renown, i. e. famous in their generations; when indeed they should have been infamous for the abuse of their stature and strength to tyranny and cruelty.

6. It repented the Lord, &c.] Properly God cannot repent, Numb. 23. 19. 1 Sam. 15. 11—29. because he is unchangeable in his nature and counsels, Mal. 3. 9. James 1. 17. He is perfectly wise, and constantly happy, and therefore not liable to any grief or disappointment: but this is spoken of God after the manner of man, by a common figure called Anthropopathy, whereby also eyes, ears, hands, nose, &c. are ascribed to God.

7. Both man and beast, &c.] The original word is very significant. I will wipe off man from off the earth; as dirt is wiped off from a place which should be clean, and thrown to the dunghill. Or, I will blot out man from the earth, as those lines are blotted out of a book which displease the author, or as the name of a citizen is blotted out of the rolls of the freemen when he is disfranchised: and as beasts were made for man's use, they must be destroyed with man.

14. Make thee an ark, &c.] A little ship, made in the form of an ark or chest, but probably sloping at the bottom for conveniency of navigation, as it was for another reason sloping at the top.

15. Three hundred cubits.] The standard cubit of the Jews was one foot and a half; the ark therefore was four hundred and fifty feet in length, seventy-five feet in breadth, and forty-five feet in height. It has been questioned, whether this ark was sufficient to hold the great number of animals, and their provisions, which Moses tells us went into the ark. But a little consideration would have removed the difficulty, and convinced the proposers that it was sufficiently large for the purposes intended. The number of four-footed beasts is reckoned not to exceed one hundred and thirty species; the birds about the same number; and, as St. Augustin very justly observes, it was not necessary to bring all the birds into the ark, because many of them could swim on the surface of the water by the side of it. There are about fifty species of reptiles, but many of them can live in the water, consequently need not have been taken into the ark. Again, of beasts there are not reckoned above six species larger than a horse, few are equal to the size of that animal, many less, and even under the size of a sheep; so that the ark was sufficiently capacious for holding them.

17. Behold, I, even I, &c.] Which is thus emphatically repeated, to signify that this flood did not proceed from natural causes, but from the immediate hand and judgment of God.

18. Establish my covenant, &c.] Either, 1. My promise to preserve thee and thine. Or, 2. My covenant concerning the promised seed, and the redemption of mankind by the Messias, who shall come out of thy loins, and therefore thou shalt be preserved.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 1. Come thou, and all thy house, &c.] i. e. Thy family; which consisted only of eight persons, 1 Pet. 3. 20. namely, Noah and his three sons, and their four wives, Gen. 6. 18. whereby it appears that each had but one wife, and consequently it is more than probable that polygamy, as it began in the posterity of wicked Cain, Gen. 4. 19. so it was confined to them, and had not as yet got footing among the sons of God. For if ever polygamy had been allowable, it must have been now, for the re-peopling of the perishing world.

2 Of every clean beast thou shall take to thee by sevens, the male and his female; and of beasts that are not clean by two, the male and his female.

3 Of fowls also of the air by sevens, the male and the female; to keep seed alive upon the face of all the earth.

4 For yet seven days, and I will cause it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights: and every living substance that I have made will I destroy from off the face of the earth.

5 And Noah did according unto all that the LORD commanded him.

6 And Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 ¶ And Noah went in, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him, into the ark, because of the waters of the flood.

8 Of clean beasts, and of beasts that are not clean, and of fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth,

9 There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 ¶ And it came to pass, after seven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened.

12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights.

13 In the self-same day entered Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his sons with them, into the ark;

14 They, and every beast after his kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every sort.

15 And they went in unto Noah into the ark, two and two of all flesh, wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the LORD shut him in.

17 ¶ And the flood was forty days upon the earth: and the waters increased, and bare up the ark, and it was lifted up above the earth.

18 And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark went upon the face of the waters.

19 And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; and all the high hills, that were under the whole heaven, were covered.

20 Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered.

21 ¶ And all flesh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beasts, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man.

11. In the second month.] The 600th year of Noah's life, was 1656 years from the creation. In the second month, the seventeenth day of the month; which is reckoned to be about the beginning of November; so that Noah had had a harvest just before, from which to victual his ark. The same day the fountains of the great deep were broken up. There needed no new creation of waters; God has laid up the deep in storehouses, Psa. 33. 7. and now he broke up those stores. God had, in the creation, set bars and doors to the waters of the sea, that they might not return to cover the earth, Psa. 104. 9. Job 38. 9, 10, 11. and now he only removed these ancient mounds and fences, and the waters of the sea returned to cover the earth as they had done at first, chap. 1. 9. And the windows of heaven were opened: and the waters which were above the firmament were poured out upon the world; those treasures which God has reserved against the time of trouble, the day of battle and war, Job 38. 22, 23. The rain, which ordinarily descends in drops, then came down in streams. We read, Job 26. 8. that God binds up the waters in his thick clouds; and the cloud is not rent under them; but now the bond was loosed, and the cloud was rent, and such rains descended as were never known before or since.

17. And the flood, &c.] Or, that flood of waters, which was poured down in that shower mentioned ver. 12. otherwise the flood was one hundred and fifty days upon the earth, ver. 24.

19. And all the high hills, &c.] And from the vast number of sea-shells found on the tops of mountains, and in places far from the sea, it plainly appears those parts have been once under water. Besides, many of the ancient heathens have made mention of the flood; and it appears that the Chinese, and even the Americans, have a tradition of it.

20. Fifteen cubits, &c.] Or about twenty-two feet of our measure, which was sufficient for the destruction of the highest men, or other creatures, though placed upon the highest mountains.

22 All in whose nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died.

23 And every living substance was destroyed which was upon the face of the ground, both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; and they were destroyed from the earth: and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark.

24 ¶ And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The waters assuage.—15 Noah goeth forth out of the ark:—20 buildeth an altar, and offereth sacrifice.—21 God's promise to curse the earth no more.

AND God remembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: and God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters assuaged:

2 The fountains also of the deep, and the windows of heaven, were stopped, and the rain from heaven was restrained:

3 And the waters returned from off the earth continually: and after the end of the hundred and fifty days the waters were abated.

4 ¶ And the ark rested in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat.

5 And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

6 ¶ And it came to pass, at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made.

7 And he sent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth.

8 Also he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters were abated from off the face of the ground.

9 But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned unto him into the ark: for the waters were on the face of the whole earth. Then he put forth his hand, and took her, and pulled her in unto him into the ark.

10 And he stayed yet other seven days; and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark.

11 And the dove came in to him in the evening, and, lo, in her mouth was an olive-leaf plucked off: so Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth.

12 And he stayed yet other seven days, and sent forth the dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

13 ¶ And it came to pass, in the six hundredth and first year, in the first month, the first day of the month, the waters were dried up from off the earth: and Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked, and, behold, the face of the ground was dry.

14 And

24. An hundred and fifty days;] In all whereof one part was the forty days mentioned ver. 17. as appears from chap. 8. 1.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Made a wind.] A drying or burning wind, like that, Exod. 14. 31. which had a natural power to dry up the waters; but that was heightened by the assistance of an higher and miraculous operation of God.

4. In the seventh month, &c.] From the beginning, not of the flood, but of the year, as appears by comparing chap. 7. 11. and chap. 8. 13, 14.

Mountains of Ararat.] i. e. Upon one of the mountains of Ararat. By Ararat is here commonly and rightly understood Armenia, as appears by comparing Isa. 37. 38. with Jer. 51. 27. And the Armenians have a tradition, that on the summit of this mountain there is still a considerable part of the ark remaining, though it is impossible to get up to the top of it, it being perpetually covered with snow.

7. Sent forth a raven, &c.] A fit messenger for that purpose, because it smells dead carcases at a great distance, and flies far, and then returns to its former habitation with something in its bill.

8. Sent forth a dove, &c.] Which flies lower and longer than the raven, and is more sociable and familiar with man, and therefore more likely to return with some discovery.

9. Found no rest.] Because the tops of the hills which then appeared were either muddy and dirty, or unobserved by the dove, as not soaring so high; whence the doves are emphatically called, the doves of the valleys, Ezek. 7. 16.

12. Returned not again.] Finding convenient food and a resting place upon the earth, and preferring her freedom before her mate.

14 And in the second month, on the seven and twentieth day of the month, was the earth dried.

15 ¶ And God spake unto Noah, saying,

16 Go forth of the ark, thou, and thy wife, and thy sons, and thy sons' wives with thee.

17 Bring forth with thee every living thing that is with thee, of all flesh, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth; that they may breed abundantly in the earth, and be fruitful, and multiply upon the earth.

18 And Noah went forth, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him:

19 Every beast, every creeping thing, and every fowl, and whatsoever creepeth upon the earth, after their kinds, went forth out of the ark.

20 ¶ And Noah builded an altar unto the LORD, and took of every clean beast, and of every clean fowl, and offered burnt-offerings on the altar.

21 And the LORD smelled a sweet savour; and the LORD said in his heart, I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth: neither will I again smite any more every thing living, as I have done.

22 While the earth remaineth, seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night, shall not cease.

C H A P. IX.

1 God blesseth Noah.—4 Blood and murder are forbidden.—

8 God's covenant—13 signified by the rain-bow.—18 Noah replenisheth the world.—20 planteth a vineyard.—21 is drunken, and mocked of his son.—25 curseth Canaan.—26 blesseth Shem.—27 prayeth for Japheth.—29 and dieth.

AND God blessed Noah and his sons, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth.

2 And the fear of you, and the dread of you, shall be upon every beast of the earth, and upon every fowl of the air, upon all that moveth upon the earth, and upon all the fishes of the sea: into your hand are they delivered.

3 Every moving thing that liveth shall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things:

4 But flesh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, shall ye not eat.

5 And surely your blood of your lives will I require: at the hand of every beast will I require it, and at the hand of man; at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man.

6 Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the image of God made he man.

7 And you, be ye fruitful, and multiply; bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein.

8 ¶ And God spake unto Noah, and to his sons with him, saying,

9 And I, behold, I establish my covenant with you, and with your seed after you;

10 And with every living creature that is with you, of the fowl, of the cattle, and of every beast of the earth with you; from all that go out of the ark, to every beast of the earth.

11 And I will establish my covenant with you: neither shall all flesh be cut off any more by the waters of a flood; neither shall there any more be a flood to destroy the earth.

12 And God said, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you, and every living creature that is with you, for perpetual generations:

13 I do set my bow in the cloud; and it shall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth.

14 And it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow shall be seen in the cloud:

15 And I will remember my covenant which is between me and you, and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh.

16 And the bow shall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting covenant, between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the earth.

17 And God said unto Noah, This is the token of the covenant, which I have established between me and all flesh that is upon the earth.

18 ¶ And the sons of Noah, that went forth of the ark, were Shem, and Ham, and Japheth: and Ham is the father of Canaan.

19 These are the three sons of Noah: and of them was the whole earth overspread.

20 ¶ And Noah began to be an husbandman, and he planted a vineyard:

21 And he drank of the wine, and was drunken; and he was uncovered within his tent.

22 And Ham, the father of Canaan, saw the nakedness of his father, and told his two brethren without.

23 And Shem and Japheth took a garment, and laid it upon both their shoulders, and went backward, and covered

14. Was the earth dried.] Not only from water, as it was, ver. 13. but from mud and dirt also. So the flood continued ten days more than a year, by comparing this with chap. 7. 11.

17. Upon the earth, &c.] Quest. How could these creatures which came out of the ark in Asia get thence to America, or to the islands remote from the continent? Ans. The same God who made all these creatures, and caused them to come first to Adam, and afterwards to Noah, could afterwards both incline and empower them to go whither he pleased.

20. An altar, &c.] The first altar we read of, but not the first which was built: for the sacrifices which were offered before, Gen. 4. 3, 4. presuppose an altar. Therefore it is no sufficient evidence that such things were not done, because they are not said to be done in scripture: which will be an useful consideration for the understanding of many passages of scripture hereafter.

Noah was now turned out into a cold and desolate world, where one would have thought his first care would have been to build a house for himself; but, behold,—he begins with an altar for God! God that is the first, must be first served; and he begins well that begins with God.

21. Smelled a sweet savour, &c.] i. e. Graciously accepted the person and praise-offering of Noah, and was well-pleased therewith, as men use to be with a sweet smell.

I will not again curse the ground, &c.] i. e. The whole earth, with this kind of curse, with another deluge. But he hath declared, he will again destroy the world by fire.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 1. Blessed Noah, &c.] i. e. Renewed the old blessing and grant, made chap. 1. 28. which might seem to be forfeited and made void by man's sin, and by God's judgment consequent upon it.

3. Shall be meat for, &c.] It is not a command that we must, but a permission that we may eat of them; because the earth was grown more feeble by the flood, and its fruits yielded less and worse nourishment.

4. But flesh with the life, &c.] i. e. Whilst it lives, or taken from the creature before it was quite dead; which was an ancient practice, and an effect either of luxury or cruelty.

The blood thereof, &c.] God thought fit to forbid this, partly that by No. 2.

this respect shewn to the blood of beasts, it might appear how sacred a thing the blood of man was, and how much God abhorred the sin of murder; and principally because the blood was consecrated to God, and was the means of atonement for man; which reason God himself gives, Lev. 17. 11, 12. and did in a special manner represent the blood of Christ, which was to be shed for the redemption of mankind.

5. At the hand of every beast, &c.] This was ordained to punish the careless owners of beasts, and that the lives of men might be the better secured, by the killing such beasts as might otherwise have done the like mischief hereafter.

6. Whoso sheddeth, &c.] Wilfully and unwarrantably. For there is a double exception to this law:—1. Of casual murder, expressed Numb. 35. 11. Deut. 19. 4. 2. Of death inflicted by the hand of the magistrate for crimes deserving it, mentioned in the following words, and elsewhere.

For in the image of God, &c.] So that murder is not only an offence against man, but also an injury to God, and a contempt of that image of God which all men are obliged to reverence and maintain.

9. Establish my covenant, &c.] i. e. My promise. The word covenant is oft used for a simple promise; as we shall see hereafter.

11. A flood, &c.] An universal deluge: for particular inundations there have been, whereby towns and countries have been overwhelmed, with all their inhabitants.

13. I do set my bow in the cloud;] Now made a covenant sign, that the earth should never more be destroyed by a deluge of water.

20. Began to be an husbandman, &c.] i. e. Was an husbandman, as he had been before. The verb, to begin, doth oft occur; and is applied to him that continueth or repeateth an action begun before. Thus Christ is said to begin to cast out, Mark 11. 15. and to begin to speak, Luke 12. 1. For which, in the parallel places, he is said only to cast out, Matt. 21. 12. and to speak, Matt. 16. 6.

21. Was drunken, &c.] Either through ignorance and inexperience of the nature and strength of that liquor, or through the infirmity of the flesh.

He was uncovered, &c.] Either to relieve himself against the heat of the climate and season, or from his negligence and carelessness.

covered the nakedness of their father; and their faces were backward, and they saw not their father's nakedness.

24 And Noah awoke from his wine, and knew what his younger son had done unto him.

25 And he said, Cursed be Canaan; a servant of servants shall he be unto his brethren.

26 And he said, Blessed be the LORD God of Shem; and Canaan shall be his servant.

27 God shall enlarge Japheth, and he shall dwell in the tents of Shem; and Canaan shall be his servant.

28 ¶ And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years.

29 And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years: and he died.

C H A P. X.

1 Noah's generations.—2 The sons of Japheth,—6 and of Ham.—8 Nimrod the first monarch.—21 The sons of Shem.

NOW these are the generations of the sons of Noah; Shem, Ham, and Japheth: and unto them were sons born after the flood.

2 ¶ The sons of Japheth: Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras.

3 And the sons of Gomer: Ashkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah.

4 And the sons of Javan: Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Dodanim.

5 By these were the isles of the Gentiles divided in their lands; every one after his tongue, after their families, in their nations.

6 ¶ And the sons of Ham: Cush, and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan.

7 And the sons of Cush: Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: and the sons of Raamah; Sheba, and Dedan.

8 And Cush begat Nimrod: he began to be a mighty one in the earth.

9 He was a mighty hunter before the LORD: wherefore it is said, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the LORD.

10 And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.

11 Out of that land went forth Ashur, and builded Nineveh, and the city Rehoboth, and Calah, 12 And Resen between Nineveh and Calah: the same is a great city.

13 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim,

25. Cursed be Canaan, &c.] Quest. Seeing Ham committed the crime, why is the curse inflicted upon his son Canaan?—Ans. When Canaan is mentioned, Ham is not exempted from the curse, but rather more deeply plunged into it, whilst he is pronounced accursed, not only in his person, but also in his posterity, which doubtless was a great aggravation of his grief; as on the contrary Joseph is said to be blessed, when his children are blessed, chap. 48. 15, 16.

26. Blessed be the Lord God of Shem.] Quest. What is this to Shem; for it is not Shem, but God, who is here blessed?—Ans. Shem also is here blessed, and that in the highest degree, because the Lord hath here declared himself to be Shem's God. Now for God to be said to be any man's God is every where mentioned as the height of blessedness. See chap. 17. 7. Psa. 144. 15. Jer. 31. 33.

27. Enlarge Japheth;] Which was very literally made good to him, because he had a very numerous posterity; and by them he possessed the largest part of the world, even all Europe, a great part of Asia, and, as it is probable, America also.

He shall dwell in the tents of Shem:] That is, some of the countries of Shem shall be possessed by the children of Japheth.

Canaan shall be his servant.] This was eminently accomplished; for though Shem and Japheth, in their posterity, did successively conquer and rule one over the other, yet none of Ham's posterity did ever rule over Japheth; but Ham, though for a time he bore away in his son Nimrod, yet that dominion soon expired.

28. Three hundred and fifty years:] Which reacheth to the fifty-eighth year of Abram's age, as the Jews note. And so we have a manifest account of the propagation of religion from the beginning of the world to this day. Noah received it from his parents, who had the account of it from their first father Adam's own mouth, and transmitted it to Abram; and its descent from him to the Jews, and by the Jews to others, is sufficiently known.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

This chapter, though it may seem to some unprofitable, as consisting almost wholly of genealogies, yet hath indeed great and manifold uses.

—1. To shew the true original of the several nations; about which all

14 And Pathrusim, and Casluhim, (out of whom came Philistim,) and Caphtorim.

15 ¶ And Canaan begat Sidon his first-born, and Heth,

16 And the Jebusite, and the Amorite, and the Girgasite,

17 And the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite,

18 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites spread abroad.

19 And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon, as thou comest to Gerar, unto Gaza; as thou goest unto Sodom, and Gomorrah, and Admah, and Zeboiim, even unto Lasha.

20 These are the sons of Ham, after their families, after their tongues, in their countries, and in their nations.

21 ¶ Unto Shem also, the father of all the children of Eber, the brother of Japheth the elder, even to him were children born.

22 The children of Shem: Elam, and Ashur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram.

23 And the children of Aram: Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash.

24 And Arphaxad begat Salah; and Salah begat Eber.

25 And unto Eber were born two sons: the name of one was Peleg; for in his days was the earth divided: and his brother's name was Joktan.

26 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah, 27 And Hadoram, and Uzal, and Diklah,

28 And Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba,

29 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab: all these were the sons of Joktan.

30 And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest unto Sephar, a mount of the east.

31 These are the sons of Shem, after their families, after their tongues, in their lands, after their nations.

32 These are the families of the sons of Noah, after their generations, in their nations; and by these were the nations divided in the earth after the flood.

other authors write idly, fabulously, and falsely; and thereby to manifest the providence of God in the government of the world and church, and the truth and authority of the holy scriptures. 2. To discover and distinguish, from all other nations, that people or nation in which God's church was to be, and from which Christ was to come. 3. That Noah's prophecy concerning his three sons might be better understood, and the accomplishment of it made evident. 4. To explain divers prophetical predictions, and other passages of scripture, as will appear in the sequel. For the better understanding of this chapter, compare with it 1 Chron. chap. 1. from verse 4—24.

5. These were the isles, &c.] Not isles, properly so called, for why should they, having their choice, forsake the continent for islands, and thereby cut off themselves from their brethren; and where had they ships to transport them? But the word isles here and elsewhere signifies all those countries that had the sea between them and Judea, as Isa. 11. 10, 11. and 40. 15. Jer. 2. 10. Ezek. 27. 3. Zeph. 2. 11. and isles are here put for the inhabitants, as the word earth and land are commonly used.

9. He was a mighty hunter, &c.] Nimrod was called a mighty hunter in two respects:—1. On account of his being famous for hunting wild beasts, to which men were much exposed, while they were as yet but few, and lived scattered up and down in the open air, or in tents weakly defended. 2. Because he was a great tyrant and persecutor, who are often in scripture called fowlers and hunters, as Psa. 91. 3. Jer. 16. 16. Lament. 3. 52, &c.

Wherefore it is said, &c.] i. e. Thence came the common proverb, He is like Nimrod, the mighty hunter before the Lord.

21. Father of all the children of Eber;] That is, of the Hebrew nation, which are called Eber, Numb. 24. 24.

25. Was the earth divided.] The great dispersion, which we read of in the following chapter, fell out just when Peleg was born.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. Was of one language, &c.] Hebrew, of one lip, to shew that there was then but one language in the world, which behaved to be that of Noah; and that of Noah, the language of Adam; and it is commonly believed to have been Hebrew.

east, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar; and they dwelt there.

3 And they said one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them thoroughly. And they had brick for stone, and slime had they for mortar.

4 And they said, Go to, let us build us a city, and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth.

5 ¶ And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of men builded.

6 And the LORD said, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they begin to do: and now nothing will be restrained from them, which they have imagined to do.

7 Go to, let us go down, and there confound their language, that they may not understand one another's speech.

8 So the LORD scattered them abroad from thence upon the face of all the earth: and they left off to build the city.

9 Therefore is the name of it called Babel; because the LORD did there confound the language of all the earth: and from thence did the LORD scatter them abroad upon the face of all the earth.

10 ¶ These are the generations of Shem: Shem was an hundred years old, and begat Arphaxad two years after the flood.

11 And Shem lived, after he begat Arphaxad, five hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.

12 And Arphaxad lived five and thirty years, and begat Salah.

13 And Arphaxad lived, after he begat Salah, four hundred and three years, and begat sons and daughters.

14 And Salah lived thirty years, and begat Eber.

15 And Salah lived, after he begat Eber, four hundred and three years, and begat sons and daughters.

16 And Eber lived four and thirty years, and begat Peleg.

17 And Eber lived, after he begat Peleg, four hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters.

18 And Peleg lived thirty years, and begat Reu.

19 And Peleg lived, after he begat Reu, two hundred and nine years, and begat sons and daughters.

20 And Reu lived two and thirty years, and begat Serug.

21 And Reu lived, after he begat Serug, two hundred and seven years, and begat sons and daughters.

22 And Serug lived thirty years, and begat Nahor.

23 And Serug lived, after he begat Nahor, two hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.

24 And Nahor lived nine and twenty years, and begat Terah.

25 And Nahor lived, after he begat Terah, an hundred and nineteen years, and begat sons and daughters.

26 And Terah lived seventy years, and begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

27 ¶ Now these are the generations of Terah: Terah begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran: and Haran begat Lot.

28 And Haran died before his father Terah, in the land of his nativity, in Ur of the Chaldees.

29 And Abram and Nahor took them wives: the name of Abram's wife was Sarai; and the name of Nahor's wife Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Iscah.

30 But Sarai was barren; she had no child.

31 ¶ And Terah took Abram his son, and Lot the son of Haran his son's son, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, his son Abram's wife; and they went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan: and they came unto Haran, and dwelt there.

32 And the days of Terah were two hundred and five years: and Terah died in Haran.

C H A P. XII.

1 God calleth Abram, and blesseth him with a promise of Christ:—4 His departure from Haran.—7 Canaan is promised.

NOW the LORD had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee.

2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing.

3 And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.

4 ¶ So Abram departed, as the LORD had spoken unto him; and Lot went with him: and Abram was seventy and five years old when he departed out of Haran.

5 And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the souls that they had gotten in Haran; and they went forth to go into the land of Canaan; and into the land of Canaan they came.

6 ¶ And Abram passed through the land unto the place of Sichem, unto the plain of Moreh. And the Canaanite was then in the land.

7 And the LORD appeared unto Abram, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land; and there builded he an altar unto the LORD, who appeared unto him.

8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Beth-el, and pitched his tent, having Beth-el on the west, and Hai on the east: and there he builded an

3. Let us make brick;] For in that low and fat soil they had no quarries of stones.

And slime;] A kind of clay called asphaltus or bitumen, which, as Pliny testifieth, is liquid and glutinous, and fit to be used in brick buildings, as Strabo, Dion, and others, note.

4. May reach unto heaven.] That is as much as to say, an exceeding high tower; an usual hyperbole, both in scripture, as Deut. 9. 2, &c. and other authors.

Lest we be scattered, &c.] Their design was not to secure themselves against a flood, which they well knew brick buildings were no fence against; nor would they then have built this tower in a plain, but upon some high mountain; but rather to prevent a total and irrecoverable dispersion.

5. The Lord came down;] Not by local descent, for he is every where; but by the manifestation of his presence, and the effects of his power, in that place.

The children of men; So called emphatically, to distinguish them from the sons of God, or the race of Shem, who were not guilty of the sin.

7. Let us, &c.] The blessed Trinity. See Gen. 1. 26.

Confound their language, &c.] By making them forget their former language, and by putting into their minds several languages, not a distinct language into each person, but into each family, or rather into each nation; and thereby prevented them from continuing that mutual intercourse, which was essentially necessary for the carrying on of so great a work.

10. The generations of Shem;] Not all of them, as appears both from the next verse, and from the former chapter; but of those who were the seminary of the church, and the progenitors of Christ.

23. Ur, &c.] The word Ur in the Hebrew signifies fire, and was so called, either from the Chaldeans, who first studied astronomy, and observed the motions of the celestial bodies, or from the fire, the symbol of the sun, which was worshipped in that city.

31. Unto Haran, &c.] Called Charran, Acts 7. 4. and by the Romans, Carrae; a place in Mesopotamia, strictly so called, in the way to Canaan, and near to it.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 1. The Lord had said, &c.] We are not told how he spake to him, whether in a dream, or a vision, or by an angel. It is supposed to have been by a voice, when he was awake, from the Shechinah or divine presence; for St. Stephen says expressly, the glory of God appeared unto him before he dwelt in Charran, Acts 7. 2.

From thy father's house;] From the family of Nahor, which was become idolatrous, Gen. 31. 30. Josh. 24. 2. and consequently their society was dangerous and pernicious.

That I will shew thee.] Which as yet he named not, for the greater trial and exercise of Abram's faith and patience: compare Isa. 41. 2. with Ileb. 11. 8.

3. In thee;] i. e. in thy seed, as it is explained, chap. 22. 18. and 26. 4. and 28. 14. i. e. in and through Christ, Acts 3. 25. Gal. 3. 9—29.

5. All the—souls that they had gotten, &c.] That is, all the slaves both in their house, or bought with their money. The Chaldee paraphrast interprets this of the proselytes they had won to God, for such only would Abram carry with him.

6. Place of Sichem;] A place afterwards so called, in the mountains of Ephraim, Josh. 21. 21. Judg. 8. 31. and here so called by anticipation.

Plain of Moreh.] The Septuagint has it, the oak of Moreh. In all probability there was a grove of oaks in this plain, one of which was remarkably large.

And the Canaanite, &c.] This is added as an aggravation of Abram's faith and obedience, that he durst and did profess the true religion in the midst of such an idolatrous people.

an altar unto the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD.

9 And Abram journeyed, going on still toward the south.

10 ¶ And there was a famine in the land: and Abram went down into Egypt to sojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land.

11 And it came to pass, when he was come near to enter into Egypt, that he said unto Sarai his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a fair woman, to look upon.

12 Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Egyptians shall see thee, that they shall say, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will save thee alive.

13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my sister: that it may be well with me for thy sake; and my soul shall live because of thee.

14 ¶ And it came to pass, that when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beheld the woman, that she was very fair.

15 The princes also of Pharaoh saw her, and commended her before Pharaoh: and the woman was taken into Pharaoh's house.

16 And he entreated Abram well for her sake: and he had sheep, and oxen, and he-asses, and men-servants, and maid-servants, and she-asses, and camels.

17 And the LORD plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues, because of Sarai, Abram's wife.

18 And Pharaoh called Abram, and said, What is this that thou hast done unto me? Why didst thou not tell me that she was thy wife?

19 Why saidst thou, She is my sister? so I might have taken her to me to wife: now, therefore, behold thy wife; take her, and go thy way.

20 And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him: and they sent him away, and his wife, and all that he had.

C H A P. XIII.

1 Abram and Lot return out of Egypt:—7 By disagreement they part asunder.—14 God's promise renewed to Abram.

AND Abram went up out of Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the south.

2 And Abram was very rich in cattle, in silver, and in gold.

3 And he went on his journeys from the south, even to Beth-el, unto the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Beth-el and Hai;

4 Unto the place of the altar which he had made there at the first: and there Abram called on the name of the LORD.

5 ¶ And Lot also, which went with Abram, had flocks, and herds, and tents.

11. Fair woman, &c.] She was now above sixty years old, but having comely features, and a fair complexion, (in comparison of the tawny Egyptians,) she seemed to be younger than she was.

12. They will kill me.] Adultery was reckoned an enormous crime even by the pagans; and it is for this reason Abram believed the Egyptians would put him to death.

13. Thou art my sister.] So she was, either, 1. More generally, as his niece; for nephews and nieces are in scripture called brethren and sisters, as Gen. 13. 8. Or rather, 2. Properly, i. e. by the father's side, Gen. 20. 12. So this expression was true, but ambiguous, and intended to deceive the Egyptians, and therefore unwarrantable.

15. Pharaoh:] A name common to all the kings of Egypt now, and for many ages after.

Into Pharaoh's house.] Not to his bed, but the house of his women, where they were purified and prepared for the king's presence and society, as Esther 2. 8, 9. that in due time she might be his concubine or wife.

17. Plagued Pharaoh:] Most probably with some notable distemper of his body.

His house:] His servants or courtiers.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 7. Canaanite and the Perizzite dwelt, &c.] Were the lords and owners of it, and therefore Abram and Lot could not take what pastures they pleased, but such as the others left them, which was not sufficient for their conveniency. It may also be added as a reason of Abram's following motion, because that idolatrous people were present, and diligently observed all their contentions and other miscarriages, and would, doubtless, take occasion thence to disparage the true religion.

6 And the land was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their substance was great, so that they could not dwell together.

7 ¶ And there was a strife between the herdmen of Abram's cattle, and the herdmen of Lot's cattle: and the Canaanite and the Perizzite dwelt then in the land.

8 And Abram said unto Lot, Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdmen and thy herdmen: for we be brethren.

9 Is not the whole land before thee? Separate thyself, I pray thee, from me: if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right: or if thou depart to the right hand, then I will go to the left.

10 And Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of Jordan, that it was well watered every where, before the LORD destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, even as the garden of the LORD, like the land of Egypt, as thou comest unto Zoar.

11 Then Lot chose him all the plain of Jordan; and Lot journeyed east: and they separated themselves the one from the other.

12 Abram dwelt in the land of Canaan, and Lot dwelt in the cities of the plain, and pitched his tent toward Sodom.

13 But the men of Sodom were wicked, and sinners before the LORD exceedingly.

14 ¶ And the LORD said unto Abram, after that Lot was separated from him, Lift up now thine eyes, and look, from the place where thou art, northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward.

15 For all the land which thou seest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed for ever.

16 And I will make thy seed as the dust of the earth: so that if a man can number the dust of the earth, then shall thy seed also be numbered.

17 Arise, walk through the land, in the length of it, and in the breadth of it; for I will give it unto thee.

18 ¶ Then Abram removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron, and built there an altar unto the LORD.

C H A P. XIV.

1 The battle of the kings.—12 Lot taken,—14 is rescued by Abram.—18 Melchizedek blesseth Abram,—20 who giveth him tithes.

AND it came to pass, in the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations;

2 That these made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zebaiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar.

3 All these were joined together in the vale of Siddim, which is the salt sea.

8. Brethren:] Both by nature, near kinsmen, as the word brother is oft used; and in the faith and religion too, among whom contentions are very indecent and scandalous.

15. To thee, &c.] Quest. How was the land given to Abram, when it was expressly said, He, i. e. God, gave him none inheritance in it, no, not so much as to set his foot on, Acts 7. 5. Ans. 1. God gave Abram the right to it, though not the actual possession of it, until the time that God appointed; as God gave the right of the kingdom to David, but not the possession till Saul's death. 2. God explains himself, to thee and to thy seed; to thee, that is, to thy seed, and that for thy sake.

For ever.] Quest. How for ever, when after some hundreds of years they were turned out of it? Ans. This promise was made to them upon the condition of their obedience, which is oft expressed in other places, as Lev. 18. 26. Deut. 4. 25, 26. Isa. 48. 18, 19.

18. The plain of Mamre:] An Amorite of great note, from whom the city of Hebron was called Mamre, Gen. 23. 19. a friend and confederate of Abram, Gen. 14. 13. by whom it is thought he was brought to the knowledge and worship of the true God.

In Hebron:] Or, near Hebron; for so the Hebrew Beth is sometimes taken.

Verse 1. King of nations:] i. e. Of a people which came to him out of several nations, and put themselves under his government.

2. King of Sodom, &c.] Once for all, observe that the name of kings is here and elsewhere given by Moses to the chief governors of cities or little provinces. Compare Jos. 12. 9, &c.

Which is the salt sea:] The place where Sodom and Gomorrah stood, The Greeks called it the brimstone lake.

4 Twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled.

5 And in the fourteenth year came Chedorlaomer, and the kings that were with him, and smote the Rephaims in Ashteroth-karnaim, and the Zuzims in Ham, and the Emims in Shaveh-kiriathaim,

6 And the Horites in their mount Seir, unto Elparan, which is by the wilderness.

7 And they returned, and came to En-mishpat, which is Kadesh, and smote all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites that dwelt in Hazezon-tamar.

8 And there went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, (the same is Zoar,) and they joined battle with them in the vale of Siddim;

9 With Chedorlaomer the king of Elam, and with Tidal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar; four kings with five.

10 And the vale of Siddim was full of slime-pits; and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there: and they that remained fled to the mountain.

11 And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their victuals, and went their way.

12 ¶ And they took Lot, Abram's brother's son, (who dwelt in Sodom,) and his goods, and departed.

13 And there came one that had escaped, and told Abram the Hebrew; for he dwelt in the plain of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol, and brother of Aner: and these were confederate with Abram.

14 ¶ And when Abram heard that his brother was taken captive, he armed his trained servants, born in his own house, three hundred and eighteen, and pursued them unto Dan.

15 And he divided himself against them, he and his servants by night, and smote them, and pursued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damascus.

16 And he brought back all the goods, and also brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women also, and the people.

17 ¶ And the king of Sodom went out to meet him (after his return from the slaughter of Chedorlaomer, and of the kings that were with him) at the valley of Shaveh, which is the king's dale.

18 And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: and he was the priest of the most high God.

19 And he blessed him, and said, Blessed be Abram of the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth.

20 And blessed be the most high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave him tithes of all.

21 ¶ And the king of Sodom said unto Abram, Give me the persons, and take the goods to thyself.

22 And Abram said to the king of Sodom, I have lifted up mine hand unto the LORD, the most high God, the possessor of heaven and earth,

23 That I will not take from a thread even to a shoe-latchet, and that I will not take any thing that is thine, lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abram rich.

24 Save only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men which went with me, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion.

CHAP. XV.

1 Abram is encouraged.—4 A son is promised:—6 he is justified by faith.—7 Canaan is promised again.

AFTER these things the word of the LORD came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not, Abram; I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward.

2 And Abram said, LORD God, what wilt thou give me, seeing I go childless, and the steward of my house is this Eliezer of Damascus?

3 And Abram said, Behold, to me thou hast given no seed: and, lo, one born in my house is mine heir.

4 ¶ And, behold, the word of the LORD came unto him, saying, This shall not be thine heir; but he that shall come forth out of thine own bowels shall be thine heir.

5 And he brought him forth abroad, and said, Look now toward heaven, and tell the stars, if thou be able to number them: and he said unto him, So shall thy seed be.

6 ¶ And he believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness.

7 ¶ And he said unto him, I am the LORD that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land to inherit it.

8 And he said, LORD God, whereby shall I know that I shall inherit it?

9 And he said unto him, Take me an heifer of three years old, and a she-goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon.

10 And he took unto him all these, and divided them in the midst, and laid each piece one against another: but the birds divided he not.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 1. In a vision.] God anciently revealed himself to men two ways; either, 1. When the man was asleep in a dream: or, 2. In a vision, Numb. 12. 6. when he was awake: and this either, 1. When he was wrapt into an ecstasy, wherein his senses are idle, but his mind is active, and elevated to the contemplation and understanding of what God reveals. See Numb. 12. 6, 7, 8. and 24. 4. Isa. 1. 1. Acts 10. 11. Or, 2. When the thing was manifested by an external representation. So here God seems to have appeared unto Abram in the shape of a man, as he did Gen. 18. as may be gathered from ver. 5—10.

Fear not;] Neither the return of those enemies whom thou hast smitten and provoked, nor the envy of thy neighbours for this glorious victory, nor for thy own desolate condition.

2. What wilt thou give me, seeing I go childless, &c.] What good will all the riches in the world do me, if I have not a child to inherit my estate.

Eliezer of Damascus.] It is likely Eliezer was one of their souls, (i. e. servants) gotten in Haran, chap. 12. 5. and had been such a wise and faithful manager of all things committed to his care, that Abram intended, before the promise made to him, to have made him his heir.

6. Counted it to him, &c.] That is, reckoned, or imputed it, as this word is translated, Rom. 4. 10—22. for a righteous and worthy action, Psa. 106. 31. and thereupon graciously owned him as a righteous person, though guilty of some failings inconsistent with perfect righteousness.

8. Whereby shall I know, &c.] He asks a sign, not out of distrust of God's promise, for he was strong in faith, Rom. 4. 20. but for further assurance and confirmation of it. And such an asking of a sign was not an unusual practice with good men, as Judg. 6. 17—37. 2 Kings 20. 8. nor are they reproved for it; but on the contrary, Ahaz was commanded to ask a sign, and reproved for not asking it, Isa. 7. 11.

10. Divided them, &c.] It was a very ancient custom for those who entered into a covenant with each other, to divide the victims, laying the parts opposite to each other, with a space for both parties to walk between them; signifying thereby, that the party who brake the covenant should

10. Fell there.] Either, 1. Fell into the pits which they designed for others: Or rather, 2. Were slain; as this word is oft used, as Josh. 8. 24, 25. Judg. 8. 10. and 12. 6. and here too; for those that fell are here opposed to those that remained.

13. The Hebrew;] So called, either from his ancestor Eber, chap. 10. 24. and 11. 14. or, as others think, from his passing over the river Euphrates, from beyond which he came into Canaan, the word Hebrew, in the original language, signifying a stranger.

17. King's dale;] So called, either upon this occasion of the meeting of divers kings here, or because king Melchizedek either had his habitation here, or was much delighted with it, and conversant in it. See 2 Sam. 18. 18.

18. Melchizedek.] A Canaanitish king, by the divine providence made both a king over men, and priest unto the true God, brought in here in this unusual manner, without any mention of his parents, birth, or death, for this end, that he might be an illustrious type of Christ.

King of Salem.] By Salem most commentators understand Jerusalem, which is called Salem in scripture, Psa. 76. 2.

Bread and wine.] That is, all sorts of provisions proper to refresh his weary and hungry army, according to the manner of those times. See Deut. 23. 4. and 25. 18. Judg. 8. 5, 6, 15. 1 Sam. 17. 17.

He was the priest, &c.] Thus in succeeding ages the same persons were often both kings and priests, as the learned note out of Virgil and other authors.

20. He gave him tithes, &c.] Abram gave tithes to Melchizedek, as appears both from Heb. 7. 4. and from the nature of the thing; for the tithes confessedly belong to the priest, such as Melchizedek, and not to Abram.

23. Lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abram rich;] Lest thou shouldest claim a share with God in the honour due to him, to whose blessing alone I do and will owe my riches.

24. Men which went with me.] For as Abram had a right to spoils, so had they, whether they joined with him in the battle, as it is conceived they did, or only abode by the stuff, 1 Sam. 30. 24.

11 And when the fowls came down upon the carcasses, Abram drove them away.

12 And when the sun was going down, a deep sleep fell upon Abram; and, lo, an horror of great darkness fell upon him.

13 And he said unto Abram, Know of a surety, that thy seed shall be a stranger in a land that is not theirs, and shall serve them; and they shall afflict them four hundred years.

14 And also that nation whom they shall serve will I judge: and afterward shall they come out with great substance.

15 And thou shalt go to thy fathers in peace: thou shalt be buried in a good old age.

16 But in the fourth generation they shall come hither again: for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full.

17 And it came to pass, that when the sun went down, and it was dark, behold, a smoking furnace, and a burning lamp, that passed between those pieces.

18 In that same day the LORD made a covenant with Abram, saying, Unto thy seed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates:

19 The Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmites,

20 And the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaims,

21 And the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgashites, and the Jebusites.

3 Sarai giveth Hagar to Abram,—6 who, flying from her mistress,—9 is sent back by an angel.—15 Ishmael is born.

NOW Sarai, Abram's wife, bare him no children: and she had an handmaid, an Egyptian, whose name was Hagar.

2 And Sarai said unto Abram, Behold now, the LORD hath restrained me from bearing: I pray thee go in unto my maid; it may be that I may obtain children by her: and Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai.

3 And Sarai, Abram's wife, took Hagar her maid, the Egyptian, after Abram had dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan, and gave her to her husband Abram to be his wife.

4 ¶ And he went in unto Hagar, and she conceived: and when she saw that she had conceived, her mistress was despised in her eyes.

should in like manner be cut asunder. The prophet Jeremiah (chap. 34. 18, 19.) has mentioned this ceremony, and consequently it continued in use long after the days of Abram.

12. A deep sleep, &c.] Partly natural, from his labour in killing and sacrificing those creatures; and partly sent upon him from God, to make way for the following representation.

An horror of great darkness, &c.] i. e. He seemed to be covered with a dreadful darkness, which was, either,—1. A token of God's special presence; compare 1 Kings 8. 12. and Lev. 16. 2. Or, A signification of the distressed and doleful condition of Abram's seed: for darkness in scripture is frequently mentioned as an emblem or sign of great misery, as Psa. 88. 6. and 107. 14, &c.

13. Four hundred years.] From the birth of Isaac, when these years began, to the departure out of Egypt, was four hundred and five years; but the five odd years are not mentioned, it being the manner of all writers to take no notice of broken numbers, when they name a round sum.

15. Go to thy fathers, &c.] i. e. Either,—1. Into heaven, where thy godly progenitors are gone: Or, 2. Into the state of the dead, where all thy fathers are gone before thee.

16. But in the fourth generation, &c.] In the end of the four hundred years, mentioned ver. 13. a generation being at that time reckoned at one hundred years, or thereabouts.

For the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full.] There were several good men still remaining among them, as Mamre, Eshcol, and Aner, seem to have been, as also Melchizedek and his religious followers.

17. A smoking furnace, and a burning lamp.] That is, the Shechinah; or Divine Majesty, appeared in great splendour, like to a flaming fire. Thus it appeared to Moses, Exod. 3. 2.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 2. Obtain children by her.] She reckons the children of her bond-woman, (as Hagar was, Gal. 4. 22.) would be accounted her children, chap. 30. 3. Exod. 21. 4. 2 Sam. 21. 8. Ezra. 2. 7.

5 And Sarai said unto Abram, My wrong be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy bosom; and when she saw that she had conceived, I was despised in her eyes: the LORD judge between me and thee.

6 But Abram said unto Sarai, Behold, thy maid is in thy hand; do to her as it pleaseth thee. And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, she fled from her face:

7 ¶ And the angel of the LORD found her by a fountain of water in the wilderness, by the fountain in the way to Shur.

8 And he said, Hagar, Sarai's maid, whence comest thou? and whither wilt thou go? And she said, I flee from the face of my mistress Sarai.

9 And the angel of the LORD said unto her, Return to thy mistress, and submit thyself under her hands.

10 And the angel of the LORD said unto her, I will multiply thy seed exceedingly, that it shall not be numbered for multitude.

11 And the angel of the LORD said unto her, Behold, thou art with child, and shalt bear a son, and shalt call his name Ishmael; because the LORD hath heard thy affliction.

12 And he will be a wild man: his hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him: and he shall dwell in the presence of all his brethren.

13 And she called the name of the LORD that spake unto her, Thou God seest me: for she said, Have I also here looked after him that seeth me?

14 Wherefore the well was called Beer-lahai-roi; behold, it is between Kadesh and Bered.

15 ¶ And Hagar bare Abram a son; and Abram called his son's name, which Hagar bare, Ishmael.

16 And Abram was fourscore and six years old, when Hagar bare Ishmael to Abram.

1 The covenant is renewed.—5 Abram's name changed.—10 Circumcision instituted.—16 Isaac promised.

AND when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the LORD appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect.

2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly.

3 And Abram fell on his face: and God talked with him, saying,

4 As for me, behold, my covenant is with thee, and thou shalt be a father of many nations.

3. To be his wife.] That is, his concubine, or secondary wife, who was not to be mistress of the house, but only to bear children for the increase of the family. Though polygamy was customary in those days, yet being forbidden by God's first institution of marriage, chap. 2. 24. compared with Matt. 19. 5. this action of Abram and Sarai cannot be altogether justified.

5. My wrong be upon thee.] Thou art the cause of this injury (or these affronts) which I suffer, by being too indulgent to my maid, and not repressing her insolence.

6. In thy hand;] i. e. Subject to thy power and authority, as the phrase is taken, chap. 24. 10, &c.

7. Angel of the Lord;] The Son of God, who often appeared in man's shape before he took man's nature, who is called an angel or messenger, because he was the angel of the covenant, Mal. 3. 1.

12. A wild man;] Hebrew, A wild-ass-man, i. e. a man like a wild ass, fierce and untamed, and unsettled in his habitation; or as that creature is, Job. 39. 5—8. Jer. 2. 24. Hos. 8. 9. living in deserts and mountains, warlike and violent, exercising himself continually in hunting beasts, and oppressing men.

Dwell in the presence, &c.] In the borders of the other sons and kindred of Abram and Isaac.

13. Have I also here looked after him that seeth me?] i. e. Do I yet see and live, after I have seen God! She wonders at it, because it was then an opinion, that an appearance of God to any person was a forerunner of death. See chap. 32. 30. Exod. 33. 20.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 2. Will make my covenant, &c.] Or rather, confirm it, for God had already entered into a general covenant with Abram, chap. 15. but here is meant the special and particular covenant of circumcision.

4. Thou shalt be a father of many nations.] Of the completion of this promise we are all to this day witnesses, for the descendants of Abram are scattered almost all over the globe. The posterity of Isaac and Ishmael only, filled Arabia, Idumea, and Canaan; and of the Jews he is universally

5 Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram: but thy name shall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee.

6 And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee; and kings shall come out of thee.

7 And I will establish my covenant between me and thee, and thy seed after thee, in their generations, for an everlasting covenant; to be a God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee.

8 And I will give unto thee, and to thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession; and I will be their God.

9 ¶ And God said unto Abraham, Thou shalt keep my covenant therefore, thou, and thy seed after thee, in their generations.

10 This is my covenant, which ye shall keep between me and you, and thy seed after thee; Every man-child among you shall be circumcised.

11 And ye shall circumcise the flesh of your foreskin; and it shall be a token of the covenant betwixt me and you.

12 And he that is eight days old shall be circumcised among you, every man-child in your generations; he that is born in the house, or bought with money of any stranger, which is not of thy seed.

13 He that is born in thy house, and he that is bought with thy money, must needs be circumcised: and my covenant shall be in your flesh for an everlasting covenant.

14 And the uncircumcised man-child, whose flesh of his foreskin is not circumcised, that soul shall be cut off from his people: he hath broken my covenant.

15 ¶ And God said unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou shalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall her name be.

16 And I will bless her, and give thee a son also of her: yea, I will bless her, and she shall be a mother of nations; kings of people shall be of her.

17 Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and shall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear?

18 And Abraham said unto God, O that Ishmael might live before thee!

19 And God said, Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed: and thou shalt call his name Isaac: and I will establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him.

20 And as for Ishmael, I have heard thee: behold, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly: twelve princes shall he beget; and I will make him a great nation.

universally styled the father, in a spiritual sense. Infinite then will his progeny become, when the gathering together of the nations shall be fulfilled!

5. Thy name shall be Abraham, &c.] i. e. The father of a multitude.

6. And kings shall come out of thee.] So did the kings of Israel and Judah, of Edom, of the Saracens, and the Messias, who is the King of kings, and Lord of lords.

8. An everlasting possession;] Upon condition of their obedience to God, as is oft expressed; wherein seeing they so notoriously failed, it is no wonder if they possessed it but a little while, as the prophet complains, Isa. 63. 18.

10. This is my covenant, &c.] Circumcision is here called the covenant by an usual metonymy, because it is the condition, sign, and seal of the covenant, the pledge of God's promise and man's duty. And upon the same grounds the cup, i. e. the wine, is called the new testament in Christ's blood, Luke 22. 20. or, which is all one, Christ's blood in the new testament, Matt. 26. 28.

12. He that is eight days old, &c.] Not before that time, because of the child's weakness and imperfection, and impurity too, Lev. 12. 3. for which reason also beasts were not to be offered to God before the eighth day, Exod. 22. 30.

14. Shall be cut off from his people.] The man should not be accounted one of God's people.

17. And laughed;] Through admiration and holy rejoicing at so great a blessing, not through unbelief, as Sarah did, Gen. 18. 12, 13. as appears from Rom. 4. 19, 20.

18. Ishmael might live before thee.] Grant, O Lord, that the giving of one son may not be joined with the taking away of another; that 21 But my covenant will I establish with Isaac, which Sarah shall bear unto thee, at this set time in the next year.

22 And he left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham.

23 ¶ And Abraham took Ishmael his son, and all that were born in his house, and all that were bought with his money, every male among the men of Abraham's house, and circumcised the flesh of their foreskin, in the self-same day, as God had said unto him.

24 And Abraham was ninety years old and nine, when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin.

25 And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old, when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin.

26 In the self-same day was Abraham circumcised, and Ishmael his son.

27 And all the men of his house, born in the house, and bought with money of the stranger, were circumcised with him.

1 Abraham entertaineth three angels.—9 Sarah's laughter:—17 Sodom's destruction revealed to Abraham:—23 his intercession.

AND the LORD appeared unto him in the plains of Mamre: and he sat in the tent-door in the heat of the day.

2 And he lifted up his eyes, and looked, and, lo, three men stood by him: and when he saw them, he ran to meet them from the tent-door, and bowed himself toward the ground,

3 And said, My Lord, if now I have found favour in thy sight, pass not away, I pray thee, from thy servant.

4 Let a little water, I pray you, be fetched, and wash your feet, and rest yourselves under the tree:

5 And I will fetch a morsel of bread, and comfort ye your hearts; after that ye shall pass on: for therefore are ye come to your servant. And they said, So do as thou hast said.

6 And Abraham hastened into the tent unto Sarah, and said, Make ready quickly three measures of fine meal, knead it, and make cakes upon the hearth.

7 And Abraham ran unto the herd, and fetched a calf, tender and good, and gave it unto a young man; and he hasted to dress it.

8 And he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had dressed, and set it before them; and he stood by them under the tree, and they did eat.

9 ¶ And they said unto him, Where is Sarah thy wife? And he said, Behold, in the tent.

10 And he said, I will certainly return unto thee according to the time of life; and, lo, Sarah thy wife shall have Ishmael may faithfully serve thee, and may have a share in thy favour and gracious covenant.

19. His name Isaac.] Which signifies laughter; not from Sarah's laughter, which had not yet happened, but from Abraham's past laughter, verse 17. and future joy in his son.

22. God went up, &c.] To heaven, in a visible manner, as it seems he conversed with him in some visible shape. Compare Gen. 35. 13. Judg. 13. 20.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

Verse 1. The heat of the day.] The time when travellers, especially in those hot countries, used to divert and refresh themselves.

2. Three men.] One of the three was the Son of God, ver. 13, 14. and the other two were angels; but Moses calls them men, because they all three appeared in the shape of men; which made Abraham take them for such.

3. And said, My Lord.] He directeth his speech to one, who by the majesty of his countenance, and the respect which the other two shewed him, seemed to be the chief of them.

4. Wash your feet.] A practice usual in those parts, because they used to travel either bare-footed, or only with sandals to cover and secure the bottom of their feet.

8. And they did eat.] Either seemingly, as the scripture oft speaks of things according to appearance; or really; they received the meat into the bodies which they assumed, where it was consumed by a divine power.

9. In the tent.] In her tent; for men and women had then separate tents or apartments.

12. Sarah

have a son. And Sarah heard it in the tent-door, which was behind him.

11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, and well stricken in age: and it ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women.

12 Therefore Sarah laughed within herself, saying, After I am waxen old, shall I have pleasure, my lord being old also?

13 And the LORD said unto Abraham, Wherefore did Sarah laugh, saying, Shall I of a surety bear a child, which am old?

14 Is any thing too hard for the LORD? At the time appointed I will return unto thee, according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a son.

15 Then Sarah denied, saying, I laughed not: for she was afraid. And he said, Nay; but thou didst laugh.

16 ¶ And the men rose up from thence, and looked toward Sodom: and Abraham went with them, to bring them on the way.

17 And the LORD said, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do;

18 Seeing that Abraham shall surely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him?

19 For I know him, that he will command his children and his household after him, and they shall keep the way of the LORD, to do justice and judgment; that the LORD may bring upon Abraham that which he hath spoken of him.

20 And the LORD said, Because the cry of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and because their sin is very grievous;

21 I will go down now, and see whether they have done altogether according to the cry of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know.

22 And the men turned their faces from thence, and went toward Sodom: but Abraham stood yet before the LORD.

23 ¶ And Abraham drew near, and said, Wilt thou also destroy the righteous with the wicked?

24 Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt thou also destroy and not spare the place for the fifty righteous that are therein?

25 That be far from thee to do after this manner, to slay the righteous with the wicked; and that the righteous should be as the wicked, that be far from thee: shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?

26 And the LORD said, If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will spare all the place for their sakes.

27 And Abraham answered and said, Behold now, I have taken upon me to speak unto the LORD, which am but dust and ashes.

28 Peradventure there shall lack five of the fifty righteous: wilt thou destroy all the city for lack of five? And he said, If I find there forty and five, I will not destroy it.

29 And he spake unto him yet again, and said, Peradventure there shall be forty found there. And he said, I will not do it for forty's sake.

30 And he said unto him, Oh, let not the LORD be angry, and I will speak. Peradventure there shall thirty be found there. And he said, I will not do it if I find thirty there.

31 And he said, Behold now, I have taken upon me to speak unto the LORD: Peradventure there shall be twenty found there. And he said, I will not destroy it for twenty's sake.

32 And he said, Oh let not the LORD be angry, and I will speak yet but this once: Peradventure ten shall be found there. And he said, I will not destroy it for ten's sake.

33 And the LORD went his way, as soon as he had left communing with Abraham: and Abraham returned unto his place.

1 Lot entertaineth two angels.—24 Sodom and Gomorrah destroyed.—26 Lot's wife punished:—31 his incest.

AND there came two angels to Sodom at even: and Lot sat in the gate of Sodom; and Lot seeing them, rose up to meet them: and he bowed himself with his face toward the ground:

2 And he said, Behold now, my lords, turn in, I pray you, into your servant's house, and tarry all night, and wash your feet, and ye shall rise up early, and go on your ways. And they said, Nay; but we will abide in the street all night.

3 And he pressed upon them greatly; and they turned in unto him, and entered into his house: and he made them a feast, and did bake unleavened bread, and they did eat.

4 ¶ But before they lay down, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom, compassed the house round, both old and young, all the people from every quarter.

5 And they called unto Lot, and said unto him, Where are the men which came in to thee this night? bring them out unto us, that we may know them.

6 And Lot went out at the door unto them, and shut the door after him,

7 And said, I pray you, brethren, do not so wickedly.

8 Behold now, I have two daughters which have not known man; let me, I pray you, bring them out unto you, and do ye to them as is good in your eyes: only unto these men do nothing; for therefore came they under the shadow of my roof.

9 And they said, Stand back. And they said again, This one fellow came in to sojourn, and he will needs be a judge: now will we deal worse with thee than with them. And they pressed sore upon the man, even Lot, and came near to break the door.

10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the house to them, and shut to the door.

11 And they smote the men that were at the door of the house with blindness, both small and great: so that they wearied themselves to find the door.

12 ¶ And the men said unto Lot, Hast thou here any besides? son-in-law, and thy sons, and thy daughters, and whatsoever thou hast in the city, bring them out of this place;

13 For we will destroy this place, because the cry of them is waxen great before the face of the LORD; and the LORD hath sent us to destroy it.

14 And

12. Sarah laughed.] Not from joy and admiration, but from distrust.

20. Because the cry, &c.] Sins are said to cry, when they are gross and manifest.

22. Before the Lord.] The third of these persons, whom he now perceived to be the Lord himself, who had assumed a human shape.

25. Do right.] He speaks not this, as if it were simply unjust for God to involve the righteous in the same temporal destruction with the wicked: but he speaks of that moderate and equitable way which God is pleased to use with the sons of men.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 1. Two angels.] Even those two which departed from Abraham, chap. 18. 22. and now were come to Lot, the third yet staying and communing with Abraham.

In the gate.] To wait for strangers, to whom he might exercise kindness and hospitality; which was the greater charity, because he knew the city to be so very wicked.

2. We will abide in the street.] In those hot countries it was not unusual to lie in the open air all night, especially in summer. This refusal at first was in order to try his kindness, and was no ways inconsistent with truth or veracity.

5. That we may know them:] Or abuse them, as Lot's answer explains it; a modest word for a lewd action.

8. As is good in your eyes.] A most imprudent and sinful motion, whereby he yielded to one sin to prevent another, contrary to Rom. 7. 5. But it is some extenuation of his sin, that it proceeded from his great charity and kindness to strangers, and that he was at this time under a great perturbation and discomposure of mind.

11. Smote the men—with blindness.] It was not a total darkness, as if they quite lost the use of their eyes, for they saw the house, though not the door; but it was a great dimness and confusion of their sight, and a disturbance in their common sense, by which they were unable to distinguish between different persons or places; as it was also with the Syrians, 2 Kings 6. 18.

14. Which

14 And Lot went out, and spake unto his sons-in-law, which married his daughters, and said, Up, get ye out of this place; for the LORD will destroy this city: but he seemed as one that mocked unto his sons-in-law.

15 And when the morning arose, then the angels hastened Lot, saying, Arise, take thy wife, and thy two daughters which are here; lest thou be consumed in the iniquity of the city.

16 And while he lingered, the men laid hold upon his hand, and upon the hand of his wife, and upon the hand of his two daughters; the LORD being merciful unto him: and they brought him forth, and set him without the city.

17 And it came to pass, when they had brought them forth abroad, that he said, Escape for thy life: look not behind thee, neither stay thou in all the plain: escape to the mountain, lest thou be consumed.

18 And Lot said unto them, Oh! not so, my Lord.

19 Behold now, thy servant hath found grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercy, which thou hast shewed unto me in saving my life: and I cannot escape to the mountain, lest some evil take me, and I die:

20 Behold now, this city is near to flee unto, and it is a little one: Oh! let me escape thither, (is it not a little one?) and my soul shall live.

21 And he said unto him, See, I have accepted thee concerning this thing also, that I will not overthrow this city for the which thou hast spoken.

22 Haste thee, escape thither; for I cannot do any thing till thou be come thither: therefore the name of the city was called Zoar.

23 ¶ The sun was risen upon the earth when Lot entered into Zoar.

24 ¶ Then the LORD rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire from the LORD out of heaven.

25 And he overthrew those cities, and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that which grew upon the ground.

26 ¶ But his wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.

27 ¶ And Abraham gat up early in the morning to the place where he stood before the LORD:

28 And he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the land of the plain, and beheld, and, lo, the smoke of the country went up as the smoke of a furnace.

29 ¶ And it came to pass, when God destroyed the cities of the plain, that God remembered Abraham, and sent Lot out of the midst of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities in the which Lot dwelt.

30 ¶ And Lot went up out of Zoar, and dwelt in the mountain, and his two daughters with him; for he feared to dwell in Zoar: and he dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters.

31 ¶ And the first-born said unto the younger, Our father is old, and there is not a man in the earth to come in unto us after the manner of all the earth:

32 Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, that we may preserve seed of our father.

33 And they made their father drink wine that night: and the first-born went in and lay with her father; and he perceived not when she lay down, nor when she arose.

34 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the first-born said unto the younger, Behold, I lay yesternight with my father: let us make him drink wine this night also; and go thou in, and lie with him, that we may preserve seed of our father.

35 And they made their father drink wine that night also: and the younger arose, and lay with him; and he perceived not when she lay down, nor when she arose.

36 Thus were both the daughters of Lot with child by their father.

37 And the first-born bare a son, and called his name Moab: the same is the father of the Moabites unto this day.

38 And the younger, she also bare a son, and called his name Ben-ammi: the same is the father of the children of Ammon unto this day.

CHAP. XX.

1 Abraham sojourneth at Gerar,—2 denieth his wife, and loseth her.—3 Abimelech is reproveth for her in a dream.—9 He rebuketh Abraham,—14 restoreth Sarah,—16 and reproveth her.—17 He is healed by Abraham's prayer.

AND Abraham journeyed from thence toward the south country, and dwelled between Kadesh and Shur, and sojourned in Gerar.

2 And Abraham said of Sarah his wife, She is my sister: and Abimelech king of Gerar sent and took Sarah.

3 But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and said to him, Behold, thou art but a dead man, for the woman which thou hast taken; for she is a man's wife:

4 But Abimelech had not come near her: and he said, LORD, wilt thou slay also a righteous nation?

5 Said he not unto me, She is my sister? and she, even she herself, said, He is my brother: in the integrity doubtless in his prayers for Sodom would not forget Lot, though his prayers for him be not there mentioned.

30. For he feared to dwell in Zoar:] Lest he should either suffer from them, or with them; perceiving now, that though it was a little city, yet there was more wickedness in it than he imagined.

31. There is not a man in the earth, &c.] Not one remaining of their kindred; for they were not much acquainted, we may suppose, beyond that country which was destroyed; and those they had left in Zoar were so wicked, as might justly make them abhor the thoughts of any conjunction with them.

32. Drink wine;] Which they carried with them, amongst other necessary provisions, either from Sodom or Zoar.

Seed of our father.] Which, though an incestuous and abominable action, yet they thought was made lawful by the supposed necessity, as in the beginning of the world the marriage of brethren and sisters was lawful, because necessary: and when it ceased to be necessary, because of the increase of mankind, became incestuous.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. From thence;] From the plain of Mamre, chap. 18. 1. where he had long dwelt.

2. She is my sister.] The same deception was before used by Abraham in Egypt, chap. 12. 13. He was afraid lest they should slay him for his beautiful wife's sake; for though Sarah was ninety years old, she retained her beauty in a great measure, partly by being of a healthful constitution, not broken by bearing and nursing of children, and partly because in that age of the world men and women, as they lived longer, so they did not so soon begin to decay as now they do.

3. Thou art but a dead man.] Thou deservest a present and untimely death; both for thy injustice in taking her away by force, and for thy intentions to abuse her, though not yet executed.

5. In the integrity of my heart, &c.] This might have been translated, in the simplicity or plain dealing of my heart; for, as Abraham's sister,

14. Which married, &c.] Had espoused them for their wives, but had not yet consummated the marriage; a common custom in ancient times.

16. While he lingered;] Either through lothness to part with all his estate, or to lose his sons-in-law; or, through astonishment and distraction of mind, which made him both listless and impotent.

17. Look not behind thee:] Like one that grieves, either for the loss of thy pleasant habitation, or vast estate, or for those cursed miscreants justly devoted to this destruction.

19. Cannot escape to the mountain:] Because of the infirmity of my age, and the fainting of my spirit. Thus he sheweth an unworthy and unreasonable distrust of God's power and goodness, which he had now experienced and acknowledged.

24. From the Lord.] i. e. From himself; the noun being put for the pronoun, as Gen. 1. 27. 2 Chron. 7. 2. But here it is emphatically so expressed, to signify that it proceeded not from natural causes, but from the immediate hand of God.

25. And all the plain;] To wit, where these cities and their territories lay, called the plain of Jordan, chap. 13. 10. all which then became, and to this day continues to be, a filthy lake, of such a strange moisture, that it may be called liquid pitch rather than water: for it is so stiff that no wind will move it, nor will a camel sink if thrown into it, nor any fish or bird that uses the water live in it; and hence it is called, the dead sea.

26. But his wife looked back, &c.] Either through curiosity, unbelief, or desire of what she left. Our blessed Saviour, in admonishing his disciples, (Luke 17. 31.) seems to intimate that she was absolutely returning towards Sodom, when the storm overtook her, and turned her into a pillar of salt, that is, wrapped her body so thick in nitre-sulphureous matter, as to candy it into a substance hard as stone, and left it like a pillar or statue of metallic salt, which Josephus affirms remained in his time, and the like is affirmed by others after him.

29. Remembered Abraham;] Either, 1. The promise made to Abraham, Gen. 12. 3.—Or, 2. The prayers made by Abraham, Gen. 18. who grity of my heart, and innocency of my hands, have I done this.

6 And God said unto him in a dream, Yea, I know that thou didst this in the integrity of thy heart; for I also withheld thee from sinning against me: therefore suffered I thee not to touch her.

7 Now therefore restore the man his wife; for he is a prophet, and he shall pray for thee, and thou shalt live: and if thou restore her not, know thou that thou shalt surely die, thou, and all that are thine.

8 Therefore Abimelech rose early in the morning, and called all his servants, and told all these things in their ears: and the men were sore afraid.

9 ¶ Then Abimelech called Abraham, and said unto him, What hast thou done unto us? and what have I offended thee, that thou hast brought on me and on my kingdom a great sin? thou hast done deeds unto me that ought not to be done.

10 And Abimelech said unto Abraham, What sawest thou, that thou hast done this thing?

11 And Abraham said, Because I thought, Surely the fear of God is not in this place; and they will slay me for my wife's sake.

12 And yet indeed she is my sister; she is the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother: and she became my wife.

13 And it came to pass, when God caused me to wander from my father's house, that I said unto her, This is thy kindness which thou shalt shew unto me; At every place whither we shall come, say of me, He is my brother.

14 ¶ And Abimelech took sheep, and oxen, and men-servants, and women-servants, and gave them unto Abraham, and restored him Sarah his wife.

15 And Abimelech said, Behold, my land is before thee: dwell where it pleaseth thee.

16 And unto Sarah he said, Behold, I have given thy brother a thousand pieces of silver: behold, he is to thee a covering of the eyes unto all that are with thee, and with all other: thus she was reproved.

17 ¶ So Abraham prayed unto God: and God healed Abimelech, and his wife, and his maid-servants: and they bare children.

18 For the LORD had fast closed up all the wombs of the house of Abimelech, because of Sarah, Abraham's wife.

he had done no injury by inciting her to the honour of becoming his concubine or secondary wife.

8. His servants;) His counsellors and principal officers, as that word is used, 1 Kings 1. 2. and 10. 13.

12. My sister;) My near kinswoman; even as Lot upon the same account is called Abraham's brother, Gen. 13. 8.

Not the daughter of, &c.;) i. e. The grand-daughter; for grand-children are commonly called sons and daughters of their grand-parents, as Exod. 2. 18.

13. To wander;) This word he useth, because God did not direct him to any certain place, but sent him out he knew not whither, Heb. 11. 8.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 6. God hath made me to laugh;) It is proper to observe, that the word Isaac signifies laughter, or joy. It was natural therefore for Sarah, on reflecting how she had formerly laughed by way of derision, to declare that she had now indeed reason to laugh and rejoice for so great and unexpected a blessing.

7. Have given children;) She saith children, though she had but one child, by an usual enallage of the plural number for the singular, whereby the word sons or daughters is used when there was but one, as Gen. 46. 23. Numb. 26. 8.

Suck;) By this expression she sheweth all mothers what their duty is, viz. To give their children suck, when they are able to do it; and that neither greatness of quality, nor multitude of business, nor other difficulties or inconveniencies, will be a sufficient excuse to those that neglect it.

9. Saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian—mocking;) That is, Sarah had observed Ishmael vexing and insulting her son Isaac; and thence was

AND the LORD visited Sarah as he had said, and the LORD did unto Sarah as he had spoken.

2 For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken to him.

3 And Abraham called the name of his son that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Isaac.

4 And Abraham circumcised his son Isaac, being eight days old, as God had commanded him.

5 And Abraham was an hundred years old, when his son Isaac was born unto him.

6 ¶ And Sarah said, God hath made me to laugh, so that all that hear will laugh with me.

7 And she said, Who would have said unto Abraham, that Sarah should have given children suck? for I have born him a son in his old age.

8 And the child grew, and was weaned: and Abraham made a great feast the same day that Isaac was weaned.

9 ¶ And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, which she had born unto Abraham, mocking.

10 Wherefore she said unto Abraham, Cast out this bond-woman and her son: for the son of this bond-woman shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac.

11 And the thing was very grievous in Abraham's sight, because of his son.

12 ¶ And God said unto Abraham, Let it not be grievous in thy sight, because of the lad, and because of thy bond-woman; in all that Sarah hath said unto thee, hearken unto her voice: for in Isaac shall thy seed be called.

13 And also of the son of the bond-woman will I make a nation, because he is thy seed.

14 And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and took bread, and a bottle of water, and gave it unto Hagar (putting it on her shoulder) and the child, and sent her away: and she departed, and wandered in the wilderness of Beer-sheba.

15 And the water was spent in the bottle, and she cast the child under one of the shrubs.

16 And she went, and sat her down over against him a good way off, as it were a bow-shot: for she said, Let me not see the death of the child. And she sat over against him, and lifted up her voice, and wept.

17 And God heard the voice of the lad: and the angel of God called to Hagar out of heaven, and said unto her, What aileth thee, Hagar? fear not; for God hath heard the voice of the lad where he is.

18 Arise, lift up the lad, and hold him in thine hand; for I will make him a great nation.

19 And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water: and she went, and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink.

20 And

desirous Ishmael and his mother should no longer continue in the family.

10. This bond-woman;) Though the fact was done by Ishmael, yet Sarah plainly saw that this and other like carriages were from his mother's instigation and encouragement.

12. In Isaac shall thy seed be called;) That is, they that descend from Isaac, and not they that descend from Ishmael, shall be owned by me for the children of Abraham; particularly the Messiah shall be one of his seed.

14. And took bread and a bottle of water;) Quest. How is it likely, that so rich and liberal a person as Abraham would send away such near and dear relations with so mean accommodations?—Ans. 1. This might be done by particular command from God to Abraham, though it be not here expressed, to correct and tame the haughty and rugged temper of the bond-woman and her son.—2. Though Ishmael is called a child in our translation, yet he was really fifteen or sixteen years old, and so could more easily provide for himself; for he was thirteen when he was circumcised, which was before Sarah had conceived; and if we suppose that Isaac was two years old when he was weaned, Ishmael must be near sixteen at the time when Abraham sent him away.—3. By bread and water may be meant all kinds of provision necessary for their journey, till they arrived at the place intended. But she missed her way, as well she might, in the wilderness, and thereby came into those straits, designed by God for the signification of greater mysteries. See Gal. 4.

15. Cast the child;) Not as if she carried him in her arms, or upon her shoulders; but being weak and faint, and despairing of his life, she lays him down under a shrub.

19. Opened her eyes;) Not that her eyes were shut or blind before, but she saw not the well before; either because it was at some distance, or because her eyes were full of tears, and her mind distracted and heedless through excessive grief and fear.

20 And God was with the lad; and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer.

21 And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran: and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ And it came to pass, at that time that Abimelech, and Phichol the chief captain of his host, spake unto Abraham, saying, God is with thee in all that thou doest:

23 Now therefore swear unto me here by God that thou wilt not deal falsely with me, nor with my son, nor with my son's son: but according to the kindness that I have done unto thee thou shalt do unto me, and to the land wherein thou hast sojourned.

24 And Abraham said, I will swear.

25 And Abraham reproveth Abimelech because of a well of water, which Abimelech's servants had violently taken away.

26 And Abimelech said, I wot not who hath done this thing; neither didst thou tell me, neither yet heard I of it but to-day.

27 And Abraham took sheep, and oxen, and gave them unto Abimelech: and both of them made a covenant.

28 And Abraham set seven ewe-lambs of the flock by themselves.

29 And Abimelech said unto Abraham, What mean these seven ewe-lambs, which thou hast set by themselves?

30 And he said, For these seven ewe-lambs shalt thou take of my hand, that they may be a witness unto me that I have digged this well.

31 Wherefore he called that place Beer-sheba; because there they swore both of them.

32 Thus they made a covenant at Beer-sheba: then Abimelech rose up, and Phichol the chief captain of his host, and they returned into the land of the Philistines.

33 ¶ And Abraham planted a grove in Beer-sheba, and called there on the name of the LORD, the everlasting God.

34 And Abraham sojourned in the Philistines' land many days.

1 Abraham is tempted to offer Isaac:—8 he giveth proof of his faith and obedience:—11 The angel stayeth him.—13 Isaac is exchanged with a ram.—14 The place is called Jehovah-jireh.—15 Abraham is blessed again.—20 The generation of Nabor unto Rebekah.

AND it came to pass, after these things, that God did tempt Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham. And he said, Behold, here I am.

20. An archer;] i. e. A skilful hunter of beasts, and a warrior with men too, according to the prediction, Gen. 16. 12.

25. A well of water;] Which, in those hot and dry countries, was of great esteem and necessity.

33. Abraham planted a grove;] Not so much for shade, which yet was necessary and pleasant in those hot regions, as for religious uses, that he might retire thither from the noise of worldly business, and freely converse with his Maker. Which practice of his was afterwards abused to superstition and idolatry, for which reason groves were commanded to be cut down, Deut. 12. 2. and 10. 21.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXII.

Verse 1. Did tempt Abraham;] i. e. He tried the sincerity and strength of his faith, the universality and constancy of his obedience.

2. Take now thy son, &c.] Our translation, by inverting the order of the words, has impaired the beauty of the original, where it is as follows: Take now thy son, thine only son, whom thou lovest, even Isaac. In which we may observe in what an elegant manner the character rises higher and higher, to make stronger impressions on the mind of this holy man. Take now, without demurring or delay; thy son, this was not enough to distinguish him from Ishmael; therefore God adds, thine only son, born to thee of thine own wife, and born to be thine heir; whom thou lovest, with a peculiar affection; even Isaac, with whom I have established my covenant, and with his seed after him. But this very gradation of circumstances, which made the trial so difficult to flesh and blood, serves only to render more signal the piety of this heroic saint.

The land of Moriah.] The word Moriah signifies God manifested, and was so called from God's appearing there to Abraham. Upon this very mountain the temple of Solomon was afterwards built, and upon one part of it, namely, Mount Calvary, our blessed Saviour offered himself a sacrifice for the sins of mankind.

2 And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah, and offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of.

3 ¶ And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son, and clave the wood for the burnt-offering, and rose up, and went unto the place of which God had told him.

4 Then on the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes, and saw the place afar off.

5 And Abraham said unto his young men, Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and come again to you.

6 And Abraham took the wood of the burnt-offering, and laid it upon Isaac his son; and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife: and they went both of them together.

7 And Isaac spake unto Abraham his father, and said, My father: and he said, Here am I, my son. And he said, Behold the fire and the wood: but where is the lamb for a burnt-offering?

8 And Abraham said, My son, God will provide himself a lamb for a burnt-offering: so they went both of them together.

9 And they came to the place which God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order; and bound Isaac his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood.

10 And Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son.

11 ¶ And the angel of the LORD called unto him out of heaven, and said, Abraham, Abraham. And he said, Here am I.

12 And he said, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou any thing unto him: for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only son, from me.

13 And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt-offering in the stead of his son.

14 And Abraham called the name of that place Jehovah-jireh: as it is said to this day, In the mount of the LORD it shall be seen.

15 ¶ And the angel of the LORD called unto Abraham out of heaven the second time,

16 And said, By myself have I sworn, saith the LORD; for because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only son;

17 That in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and

And offer him there for a burnt-offering, &c.] Objection. How could Abraham be satisfied that this command was from God, when it appears inconsistent with the very nature of the Divine Being, and subversive of morality?—Ans. Abraham was no stranger to revelations of this kind, but was perfectly well acquainted with the manner of God's appearing to him, and communicating his will. And though no power on earth can authorize the taking away an innocent person's life; yet this may, without any inconsistency, be commanded in a particular case by God; because he who gave life may take it away whenever he pleases, either by a natural disease, or any other instrument he thinks proper.

5. And come again to you.] For he knew that God both could and would, for his promise sake, either preserve Isaac from being sacrificed, or afterwards raise him from the dead, as it is intimated, Heb. 11. 19.

6. And laid it upon Isaac his son;] Who though called a lad, ver. 5. was now a grown man, at least twenty-five years old, and therefore well able to bear that burden; and in this act he was an eminent type of Christ, who carried the wood upon which he was crucified, according to the Roman custom.

9. Bound Isaac his son, &c.] It appears that he was bound by his own consent, otherwise his age and strength seem sufficient to have made an effectual resistance. And in this respect he prefigured Christ the more exactly, who laid down his life of himself, and no man (without his consent) could take it from him, John 10. 17, 18.

12. Now I know, &c.] This is spoken here, as in many other places, of God after the manner of men, who is then said to know a thing, when it is notorious and evident to a man's self and others by some remarkable effect.

14. As it is said to this day, &c.] Hence it came to be a proverbial form of speech, It shall be provided: i. e. In the greatest extremities God will make a suitable provision for the deliverance and support of those who fear and trust in him.

and as the sand which is upon the sea-shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies;

18 And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed: because thou hast obeyed my voice.

19 So Abraham returned unto his young men, and they rose up, and went together to Beer-sheba; and Abraham dwelt at Beer-sheba.

20 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that it was told Abraham, saying, Behold, Milcah, she hath also borne children unto thy brother Nahor;

21 Huz his first-born, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram, 22 And Chesed, and Hazo, and Pildash, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel.

23 And Bethuel begat Rebekah: these eight Milcah did bear to Nahor, Abraham's brother.

24 And his concubine, whose name was Reumah, she bare also Tebah, and Gaham, and Thahash, and Maachah.

C H A P. XXIII.

1 The age and death of Sarah.—3 The purchase of Machpelah,—19 where Sarah was buried.

AND Sarah was an hundred and seven and twenty years old: these were the years of the life of Sarah.

2 And Sarah died in Kirjath-arba; the same is Hebron in the land of Canaan: and Abraham came to mourn for Sarah, and to weep for her.

3 ¶ And Abraham stood up from before his dead, and spake unto the sons of Heth, saying,

4 I am a stranger and a sojourner with you: give me a possession of a burying-place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.

5 And the children of Heth answered Abraham, saying unto him,

6 Hear us, my lord; thou art a mighty prince among us: in the choice of our sepulchres bury thy dead: none of us shall withhold from thee his sepulchre, but that thou mayest bury thy dead.

7 And Abraham stood up, and bowed himself to the people of the land, even to the children of Heth.

8 And he communed with them, saying, If it be your mind that I should bury my dead out of my sight, hear me, and entreat for me to Ephron the son of Zohar,

9 That he may give me the cave of Machpelah, which he hath, which is in the end of his field; for as much money as it is worth he shall give it me, for a possession of a burying-place among you.

10 And Ephron dwelt among the children of Heth. And Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the audience of the children of Heth, even of all that went in at the gates of his city, saying, 11 Nay, my lord, hear me: the field give I thee, and the cave that is therein, I give it thee: in the presence of the sons of my people give I it thee: bury thy dead.

12 And Abraham bowed down himself before the people of the land.

13 And he spake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the land, saying, But if thou wilt give it, I pray thee hear me: I will give thee money for the field; take it of me, and I will bury my dead there.

14 And Ephron answered Abraham, saying unto him,

20. Milcah, she hath also borne children:] To shew whence Rebekah the wife of Isaac was descended.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

Verse 2. To mourn—and to weep.] These two expressions, though seemingly synonymous, had a very different meaning among the Israelites. The first relates to private sorrow; the latter to that public lamentation made at their funeral solemnities.

4. A possession of a burying-place.] It seems to have been a common opinion in the first ages of the world, that it was ignominious to be buried in ground belonging to another; for we find that every family of note had a sepulchre of their own.

10. And Ephron dwelt, &c.] Heb. Did sit, to wit, at that time, as one of the chief, or rulers of the people.

14. Four hundred shekels of silver.] A shekel is worth about two shillings and fourpence sterling, consequently the whole sum was about forty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, sterling. This money, as we learn from ver. 16. was not coined, but paid by weight; and the same method was used by the Israelites till the captivity, Jer. 32. 9.

15 My lord, hearken unto me: the land is worth four hundred shekels of silver: what is that betwixt me and thee? bury therefore thy dead.

16 And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron; and Abraham weighed to Ephron the silver which he had named in the audience of the sons of Heth, four hundred shekels of silver, current money with the merchant.

17 ¶ And the field of Ephron, which was in Machpelah, which was before Mamre, the field and the cave which was therein, and all the trees that were in the field, that were in all the borders round about, were made sure

18 Unto Abraham for a possession in the presence of the children of Heth, before all that went in at the gates of his city.

19 ¶ And after this Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Machpelah, before Mamre: the same is Hebron in the land of Canaan.

20 And the field, and the cave that is therein, were made sure unto Abraham for a possession of a burying-place by the sons of Heth.

C H A P. XXIV.

1 Abraham sweareth his servant.—10 The servant's journey:—12 his prayer:—14 his sign.—15 Rebekah meeting him,—18 fulfilleth his sign,—22 receiveth jewels,—23 sheweth her kindred,—25 and inviteth him home.—26 The servant blesseth God.—29 Laban entertaineth him.—34 The servant sheweth his message:—50 Laban and Bethuel approve it.—58 Rebekah consenteth to go.—62 Isaac meeteth her.

AND Abraham was old, and well stricken in age; and the LORD had blessed Abraham in all things.

2 And Abraham said unto his eldest servant of his house, that ruled over all that he had, Put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh:

3 And I will make thee swear by the LORD, the God of heaven, and the God of the earth, that thou shalt not take a wife unto my son of the daughters of the Canaanites among whom I dwell:

4 But thou shalt go unto my country, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my son Isaac.

5 And the servant said unto him, Peradventure the woman will not be willing to follow me unto this land: must I needs bring thy son again unto the land from whence thou camest?

6 And Abraham said unto him, Beware thou, that thou bring not my son thither again.

7 The LORD God of heaven, which took me from my father's house, and from the land of my kindred, and which spake unto me, and that sware unto me, saying, Unto thy seed will I give this land; he shall send his angel before thee, and thou shalt take a wife unto my son from thence.

8 And if the woman will not be willing to follow thee, then thou shalt be clear from this my oath: only bring not my son thither again.

9 And the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master, and sware to him concerning that matter.

10 ¶ And the servant took ten camels, of the camels of his master, and departed; (for all the goods of his master

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIV.

Verse 1. Was old.] Being an hundred and forty years old, by comparing chap. 21. 5. with chap. 25. 20.

2. Put—thy hand under my thigh.] A ceremony used in swearing, anciently in the eastern parts, as Gen. 47. 29.

3. Canaanites.] For he knew that they were not only gross idolaters and heinous sinners, for so many others were, but that they were a people under God's peculiar curse, Gen. 9. 25.

4. Unto my country:] That is, into Mesopotamia, where he lived some time in Haran, after he came from Hur.

My kindred:] The family of Nahor, concerning the increase whereof he had received information, chap. 22. 20, &c. which he justly preferred before the Canaanites, partly because, though they were idolaters, as appears from Gen. 31. 19—30—32—35. and Josh. 24. 2. yet they did worship the true God together with idols, as may be gathered from verses 31 and 50. of this chapter, and other places.

10. For all the goods of his master, &c.] This old man seems to have been Eliezer, who was mentioned, Gen. 15. 2. whose eldership in dignity and trust is possibly meant, rather than in years.

master were in his hand;) and he arose, and went to Mesopotamia, unto the city of Nahor.

11 And he made his camels to kneel down without the city by a well of water, at the time of the evening, even the time that women go out to draw water.

12 ¶ And he said, O LORD God of my master Abraham, I pray thee send me good speed this day, and shew kindness unto my master Abraham.

13 Behold, I stand here by the well of water: and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water:

14 And let it come to pass, that the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: let the same be she that thou hast appointed for thy servant Isaac; and thereby shall I know that thou hast shewed kindness unto my master.

15 ¶ And it came to pass, before he had done speaking, that, behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, son of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher upon her shoulder.

16 And the damsel was very fair to look upon, a virgin; neither had any man known her: and she went down to the well, and filled her pitcher, and came up.

17 And the servant ran to meet her, and said, Let me, I pray thee, drink a little water of thy pitcher.

18 And she said, Drink, my lord. And she hastened, and let down her pitcher upon her hand, and gave him drink.

19 And when she had done giving him drink, she said, I will draw water for thy camels also, until they have done drinking.

20 And she hastened, and emptied her pitcher into the trough, and ran again unto the well to draw water, and drew for all his camels.

21 And the man, wondering at her, held his peace, to wit whether the LORD had made his journey prosperous or not.

22 And it came to pass, as the camels had done drinking, that the man took a golden ear-ring, of half a shekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands, of ten shekels weight of gold;

23 And said, Whose daughter art thou? tell me, I pray thee: is there room in thy father's house for us to lodge in?

24 And she said unto him, I am the daughter of Bethuel the son of Milcah, which she bare unto Nahor.

25 She said moreover unto him, We have both straw and provender enough, and room to lodge in.

26 And the man bowed down his head, and worshipped the LORD.

27 And he said, Blessed be the LORD God of my master Abraham, who hath not left destitute my master of his mercy and his truth: I being in the way, the LORD led me to the house of my master's brethren.

28 And the damsel ran, and told them of her mother's house these things.

29 ¶ And Rebekah had a brother, and his name was Laban: and Laban ran out unto the man, unto the well.

30 And it came to pass, when he saw the ear-ring and bracelets upon his sister's hands, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his sister, saying, Thus spake the man unto me; that he came unto the man, and, behold, he stood by the camels at the well.

31 And he said, Come in, thou blessed of the LORD; wherefore standest thou without? for I have prepared the house, and room for the camels.

32 ¶ And the man came into the house: and he ungirded his camels, and gave straw and provender for the camels, and water to wash his feet, and the men's feet that were with him.

33 And there was set meat before him to eat: but he said, I will not eat until I have told mine errand. And he said, Speak on.

34 ¶ And he said, I am Abraham's servant.

35 And the LORD hath blessed my master greatly, and he is become great: and he hath given him flocks, and herds, and silver, and gold, and men-servants, and maid-servants, and camels, and asses.

36 And Sarah, my master's wife, bare a son to my master when she was old; and unto him hath he given all that he hath.

37 And my master made me swear, saying, Thou shalt not take a wife to my son of the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I dwell:

38 But thou shalt go unto my father's house, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my son.

39 And I said unto my master, Peradventure the woman will not follow me.

40 And he said unto me, The LORD, before whom I walk, will send his angel with thee, and prosper thy way; and thou shalt take a wife for my son of my kindred, and of my father's house.

41 Then shalt thou be clear from this my oath, when thou comest to my kindred; and if they give not thee one, thou shalt be clear from my oath.

42 And I came this day unto the well, and said, O LORD God of my master Abraham, if now thou do prosper my way which I go;

43 Behold, I stand by the well of water: and it shall come to pass, that when the virgin cometh forth to draw water, and I say to her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water of thy pitcher to drink;

44 And she say to me, Both drink thou, and I will also draw for thy camels: let the same be the woman whom the LORD hath appointed out for my master's son.

45 And before I had done speaking in mine heart, behold, Rebekah came forth with her pitcher on her shoulder; and she went down unto the well, and drew water: and I said unto her, Let me drink, I pray thee.

46 And she made haste, and let down her pitcher from her shoulder, and said, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: so I drank, and she made the camels drink also.

47 And I asked her, and said, Whose daughter art thou? and she said, The daughter of Bethuel, Nahor's son, whom Milcah bare unto him: and I put the ear-ring upon her face, and the bracelets upon her hands.

48 And I bowed down my head, and worshipped the LORD, and blessed the LORD God of my master Abraham, which had led me in the right way, to take my master's brother's daughter unto his son.

49 And now, if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me: and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand, or to the left.

50 ¶ Then

12. And he said, O Lord God of my master, &c.] The deep sense of religion, and belief in the particular providence of God, was so impressed upon all good men in Abraham's time, owing to the frequent manifestations of the Divine presence, and general attention to mankind, that we cannot wonder at this mental address, for such we take it to have been, of this faithful and devout servant. His firm belief in the superintendence of a good Providence over his master's family, induces him to ask a rational and easy sign for direction in his present undertaking, the success of which was to establish the peace and happiness of his aged master and his beloved son.

19. Draw water for thy camels also.] An instance of a most humane and obliging disposition; for the camels are a very thirsty sort of creatures, and there were ten of them in number.

23. And said, &c.] Or, For he had said; for it is probable he inquired who she was before he gave her these presents, ver. 47.

31. Come in, thou blessed of the Lord, &c.] The brother of Rebekah seems so delighted with this providential renewal of the intercourse with Abraham's family, that he addresses the steward in the warmest terms, looking upon this meeting as a blessing sent upon the family by means of this faithful servant.

33. But he said, I will not eat until, &c.] The beautiful simplicity of the account of this faithful servant's earnestness to complete his commission cannot be sufficiently admired. He was not only faithful to his trust, but was so pleased with this success, and entered so entirely into the business, that he could not prevail upon himself even to relieve nature until he had told his business, and set the treaty in some forwardness in the family of Bethuel. A more lovely example can scarcely be found in any history, and such as should never be forgotten by any with whom a confidential trust or commission is deposited; for fidelity must be the delight of the God of justice.

50 ¶ Then Laban and Bethuel answered and said, The thing proceedeth from the LORD: we cannot speak unto thee bad or good.

51 Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go, and let her be thy master's son's wife, as the LORD hath spoken.

52 And it came to pass, that when Abraham's servant heard their words, he worshipped the LORD, bowing himself to the earth.

53 And the servant brought forth jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment, and gave them to Rebekah: He gave also to her brother and to her mother precious things.

54 And they did eat and drink, he and the men that were with him, and tarried all night: and they rose up in the morning; and he said, Send me away unto my master.

55 And her brother and her mother said, Let the damsel abide with us a few days, at the least ten; after that she shall go.

56 And he said unto them, Hinder me not, seeing the LORD hath prospered my way: send me away, that I may go to my master.

57 And they said, We will call the damsel, and enquire at her mouth.

58 And they called Rebekah, and said unto her, Wilt thou go with this man? and she said, I will go.

59 And they sent away Rebekah their sister, and her nurse, and Abraham's servant, and his men.

60 And they blessed Rebekah, and said unto her, Thou art our sister; be thou the mother of thousands of millions, and let thy seed possess the gate of those which hate them.

61 ¶ And Rebekah arose, and her damsels, and they rode upon the camels, and followed the man: and the servant took Rebekah, and went his way.

62 ¶ And Isaac came from the way of the well Lahai-roi; for he dwelt in the south country.

63 And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the even-tide: and he lifted up his eyes, and saw, and, behold, the camels were coming.

64 And Rebekah lifted up her eyes; and when she saw Isaac, she lighted off the camel.

65 For she had said unto the servant, What man is this that walketh in the field to meet us? And the servant had said, It is my master: therefore she took a vail, and covered herself.

66 And the servant told Isaac all things that he had done.

67 And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah's tent, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife; and he loved her: and Isaac was comforted after his mother's death.

THEN again Abraham took a wife, and her name was Keturah.

50. The thing proceedeth from, &c.] i. e. It appears evidently that this union is brought about by the hand of Providence; and it concurs so entirely with our sentiments, that we can do no otherwise than send our daughter with thee. Go, and prosper.

53. And the servant brought forth jewels, &c.] This was always the method of betrothing the true or primary wife; whereas the concubine, or secondary wife, had no present, but was only entitled to right of the marriage-bed. This custom of making costly presents, by way of betrothing, was in use among the Grecians.

63. Went out to meditate;] Or pray. And hence, say the Jewish doctors, was the custom of building oratories, or places for prayer, in the fields without the town, Acts 16. 13.

65. She took a vail.] It was a common custom among the women of the east to wear a vail whenever they went abroad.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXV.

Verse 1. Then again Abraham took a wife, &c.] Having lost his beloved Sarah, dismissed Hagar, and settled his only son, who was now become himself the head of a family, and possibly going to live at some distance, the old patriarch wishes to restore the comfort of domestic so-

2 And she bare him Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah.

3 And Jokshan begat Sheba and Dedan. And the sons of Dedan were Asshurim, and Letushim, and Lemummim.

4 And the sons of Midian; Ephah, and Ephher, and Hanoah, and Abidah, and Eldaah. All these were the children of Keturah.

5 ¶ And Abraham gave all that he had unto Isaac.

6 But unto the sons of the concubines, which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts, and sent them away from Isaac his son (while he yet lived) eastward, unto the east country.

7 ¶ And these are the days of the years of Abraham's life which he lived, an hundred threescore and fifteen years.

8 Then Abraham gave up the ghost, and died in a good old age, an old man, and full of years; and was gathered to his people.

9 And his sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron, the son of Zohar the Hittite, which is before Mamre;

10 The field which Abraham purchased of the sons of Heth: there was Abraham buried, and Sarah his wife.

11 ¶ And it came to pass, after the death of Abraham, that God blessed his son Isaac: and Isaac dwelt by the well Lahai-roi.

12 ¶ Now these are the generations of Ishmael, Abraham's son, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's handmaid, bare unto Abraham.

13 And these are the names of the sons of Ishmael, by their names, according to their generations: The first-born of Ishmael, Nebajoth; and Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam,

14 And Mishma, and Dumah, and Massa,

15 Hadar, and Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah.

16 These are the sons of Ishmael, and these are their names, by their towns, and by their castles; twelve princes, according to their nations.

17 And these are the years of the life of Ishmael, an hundred and thirty and seven years: and he gave up the ghost, and died, and was gathered unto his people.

18 And they dwelt from Havilah unto Shur, that is before Egypt, as thou goest toward Assyria: and he died in the presence of all his brethren.

19 ¶ And these are the generations of Isaac, Abraham's son: Abraham begat Isaac.

20 And Isaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan-aram, the sister to Laban the Syrian.

21 ¶ And Isaac entreated the LORD for his wife, because she was barren: and the LORD was entreated of him, and Rebekah his wife conceived.

22 And the children struggled together within her: and she said, If it be so, why am I thus? And she went to enquire of the LORD.

23 And the LORD said unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people shall be separated from thy bowels: and the one people shall be stronger than ciety in some sort, and therefore marries Keturah, who, in all probability, was a concubine or secondary wife.

6. The concubines,] Hagar and Keturah. Concubines are sometimes called wives, as Gen. 16. 3, &c. but their children had no right to the inheritance.

8. And was gathered to his people;] To his godly progenitors, the former patriarchs; the congregation of the just in heaven, Heb. 12. 23. in regard of his soul; for it cannot be meant of his body, which was not joined with them in the place of burial, as the phrase is, Isa. 14. 20. but buried in a strange land, where only Sarah's body lay.

18. And he died.] In the Hebrew it is, he fell; and may signify, his lot fell; and then the passage may be rendered, "His lot fell, or he dwelt, in the presence of his brethren;" agreeable to the prediction of the angel before Ishmael was born, chap. 16. 12.

22. If it be so, why am I thus?] That is, why did I conceive, if I must suffer such uncommon and excruciating pains? it is better for me to die than to live in such continual misery.

Enquire of the Lord;] Either immediately, by ardent prayer to God that he would reveal his mind to her herein; or mediately, by her father Abraham, who lived fifteen years after this time, ver. 7.

23. Two nations;] That is, the roots, heads, or parents, of two distinct nations, namely, the Israelites and Edomites.

than the other people: and the elder shall serve the younger.

24 ¶ And when her days to be delivered were fulfilled, behold, there were twins in her womb.

25 And the first came out red, all over like an hairy garment; and they called his name Esau.

26 And after that came his brother out, and his hand took hold on Esau's heel; and his name was called Jacob: and Isaac was threescore years old when she bare them.

27 And the boys grew: and Esau was a cunning hunter, a man of the field; and Jacob was a plain man, dwelling in tents.

28 And Isaac loved Esau, because he did eat of his venison; but Rebekah loved Jacob.

29 ¶ And Jacob sod pottage: and Esau came from the field, and he was faint.

30 And Esau said to Jacob, Feed me, I pray thee, with that same red pottage; for I am faint: therefore was his name called Edom.

31 And Jacob said, Sell me this day thy birthright.

32 And Esau said, Behold, I am at the point to die; and what profit shall this birthright do to me?

33 And Jacob said, Swear to me this day; and he swore unto him: and he sold his birthright unto Jacob.

34 Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of lentils; and he did eat and drink, and rose up, and went his way. Thus Esau despised his birthright.

1 Isaac, because of famine, goeth to Gerar.—2 God instructeth and blesseth him.—6 He is reprov'd by Abimelech for denying his wife.—12 He groweth rich.—17 He diggeth Esek, Sitnah, and Rehoboth.—26 Abimelech maketh a covenant with him at Beer-sheba.—34 Esau's wives.

AND there was a famine in the land, besides the first famine that was in the days of Abraham. And Isaac went unto Abimelech king of the Philistines, unto Gerar.

2 And the LORD appeared unto him, and said, Go not down into Egypt; dwell in the land which I shall tell thee of.

3 Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee: for unto thee, and unto thy seed, I will give all these countries; and I will perform the oath which I swore unto Abraham thy father:

4 And I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries: and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed;

5 Because that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws.

The elder shall serve the younger.] The children of Israel shall be uppermost, and subdue the Edomites; which was literally accomplished in David's time, 2 Sam. 8. 14. and afterwards, 2 Chron. 25. 11, 12. and after that by the Maccabees.

25. Red, all over like an hairy garment.] This expression may denote, either that Esau at his birth was wholly covered with red hair, or that the colour of his flesh was ruddy, like a garment of red hair.

26. And his name was called Jacob:] i. e. Supplanter, or one that taketh hold of, or trippeth up, his brother's heels. See Gen. 27. 36.

27. Esau was a cunning hunter.] Of wild beasts, and afterwards an oppressor of men.

Jacob was a plain man, &c.] Of a mild and gentle nature, one that delighted in acts of peace, and the innocent pleasures of a pastoral life.

30. Red pottage.] Red by the infusion of lentils, or saffron, or some other things of that colour. The word is doubled in the Hebrew text, to shew how vehemently he desired it.

Called Edom:] Which signifies red; as he was at first so called from the colour of his hair, so now that name was confirmed and given to him afresh upon this occasion.

31. Thy birthright.] The birthright then had divers singular privileges; as, 1. Dignity and authority over his brethren, chap. 4. 7. and 27. 29—37. and 49. 3. 2. A double portion, Deut. 21. 17. 3. A special blessing from his father, chap. 27. 4. 4. The priesthood and chief government of the affairs of the church in his father's absence, or sickness, and after his death, Numb. 8. 16, 17, &c.—This action of Jacob

6 ¶ And Isaac dwelt in Gerar:

7 And the men of the place asked him of his wife; and he said, She is my sister: for he feared to say, She is my wife; lest, said he, the men of the place should kill me for Rebekah; because she was fair to look upon.

8 And it came to pass, when he had been there a long time, that Abimelech king of the Philistines looked out at a window, and saw, and, behold, Isaac was sporting with Rebekah his wife.

9 And Abimelech called Isaac, and said, Behold, of a surety she is thy wife: and how saidst thou, She is my sister? and Isaac said unto him, Because I said, Lest I die for her.

10 And Abimelech said, What is this thou hast done unto us? one of the people might lightly have lain with thy wife, And thou shouldest have brought guiltiness upon us.

11 And Abimelech charged all his people, saying, He that toucheth this man or his wife shall surely be put to death.

12 Then Isaac sowed in that land, and received in the same year an hundred-fold: and the LORD blessed him:

13 And the man waxed great, and went forward, and grew, until he became very great:

14 For he had possession of flocks, and possession of herds, and great store of servants: and the Philistines envied him.

15 For all the wells which his father's servants had digged in the days of Abraham his father, the Philistines had stopped them, and filled them with earth.

16 And Abimelech said unto Isaac, Go from us; for thou art much mightier than we.

17 ¶ And Isaac departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.

18 And Isaac digged again the wells of water which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father; for the Philistines had stopped them after the death of Abraham: and he called their names after the names by which his father had called them.

19 And Isaac's servants digged in the valley, and found there a well of springing water.

20 And the herdmen of Gerar did strive with Isaac's herdmen, saying, The water is ours: and he called the name of the well Esek; because they strove with him.

21 And they digged another well, and strove for that also: and he called the name of it Sitnah.

22 And he removed from thence, and digged another well; and for that they strove not: and he called the name of it Rehoboth; and he said, For now the LORD hath made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land.

23 And he went up from thence to Beer-sheba.

24 And the LORD appeared unto him the same night, and said, I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, was not agreeable to strict justice. However, as God draws good out of evil, over-ruling the actions of men for his own purposes, so it was by this action of Jacob that God opened a way for the accomplishment of that prophecy contained in verse 23.

34. Despised his birthright.] Preferring the present and momentary gratification of his lust and appetite before God's and his father's blessing, and all the glorious privileges of the birthright.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVI.

Verse 2. Go not down into Egypt:] Whether it seems Isaac intended to go, it being a very fruitful place, and being encouraged to do so by his father's example upon the same occasion.

10. Guiltiness upon us.] The guilt of adultery, which was heinous and formidable even among the heathen, and especially here, because it was fresh in memory how sorely God had punished Abimelech, and all his family, only for an intention of adultery, chap. 20.

12. An hundred-fold.] The same degree of increase is intimated, Matt. 13. 8. and affirmed sometimes of other places by heathen writers.

16. Go from us, &c.] Notwithstanding the treaty of friendship between Abraham and Abimelech, chap. 21. 23, &c. which was made not only for themselves, but for their posterity, Abimelech, fearing that Isaac would become his rival, acts according to the policy of kings, and desires Isaac to retire from him.

19. Of springing water.] Heb. of living water, i. e. a perennial spring, in opposition to rain water, which the Arabians used to save in cisterns, Jer. 2. 18.

not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee, and multiply thy seed, for my servant Abraham's sake.

25 And he builded an altar there, and called upon the name of the LORD, and pitched his tent there: and there Isaac's servants digged a well.

26 ¶ Then Abimelech went to him from Gerar, and Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Phichol the chief captain of his army.

27 And Isaac said unto them, Wherefore come ye to me, seeing ye hate me, and have sent me away from you?

28 And they said, We saw certainly that the LORD was with thee: and we said, Let there be now an oath betwixt us, even betwixt us and thee, and let us make a covenant with thee;

29 That thou wilt do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and as we have done unto thee nothing but good, and have sent thee away in peace: thou art now the blessed of the LORD.

30 And he made them a feast, and they did eat and drink.

31 And they rose up betimes in the morning, and swore one to another: and Isaac sent them away, and they departed from him in peace.

32 And it came to pass the same day, that Isaac's servants came and told him concerning the well which they had digged, and said unto him, We have found water.

33 And he called it Shebah: therefore the name of the city is Beer-shebah unto this day.

34 ¶ And Esau was forty years old when he took to wife Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Bashemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite:

35 Which were a grief of mind unto Isaac and to Rebekah.

C H A P. XXVII.

1 Isaac sendeth Esau for venison.—6 Rebekah instructeth Jacob to obtain the blessing:—15 Jacob under the person of Esau obtaineth it.—30 Esau bringeth venison.—33 Isaac trembleth.—34 Esau complaineth, and by importunity obtaineth a blessing.—41 He threateneth Jacob.—42 Rebekah disappointeth it.

AND it came to pass, that when Isaac was old, and his eyes were dim, so that he could not see, he called Esau his eldest son, and said unto him, My son; and he said unto him, Behold, here am I.

2 And he said, Behold now, I am old, I know not the day of my death:

3 Now therefore take, I pray thee, thy weapons, thy quiver and thy bow, and go out to the field, and take me some venison:

4 And make me savoury meat, such as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my soul may bless thee before I die.

5 And Rebekah heard when Isaac spake to Esau his son: and Esau went to the field to hunt for venison, and to bring it.

6 ¶ And Rebekah spake unto Jacob her son, saying,

30. He made them a feast, &c.] The giving an entertainment at the close of any treaty or bargain was usual with most nations; and it is, indeed, common in some degree amongst us to this day. The word covenant is derived from a Hebrew verb, which signifies to eat or feast.

35. Which were a grief of mind, &c.] The Hebrew word is very expressive, and signifies bitterness of soul. There was certainly something extremely disagreeable to Isaac in this marriage of his eldest son into two idolatrous families.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVII.

Verse 1. Called Esau his eldest son.] Though Esau had disobliterated Isaac by his marriage, yet we see by this he still retained his partial affection for him, and wanted to prefer him to his brother.

4. That my soul may bless thee.] This was no common blessing, but a solemn dying benediction, such as pious parents in those days were wont to bestow upon their children, and were often prophetic of their future fortunes in the world, as in the case of Jacob, chap. 49. 1.

13. Upon me be thy curse:] i. e. I will warrant thee success. Rebekah seems to have been well assured, that Jacob held a just title to the first blessing, which Esau had sold with his birthright, and which God had

Behold, I heard thy father speak unto Esau thy brother, saying,

7 Bring me venison, and make me savoury meat, that I may eat, and bless thee before the LORD before my death.

8 Now therefore, my son, obey my voice, according to that which I command thee.

9 Go now to the flock, and fetch me from thence two good kids of the goats; and I will make them savoury meat for thy father, such as he loveth.

10 And thou shalt bring it to thy father, that he may eat, and that he may bless thee before his death.

11 And Jacob said to Rebekah his mother, Behold, Esau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a smooth man:

12 My father peradventure will feel me, and I shall seem to him as a deceiver; and I shall bring a curse upon me, and not a blessing.

13 And his mother said unto him, Upon me be thy curse, my son; only obey my voice, and go fetch me them.

14 And he went, and fetched, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made savoury meat, such as his father loved.

15 And Rebekah took goodly raiment of her eldest son Esau, which were with her in the house, and put them upon Jacob her younger son:

16 And she put the skins of the kids of the goats upon his hands, and upon the smooth of his neck:

17 And she gave the savoury meat, and the bread which she had prepared, into the hand of her son Jacob.

18 ¶ And he came unto his father, and said, My father: and he said, Here am I; who art thou, my son?

19 And Jacob said unto his father, I am Esau thy first-born: I have done according as thou badest me; arise, I pray thee, sit and eat of my venison, that thy soul may bless me.

20 And Isaac said unto his son, How is it that thou hast found it so quickly, my son? And he said, Because the LORD thy God brought it to me.

21 And Isaac said unto Jacob, Come near, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my son, whether thou be my very son Esau, or not.

22 And Jacob went near unto Isaac his father; and he felt him, and said, The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau.

23 And he discerned him not, because his hands were hairy, as his brother Esau's hands: so he blessed him.

24 And he said, Art thou my very son Esau? And he said, I am.

25 And he said, Bring it near to me, and I will eat of my son's venison, that my soul may bless thee. And he brought it near to him, and he did eat: and he brought him wine, and he drank.

26 And his father Isaac said unto him, Come near now, and kiss me, my son.

27 And he came near, and kissed him: and he smelled the smell of his raiment, and blessed him, and said, See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the LORD hath blessed:

28 Therefore

designed for Jacob from the beginning; whence she thought it her duty to deceive Isaac into an action which he ought to have done designedly.

16. Put the skins of the kids, &c.] It is observed by Bochart, that in the eastern countries goats' hair was very like to that of men.

19. And Jacob said—I am Esau, &c.] He not only personates Esau, but, to support his original deceit, has recourse to several downright lies. He even persists in his false asseveration, ver. 24. and which is worst of all, interests the Almighty in the cheat, by pretending God brought the meat to him, ver. 20. It is true, he and his mother were possessed with a false opinion, that they might deceive Isaac for the good of the family.

27. He smelled, &c.] It seems to have been the custom to scent their richer garments with odoriferous flowers, which the country of Arabia was famous for producing, Song 4. 10, 11. and this elegant smell had such influence on the spirits of Isaac, that he breaks out in a kind of rapture, See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the Lord hath blessed: that is, the smell of my son's raiment conveys to my mind the enchanting idea of a field adorned with fruits and enamelled with flowers.

28. The

28 Therefore, God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatness of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine:

29 Let people serve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethren, and let thy mother's sons bow down to thee: cursed be every one that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesseth thee.

30 ¶ And it came to pass, as soon as Isaac had made an end of blessing Jacob, and Jacob was yet scarce gone out from the presence of Isaac his father, that Esau his brother came in from his hunting.

31 And he also had made savoury meat, and brought it unto his father; and said unto his father, Let my father arise, and eat of his son's venison, that thy soul may bless me.

32 And Isaac his father said unto him, Who art thou? And he said, I am thy son, thy first-born, Esau.

33 And Isaac trembled very exceedingly, and said, Who? where is he that hath taken venison, and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou camest, and have blessed him? yea, and he shall be blessed.

34 ¶ And when Esau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great and exceeding bitter cry, and said unto his father, Bless me, even me also, O my father.

35 And he said, Thy brother came with subtilty, and hath taken away thy blessing:

36 And he said, Is he not rightly named Jacob? for he hath supplanted me these two times: he took away my birthright; and, behold, now he hath taken away my blessing. And he said, Hast thou not reserved a blessing for me?

37 And Isaac answered, and said unto Esau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given to him for servants; and with corn and wine have I sustained him: and what shall I do now unto thee, my son?

38 And Esau said unto his father, Hast thou but one blessing, my father? bless me, even me also, O my father. And Esau lifted up his voice, and wept.

39 And Isaac his father answered and said unto him, Behold, thy dwelling shall be the fatness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above;

40 And by thy sword shalt thou live, and shalt serve thy brother; and it shall come to pass, when thou shalt have the dominion, that thou shalt break his yoke from off thy neck.

41 ¶ And Esau hated Jacob, because of the blessing wherewith his father blessed him: And Esau said in his heart, The days of mourning for my father are at hand, then will I slay my brother Jacob.

42 ¶ And these words of Esau her elder son were told to Rebekah: and she sent and called Jacob her younger son, and said unto him, Behold, thy brother Esau, as touching thee, doth comfort himself, purposing to kill thee.

43 Now therefore, my son, obey my voice; and arise, flee thou to Laban my brother, to Haran.

28. The dew of heaven.] He mentions the dew rather than the rain, because it was of more constant use and necessity in those parts than the rain, which fell considerably but twice in a year; the first being called the former, and the other the latter rain.

29. Let thy mother's sons bow down to thee.] How and when this was fulfilled, see Note on chap. 25. 23.

33. Yea, and he shall be blessed.] It may seem strange, that Isaac, when he found out the imposture, should confirm to Jacob the blessing which he had cunningly wrested from him. But this conduct will be easily accounted for, if we consider, that he acted from a persuasion, that the prayers and benedictions which dying parents devoutly put up in behalf of their children, were ratified by God, and consequently not to be reversed; besides, this unexpected event, falling in with the sense of the oracle above-mentioned, chap. 25. 23. might open his eyes to see his error, in attempting to bestow the birthright where God had not designed it.

39. Thy dwelling shall be the fatness of the earth.] As the words stand in our translation, Esau seems to have the same blessing which was before given to Jacob. But the words should have been rendered, Thy dwelling shall be remote from the fatness of the earth; and so the true sense of the prophecy will be, that Esau should inhabit a poor country, but maintain himself by his sword.

40. Thou shalt break his yoke from off thy neck.] Which the posterity of Esau did in the days of Joram, 2 Kings 8—20—22. 2 Chron. 21. 8.

41. A few days, &c.] So she expected and intended, but was greatly disappointed, for he tarried there twenty years.

46. If Jacob take a wife, &c.] She assigns only this reason for sending him away.

No. 3.

44 And tarry with him a few days, until thy brother's fury turn away;

45 Until thy brother's anger turn away from thee, and he forget that which thou hast done to him: then I will send and fetch thee from thence. Why should I be deprived also of you both in one day?

46 And Rebekah said to Isaac, I am weary of my life, because of the daughters of Heth: if Jacob take a wife of the daughters of Heth, such as these which are of the daughters of the land, what good shall my life do me?

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 Isaac blesseth Jacob, and sendeth him to Padan-aram.—9 Esau marrieth Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael.—12 The vision of Jacob's ladder.—18 The stone of Beth-el.—20 Jacob's vow.

AND Isaac called Jacob, and blessed him, and charged him, and said unto him, Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan.

2 Arise, go to Padan-aram, to the house of Bethuel thy mother's father; and take thee a wife from thence of the daughters of Laban, thy mother's brother.

3 And God Almighty bless thee, and make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, that thou mayest be a multitude of people;

4 And give thee the blessing of Abraham, to thee, and to thy seed with thee: that thou mayest inherit the land wherein thou art a stranger, which God gave unto Abraham.

5 And Isaac sent away Jacob: and he went to Padan-aram unto Laban, son of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebecca, Jacob's and Esau's mother.

6 ¶ When Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob, and sent him away to Padan-aram, to take him a wife from thence; and that, as he blessed him, he gave him a charge, saying, Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan;

7 And that Jacob obeyed his father and his mother, and was gone to Padan-aram;

8 And Esau seeing that the daughters of Canaan pleased not Isaac his father;

9 Then went Esau unto Ishmael, and took unto the wives which he had, Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham's son, the sister of Nebajoth, to be his wife.

10 ¶ And Jacob went out from Beer-sheba, and went toward Haran.

11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set: and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep.

12 And he dreamed, and, behold, a ladder set upon the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and, behold, the angels of God ascending and descending on it.

13 And

ing Jacob away among her kindred, without taking any notice of the danger his life was in, lest she should have afflicted her husband by telling the true reason.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVIII.

Verse 4. The blessing of Abraham.] Here Isaac confirms the blessing which he had already given to Jacob, chap. 27. 28.

9. Unto Ishmael.] That is, the country of Ishmael; for as to Ishmael himself he was dead several years before, see chap. 25. 17.

Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael.] Called also Bashemath, chap. 39. 3. He thought by this means to ingratiate himself with his father, and so to get another, and a better blessing.

10. Jacob went out.] Unattended, as it would seem, that he might the better conceal his departure from Esau.

11. And he took of the stones, &c.] The stones for his pillow, and the heavens for his canopy. Yet his comfort in the divine blessing, and his confidence in the divine protection, made him easy, even when he lay thus exposed; being sure that his God made him to dwell in safety, he could lie down and sleep upon a stone.

12. Behold, a ladder.] This might represent, 1. The providence of God, by which there is a constant correspondence kept up between heaven and earth. The counsels of heaven are executed on earth, and the affairs of this earth are all known in heaven. Providence does his work gradually and by steps: angels are employed as ministering spirits to serve all the designs of Providence, and the wisdom of God is at the upper end of the ladder, directing all the motions of second causes to his glory. The angels are spirits, continually ascending and descending; they rest

13 And, behold, the LORD stood above it, and said, I am the LORD God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac; the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed.

14 And thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth; and thou shalt spread abroad to the west, and to the east, and to the north, and to the south: and in thee and in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.

15 And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land: for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of.

16 ¶ And Jacob awaked out of his sleep, and he said, Surely the LORD is in this place, and I knew it not.

17 And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.

18 And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had put for his pillows, and set it up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it.

19 And he called the name of that place Beth-el; but the name of that city was called Luz at the first.

20 ¶ And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on;

21 So that I come again to my father's house in peace; then shall the LORD be my God:

22 And this stone, which I have set for a pillar, shall be God's house: and of all that thou shalt give me, I will surely give the tenth unto thee.

C H A P. XXIX.

1 Jacob cometh to the well of Haran:—9 He taketh acquaintance of Rachel:—13 Laban entertaineth him.—18 Jacob covenanteth for Rachel:—22 He is deceived with Leah:—28 he marrieth also Rachel, and serveth for her seven years more.—32 Leah beareth Reuben,—33 Simeon,—34 Levi,—35 and Judah.

TH E N Jacob went on his journey, and came into the land of the people of the east.

2 And he looked, and, behold, a well in the field, and, lo, there were three flocks of sheep lying by it; for out of that well they watered the flocks: and a great stone was upon the well's mouth.

3 And thither were all the flocks gathered; and they rolled the stone from the well's mouth, and watered the sheep, and put the stone again upon the well's mouth in his place.

4 And Jacob said unto them, My brethren, whence be ye? And they said, Of Haran are we.

5 And he said unto them, Know ye Laban the son of Nahor? And they said, We know him.

6 And he said unto them, Is he well? And they said, He is well: and, behold, Rachel his daughter cometh with the sheep.

7 And he said, Lo, it is yet high day, neither is it time that the cattle should be gathered together: water ye the sheep, and go and feed them.

8 And they said, We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep.

9 ¶ And while he yet spake with them, Rachel came with her father's sheep: for she kept them.

10 And it came to pass, when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban his mother's brother, and the sheep of Laban his mother's brother, that Jacob went near, and rolled the stone from the well's mouth, and watered the flock of Laban his mother's brother.

11 And Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice, and wept.

12 And Jacob told Rachel that he was her father's brother, and that he was Rebekah's son: and she ran and told her father.

13 And it came to pass, when Laban heard the tidings of Jacob his sister's son, that he ran to meet him, and embraced him, and kissed him, and brought him to his house. And he told Laban all these things.

14 And Laban said to him, Surely thou art my bone and my flesh: and he abode with him the space of a month.

15 ¶ And Laban said unto Jacob, Because thou art my brother, shouldest thou therefore serve me for nought? tell me, what shall thy wages be?

16 And Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel.

17 Leah was tender-eyed, but Rachel was beautiful and well-favoured.

18 And Jacob loved Rachel; and said, I will serve thee seven years for Rachel thy younger daughter.

19 And Laban said, It is better that I give her to thee than that I should give her to another man: abide with me.

20 And Jacob served seven years for Rachel; and they seemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had to her.

21 ¶ And Jacob said unto Laban, Give me my wife, (for my days are fulfilled) that I may go in unto her.

22 And Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feast.

23 And it came to pass in the evening, that he took Leah his daughter, and brought her to him: and he went in unto her.

24 And Laban gave unto his daughter Leah, Zilpah his maid for an handmaid.

25 And it came to pass, that, in the morning, behold, it was Leah: and he said to Laban, What is this thou hast done unto me? did not I serve with thee for Rachel? wherefore then hast thou beguiled me?

26 And Laban said, It must not be so done in our country, to give the younger before the first-born.

27 Fulfil her week, and we will give thee this also, for the service which thou shalt serve with me yet seven other years.

28 And

rest not day nor night. They ascend, to give account of what they have done, and to receive orders; and descend, to execute the orders they had received. This vision gave seasonable comfort to Jacob, letting him know that he had both a good guide and a good guard; that though he was to wander from his father's house, yet he was the care of Providence, and the charge of the holy angels. 2. The mediation of Christ. He is this ladder; the foot on earth in his human nature, the top in heaven in his divine nature; or the former in his humiliation, the latter in his exaltation. All the intercourse between heaven and earth since the fall is by this ladder. Christ is the way: all God's favours come to us, and all our services come to him, by Christ. If God dwell with us, and we with him, it is by Christ: we have no way of getting to heaven but by this ladder; for the kind offices the angels do us are all owing to Christ, who hath reconciled things on earth and things in heaven.

18. For a pillar.] To preserve the memory of this heavenly vision: an ancient practice among the patriarchs, but afterwards, upon the growing abuse of it among the heathens, expressly forbidden by God, Lev. 26. 1. Deut. 7. 5. and 12. 3.

21. The Lord be my God.] I will publicly own him for my God, and the Saviour of men, and will establish his solemn worship, as it follows.

22. This stone—shall be God's house.] A place where I will offer prayers and sacrifices to God; such places being commonly called God's houses, and God is oft said to dwell in them, in regard of his special presence there. See Exod. 20. 24. compare verse 17. of this chapter and Gen. 35. 1. 3—7.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIX.

Verse 2. And, behold, a well in the field, &c.] The whole of this chapter is a beautiful picture of primæval simplicity: those who have any taste for the rural beauties of nature need not the assistance of a commentator to feel the force of it.

8. We cannot.] Either because of the greatness of the stone, which they could not remove till more help came; or rather because of the custom, order, and agreement made among themselves about it. We cannot, to wit, rightly, or, We may not.

11. And wept.] Tears of joy; like those, chap. 33. 4. at the gracious providence of God to him, which had brought him safe to his desired place, and so happily and strangely conducted him to that person and family which was so desirable and dear to him.

12. Her father's brother.] His near kinsman: as that word is frequently used, as chap. 13. 8. and 24. 27.

23. Brought her to him.] It was the custom in those days, to bring the bride veiled, without lights, to her husband; and therefore it was no difficulty for Laban to impose upon Jacob in this particular.

25. Hast thou beguiled me?] It was a great fault in Laban, and to Jacob a great affliction, but what he might consider as a just retaliation for his guile in supplanting his brother.

27. Fulfil her week.] The seven days usually devoted to the feast and solemnity of marriage, as Judges 14. 12, 15—17.

FAMILY BIBLE

28 And Jacob did so, and fulfilled her week: and he gave him Rachel his daughter to wife also.

29 And Laban gave to Rachel his daughter Bilhah his handmaid to be her maid.

30 And he went in also unto Rachel, and he loved also Rachel more than Leah, and served with him yet seven other years.

31 ¶ And when the LORD saw that Leah was hated, he opened her womb: but Rachel was barren.

32 And Leah conceived, and bare a son; and she called his name Reuben: for she said, Surely the LORD hath looked upon my affliction; now therefore my husband will love me.

33 And she conceived again, and bare a son; and said, Because the LORD hath heard that I was hated, he hath therefore given me this son also: and she called his name Simeon.

34 And she conceived again, and bare a son; and said, Now this time will my husband be joined unto me, because I have born him three sons: therefore was his name called Levi.

35 And she conceived again, and bare a son: and she said, Now will I praise the LORD: therefore she called his name Judah, and left bearing.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Rachel, in grief for her barrenness, giveth Bilhah her maid unto Jacob:—5 She beareth Dan and Naphtali.—9 Leah giveth Zilpah her maid, who beareth Gad and Asher.—14 Reuben findeth mandrakes, with which Leah buyeth her husband of Rachel.—17 Leah beareth Issachar, Zebulun, and Dinah.—22 Rachel beareth Joseph.—25 Jacob desireth to depart.—27 Laban stayeth him on a new covenant.—37 Jacob's policy, whereby he becometh rich.

AND when Rachel saw that she bare Jacob no children, Rachel envied her sister; and said unto Jacob, Give me children, or else die.

2 And Jacob's anger was kindled against Rachel; and he said, Am I in God's stead? who hath withheld from thee the fruit of the womb?

3 And she said, Behold, my maid Bilhah; go in unto her; and she shall bear upon my knees, that I may also have children by her.

4 And she gave him Bilhah her handmaid to wife: and Jacob went in unto her.

5 ¶ And Bilhah conceived, and bare Jacob a son.

6 And Rachel said, God hath judged me, and hath also heard my voice, and hath given me a son: therefore called she his name Dan.

7 And Bilhah, Rachel's maid, conceived again, and bare Jacob a second son.

8 And Rachel said, With great wrestlings have I wrestled with my sister, and I have prevailed: and she called his name Naphtali.

9 When Leah saw that she had left bearing, she took Zilpah her maid, and gave her Jacob to wife.

10 And Zilpah, Leah's maid, bare Jacob a son.

11 And Leah said, A troop cometh: and she called his name Gad.

12 And Zilpah, Leah's maid, bare Jacob a second son.

13 And Leah said, Happy am I, for the daughters will call me blessed: and she called his name Asher.

14 ¶ And Reuben went, in the days of wheat-harvest, and found mandrakes in the field, and brought them unto his mother Leah. Then Rachel said to Leah, Give me, I pray thee, of thy son's mandrakes.

15 And she said unto her, Is it a small matter that thou hast taken my husband? and wouldest thou take away my son's mandrakes also? And Rachel said, Therefore he shall lie with thee to night for thy son's mandrakes.

16 And Jacob came out of the field in the evening, and Leah went out to meet him, and said, Thou must come in unto me; for surely I have hired thee with my son's mandrakes. And he lay with her that night.

17 And God hearkened unto Leah, and she conceived, and bare Jacob the fifth son.

18 And Leah said, God hath given me mine hire, because I have given my maiden to my husband: and she called his name Issachar.

19 And Leah conceived again, and bare Jacob the sixth son.

20 And Leah said, God hath endowed me with a good dowry: now will my husband dwell with me, because I have born him six sons: and she called his name Zebulun.

21 And afterwards she bare a daughter, and called her name Dinah.

22 ¶ And God remembered Rachel, and God hearkened to her, and opened her womb.

23 And she conceived, and bare a son; and said, God hath taken away my reproach:

24 And she called his name Joseph; and said, The LORD shall add to me another son.

25 ¶ And it came to pass, when Rachel had born Joseph, that Jacob said unto Laban, Send me away, that I may go unto mine own place, and to my country.

26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have served thee, and let me go: for thou knowest my service which I have done thee.

27 And Laban said unto him, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thine eyes, tarry: for I have learned by experience that the LORD hath blessed me for thy sake.

28 And he said, Appoint me thy wages, and I will give it.

29 And he said unto him, Thou knowest how I have served thee, and how thy cattle was with me.

30 For it was little which thou hadst before I came, and it is now increased unto a multitude; and the LORD hath blessed thee since my coming: and now, when shall I provide for mine own house also?

31 And he said, What shall I give thee? And Jacob said, Thou shalt not give me any thing: if thou wilt do this thing for me, I will again feed and keep thy flock:

32 I will pass through all thy flock to-day, removing from thence all the speckled and spotted cattle, and all the

31. Leah was hated.] Less loved, according to the Hebrew idiom, Mal. 1. 2, 3. Luke 14. 26.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXX.

Verse 1. Give me children, &c.] The force of this expression shews the prodigious desire of the Hebrew women for children, which most probably arose from the remembrance of the promise made to Adam, that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. It was impossible but that the promises made to Abraham likewise should be an incentive with every female to wish for the honour of producing the promised seed, in whom all the nations of the earth were to be blessed.

2. Who hath withheld from thee the fruit of the womb?] This is a very proper rebuke to Rachel, who, instead of addressing herself to God, as Isaac and Hannah did, very rudely importunes her husband, as if it were in his power to counteract the will of Heaven. Children were always looked upon as a peculiar blessing from God himself, and esteemed as entirely the production of his bounty. Thus David says, Lo, children and the fruit of the womb are an heritage and gift that cometh of the Lord, Psa. 127. 3.

3. Bear upon my knees, &c.] There is something unintelligible in this expression, and equally strange is the fancy of Rachel to have children by her husband's commerce with one of her servants. As to the expression, She shall bear upon my knees, a very ancient bible, printed in the year 1598, explains it thus, I will receive her children on my lap or knees, as though they were my own: and, most probably, this is the full meaning of this concise expression. As to Rachel's giving her maid to her husband, in order to obtain this blessing, it can only be accounted for by supposing, that Rachel might still hope, that the children's being born her property might make them the favoured seed, and fulfil the prophecy delivered to her family.

14. Found mandrakes.] Interpreters are not agreed what kind of fruit or flower this was; but the most probable opinion is, that they were the mandrake-apples, desirable for food, and probably of a pleasant smell, Cant. 7. 13. which Rachel might take a fancy to from these being the earliest of that season.

18. God hath given me mine hire.] Thus she mistakes the answer of her prayers for a recompence of her error.

32. I will pass through all thy flock, &c.] This part of Jacob's conduct seems of a piece with that which gained him his name, which the Hebrew idiom renders a supplanter. What circumstances might authorize the brown cattle among the sheep, and the spotted and speckled among the goats: and of such shall be my hire.

33 So shall my righteousness answer for me in time to come, when it shall come for my hire before thy face: every one that is not speckled and spotted among the goats, and brown among the sheep, that shall be accounted stolen with me.

34 And Laban said, Behold, I would it might be according to thy word.

35 And he removed that day the he-goats that were ring-streaked and spotted, and all the she-goats that were speckled and spotted, and every one that had some white in it, and all the brown among the sheep, and gave them into the hand of his sons.

36 And he set three days journey betwixt himself and Jacob: and Jacob fed the rest of Laban's flocks.

37 ¶ And Jacob took him rods of green poplar, and of the hazel and chesnut-tree; and pilled white streaks in them, and made the white appear which was in the rods.

38 And he set the rods which he had pilled before the flocks in the gutters in the watering-troughs, when the flocks came to drink, that they should conceive when they came to drink.

39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, and brought forth cattle ring-streaked, speckled, and spotted.

40 And Jacob did separate the lambs, and set the faces of the flocks toward the ring-streaked, and all the brown in the flock of Laban: and he put his own flocks by themselves, and put them not unto Laban's cattle.

41 And it came to pass, whensoever the stronger cattle did conceive, that Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the cattle in the gutters, that they might conceive among the rods.

42 But when the cattle were feeble, he put them not in: so the feebler were Laban's, and the stronger Jacob's.

43 And the man increased exceedingly, and had much cattle, and maid-servants, and men-servants, and camels, and asses.

1 Jacob upon displeasure departeth secretly.—19 Rachel steal-eth her father's images.—22 Laban pursueth after Jacob, —26 and complaineth of the wrong.—34 Rachel's policy to hide the images.—36 Jacob's complaint of Laban.—43 The covenant of Laban and Jacob at Galeed.

rise this subtlety with his father-in-law, seems to be his double-dealing with him in respect to his wives, and thereby hindering him from returning for fourteen years into his own country. The success he met with, by this innocent artifice, plainly evinces that it was no crime in the sight of God, who would not, even in a favoured servant, have rewarded dishonesty with success.

Of such shall be my hire.] He doth not mean that these cattle which were already speckled and spotted should be given him; but the sense is, that when the speckled and spotted and brown are separated, and none but white remaining, all the white young ones brought forth by them shall be Laban's, and the speckled and spotted and brown shall be Jacob's.

36. Three days journey.] Understand it of the journeying or travelling of sheep, not of men.

43. And the man increased exceedingly, &c.] In spite of the covetous temper of his father-in-law, who, notwithstanding his faithful services for the first seven years, settled no wages upon him, but forced him, as it were, upon this cunning device, for the more comfortable maintenance of his family. Thus it may be "man that watereth, but it is always God that giveth the increase."

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXI.

Verse 1. All this glory.] These riches, which are called glory, chap. 45. 13: Matt. 4. 8. because their possessors are to glory in them, and by them gain glory and esteem from others.

2. Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, &c.] This is an eastern expression, of which we find numerous instances in the Scriptures. The countenance is still said to be the index of the mind; and among the Asiatics, whose whole language is metaphorical and figurative to a high degree, we find a variety of expressions, to denote the disposition of the mind or affections, drawn from the appearance of the features. Thus the envy and displeasure of Cain against his brother Abel, is expressed by these words, his countenance fell, Gen. 4. 5. Again, Dan. 8. 23. A king of a fierce countenance shall stand up.—The form of his visage was changed, Dan. 3. 19. meaning his temper or disposition: and innumerable other instances might be produced of this manner of speech.

AND he heard the words of Laban's sons, saying, Jacob hath taken away all that was our father's; and of that which was our father's hath he gotten all this glory.

2 And Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, and, behold, it was not toward him as before.

3 And the LORD said unto Jacob, Return unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred; and I will be with thee.

4 And Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah to the field unto his flock,

5 And said unto them, I see your father's countenance, that it is not toward me as before: but the God of my father hath been with me.

6 And ye know that with all my power I have served your father.

7 And your father hath deceived me, and changed my wages ten times: but God suffered him not to hurt me.

8 If he said thus, The speckled shall be thy wages; then all the cattle bare speckled: and if he said thus, The ring-streaked shall be thy hire; then bare all the cattle ring-streaked.

9 Thus God hath taken away the cattle of your father; and given them to me.

10 And it came to pass, at the time that the cattle conceived, that I lifted up mine eyes, and saw in a dream, and, behold, the rams which leaped upon the cattle were ring-streaked, speckled, and grised.

11 And the angel of God spake unto me in a dream, saying, Jacob: and I said, Here am I.

12 And he said, Lift up now thine eyes and see, all the rams which leap upon the cattle are ring-streaked, speckled, and grised: for I have seen all that Laban doeth unto thee.

13 I am the God of Beth-el, where thou anointedst the pillar, and where thou vowedst a vow unto me: now arise, get thee out from this land, and return unto the land of thy kindred.

14 And Rachel and Leah answered, and said unto him, Is there yet any portion or inheritance for us in our father's house?

15 Are we not counted of him strangers? for he hath sold us, and hath quite devoured also our money.

16 For all the riches which God hath taken from our father, that is ours and our children's: now then, whatsoever God hath said unto thee, do.

17 ¶ Then Jacob rose up, and set his sons and his wives upon camels.

18 And he carried away all his cattle, and all his goods

Here it evidently means; Jacob saw that his father-in-law had lost all kindness for him, and was only disposed to make use of his services without making him any suitable acknowledgment.

3. And the Lord said, &c.] This command was most probably given to Jacob for a much more important reason than merely to avoid the further impositions and ill-treatment of his father-in-law. Laban certainly was an idolater, or very near it: superstition, which is the high road to false worship, was an evil which Laban certainly was addicted to; as we cannot otherwise account for the teraphim, or household gods, which he kept in his house, and which Rachel at her departure took away with her.

4. And Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah, &c.] The whole of the following conversation between Jacob and his wives evinces his honest principles, his piety to God, and his integrity with man. He lays open the hardships he had suffered with the most artless simplicity; and at the same time justly imputes the success he had lately met with to the immediate assistance of God. It may be, and ought to be, remarked through the whole of the patriarchal history, that the particular Providence of God is never forgotten; and the natural manner in which it is introduced and recorded, bears every mark of a true representation of the intimate connection of good men and the Deity in those early days.

7. Ten times.] Oft-times, as that certain number is commonly used, as Lev. 26. 26. Numb. 14. 22, &c.

15. He hath sold us.] He hath made sale of us for these fourteen years hard service, seeking only his own advantage.

19. That were her father's.] These teraphims or images were made in the shape of men, 1 Sam. 19. 13—16. which the Gentiles worshipped as subordinate gods, ver. 30—32. of this chapter, to which they committed the protection of their families, 1 Sam. 19. 13. which they used to consult about secret or future things, and from which they received answers about them, Ezek. 21. 21. Zech. 10. 2. Of these see more, Judges 17. 5. and 18. 14—17, &c. and these idols Laban worshipped together with the true God. Rachel stole them, partly, lest her father by consulting them should discover the flight, and the course which they took; and partly because she seemed yet to retain a superstitious conceit of them, as may be gathered from Gen. 35. 2.

goods which he had gotten, the cattle of his getting, which he had gotten in Padan-aram; for to go to Isaac his father in the land of Canaan.

19 And Laban went to shear his sheep: and Rachel had stolen the images that were her father's.

20 And Jacob stole away unawares to Laban the Syrian, in that he told him not that he fled.

21 So he fled with all that he had; and he rose up, and passed over the river, and set his face toward the mount Gilead.

22 ¶ And it was told Laban on the third day that Jacob was fled.

23 And he took his brethren with him, and pursued after him seven days journey; and they overtook him in the mount Gilead.

24 And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and said unto him, Take heed that thou speak not to Jacob either good or bad.

25 ¶ Then Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mount: and Laban with his brethren pitched in the mount of Gilead.

26 And Laban said to Jacob, What hast thou done, that thou hast stolen away unawares to me, and carried away my daughters as captives taken with the sword?

27 Wherefore didst thou flee away secretly, and steal away from me, and didst not tell me, that I might have sent thee away with mirth and with songs, with tabret and with harp?

28 And hast not suffered me to kiss my sons and my daughters? thou hast now done foolishly in so doing.

29 It is in the power of my hand to do you hurt: but the God of your father spake unto me yesternight, saying, Take thou heed that thou speak not to Jacob either good or bad.

30 And now, though thou wouldst needs be gone, because thou sore longedst after thy father's house; yet wherefore hast thou stolen my gods?

31 And Jacob answered, and said to Laban, Because I was afraid: for I said, Peradventure thou wouldest take by force thy daughters from me.

32 With whomsoever thou findest thy gods, let him not live: before our brethren discern thou what is thine with me, and take it to thee: for Jacob knew not that Rachel had stolen them.

33 And Laban went into Jacob's tent, and into Leah's tent, and into the two maid-servants' tents; but he found them not. Then went he out of Leah's tent, and entered into Rachel's tent.

34 Now Rachel had taken the images, and put them in the camel's furniture, and sat upon them. And Laban searched all the tent, but found them not.

35 And she said to her father, Let it not displease my lord that I cannot rise up before thee, for the custom of women is upon me. And he searched, but found not the images.

36 ¶ And Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban: and Jacob answered, and said to Laban, What is my trespass, what is my sin, that thou hast so hotly pursued after me?

37 Whereas thou hast searched all my stuff, what hast thou found of all thy household-stuff? set it here before my brethren and thy brethren, that they may judge betwixt us both.

38 This twenty years have I been with thee; thy ewes and thy she-goats have not cast their young, and the rams of thy flock have I not eaten.

39 That which was torn of beasts, I brought not unto thee; I bare the loss of it: of my hand didst thou require it, whether stolen by day, or stolen by night.

40 Thus I was; in the day the drought consumed me, and the frost by night; and my sleep departed from mine eyes.

41 Thus have I been twenty years in thy house: I served thee fourteen years for thy two daughters, and six years for thy cattle: and thou hast changed my wages ten times.

42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the Fear of Isaac, had been with me, surely thou hadst sent me away now empty. God hath seen mine affliction, and the labour of my hands, and rebuked thee yesternight.

43 ¶ And Laban answered, and said unto Jacob, These daughters are my daughters, and these children are my children, and these cattle are my cattle, and all that thou seest is mine; and what can I do this day unto these my daughters, or unto their children which they have born?

44 Now therefore come thou, let us make a covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witness between me and thee.

45 And Jacob took a stone, and set it up for a pillar:

46 And Jacob said unto his brethren, Gather stones; and they took stones, and made an heap: and they did eat there upon the heap.

47 And Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha: but Jacob called it Galeed.

48 And Laban said, This heap is a witness between me and thee this day. Therefore was the name of it called Galeed;

49 And Mizpah: for he said, The Lord watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another.

50 If thou shalt afflict my daughters, or if thou shalt take other wives besides my daughters, no man is with us: see, God is witness betwixt me and thee.

51 And Laban said to Jacob, Behold this heap, and behold this pillar, which I have cast betwixt me and thee;

52 This heap be witness, and this pillar be witness, that I will not pass over this heap to thee, and that thou shalt not pass over this heap and this pillar unto me, for harm.

53 The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge betwixt us. And Jacob swore by the Fear of his father Isaac.

54 Then Jacob offered sacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat bread: and they did eat bread, and tarried all night in the mount.

55 And early in the morning Laban rose up, and kissed his sons and his daughters, and blessed them: And Laban departed, and returned unto his place.

24. Speak not to Jacob either good or bad.] Neither persuading him by flattering promises and cunning artifices, nor compelling him by threatenings, to return.

30. Stolen my gods.] Laban could not be so senseless, as to take these for true gods which could be stolen away; but he called them gods, because they were the means or representations whereby he worshipped his gods.

42. Except the God of my father, &c.] This is a noble and generous imputation of his success to the God of his fathers, and finely opposed to the cunning and worldly-minded dealing of Laban.

47. Laban called it, &c.] The one gave it a Syriac name, signifying the heap of testimony, and the other an Hebrew, of the same import, signifying, the heap of ocular inspection.

53. The God of Abraham, &c.] That is, the God adored by Abraham, Nahor, and their father Terah. Some consider the different expressions used by Laban and Jacob as an indication of their different sentiments with regard to religion. But however they might differ in some particular modes or forms of worship, it is evident that they both agreed in their opinion of one supreme Being; for we find, from ver. 54. that they both partook of the same sacrifice which Jacob offered to the true God.

2 And when Jacob saw them, he said, This is God's host: and he called the name of that place Mahanaim.

3 And Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, unto the land of Seir, the country of Edom.

4 And he commanded them, saying, Thus shall ye speak unto my lord Esau; Thy servant Jacob saith thus, I have sojourned with Laban, and stayed there until now:

5 And I have oxen, and asses, flocks, and men-servants, and women-servants: and I have sent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in thy sight.

6 ¶ And the messengers returned to Jacob, saying, We came to thy brother Esau, and also he cometh to meet thee, and four hundred men with him.

7 Then Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed: and he divided the people that was with him, and the flocks, and herds, and the camels, into two bands;

8 And said, If Esau come to the one company, and smite it, then the other company which is left shall escape.

9 ¶ And Jacob said, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac, the LORD which saidst unto me, Return unto thy country, and to thy kindred, and I will deal well with thee:

10 I am not worthy of the least of all the mercies, and of all the truth, which thou hast shewed unto thy servant: for with my staff I passed over this Jordan, and now I am become two bands.

11 Deliver me, I pray thee, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau: for I fear him, lest he will come and smite me, and the mother with the children.

12 And thou saidst, I will surely do thee good, and make thy seed as the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.

13 ¶ And he lodged there that same night; and took of that which came to his hand a present for Esau his brother:

14 Two hundred she-goats, and twenty he-goats; two hundred ewes, and twenty rams;

15 Thirty milch camels with their colts; forty kine, and ten bulls; twenty she-asses, and ten foals.

16 And he delivered them into the hand of his servants, every drove by themselves; and said unto his servants, Pass over before me, and put a space betwixt drove and drove.

17 And he commanded the foremost, saying, When Esau my brother meeteth thee, and asketh thee, saying, Whose art thou? and whither goest thou? and whose are these before thee?

18 Then thou shalt say, They be thy servant Jacob's:

4. Unto my lord Esau.] He calls him his lord, that he might mollify his anger, if any remained, by humble language; which sounded as if he had no thoughts of the birthright he had purchased of him. This also was the style in which others addressed themselves to Esau, after he had won the principality of Seir.

5. I have oxen, &c.] Jacob mentions this to shew Esau he did not come to be a burden to him, or to dispute with him the possession of his father's inheritance.

6. Four hundred men, &c.] Nobly attended, partly to shew his greatness, and partly to do honour to Jacob by public salutation.

7. Greatly afraid.] Jacob, being conscious of having injured his brother, foreboded the design of his coming with his numerous retinue to be quite different from what it was represented; so fearful and incredulous a thing is guilt.

9. And Jacob said, O God of my father, &c.] We cannot let this instance of piety pass without remarking, that through the whole history of the Jews there is more unfeigned devotion, and a more settled reliance upon Providence exemplified, than could possibly have been so repeatedly mentioned, and so circumstantially, unless the facts had happened as they are related: and if such was the real conduct of men, who shewed themselves, on other occasions, neither timid nor superstitious, how can we help ascribing it to the true cause, viz. the frequent interposition of Providence in their private affairs, and the just sense they had of so high a favour, which confirmed their reliance upon Providence, and filled their whole soul with the love of their Creator.

10. With my staff;] As a poor traveller, having nothing with me but my staff for my support.

11. Smite—the mother with the children.] A proverbial speech, noting a total destruction. Compare Deut. 22. 6. Hos. 10. 14.

it is a present sent unto my lord Esau: and, behold, also he is behind us.

19 And so commanded he the second, and the third, and all that followed the droves, saying, On this manner shall ye speak unto Esau, when ye find him.

20 And say ye moreover, Behold, thy servant Jacob is behind us. For he said, I will appease him with the present that goeth before me, and afterward I will see his face; peradventure he will accept of me.

21 So went the present over before him; and himself lodged that night in the company.

22 And he rose up that night, and took his two wives, and his two women-servants, and his eleven sons, and passed over the ford Jabbok.

23 And he took them, and sent them over the brook, and sent over that he had.

24 ¶ And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him, until the breaking of the day.

25 And when he saw that he prevailed not against him, he touched the hollow of his thigh: and the hollow of Jacob's thigh was out of joint, as he wrestled with him.

26 And he said, Let me go, for the day breaketh: and he said, I will not let thee go, except thou bless me.

27 And he said unto him, What is thy name? And he said, Jacob.

28 And he said, Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel: for as a prince hast thou power with God, and with men, and hast prevailed.

29 And Jacob asked him, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name: and he said, Wherefore is it that thou dost ask after my name? And he blessed him there.

30 And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.

31 ¶ And as he passed over Penuel, the sun rose upon him, and he halted upon his thigh.

32 Therefore the children of Israel eat not of the sinew which shrank, which is upon the hollow of the thigh, unto this day; because he touched the hollow of Jacob's thigh in the sinew that shrank.

3. Bowed

C H A P. XXXIV.

2 And he put the handmaids and their children foremost, and Leah and her children after, and Rachel and Joseph hindermost.

3 And he passed over before them, and bowed himself to the ground seven times, until he came near to his brother.

4 And Esau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck, and kissed him: and they wept.

5 And he lifted up his eyes, and saw the women and the children, and said, Who are those with thee? And he said, The children which God hath graciously given thy servant.

6 Then the handmaidens came near, they and their children, and they bowed themselves.

7 And Leah also with her children came near, and bowed themselves; and after came Joseph near, and Rachel, and they bowed themselves.

8 And he said, What meanest thou by all this drove which I met? And he said, These are to find grace in the sight of my lord.

9 And Esau said, I have enough, my brother; keep that thou hast unto thyself.

10 And Jacob said, Nay, I pray thee; if now I have found grace in thy sight, then receive my present at my hand: for therefore I have seen thy face, as though I had seen the face of God, and thou wast pleased with me.

11 Take, I pray thee, my blessing that is brought to thee; because God hath dealt graciously with me, and because I have enough. And he urged him, and he took it.

12 And he said, Let us take our journey, and let us go, and I will go before thee.

13 And he said unto him, My lord knoweth that the children are tender, and the flocks and herds with young are with me; and if men should over-drive them one day, all the flock will die.

14 Let my lord, I pray thee, pass over before his servant; and I will lead on softly, according as the cattle that goeth before me, and the children, be able to endure, until I come unto my lord unto Seir.

15 And Esau said, Let me now leave with thee some of the folk that are with me: and he said, What needeth it? Let me find grace in the sight of my lord.

16 So Esau returned that day on his way unto Seir.

17 ¶ And Jacob journeyed to Succoth, and built him an house, and made booths for his cattle: therefore the name of the place is called Succoth.

18 ¶ And Jacob came to Shalem, a city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan-aram, and pitched his tent before the city.

19 And he bought a parcel of a field, where he had spread his tent, at the hand of the children of Hamor, Shechem's father, for an hundred pieces of money.

20 And he erected there an altar, and called it El-elohe-Israel.

2 Dinah is ravished by Shechem.—4 He sueth to marry her.—15 The sons of Jacob offer the condition of circumcision to the Shechemites.—20 Hamor and Shechem persuade them to accept it.—25 The sons of Jacob upon that advantage slay them.—27 and spoil their city.—30 Jacob reproveth Simeon and Levi.

AND Dinah the daughter of Leah, which she bare unto Jacob, went out to see the daughters of the land.

2 And when Shechem the son of Hamor the Hivite, prince of the country, saw her, he took her, and lay with her, and defiled her.

3 And his soul clave unto Dinah the daughter of Jacob; and he loved the damsel, and spake kindly unto the damsel.

4 And Shechem spake unto his father Hamor, saying, Get me this damsel to wife.

5 And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter: now his sons were with his cattle in the field; and Jacob held his peace until they were come.

6 ¶ And Hamor the father of Shechem went out unto Jacob to commune with him.

7 And the sons of Jacob came out of the field when they heard it: and the men were grieved, and they were very wroth, because he had wrought folly in Israel in lying with Jacob's daughter; which thing ought not to be done.

8 And Hamor communed with them, saying, The soul of my son Shechem longeth for your daughter: I pray you give her him to wife.

9 And make ye marriages with us, and give your daughters unto us, and take our daughters unto you.

10 And ye shall dwell with us: and the land shall be before you; dwell and trade ye therein, and get you possessions therein.

11 And Shechem said unto her father and unto her brethren, Let me find grace in your eyes, and what ye shall say unto me I will give.

12 Ask me never so much dowry and gift, and I will give according as ye shall say unto me: but give me the damsel to wife.

13 And the sons of Jacob answered Shechem and Hamor his father deceitfully, and said, (because he had defiled Dinah their sister,)

14 And they said unto them, We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to one that is uncircumcised: for that were a reproach unto us:

15 But in this will we consent unto you: If ye will be as we be, that every male of you be circumcised;

16 Then will we give our daughters unto you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will dwell with you, and we will become one people.

17 But if ye will not hearken unto us, to be circumcised;

the Athenian money was called an ox for the same reason, and as we call a piece of gold a Jacobus, because the picture of that king is upon it.

20. And he erected there an altar, &c.] As soon as ever he was settled, the first thought of this excellent man was to raise a place of worship to the God who continually preserved and assisted him. He called this altar El-elohe-Israel, i. e. the altar of the God of Israel, alluding to the addition made to his name by the divine messenger who wrestled with him, chap. 32. 28.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIV.

Verse 1. Dinah—went out to see, &c.] Being now about sixteen years of age, she went out of her mother's tent, which was without the city, probably alone and unguarded, to see the fashions and ornaments of the women of that country, who, as Josephus tells us, were then assembled in Shechem at some festival.

3. His soul clave unto Dinah, &c.] A beautiful eastern expression, to signify extreme love. It is, indeed, from the east that we have borrowed most of our beautiful images and strong expressions; for no language is more nervous or expressive than the eastern tongues.

5. Held his peace.] Being unable to punish the delinquent, and not knowing what to do, he waits for his sons' coming and advice.

7. Wrought folly in Israel.] Or, against Israel; committed a wickedness highly to the disgrace and injury of Israel's family, in violating a virgin, which by the law of nations ought never to go unpunished.

12. Ask me never so much dowry.] In those times marriage portions were not brought by the women, but given by the men; and so it was by the ancient Greeks, and we are told it is at this day a practice among the Turks and Persians.

3. Bowed himself to the ground seven times.] At some convenient distance he began to bow; and so at every other step or more, he bowed again (seven times) till he came near to his brother.

4. Kissed him.] Here the original word is marked with four unusual points; intimating, that it is a remarkable passage. And indeed this forwardness in being reconciled to his brother was the more surprising, as Esau was the offended party and elder brother.

8. My lord.] Jacob's calling his brother lord, sufficiently indicates that the birthright was not bestowed on his person, but on his posterity. See chap. 25. 23.

10. As though I had seen the face of God.] It is in a manner as pleasant a sight to me as the sight of God himself, because in thy reconciled face, I see the favour of God thus manifested unto me.

14. Until I come, &c.] We do not read that Jacob did, according to this promise or insinuation, go to Seir; either therefore he changed his first intentions for some weighty reasons, or upon warning from God.

18. Came to Shalem, a city of Shechem.] He came safe or whole to the city of Shechem; to note either that he was then cured of the lameness which the angel gave him; or rather, to note the good providence of God, that had brought him safe in his person, family, and estate, through all his dangers.

19. An hundred pieces of money.] The word is used only here, and Josh. 24. 32. Job 42. 11. and it may signify either lambs, given in way of exchange for it, or pieces of money, which seems more probable, both by comparing Acts 7. 16. and because money was come into use in that place and time, chap. 17. 12, 13. and 23. 16. and 47. 16. which were called *lamb*s possibly from the figure of a lamb stamped upon it, as cised; then will we take our daughter, and we will be gone.

18 And their words pleased Hamor, and Shechem Hamor's son.

19 And the young man deferred not to do the thing, because he had delight in Jacob's daughter: and he was more honourable than all the house of his father.

20 ¶ And Hamor and Shechem his son came unto the gate of their city, and communed with the men of their city, saying,

21 These men are peaceable with us, therefore let them dwell in the land, and trade therein; for the land, behold, it is large enough for them; let us take their daughters to us for wives, and let us give them our daughters.

22 Only herein will the men consent unto us for to dwell with us, to be one people, if every male among us be circumcised, as they are circumcised.

23 Shall not their cattle, and their substance, and every beast of theirs, be ours? only let us consent unto them, and they will dwell with us.

24 And unto Hamor, and unto Shechem his son, hearkened all that went out of the gate of his city: and every male was circumcised, all that went out of the gate of his city.

25 ¶ And it came to pass on the third day, when they were sore, that two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brethren, took each man his sword, and came upon the city boldly, and slew all the males.

26 And they slew Hamor and Shechem his son with the edge of the sword, and took Dinah out of Shechem's house, and went out.

27 The sons of Jacob came upon the slain, and spoiled the city; because they had defiled their sister.

28 They took their sheep, and their oxen, and their asses, and that which was in the city, and that which was in the field;

29 And all their wealth, and all their little ones, and their wives, took they captive, and spoiled even all that was in the house.

30 ¶ And Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, Ye have troubled me, to make me to stink among the inhabitants of the land, among the Canaanites and the Perizzites: and I being few in number, they shall gather themselves together against me, and slay me, and I shall be destroyed, I and my house.

31 And they said, Should he deal with our sister as with an harlot?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 God sendeth Jacob to Beth-el.—9 God blesseth Jacob at Beth-el.—16 Rachel travaileth of Benjamin, and dieth in the way to Edar.—27 Jacob cometh to Isaac at Hebron.—28 The age, death, and burial of Isaac.

18. Words pleased Hamor.] This shews how passionately Shechem loved Dinah, and the great affection which Hamor had to Shechem, who was his beloved son, ver. 19. and at the same time the singular regard the people had for their prince, in readily submitting to so painful an operation merely on his account.

20. The gate of their city.] The place where all public affairs were debated and concluded, see chap. 19. 1, &c.

23. Shall not their cattle, &c.] Not that they intended to seize upon their flock; but that being incorporated with Jacob's family by intermarriages, they would be enriched and strengthened by them.

27. Because they had defiled their sister.] This prince had defiled her, and probably some of the citizens might be accessory to the guilt: but still this act of bloodshed was shockingly inhuman and unjust.

28. Took their sheep, &c.] It is reasonable to believe that Jacob, who detested this barbarity so much, caused all these to be restored to the wives and children of the slain, whom he set at liberty.

30. Ye have troubled me, to make me to stink.] Made it unsafe for me to live in this country, where I shall be for ever odious as a murderer, a robber, and a breaker of my faith.

31. Should he deal with our sister as with an harlot?] Thus they excuse one fault by committing another, and defend themselves by accusing their father of stupidity, and insensibleness of so great an indignity and injury; not shewing any signs of repentance for what they had done.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXV.

Verse 1. And God said unto Jacob, Arise, &c.] The Almighty, ever watchful to preserve the true worship of himself, appears to Jacob, and commands him to repair immediately to the place where he had set up

AND God said unto Jacob, Arise, go up to Beth-el, and dwell there: and make there an altar unto God, that appeared unto thee when thou fleddest from the face of Esau thy brother.

2 Then Jacob said unto his household, and to all that were with him, Put away the strange gods that are among you, and be clean, and change your garments:

3 And let us arise, and go up to Beth-el; and I will make there an altar unto God, who answered me in the day of my distress, and was with me in the way which I went.

4 And they gave unto Jacob all the strange gods which were in their hand, and all their ear-rings which were in their ears; and Jacob hid them under the oak which was by Shechem.

5 And they journeyed: and the terror of God was upon the cities that were round about them, and they did not pursue after the sons of Jacob.

6 ¶ So Jacob came to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan, (that is Beth-el,) he and all the people that were with him.

7 And he built there an altar, and called the place El-beth-el; because there God appeared unto him, when he fled from the face of his brother.

8 But Deborah, Rebekah's nurse, died, and she was buried beneath Beth-el, under an oak: and the name of it was called Allon-bachuth.

9 ¶ And God appeared unto Jacob again, when he came out of Padan-aram, and blessed him.

10 And God said unto him, Thy name is Jacob: thy name shall not be called any more Jacob, but Israel shall be thy name: and he called his name Israel.

11 And God said unto him, I am God Almighty: be fruitful, and multiply; a nation, and a company of nations, shall be of thee, and kings shall come out of thy loins.

12 And the land which I gave Abraham and Isaac, to thee I will give it, and to thy seed after thee will I give the land.

13 And God went up from him, in the place where he talked with him.

14 And Jacob set up a pillar in the place where he talked with him, even a pillar of stone: and he poured a drink-offering thereon, and he poured oil thereon.

15 And Jacob called the name of the place where God spake with him, Beth-el.

16 ¶ And they journeyed from Beth-el; and there was but a little way to come to Ephrath: and Rachel travailed; and she had hard labour.

17 And it came to pass, when she was in hard labour, that the midwife said unto her, Fear not; thou shalt have this son also.

18 And it came to pass, as her soul was in departing, (for she died,) that she called his name Ben-oni: but his father called him Benjamin.

19 And

and anointed the stone on which he had slept, when God appeared to him at the time he fled from the face of Esau. This place was about twenty miles to the southward from Sichem, where he now was: but it was not only to remove him from the spot where his sons had raised the resentment of the people of the land, but to rouse his family to their religious duties; for by Jacob's command in the following verse, that they should destroy all their strange gods, or images, which they had amongst them, it seems very probable that they had in some degree fallen into some idolatrous practices with them. Whether these were the teraphim which Rachel stole from her father, or any other brought by the rest of the company, or any new ones which they had received from the Shechemites, does not appear; but it seems very plain that some corruption had entered into the family, and God saw sufficient reason to remind him of the obligation he was under to preserve the worship of himself pure and undefiled.

2. Put away the strange gods.] Heb. The gods of the stranger; that is, those idols which strangers worship. The expression seems principally to regard the Shechemites, whom his sons had taken captive, and who, though now incorporated into Jacob's family, doubtless entertained a veneration for the gods of the country.

4. And all their ear-rings.] The scripture seems to insinuate, and other writers expressly affirm, that divers heathen people did wear ear-rings for the honour of their idols, and with the representations or ensigns of their idols graven upon them.

5. And the terror of God.] i. e. A great terror sent from God, as Exod. 23. 27. Josh. 2. 9, 11. 2 Chron. 14. 14. and 17. 10. So we read of a sleep of God, 1 Sam. 26. 12. Nothing less could have secured Jacob, considering the great number, power, and rage, of his enemies.

19 And Rachel died, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Beth-lehem.

20 And Jacob set a pillar upon her grave: that is the pillar of Rachel's grave unto this day.

21 ¶ And Israel journeyed, and spread his tent beyond the tower of Edar.

22 And it came to pass, when Israel dwelt in that land, that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his father's concubine; and Israel heard it. Now the sons of Jacob were twelve:

23 The sons of Leah; Reuben, Jacob's first-born, and Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Zebulun:

24 The sons of Rachel; Joseph and Benjamin:

25 And the sons of Bilhah, Rachel's handmaid; Dan, and Naphtali:

26 And the sons of Zilpah, Leah's handmaid; Gad, and Asher. These are the sons of Jacob, which were born to him in Padan-aram.

27 ¶ And Jacob came unto Isaac his father unto Mamre, unto the city of Arbah, (which is Hebron,) where Abraham and Isaac sojourned.

28 ¶ And the days of Isaac were an hundred and fourscore years.

29 And Isaac gave up the ghost, and died, and was gathered unto his people, being old and full of days; and his sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

CHAP. XXXVI.

2 Esau's three wives:—6 his removing to mount Seir:—9 his sons:—15 The dukes which descended of his sons.—20 The sons and dukes of Seir.—24 Anah findeth mules.—31 The kings of Edom.—40 The dukes that descended of Esau.

NOW these are the generations of Esau, who is Edom.

2 Esau took his wives of the daughters of Canaan; Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon the Hivite.

3 And Bashemath, Ishmael's daughter, sister of Nebajoth.

4 And Adah bare to Esau, Eliphaz; and Bashemath bare Reuel;

5 And Aholibamah bare Jeush, and Jaalam, and Korah: these are the sons of Esau, which were born unto him in the land of Canaan.

6 ¶ And Esau took his wives, and his sons, and his daughters, and all the persons of his house, and his cattle, and all his beasts, and all his substance, which he had got in the land of Canaan; and went into the country from the face of his brother Jacob.

7 For their riches were more than that they might dwell together: and the land wherein they were strangers could not bear them, because of their cattle.

8 Thus dwelt Esau in mount Seir: Esau is Edom.

9 ¶ And these are the generations of Esau, the father of the Edomites, in mount Seir:

10 These are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz the son of Adah the wife of Esau, Reuel the son of Bashemath the wife of Esau.

11 And the sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenaz.

12 And Timna was concubine to Eliphaz, Esau's son; and she bare to Eliphaz Amalek: these were the sons of Adah, Esau's wife.

13 And these are the sons of Reuel; Nahath, and Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah: these were the sons of Bashemath, Esau's wife.

14 ¶ And these were the sons of Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon, Esau's wife: and she bare to Esau, Jeush, and Jaalam, and Korah.

15 ¶ These were dukes of the sons of Esau: the sons of Eliphaz, the first-born son of Esau; duke Teman, duke Omar, duke Zepho, duke Kenaz, 16 Duke Korah, duke Gatam, and duke Amalek; these are the dukes that came of Eliphaz, in the land of Edom: these were the sons of Adah.

17 ¶ And these are the sons of Reuel, Esau's son; duke Nahath, duke Zerah, duke Shammah, duke Mizzah: these are the dukes that came of Reuel in the land of Edom: these are the sons of Bashemath, Esau's wife.

18 ¶ And these are the sons of Aholibamah, Esau's wife; duke Jeush, duke Jaalam, duke Korah: these were the dukes that came of Aholibamah the daughter of Anah, Esau's wife.

19 These are the sons of Esau (who is Edom) and these are their dukes.

20 ¶ These are the sons of Seir the Horite, who inhabited the land; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, 21 And Dishon, and Ezer, and Dishan: these are the dukes of the Horites, the children of Seir, in the land of Edom.

22 And the children of Lotan were, Hori, and He-man: and Lotan's sister was Timna.

23 And the children of Shobal were these; Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shepho, and Onam.

24 And these are the children of Zibeon; both Ajah and Anah: this was that Anah that found the mules in the wilderness, as he fed the asses of Zibeon his father.

25 And the children of Anah were these; Dishon, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah.

26 And these are the children of Dishon; Hemdan, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

27 The children of Ezer are these; Bilhan, and Zaanvan, and Akan.

28 The children of Dishan are these; Uz, and Aran.

29 These are the dukes that came of the Horites; duke Lotan, duke Shobal, duke Zibeon, duke Anah, 30 Duke Dishon, duke Ezer, duke Dishan: these are the dukes that came of Hori, among their dukes in the land of Seir.

31 ¶ And these are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom, before there reigned any king over the children of Israel.

32 And Bela the son of Beor reigned in Edom; and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

33 And Belah died, and Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his stead.

34 And Jobab died, and Husham of the land of Temani reigned in his stead.

35 And Husham died, and Hadad the son of Bedad (who smote Midian in the field of Moab) reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Avith.

36 And Hadad died, and Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his stead.

37 And Samlah died, and Saul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his stead.

38 And

22. And Israel heard it.] Though Moses passes over Israel's censure of this incest, yet we learn afterwards that he resented it so highly as to deprive Reuben of his birthright upon that account, chap. 49. 3, 4. 1 Chron. 5. 1.

27. Jacob came unto Isaac.] With his wives, and children, and estate, to dwell with him; or rather, in person, to visit his sick and dying father, and be the comfort of his old age.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXVI.

Verse 1. The generations of Esau.] They are here mentioned, partly to shew the effect of his father's blessing, chap. 27. 39. and partly that the Israelites might be admonished to treat the Edomites like brethren, and not to invade their land, Deut. 23. 7.

2. Esau took his wives, &c.] This marriage among the Canaanites was what so sorely displeased his family, mentioned already in chap. 26. 34. No. 4.

Adah, &c.] According to the custom of those times, the wives of Esau had several names.

1. Judith, called also Aholibamah.

2. Bashemath, called also Adah.

3. Mahalah, called also Bashemath.

These names were either assumed, or given them by their husband, expressive of some quality they possessed.

6. And went into the country.] Out of the land of Canaan, which he left to the possession of Jacob.

15. These were dukes of the sons of Esau, &c.] They were not governors or princes over the land, but heads or chiefs of families, which the word properly signifies, though they separately extended their conquests by degrees into this country. Their descendants having afterwards conquered the Horites, and taken possession of the whole land, were then called dukes of Edom, see ver. 40, 41, 42, 43.

38 And Saul died, and Baal-hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his stead.

39 And Baal-hanan the son of Achbor died, and Hadar reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Pau; and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

40 ¶ And these are the names of the dukes that came of Esau, according to their families, after their places, by their names; duke Timnah, duke Alvah, duke Jetheth,

41 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon,

42 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar,

43 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram: these be the dukes of Edom, according to their habitations, in the land of their possession: he is Esau, the father of the Edomites.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Joseph is hated of his brethren:—5 his two dreams:—13 Jacob sendeth him to visit his brethren:—18 his brethren conspire his death:—21 Reuben saveth him.—26 They sell him to the Ishmeelites:—31 His father, deceived by the bloody coat, mourneth for him:—36 He is sold to Potiphar in Egypt.

AN D Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a stranger, in the land of Canaan.

2 These are the generations of Jacob. Joseph, being seventeen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren; and the lad was with the sons of Bilhah, and with the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives: and Joseph brought unto his father their evil report.

3 Now Israel loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age: and he made him a coat of many colours.

4 And when his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not speak peaceably unto him.

5 ¶ And Joseph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren: and they hated him yet the more.

6 And he said unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed.

7 For, behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and, lo, my sheaf arose, and also stood upright; and, behold, your sheaves stood round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf.

8 And his brethren said to him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or shalt thou indeed have dominion over us? and they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words.

9 ¶ And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and said, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more: and, behold, the sun, and the moon, and the eleven stars, made obeisance to me.

10 And he told it to his father, and to his brethren: and his father rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this dream that thou hast dreamed? Shall I, and thy mother, and thy brethren, indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth?

11 And his brethren envied him; but his father observed the saying.

12 And his brethren went to feed their father's flock in Shechem.

13 And Israel said unto Joseph, Do not thy brethren feed the flock in Shechem? come, and I will send thee unto them: And he said unto him, Here am I.

14 And he said to him, Go, I pray thee, see whether it be well with thy brethren, and well with the flocks; and bring me word again. So he sent him out of the vale of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.

15 ¶ And a certain man found him, and, behold, he was wandering in the field: and the man asked him, saying, What seekest thou?

16 And he said, I seek my brethren: tell me, I pray thee, where they feed their flocks.

17 And the man said, They are departed hence: for I heard them say, Let us go to Dothan. And Joseph went after his brethren, and found them in Dothan.

18 ¶ And when they saw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conspired against him to slay him.

19 And they said one to another, Behold, this dreamer cometh.

20 Come now, therefore, and let us slay him, and cast him into some pit; and we will say, Some evil beast hath devoured him: and we shall see what will become of his dreams.

21 And Reuben heard it, and he delivered him out of their hands; and said, Let us not kill him.

22 And Reuben said unto them, Shed no blood, but cast him into this pit, that is in the wilderness, and lay no hand upon him; that he might rid him out of their hands, to deliver him to his father again.

23 ¶ And it came to pass, when Joseph was come unto

43. In the land of their possession, &c.] These are the dukes who reigned over territories actually acquired by conquest.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXVII.

Verse 1. Was a stranger.] i. e. A sojourner: He was a native of that country, and had resided in it many years. Isaac made no conquests, nor extended his authority farther than his own house.

2. These are the generations, &c.] We have already observed, that the word toledoth, which we have translated generations, means, properly, the history or transactions of Jacob. The last chapter seems to have been a digression from the story, which left off at the burial of Isaac by his sons Jacob and Esau.

Brought unto his father their evil report.] Whatever might have been Joseph's motive for observing the irregularities of his brethren, and reporting them to his father, and though his exemplary conduct in Pharaoh's court must incline us to think that he did it from a love of virtue, and in hopes to reclaim them, yet it must be acknowledged, that there is great reason to think that he must have been guilty of something very harsh and improper in his manner of doing it, since it laid the foundation of so violent a hatred from all his brethren. Reproof at all times is unpalatable; but from a younger brother, who affected more purity than the rest, it must have been very delicately managed indeed not to have given offence. Providence ordered every incident for his honour and advantage, and raised him even from a prospect of death and slavery to the highest honours: but the effect of his injudicious manner of exposing his brethren to their father's censure, should be a lesson of warning to every one, to use the utmost tenderness and delicacy in rebuking the errors of their fellow-creatures.

3. Son of his old age:] Being born when Jacob was about ninety years old. But why was not Benjamin equally the darling of his father, since he was more the son of his old age than Joseph, being several years younger than he? The reason seems to be, that Benjamin, being now a child, could not yet have given any instances of the goodness of his disposition, which Joseph had doubtless often done, particularly in the great care he took of his brethren's behaviour; and therefore Jacob might well consider him as the greatest comfort of his old age, though he was not his youngest son.

A coat of many colours.] Wove or embroidered with party-coloured threads, probably with flowers and variegated figures; for such garments were in high esteem among the eastern nations, 2 Sam. 13. 18.

5. Told it his brethren.] This argues Joseph's great innocence and simplicity; he did not consider that this dream might be interpreted by them as an indication of his pride and ambition. The dream however was fulfilled, chap. 42. 6.

9. Behold, the sun and the moon, &c.] These great luminaries are frequently, in scripture language, put for kings and potentates of the earth. Thus, when our Saviour told the Jews, that the powers of heaven shall be shaken, and again, that the sun shall be turned into darkness and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord, he means, that there shall be great civil commotions among the Roman governors, and in the Jewish nation, and many murders and insurrections happen, before he entirely overturned and destroyed the Jewish temple and polity.

10. His father rebuked him.] Lest Joseph should be puffed up upon the account of his dreams; and to allay the envy and hatred of his brethren.

12. Went to feed, &c.] As their father had purchased some land in Shechem, (chap. 33. 12.) they went thither to feed his flocks in his own ground.

13. Will send thee, &c.] As the place was at a considerable distance (sixty miles, says Ainsworth,) from Hebron, where Jacob now dwelt, and he had not heard of them for some time, he began to be solicitous about their welfare, especially as they were in a country where they had given great provocation by their barbarous cruelty.

17. Dothan.] A place about eight miles north from Shechem.

22. Reuben said unto them, &c.] There is no doubt but that Reuben was of a tender disposition, by the agony he expressed when he came to the pit, ver. 29. and found not Joseph, but thought him slain. We may, however, without lessening his merit, believe him to have been influenced, in some degree, by the hopes of reconciling himself to Jacob, and making atonement for defiling his bed with Bilhah, by rescuing his favourite child from the evil designs of his brethren. His general character, however, appears to have been mild and gentle.

25. A company unto his brethren, that they stripped Joseph out of his coat, his coat of many colours, that was on him.

24 And they took him, and cast him into a pit: and the pit was empty, there was no water in it.

25 And they sat down to eat bread: and they lifted up their eyes, and looked, and, behold, a company of Ishmeelites came from Gilead, with their camels, bearing spicery, and balm, and myrrh, going to carry it down to Egypt.

26 And Judah said unto his brethren, What profit is it if we slay our brother, and conceal his blood?

27 Come, and let us sell him to the Ishmeelites, and let not our hand be upon him; for he is our brother, and our flesh: and his brethren were content.

28 Then there passed by Midianites, merchantmen: and they drew and lifted up Joseph out of the pit, and sold Joseph to the Ishmeelites for twenty pieces of silver; and they brought Joseph into Egypt.

29 ¶ And Reuben returned unto the pit; and, behold, Joseph was not in the pit: and he rent his clothes.

30 And he returned unto his brethren, and said, The child is not: and I, whither shall I go?

31 ¶ And they took Joseph's coat, and killed a kid of the goats, and dipped the coat in the blood:

32 And they sent the coat of many colours, and they brought it to their father, and said, This have we found: know now whether it be thy son's coat or no.

33 And he knew it, and said, It is my son's coat; an evil beast hath devoured him: Joseph is without doubt rent in pieces.

34 And Jacob rent his clothes, and put sackcloth upon his loins, and mourned for his son many days.

35 And all his sons, and all his daughters, rose up to comfort him; but he refused to be comforted; and he said, For I will go down into the grave unto my son mourning. Thus his father wept for him.

36 ¶ And the Midianites sold him into Egypt unto Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh's, and captain of the guard.

1 Judah begetteth Er, Onan, and Shelah.—6 Er marrieth Tamar.—8 The trespass of Onan.—11 Tamar stayeth for Shelah:—13 She deceiveth Judah:—27 She beareth twins, Pharez and Zarah.

AND it came to pass at that time, that Judah went down from his brethren, and turned in to a certain Adullamite, whose name was Hirah.

2 And Judah saw there a daughter of a certain Canaanite, whose name was Shuah; and he took her, and went in unto her.

3 And she conceived, and bare a son; and he called his name Er.

4 And she conceived again, and bare a son; and she called his name Onan.

5 And she yet again conceived, and bare a son; and called his name Shelah: and he was at Chezib, when she bare him.

6 ¶ And Judah took a wife for Er his first-born, whose name was Tamar:

25. A company of Ishmeelites.] A caravan (in the modern style) of Arabian spice-merchants, consisting of Ishmeelites and Midianites, ver. 28. They travelled together in companies for security against robbers and wild beasts.

Spicery and balm.] These were probably to embalm the dead.

28. Twenty pieces of silver.] About forty-seven shillings sterling; a mean price indeed! but perhaps no more was asked, that the merchants might have no objection against making the purchase.

30. The child is not: and I, whither shall I go?] As Joseph was seventeen years old, we must naturally be surprised to hear him called a child, did we not recollect what has been already observed, that the Jews gave the name of child or lad to all under forty. Reuben, being the eldest son, looks upon himself as more particularly guilty in regard to the supposed murder of Joseph, as he might by his influence have prevented his destruction, and persuaded his brethren not to let him down into the pit, or not have left him in their hands. This natural and affecting story is one of the most beautiful representations of the effect of human passions and providential deliverance to be found in the Bible. The progress of envy and jealousy, till it ended in hatred and 7 And Er, Judah's first-born, was wicked in the sight of the LORD; and the LORD slew him.

8 And Judah said unto Onan, Go in unto thy brother's wife, and marry her, and raise up seed to thy brother.

9 And Onan knew that the seed should not be his: and it came to pass, when he went in unto his brother's wife, that he spilled it on the ground, lest that he should give seed to his brother.

10 And the thing which he did displeased the LORD: wherefore he slew him also.

11 Then said Judah to Tamar his daughter-in-law, Remain a widow at thy father's house, till Shelah my son be grown; (for he said, Lest peradventure he die also as his brethren did;) and Tamar went and dwelt in her father's house.

12 ¶ And in process of time, the daughter of Shuah, Judah's wife, died: and Judah was comforted, and went up unto his sheep-shearers to Timnath, he and his friend Hirah the Adullamite.

13 And it was told Tamar, saying, Behold, thy father-in-law goeth up to Timnath to shear his sheep.

14 And she put her widow's garments off from her, and covered her with a vail, and wrapped herself, and sat in an open place, which is by the way to Timnath: for she saw that Shelah was grown, and she was not given unto him to wife.

15 When Judah saw her, he thought her to be an harlot: because she had covered her face.

16 And he turned unto her by the way, and said, Go to, I pray thee, let me come in unto thee, (for he knew not that she was his daughter-in-law;) and she said, What wilt thou give me, that thou mayest come in unto me?

17 And he said, I will send thee a kid from the flock: and she said, Wilt thou give me a pledge, till thou send it?

18 And he said, What pledge shall I give thee? and she said, Thy signet, and thy bracelets, and thy staff that is in thine hand: and he gave it her, and came in unto her; and she conceived by him.

19 And she arose, and went away, and laid by her vail from her, and put on the garments of her widowhood.

20 And Judah sent the kid by the hand of his friend the Adullamite, to receive his pledge from the woman's hand: but he found her not.

21 Then he asked the men of that place, saying, Where is the harlot that was openly by the way-side? and they said, There was no harlot in this place.

22 And he returned to Judah, and said, I cannot find her: and also the men of the place said, that there was no harlot in this place.

23 And Judah said, Let her take it to her, lest we be shamed: behold, I sent this kid, and thou hast not found her.

24 ¶ And it came to pass, about three months after, that it was told Judah, saying, Tamar thy daughter-in-law hath played the harlot: and also, behold, she is with child by whoredom: and Judah said, Bring her forth, and let her be burnt.

25 When

intentional murder, is a forcible warning to every reader not to indulge that worst of passions. Content sweetens the lowest station in life, whilst envy and discontent would make even a diadem prove a crown of thorns to the possessor.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXVIII.

Verse 1. Judah went down, &c.] Probably in discontent, upon occasion of quarrels arisen among them about the selling of Joseph, whereof Judah was a great promoter, if not the first mover.

7. Was wicked in the sight of the Lord.] That is, notoriously wicked; for which reason the Lord cut him off by an untimely death.

8. Go in unto thy brother's wife.] This, as also divers other things, was now instituted and observed amongst God's people, and afterwards was expressed in a written law, Deut. 25. 5, 6, &c.

11. Remain a widow.] The contract of marriage in those days obliged the woman, in case her husband died without issue, to marry his next brother; and that as long as any of his brethren remained, they were bound to marry his wife, unless she had a child.

14. Sat in an open place.] Where she might be soonest discovered by passengers. This is noted as the practice of harlots, Prov. 7. 12.

26. And

25 When she was brought forth, she sent to her father-in-law, saying, By the man whose these are am I with child: and she said, Discern, I pray thee, whose are these, the signet, and bracelets, and staff.

26 And Judah acknowledged them, and said, She hath been more righteous than I; because that I gave her not to Shelah my son: and he knew her again no more.

27 ¶ And it came to pass, in the time of her travail, that, behold, twins were in her womb.

28 And it came to pass when she travailed, that the one put out his hand; and the midwife took and bound upon his hand a scarlet thread, saying, This came out first.

29 And it came to pass, as he drew back his hand, that, behold, his brother came out; and she said, How hast thou broken forth? this breach be upon thee: therefore his name was called Pharez.

30 And afterwards came out his brother that had the scarlet thread upon his hand: and his name was called Zarah.

C H A P. XXXIX.

1 Joseph advanced in Potiphar's house:—7 he resisteth his mistress's temptation:—13 he is falsely accused:—20 he is cast into prison:—21 God is with him there.

AND Joseph was brought down to Egypt: and Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, captain of the guard, an Egyptian, bought him of the hands of the Ishmeelites, which had brought him down thither.

2 And the LORD was with Joseph, and he was a prosperous man: and he was in the house of his master the Egyptian.

3 And his master saw that the LORD was with him, and that the LORD made all that he did to prosper in his hand.

4 And Joseph found grace in his sight, and he served him: and he made him overseer over his house, and all that he had he put into his hand.

5 And it came to pass, from the time that he had made him overseer in his house, and over all that he had, that the LORD blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake: and the blessing of the LORD was upon all that he had, in the house, and in the field.

6 And he left all that he had in Joseph's hand: and he knew not ought he had, save the bread which he did eat: and Joseph was a goodly person, and well-favoured.

7 ¶ And it came to pass, after these things, that his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph: and she said, Lie with me.

8 But he refused, and said unto his master's wife, Behold, my master wotteth not what is with me in the house, and he hath committed all that he hath to my hand.

9 There is none greater in this house than I; neither hath he kept back any thing from me but thee, because thou art his wife: how then can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?

10 And it came to pass, as she spake to Joseph day by day, that he hearkened not unto her, to lie by her, or to be with her.

11 And it came to pass, about this time, that Joseph went into the house to do his business; and there was none of the men of the house there within.

12 And she caught him by his garment, saying, Lie with me: and he left his garment in her hand, and fled, and got him out.

13 And it came to pass, when she saw that he had left his garment in her hand, and was fled forth,

14 That she called unto the men of her house, and spake unto them, saying, See, he hath brought in an Hebrew unto us to mock us: he came in unto me to lie with me, and I cried with a loud voice:

15 And it came to pass, when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me and fled, and got him out.

16 And she laid up his garment by her, until his lord came home.

17 And she spake unto him according to these words, saying, The Hebrew servant, which thou hast brought unto us, came in unto me to mock me:

18 And it came to pass, as I lifted up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled out.

19 And it came to pass, when his master heard the words of his wife, which she spake unto him, saying, After this manner did thy servant to me; that his wrath was kindled.

20 And Joseph's master took him, and put him into the prison, a place where the king's prisoners were bound; and he was there in the prison.

21 ¶ But the LORD was with Joseph, and shewed him mercy, and gave him favour in the sight of the keeper of the prison.

22 And the keeper of the prison committed to Joseph's hand all the prisoners that were in the prison; and whatsoever they did there, he was the doer of it.

23 The keeper of the prison looked not to any thing that was under his hand; because the LORD was with him: and that which he did the LORD made it to prosper.

C H A P.

26. And Judah acknowledged, &c.] Certainly, if Tamar was at all excusable in this transaction, it was from the sense of her disappointment in being kept so long a widow; and even at last, when Shelah was of age, not being given to him in marriage. She likewise most probably thought that Shelah would come with his father, and that he might be the person who accosted her. At all events, her desire of children was so great, that she overlooked the danger and infamy of a discovery. Judah was sensible of the unkindness he had done her in not keeping his word, and therefore excuses her, and blames himself as the cause of her indiscretion. However, we may remark by the way, that Judah's parting with his pledges so easily, when his friend could not find Tamar, rather than expose himself by further enquiry, shews that fornication, however winked at, was looked upon as disgraceful and sinful amongst the better sort of men, though not punished so severely as among the women. It is, indeed, a crime which no legislature ought to countenance, either from moral or political principles. It is obvious to reflection, that such an irregularity is contrary to the law of nature, which is the unalterable law of God, pernicious to society, and hurtful to the great end of creation, the propagation of the species. These considerations, however lightly some may regard them, must be sufficient to deter any reasonable being from gratifying his passions at so dear a rate.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIX.

Verse 2. He was in the house, &c.] Moses now returns to the history of Joseph, whom the providence of God introduced so favourably to Potiphar, that he made him an upper servant in his house. By the confidence and trust reposed in him, he seems to have been the steward or overseer of the rest of the family.

6. And he knew not ought he had, save the bread which he did eat.] He took care for nothing, but committed all to Joseph, except his bread, which he would not have provided by an Hebrew hand, because the Egyptians might not eat with the Hebrews, chap. 43. 32.

11. To do his business;] That which belonged to his charge; to cast up his accounts, as the Chaldee renders it, which requiring privacy, gave her this opportunity.

12. He left his garment;] His upper garment, or mantle. He chose to leave his garment in her hand rather than struggle for it; prudently judging it to be the safest way to overcome temptation by flying from it.

14. An Hebrew.] So she calls him, to render him hateful and contemptible to the Egyptians, to whom the Hebrews were an abomination, chap. 43. 32.

21. But the Lord was with Joseph, &c.] The providence of God now interfered, in a peculiar manner, to make his confinement as easy as possible, by putting it into the heart of the keeper of the prison (who, doubtless, heard his story, and believed him innocent) to deal kindly by him; and accordingly we see he placed an entire confidence in him, by committing the other prisoners to his care. We cannot help remarking, that it is by this method of influencing the minds, both of ourselves and others, that many secret purposes of the providence of God are carried on, and without in the least affecting our free agency. We pray that God would put into our minds good desires; and doubtless, while we are in a disposition to ask for such assistance, we may expect to receive it; but it is our business afterwards to encourage and make use of this divine influence. By the same method does God influence even bad men to good actions for the sake of those who deserve well at his hands; for thus he gave the Israelites favour in the sight of the Egyptians; and at their departure, instead of distressing them, every one assisted their neighbours with money and jewels; and thus, as it is expressed, they spoiled their Egyptian enemies.

C H A P. XL.

1 The butler and baker of Pharaoh in prison:—4 Joseph bath charge of them:—5 he interpreteth their dreams:—20 they come to pass according to his interpretation.—23 The ingratitude of the butler.

AND it came to pass, after these things, that the butler of the king of Egypt and his baker had offended their lord the king of Egypt.

2 And Pharaoh was wroth against two of his officers, against the chief of the butlers, and against the chief of the bakers.

3 And he put them in ward in the house of the captain of the guard, into the prison, the place where Joseph was bound.

4 And the captain of the guard charged Joseph with them, and he served them: and they continued a season in ward.

5 ¶ And they dreamed a dream both of them, each man his dream in one night, each man according to the interpretation of his dream; the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt, which were bound in the prison.

6 And Joseph came in unto them in the morning, and looked upon them, and, behold, they were sad.

7 And he asked Pharaoh's officers, that were with him in the ward of his lord's house, saying, Wherefore look ye so sadly to-day?

8 And they said unto him, We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it. And Joseph said unto them, Do not interpretations belong to God? tell me them, I pray you.

9 And the chief butler told his dream to Joseph, and said unto him, In my dream, behold, a vine was before me:

10 And in the vine were three branches: and it was as though it budded, and her blossoms shot forth; and the clusters thereof brought forth ripe grapes:

11 And Pharaoh's cup was in my hand: and I took the grapes, and pressed them into Pharaoh's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand.

12 And Joseph said unto him, This is the interpretation of it: The three branches are three days:

13 Yet within three days shall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and restore thee unto thy place: and thou shalt deliver Pharaoh's cup into his hand, after the former manner when thou wast his butler.

14 But think on me when it shall be well with thee, and shew kindness, I pray thee, unto me; and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, and bring me out of this house:

15 For indeed I was stolen away out of the land of the Hebrews: and here also have I done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon.

16 When the chief baker saw that the interpretation was good, he said unto Joseph, I also was in my dream, and, behold, I had three white baskets on my head:

17 And in the uppermost basket there was of all manner of bake-meats for Pharaoh; and the birds did eat them out of the basket upon my head.

18 And Joseph answered, and said, This is the interpretation thereof: The three baskets are three days:

Verse 3. The captain of the guard,] To wit, Potiphar, Gen. 37. 36. who being informed by his under-keeper of Joseph's great care and faithfulness, began to have a better opinion of him, though for his own quiet, and his wife's reputation, he left him still in the prison.

8. There is no interpreter.] q. d. Here in prison we have not an opportunity of consulting the magicians or wise men for the interpretations of them; as that people was wont to do, chap. 41. 8.

Do not interpretations belong to God?] It is only that God who sends these dreams that can interpret them, and to him you should seek for it.

13. Lift up thine head;] Or, reckon thy head, i. e. thy name or thy person, to wit, among his servants. At set times governors of families used to take an account of their servants, and to have the names of their servants read to them; and they either left them in the catalogue, or put any of them out, as they saw fit.

14. Think on me when it shall be well, &c.] Think on the person who foretold thee this happiness, and let not prosperity erase the remembrance of those whom thou leavest in this house of misery.

19 Yet within three days shall Pharaoh lift up thy head from off thee, and shall hang thee on a tree; and the birds shall eat thy flesh from off thee.

20 ¶ And it came to pass the third day, which was Pharaoh's birth-day, that he made a feast unto all his servants: and he lifted up the head of the chief butler and of the chief baker among his servants.

21 And he restored the chief butler unto his butler-ship again; and he gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand:

22 But he hanged the chief baker; as Joseph had interpreted to them.

C H A P. XLI.

1 Pharaoh's two dreams:—25 Joseph interpreteth them:—33 he giveth Pharaoh counsel.—38 Joseph is advanced:—50 he begetteth Manasseh and Ephraim.—54 The famine beginneth.

AND it came to pass, at the end of two full years, that Pharaoh dreamed: and, behold, he stood by the river.

2 And, behold, there came up out of the river seven well-favoured kine, and fat-fleshed; and they fed in a meadow.

3 And, behold, seven other kine came up after them out of the river, ill-favoured and lean-fleshed; and stood by the other kine, upon the brink of the river.

4 And the ill-favoured and lean-fleshed kine did eat up the seven well-favoured and fat kine. So Pharaoh awoke.

5 And he slept, and dreamed the second time: and, behold, seven ears of corn came up upon one stalk, rank and good.

6 And, behold, seven thin ears, and blasted with the east wind, sprung up after them.

7 And the seven thin ears devoured the seven rank and full ears. And Pharaoh awoke, and, behold, it was a dream.

8 And it came to pass in the morning, that his spirit was troubled; and he sent and called for all the magicians of Egypt, and all the wise men thereof: and Pharaoh told them his dream; but there was none that could interpret them unto Pharaoh.

9 ¶ Then spake the chief butler unto Pharaoh, saying, I do remember my faults this day:

10 Pharaoh was wroth with his servants, and put me in ward in the captain of the guard's house, both me, and the chief baker:

11 And we dreamed a dream in one night, I and he: we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream.

12 And there was there with us a young man, an Hebrew, servant to the captain of the guard; and we told him, and he interpreted to us our dreams: to each man according to his dream he did interpret.

13 And it came to pass, as he interpreted to us, so it was: me he restored unto mine office, and him he hanged.

14 ¶ Then Pharaoh sent and called Joseph, and they brought him hastily out of the dungeon; and he shaved himself,

20. Pharaoh's birth-day.] This shews of how great antiquity was the custom of celebrating birth-days.

23. Yet did not the chief butler remember Joseph.] This is too much the character of ambitious courtiers, and indeed of mankind in general, in prosperity to forget their friends who were aiding to them in the days of their adversity.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLI.

Verse 2. There came up out of the river.] As Egypt owed its fertility to the overflowings of the Nile, these fat and lean kine are with great propriety represented as arising out of it.

6. Blasted with the east wind.] A boisterous wind, and in those parts of the world very pernicious to the fruits of the earth.

8. His spirit was troubled;] Because he understood not the meaning of it, and dreamed the consequences of it.

9. I do remember my faults;] Not against Joseph by ingratitude, but against the king; by which expression he both acknowledges the king's justice in imprisoning him, and his clemency in pardoning him.

himself, and changed his raiment, and came in unto Pharaoh.

15 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, I have dreamed a dream, and there is none that can interpret it: and I have heard say of thee, that thou canst understand a dream to interpret it.

16 And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, It is not in me: God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace.

17 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, In my dream, behold, I stood upon the bank of the river:

18 And, behold, there came up out of the river seven kine, fat-fleshed and well-favoured; and they fed in a meadow:

19 And, behold, seven other kine came up after them, poor, and very ill-favoured, and lean-fleshed, such as I never saw in all the land of Egypt for badness:

20 And the lean and the ill-favoured kine did eat up the first seven fat kine:

21 And when they had eaten them up, it could not be known that they had eaten them; but they were still ill-favoured, as at the beginning. So I awoke.

22 And I saw in my dream, and, behold, seven ears came up in one stalk, full and good:

23 And, behold, seven ears, withered, thin, and blasted with the east wind, sprung up after them:

24 And the thin ears devoured the seven good ears: and I told this unto the magicians: but there was none that could declare it to me.

25 ¶ And Joseph said unto Pharaoh, The dream of Pharaoh is one: God hath shewed Pharaoh what he is about to do.

26 The seven good kine are seven years; and the seven good ears are seven years: the dream is one.

27 And the seven thin and ill-favoured kine that came up after them are seven years; and the seven empty ears, blasted with the east wind, shall be seven years of famine.

28 This is the thing which I have spoken unto Pharaoh: what God is about to do he sheweth unto Pharaoh.

29 Behold, there come seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt:

30 And there shall arise after them seven years of famine; and all the plenty shall be forgotten in the land of Egypt; and the famine shall consume the land:

31 And the plenty shall not be known in the land, by reason of that famine following; for it shall be very grievous.

32 And for that the dream was doubled unto Pharaoh twice: it is because the thing is established by God, and God will shortly bring it to pass.

33 Now therefore let Pharaoh look out a man discreet and wise, and set him over the land of Egypt.

34 Let Pharaoh do this, and let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the land of Egypt in the seven plenteous years.

35 And let them gather all the food of those good years that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh: and let them keep food in the cities.

36 And that food shall be for store to the land against the seven years of famine, which shall be in the land of Egypt; that the land perish not through the famine.

37 ¶ And the thing was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his servants.

38 And Pharaoh said unto his servants, Can we find such a one as this is, a man in whom the Spirit of God is?

39 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Forasmuch as God hath shewed thee all this, there is none so discreet and wise as thou art:

40 Thou shalt be over my house, and according unto thy word shall all my people be ruled: only in the throne will I be greater than thou.

41 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, See, I have set thee over all the land of Egypt.

42 And Pharaoh took off his ring from his hand, and put it upon Joseph's hand, and arrayed him in vestures of fine linen, and put a gold chain about his neck.

43 And he made him to ride in the second chariot which he had: and they cried before him, Bow the knee: and he made him ruler over all the land of Egypt.

44 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, I am Pharaoh, and without thee shall no man lift up his hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.

45 And Pharaoh called Joseph's name Zaphnath-paaneah; and he gave him to wife Asenath, the daughter of Poti-pherah, priest of On: and Joseph went out over all the land of Egypt.

46 ¶ (And Joseph was thirty years old when he stood before Pharaoh king of Egypt.) And Joseph went out from the presence of Pharaoh, and went throughout all the land of Egypt.

47 And in the seven plenteous years the earth brought forth by handfuls.

48 And he gathered up all the food of the seven years, which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities: the food of the field which was round about every city laid he up in the same.

49 And Joseph gathered corn as the sand of the sea, very much, until he left numbering; for it was without number.

50 ¶ And unto Joseph were born two sons, before the years of famine came, which Asenath, the daughter of Poti-pherah priest of On, bare unto him.

51 And Joseph called the name of the first-born Manasseh: For God, said he, hath made me forget all my toil, and all my father's house.

52 And the name of the second called he Ephraim; for God hath caused me to be fruitful in the land of my affliction.

53 ¶ And the seven years of plenteousness that was in the land of Egypt were ended.

54 And the seven years of dearth began to come, according as Joseph had said: and the dearth was in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread.

55 And when all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread: and Pharaoh said unto all the Egyptians, Go unto Joseph; what he saith to you, do.

56 And the famine was over all the face of the earth: and Joseph opened all the store-houses, and sold unto the Egyptians; and the famine waxed sore in the land of Egypt.

57 And all countries came into Egypt to Joseph for to buy corn; because that the famine was so sore in all lands.

16. It is not in me.] I cannot do this by any power, or virtue, or art of my own, (for I am but a man, as your magicians are,) but only by inspiration from the great God.

25. And Joseph said, &c.] The king having repeated his dream, Joseph proceeds to tell him the meaning; and he again ascribes his knowledge to God. His calling the dreams one, means, that although two opposite things are intended, yet both are pointed out by similar objects.

34. Take up the fifth part.] It is probable the king's tribute in ordinary years was a tenth; but he is here advised to double that charge, either by virtue of his prerogative, or perhaps he bought up as much more as was his tribute, which he might do at an easy rate when corn was cheap.

38. Can we find such a one as this is, a man in whom the Spirit of God is?] The Almighty not only gave Joseph the power of interpreting the king's dream, but, at the same time, gives him a tongue of wisdom and counsel which astonished the king, and forced him to acknowledge the power of the Divine Being: and he confesses, in the verse following, that such a proof of God's favour proclaimed him eminently-wise and discreet above others.

42. Took off his ring.] Which was both a token of the highest dignity, and an instrument of the greatest power, by which he had authority to make and sign what decrees he thought fit in the king's name.

44. Without thee shall no man lift up his hand or foot.] No man shall do any thing in the public affairs of the kingdom, concerning matters of war or peace, without thy commission or licence.

45. Zaphnath-paaneah;] i. e. The revealer of secrets. It is thought, by many good critics, that this was the true meaning both in the Egyptian and Hebrew languages. It was common for princes to give their foreign domestics what name they pleased in the language of their own country; thus Darius gave Daniel the name of Belteshazzar.

Daughter of Poti-pherah;] Not that Potiphar, Gen. 39. 1. because it is not probable Joseph would have married the daughter of so unchaste a mother; but another and a greater person.

Priest of On.] A famous city of Egypt, called also Aven, Ezek. 30. 17. and afterwards, as some think, Heliopolis, now Damietta.

47. Brought forth by handfuls.] That is, an handful for every grain. Egypt was remarkably fruitful.

C H A P. XLII.

1 Jacob sendeth his ten sons to buy corn in Egypt.—16 They are imprisoned by Joseph for spies.—18 They are set at liberty, on condition of bringing Benjamin.—21 They have remorse for Joseph.—24 Simeon is kept for a pledge.—25 They return with corn and their money.—29 Their relation to Jacob.—36 Jacob refuseth to send Benjamin.

NOW when Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt, Jacob said unto his sons, Why do ye look one upon another?

2 And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is corn in Egypt: get ye down thither, and buy for us from thence; that we may live, and not die.

3 ¶ And Joseph's ten brethren went down to buy corn in Egypt.

4 But Benjamin, Joseph's brother, Jacob sent not with his brethren: for he said, Lest peradventure mischief befall him.

5 And the sons of Israel came to buy corn among those that came: for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

6 ¶ And Joseph was the governor over the land, and he it was that sold to all the people of the land: and Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him, with their faces to the earth.

7 And Joseph saw his brethren, and he knew them, but made himself strange unto them, and spake roughly unto them; and he said unto them, Whence come ye? and they said, From the land of Canaan, to buy food.

8 And Joseph knew his brethren, but they knew not him.

9 And Joseph remembered the dreams which he dreamed of them, and said unto them, Ye are spies; to see the nakedness of the land ye are come.

10 And they said unto him, Nay, my lord: but to buy food are thy servants come.

11 We are all one man's sons; we are true men, thy servants are no spies.

12 And he said unto them, Nay, but to see the nakedness of the land ye are come.

13 And they said, Thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan; and, behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one is not.

14 And Joseph said unto them, That is it that I spake unto you, saying, Ye are spies:

15 Hereby ye shall be proved: By the life of Pharaoh ye shall not go forth hence, except your youngest brother come hither.

16 Send one of you, and let him fetch your brother, and ye shall be kept in prison, that your words may be proved, whether there be any truth in you: or else, by the life of Pharaoh, surely ye are spies.

17 And he put them all together into ward three days.

18 And Joseph said unto them the third day, This do, and live; for I fear God:

19 If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in the house of your prison: go ye, carry corn for the famine of your houses:

20 But bring your youngest brother unto me; so shall your words be verified, and ye shall not die. And they did so.

21 ¶ And they said one to another, We are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul, when he besought us, and we would not hear; therefore is this distress come upon us.

22 And Reuben answered them, saying, Spake I not unto you, saying, Do not sin against the child; and ye would not hear? therefore, behold, also his blood is required.

23 And they knew not that Joseph understood them; for he spake unto them by an interpreter.

24 And he turned himself about from them, and wept; and returned to them again, and communed with them; and took from them Simeon, and bound him before their eyes.

25 ¶ Then Joseph commanded to fill their sacks with corn, and to restore every man's money into his sack, and to give them provision for the way: and thus did he unto them.

26 And they laded their asses with the corn, and departed thence.

27 And as one of them opened his sack, to give his ass provender in the inn, he espied his money: for, behold, it was in his sack's mouth.

28 And he said unto his brethren, My money is restored; and, lo, it is even in my sack: and their heart failed them, and they were afraid, saying one to another, What is this that God hath done unto us?

29 ¶ And they came unto Jacob their father unto the land of Canaan, and told him all that befell unto them, saying,

30 The man, who is the lord of the land, spake roughly to us, and took us for spies of the country.

31 And we said unto him, We are true men; we are no spies:

32 We be twelve brethren, sons of our father: one is not, and the youngest is this day with our father in the land of Canaan.

33 And the man, the lord of the country, said unto us, Hereby shall I know that ye are true men; leave one of your brethren here with me, and take food for the famine of your households, and be gone:

34 And bring your youngest brother unto me: then shall I know that ye are no spies, but that ye are true men: so will I deliver you your brother, and ye shall traffic in the land.

35 ¶ And it came to pass, as they emptied their sacks, that, behold, every man's bundle of money was in his sack: and when both they and their father saw the bundles of money, they were afraid.

36 And Jacob their father said unto them, Me have ye

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLII.

Verse 1. Why do ye look one upon another? i. e. Why are ye in doubt or distress how to act? Is there not corn in Egypt?

6. Bowed down themselves before him. Thus unwittingly fulfilling Joseph's dream.

7. Spake roughly unto them, &c. He treated them in this manner, in order to enhance their pleasure and delight when he should reveal himself to them, and the better to conceal himself from them. He knew them; but they could scarcely be supposed to recollect him, after so many years, and when disguised in such unexpected pomp and grandeur.

9. Ye are spies. This he saith, not because they were so, or he thought them to be so, but that he might search out the truth of the affair; speaking after the manner of a courtier and politician.

11. We are all one man's sons. And therefore not spies; for it is not likely either that a father would venture so many of his sons upon so arduous an employment, or that such a work would have been trusted in the hands of one family.

14. That is it that I spake unto you. This justifies my accusation; for it is not probable that one man should have so many sons, all grown up, and living together in one family, and that he should expose them all to the perils of such a journey.

15. By the life of Pharaoh. As sure as Pharaoh lives.

19. In the house of your prison, &c. i. e. In the place of your present confinement. But the words do not mean a prison, commonly so called:

nor does the word bound here signify loaded with fetters, but only kept in durance, and prevented from going away.

21. And they said one to another, &c. How beautifully does this represent to us the force and sting of a guilty conscience! The moment they heard this sentence, perceived themselves prisoners, and suspected of a capital crime, their cruelty to their innocent brother presented itself to their view in the blackest colours, and they concluded that God was now going to punish them as they deserved.

23. He spake unto them by an interpreter. Joseph doubtless did this in order to support an air of majesty, and at the same time to prevent his being discovered.

24. And wept. Tears partly of natural affection and compassion towards his brethren, now in great distress and anguish; and partly of joy, to see the happy success of his design, and rigorous carriage, in bringing them to the sight of their sins.

And took—Simeon. Whom he chuseth to punish, because next to Reuben he was the eldest, and, as it may be probably gathered from his bloody disposition, chap. 34. 25. and 49. 6. the most fierce and forward against Joseph, when Reuben was for milder counsels, as we see here, ver. 22. and chap. 37. 29.

28. Were afraid. Lest this should be a design to entrap, and so destroy them.

35. They were afraid. i. e. Their fear returned upon them with more violence, having now more leisure to consider things, and their wise and experienced father suggesting new matters to them, which might more deeply affect them.

36. And

ye bereaved of my children: Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away: all these things are against me.

37 And Reuben spake unto his father, saying, Slay my two sons, if I bring him not to thee; deliver him into my hand, and I will bring him to thee again.

38 And he said, My son shall not go down with you: for his brother is dead, and he is left alone; if mischief befall him by the way in the which ye go, then shall ye bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.

C H A P. XLIII.

1 Jacob is hardly persuaded to send Benjamin.—15 Joseph entertaineth his brethren.—31 maketh them a feast.

AND the famine was sore in the land.

2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

3 And Judah spake unto him, saying, The man did solemnly protest unto us, saying, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

4 If thou wilt send our brother with us, we will go down and buy thee food:

5 But if thou wilt not send him, we will not go down: for the man said unto us, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

6 And Israel said, Wherefore dealt ye so ill with me, as to tell the man whether ye had yet a brother?

7 And they said, The man asked us straitly of our state, and of our kindred, saying, Is your father yet alive? have ye another brother? and we told him according to the tenor of these words. Could we certainly know that he would say, Bring your brother down?

8 And Judah said unto Israel his father, Send the lad with me, and we will arise and go; that we may live, and not die, both we, and thou, and also our little ones.

9 I will be surety for him; of my hand shalt thou require him: if I bring him not unto thee, and set him before thee, then let me bear the blame for ever:

10 For except we had lingered, surely now we had returned this second time.

11 And their father Israel said unto them, If it must be so now, do this: Take of the best fruits in the land in your vessels, and carry down the man a present, a little balm, and a little honey, spices and myrrh, nuts and almonds:

12 And take double money in your hand: and the money that was brought again in the mouth of your sacks, carry it again in your hand; peradventure it was an oversight:

13 Take also your brother, and arise, go again unto the man:

14 And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, that he may send away your other brother, and Benjamin. If I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved:

15 ¶ And the men took that present, and they took double money in their hand, and Benjamin; and rose up, and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

36. And Simeon is not.] He gave him up for lost, as being, as he thought, in the power of a cruel enemy.

37. Slay my two sons, &c.] Reuben speaks this out of a passionate desire to overcome the doubts and fears of the good old man, and to make a more speedy provision for the family.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLIII.

Verse 3. And Judah spake unto him.] Reuben having spoken to him in vain, chap. 42. 37. and Levi, perhaps, not having recovered his interest with him since the barbarous action at Shechem, Judah, who was next in birth, now undertakes to argue the cause with his father.

8. Send the lad:] So he calls him, because he was the youngest of all, though he was now thirty years old, and a father of divers children; see chap. 30. 22. and 35. 18. and 41. 46. and 46. 21.

11. Take of the best fruits, &c.] i. e. Of those fruits that are most celebrated in the land of Canaan—Balm, the balm of Gilead—Honey, for which this country was famous, and which was in such esteem as to be thought a fit present for a king, 2 Sam. 17. 29.

12. And take double money, &c.] Jacob takes every necessary precaution to secure the return of his children; he sends presents of the most esteemed products of his country, and restores the money, which

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and made ready; for these men shall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade: and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house: and they said, Because of the money that was returned in our sacks at the first time are we brought in, that he may seek occasion against us, and fall upon us, and take us for bond-men, and our asses.

19 ¶ And they came near to the steward of Joseph's house, and they communed with him at the door of the house,

20 And said, O sir, we came indeed down at the first time to buy food:

21 And it came to pass, when we came to the inn, that we opened our sacks, and, behold, every man's money was in the mouth of his sack, our money in full weight: and we have brought it again in our hand.

22 And other money have we brought down in our hands to buy food: we cannot tell who put our money in our sacks.

23 And he said, Peace be to you, fear not: your God, and the God of your father, hath given you treasure in your sacks: I had your money. And he brought Simeon out unto them.

24 And the man brought the men into Joseph's house, and gave them water, and they washed their feet; and he gave their asses provender.

25 And they made ready the present against Joseph came at noon: for they heard that they should eat bread there.

26 ¶ And when Joseph came home, they brought him the present which was in their hand into the house, and bowed themselves to him to the earth.

27 And he asked them of their welfare, and said, Is your father well? the old man of whom ye spake, is he yet alive?

28 And they answered, Thy servant our father is in good health, he is yet alive. And they bowed down their heads, and made obeisance.

29 And he lifted up his eyes, and saw his brother Benjamin, his mother's son, and said, Is this your younger brother, of whom ye spake unto me? And he said, God be gracious unto thee, my son.

30 And Joseph made haste; for his bowels did yearn upon his brother; and he sought where to weep; and he entered into his chamber, and wept there.

31 And he washed his face, and went out, and refrained himself, and said, Set on bread.

32 And they set on for him by himself, and for them by themselves, and for the Egyptians which did eat with him by themselves: because the Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews; for that is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

33 And they sat before him, the first-born according to his birthright, and the youngest according to his youth: and the men marvelled one at another.

34 And

had been concealed in their sacks. Thus their generosity and honesty were to plead together for their deliverance.

14. If I be bereaved—I am bereaved.] An expression whereby he submits himself and children to God's will and providence, whatever the issue shall be. Compare Esther 4. 16.

18. And the men were afraid, &c.] They had been treated with before only as merchants at the granaries; they were therefore alarmed at being carried to Joseph's dwelling-house, and expected some ill treatment, on account of the money they found in their sacks.

19. To the steward, &c.] Their apprehensions were so great, that they could not wait till Joseph appeared, but began to interest his servant in their behalf, by telling him how they found the money in their sacks.

23. The God of your father.] Thus he speaks, because Joseph had instructed him, as well as others of his family, in the true religion.

29. My son.] So he calls him, not from special affection, which he intended not yet to discover, but because this appellation is commonly used when a man speaks to another who is his inferior in age or dignity.

32. Because the Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews.] From their superstition and idolatry; because they worshipped the creatures which the Hebrews and others did commonly eat.

34 And he took and sent messes unto them from before him: but Benjamin's mess was five times so much as any of theirs. And they drank, and were merry with him.

C H A P. XLIV.

Joseph's policy to stay his brethren.—14 Judah's humble supplication to Joseph.

AND he commanded the steward of his house, saying, Fill the men's sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put every man's money in his sack's mouth.

2 And put my cup, the silver cup, in the sack's mouth of the youngest, and his corn-money. And he did according to the word that Joseph had spoken.

3 As soon as the morning was light, the men were sent away, they and their asses.

4 And when they were gone out of the city, and not yet far off, Joseph said unto his steward, Up, follow after the men; and when thou dost overtake them, say unto them, Wherefore have ye rewarded evil for good?

5 Is not this it in which my lord drinketh, and whereby indeed he divineth? ye have done evil in so doing.

6 ¶ And he overtook them, and he spake unto them these same words.

7 And they said unto him, Wherefore saith my lord these words? God forbid that thy servants should do according to this thing:

8 Behold, the money which we found in our sacks' mouths, we brought again unto thee out of the land of Canaan: how then should we steal out of thy lord's house silver or gold?

9 With whomsoever of thy servants it be found, both let him die, and we also will be my lord's bond-men.

10 And he said, Now also let it be according unto your words: he with whom it is found shall be my servant, and ye shall be blameless.

11 Then they speedily took down every man his sack to the ground, and opened every man his sack.

12 And he searched, and began at the eldest, and left at the youngest: and the cup was found in Benjamin's sack.

13 Then they rent their clothes, and laded every man his ass, and returned to the city.

14 ¶ And Judah and his brethren came to Joseph's house; (for he was yet there;) and they fell before him on the ground.

15 And Joseph said unto them, What deed is this that ye have done? wot ye not that such a man as I can certainly divine?

16 And Judah said, What shall we say unto my lord? what shall we speak? or how shall we clear ourselves? God hath found out the iniquity of thy servants: behold, we are my lord's servants, both we, and he also with whom the cup is found.

17 And he said, God forbid that I should do so: but the man in whose hand the cup is found, he shall be my servant; and as for you, get ye up in peace unto your father.

18 ¶ Then Judah came near unto him, and said, Oh, my lord, let thy servant, I pray thee, speak a word in my lord's ears, and let not thine anger burn against thy servant? for thou art even as Pharaoh.

19 My lord asked his servants, saying, Have ye a father, or a brother?

20 And we said unto my lord, We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one; and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him.

21 And thou saidst unto thy servants, Bring him down unto me, that I may set mine eyes upon him.

22 And we said unto my lord, The lad cannot leave his father: for if he should leave his father, his father would die.

23 And thou saidst unto thy servants, Except your youngest brother come down with you, ye shall see my face no more.

24 And it came to pass, when we came up unto thy servant my father, we told him the words of my lord.

25 And our father said, Go again, and buy us a little food.

26 And we said, We cannot go down: if our youngest brother be with us, then will we go down; for we may not see the man's face, except our youngest brother be with us.

27 And thy servant my father said unto us, Ye know that my wife bare me two sons:

28 And the one went out from me, and I said, Surely he is torn in pieces: and I saw him not since.

29 And if ye take this also from me, and mischief befall him, ye shall bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.

30 Now, therefore, when I come to thy servant my father, and the lad be not with us; (seeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life;)

31 It shall come to pass, when he seeth that the lad is not with us, that he will die: and thy servant shall bring down the gray hairs of thy servant our father with sorrow to the grave.

32 For thy servant became surety for the lad unto my father, saying, If I bring him not unto thee, then I shall bear the blame to my father for ever.

33 Now, therefore, I pray thee, let thy servant abide instead of the lad a bond-man to my lord; and let the lad go up with his brethren.

34 For how shall I go up to my father, and the lad be not with me? lest peradventure I see the evil that shall come on my father.

C H A P. XLV.

1 Joseph maketh himself known to his brethren:—5 he comforteth them in God's providence:—9 he sendeth for his father.—18 Pharaoh confirmeth it:—21 Joseph furnisheth them for their journey, and exhorteth them to concord.—27 Jacob is revived with the news.

34. Sent messes.] It was the ancient custom of Egypt and other countries in their feasts, that all the meat was not promiscuously set before all the company, but distributed by the master of the feast to the several guests.

But Benjamin's mess was five times, &c.] Partly because of his nearer relation and dearer affection to him, and partly to observe whether this would raise that envy in them towards him, which was the occasion of their malicious enterprise against himself, that he might accordingly provide for his security.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLIV.

Verse 2. Put my cup.] By this stratagem Joseph probably intended no more than to find a specious pretext for detaining Benjamin, being ignorant of the peremptory charge which Jacob had given with regard to this favourite son.

5. Whereby indeed he divineth.] Amongst the several kinds of divination in use among the Egyptians and other heathens, this was one, to do it by a cup or bason, which they filled with water, and put in them plates of silver, or precious stones, in which certain characters were engraven, by which, and some words they used, they called upon the devil, who gave them answer. Joseph did not use this course, nor was a diviner; but the people thought him such a one, and the steward might represent him as such, for the better covering or carrying on his design.

No. 4.

9. Both let him die, and we also, &c.] This incautious offer proceeded from hence, that they were all conscious of their own innocency, and did not suspect any fraud or artifice in the matter.

13. Returned to the city.] Being afraid and ashamed to go to their father without Benjamin, concerning whom they had received so severe a charge, and made such solemn imprecations.

15. Wot ye not, &c.] Here Joseph speaks to them as an Egyptian, being willing still to disguise himself to them; and asks them, according to the superstition of his supposed country, whether they did not think that such a man as he could find them out?

16. And Judah said.] Who speaks in the cause, as being one of the eldest, and a person of most gravity and discretion, and readiness of speech, and most eminently concerned for his brother.

18. Thou art even as Pharaoh.] As thou representest his person, so thou art invested with his majesty and authority, and therefore thy word is a law.

34. Lest peradventure I see the evil, &c.] Here Judah acts the part both of a faithful brother and dutiful son, who rather than behold the misery of his father, in case Benjamin should be left behind, submits to become a bond-man in his stead. And indeed the whole of his speech is so tender and affecting, that no wonder it came home to Joseph's heart, and rendered it impossible to conceal himself any longer.

ANNO-

THEN Joseph could not refrain himself before all them that stood by him ; and he cried, Cause every man to go out from me. And there stood no man with him, while Joseph made himself known unto his brethren.

2 And he wept aloud ; and the Egyptians and the house of Pharaoh heard.

3 And Joseph said unto his brethren, I am Joseph : doth my father yet live ? And his brethren could not answer him ; for they were troubled at his presence.

4 And Joseph said unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you : and they came near. And he said, I am Joseph your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt.

5 Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourselves that ye sold me hither : for God did send me before you to preserve life.

6 For these two years both the famine been in the land : and yet there are five years, in the which there shall neither be earing nor harvest.

7 And God sent me before you, to preserve you a posterity in the earth, and to save your lives by a great deliverance.

8 So now it was not you that sent me hither, but God : and he hath made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt.

9 Haste you, and go up to my father, and say unto him, Thus saith thy son Joseph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt ; come down unto me, tarry not ;

10 And thou shalt dwell in the land of Goshen, and thou shalt be near unto me, thou and thy children, and thy children's children, and thy flocks, and thy herds, and all that thou hast :

11 And there will I nourish thee, (for yet there are five years of famine,) lest thou, and thy household, and all that thou hast, come to poverty.

12 And, behold, your eyes see, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin, that it is my mouth that speaketh unto you.

13 And ye shall tell my father of all my glory in Egypt, and of all that ye have seen ; and ye shall haste, and bring down my father hither.

14 And he fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck, and wept ; and Benjamin wept upon his neck.

15 Moreover, he kissed all his brethren, and wept upon them : and after that, his brethren talked with him.

16 ¶ And the fame thereof was heard in Pharaoh's house, saying, Joseph's brethren are come : and it pleased Pharaoh well, and his servants.

17 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Say unto thy brethren, This do ye ; lade your beasts, and go, get you unto the land of Canaan ;

18 And take your father, and your households, and come unto me : and I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and ye shall eat the fat of the land.

19 Now thou art commanded, this do ye ; Take your waggons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones, and for your wives, and bring your father, and come.

20 Also regard not your stuff ; for the good of all the land of Egypt is yours.

21 ¶ And the children of Israel did so : and Joseph gave them waggons, according to the commandment of Pharaoh, and gave them provision for the way.

22 To all of them he gave each man changes of raiment ; but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver, and five changes of raiment.

23 And to his father he sent after this manner : ten asses laden with the good things of Egypt, and ten she-asses laden with corn and bread, and meat for his father by the way.

24 So he sent his brethren away, and they departed : and he said unto them, See that ye fall not out by the way.

25 ¶ And they went up out of Egypt, and came into the land of Canaan unto Jacob their father, 26 And told him, saying, Joseph is yet alive, and he is governor over all the land of Egypt. And Jacob's heart fainted, for he believed them not.

27 And they told him all the words of Joseph, which he had said unto them : and when he saw the waggons which Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of Jacob their father revived.

28 And Israel said, It is enough : Joseph my son is yet alive : I will go and see him before I die.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLV.

Verse 1. Cause every man to go out from me ;] Which he did, partly that he might maintain the honour of his place, and not make himself cheap and contemptible to the Egyptians by his excessive tears and passions, and by his free, familiar, and affectionate converse with his brethren ; and partly to preserve the reputation of his brethren, by concealing their fault from the Egyptians.

3. Doth my father yet live ?] He repeats his former question, chap. 43. 27. because he now desired a more particular relation of his father's condition, and how he did bear up under all his calamities.

They were troubled.] From a sudden and deep sense of their horrid guilt, and their just fear of some dreadful punishment.

5. Now therefore be not grieved, &c.] Nothing can more strongly mark the sweetness of the disposition of Joseph than this speech to his brethren, who had so cruelly treated him. He not only kindly entreats them to give themselves no uneasiness for what was past, but generously attributes their conduct to the will of Providence, who by their means had so ordered matters, that himself should provide for them and their families ; and, from a temporary evil, produce a lasting and permanent good.

6. There shall neither be earing nor harvest ;] Neither sowing nor reaping.

9. Haste ye, and go up to my father, &c.] In the character of Joseph we see the utmost duty and affection as a son, as well as tenderness as a brother. After enjoying the exquisite pleasure of revealing himself to his brethren, forgiving and comforting them, he desires them to return as quick as possible to his father, to put him out of his pain for their safety ; and rejoice his heart, by acquainting him with his own power and ability to provide for his own family. A good heart cannot but feel the beauty of this man's character, and sympathize with him through the whole of his conduct.

10. In the land of Goshen.] A part of Egypt bordering upon Canaan, well watered and fit for cattle, and therefore most proper for the Israelites.

17. And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, &c.] Though Joseph, doubtless, deserved every acknowledgment and favour at the hand of the king his master, and Pharaoh was, perhaps, pleased with this opportunity of rewarding his wise administration of the public affairs, yet, when we consider the vast consequences which follow this first introduction of the Israelites into Egypt, we cannot help seeing the finger of God, and an ample display of his prescience and providence in the ordering of the whole affair.

21. And the children of Israel did so, &c.] Here the sons of Jacob are called the children of Israel ; and from that time, throughout the Jewish history, that nation retained the appellation. The reason of the name of Israel being given to Jacob, is related in chap. 32. 28.

24. See that ye fall not out ;] Or contend, one with another, each vindicating himself, and laying the blame upon his brother, for the cruelty they had exercised towards him.

26. And Jacob's heart fainted,] Though he believed them not. The transport of joy, which suddenly rushed upon him, was too impetuous to be resisted, though for the present the story seemed quite improbable.

28. It is enough ;] I desire no more, no greater happiness in this world, than to see him ; which when I have done, I am willing to die.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLVI.

Verse 1. The God of his father Isaac.] He mentions Isaac rather than Abraham, partly to shew, that though Isaac was much inferior to Abraham in gifts and graces, yet God was no less Isaac's than Abraham's God ; and partly, because Isaac was Jacob's immediate parent, and had transferred the blessing of the covenant from Esau to Jacob.

3. Fear not to go down into Egypt.] Upon several accounts Jacob might be afraid to go into Egypt, especially with his whole family ; for which see chap. 12. 15.—15. 13.—26. 2.—43. 32.

4. Put his hand upon thine eyes.] Shall close thy eyes ; which office was usually performed by the nearest and dearest relations of the dying party among the Jews, Greeks, and Romans.

ENGRAV'D FOR NUTTALLS' FAMILY BIBLE 1806.

sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the waggons which Pharaoh had sent to carry him.

6 And they took their cattle, and their goods, which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob, and all his seed with him:

7 His sons, and his sons' sons with him, his daughters, and his sons' daughters, and all his seed, brought he with him into Egypt.

8 ¶ And these are the names of the children of Israel, which came into Egypt, Jacob and his sons; Reuben, Jacob's first-born.

9 And the sons of Reuben; Hanoch, and Phallu, and Hezron, and Carmi.

10 ¶ And the sons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanitish woman.

11 ¶ And the sons of Levi; Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

12 ¶ And the sons of Judah; Er, and Onan, and Shelah, and Pharez, and Zarah; but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And the sons of Pharez were Hezron and Hamul.

13 ¶ And the sons of Issachar; Tola, and Phuvah, and Job, and Shimron.

14 ¶ And the sons of Zebulun; Sered, and Elon, and Jahleel.

15 These be the sons of Leah, which she bare unto Jacob in Padan-aram, with his daughter Dinah: all the souls of his sons and his daughters were thirty and three.

16 ¶ And the sons of Gad; Ziphion, and Haggi, Shuni, and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli.

17 ¶ And the sons of Asher; Jimnah, and Ishuah, and Isui, and Beriah, and Serah their sister: and the sons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel.

18 These are the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter; and these she bare unto Jacob, even sixteen souls.

19 ¶ The sons of Rachel, Jacob's wife; Joseph and Benjamin.

20 And unto Joseph, in the land of Egypt, were born Manasseh and Ephraim, which Asenath, the daughter of Poti-pherah priest of On, bare unto him.

21 ¶ And the sons of Benjamin were Belah, and Becher, and Ashbel, Gera, and Naaman, Ehi, and Rosh, Muppim, and Huppim, and Ard.

22 These are the sons of Rachel, which were born to Jacob: all the souls were fourteen.

23 ¶ And the sons of Dan; Hushim.

24 ¶ And the sons of Naphtali: Jahzeel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shillem.

25 These are the sons of Bilhah, which Laban gave unto Rachel his daughter; and she bare these unto Jacob: all the souls were seven.

26 All the souls that came with Jacob into Egypt, which came out of his loins, besides Jacob's sons' wives, all the souls were threescore and six.

27 And the sons of Joseph, which were born him in Egypt, were two souls: all the souls of the house of Jacob, which came into Egypt, were threescore and ten.

28 ¶ And he sent Judah before them unto Joseph, to direct his face unto Goshen: and they came into the land of Goshen.

29 And Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet Israel his father to Goshen, and presented himself unto him: and he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while.

30 And Israel said unto Joseph, Now let me die, since I have seen thy face, because thou art yet alive.

31 ¶ And Joseph said unto his brethren, and unto his father's house, I will go up, and shew Pharaoh, and say unto him, My brethren, and my father's house, which were in the land of Canaan, are come unto me:

32 And the men are shepherds, for their trade hath been to feed cattle: and they have brought their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have.

33 And it shall come to pass, when Pharaoh shall call you, and shall say, What is your occupation?

34 That ye shall say, Thy servants' trade hath been about cattle, from our youth even until now, both we, and also our fathers; that ye may dwell in the land of Goshen: for every shepherd is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 Joseph presenteth five of his brethren—7 and his father before Pharaoh:—11 he giveth them habitation and maintenance:—13 he getteth all the Egyptians' money—16 their cattle—18 their lands, for Pharaoh:—22 The priests' land was not bought.—23 He letteth the land to them for a fifth part.—28 Jacob's age.—29 He sweareth Joseph to bury him with his fathers.

THEN Joseph came and told Pharaoh, and said, My father and my brethren, and their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have, are come out of the land of Canaan; and, behold, they are in the land of Goshen.

2 And he took some of his brethren, even five men, and presented them unto Pharaoh.

3 And Pharaoh said unto his brethren, What is your occupation? and they said unto Pharaoh, Thy servants are shepherds, both we, and also our fathers.

4 They said moreover unto Pharaoh, For to sojourn in the land are we come; for thy servants have no pasture for their flocks, for the famine is sore in the land of Canaan: now therefore, we pray thee, let thy servants dwell in the land of Goshen.

5 And Pharaoh spake unto Joseph, saying, Thy father and thy brethren are come unto thee:

6 The land of Egypt is before thee: in the best of the land make thy father and brethren to dwell; in the land of Goshen let them dwell: and if thou knowest any men of activity among them, then make them rulers over my cattle.

7 And Joseph brought in Jacob his father, and set him before Pharaoh: and Jacob blessed Pharaoh.

8 And Pharaoh said unto Jacob, How old art thou?

9 And Jacob said unto Pharaoh, The days of the years of my pilgrimage are an hundred and thirty years: few and evil have the days of the years of my life been, and have not attained unto the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimage.

10 And Jacob blessed Pharaoh, and went out from before Pharaoh.

11 ¶ And Joseph placed his father and his brethren, and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses, as Pharaoh had commanded.

12 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLVII.

Verse 4. The famine is sore in the land of Canaan;] Which being higher ground than Egypt, and watered in a manner only by rain from heaven, must needs sooner and sorer feel the effects of a drought and scarcity than Egypt, which had relief from the Nile in that kind.

7. Blessed Pharaoh;] i. e. Wished him health, prosperity, or happiness.

9. Of my pilgrimage.] So life in general is considered in the beautiful language of scripture, 1 Pet. 2. 11. but Jacob might with peculiar reason call his life a pilgrimage, as he had been tossed from place to place almost his whole life-time. We are likewise warranted by the apostle to explain this as pointing to a future life; for the patriarchs lived in the firm faith and expectation of a heavenly and eternal world, and therefore confessed themselves pilgrims and strangers upon earth, Heb. 11. 9—13.

14. Gathered

7. His daughters,] Either, his daughter Dinah, the plural number being put for the singular, as ver. 23. or Dinah and her daughters.

21. Ehi, and Rosh, &c.] Whereof part seem to be born before his coming to Egypt, and part in Egypt, Benjamin being now but twenty and four years old.

26. All the souls—were threescore and six.] So many they are, excluding Jacob as the common parent, and Joseph and his two sons, as being in Egypt before Jacob's coming thither; which four being included, they make up seventy, as it is, ver. 27.

28. To direct his face unto Goshen;] i. e. To shew him where it was, and into what part he should come and settle himself.

30. Now let me die:] Now I expect no greater happiness upon earth, and therefore am content to die.

34. Every shepherd is an abomination unto the Egyptians;] Because they did both kill and eat those creatures which the Egyptians adored.

12 And Joseph nourished his father, and his brethren, and all his father's household, with bread, according to their families.

13 ¶ And there was no bread in all the land; for the famine was very sore, so that the land of Egypt, and all the land of Canaan, fainted by reason of the famine.

14 And Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and Joseph brought the money into Pharaoh's house.

15 And when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came unto Joseph, and said, Give us bread: for why should we die in thy presence? for the money faileth.

16 And Joseph said, Give your cattle; and I will give you for your cattle, if money fail.

17 And they brought their cattle unto Joseph: and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for horses, and for the flocks, and for the cattle of the herds, and for the asses; and he fed them with bread, for all their cattle, for that year.

18 When that year was ended, they came unto him the second year, and said unto him, We will not hide it from my lord, how that our money is spent; my lord also hath our herds of cattle; there is not ought left in the sight of my lord, but our bodies and our lands:

19 Wherefore shall we die before thine eyes, both we and our land? buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be servants unto Pharaoh: and give us seed, that we may live and not die, that the land be not desolate.

20 And Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for the Egyptians sold every man his field, because the famine prevailed over them: so the land became Pharaoh's.

21 And as for the people, he removed them to cities from one end of the borders of Egypt even to the other end thereof.

22 Only the land of the priests bought he not: for the priests had a portion assigned them of Pharaoh, and did eat their portion which Pharaoh gave them: wherefore they sold not their lands.

23 ¶ Then Joseph said unto the people, Behold, I have bought you this day, and your land, for Pharaoh: lo, here is seed for you, and ye shall sow the land.

24 And it shall come to pass in the increase, that ye shall give the fifth part unto Pharaoh, and four parts shall be your own, for seed of the field, and for your food, and for them of your households, and for food for your little ones.

25 And they said, Thou hast saved our lives: let us find grace in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's servants.

26 And Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day, that Pharaoh should have the fifth part; except the land of the priests only, which became not Pharaoh's.

14. Gathered up all the money—for the corn which they bought.] Wherein he did no more than any of the subjects might have done: he bought great store of corn in the plentiful years with the king's money, and kept it till a time of famine, and sold it at a rate which was agreeable to the season.

18. The second year.] From their great extremity: the second year, after that last mentioned, wherein they had sold their cattle; for this seems to have been the last year of the famine, because he now gives them corn for food and for seed too, ver. 23. whereas in the first six years there was neither sowing nor reaping, chap. 45. 6.

19. Servants unto Pharaoh.] Pharaoh shall be the sole proprietor, and we are content to be his tenants, to manage it for his use.

20. All the land of Egypt.] i. e. All except the king's land and that of his priests, who had great influence and authority at the court.

24. Four parts shall be your own.] Whereas he might have reserved four parts to Pharaoh, and have allowed them only the fifth. Herein he shewed both his humanity and his kindness, in mitigating that hard bargain which themselves had been necessitated to make, and his prudence in winning the hearts of the people to the king, and making them pay their tribute for the future with more cheerfulness.

29. Put—thy hand under my thigh.] i. e. Swear to me. He requires this, not out of any distrust of Joseph's promise, but partly as a more solemn protestation of his right to the possession of the promised land; and partly to give Joseph an argument and excuse to Pharaoh, that he might more willingly permit Joseph to fulfil his father's desire, because of his own oath.

27 ¶ And Israel dwelt in the land of Egypt, in the country of Goshen; and they had possessions therein, and grew, and multiplied exceedingly.

28 ¶ And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years: so the whole age of Jacob was an hundred forty and seven years.

29 And the time drew nigh that Israel must die: and he called his son Joseph, and said unto him, If now I have found grace in thy sight, put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh, and deal kindly and truly with me; bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt:

30 But I will lie with my fathers, and thou shalt carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burying-place. And he said, I will do as thou hast said.

31 And he said, Swear unto me: and he sware unto him. And Israel bowed himself upon the bed's head.

C H A P. XLVIII.

1 Joseph with his sons visiteth his sick father:—2 Jacob strengtheneth himself to bless them:—3 He repeateth the promise:—5 He taketh Ephraim and Manasseh as his own:—7 He telleth Joseph of his mother's grave.—9 He blesseth Ephraim and Manasseh.—17 He preferreth the younger before the elder.—21 He prophesieth their return to Canaan.

AND it came to pass, after these things, that one told Joseph, Behold, thy father is sick: and he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim.

2 And one told Jacob, and said, Behold, thy son Joseph cometh unto thee: and Israel strengthened himself, and sat upon the bed.

3 ¶ And Jacob said unto Joseph, God Almighty appeared unto me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and blessed me,

4 And said unto me, Behold, I will make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, and I will make of thee a multitude of people; and will give this land to thy seed after thee, for an everlasting possession.

5 ¶ And now thy two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, which were born unto thee in the land of Egypt, before I came unto thee into Egypt, are mine: as Reuben and Simeon, they shall be mine.

6 And thy issue, which thou begettest after them, shall be thine, and shall be called after the name of their brethren in their inheritance.

7 ¶ And as for me, when I came from Padan, Rachel died by me in the land of Canaan, in the way, when yet there was but a little way to come unto Ephrath: and I buried her there in the way of Ephrath, the same is Beth-lehem.

8 ¶ And Israel beheld Joseph's sons, and said, Who are these?

9 And Joseph said unto his father, They are my sons, whom God hath given me in this place. And he said, Bring them, I pray thee, unto me, and I will bless them.

10 (Now

30. I will lie with my fathers.] Which he desired, not so much for himself, (as knowing that wherever he was buried he should rise to glory,) as for his children, to shew his own, and confirm their faith in God's promise of Canaan; to discover his high valuation of that land, not only for itself, but as it was a type and pledge of the heavenly inheritance.

31. Bowed himself upon the bed's head.] In the Septuagint translation these words are rendered, He worshipped upon, or leaned upon, the top of his staff; which reading the apostle to the Hebrews, (chap. 11. 21.) has adopted.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLVIII.

Verse 2. Israel strengthened himself.] He got new strength, his spirits being quickened and refreshed by the tidings of Joseph's approach, and he put forth all the strength which he had.

5. Are mine.] I shall own them as if they were my immediate children, and each of them shall have equal share, both in my present estate and future inheritance of Canaan, with the rest of my children. Thus Jacob transfers the double portion, which was the right of the first-born, from which Reuben by his transgression fell, chap. 49. 4. upon Joseph, 1 Chron. 5. 1.

6. Shall be thine.] Shall be reputed as thy children, and shall not have any distinct share in my present or future inheritance, but shall have a part of their brethren's lot, in such manner and proportion as thou shalt think fit, or as their succeeding parents shall determine.

12. Brought

10 (Now the eyes of Israel were dim for age; so that he could not see.) And he brought them near unto him; and he kissed them, and embraced them.

11 And Israel said unto Joseph, I had not thought to see thy face; and, lo, God hath shewed me also thy seed.

12 And Joseph brought them out from between his knees, and he bowed himself with his face to the earth.

13 And Joseph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand toward Israel's left hand, and Manasseh in his left hand toward Israel's right hand, and brought them near unto him.

14 And Israel stretched out his right hand, and laid it upon Ephraim's head, who was the younger, and his left hand upon Manasseh's head, guiding his hands wittingly: for Manasseh was the first-born.

15 ¶ And he blessed Joseph, and said, God, before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac did walk, the God which fed me all my life long unto this day,

16 The Angel which redeemed me from all evil, bless the lads; and let my name be named on them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac: and let them grow into a multitude in the midst of the earth.

17 And when Joseph saw that his father laid his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, it displeased him: and he held up his father's hand, to remove it from Ephraim's head unto Manasseh's head.

18 And Joseph said unto his father, Not so, my father: for this is the first-born; put thy right hand upon his head.

19 And his father refused, and said, I know it, my son, I know it; he also shall become a people, and he also shall be great: but truly his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall become a multitude of nations.

20 And he blessed them that day, saying, In thee shall Israel bless, saying, God make thee as Ephraim and as Manasseh: and he set Ephraim before Manasseh.

21 And Israel said unto Joseph, Behold, I die; but God shall be with you, and bring you again unto the land of your fathers.

22 Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above thy brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my sword and with my bow.

C H A P. XLIX.

1 Jacob calleth his sons to bless them:—3 Their blessing in particular:—29 He chargeth them about his burial:—33 He dieth.

AND Jacob called unto his sons, and said, Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days.

2 Gather yourselves together, and hear, ye sons of Jacob; and hearken unto Israel your father.

3 ¶ Reuben, thou art my first-born, my might, and the beginning of my strength, the excellency of dignity, and the excellency of power:

4 Unstable as water, thou shalt not excel; because thou wentest up to thy father's bed, then defiledst thou it: he went up to my couch.

5 ¶ Simeon and Levi are brethren: instruments of cruelty are in their habitations.

6 O my soul, come not thou into their secret; unto their assembly, mine honour, be not thou united: for in their anger they slew a man, and in their self-will they digged down a wall.

7 Cursed be their anger, for it was fierce: and their wrath, for it was cruel: I will divide them in Jacob, and scatter them in Israel.

8 ¶ Judah, thou art he whom thy brethren shall praise; thy hand shall be in the neck of thine enemies: thy father's children shall bow down before thee.

9 Judah is a lion's whelp: from the prey, my son, thou art gone up: he stooped down, he couched as a lion, and as an old lion; who shall rouse him up?

10 The sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come: and unto him shall the gathering of the people be.

11 Binding

12. Brought them out from between his knees.] Not his own knees, from which they had been taken before, but Jacob's knees, between which they stood whilst Jacob kissed and embraced them.

14. Guiding his hands wittingly.] He foresaw Ephraim's advantages above Manasseh, and wisely suited the ceremony to the substance, giving the greater sign of honour to him to whom God designed the thing.

16. The Angel which redeemed me;] Not surely a created angel, but Christ Jesus, who is called an angel, Exod. 23. 20. and the Angel of the covenant, Mat. 3. 1. who was the conductor of the Israelites in the wilderness, as plainly appears by comparing Exod. 22. 20, 21. with 1 Cor. 10. 4, 9. Add hereunto, that this angel is called Jacob's Redeemer, which is the title appropriated by God to himself, Isa. 43. 14. and 47. 4. and that from all evil, and therefore from sin, from which no created angel can deliver us, but Christ only, Matt. 1. 21. and that Jacob worshippeth and prayeth to this angel no less than to God himself for the blessing.

19. His younger brother shall be greater than he;] So the tribe of Ephraim was, both in number, Numb. 1. 32, 33, 35. and 2. 19, 21. and Deut. 33. 17. and in power and privileges; for that tribe was the seat, first of the tabernacle, and afterwards of the kingdom.

20. In thee shall Israel bless.] That is, these two tribes shall be so eminent and prosperous, that it shall become a proverbial form among my posterity to say, God make you as happy as Ephraim and Manasseh.

22. One portion above thy brethren, which I took, &c.] By this it seems most reasonable to understand that parcel of ground near Shechem which Jacob purchased of Hamor, chap. 33. 19. and which he recovered by force of arms from the Amorites, who, it seems, had seized on it after his removal to another part of Canaan, chap. 35. 1. For we find this place of Shechem was the inheritance of Joseph's sons, Josh. 17. 1, &c. and it is mentioned as the parcel of ground which Jacob gave to Joseph, John 4. 5. and thither were Joseph's bones carried out of Egypt and buried, Josh. 24. 32.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XLIX.

Verse 1. In the last days;] Or, in the following times, when you shall enter into, and be settled in, the land of promise.

3. Reuben, &c.] The prophetic spirit now coming upon Jacob, exalts his style, as well as his ideas, and makes him deliver his benedictions in a strain more sublime than usual, as it did Moses also, Deut. 33.

4. Unstable as water;] i. e. Thy posterity shall be unstable, or unsettled, flitting and vanishing, coming to nothing, or poured forth like water, useless, contemptible, and weak. Such indeed was the state of that tribe, of which we read nothing eminent in scripture.

No. 5.

He went up to my couch.] In our version this is an apostrophe, where-in Jacob, with indignation of the fact, turns from Reuben, and addresses himself to his other sons. This is one of the many beauties in writing with which this chapter abounds.

5. Brethren;] Not only by nature, but in iniquity; of like cruel and bloody disposition, confederate in the same wicked design, Gen. 34. 25.

6. Come not thou into their secret,] Or counsel, or company, as the word is used, Psa. 64. 2. Jer. 15. 17. i. e. do not partake with them in their secret and wicked designs; or, O my soul, thou wast not in their secret.

7. I will divide them.] Prophets are said to do what they foretell that God will do, as Jeremy is said to root out and pull down kingdoms, Jer. 1. 10. and Ezekiel to destroy the city, Ezek. 43. 3.

8. Whom thy brethren shall praise.] Judah excelled the rest in warlike exploits abroad, and in temporal and spiritual blessings at home.

9. Judah is a lion's whelp, &c.] The patriarch now illustrates what he had said before by similes, comparing Judah to a lion's whelp, a lion, and an old lion, to express the beginning, increase, and full growth, of the power of that tribe.

Thou art gone up.] He alludes to lions, which usually dwell in mountains, as divers writers observe, and come down to prey in the vallies, and when they have got their prey, they go up to their habitations.

10. From between his feet;] From his posterity.

Shiloh.] This word is variously rendered; but all interpreters agree in this, that the Messiah is here designed.

Unto him shall the gathering, &c.] The sum of this verse is, The sceptre or dominion shall be seated in the tribe of Judah, though he doth not determine when it shall come thither; but when once it shall come, it shall not depart from thence till the Messiah come; and then Judah shall lose his sceptre and other privileges, and the Gentiles shall come into the place of the Jews, and shall embrace that Messiah whom they shall reject. So now here is an undeniable argument to prove, against the Jews, that the Messiah is already come, and that the Lord Jesus Christ is he, because he was to come during the time wherein the sceptre was in the hands of Judah; and about that time when Jesus Christ came, the sceptre was taken away from Judah and the Jews, and hath now been lost for eighteen hundred years together. The Jews are mightily perplexed and confounded with this argument; one evidence whereof is their various and contradictory expositions of this place; whilst some of them affirm this Shiloh to be Moses; others, Saul; others, Jeroboam; others, Nebuchadnezzar; which neither need nor deserve confutation: others, David; which, though some of the acutest of the Jewish doctors assert, is as contemptible as any of the rest, it being ridiculous to say the sceptre departed from Judah, under him by whom it first came into that tribe, having been till David's time in other tribes.

17 Dan shall be a serpent by the way, an adder in the path, that biteth the horse-heels, so that his rider shall fall backward.

18 I have waited for thy salvation, O LORD.

19 ¶ Gad, a troop shall overcome him: but he shall overcome at the last.

But the great difficulty is, how this was accomplished; for if the event fully agrees with this prophecy, the cause of the Jews is lost, and Christ must be crowned as the true Messias. The sceptre was for a time in other tribes, as in Moses of the tribe of Levi, in divers of the Judges, who were of several tribes, and lastly in the tribe of Benjamin, under Saul; but the sceptre departed from all these. But this is prophesied as Judah's privilege, that when once the sceptre, or government, came into that tribe, which it did in David's time, it should not depart from it till Christ came, and then it should depart. And thus it came to pass. Concerning the time from David unto the captivity of Babylon there is no dispute, there being a constant succession of kings in that tribe all that time. For the time of the Babylonish captivity, wherein there may seem to be more difficulty, it is to be considered, 1. That the sceptre, or government, was not lost or departed from Judah, but only interrupted, and that but for seventy years at most, which in so long a space of time as above a thousand years, is little to be regarded; as none will say the kingdom was departed from the house of David, because of those inter-regnums or interruptions which sometimes fell out in that family. Add to this, that God had given them an absolute promise and assured hope of the restoration of Judah's sceptre; so that this was rather a sleep, than the death of that government. 2. That within these seventy years there were some remains and beams of Judah's sovereignty in Jehoiachin, 2 Kings 25. 27. in Daniel, who was of that tribe, Dan. 2. 25. and 5. 13. and of the king's seed, Dan. 1. 3. and in the successive heads or governors of the exiles, of whom the Jewish writers say so much; and they affirm that they were always of the house of David, and were more honourable than the governors of the Jews which were left in the land of Israel. 3. All that was then left of the sceptre of the Jews was in the tribe of Judah; nor was the sceptre departed from Judah to any other tribe; and it is here signified, that the power and dominion which was in Judah, when once it came thither, should not shift from tribe to tribe, as it had done, but, whilst there was any sceptre or supreme government among the Jews, it should be in that tribe, even till the coming of the Messias. But if there should happen any total, but temporary, intercession or cessation of the government among all the tribes, which now was the case, that was no prejudice to the truth of this promise, nor to the privilege granted to Judah above the rest of the tribes. After the captivity, the state of the Jews was very various. Sometimes they had governors put in by the Persian king, as Zorobabel, who was also of the tribe of Judah, and, as it is supposed, nephew of Jehoiachin; and Nehemiah, whom Eusebius affirms to have been of the tribe of Judah. And though he may seem to be numbered among the priests, Nehem. 10. 8. yet a diligent reader will find that he is even there distinguished from them by his title, the Tirshatha, ver. 1. and the word priests, ver. 8. relates only to the rest there mentioned besides him; especially if this be compared with chap. 9. 38. where the princes (among whom surely Nehemiah was the chief) are distinguished from the priests. And sometimes the people chose governors, or captain-generals, as the Maccabees and others. But under all their vicissitudes, after their return from Babylon, the chief government was evidently and unquestionably seated in the great council called Sanhedrim, or Synedrium, wherein, though some of the tribe of Levi were mixed with those of the tribe of Judah, yet because they, together with other members of that council, had their power both from that tribe by which they were chosen, and in it, and for it, the sceptre did truly remain in the tribe of Judah. If it be said that the power of this council was in a great measure taken away, which the Jews confess, John 18. 31. and that the sceptre of Judah was in the hands of the Romans, and by them given to Herod, who was no Jew, but an Idumean, and this before the coming of the Messias, which is the only remaining difficulty; to this many things may be said: 1. That this happened but a few years before the coming of Christ, when Christ was even at the doors, and about to come, and therefore might well be said to be come; especially in the prophetic style, whereby things are oft said to be done, which are near doing. 2. That the Jewish senators had a long struggle with Herod about the government, and did not yield it up to him till his last year, when they took an oath of fealty to him, which was after Christ was born. Nor, indeed, was the sceptre quite gone from them then; for that council still had the power, though not of life and death, yet of civil and ecclesiastical matters: see John 18. 31. so that, if the sceptre

22 ¶ Joseph is a fruitful bough, even a fruitful bough by a well, whose branches run over the wall:

23 The archers have sorely grieved him, and shot at him, and hated him:

24 But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob: (from thence is the Shepherd, the stone of Israel:)

25 Even by the God of thy father, who shall help thee, and by the Almighty, who shall bless thee with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that lieth under, blessings of the breasts and of the womb:

26 The blessings of thy father have prevailed above the blessings of my progenitors unto the utmost bound of the everlasting hills; they shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brethren.

27 ¶ Benjamin was gone, the lawgiver remained still. Nor was their government and commonwealth quite destroyed, until the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus.

11. Binding his foal unto the vine, &c.] By this expression the great fertility of Judah's country is pointed out.

12. His eyes shall be red with wine.] Which shews, not only the plenty of wine, but also the excellency and strength of it, which, though not drank in great quantity or excess, will make the eyes red: see Prov. 23. 29.

13. Zebulun shall dwell at the haven of the sea, &c.] Though Zebulun was younger than Issachar, the patriarch thought proper to bless him first. And, pursuant to this prophecy, his habitation was near the lake of Tiberias, or sea of Galilee, to which the east border of the tribe extended, while the western limits of his inheritance was the Mediterranean. Thus we see that their inheritance in Canaan was the gift of God; for that Jacob, two hundred years before the conquest of Canaan, described the situation of the respective places which were to be the lot of his posterity.

14. A strong ass;] Heb. an ass of bone, i. e. of great bulk of bones, and strength of body, but of little spirit and courage.

15. Servant unto tribute;] Willingly paying whatsoever tributes were imposed upon him, either by neighbouring tribes, or by foreign powers, rather than to forfeit his pleasant and fruitful country, and his sweet repose.

16. Dan shall judge;] Rule and govern them. Though he be the son of my concubine, yet he shall not be subject to any other tribe, but shall have an absolute power within himself. What is said of him is to be understood of the rest of the sons of the concubines; and hereby all difference between the sons of the wives and concubines is taken away.

17. Be a serpent by the way.] He notes the subtlety of that tribe, which should conquer their enemies more by craft and cunning, than by strength or force of arms.

18. I have waited for thy salvation.] The meaning of these words seems to be no more than that the feeble patriarch, finding his spirits beginning to fail, makes a pause in the middle of his speech, and breaks forth into this exclamation.

19. A troop shall overcome him;] i. e. Troops of enemies shall frequently invade his country, and for a time conquer and spoil it. And so it came to pass, because the inheritance of that tribe lay beyond Jordan, near to the Ammonites and Moabites, two inveterate enemies of Israel, and to other hostile nations on the east.

21. Naphtali is a hind let loose.] The hind is a creature that loves to roam at large, and, when escaped from the toils, bounds with the greatest swiftness and impetuosity; and is here used as a proper symbol of a free spirit, and a lover of liberty.

22. Joseph is a fruitful bough.] Joseph is here compared to a fruitful bough, shooting forth two luxuriant stems or branches, because from him two tribes descended.

By a well;] That is, in a well-watered soil.

Whose branches run over the wall.] Intimating the prodigious increase of these two tribes.

23. The archers have sorely grieved him, &c.] By the archers we are to understand Joseph's brethren, who hated him, and sold him into Egypt; his mistress, who falsely accused him; and his master, who put him in prison; but chiefly the first, who shot at him the arrows of malice, envy, calumny, and bitter words.

24. But his bow abode in strength.] He sustained all the shocks of his enemies with unbroken fortitude and resolution, as a tough bow still continues the same, though long used in battle.

The mighty God of Jacob, &c.] The patriarch thus calls the great Creator, because he had often experienced his goodness and powerful protection.

From thence is the shepherd, &c.] The divine Providence hath thought proper to raise up Joseph, to be the nourisher and whole support of me and my family.

25. Heaven above;] i. e. The sweet and powerful influences of the heavenly bodies, and the dews and rains which fall from heaven.

Breasts and of the womb;] Whereby both men and beasts shall be greatly multiplied, and abundantly supplied with all necessaries.

26. The blessings of thy father, &c.] The blessings which I thy father

28 ¶ All these are the twelve tribes of Israel: and this is it that their father spake unto them, and blessed them; every one according to his blessing he blessed them.

29 And he charged them, and said unto them, I am to be gathered unto my people: bury me with my fathers in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite.

30 In the cave that is in the field of Machpelah, which is before Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought with the field of Ephron the Hittite, for a possession of a burying-place.

31 (There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife; there they buried Isaac and Rebekah his wife; and there I buried Leah.)

32 The purchase of the field, and of the cave that is therein, was from the children of Heth.

33 And when Jacob had made an end of commanding his sons, he gathered up his feet into the bed, and yielded up the ghost, and was gathered unto his people.

1 The mourning for Jacob:—4 Joseph getteth leave of Pharaoh to go to bury him.—7 The funeral.—15 Joseph comforteth his brethren, who crave his pardon:—22 His age:—23 He seeth the third generation of his sons:—24 He prophesieth unto his brethren of their return:—25 he taketh an oath of them concerning his bones.

2 And Joseph commanded his servants the physicians to embalm his father: and the physicians embalmed Israel.

3 And forty days were fulfilled for him; (for so are fulfilled the days of those which are embalmed;) and the Egyptians mourned for him threescore and ten days.

4 And when the days of his mourning were past, Joseph spake unto the house of Pharaoh, saying, If now I have found grace in your eyes, speak, I pray you, in the ears of Pharaoh, saying,

5 My father made me swear, saying, Lo, I die: in my grave which I have digged for me in the land of Canaan, there shalt thou bury me. Now therefore let me go up, I pray thee, and bury my father, and I will come again.

Separate from his brethren.] i. e. Who, though he was once scorned and trampled upon by his brethren, yet now is highly honoured and advanced above them.

27. Benjamin shall ravin as a wolf.] He notes the warlike and fierce disposition and carriage of that tribe. Instances whereof we have, Judg. 3. 15, 19, 20. 1 Sam. 12. 14, 15.

28. Twelve tribes of Israel.] i. e. The heads and parents of the twelve tribes.

33. Commanding his sons.] To wit, concerning the place of his burial.

Gathered up his feet into the bed.] For while he pronounces his dying benedictions, he sat up on the bed-side, with his feet hanging down to the ground.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. L.

Verse 1. And kissed him.] We may reasonably presume that Joseph had first closed his father's eyes, as God had promised he should do, chap. 46. 4.

2. Embalm his father:] i. e. The dead corpse of his father, with spices, ointments, &c. necessary to preserve the body from putrefaction as long as might be. In this art the Egyptians excelled all other people; and bodies embalmed by them have been preserved uncorrupted for some thousands of years.

9 And there went up with him both chariots and horsemen: and it was a very great company.

10 And they came to the threshing-floor of Atad, which is beyond Jordan, and there they mourned with a great and very sore lamentation: and he made a mourning for his father seven days.

11 And when the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, saw the mourning in the floor of Atad, they said, This is a grievous mourning to the Egyptians: wherefore the name of it was called Abel-mizraim, which is beyond Jordan.

12 And his sons did unto him according as he commanded them:

13 For his sons carried him into the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave of the field of Machpelah, which Abraham bought with the field, for a possession of a burying-place, of Ephron the Hittite, before Mamre.

14 ¶ And Joseph returned into Egypt, he and his brethren, and all that went up with him to bury his father, after he had buried his father.

15 ¶ And when Joseph's brethren saw that their father was dead, they said, Joseph will peradventure hate us, and will certainly requite us all the evil which we did unto him.

16 And they sent messengers unto Joseph, saying, Thy father did command before he died, saying,

17 So shall ye say unto Joseph, Forgive, I pray thee now, the trespass of thy brethren, and their sin; for they did unto thee evil: and now, we pray thee, forgive the trespass of the servants of the God of thy father. And Joseph wept when they spake unto him.

18 And his brethren also went and fell down before his face: and they said, Behold, we be thy servants.

19 And Joseph said unto them, Fear not: for am I in the place of God?

20 But as for you, ye thought evil against me; but God meant it unto good, to bring to pass, as it is this day, to save much people alive.

21 Now, therefore, fear ye not: I will nourish you, and your little ones. And he comforted them, and spake kindly unto them.

22 ¶ And Joseph dwelt in Egypt, he and his father's house: and Joseph lived an hundred and ten years.

23 And Joseph saw Ephraim's children of the third generation; the children also of Machir, the son of Manasseh, were brought up upon Joseph's knees.

24 And Joseph said unto his brethren, I die: and God will surely visit you, and bring you out of this land unto the land which he sware to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

25 And Joseph took an oath of the children of Israel, saying, God will surely visit you, and ye shall carry up my bones from hence.

26 So Joseph died, being an hundred and ten years old: and they embalmed him, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

4. Unto the house of Pharaoh.] And not to Pharaoh himself, probably because it was the custom here, as elsewhere, Esth. 4. 2. that persons in mourning habit might not come into the king's presence.

7. All the servants of Pharaoh:] i. e. A great number of them, as that word is understood, Matt. 3. 5. and oft elsewhere.

17. Joseph wept:] Partly in compassion to their fear and trouble, and partly because they still retained a diffidence in his kindness, after all his great and real demonstrations of it.

19. Am I in the place of God?] The words may be rendered affirmatively, I am in the place of God; i. e. I have been the instrument, under God, of sustaining you all this while, and can you think I will now do you hurt?

23. Ephraim's children of the third generation.] Reckoning from and after Ephraim, i. e. grand-children's children. So early did Ephraim's privilege above Manasseh's appear, and Jacob's blessing (Gen. 48. 19.) take place.

Brought up upon Joseph's knees.] This seems to be a proverbial way of speaking, to denote that Joseph had the care of their education.

24. God will surely visit you.] There is a double visitation often mentioned in scripture; the one of grace and mercy, which is here meant; the other of justice and anger, as elsewhere.

25. Carry up my bones from hence.] He was so confident that God would give them the land of Canaan, that he desires his bones to be kept unburied till the God of their fathers thought proper to visit them. And accordingly this charge was fulfilled, and his bones deposited in Shechem with those of the other patriarchs.

THE SECOND BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLLED

EXODUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

AFTER the death of Joseph, who had sent for his father's house into Egypt, the children of Israel exceedingly multiplied, notwithstanding Pharaoh's cruel oppression of them: from under which, God, hearing their cry, brought them with a strong hand. Wherefore this book is called by the Greeks Exodus, i. e. A going forth; containing an historical account of passages for about one hundred and forty years; with the wonderful raising up of Moses, who, together with Aaron, were to be instruments of their deliverance; and accordingly, after inflicting ten dreadful Plagues upon Pharaoh, brought them into the Wilderness, through the Red Sea, wherein Pharaoh, (his heart being hardened under all these plagues) and all his host pursuing of them, were drowned; God having first instituted the Passover, as an abiding Sacrament to bring to their remembrance, in after times, this great deliverance.

In their conduct through the Wilderness, God gave them the signal mark of his presence, in the pillar of a cloud, and the pillar of fire; who, notwithstanding their great and reiterated murmurings, gave them Food, both Bread and Flesh from Heaven, and Drink out of the Rock; and, when they were come to mount Sinai, he gave them a Moral Law, beside other, both political and ecclesiastical, Ordinances. Afterwards, the breaking of the Tables being occasioned by the Idolatry of the Golden Calf, God graciously renewed his Covenant with them. There being also a Tabernacle and Ark, and other things to be made by God's commands, the bounty of the people, in order to the making and furnishing thereof, is here set down; which being finished, the Tabernacle is anointed, and filled with the glory of God.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The children of Israel, after Joseph's death, do multiply.—
8 *The more they are oppressed by a new king, the more they multiply.—*17 *The godliness of the midwives in saving the men-children alive.—*22 Pharaoh commandeth the male children to be cast into the river.

NOW these are the names of the children of Israel, which came into Egypt; every man and his household came with Jacob.

- 2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah,
- 3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin,
- 4 Dan, and Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.
- 5 And all the souls that came out of the loins of Jacob were seventy souls: for Joseph was in Egypt already.
- 6 And Joseph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation.
- 7 And the children of Israel were fruitful, and increased abundantly, and multiplied, and waxed exceeding mighty: and the land was filled with them.
- 8 ¶ Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph.
- 9 And he said unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Israel are more and mightier than we.
- 10 Come on, let us deal wisely with them; lest they multiply, and it come to pass, that when there falleth out any war, they join also unto our enemies, and fight against us, and so get them up out of the land.

11 Therefore they did set over them task-masters, to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treasure-cities, Pithom and Raamses.

12 But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew. And they were grieved because of the children of Israel.

13 And the Egyptians made the children of Israel to serve with rigour.

14 And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage, in mortar and in brick, and in all manner of service in the field: all their service, wherein they made them serve, was with rigour.

15 ¶ And the king of Egypt spake to the Hebrew midwives (of which the name of the one was Shiphrah, and the name of the other Puah:)

16 And he said, When ye do the office of a midwife to the Hebrew women, and see them upon the stools; if it be a son, then ye shall kill him; but if it be a daughter, then she shall live.

17 But the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but saved the men-children alive.

18 And the king of Egypt called for the midwives, and said unto them, Why have ye done this thing, and have saved the men-children alive?

19 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. The names of the children of Israel.] This list is here repeated, that by comparing this small root with so vast a company of branches as grew upon it, we may see the wonderful providence of God in the fulfilling of his promises.

7. The land was filled with them.] So that they were grown formidable to the Egyptians, who now began to be jealous of their growing power.

8. Knew not Joseph.] Or, acknowledged not the vast obligations which Joseph had laid, not only upon the kingdom of Egypt, and the king under whom Joseph lived, but upon all his successors.

9. The children of Israel are more and mightier than we.] This was not a true, but an invidious representation and aggravation of the matter, the better to justify the severities which he designed.

10. Lest—they join also unto our enemies.] The Israelites never considered themselves as settled in Egypt, but as sojourners only; and therefore it is natural to suppose, that they had often mentioned their intention of leaving the country, which doubtless contributed to raise this jealousy in the king of Egypt.

12. The more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied.] Through God's over-ruling providence and singular blessing, which God gave them purposely to hasten, first their sorer afflictions, and, next, by that means, their glorious deliverance.

15. The name of the one was Shiphrah, and the name of the other Puah.] These were not the only midwives to so many thousands of Hebrew women, but they were the most eminent among them.

16. If it be a son, then ye shall kill him.] Josephus says, Pharaoh was determined to this act of cruelty by a prediction of some diviners, importing, that a son was then to be born of the Hebrew race, who should greatly annoy the Egyptians. See Antiq. lib. 2. c. 9.

19 And the midwives said unto Pharaoh, Because the Hebrew women are not as the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and are delivered ere the midwives come in unto them.

20 Therefore God dealt well with the midwives: and the people multiplied, and waxed very mighty.

21 And it came to pass, because the midwives feared God, that he made them houses.

22 ¶ And Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, Every son that is born ye shall cast into the river, and every daughter ye shall save alive.

C H A P. II.

2 Moses is born,—3 and in an ark cast into the flags:—5 he is found, and brought up by Pharaoh's daughter:—11 he slayeth an Egyptian:—13 he reproveth an Hebrew:—15 he fleeth into Midian:—21 he marrieth Zipporah.—22 Gershom is born.—23 God respecteth the Israelites' cry.

AND there went a man of the house of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi.

2 And the woman conceived, and bare a son: and when she saw him that he was a goodly child, she hid him three months.

3 And when she could not longer hide him, she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime, and with pitch, and put the child therein; and she laid it in the flags, by the river's brink.

4 And his sister stood afar off, to wit what would be done to him.

5 ¶ And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash herself at the river, and her maidens walked along by the river's side: and when she saw the ark among the flags, she sent her maid to fetch it.

6 And when she had opened it, she saw the child: and, behold, the babe wept. And she had compassion on him, and said, This is one of the Hebrews' children.

7 Then said his sister to Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?

8 And Pharaoh's daughter said unto her, Go. And the maid went, and called the child's mother.

9 And Pharaoh's daughter said unto her, Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nursed it.

10 And the child grew; and she brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. And she called his name Moses: and she said, Because I drew him out of the water.

11 ¶ And it came to pass in those days, when Moses was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: and he spied an Egyptian smiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren.

12 And he looked this way and that way; and when he saw that there was no man, he slew the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand.

13 And when he went out the second day, behold, two men of the Hebrews strove together: and he said to him that did the wrong, Wherefore smitest thou thy fellow?

14 And he said, Who made thee a prince and a judge over us? Intendest thou to kill me, as thou killedst the Egyptian? And Moses feared, and said, Surely this thing is known.

15 Now when Pharaoh heard this thing, he sought to slay Moses. But Moses fled from the face of Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian: and he sat down by a well.

16 Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters: and they came and drew water, and filled the troughs to water their father's flock.

17 And the shepherds came and drove them away: but Moses stood up and helped them, and watered their flock.

18 And when they came to Reuel their father, he said, How is it that ye are come so soon to-day?

19 And they said, An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the shepherds, and also drew water enough for us, and watered the flock.

20 And he said unto his daughters, And where is he? why is it that ye have left the man? Call him, that he may eat bread.

21 And Moses was content to dwell with the man? and he gave Moses Zipporah his daughter.

22 And she bare him a son, and he called his name Gershom: for he said, I have been a stranger in a strange land.

23 ¶ And it came to pass, in process of time, that the king

19. They are lively, and are delivered ere the midwives come in unto them.] It does not appear that these midwives told a falsehood, but only that they concealed some of the truth; for the Hebrew women might be generally such as here described. Such women there have been and still are in the world. Besides, it is probable, that their fears of the execution of the king's command hastened the birth.

21. God—made them houses.] The obvious sense of these words is, that, in reward of their eminent piety, God blessed the midwives in kind; that as they kept up Israel's houses or families, God built them up into families, blest their children, and made them prosperous.

22. Every son that is born ye shall cast into the river.] This inhuman edict was probably revoked some time after Moses' birth; for had it subsisted in all its rigour during the whole eighty years servitude, it is not likely that the number of Israelites able to bear arms would have been so great at the departure out of Egypt.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 2. Bare a son.] Moses was not the first-born, his brother Aaron being three years older than he. See chap. 7. 7.

3. Not longer hide him;] To wit, with safety to herself, because they now grew more violent in executing that bloody decree, and the child growing up was more likely to be discovered, especially seeing the Egyptians dwelt among them.

She laid it in the flags;] That it might not be carried away by the stream; intending, as may be supposed, to come by night and suckle the child.

6. One of the Hebrews' children.] This she might very probably guess, both from the circumstances in which she found him, and from the singular fairness and beauty of the child, far differing from the Egyptian hue.

7. Then said his sister to Pharaoh's daughter, &c.] The whole of this transaction, though it may be accounted for according to the usual methods which prudence and tenderness would dictate to save a darling child, was doubtless under the immediate direction of Providence. Three months had passed before the mother of Moses had conceived the thought of procuring the tenderness of the princess. Possibly the season for her bathing was not yet come; but it evidently appears, by the sister of the infant being sent to watch the success of the scheme, and so readily offering herself to the princess's view upon her taking up the child, and fetching the mother to suckle it, that the whole was a delicate and well-concerted plan, with which the watchful eye of Providence had inspired them, to bring about by natural means the preservation of his servant, the future deliverer of his people.

10. Became her son.] By adoption, Heb. 11. 24. For, as Philo reports, she, though long married, had no child of her own; and therefore treated him as her own, and gave him royal education and instruction.

11. And it came to pass—when Moses was grown, &c.] It is most probable that Moses must have been early acquainted with the history of his brethren. An intercourse with his own mother, who was providentially appointed his nurse, was sufficient to have given him this information; but his quitting the interests and pleasures of his eminent station, to become the champion and deliverer of a persecuted people, must have been the effect of some secret impulse of a celestial nature. God Almighty is pleased to govern this world by second causes, and oftentimes brings about many important events by circumstances which appear so trivial to our shallow understandings, that we foolishly term them accidents. Thus the fortunate event of the princess finding Moses floating in the river at the time of her bathing, her taking a liking to him, and bringing him up with every advantage of education, was providence and not accident: and such a providence continually governs and will govern both individuals and empires, till the final consummation of all things. Moses was naturally led to consider the situation of the sons of Jacob, but God put it in his heart seriously and effectually to set about their deliverance; and in this great work he had need of every advantage his situation had given him. Nay, we see that the assistance of miracle itself was added to his natural abilities.

17. The shepherds came and drove them away;] That they might enjoy the fruit of their labours, and make use of the water which they had drawn for their own cattle.

king of Egypt died: and the children of Israel sighed by reason of the bondage, and they cried; and their cry came up unto God, by reason of the bondage.

24 And God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob.

25 And God looked upon the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them.

C H A P. III.

1 Moses keepeth Jethro's flock.—2 God appeareth to him in a burning bush.—9 He sendeth him to deliver Israel.—14 The name of God.—15 his message to Israel.

NOW Moses kept the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian: and he led the flock to the back-side of the desert, and came to the mountain of God, even to Horeb.

2 And the Angel of the LORD appeared unto him in a flame of fire, out of the midst of a bush: and he looked, and, behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed.

3 And Moses said, I will now turn aside, and see this great sight, why the bush is not burnt.

4 And when the LORD saw that he turned aside to see, God called unto him out of the midst of the bush, and said, Moses, Moses. And he said, Here am I.

5 And he said, Draw not nigh hither: put off thy shoes from off thy feet; for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground.

6 Moreover he said, I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moses hid his face: for he was afraid to look upon God.

7 ¶ And the LORD said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry, by reason of their task-masters; for I know their sorrows;

8 And I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land unto a good land and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey; unto the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

9 Now therefore, behold, the cry of the children of Israel is come unto me: and I have also seen the oppression wherewith the Egyptians oppress them.

10 Come now, therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt.

11 ¶ And Moses said unto God, Who am I, that I should go unto Pharaoh, and that I should bring forth the children of Israel out of Egypt?

12 And he said, Certainly I will be with thee; and this shall be a token unto thee that I have sent thee: When thou hast brought forth the people out of Egypt, ye shall serve God upon this mountain.

13 And Moses said unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you; and they shall say to me, What is his name? what shall I say unto them?

14 And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

15 And God said moreover unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, The LORD God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations.

16 Go, and gather the elders of Israel together, and say unto them, The LORD God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob, appeared unto me, saying, I have surely visited you, and seen that which is done to you in Egypt:

17 And I have said, I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt unto the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, unto a land flowing with milk and honey.

18 And they shall hearken to thy voice; and thou shalt come, thou and the elders of Israel, unto the king of Egypt, and ye shall say unto him, The LORD God of the Hebrews hath met with us; and now let us go, we beseech thee, three days' journey into the wilderness, that we may sacrifice to the LORD our God.

19 And I am sure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, no, not by a mighty hand.

20 And I will stretch out my hand, and smite Egypt, with all my wonders, which I will do in the midst thereof; and after that he will let you go.

21 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. Mountain of God;] So called, as being an high or eminent mountain; or, from the vision of God here following.

2. Angel of the Lord.] Not a created angel, but the Angel of the Covenant, Christ Jesus. And these temporary apparitions of his were presages or forerunners of his more solemn mission and coming, and therefore he is fitly called an angel. That this angel was no creature plainly appears by the whole context, and especially by his saying, I am the Lord, &c.

The bush was not consumed.] Which doubtless represented the condition of the church and people of Israel, who were now in the fire of affliction, yet so as that God was present with them, and that they should not be consumed in it, whereof this vision was a pledge.

5. Put off thy shoes, &c.] It is probable this was one of the religious ceremonies observed by the patriarchs; and God requires Moses to perform it, as a received mark and testimony of that awful respect with which mortals ought to approach their Maker.

6. To look upon God;] i. e. That glorious appearance by which God manifested himself. The Chaldee justly renders it the glory of God.

8. Flowing with milk and honey;] A proverbial expression, denoting plenty.

11. And Moses said unto God, &c.] Some irreligious people have affected to treat this account of the discourse between the Lord and Moses with ridicule and contempt. They should recollect, that if this divine Being, the Angel and Son of God, thought it not too condescending to reveal himself at all to Moses for the deliverance of the Israelites, there was nothing too familiar or degrading in his manner of doing it; since he certainly must have done it in such a way as would be least terrifying, and easiest to be understood. God is represented, in another place of Scripture, talking with man, as a man talketh with his friend; but we must always remember, that it is not the Almighty Father, who dwelleth in light inaccessible, whom no man hath seen or can see, who thus converses with his creatures; but God the Son, the Angel of the Covenant, who has in all ages, since he first created the world, revealed himself, at sundry times and in divers manners, for the instruction and salvation of mankind.

Who am I, that I should go, &c.] The Pharaoh,* by whose daughter Moses was brought up and educated, being now dead, and as forty years had elapsed since Moses had fled the country, he might very well humbly decline the commission offered him, upon reflecting on the appearance he should make in a court where he could have no reason to hope for favour, or to be remembered, but for those very circumstances he wished should be forgotten.

12. This shall be a token unto thee—ye shall serve God upon this mountain.] This could not be a token to him now, but was afterwards, when God by his power brought them to this very place to worship him. But the words are rendered by others, The vision which thou hast now seen, of the bush burning but not consumed, shall be a sign or token that I have sent thee; and when thou shalt have delivered my people, ye shall worship God upon this mountain.

14. I AM THAT I AM.] The literal rendering of which is, I will be that I will be; but because the future tense is oft used for the present, our version may be justified. So the plain meaning of the words is, I am he whose name is I am; the Chaldee takes in both the present and future, I am he who is, and who will be. It is the same in sense with what St. John hath more fully unfolded, Rev. 1. 4. He which is, and which was, and which is to come.

15. The Lord;] Heb. Jehovah, a word of the same root and signification with I am. This he adds, because God was best known to the Israelites by that name; and to shew, that though he had given himself a new name, yet he was the same God.

16. Elders of Israel.] The word elders here must signify the wisest and greatest of the nation in general; or, the heads of tribes in particular.

18. Let us go—three days' journey into the wilderness.] It was nevertheless the intention of the Israelites to return; but that Pharaoh might be the more inexcusable, they were directed at first to demand leave only to go as far as mount Sinai, which was but three days' journey from Egypt, if they had gone the direct way.

Sacrifice to the Lord;] Which they could not do freely and safely in Egypt, Exod. 8. 26.

21. I will

* Pharaoh was the name given to all the kings of Egypt, from the foundation of their monarchy to the time of Alexander the Great; after which they were distinguished by the title of Ptolemy.

21 And I will give this people favour in the sight of the Egyptians: and it shall come to pass, that when ye go, ye shall not go empty:

22 But every woman shall borrow of her neighbour, and of her that sojourneth in her house, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment: and ye shall put them upon your sons, and upon your daughters; and ye shall spoil the Egyptians.

C H A P. IV.

3 Moses' rod turned into a serpent.—6 His hand is leprous.—10 He is loth to be sent.—14 Aaron is appointed to assist him.—18 Moses departeth from Jethro.—21 God's message to Pharaoh.—27 Aaron is sent to meet Moses.—31 The people believe them.

AND Moses answered and said, But, behold, they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my voice: for they will say, The LORD hath not appeared unto thee.

2 And the LORD said unto him, What is that in thine hand; And he said, A rod.

3 And he said, Cast it on the ground. And he cast it on the ground, and it became a serpent; and Moses fled from before it.

4 And the LORD said unto Moses, Put forth thine hand, and take it by the tail. And he put forth his hand, and caught it; and it became a rod in his hand:

5 That they may believe that the LORD God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared unto thee.

6 ¶ And the LORD said furthermore unto him, Put now thine hand into thy bosom. And he put his hand into his bosom: and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous as snow.

7 And he said, Put thine hand into thy bosom again. And he put his hand into his bosom again, and plucked it out of his bosom; and, behold, it was turned again as his other flesh.

8 And it shall come to pass, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the first sign, that they will believe the voice of the latter sign.

9 And it shall come to pass, if they will not believe also these two signs, neither hearken unto thy voice, that thou shalt take of the water of the river, and pour it upon the dry land: and the water which thou takest out of the river shall become blood upon the dry land.

21. I will give this people favour.] To give favour here does not signify, as in other places, to procure them love and good-will, but to dispose the Egyptians to grant the thing desired.

22. Every woman shall borrow, &c.] It is said, chap. 11. 2. that the men were to borrow as well as the women. Here ariseth a knotty question, How far it is consistent with the character of the Deity to authorize the Israelites in spoiling the Egyptians of their property, under a notion of borrowing. A satisfactory solution of this difficulty occurs, by correcting our version, and rendering it, They shall ask, instead of, they shall borrow; see Gen. 32. 17. Josh. 19. 50. Judg. 8. 24. 1 Sam. 1. 20. 1 Chron. 4. 10. If therefore the Israelites asked their Egyptian neighbours to grant them such things as are here mentioned, as some compensation for the damage they had done them, and for the great benefit they had received by their services; and they, either out of a willingness to make them reparation, or out of a desire to get rid of them, granted their request, there was no wrong done. That these goods were of the nature of a fine, which the Israelites exacted of the Egyptians for having used them so barbarously, and which they were content to pay as a ransom for their lives, appears from chap. 12. 33. and the Egyptians did not consider these things as lent, and to be restored, but as given, and never to be expected again: even as Pharaoh and his people rightly judged, that if the Israelites were once permitted to go out of the land with their whole families and estates, they would not return back, chap. 8. 28.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 2. And the Lord said unto him, &c.] In answer to the objection of Moses, that the people would not believe him on his bare word, the Almighty gives him an assurance of miraculous assistance. This indeed is the use of miracle, to set the seal to the truth of any revelation. Not that miracle can prove any particular doctrine to be true; but it proves that those who deliver the doctrine have a divine commission.

3. Became a serpent:] i. e. Was really changed into a serpent; whereby it was intimated how pernicious his rod should be to the Egyptians.

5. That they may believe.] An imperfect sentence, to be thus completed; This thou shalt do before them, that they may believe.

10 ¶ And Moses said unto the LORD, O my Lord, I am not eloquent, neither heretofore, nor since thou hast spoken unto thy servant: but I am slow of speech, and of a slow tongue.

11 And the LORD said unto him, Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or deaf, or the seeing, or the blind? have not I the LORD?

12 Now therefore go, and I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou shalt say.

13 And he said, O my Lord, send, I pray thee, by the hand of him whom thou wilt send.

14 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Moses, and he said, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can speak well. And also, behold, he cometh forth to meet thee: and when he seeth thee, he will be glad in his heart.

15 And thou shalt speak unto him, and put words in his mouth: and I will be with thy mouth, and with his mouth, and will teach you what ye shall do.

16 And he shall be thy spokesman unto the people: and he shall be, even he, shall be to thee instead of a mouth, and thou shalt be to him instead of God.

17 And thou shalt take this rod in thine hand, wherewith thou shalt do signs.

18 ¶ And Moses went, and returned to Jethro his father-in law, and said unto him, Let me go, I pray thee, and return unto my brethren which are in Egypt, and see whether they be yet alive. And Jethro said to Moses, Go in peace.

19 And the LORD said unto Moses in Midian, Go, return into Egypt: for all the men are dead which sought thy life.

20 And Moses took his wife, and his sons, and set them upon an ass, and he returned to the land of Egypt. And Moses took the rod of God in his hand.

21 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, When thou goest to return into Egypt, see that thou do all those wonders before Pharaoh which I have put in thine hand: but I will harden his heart, that he shall not let the people go.

22 And thou shalt say unto Pharaoh, Thus saith the LORD, Israel is my son, even my first-born.

23 And I say unto thee, Let my son go, that he may serve me: and if thou refuse to let him go, behold, I will slay thy son, even thy first-born.

24 ¶ And it came to pass by the way, in the inn, that the LORD met him, and sought to kill him.

25 Then

8. The voice of the first sign:] The voice or word of God delivered and confirmed by the first sign.

10. I am slow of speech, &c.] Which signifies, that he was not of ready utterance, or faltered in speech. What we translate slow of speech, signifies (Ezek. 4. 5.) a strange speech, and hard to be understood; in which sense Moses would insinuate that he could not speak intelligibly to the Israelites and Egyptians, having in a great measure forgot their language, through forty years disuse in the land of Midian.

12. I will be with thy mouth:] Direct and assist thee what and how to speak.

13. By the hand of him whom thou wilt send.] By one who is fitter for the work than I am.

14. He cometh forth to meet thee:] By my instigation and direction; which, because I see that thou art still diffident, I give thee for a new sign, to strengthen thy belief that I will carry thee through this hard work.

16. To him instead of God.] To teach and command him, chap. 7. 1.

17. Wherewith thou shalt do signs.] Not that there was any virtue in the rod, but only that Moses bore it as a badge of his office.

18. Let me—return unto my brethren.] He prudently conceals from Jethro his main design, lest he should have retarded him in the execution of it.

21. I will harden his heart.] That is, I will suffer his heart to be hardened. The meaning, therefore, of these words is, He will be so far from being softened by the chastisements which I shall inflict upon him, that he will take occasion, from these very plagues, to harden himself more in rebellion. Men harden themselves, because it is by their own obstinacy and perverseness only that they become obdurate; and they are hardened of God, by his giving them up to their own hearts' lusts, as the scripture speaks, allowing them to follow their own imaginations, and giving them over to a reprobate mind.

22. My son, even my first-born.] They are most dear to me, and reserved by me out of all nations to be my peculiar people.

23. I will slay thy son, even thy first-born.] By which plague coming after the rest, thou wilt be enforced to do what I advised thee now to do upon cheaper terms.

24. The Lord met him.] An angel appeared to him. And sought to kill him.] He appeared in a threatening posture, and put 25 Then Zipporah took a sharp stone, and cut off the foreskin of her son, and cast it at his feet, and said, Surely a bloody husband art thou to me.

26 So he let him go: then she said, A bloody husband thou art, because of the circumcision.

27 ¶ And the LORD said to Aaron, Go into the wilderness to meet Moses. And he went, and met him in the mount of God, and kissed him.

28 And Moses told Aaron all the words of the LORD who had sent him, and all the signs which he had commanded him.

29 ¶ And Moses and Aaron went, and gathered together all the elders of the children of Israel:

30 And Aaron spake all the words which the LORD had spoken unto Moses, and did the signs in the sight of the people.

31 And the people believed: and when they heard that the LORD had visited the children of Israel, and that he had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed their heads, and worshipped.

C H A P. V.

1 Pharaoh chideth Moses and Aaron for their message.—6 He increaseth the Israelites' task.—20 They cry out upon Moses and Aaron.—22 Moses complaineth to God.

AND afterward Moses and Aaron went in, and told Pharaoh, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Let my people go, that they may hold a feast unto me in the wilderness.

2 And Pharaoh said, Who is the LORD, that I should obey his voice to let Israel go? I know not the LORD, neither will I let Israel go.

3 And they said, The God of the Hebrews hath met with us: let us go, we pray thee, three days' journey into the desert, and sacrifice unto the LORD our God; lest he fall upon us with pestilence, or with the sword.

4 And the king of Egypt said unto them, Wherefore do ye, Moses and Aaron, let the people from their works? get ye unto your burdens.

5 And Pharaoh said, Behold the people of the land now are many, and ye make them rest from their burdens.

6 ¶ And Pharaoh commanded the same day the task-masters of the people, and their officers, saying,

7 Ye shall no more give the people straw to make brick, as heretofore; let them go and gather straw for themselves.

8 And the tale of the bricks, which they did make heretofore, ye shall lay upon them; ye shall not diminish ought thereof: for they be idle; therefore they cry, saying, Let us go, and sacrifice to our God.

9 Let there more work be laid upon the men, that they may labour therein: and let them not regard vain words.

put him in fear of his life. And what seems to have been the occasion of this message to Moses is this; that Zipporah had refused to let her son be circumcised, and Moses, in compliance with her humour, had neglected to obey a plain command of God, Gen. 17. 12, 13.

25. Then Zipporah.] On this awful appearance, Zipporah, in order to save her husband's life, hastily goes about the operation herself.

Took a sharp stone.] Or a knife made of flint, for such they anciently used.

29. And Moses and Aaron went, and gathered together all the elders, &c.] Moses had now gained more experience how to proceed, and therefore did not immediately reveal his commission to all the people indiscriminately; but very properly called together the elders, that is, the most honourable and respectable among the heads of the Hebrews, and revealed to them first the conference he had held with the God of their fathers. They seem to have heard him cautiously, and not to have believed without a proper testimonial of the truth of his mission: for Aaron, it seems, not only represented the affair in the most striking and persuasive language, but Moses also performed those particular signs which God had given him power to do, as proofs that he was sent from the Author of nature. By this all the people were convinced; and in consequence of their belief, and hope of deliverance, fell down and adored the God of Israel in the presence of his two servants.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. Moses and Aaron.] And with them some of the elders of Israel, as may seem from chap. 3. 18. though here only the two chiefs be mentioned.

10 ¶ And the task-masters of the people went out, and their officers, and they spake to the people, saying, Thus saith Pharaoh, I will not give you straw.

11 Go ye, get you straw where ye can find it: yet not ought of your work shall be diminished.

12 So the people were scattered abroad throughout all the land of Egypt, to gather stubble instead of straw.

13 And the task-masters hasted them, saying, Fulfil your works, your daily tasks, as when there was straw.

14 And the officers of the children of Israel, which Pharaoh's task-masters had set over them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your task in making brick, both yesterday and to-day, as heretofore?

15 ¶ Then the officers of the children of Israel came and cried unto Pharaoh, saying, Wherefore dealest thou thus with thy servants?

16 There is no straw given unto thy servants, and they say to us, Make brick: and, behold, thy servants are beaten; but the fault is in thine own people.

17 But he said, Ye are idle, ye are idle; therefore ye say, Let us go and do sacrifice to the LORD.

18 Go, therefore, now, and work: for there shall no straw be given you, yet shall ye deliver the tale of bricks.

19 And the officers of the children of Israel did see that they were in evil case, after it was said, Ye shall not diminish ought from your bricks of your daily task.

20 ¶ And they met Moses and Aaron, who stood in the way, as they came forth from Pharaoh:

21 And they said unto them, The LORD look upon you, and judge; because ye have made our savour to be abhorred in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his servants, to put a sword in their hand to slay us.

22 ¶ And Moses returned unto the LORD, and said, Lord, wherefore hast thou so evil-entreated this people? why is it that thou hast sent me?

23 For since I came to Pharaoh to speak in thy name, he hath done evil to this people; neither hast thou delivered thy people at all.

C H A P. VI.

1 God reneweth his promise by his name JEHOVAH.—14 The genealogy of Reuben,—15 of Simeon,—16 of Levi.

THEN the LORD said unto Moses, Now shalt thou see what I will do to Pharaoh: for with a strong hand shall he let them go, and with a strong hand shall he drive them out of his land.

2 And God spake unto Moses, and said unto him, I am the LORD:

3 And I appeared unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty; but by my name JEHOVAH was I not known to them.

4 And

Hold a feast.] Or, offer sacrifice, as they expressed it, ver. 3. chap. 10. 9.

2. Who is the Lord?] In the original it is, Who is Jehovah? Pharaoh intended, by thus insulting Jehovah, to shew his piety to his own gods.

6. The task-masters—and their officers.] The task-masters were Egyptians, and the officers were Israelites, under-officers to them.

7. Straw to make brick;] Either to mingle with the clay, that it might not be too brittle; or to cover the clay when it was formed into bricks, that the heat of the sun might not dry them too much; or for fuel to burn their bricks with, straw being abundant there, and much used for that purpose.

12. All the land of Egypt;] i. e. All that part of it; which is a very usual synecdoche.

16. Thine own people;] i. e. The Egyptian task-masters, who, by sending us abroad to gather straw, hinder us from doing the work which they require.

17. Ye are idle.] Instead of pitying the hard usage of the Israelites, he mocks their complaints.

20. They met Moses and Aaron] Who, it seems natural to suppose, had waited for them in some convenient place, on purpose to learn what success the officers had in their petition.

21. Put a sword in their hand to slay us;] To give them an occasion to destroy and root us out.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 3. But by my name Jehovah was I not known to them.] This part of the verse, as it now stands in our bibles, apparently contradicts the book of Genesis, from chap. 12. to the end of it; and also chap. 3.

4 And I have also established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were strangers.

5 And I have also heard the groaning of the children of Israel, whom the Egyptians keep in bondage: and I have remembered my covenant.

6 Wherefore say unto the children of Israel, I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rid you out of their bondage; and I will redeem you with a stretched-out arm, and with great judgments.

7 And I will take you to me for a people, and I will be to you a God: and ye shall know that I am the LORD your God, which bringeth you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians.

8 And I will bring you into the land, concerning the which I did swear to give it to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob; and I will give it you for an heritage: I am the LORD.

9 ¶ And Moses spake so unto the children of Israel: but they hearkened not unto Moses for anguish of spirit, and for cruel bondage.

10 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

11 Go in, speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, that he let the children of Israel go out of his land.

12 And Moses spake before the LORD, saying, Behold, the children of Israel have not hearkened unto me; how then shall Pharaoh hear me, who am of uncircumcised lips?

13 And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, and gave them a charge unto the children of Israel, and unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

14 ¶ These be the heads of their fathers' houses: The sons of Reuben, the first-born of Israel; Hanoch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi; these be the families of Reuben.

15 ¶ And the sons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanitish woman: these are the families of Simeon.

16 ¶ And these are the names of the sons of Levi, according to their generations; Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari. And the years of the life of Levi were an hundred thirty and seven years.

17 The sons of Gershon; Libni and Shimi, according to their families.

18 And the sons of Kohath; Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel: and the years of the life of Kohath were an hundred thirty and three years.

19 And the sons of Merari; Mahli, and Mushi: these are the families of Levi, according to their generations.

20 And Amram took him Jochebed his father's sister to wife; and she bare him Aaron and Moses. And the years of the life of Amram were an hundred and thirty and seven years.

21 ¶ And the sons of Izhar; Korah, and Nepheg, and Zichri.

22 And the sons of Uzziel; Mishael, and Elzaphan, and Zithri.

23 And Aaron took him Elisheba, daughter of Aminadab, sister of Naashon, to wife; and she bare him Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

24 And the sons of Korah; Assir, and Elkanah, and Abiasaph: these are the families of the Korhites.

25 And Eleazar, Aaron's son, took him one of the daughters of Putiel to wife; and she bare him Phinehas: these are the heads of the fathers of the Levites, according to their families.

26 These are that Aaron and Moses, to whom the LORD said, Bring out the children of Israel from the land of Egypt, according to their armies.

27 These are they which spake to Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring out the children of Israel from Egypt: these are that Moses and Aaron.

28 ¶ And it came to pass, on the day when the LORD spake unto Moses in the land of Egypt,

29 That the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, I am the LORD: speak thou unto Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I say unto thee.

30 And Moses said before the LORD, Behold, I am of uncircumcised lips, and how shall Pharaoh hearken unto me?

CHAP. VII.

1 Moses is encouraged to go to Pharaoh:—10 Aaron's rod is turned into a serpent.—11 The sorcerers do the like.—13 Pharaoh's heart is hardened.—19 The river is turned into blood.

AND the LORD said unto Moses, See, I have made thee a god to Pharaoh, and Aaron thy brother shall be thy prophet.

of this book, from ver. 15. The Lord, (or Jehovah, as it is in the Hebrew,) God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, &c. Here Moses is directed to mention to the Israelites the name of Jehovah, as the sign and seal of his mission, which they would acknowledge. But if the name JEHOVAH was never known to their fathers, how should these their descendants have learned it? yet Moses himself intimates, that they had called upon Jehovah in their distress. The Egyptians evil intreated us, and afflicted us, and laid upon us hard bondage. And when we cried unto the Lord God (Jehovah) of our fathers, the Lord (Jehovah) heard our voice, and looked upon our affliction, and our labour, and our oppression. Deut. 26. 6, 7. For wherever we find the Lord in our translation, the word in the Hebrew is generally Jehovah; and consequently Jehovah cannot be denied to occur as the name of God, which he declared to those patriarchs, Gen. 15. 6, 7, and 22. 16. under which he appeared to them in visions, and gave them commands and promises, Gen. 22. 1. and 26. 2. and 28. 13. under which name they answered him, and called upon him, Gen. 13. 4. and 14. 22. and 15. 28. nay more, they left this name of Jehovah to the places where he had thus condescended to converse with them: And Abraham called the name of the place Jehovah-jireh, Gen. 22. 14. consequently Abraham could not be ignorant of the name, when he had given it to a place. There is then a difficulty in the passage, which must be removed: and in order to this, it has been proposed to amend the text, by changing not into it; and then the words will run thus, I appeared unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of (El-shaddai) God Almighty, and my name Jehovah I made it known unto them. But as this alteration has not the authority of any ancient manuscript to support it, some may perhaps think it too bold: let us therefore see if we can remove the difficulty without altering the text; and this may be done by only changing the punctuation, and reading the passage interrogatively: Did not I appear unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty? and by my name Jehovah was I not known to them? that is, Was not I known to them both by the name El-shaddai, the God of power, and the name Jehovah, the faithful God, the fulfiller of promises?

6. Great judgments; i. e. Punishments justly inflicted upon them, as the word judging and judgments is often used, as Gen. 15. 14. 2 Chron. 20. 12. Prov. 19. 29.

No. 5.

8. I am the Lord.] Heb. I am JEHOVAH, that is, I am he who performs what I have promised.

9. They hearkened not unto Moses for anguish of spirit.] Their spirits were so dejected and broken with their miseries.

12. Who am of uncircumcised lips.] There appears to have been a very capital mistake, in putting the word am into this sentence, instead of is; by which the sense, which would have been plain and easy, is made almost unintelligible. Moses complains with great reason of the little probability there was that Pharaoh should attend to him, when his own brethren had refused to listen to him: How then shall Pharaoh hear me, who is of uncircumcised lips? i. e. as this expression signifies in the Hebrew, who is of a barbarous or corrupt nature. For circumcision was a rite of purification and cleanliness, and the epithet of uncircumcised always meant as much with them as filthy or corrupt.

20. His father's sister;] Or rather kinswoman, or cousin, or niece; for so this Hebrew word is sometimes used, as appears from Jer. 32. 8, 9, 12.

23. Aaron took him Elisheba, daughter of Aminadab.] A prince of the tribe of Judah, Numb. 1. 7. and 2. 3. It is observable, that Moses is here silent of his own progeny, but gives a particular account of his brother's, not only from his great humility and modesty, which shine forth in many other passages, but because it was of more concernment, and the honour of priesthood given to Aaron was to be hereditary, and peculiar to his seed, and therefore it was necessary they should be exactly known; whereas the honour and government of Moses was only personal, and did not pass to his children.

26. According to their armies;] i. e. According to their numerous families, which were equal to great armies, and which went out of Egypt like several armies in military order, and with great power, Ex. 12. 41.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 1. A god to Pharaoh;] To represent my person, to act like God, by requiring his obedience to my commands, and by punishing his disobedience with such punishments as none but God can inflict, to which end thou shalt have my omnipotent assistance.

Thy prophet;] i. e. Thy interpreter or spokesman, to deliver thy commands to Pharaoh.

P

5. The

2 Thou shalt speak all that I command thee: and Aaron thy brother shall speak unto Pharaoh, that he send the children of Israel out of his land.

3 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and multiply my signs and my wonders in the land of Egypt.

4 But Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you, that I may lay my hand upon Egypt, and bring forth mine armies, and my people the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt, by great judgments.

5 And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I stretch forth mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israel from among them.

6 And Moses and Aaron did as the LORD commanded them, so did they.

7 And Moses was fourscore years old, and Aaron fourscore and three years old, when they spake unto Pharaoh.

8 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

9 When Pharaoh shall speak unto you, saying, Shew a miracle for you: then thou shalt say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and cast it before Pharaoh, and it shall become a serpent.

10 ¶ And Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and they did so as the LORD had commanded; and Aaron cast down his rod before Pharaoh, and before his servants, and it became a serpent.

11 Then Pharaoh also called the wise men and the sorcerers: now the magicians of Egypt, they also did in like manner with their enchantments.

12 For they cast down every man his rod, and they became serpents: but Aaron's rod swallowed up their rods.

13 And he hardened Pharaoh's heart, that he hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had said.

14 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Pharaoh's heart is hardened, he refuseth to let the people go.

15 Get thee unto Pharaoh in the morning; lo, he goeth out unto the water, and thou shalt stand by the river's brink against he come: and the rod which was turned to a serpent shalt thou take in thine hand.

16 And thou shalt say unto him, The LORD God of the Hebrews hath sent me unto thee, saying, Let my people go, that they may serve me in the wilderness: and, behold, hitherto thou wouldest not hear.

17 Thus saith the LORD, In this thou shalt know that I am the LORD: behold, I will smite with the rod that is in mine hand upon the waters which are in the river, and they shall be turned to blood.

18 And the fish that is in the river shall die, and the river shall stink: and the Egyptians shall loathe to drink of the water of the river.

19 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, Say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and stretch out thine hand upon the waters of Egypt, upon their streams, upon their rivers, and upon their ponds, and upon all their pools of water, that they may become blood; and that there may be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in vessels of wood and in vessels of stone.

20 And Moses and Aaron did so, as the LORD commanded; and he lifted up the rod, and smote the waters that were in the river, in the sight of Pharaoh, and in the sight of his servants; and all the waters that were in the river were turned to blood.

21 And the fish that was in the river died; and the river stank, and the Egyptians could not drink of the water of the river: and there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt.

22 And the magicians of Egypt did so with their enchantments: and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, neither did he hearken unto them; as the LORD had said.

23 And Pharaoh turned and went into his house, neither did he set his heart to this also.

24 And all the Egyptians digged round about the river for water to drink; for they could not drink of the water of the river.

25 And seven days were fulfilled, after that the LORD had smitten the river.

C H A P. VIII.

2 Frogs are sent.—8 Pharaoh sueth to Moses,—12 who by prayer removeth them away.—16 The dust is turned into lice.—20 The swarms of flies.—25 Pharaoh inclineth to let the people go,—32 but yet is hardened.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, Go unto Pharaoh, and say unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Let my people go, that they may serve me.

2 And if thou refuse to let them go, behold, I will smite all thy borders with frogs:

3 And the river shall bring forth frogs abundantly, which shall go up, and come into thine house, and into thy bed-chamber, and upon thy bed, and into the house of thy servants, and upon thy people, and into thine ovens, and into thy kneading-troughs:

4 And the frogs shall come up both on thee, and upon thy people, and upon all thy servants.

5 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, Say unto Aaron, Stretch forth thine hand with thy rod over the streams, over the rivers, and over the ponds, and cause frogs to come up upon the land of Egypt.

6 And Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt; and the frogs came up, and covered the land of Egypt.

7 And the magicians did so with their enchantments, and brought up frogs upon the land of Egypt.

8 ¶ Then

5. The Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord:] They shall know that I am not the God of Israel only, but Jehovah, the supreme God of the universe.

11. Magicians.] The same now called sorcerers, who acted by the power of the devil, whom by certain rites and ceremonies they engaged to their assistance. Of these the two chiefs were Jannes and Jambres, 2 Tim. 3. 8.

12. And they became serpents.] Josephus and others have been of opinion, that these were not real serpents, but mere appearances of serpents. But the text makes no other distinction betwixt this miracle and that of Moses, but that his serpent swallowed up theirs. Indeed both Pharaoh and his magicians seemed to consider the matter in the same light; but when the magicians tried, and could not produce lice, then both he and they concluded that this was the finger of God.

Aaron's rod swallowed up their rods.] A sufficient demonstration of the superior power by which Moses acted; which might have convinced Pharaoh, if his magicians had not made him believe that they would in time find a power superior to Moses.

15. Unto the water;] i. e. Nilus, whither he went at that time, either for his recreation, or to pay his morning worship to that river, which the Egyptians had in great veneration.

17. They shall be turned to blood.] Which was a very grievous plague to them; both because it was an eternal dishonour to their religion, and because from hence they had both their drink, Deut. 11. 10, 11. Jer. 2. 18. and their meat, Numb. 11. 5. for greater and lesser cattle they would not eat, Exod. 8. 26. And it was a very proper punishment for them, who had made their river an instrument for the execution of their bloody design against the Israelitish infants, Exod. 1. 22.

18. The Egyptians shall loathe.] Therefore the Israelites were free from this plague, and those branches of the Nile which they used were uncorrupted, when all others were turned into blood.

19. Upon their streams, &c.] Not that he was to go to every pool to use this ceremony there, but he stretched his hand and rod over some of them in the name of all the rest; which he might signify, either by his words, or by the various motions of his rod several ways.

22. The magicians—did so with their enchantments;] In some of the pools or lakes of water which Moses had not yet turned into blood, or in some of the waters out of the pits which the people digged, ver. 24. for this change might be wrought not suddenly (which is not affirmed in this relation) but by degrees, which God might so order, for this very end, that the magicians might have matter for the trial of their experiments.

23. And Pharaoh turned and went into his house, &c.] The attempts of the sorcerers, however weak, were sufficient to mislead, and gain credit with, an evil-minded irreligious prince; but let us here note, that it is expressly said, that not even this dreadful plague could enter into or turn his heart, but that it was hardened. We should remember this, once for all, whenever the expression occurs, that God did not harden the heart of Pharaoh, but left him a free agent, to act as he thought proper, and he hardened his own heart.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Verse 5. The river:] Under which are comprehended all other rivers, streams, and ponds, as appears from ver. 5.

7. The magicians did so.] Nor was it hard for the devil to produce frogs out of their own spawn, and the slime of the river.

9. Glory

8 ¶ Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron, and said, Entreat the LORD, that he may take away the frogs from me, and from my people: and I will let the people go, that they may do sacrifice unto the LORD.

9 And Moses said unto Pharaoh, Glory over me: when shall I entreat for thee, and for thy servants, and for thy people, to destroy the frogs from thee, and thy houses, that they may remain in the river only;

10 And he said, To-morrow. And he said, Be it according to thy word: that thou mayest know that there is none like unto the LORD our God.

11 And the frogs shall depart from thee, and from thy houses, and from thy servants, and from thy people; they shall remain in the river only.

12 ¶ And Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh: and Moses cried unto the LORD, because of the frogs which he had brought against Pharaoh.

13 And the LORD did according to the word of Moses: and the frogs died out of the houses, out of the villages, and out of the fields.

14 And they gathered them together upon heaps: and the land stank.

15 But when Pharaoh saw that there was respite, he hardened his heart, and hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had said.

16 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Say unto Aaron, Stretch out thy rod, and smite the dust of the land, that it may become lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

17 And they did so; for Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod, and smote the dust of the earth, and it became lice in man and in beast: all the dust of the land became lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

18 And the magicians did so with their enchantments to bring forth lice, but they could not: so there were lice upon man, and upon beast.

19 Then the magicians said unto Pharaoh, This is the finger of God: and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had said.

20 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Rise up early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh, (lo, he cometh forth to the water,) and say unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Let my people go, that they may serve me.

21 Else, if thou wilt not let my people go, behold, I will send swarms of flies upon thee, and upon thy servants, and upon thy people, and into thy houses: and the houses of the Egyptians shall be full of swarms of flies, and also the ground whereon they are.

22 And I will sever in that day the land of Goshen, in which my people dwell, that no swarms of flies shall be there; to the end thou mayest know that I am the LORD in the midst of the earth.

23 And I will put a division between my people and thy people: to-morrow shall this sign be.

24 And the LORD did so: and there came a grievous swarm of flies into the house of Pharaoh, and into his servants' houses, and into all the land of Egypt: the land was corrupted by reason of the swarm of flies.

25 ¶ And Pharaoh called for Moses, and for Aaron, and said, Go ye, sacrifice to your God in the land.

26 And Moses said, It is not meet so to do; for we shall sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians to the LORD our God: lo, shall we sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and will they not stone us?

27 We will go three days' journey into the wilderness, and sacrifice to the LORD our God, as he shall command us.

28 And Pharaoh said, I will let you go, that ye may sacrifice to the LORD your God in the wilderness; only ye shall not go very far away: entreat for me.

29 And Moses said, Behold, I go out from thee, and I will entreat the LORD that the swarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people, to-morrow: but let not Pharaoh deal deceitfully any more, in not letting the people go to sacrifice to the LORD.

30 And Moses went out from Pharaoh, and entreated the LORD.

31 And the LORD did according to the word of Moses: and he removed the swarms of flies from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people; there remained not one.

32 And Pharaoh hardened his heart at this time also, neither would he let the people go.

C H A P. IX.

3 The murrain of beasts.—8 The plague of boils and blains.—22 The plague of hail.—27 Pharaoh sueth to Moses,—35 but yet is hardened.

THEN the LORD said unto Moses, Go in unto Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus saith the LORD God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may serve me.

2 For if thou refuse to let them go, and wilt hold them still,

3 Behold, the hand of the LORD is upon thy cattle which is in the field, upon the horses, upon the asses, upon the camels, upon the oxen, and upon the sheep: there shall be a very grievous murrain.

4 And the LORD shall sever between the cattle of Israel and the cattle of Egypt: and there shall nothing die of all that is the children's of Israel:

5 And

9. Glory over me, &c.] The Greek and Chaldee paraphrase explain these words thus: "Take the honour of appointing your own time, when I shall entreat the Lord to remove this plague."

10. To-morrow.] Why not presently? Ans. Because he thought it an hard and long work to remove so vast a number of frogs, and that Moses might use divers ceremonies, as the magicians did, in his address to God, which would require some considerable time.

12. And Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh, &c.] When we consider the temper of this Egyptian king, we may, perhaps, look upon it as none of the least of the miracles performed by God in the land, that his servants, Moses and Aaron, should continue daily to remonstrate to, and punish this prince, without being cut off for their boldness. The hatred of the people, who suffered by their power, one would think must naturally have occasioned their being destroyed. The protection, therefore, which was afforded them in the midst of a wicked and idolatrous people, should be a perpetual encouragement to mankind to fear nothing in comparison of offending God, but resolutely and manfully to execute his will, in defiance of any ill treatment the malice of wicked men can inflict.

14. Gathered them together upon heaps.] Which doubtless they cast into their rivers, or pits, &c. though that be not here mentioned. God would not instantly and wholly take them away, both to convince them of the truth of the miracle, and to make them more sensible of this judgment, and more fearful of bringing another upon themselves.

17. All the dust of the land became lice.] i. e. Lice were mingled every where with the dust.

18. The magicians did so.] i. e. Endeavoured to do so. Thus, to enter, Matt. 7. 13. is put for striving to enter, Luke 13. 24. Thus men are said to deliver, Gen. 37. 21. to fight, Josh. 24. 9. to return, Josh. 10. 15. when they only attempted or endeavoured to do so.

They could not.] It was as easy for them to produce lice as frogs; but God hindered them, partly to confound them and their devilish arts, and partly to shew, that what they did before was only by his permission.

19. This is the finger of God.] i. e. The power of that supreme God, whom both the Egyptians and other heathen idolaters acknowledged as superior to all men, and idols, and devils.

21. Swarms of flies.] Heb. A mixture, of insects, or flies, as appears from Psa. 78. 45. which were of various kinds, as bees, wasps, gnats, hornets, &c. infinite in their numbers, and doubtless larger, and more venomous and pernicious, than the common ones were.

22. The Lord in the midst of the earth.] Either, 1. Of the whole earth, and consequently of Egypt; that I am not only the Lord of Israel, but of thee and thy dominions too. Or rather, 2. Of Goshen, the words being properly thus rendered, that I the Lord am in the midst of that land, to wit, the land of Goshen now spoken of, to defend and preserve it. For God is said to be in the midst of them whom he protects, Deut. 7. 21. and 23. 14. Jos. 3. 10. Psa. 46. 5.

26. The abomination of the Egyptians, &c.] That which the Egyptians abhor to kill, or to see killed, because they worshipped them as gods, as is notoriously known.

32. And Pharaoh hardened his heart, &c.] Can it be possible that any objectors to providence can mistake the true meaning of the expression of Pharaoh's heart being hardened, after reading the last account of him? He gave leave for the people to depart, desired them to pray for him, and yet, when they did so, and the swarm departed, he returned to his deceitful practices, and hardened himself yet more, and revoked his permission.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 4.] And the Lord shall sever between, &c.] This peculiar care of God over his people Israel had been mentioned to Pharaoh before, that nothing might be wanting to induce him to depart from his folly and obstinacy, in opposing the superior power of the Almighty. He could have no excuse, when he evidently saw the protecting hand of Heaven guarding the people he unjustly persecuted.

6. All

5 And the LORD appointed a set time, saying, To-morrow the LORD shall do this thing in the land.

6 And the LORD did that thing on the morrow, and all the cattle of Egypt died: but of the cattle of the children of Israel died not one.

7 And Pharaoh sent, and, behold, there was not one of the cattle of the Israelites dead. And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people go.

8 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses and unto Aaron, Take to you handfuls of ashes of the furnace, and let Moses sprinkle it toward the heaven in the sight of Pharaoh;

9 And it shall become small dust in all the land of Egypt, and shall be a boil breaking forth with blains upon man, and upon beast, throughout all the land of Egypt.

10 And they took ashes of the furnace, and stood before Pharaoh, and Moses sprinkled it up toward heaven: and it became a boil breaking forth with blains upon man, and upon beast.

11 And the magicians could not stand before Moses because of the boil: for the boil was upon the magicians, and upon all the Egyptians.

12 And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had spoken unto Moses:

13 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Rise up early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh, and say unto him, Thus saith the LORD God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may serve me.

14 For I will at this time send all my plagues upon thine heart, and upon thy servants, and upon thy people: that thou mayest know that there is none like me in all the earth.

15 For now I will stretch out my hand, that I may smite thee and thy people with pestilence; and thou shalt be cut off from the earth.

16 And in very deed for this cause have I raised thee up, for to shew in thee my power; and that my name may be declared throughout all the earth.

17 As yet exaltest thou thyself against my people, that thou wilt not let them go?

18 Behold, to-morrow, about this time, I will cause it to rain a very grievous hail, such as hath not been in Egypt since the foundation thereof even until now.

19 Send therefore now, and gather thy cattle, and all that thou hast in the field: for upon every man and beast which shall be found in the field, and shall not be brought home, the hail shall come down upon them, and they shall die.

20 He that feared the word of the LORD, among the servants of Pharaoh, made his servants and his cattle flee into the houses.

21 And he that regarded not the word of the LORD, left his servants and his cattle in the field.

22 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Stretch forth thine hand toward heaven, that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt, upon man, and upon beast, and upon every herb of the field, throughout the land of Egypt.

23 And Moses stretched forth his rod toward heaven, and the LORD sent thunder and hail, and the fire ran along upon the ground; and the LORD rained hail upon the land of Egypt.

24 So there was hail, and fire mingled with the hail, very grievous, such as there was none like it in all the land of Egypt since it became a nation.

25 And the hail smote throughout all the land of Egypt all that was in the field, both man and beast: and the hail smote every herb of the field, and brake every tree of the field.

26 Only in the land of Goshen, where the children of Israel were, was there no hail.

27 ¶ And Pharaoh sent, and called for Moses and Aaron, and said unto them, I have sinned this time: the LORD is righteous, and I and my people are wicked.

28 Entreat the LORD (for it is enough) that there be no more mighty thunderings and hail; and I will let you go, and ye shall stay no longer.

29 And Moses said unto him, As soon as I am gone out of the city, I will spread abroad my hands unto the LORD; and the thunder shall cease, neither shall there be any more hail; that thou mayest know how that the earth is the LORD's.

30 But as for thee and thy servants, I know that ye will not yet fear the LORD God.

31 And the flax and the barley was smitten: for the barley was in the ear, and the flax was bolled.

32 But the wheat and the rye were not smitten: for they were not grown up.

33 And Moses went out of the city from Pharaoh, and spread abroad his hands unto the LORD: and the thunders and hail ceased, and the rain was not poured upon the earth.

34 And when Pharaoh saw that the rain, and the hail, and the thunders, were ceased, he sinned yet more, and hardened his heart, he and his servants.

35 And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, neither would he let the children of Israel go; as the LORD had spoken by Moses.

CHAP. X.

1 God threateneth to send locusts.—7 Pharaoh inclineth to let the Israelites go.—12 The plague of the locusts.—16 Pharaoh saith to Moses.—21 The plague of darkness.—24 Pharaoh saith to Moses,—27 but yet is hardened.

AND the LORD said unto Moses, Go in unto Pharaoh: for I have hardened his heart, and the heart of his servants, that I might shew these my signs before him:

2 And that thou mayest tell in the ears of thy son, and of thy son's son, what things I have wrought in Egypt, and my signs which I have done among them; that ye may know how that I am the LORD.

3 And

6. All the cattle of Egypt died.] A very great number of them, all that were in the field, as it is expressly limited, ver. 3. but not all absolutely, as appears from ver. 9. 19, 25. and chap. 14. 23.

9. Shall be a boil breaking forth with blains.] This should be rendered, an inflammation breaking out into blains.

11. And the magicians could not stand before Moses, &c.] This plague completed the defeat of the magicians; accordingly, they are never mentioned again. Probably they were now rendered so contemptible, that they durst not again look either Moses or Pharaoh in the face.

14. Upon thine heart;] Such as shall not only afflict thy body and outward estate, but reach thine heart, and fill thy soul with terror, anguish, and impotent rage.

15. That I may smite thee and thy people with pestilence:] Not properly so called, but largely, as the word is used, Hos. 13. 14. meaning, with an utter and irrecoverable destruction. This relates partly to the killing of the first-born, which plague did more immediately and nearly concern both him and his people, and principally to their destruction in the Red-sea.

16. For this cause have I raised thee up.] The Septuagint has it, For this cause thou hast hitherto been preserved. Though thou hast long ago deserved to be destroyed, yet I have thought fit to spare thee for a considerable time, to shew my wonders in the land of Egypt.

20. He that feared the word of the Lord, &c.] It is not to be imagined but that some of the Egyptians must have been wonderfully affected by the terrible judgments they saw happen to their nation; and we find, notwithstanding the king's obstinacy, some of his people were wise enough to judge by what had past of what might happen; they sent, therefore, and gathered their cattle out of the field, and by this means saved their lives.

23. Ran along upon the ground,] Devouring both herbs and cattle which were upon it.

24. Fire mingled with the hail.] Which strange mixture much increased the miracle.

25. Every tree of the field;] i. e. Most of them; or herbs and trees of all sorts, as appears from chap. 10. 12, 15. See before, ver. 6.

27. I have sinned this time.] It appears, from his conduct afterwards, that this confession was extorted by the horrible fright he was in of being undone.

29. The earth is the Lord's.] That thou mayest see that he can either cause the heavens to send forth such thunders and hails, or restrain them, as he pleaseth.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse. 1. I have hardened his heart, &c.] That is, My miracles and judgments have only hardened the heart of Pharaoh, upon their removal; but go to him nevertheless; for if he still continue obstinate, I will do such things in his kingdom as shall never be forgotten by all succeeding generations.

3 And Moses and Aaron came in unto Pharaoh, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD God of the Hebrews, How long wilt thou refuse to humble thyself before me? Let my people go, that they may serve me.

4 Else, if thou refuse to let my people go, behold, to-morrow will I bring the locusts into thy coast:

5 And they shall cover the face of the earth, that one cannot be able to see the earth: and they shall eat the residue of that which is escaped, which remaineth unto you from the hail, and shall eat every tree which groweth for you out of the field:

6 And they shall fill thy houses, and the houses of all thy servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians; which neither thy fathers, nor thy fathers' fathers, have seen, since the day that they were upon the earth unto this day. And he turned himself, and went out from Pharaoh.

7 And Pharaoh's servants said unto him, How long shall this man be a snare unto us? Let the men go, that they may serve the LORD their God. Knowest thou not yet that Egypt is destroyed?

8 And Moses and Aaron were brought again unto Pharaoh: and he said unto them, Go, serve the LORD your God; but who are they that shall go?

9 And Moses said, We will go with our young and with our old, with our sons and with our daughters; with our flocks and with our herds will we go: for we must hold a feast unto the LORD.

10 And he said unto them, Let the LORD be so with you, as I will let you go, and your little ones: look to it, for evil is before you.

11 Not so: go now, ye that are men, and serve the LORD; for that ye did desire. And they were driven out from Pharaoh's presence.

12 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come up upon the land of Egypt, and eat every herb of the land, even all that the hail hath left.

13 And Moses stretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the LORD brought an east wind upon the land all that day, and all that night: and when it was morning, the east wind brought the locusts.

14 And the locusts went up over all the land of Egypt, and rested in all the coasts of Egypt: very grievous were they: before them there were no such locusts as they, neither after them shall be such.

15 For they covered the face of the whole earth, so that the land was darkened; and they did eat every herb of the land, and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left: and there remained not any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field, through all the land of Egypt.

16 ¶ Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron in haste; and he said, I have sinned against the LORD your God, and against you.

17 Now therefore forgive, I pray thee, my sin only this once, and entreat the LORD your God that he may take away from me this death only.

18 And he went out from Pharaoh, and entreated the LORD.

19 And the LORD turned a mighty strong west wind, which took away the locusts, and cast them into the Red sea: there remained not one locust in all the coasts of Egypt.

20 But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go.

21 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Stretch out thine hand toward heaven, that there may be darkness over the land of Egypt, even darkness which may be felt.

22 And Moses stretched forth his hand toward heaven: and there was a thick darkness in all the land of Egypt three days:

23 They saw not one another, neither rose any from his place for three days: but all the children of Israel had light in their dwellings.

24 ¶ And Pharaoh called unto Moses, and said, Go ye, serve the LORD; only let your flocks and your herds be stayed: let your little ones also go with you.

25 And Moses said, Thou must give us also sacrifices, and burnt-offerings, that we may sacrifice unto the LORD our God.

26 Our cattle also shall go with us: there shall not an hoof be left behind: for thereof must we take to serve the LORD our God; and we know not with what we must serve the LORD, until we come thither.

27 ¶ But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he would not let them go.

28 And Pharaoh said unto him, Get thee from me, take heed to thyself, see my face no more: for in that day thou seest my face, thou shalt die.

29 And Moses said, Thou hast spoken well; I will see thy face again no more.

C H A P. XI.

1 God's message to the Israelites to borrow jewels of their neighbours.—4 Moses threateneth Pharaoh with the death of the first-born.

AND the LORD said unto Moses, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt; afterward he will let you go hence: when he shall let you go, he shall surely thrust you out hence altogether.

2 Speak now in the ears of the people, and let every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold.

3 And the LORD gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover, the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants, and in the sight of the people.

4 ¶ And Moses said, Thus saith the LORD, About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt.

5 And all the first-born in the land of Egypt shall die, from the first-born of Pharaoh that sitteth upon his throne, even unto the first-born of the maid-servant that is behind the mill; and all the first-born of beasts.

6 And

23. They saw not one another, neither rose any from his place, &c.] This passage paints, in the strongest colours, the horror and dismay which this palpable darkness cast upon their minds. It implies, that none of the Egyptians ventured out of their houses during three days, and that all business was entirely at a stand.

29. I will see thy face again no more.] I will not appear again before thee without thy express command.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. The Lord said unto Moses:] Or, had said unto Moses. And this is here added, as the reason why Moses spake so boldly to Pharaoh, because God had assured him of a good issue.

2. Let every man borrow, &c.] See chap. 3. 22.

3. The man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants, &c.] It appears from hence that it was the peculiar obstinacy of the king, and an interested party, probably the Egyptian priests, who opposed the request of Moses, contrary to the general sense of the nation; for no history of any repute relates any thing against the Israelites whilst they sojourned in Egypt, or that they lived upon bad terms with the people of the country.

4. Moses said,] To Pharaoh before his departure, as appears by comparing ver. 8. And therefore the three first verses of this chapter come in by way of parenthesis.

5. Unto the first-born of the maid-servant—behind the mill;] i. e. All in

5. Every tree:] The fruits and leaves of every tree.

6. Which neither thy fathers, &c.] i. e. They exceeded in bigness or number all that had been seen in Egypt.

7. And Pharaoh's servants said, &c.] We must not here understand the mere domestics of the king's household; for this remonstrance was, probably, made by some of the most considerable and leading people about the court, who had suffered already by the judgments inflicted upon their nation.

9. A feast unto the Lord,] Wherein all are concerned, and therefore all must be present and ready to do what God requires them.

10. Let the Lord be so with you, as I will let you go.] I wish God may be no more ready and willing to be with you, and to do you good, than I am willing to let you go.

Evil is before you;] More evil and affliction shall befall you forthwith, unless you be content to go on my terms.

11. For that ye did desire:] Which was not true, but only was gathered by him out of their declared intention of going to sacrifice, wherein he thought the presence of the women and children wholly unnecessary.

17. This death.] This deadly plague; compare 2 Kings 4. 40. and 2 Cor. 11. 23. Besides, it did destroy the life of herbs and trees, yea, of beasts and men, either directly, or at least by consequence, in depriving them of the necessary supports of life.

21. Darkness which may be felt;] Which might be felt in its cause, to wit, those thick and gross vapours which filled and infected the air. No. 6.

6 And there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there was none like it, nor shall be like it any more.

7 But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast; that ye may know how that the LORD doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Israel.

8 And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and bow down themselves unto me, saying, Get thee out, and all the people that follow thee; and after that I will go out: and he went out from Pharaoh in a great anger.

9 And the LORD said unto Moses, Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you; that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh; and the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go out of his land.

C H A P. XII.

1 The beginning of the year is changed.—3 The passover instituted.—29 The first-born are slain.—31 The Israelites are driven out of the land.—43 The ordinance of the passover.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying,

2 This month shall be unto you the beginning of months: it shall be the first month of the year to you.

3 ¶ Speak ye unto all the congregation of Israel, saying, In the tenth day of this month they shall take to them every man a lamb, according to the house of their fathers, a lamb for an house:

4 And if the household be too little for the lamb, let him and his neighbour next unto his house take it, according to the number of the souls; every man according to his eating shall make your count for the lamb.

5 Your lamb shall be without blemish, a male of the first year: ye shall take it out from the sheep, or from the goats:

6 And ye shall keep it up until the fourteenth day of the same month: and the whole assembly of the congregation of Israel shall kill it in the evening.

7 And they shall take of the blood, and strike it on the two side-posts, and on the upper door-post of the houses wherein they shall eat it.

8 And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roast with fire, and unleavened bread; and with bitter herbs they shall eat it.

9 Eat not of it raw, nor sodden at all with water, but roast with fire; his head with his legs, and with the purtenance thereof.

10 And ye shall let nothing of it remain until the morning: and that which remaineth of it until the morning ye shall burn with fire.

11 ¶ And thus shall ye eat it; with your loins girded, your shoes on your feet, and your staff in your hand; and ye shall eat it in haste: it is the LORD's passover.

12 For I will pass through the land of Egypt this night, and will smite all the first-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beast: and against all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgment: I am the LORD.

13 And the blood shall be to you for a token upon the houses where ye are: and when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you, when I smite the land of Egypt.

14 And this day shall be unto you for a memorial; and ye shall keep it a feast to the LORD throughout your generations; ye shall keep it a feast by an ordinance for ever.

15 Seven days shall ye eat unleavened bread; even the first day ye shall put away leaven out of your houses: for whosoever eateth leavened bread, from the first day until the seventh day, that soul shall be cut off from Israel.

16 And in the first day there shall be an holy convocation, and in the seventh day there shall be an holy convocation to you: no manner of work shall be done in them, save that which every man must eat, that only may be done of you.

17 And ye shall observe the feast of unleavened bread; for in this self-same day have I brought your armies out of the land of Egypt: therefore shall ye observe this day in your generations by an ordinance for ever.

18 ¶ In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month at even, ye shall eat unleavened bread, until the one and twentieth day of the month at even.

19 Seven days shall there be no leaven found in your houses: for whosoever eateth that which is leavened, even that soul shall be cut off from the congregation of Israel, whether he be a stranger, or born in the land.

20 Ye shall eat nothing leavened: in all your habitations shall ye eat unleavened bread.

21 ¶ Then Moses called for all the elders of Israel, and said unto them, Draw out, and take you a lamb, according to your families, and kill the passover.

22 And ye shall take a bunch of hyssop, and dip it in the blood that is in the bason, and strike the lintel and the two side-posts with the blood that is in the bason:

in general from the highest to the lowest; for the grinding of the mill was the work of the most abject slaves.

7. A dog move his tongue;] i. e. There shall be great tranquillity among the Israelites.

8. Thy servants;] Thy courtiers and great officers, who now are so insolent and obstinate.

From Pharaoh in a great anger.] It should be rendered, from Pharaoh, who was in a great anger.

10. And Moses and Aaron did, &c.] Or rather had done all their signs and wonders before Pharaoh, but his heart continued obstinate.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 1. The Lord spake;] i. e. Had spoken before the three days of darkness, as may appear by comparing verse 3. and 6. of this chap. with chap. 11. 4.

2. This month,] The first month after the vernal equinox, called Abib, containing part of our March and part of April.

Shall be the first month of the year to you.] Heretofore your first month for all affairs hath been Tisri, which in part answers to our September, and is the first month after the autumnal equinox; and so it shall it be to you still as to civil affairs, as appears from Exod. 23. 16. and 34. 22. and Lev. 25. 8, 9, 10. but as to sacred and ecclesiastical matters, this shall henceforth be your first month.

3. A lamb for an house.] A lamb was to be disposed of to every house or family, according to its quantity, or the number of persons in it, as the next verse explains it.

4. If the household be too little;] i. e. For eating of the whole lamb at one meal, according to the rule, verse 8. 10.

5. Without blemish;] Without any deformity or distemper of body. This property was required, both to typify Christ, a lamb without spot or blemish, Heb. 9. 14. 1 Pet. 1. 19. and to instruct us, that all our services to God must be as perfect as possibly may be.

A male.] Because the male was accounted more excellent than the female.

Of the first year.] Because after that time they were not proper emblems of purity and innocence; though it might be offered to God at any time after it was eight days old, Exod. 22. 30. Lev. 22. 27.

6. Keep it up;] Separate it from the rest of the flock.

The whole assembly, &c.] The assembly is said to kill it, because one person did it in their name, and by their appointment.

7. They shall take of the blood.] This was afterwards restrained to the priests, but at this time it was allowed to the masters of families, as their present circumstances required.

Strike it,] With a bunch of hyssop, verse 22.

On the two side-posts, &c.] As a badge of distinction between their houses and the Egyptians'.

8. Unleavened bread,] As a monument of their speedy departure out of Egypt, which gave them not time to leaven their bread, verse 34. which is the reason alledged for it, Deut. 16. 3.

With bitter herbs;] To remind them of their hard service and bitter usage in Egypt.

11. Thus shall ye eat it;] That they being suddenly to take a great journey, might be in a travelling habit.

The Lord's passover;] A sacrifice in remembrance of Jehovah's passing over or sparing the Israelites when he smote the Egyptians.

12. Against all the gods, &c.] The idol-gods which the Egyptians worshipped.

14. An ordinance for ever.] i. e. So long as your state and church continues.

16. The first, &c.] The first day was to be an holy convocation, on account of the passover feast; and the seventh day, because it is computed to have been on the seventh day after their exit out of Egypt that Pharaoh and his host were drowned in the Red-sea.

19. Whether he be a stranger;] To wit, a proselyte; for strangers unconverted to the Jewish religion were not admitted to this feast.

bason: and none of you shall go out at the door of his house until the morning.

23 For the LORD will pass through to smite the Egyptians; and when he seeth the blood upon the lintel, and on the two side-posts, the LORD will pass over the door, and will not suffer the destroyer to come in unto your houses to smite you.

24 And ye shall observe this thing for an ordinance to thee and to thy sons for ever.

25 And it shall come to pass, when ye be come to the land which the LORD will give you, according as he hath promised, that ye shall keep this service.

26 And it shall come to pass, when your children shall say unto you, What mean you by this service?

27 That ye shall say, It is the sacrifice of the LORD's passover, who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, when he smote the Egyptians, and delivered our houses. And the people bowed the head and worshipped.

28 And the children of Israel went away, and did as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron, so did they.

29 ¶ And it came to pass, that at midnight the LORD smote all the first-born in the land of Egypt, from the first-born of Pharaoh that sat on his throne, unto the first-born of the captive that was in the dungeon; and all the first-born of cattle.

30 And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he, and all his servants, and all the Egyptians; and there was a great cry in Egypt: for there was not a house where there was not one dead.

31 ¶ And he called for Moses and Aaron by night, and said, Rise up, and get you forth from among my people, both you and the children of Israel: and go serve the LORD, as ye have said.

32 ¶ Also take your flocks and your herds, as ye have said, and be gone: and bless me also.

33 And the Egyptians were urgent upon the people, that they might send them out of the land in haste; for they said, We be all dead men.

34 And the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading-troughs being bound up in their cloaths upon their shoulders.

35 And the children of Israel did according to the word of Moses: and they borrowed of the Egyptians jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment.

36 And the LORD gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians, so that they lent unto them such things as they required: and they spoiled the Egyptians.

37 ¶ And the children of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand on foot that were men, besides children.

38 And a mixed multitude went up also with them; and flocks, and herds, even very much cattle.

39 And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought forth out of Egypt, for it was not leavened: because they were thrust out of Egypt, and could not tarry, neither had they prepared for themselves any victual.

22. Go out, &c.] Of the house wherein he did eat the passover, which oft-times was his neighbour's house, see ver. 4.

25. To the land.] Of Canaan, as ver. 19. For in the wilderness they kept this feast but once, and that by God's particular direction, Numb. 9. 2.

30. Was not a house.] To wit, of those houses which had any first-born in them, for in divers families there was no first-born.

32. Bless me also.] Pray to God for me, that I may not perish by this or any other plague.

37. About six hundred thousand on foot that were men.] i. e. Persons who were fit to bear arms, twenty years old and upwards. But if we reckon old men, women, and children, this could not be above one-third of the whole number of people that went out of Egypt. A surprising increase, in little more than two hundred years, from seventy persons only!

38. A mixed multitude:] Egyptian proselytes to the religion of the Hebrews.

40. The sojourning:] i. e. The sojourning of the Hebrew or Israelitish nation, from the time that Abraham left his native country, Gen. 12. 1. &c. to the release of his posterity, who dwelt, or were long sojourners, in Egypt, was just four hundred and thirty years. For by computing the years of the lives of Jacob, Levi, Kohath, Amram, and Moses himself, 40 Now the sojourning of the children of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years.

41 And it came to pass, at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, even the self-same day it came to pass, that all the hosts of the LORD went out from the land of Egypt.

42 It is a night to be much observed unto the LORD, for bringing them out from the land of Egypt: this is that night of the LORD to be observed of all the children of Israel in their generations.

43 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses and Aaron, This is the ordinance of the passover: there shall no stranger eat thereof:

44 But every man's servant that is bought for money, when thou hast circumcised him, then shall he eat thereof.

45 A foreigner, and an hired servant, shall not eat thereof.

46 In one house shall it be eaten; thou shalt not carry forth ought of the flesh abroad out of the house: neither shall ye break a bone thereof.

47 All the congregation of Israel shall keep it.

48 And when a stranger shall sojourn with thee, and will keep the passover to the LORD, let all his males be circumcised, and then let him come near and keep it; and he shall be as one that is born in the land: for no uncircumcised person shall eat thereof.

49 One law shall be to him that his home-born, and unto the stranger that sojourneth among you.

50 Thus did all the children of Israel; as the LORD commanded Moses and Aaron, so did they.

51 And it came to pass, the self-same day, that the LORD did bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt by their armies.

C H A P. XIII.

1 The first-born are sanctified to God.—3 The memorial of the passover is commanded.—11 The firstlings of beasts are set apart.—17 The Israelites go out of Egypt, and carry Joseph's bones with them.—21 God guideth them by a pillar of a cloud, and a pillar of fire.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Sanctify unto me all the first-born, whatsoever openeth the womb among the children of Israel, both of man and of beast: it is mine.

3 ¶ And Moses said unto the people, Remember this day, in which ye came out from Egypt, out of the house of bondage; for by strength of hand the LORD brought you out from this place: there shall no leavened bread be eaten.

4 This day came ye out, in the month Abib.

5 ¶ And it shall be, when the LORD shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which he sware unto thy fathers to give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey, that thou shalt keep this service in this month.

6 Seven

it appears that the sojourning of the children of Israel, strictly so called, in Egypt, was not above two hundred and fifteen years.

45. Shall not eat thereof.] Except he submit to circumcision, as ver. 43. See Numb. 9. 14.

46. Neither shall ye break a bone thereof.] This was required, principally, that it might be an evident type of the Lord Jesus, in whom this was literally fulfilled, John 19. 36.

51. And it came to pass, &c.] After four hundred and thirty years, exactly, were the descendants of ancient Israel brought out in a triumphant and regular manner from the dominion of a despotic monarch: for the words, by their armies, means, that they came not out in a confused or irregular manner, but in an orderly and set form, in troops as it were, or distinct companies. This very singular event is frequently mentioned to the Jews in after-times by their prophets, as an encouragement to their fidelity, and to awaken their grateful sense of God's protection.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 2. All the first-born:] viz. If they be males, as it is limited, ver. 12.

Whatsoever openeth the womb:] That is, the first production of the womb; and should have been so rendered here, the word being derived from an Arabic verb which signifies to begin.

9. A sign

6 Seven days thou shalt eat unleavened bread, and in the seventh day shall be a feast to the LORD.

7 Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days: and there shall no leavened bread be seen with thee, neither shall there be leaven seen with thee in all thy quarters.

8 And thou shalt shew thy son in that day, saying, This is done because of that which the LORD did unto me when I came forth out of Egypt.

9 And it shall be for a sign unto thee upon thine hand, and for a memorial between thine eyes, that the LORD's law may be in thy mouth: for with a strong hand hath the LORD brought thee out of Egypt.

10 Thou shalt therefore keep this ordinance in his season from year to year.

11 ¶ And it shall be, when the LORD shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, as he swore unto thee and to thy fathers, and shall give it thee,

12 That thou shalt set apart unto the LORD all that openeth the matrix; and every firstling that cometh of a beast which thou hast, the males shall be the LORD's.

13 And every firstling of an ass thou shalt redeem with a lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou shalt break his neck: and all the first-born of man among thy children shalt thou redeem.

14 ¶ And it shall be when thy son asketh thee in time to come, saying, What is this? that thou shalt say unto him, By strength of hand the LORD brought us out from Egypt, from the house of bondage.

15 And it came to pass, when Pharaoh would hardly let us go, that the LORD slew all the first-born in the land of Egypt, both the first-born of man, and the first-born of beast; therefore I sacrifice to the LORD all that openeth the matrix, being males; but all the first-born of my children I redeem.

16 And it shall be for a token upon thine hand, and for frontlets between thine eyes: for by strength of hand the LORD brought us forth out of Egypt.

17 ¶ And it came to pass, when Pharaoh had let the people go, that God led them not through the way of the land of the Philistines, although that was near: for God said, Lest peradventure the people repent when they see war, and they return to Egypt:

18 But God led the people about through the way of the wilderness of the Red-sea: and the children of Israel went up harnessed out of the land of Egypt.

19 And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him: for he had straightly sworn the children of Israel, saying, God will surely visit you; and ye shall carry up my bones away hence with you.

20 ¶ And they took their journey from Succoth, and encamped in Etham, in the edge of the wilderness.

9. A sign unto thee, &c.] The celebration of this feast shall be to thee instead of a mark which a man makes, or a ring, or any thing else which he puts upon his hand or arm, to bring any thing to his remembrance.

12. That thou shalt set apart, &c.] This ordinance is to be understood properly. Some beasts could not be sacrificed, as being unclean; they were therefore to be redeemed by exchange; and the first-born of every family, not so consecrated, was to be redeemed by some offering to the Lord.

17. Philistines.] A fierce and warlike people, whereof they had sad and late experience, 1 Chron. 7. 21.

Was near.] There being this way but a few days journey between Egypt and Canaan.

Lest—the people repent, &c.] Had they entered directly into Canaan by the shortest way, they must have been engaged in war at once with the Philistines, Canaanites, and Egyptians; and as they had been long oppressed with slavery, their spirits were broken and unfit for war. But though this which is here mentioned was one, yet it was not the only reason of this counsel, but there were other causes for it; the Egyptians were to be drowned in the sea, the Israelites to be further tried, Deut. 8. 2. and full measure to be allowed to the iniquity of the Amorites.

19. The bones of Joseph.] And the other patriarchs, as appears from Acts 7. 16.

21. And the Lord.] He is called the angel of God, chap. 14. 9. by whom we are to understand the Son of God, whose presence and conduct the Israelites had in the wilderness, as appears from 1 Cor. 10. 4, 9. and whom they are said to have tempted.

Pillar of a cloud.] It was but one pillar, Numb. 9. 15, 16. having two different appearances and uses, of a cloud by day, to defend them from the heat, Psa. 105. 39. which in those parts was excessive; and of a fire by night to illuminate them. It was a cloud erected towards heaven, like a pillar upwards; but downwards flat and broad, spread 21 And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light: to go by day and night.

22 He took not away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, from before the people.

C H A P. XIV.

1 God instructeth the Israelites in their journey.—5 Pharaoh pursueth after them.—10 The Israelites murmur.—18 Moses comforteth them.—15 God instructeth Moses.—19 The cloud removeth behind the camp.—21 The Israelites pass through the Red sea,—23 which drowneth the Egyptians.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Speak unto the children of Israel, that they turn and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, over against Baal-zephon: before it shall ye encamp by the sea.

3 For Pharaoh will say of the children of Israel, They are entangled in the land, the wilderness hath shut them in.

4 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, that he shall follow after them; and I will be honoured upon Pharaoh, and upon all his host; that the Egyptians may know that I am the LORD. And they did so.

5 ¶ And it was told the king of Egypt that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his servants was turned against the people, and they said, Why have we done this, that we have let Israel go from serving us?

6 And he made ready his chariot, and took his people with him:

7 And he took six hundred chosen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt, and captains over every one of them.

8 And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he pursued after the children of Israel; and the children of Israel went out with an high hand.

9 But the Egyptians pursued after them, (all the horses and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his army,) and overtook them encamping by the sea, beside Pi-hahiroth, before Baal-zephon.

10 ¶ And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and, behold, the Egyptians marched after them; and they were sore afraid: and the children of Israel cried out unto the LORD.

11 And they said unto Moses, Because there were no graves in Egypt, hast thou taken us away to die in the wilderness? Wherefore hast thou dealt thus with us, to carry us forth out of Egypt?

12 Is not this the word that we did tell thee in Egypt, saying, over the body of the people, and afterwards more eminently over the tabernacle.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIV.

Verse 2. Speak—that they turn.] Their intention at first was to have entered the wilderness from Etham, but they are now directed to turn to the right, and keep along the west-side of the Red-sea.

3. They are entangled in the land.] He will be persuaded that you are hemmed in by rocks on one side, and by the sea on the other.

The wilderness hath shut them in.] By the word wilderness must be understood wild rugged mountains; for the children of Israel were now near the shore of the Red-sea, among mountains almost impassable, especially to a numerous army.

4. And I will harden Pharaoh's heart.] The situation of the Israelites, now inclosed between impassable rocks and mountains on one side, and the sea on the other, will render Pharaoh so hardy and desperate as to attempt to follow, and, by force, bring them back to his Egyptian bondage.

9. All the horses and chariots, &c.] The army of the Egyptians consisted solely of chariots and horsemen, for they were in haste to overtake them.

11. And they said unto Moses, &c.] It is said at the end of the eighth verse, that the children of Israel went out with an high hand; the Chaldee renders it, with uncovered head. Now whatever may be the opinion of other expositors, it appears plain to us, that herein is meant that they went out unarmed, or without helmets; and finding themselves pursued by a regular army, conducted by the king himself, they gave themselves up for lost, thinking that nothing but a miracle could save them in this defenceless state.

12. Let us alone.] By this we see how forgetful the Israelites were, and how little they would trust God, though he had brought them out of Egypt in so miraculous a manner.

saying, Let us alone, that we may serve the Egyptians? for it had been better for us to serve the Egyptians, than that we should die in the wilderness.

13 ¶ And Moses said unto the people, Fear ye not; stand still, and see the salvation of the LORD, which he will shew to you to-day: for the Egyptians, whom ye have seen to-day, ye shall see them again no more for ever.

14 The LORD shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace.

15 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto me? Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward:

16 But lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the sea, and divide it: and the children of Israel shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea.

17 And I, behold, I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they shall follow them: and I will get me honour upon Pharaoh and upon all his host, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

18 ¶ And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I have gotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

19 ¶ And the angel of God, which went before the camp of Israel, removed, and went behind them; and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and stood behind them:

20 And it came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel; and it was a cloud and darkness to them, but it gave light by night to these: so that the one came not near the other all the night.

21 ¶ And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea: and the LORD caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided.

22 And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left.

23 ¶ And the Egyptians pursued, and went in after them, to the midst of the sea, even all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen.

24 And it came to pass, that in the morning watch the LORD looked unto the host of the Egyptians through the pillar of fire and of the cloud, and troubled the host of the Egyptians,

25 And took off their chariot-wheels, that they drave them heavily: so that the Egyptians said, Let us flee from the face of Israel, for the LORD fighteth for them against the Egyptians.

15. Wherefore criest thou unto me?] This passage contains an excellent moral lesson, namely, that it is not by inactive invocations of the Deity, that we are to expect relief from heaven in our exigencies; but by joining with prayer to God our most active and prudent endeavours.

16. Lift thou up thy rod, &c.] The same rod which had so often been lifted up for the punishment of the enemies of Israel, was now to finish the deliverance of God's people from their oppressors.

17. They shall follow them.] Of all the infatuations that ever possessed the Egyptians, this was the strongest, that they should venture to pursue the Israelites, when they saw, or might have seen, the sea opening her bosom to give them a passage: an evident proof that they were under the protection of the God of nature, whose voice that unruly element was thus miraculously made to obey.

I will get me honour.] My power and my justice shall be magnified, and rendered more conspicuous in the eyes of the world, by means of their miraculous destruction.

21. Caused the sea to go back.] The sea began to retire upon Moses' lifting up his rod, and stood as an heap on both sides, while the Israelites passed over dry land.

24. Through the pillar of fire and of the cloud.] The cloudy part of the pillar had been towards the Egyptians: but it seems probable to imagine, that the other side was now turned towards them, and confounded them with its amazing brightness.

And troubled the host, &c.] This was done, either by the glorious splendour issuing from the pillar of the cloud flashing in their faces; or, as Josephus explains it, by a dreadful tempest, with thunder and hail-stones shot from the cloud, which put them into the greatest disorder: To this transaction Dr. Hammond refers Psa. 77. 17.

25. And took off their chariot-wheels.] Some of their wheels were broken by lightning and tempest.

27. The sea returned to his strength.] This enormous mass of waters, which had been suspended by the power of God, had now full scope given to its impetuous rage.

No. 6.

26 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Stretch out thine hand over the sea, that the waters may come again upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen.

27 And Moses stretched forth his hand over the sea, and the sea returned to his strength when the morning appeared: and the Egyptians fled against it; and the LORD overthrew the Egyptians in the midst of the sea.

28 And the waters returned, and covered the chariots, and the horsemen, and all the host of Pharaoh that came into the sea after them; there remained not so much as one of them.

29 But the children of Israel walked upon dry land in the midst of the sea; and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left.

30 Thus the LORD saved Israel that day out of the hand of the Egyptians: and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea-shore.

31 And Israel saw that great work which the LORD did upon the Egyptians: and the people feared the LORD, and believed the LORD, and his servant Moses.

CHAP. XV.

1 Moses' song.—22 The people want water.—23 The waters at Marah are bitter.—25 A tree sweeteneth them.

THEN sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the LORD, and spake, saying, I will sing unto the LORD, for he hath triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider hath he thrown into the sea.

2 The LORD is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him.

3 The LORD is a man of war: the LORD is his name.

4 Pharaoh's chariots and his host hath he cast into the sea: his chosen captains also are drowned in the Red sea.

5 The depths have covered them: they sank into the bottom as a stone.

6 Thy right hand, O LORD, is become glorious in power: thy right hand, O LORD, hath dashed in pieces the enemy.

7 And in the greatness of thine excellency thou hast overthrown them that rose up against thee: thou sentest forth thy wrath, which consumed them as stubble.

8 And with the blast of thy nostrils the waters were gathered together; the floods stood upright as an heap, and the depths were congealed in the heart of the sea.

9 The

31. And the people feared the Lord.] This great miracle for some time filled their minds with awful ideas of God; but these were immediately effaced by the first pressure of a difficulty; and this temporary fit of religion turned into infidelity towards God, and impatient murmurings against their leader.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 1. Then sang Moses, &c.] This song is the most ancient piece of poetry in the world; but in what kind of measure it is composed is not easy to determine: nor is this of any great consequence, since every competent judge must own, that it contains something much more essential to poetry, elevation of sentiment, and loftiness of expression.

2. The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.] The Lord is my powerful protector, the object of my praise, the author of my safety, and glorious deliverance.

He is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation, &c.] This might be better rendered, He is my God, and I will honour him; my father's God, and I will exalt him. For the original word has two senses; to build one a comely dwelling, and to honour, the latter of which is preferable here, as it answers to the other member of the sentence, My father's God, and I will exalt him.

3. The Lord is a man of war.] This passage is very unhappily rendered; the Arabic has it, the Lord is mighty in war, which is much more elegant than our translation.

6. Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious, &c.] This, O God, was the work of thy divine power, which is magnified in the overthrow of such adversaries.

7. Thou sentest forth thy wrath, &c.] A truly sublime and poetical expression. Similar to this is that of the Psalmist, Thou shalt consume them with the blasting of the breath of thy displeasure.

8. With the blast of thy nostrils.] A poetical expression for the wind, which blew vehemently, by order of the Almighty. The royal psalmist uses nearly the same expression, when he tells us, that all the hosts of heaven were made by the breath of his mouth, Psa. 23. 6.

R

9. I will

9 The enemy said, I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the spoil; my lust shall be satisfied upon them: I will draw my sword, my hand shall destroy them.

10 Thou didst blow with thy wind, the sea covered them: they sank as lead in the mighty waters.

11 Who is like unto thee, O LORD, among the gods? who is like thee, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders?

12 Thou stretchedst out thy right hand, the earth swallowed them.

13 Thou in thy mercy hast led forth the people which thou hast redeemed: thou hast guided them in thy strength unto thy holy habitation.

14 The people shall hear, and be afraid: sorrow shall take hold on the inhabitants of Palestina.

15 Then the dukes of Edom shall be amazed; the mighty men of Moab trembling shall take hold upon them; all the inhabitants of Canaan shall melt away.

16 Fear and dread shall fall upon them: by the greatness of thine arm they shall be as still as a stone; till thy people pass over, O LORD, till the people pass over which thou hast purchased.

17 Thou shalt bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, in the place, O LORD, which thou hast made for thee to dwell in; in the sanctuary, O LORD, which thy hands have established.

18 The LORD shall reign for ever and ever.

19 For the horse of Pharaoh went in with his chariots and with his horsemen into the sea, and the LORD brought again the waters of the sea upon them: but the children of Israel went on dry land in the midst of the sea.

20 ¶ And Miriam the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances.

21 And Miriam answered them, Sing ye to the LORD, for he hath triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider hath he thrown into the sea.

22 ¶ So Moses brought Israel from the Red sea, and they went out into the wilderness of Shur; and they went three days in the wilderness, and found no water.

23 ¶ And when they came to Marah, they could not drink of the waters of Marah, for they were bitter: therefore the name of it was called Marah.

24 And the people murmured against Moses, saying, What shall we drink?

25 And he cried unto the LORD; and the LORD shewed him a tree, which when he had cast into the waters, the waters were made sweet: there he made for them a statute and an ordinance, and there he proved them,

26 And said, If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his statutes; I will put none of these diseases upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the LORD that healeth thee.

27 ¶ And they came to Elim, where were twelve wells of water, and threescore and ten palm-trees: and they encamped there by the waters.

C H A P. XVI.

2 The Israelites murmur for want of bread.—4 God promiseth them bread from heaven.—11 Quails are sent,—14 and manna.—16 The ordering of manna.—25 It was not to be found on the sabbath.

AND they took their journey from Elim; and all the congregation of the children of Israel came unto the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departing out of the land of Egypt.

2 And the whole congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness.

3 And the children of Israel said unto them, Would to God we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh-pots, and when we did eat bread to the full: for ye have brought us forth into this wilderness, to kill this whole assembly with hunger.

4 ¶ Then said the LORD unto Moses, Behold, I will rain bread from heaven for you; and the people shall go out and gather a certain rate every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law or no.

5 And it shall come to pass, that on the sixth day they shall prepare that which they bring in; and it shall be twice as much as they gather daily.

6 And Moses and Aaron said unto all the children of Israel, At even, then ye shall know that the LORD hath brought you out from the land of Egypt.

7 And in the morning, then ye shall see the glory of the LORD; for that he heareth your murmurings against the LORD: and what are we, that ye murmur against us?

8 And Moses said, This shall be, when the LORD shall give you in the evening flesh to eat, and in the morning bread to the full; for that the LORD heareth your murmurings which ye murmur against him: and what are we?

9. I will pursue.] How did the enemy swell with revenge, and feast upon the hope of satiating their malice and fury upon us, when God, by one blast of his displeasure, put a period at once to their lives and expectations!

11. Who is like unto thee, &c.] O powerful Jehovah! what are all the imaginary deities of the heathen world, when compared to thy transcendent and infinite perfections?

12. The earth swallowed them.] It received them into its capacious bosom, wherein the ocean is contained.

13. Thou hast guided them, &c.] The Almighty is here considered as a shepherd, leading his people in peaceful security, like a flock, to their promised rest in the land of Canaan.

14. The people shall hear, &c.] The fame of these wonders shall go before us, striking terror into all the people whose countries we are to possess.

17. Mountain of thine inheritance.] This seems to refer to the mountains which stood within the walls of Jerusalem, on one of which the temple was built. See Psa. 78. 54.

20. And Miriam the prophetess.] This woman was sister by the same mother to Aaron, and half sister to Moses.

21. And Miriam answered them.] The meaning seems to be, that after every verse sung by Moses and the men, Miriam and the women interposed, and repeated this verse, Sing to the Lord, for he hath triumphed gloriously, &c. This way of singing alternately was used in after times, as appears from Ezra 3. 11. and Psa. 136. and is represented as practised by the angels themselves, in the worship of the divine Majesty, Isa. 6. 4.

23. They came to Marah.] The word signifies bitterness, a name which was given it afterwards from the badness of the waters.

24. And the people murmured.] We have here a specimen of the unbelief of this people, though they had so lately seen such affecting demonstrations of the extraordinary care of Providence towards them.

26. If thou wilt, &c.] All now required of them was, to do justice, love mercy and walk humbly with their God. They were not yet loaded with that yoke of ceremonies which God, because of the hardness of their hearts, thought proper afterwards to lay upon them.

27. And they came to Elim.] This place is situated on the northern borders of the desert of Sin. Dr. Shaw tells us, that there are now only nine wells remaining, the other three being filled up with drifts of sand, which are common in Arabia; but that this loss is amply supplied by the great increase of the palm-trees, the seventy having propagated themselves into more than two thousand.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 2. Whole congregation—murmured.] This murmuring seems to have been much more general than that mentioned in the preceding chapter; for there it is only said, the people murmured; but here, the whole congregation.

3. Would to God we had died, &c.] Is this thy gratitude, O Israel, to thy God for all his benefits! O Judah, thy goodness is like the morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away! Hos. 6. 4. Surely they might, without any high degree of faith, have trusted in God, by whose command they had undertaken that dangerous expedition, that he would not suffer them to die in it by hunger or thirst.

4. The people shall—gather a certain rate every day.] It came down in daily showers, that they might be kept in a perpetual and thankful dependence on Providence.

That I may prove them.] To give them an opportunity of shewing their temper, whether they will be obedient to commands or not.

7. Ye shall see the glory of the Lord, &c.] This verse plainly evinces, that the conjectures of those writers who pretend that the cloudy pillar was only a beacon, used for convenience as well by other nations as the Jews, are founded in nothing but their own folly and unbelief. Here Moses assures them, they shall see the Shechinah, or divine glory of Jehovah; a light which must certainly be very different from the feeble appearance of a temporary lantern or beacon, and what the people could not possibly be deceived in.

9. Come

we? your murmurings are not against us, but against the LORD.

9 ¶ And Moses spake unto Aaron, Say unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, Come near before the LORD: for he hath heard your murmurings.

10 And it came to pass, as Aaron spake unto the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they looked toward the wilderness, and, behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud.

11 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

12 I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel; speak unto them, saying, At even ye shall eat flesh, and in the morning ye shall be filled with bread: and ye shall know that I am the LORD your God.

13 And it came to pass, that at even the quails came up, and covered the camp: and in the morning the dew lay round about the host.

14 And when the dew that lay was gone up, behold, upon the face of the wilderness there lay a small round thing, as small as the hoar-frost, on the ground:

15 And when the children of Israel saw it, they said one to another, It is manna: for they wist not what it was. And Moses said unto them, This is the bread which the LORD hath given you to eat.

16 ¶ This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded, Gather of it every man according to his eating; an omer for every man: according to the number of your persons, take ye every man for them which are in his tents.

17 And the children of Israel did so, and gathered, some more, some less.

18 And when they did mete it with an omer, he that gathered much had nothing over, and he that gathered little had no lack: they gathered every man according to his eating.

19 And Moses said, Let no man leave of it till the morning.

20 Notwithstanding, they hearkened not unto Moses; but some of them left of it until the morning, and it bred worms, and stank: and Moses was wroth with them.

21 And they gathered it every morning, every man according to his eating: and when the sun waxed hot, it melted.

22 ¶ And it came to pass, that on the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread; two omers for one man: and all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moses.

23 And he said unto them, This is that which the LORD hath said, To-morrow is the rest of the holy sabbath unto the LORD: bake that which ye will bake to-day, and seethe that ye will seethe; and that which remaineth over, lay up for you, to be kept until the morning.

24 And they laid it up till the morning, as Moses bade; and it did not stink, neither was there any worm therein.

25 And Moses said, Eat that to-day; for to-day is a sabbath unto the LORD; to-day ye shall not find it in the field.

9. Come near before the Lord.] Assemble together before the cloud wherein Jehovah's glorious presence is manifested.

10. And, behold, the glory of the Lord.] They were suddenly struck with an unwonted brightness from the pillar of the cloud.

13. Quails.] Ludolphus thinks it should be translated locusts, which he apprehends answers best to the circumstances of the narration both here and Numb. 11. 31.

15. It is manna.] That is, as the Hebrew word signifies, a portion or gift. This was a very different thing from the common manna; as that hardens by the heat of the sun, whereas this melted and flowed away in streams.

16. An omer for every man.] This measure contained about three quarts English, wine measure.

23. To-morrow is the rest.] It seems reasonable to conclude, from hence, that rest on the sabbath was now first appointed: that however religiously they might have observed a day in seven before, in memory of the six days creation, yet they did not cease from all labour till now; for otherwise the rulers of the people could have no need to be informed of it.

27. Some of the people, &c.] To satisfy a profane and ungrateful curiosity, which was not overlooked by their offended through merciful Preserver.

26 Six days ye shall gather it; but on the seventh day, which is the sabbath, in it there shall be none.

27 ¶ And it came to pass, that there went out some of the people on the seventh day for to gather, and they found none.

28 And the LORD said unto Moses, How long refuse ye to keep my commandments and my laws?

29 See, for that the LORD hath given you the sabbath, therefore he giveth you on the sixth day the bread of two days: abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the seventh day.

30 So the people rested on the seventh day.

31 And the house of Israel called the name thereof Manna: and it was like coriander-seed, white; and the taste of it was like wafers made with honey.

32 ¶ And Moses said, This is the thing which the LORD commandeth, Fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations; that they may see the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderness, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt.

33 And Moses said unto Aaron, Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the LORD, to be kept for your generations.

34 As the LORD commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the Testimony, to be kept.

35 And the children of Israel did eat manna forty years, until they came to a land inhabited: they did eat manna, until they came unto the borders of the land of Canaan.

36 Now an omer is the tenth part of an ephah.

C H A P. XVII.

2 The people murmur for water.—5 God sendeth them for water to the rock in Horeb.—8 Amalek is overcome by the bolding up of Moses' hands.—15 Moses buildeth the altar JEHOVAH-Nissi.

AND all the congregation of the children of Israel journeyed from the wilderness of Sin, after their journeys, according to the commandment of the LORD, and pitched in Rephidim: and there was no water for the people to drink.

2 Wherefore the people did chide with Moses, and said, Give us water, that we may drink. And Moses said unto them, Why chide ye with me? wherefore do ye tempt the LORD?

3 And the people thirsted there for water: and the people murmured against Moses, and said, Wherefore is this, that thou hast brought us up out of Egypt to kill us, and our children, and our cattle, with thirst?

4 And Moses cried unto the LORD, saying, What shall I do unto this people? they be almost ready to stone me.

5 And the LORD said unto Moses, Go on before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Israel: and thy rod, wherewith thou smotest the river, take in thine hand, and go.

6 Behold, I will stand before thee there upon the rock in Horeb; and thou shalt smite the rock, and there shall come water out of it, that the people may drink. And Moses did so in the sight of the elders of Israel.

7 And

33. Take a pot, &c.] One of the golden vessels to preserve it in.

35. Until they came to a land inhabited.] To Canaan, called a land inhabited, in opposition to the wilderness, which was either very thinly, or not at all inhabited.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 1. And pitched in Rephidim.] A dry and sandy part of the desert, within a march or two of Sinai.

3. And the people thirsted, &c.] The water they had brought from Elim was now spent, and they chid Moses for bringing them into such an inconvenient situation.

4. And Moses cried unto the Lord, &c.] The impatience of the people was so great, that Moses was forced to request an immediate miracle in their favour to secure his own life, who, as their leader, they thought accountable to them for whatever accident befell them.

5. Take with thee of the elders of Israel.] That they may be witnesses that thou dost really bring water out of the rock.

6. I will stand before thee, &c.] That is, the glory of the Lord in the cloud shall appear in this place, to strengthen thy faith, and convince the people of Israel, that this water is divinely given them.

And Moses did so.] That is, he smote the rock, and brought water out

7 And he called the name of the place Massah, and Meribah, because of the chiding of the children of Israel, and because they tempted the LORD, saying, Is the LORD among us, or not?

8 ¶ Then came Amalek, and fought with Israel in Rephidim.

9 And Moses said unto Joshua, Choose us out men, and go out, fight with Amalek: to-morrow I will stand on the top of the hill, with the rod of God in mine hand.

10 So Joshua did as Moses had said to him, and fought with Amalek: and Moses, Aaron, and Hur, went up to the top of the hill.

11 And it came to pass, when Moses held up his hand, that Israel prevailed: and when he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed.

12 But Moses' hands were heavy: and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sat thereon: and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side; and his hands were steady until the going down of the sun.

13 And Joshua discomfited Amalek and his people with the edge of the sword.

14 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Write this for a memorial in a book, and rehearse it in the ears of Joshua; for I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.

15 And Moses built an altar, and called the name of it JEHOVAH-Nissi:

16 For he said, Because the LORD hath sworn, that the LORD will have war with Amalek from generation to generation.

C H A P. XVIII.

2 Jethro bringeth to Moses his wife and two sons.—7 Moses entertaineth him.—13 Jethro's counsel is accepted.—27 Jethro departeth.

WHEN Jethro, the priest of Midian, Moses' father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moses, and for Israel his people, and that the LORD had brought Israel out of Egypt:

2 Then Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, took Zipporah, Moses' wife, after he had sent her back,

3 And her two sons: of which the name of the one was Gershom; (for he said, I have been an alien in a strange land;)

4 And the name of the other was Eliezer; (for the God of my father, said he, was mine help, and delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh:)

5 And Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, came with his sons and his wife unto Moses into the wilderness, where he encamped at the mount of God:

6 And he said unto Moses, I, thy father-in-law Jethro, am come unto thee, and thy wife, and her two sons with her.

7 ¶ And Moses went out to meet his father-in-law, and did obeisance, and kissed him: and they asked each other of their welfare: and they came into the tent.

8 And Moses told his father-in-law all that the LORD had done unto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians, for Israel's sake, and all the travail that had come upon them by the way, and how the LORD delivered them.

9 And Jethro rejoiced for all the goodness which the LORD had done to Israel, whom he had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians.

10 And Jethro said, Blessed be the LORD, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh; who hath delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians.

11 Now I know that the LORD is greater than all gods: for in the thing wherein they dealt proudly, he was above them.

12 And Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, took a burnt-offering and sacrifices for God: and Aaron came, and all the elders of Israel, to eat bread with Moses' father-in-law, before God.

13 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that Moses sat to judge the people: and the people stood by Moses from the morning unto the evening.

14 And when Moses' father-in-law saw all that he did to the people, he said, What is this thing that thou doest to the people? Why sittest thou thyself alone, and all the people stand by thee from morning unto even?

15 And Moses said unto his father-in-law, Because the people come unto me to enquire of God:

16 When they have a matter, they come unto me, and I judge between one and another; and I do make them know the statutes of God, and his laws.

17 And Moses' father-in-law said unto him, The thing that thou doest is not good.

18 Thou wilt surely wear away, both thou, and this people that is with thee: for this thing is too heavy for thee; thou art not able to perform it thyself alone.

19 Hearken now unto my voice, I will give thee counsel, and God shall be with thee: Be thou for the people to God-ward, that thou mayest bring the causes unto God.

20 And thou shalt teach them ordinances and laws, and shalt shew them the way wherein they must walk, and the work that they must do.

21 Moreover, thou shalt provide out of all the people able men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating covetousness; and place such over them, to be rulers of thousands, and rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens:

22 And

out in such plenty, that it ran down like rivers, Psa. 78. 15, 16. It became a continual fountain or stream of water, which rendered this part of Arabia habitable in future ages. Those who have travelled in these parts tell us, that at the foot of mount Horeb is a monastery, well supplied with a cool limpid stream, that flows down from the mountain.

7. Is the Lord among us, or not? Are we under his special providence and protection, or not?

8. Then came Amalek. Though this battle with Amalek is recorded after the miracle at Horeb, yet it certainly happened before it; for it is here said, that they came and fought with Israel in Rephidim: which circumstance is cleared up by comparing this passage with Deut. 25. 18.

9. Moses said unto Joshua. Moses appoints him general in this war, as being a person of distinguished valour and conduct. He is frequently styled the servant of Moses, because he formed himself under that great master in the arts of war and peace, and became qualified for leading the people after his death.

14. I will utterly put out, &c. God denounces this heavy doom upon them, to terrify others from the like malice. Accordingly they were partly destroyed by Saul, David, and the children of Simeon.

15. Jehovah-Nissi. Various criticisms have been made upon these two words, but the plain meaning seems quite satisfactory, which is, Jehovah, my banner.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

Verse 2. After he had sent her back. From the way to Egypt, upon the occasion mentioned Exod. 4. 24, 25. and because he found by experience that she was likely to hinder him from, or discourage him in, the discharge of his great and dangerous office, and to give an ill example to the Israelites.

6. He said unto Moses. Not by word of mouth, as the next verse sheweth, but either by a letter, or by a messenger.

11. Now I know. viz. More clearly, and by certain experience, as that phrase signifies, Gen. 22. 12. 1 Kings 17. 19, 24. for otherwise it is more than probable, that Jethro had the knowledge of the true God before this time, not only because he was the great-grand-child of Abraham, but also because of his long conversation with a person of so great knowledge, wisdom, and piety, as Moses was.

12. To eat bread. That is, to partake of the sacrifice that had been offered.

13. Moses sat to judge the people, &c. Having now some respite from their fatigue, and the attacks of their enemies, Moses takes the opportunity of enquiring into the grievances and disputes of his own people. He sits down, therefore, among them, as their king and judge, to settle their differences.

15. To enquire of God. i. e. Of the mind and will of God, both as to his worship and service, and as to their mutual duties to one another.

19. Hearken now unto my voice, &c. Jethro very properly recommends it to his son-in-law to attend to religious matters only, or to such as were of very great consequence. The lesser disputes of property and private injuries, he thinks, might be delegated to some men of probity and judgment; and, by this means, take off the extreme fatigue of attending to such numerous complaints as must arise in such a multitude.

21. Able men; Heb. men of might, not for strength of body, but for greatness, resolution, courage, and constancy of mind.

Men of truth, Or, of faith, or faithful, such as love the truth, and diligently labour to find it out in all causes, and then pass a true and righteous sentence.

23. And

22 And let them judge the people at all seasons: and it shall be, that every great matter they shall bring unto thee, but every small matter they shall judge: so shall it be easier for thyself, and they shall bear the burden with thee.

23 If thou shalt do this thing, and God command thee so, then thou shalt be able to endure, and all this people shall also go to their place in peace.

24 So Moses hearkened to the voice of his father-in-law, and did all that he had said.

25 And Moses chose able men out of all Israel, and made them heads over the people, rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens.

26 And they judged the people at all seasons: the hard causes they brought unto Moses, but every small matter they judged themselves.

27 ¶ And Moses let his father-in-law depart; and he went his way into his own land.

C H A P. XIX.

1 The people come to Sinai.—3 God's message by Moses unto the people out of the mount.—7 The people's answer returned again.—10 The people are prepared against the third day.—16 The fearful presence of God upon the mount.

IN the third month, when the children of Israel were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the same day came they into the wilderness of Sinai.

2 For they were departed from Rephidim, and were come to the desert of Sinai, and had pitched in the wilderness; and there Israel camped before the mount.

3 ¶ And Moses went up unto God, and the LORD called unto him out of the mountain, saying, Thus shalt thou say to the house of Jacob, and tell the children of Israel;

4 Ye have seen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I bare you on eagles' wings, and brought you unto myself.

5 Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine:

6 And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation. These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel.

7 ¶ And Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before their faces all these words which the LORD commanded him.

8 And all the people answered together, and said, All that the LORD hath spoken we will do. And Moses returned the words of the people unto the LORD.

23. And God command thee so, &c.] i. e. If, upon consulting the Lord, you find he approves of this my counsel.

27. And Moses let his father-in-law depart.] After he had solicited him to stay longer, without being able to prevail with him, as appears from Numb. 10. 29, &c.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 1. In the third month—the same day.] i. e. The first day of the third month, and not the fifteenth, as some understand it. And this sense is confirmed from ver. 11. Be ready against the third day; which can hardly mean any thing else but the third day of the month.

3. And Moses went up unto God.] That is, he went up unto the mount, the symbol of the divine presence having rested upon it. He who is here called God is styled an angel, Acts 7. 38. The generality of Christian divines understand it of Christ, the angel of the covenant, Gal. 3. 17.

4. Bare you on eagles' wings.] Safely, out of the reach of danger; and strongly, against all opposition.

5. If ye will obey my voice, &c.] The Almighty can have no other view than the happiness of his creatures; and whether it be a kingdom, or a single man, who obeys his laws, the consequence must be success and advancement. The national success of the Jews, we find, always depended upon their strict adherence to the laws of God.

6. A kingdom of priests.] So they are called in regard, 1. Of their exemption and separation from all the people of the world, as priests are taken out of the multitude of men. 2. Of their consecration to the worship and service of God, every subject of this kingdom being in some sort a priest to offer some kind of sacrifices to God. 3. Of their privileges, because God conferred upon them singular honour, safety, and immunity, with liberty of coming near to him.

9. Lo, I come unto thee, &c.] God was pleased to appear in such a manner to the people, that they might hear his voice, and be sufficiently convinced of the authority and reality of the revelation.

No. 6.

9 And the LORD said unto Moses, Lo, I come unto thee in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with thee, and believe thee for ever. And Moses told the words of the people unto the LORD.

10 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and sanctify them to-day and to-morrow, and let them wash their clothes, 11 And be ready against the third day: for the third day the LORD will come down in the sight of all the people upon mount Sinai.

12 And thou shalt set bounds unto the people round about, saying, Take heed to yourselves, that ye go not up into the mount, or touch the border of it: whosoever toucheth the mount shall be surely put to death:

13 There shall not an hand touch it but he shall surely be stoned or shot through: whether it be beast or man, it shall not live: when the trumpet soundeth long, they shall come up to the mount.

14 ¶ And Moses went down from the mount unto the people, and sanctified the people; and they washed their clothes.

15 And he said unto the people, Be ready against the third day: come not at your wives.

16 ¶ And it came to pass, on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled.

17 And Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God: and they stood at the nether part of the mount.

18 And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the LORD descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace: and the whole mount quaked greatly.

19 And when the voice of the trumpet sounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by a voice.

20 And the LORD came down upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mount: and the LORD called Moses up to the top of the mount; and Moses went up.

21 And the LORD said unto Moses, Go down, charge the people, lest they break through unto the LORD to gaze, and many of them perish.

22 And let the priests also which come near to the LORD sanctify themselves, lest the LORD break forth upon them.

23 And Moses said unto the LORD, The people cannot come up to mount Sinai; for thou chargedst us, saying, Set bounds about the mount, and sanctify it.

24 And

10. Let them wash their clothes.] By which external washing, which was agreeable to that state of the church, they were taught to cleanse their inward man.

13. Whether it be beast or man.] For though the beasts are not capable of a law, yet they might be threatened for man's caution, and punished for the fault of their owners in not keeping them at a distance from the mount.

They shall come up to the mount;] To the foot of it, ver. 17. Deut. 14. 11. that they might more distinctly hear the voice of God.

14. And sanctified the people;] By commanding them to sanctify themselves, and directing them how to do it.

15. Come not at your wives.] In order to abstract their minds from all sensuality and earthly affections, and render them the more fit for spiritual intercourse with God, they are enjoined to abstain even from lawful pleasures.

17. Stood at the nether part of the mount.] Therefore one part of the mount they might come to, though not to another, to wit, the higher; which may clear the difficulty and seeming contradiction betwixt ver. 12. and 13.

20. On the top of the mount.] So here are three parts of the mount manifestly distinguished; the top where the cloud was, the middle part where Moses now stood, and about which the bounds seem to have been put, and the nether or lower part where the people were.

21. Lest they break through—to gaze.] Through curiosity, to know in what form or manner I appear to thee.

22. And let the priests also.] For though the Aaronical priesthood was not yet appointed, it is certain, that as there were sacrifices before, so there were priests to offer them, which were either the first-born, who were consecrated to God, and did execute the office of priests, as may be gathered from Exod. 13. 2. and 24. 5. Numb. 3. 12. and 8. 26. or some other persons appointed by God for doing that work till the office was settled in Aaron's family.

S

24. Thou

24 And the LORD said unto him, Away, get thee down, and thou shalt come up, thou, and Aaron with thee: but let not the priests and the people break through to come up unto the LORD, lest he break forth upon them.

25 So Moses went down unto the people, and spake unto them.

C H A P. XX.

† The ten commandments.—18 The people are afraid.—20 Moses comforteth them.—22 Idolatry is forbidden.—24 Of what sort the altar should be.

AND God spake all these words, saying,
2 I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

3 ¶ Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

4 Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth:

5 Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the LORD thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me;

6 And shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

7 Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

8 Remember the sabbath-day to keep it holy.

9 Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work:

10 But the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates:

11 For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the LORD blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it.

12 ¶ Honour thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

13 Thou shalt not kill.

14 Thou shalt not commit adultery.

15 Thou shalt not steal.

16 Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.

17 Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's.

18 ¶ And all the people saw the thunderings, and the lightnings, and the noise of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking: and, when the people saw it, they removed, and stood afar off.

19 And

24. Thou shalt come up, &c.] Moses and Aaron, who were to receive the law, and convey the will of the Most High God to the people, must necessarily be protected, and miraculously enabled to bear the glorious presence of the Deity. He who made the human frame can certainly strengthen its nature, and make it capable of sustaining any weight of glory upon suitable occasions.

25. So Moses went down, &c.] After the Lord Jehovah had sufficiently imparted his will to Moses, and, doubtless, had miraculously impressed it upon his memory, he descended from the summit of the mountain into the plain, and rehearsed it to the people.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. God spake all these words;] That is, the ten commandments following.

3. Thou shalt have no other gods.] Heb. There shall not be to thee another god, or other gods, to wit, idols, which others have, esteem, and worship as gods, and therefore scripture so calls them by way of supposition, Deut. 32. 21.

Before me.] i. e. In my presence, in my house or church. He may also intimate that all the idolatry which any of them may hereafter commit is manifest to his eyes.

4. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image,] i. e. For thy use, or for thee to worship; for otherwise they were not absolutely forbidden to make any images, but only to make them for worship.

Any likeness, &c.] As of angels, sun, moon, or stars, which the heathens worshipped; or as of men, and beasts, and creeping things, which the Egyptians and other Gentiles worshipped as gods; neither of fishes, such as Dagon was, or serpents, crocodiles, and such other Egyptian deities.

5. Not bow down.] Not only inward reverence is forbidden, but also all outward gestures that naturally or customarily express reverence.

Am a jealous God;] i. e. Impatient of any partner in thy love and worship, and full of wrath to them that give my glory to images. God is pleased to call and account himself the husband of his church and people, Jer. 2. 2. Hos. 2. 19. and therefore idolatry is called adultery, Deut. 31. 16. Jer. 3. 3, 10. and God's anger against idolaters, jealousy.

Visiting the iniquity, &c.] By the word visiting is to be understood punishing with signal judgments. But then it may be enquired, how this can be reconciled with those sacred and irreversible rules of equity which must, at all times, be supposed to regulate God's moral government, and to the doctrine so strongly inculcated by Ezekiel, chap. 18. 20. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son. In answer to which it may be observed, 1. That it is thought, that here God speaks not of eternal damnation, but of temporal punishments, which we know children are frequently subjected to by means of the vicious and profligate lives of their parents and progenitors. 2. If the former reason is not sufficient, then from the words following, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me, it appears that God speaks of visiting the iniquity of the fathers on such children as inherit their vices, imitate their bad examples, and continue to manifest their hatred and contempt of God, by persisting in their idolatries. Whereas the prophet Ezekiel speaks, on the contrary, of such of the offspring of degenerate and corrupted parents as were themselves penitent and virtuous.

6. Shewing mercy unto thousands,] To wit, of their generations, i. e. for ever; whereas his punishment extended only to three or four of them: so far is God's mercy exalted above his justice.

7. Thou shalt not take, &c.] You shall not use the name of God, either in oaths or in common discourse, lightly, rashly, irreverently, or unnecessarily, or without weighty or sufficient cause.

Not hold him guiltless;] i. e. The Lord will look upon him as a guilty person, and will severely punish him. This is a common figure, where more is understood than expressed.

8. Remember.] This word is here very emphatical; and, 1. It reminds us of a former delivery of the substance of this command, to wit, Gen. 2. 3. 2. It insinuates the great necessity of consideration and preparation for the sabbath before it comes. 3. It shews the singular importance of this command; and that the religious observation of this is the best way to secure our obedience to all the rest.

To keep it holy;] i. e. By a careful abstinence from servile works or worldly business, and by a diligent employing of the day in holy thoughts, words, and exercises, in worshipping of God in public and private, and the celebration of his works; and the furthering of our own and others sanctification and salvation: see Isa. 58. 13.

9. Six days shalt thou labour.] This may be either, 1. A command to employ those days in our worldly occasions, yet so as God and religion be not neglected on those days, as many scriptures teach us. Or, 2. A permission to do so; which seems preferable, 3. Because so it is a proper argument to enforce the observation of the sabbath; q. d. Grudge not me one day, when I allow you six for it.

10. Not do any work.] Thou shalt not employ thyself in any servile labour, nor follow the ordinary business of thy occupation: but works of absolute necessity, for the preservation and regular support of life, together with acts of charity and mercy, can never be superseded by any positive law.

11. Blessed the sabbath-day;] i. e. Made it a day of blessing, as well as of blessings and favours upon those that religiously observe it.

Hallowed;] i. e. Separated it from the rest of the days, and from all common employments, and consecrated it to his own holy service, and man's holy use.

12. Honour.] Which word doth not only note the reverence, love, and obedience we owe them, but also support and maintenance, as appears from Matt. 15. 4, 5, 6. and from the like signification of that word, 1 Tim. 5. 3, 17.

That thy days may be long;] Heb. That they, i. e. thy parents, may prolong thy days, to wit, instrumentally, by their prayers made to God for thee, and by their blessing in my name conferred upon thee.

13. Not kill.] To wit, any man or woman, without authority, and without just cause.

14. Not commit adultery.] Here is mentioned one kind of uncleanness, as being eminently sinful, and unjust, and pernicious to human society. But under this are comprehended and forbidden all other kinds of filthiness, and all means, occasions, and appearances of them.

16. Not bear false witness;] Which doth not only forbid perjury in judgment, but also all unjust censure, slander, backbiting, scolding, false accusation, and the like; and also requires a just and candid judgment of our neighbour, and of his words and actions.

Against thy neighbour;] No, nor for thy neighbour; but he saith against, both because such perjuries, slanders, &c. are most commonly designed against them, and because this is a great aggravation of the sin, when a man not only speaks evil and falsehood, but doth it from malice and ill-will. The term neighbour signifies every man in general who is within the reach of our good or bad offices, as we are taught by our Saviour himself in the parable of the good Samaritan.

18. Saw the thunderings;] i. e. Heard them. One sense is oft put for another, as seeing, Gen. 42. 1. for hearing Acts. 7. 12.

They removed,] From the bottom of the mountain, where it seems they stood.

20. And

And Moses made a serpent of brass, & put it up on a pole; & it came to pass that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass he lived.

19 And they said unto Moses, Speak thou with us, and we will hear: but let not God speak with us, lest we die.

20 And Moses said unto the people, Fear not: for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your faces, that ye sin not.

21 And the people stood afar off, and Moses drew near unto the thick darkness where God was.

22 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Thus thou shalt say unto the children of Israel; Ye have seen that I have talked with you from heaven.

23 Ye shall not make with me gods of silver, neither shall ye make unto you gods of gold.

24 ¶ An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me, and shalt sacrifice thereon thy burnt-offerings, and thy peace-offerings, thy sheep, and thine oxen: in all places where I record my name I will come unto thee, and I will bless thee.

25 And if thou wilt make me an altar of stone, thou shalt not build it of hewn stone: for if thou lift up thy tool upon it, thou hast polluted it.

26 Neither shalt thou go up by steps unto mine altar, that thy nakedness be not discovered thereon.

C H A P. XXI.

1 Laws for men-servants,—7 for women-servants,—12 for man-slaughter,—16 for stealers of men,—17 for cursers of parents,—18 for smiters,—28 for an ox that goreth,—33 for him that is an occasion of harm.

NOW these are the judgments which thou shalt set before them.

2 If thou buy an Hebrew servant, six years he shall serve: and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing.

3 If he came in by himself, he shall go out by himself: if he were married, then his wife shall go out with him.

4 If his master have given him a wife, and she have born him sons or daughters; the wife and her children shall be her master's, and he shall go out by himself.

5 And if the servant shall plainly say, I love my master, my wife, and my children; I will not go out free:

6 Then his master shall bring him unto the judges; he shall also bring him to the door, or unto the door-post; and his master shall bore his ear through with an awl; and he shall serve him for ever.

7 ¶ And if a man sell his daughter to be a maid-servant, she shall not go out as the men-servants do.

8 If she please not her master, who hath betrothed her to himself, then shall he let her be redeemed: to sell her unto a strange nation he shall have no power, seeing he hath dealt deceitfully with her.

9 And if he have betrothed her unto his son, he shall deal with her after the manner of daughters.

10 If he take him another wife, her food, her raiment, and her duty of marriage, shall he not diminish.

11 And if he do not these three unto her, then shall she go out free without money.

12 ¶ He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall be surely put to death.

13 And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he shall flee.

14 But if a man come presumptuously upon his neighbour, to slay him with guile, thou shalt take him from mine altar, that he may die.

15 ¶ And he that smiteth his father, or his mother, shall be surely put to death.

16 ¶ And he that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death.

17 ¶ And he that curseth his father or his mother, shall surely be put to death.

18 ¶ And if men strive together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed:

19 If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit: only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed.

20 ¶ And if a man smite his servant, or his maid, with a rod, and he die under his hand; he shall be surely punished.

21 Notwithstanding, if he continue a day or two, he shall not be punished; for he is his money.

22 ¶ If men strive, and hurt a woman with child, so that her fruit depart from her, and yet no mischief follow: he shall be surely punished, according as the woman's husband will lay upon him: and he shall pay as the judges determine.

23 And if any mischief follow, then thou shalt give life for life,

24 Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot,

25 Burning for burning, wound for wound, stripe for stripe.

26 ¶ And if a man smite the eye of his servant, or the eye of his maid, that it perish; he shall let him go free for his eye's sake.

27 And if he smite out his man-servant's tooth, or his maid-servant's tooth; he shall let him go free for his tooth's sake.

28 ¶ If an ox gore a man or a woman, that they die; then the ox shall be surely stoned, and his flesh shall not be eaten: but the owner of the ox shall be quit.

29 But if the ox were wont to push with his horn in time past, and it hath been testified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox shall be stoned, and his owner also shall be put to death.

30 If there be laid on him a sum of money, then he shall give for the ransom of his life whatsoever is laid upon him.

31 Whether he have gored a son, or have gored a daughter, according to this judgment shall it be done unto him.

32 If the ox shall push a man-servant, or maid-servant; he shall give unto their master thirty shekels of silver, and the ox shall be stoned.

33 ¶ And if a man shall open a pit, or if a man shall dig a pit, and not cover it, and an ox or an ass fall therein;

34 The owner of the pit shall make it good, and give money unto the owner of them; and the dead beast shall be his.

35 ¶ And if one man's ox hurt another's, that he die; then

20. And Moses said, &c.] Moses very properly takes advantage of their terrors, to improve their moral sense of their obligation to obey the commandments. God, says he, has done this only to prove or try your attachment to him, and to inspire you with a proper dread of offending and provoking him, by shewing you how powerful he is, and able either to reward or punish you.

24. An altar of earth, &c.] This command only respected their condition in the wilderness, for there were better and more durable altars in the tabernacle and temple.

25. Altar of stone,] Which, in those rocky parts, might be as easy for them to make as one of earth.

26. That thy nakedness be not discovered.] For the manner then was for men to wear long coats or gowns like women.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 1. The judgments;] Or, the judicial laws, by which thou and the judges before-mentioned shall govern thyself and the people in civil and criminal causes.

6. For ever;] As long as he lives, or till the year of jubilee.

9. After the manner of daughters.] He shall give her a portion, as to a daughter.

20. And he die under his hand.] Is it possible that Christians can have so far forgotten the law of God, engraven on the hearts of Jews, as to tolerate the murder of slaves, upon paying a fine only for so dreadful an act? And yet this is reported to be allowed in our plantations. May God open their eyes to a sense of their wickedness, before the just anger of an offended Deity punishes them as suddenly and dreadfully as they deserve!

24. Eye for eye.] The execution of this law is not put into the hands of private persons, as if every man might avenge himself; which would introduce universal confusion. The tradition of the elders seems to have put this corrupt gloss upon it. But magistrates had an eye to this rule in punishing offenders, and doing right to those that are injured.

35, 36.] Both these verses sufficiently shew the nice attention of the Jewish legislature to exact justice between man and man. These moral and truly excellent injunctions, which Moses received from God himself, formed that law which Christ came not to destroy but to fulfil, and to render still more excellent by the christian dispensation.

then they shall sell the live ox, and divide the money of it; and the dead ox also they shall divide.

36 Or if it be known that the ox hath used to push in time past, and his owner hath not kept him in; he shall surely pay ox for ox; and the dead shall be his own.

C H A P. XXII.

1 Of theft.—5 Of damage.—7 Of trespasses.—14 Of borrowing.—16 Of fornication.—18 Of witchcraft.—20 Of idolatry.—25 Of usury.—26 Of pledges.—28 Of reverence to magistrates.—29 The first-fruits.

IF a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep.

2 ¶ If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him.

3 If the sun be risen upon him, there shall be blood shed for him: for he should make full restitution; if he have nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft.

4 If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or ass, or sheep; he shall restore double.

5 ¶ If a man shall cause a field or vineyard to be eaten, and shall put in his beast, and shall feed in another man's field: of the best of his own field, and of the best of his own vineyard, shall he make restitution.

6 ¶ If fire break out, and catch in thorns, so that the stacks of corn, or the standing-corn, or the field, be consumed therewith; he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution.

7 ¶ If a man shall deliver unto his neighbour money or stuff to keep, and it be stolen out of the man's house; if the thief be found, let him pay double.

8 If the thief be not found, then the master of the house shall be brought unto the judges to see whether he have put his hand unto his neighbour's goods.

9 For all manner of trespass, whether it be for ox, for ass, for sheep, for raiment, or for any manner of lost thing which another challengeth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the judges; and whom the judges shall condemn, he shall pay double unto his neighbour.

10 If a man deliver unto his neighbour an ass, or an ox, or a sheep, or any beast, to keep, and it die, or be hurt, or driven away, no man seeing it:

11 Then shall an oath of the LORD be between them both, that he hath not put his hand unto his neighbour's goods; and the owner of it shall accept thereof, and he shall not make it good.

12 And if it be stolen from him, he shall make restitution unto the owner thereof.

13 If it be torn in pieces; then let him bring it for witness, and he shall not make good that which was torn.

14 ¶ And if a man borrow ought of his neighbour, and it be hurt or die, the owner thereof being not with it, he shall surely make it good.

15 But if the owner thereof be with it, he shall not make it good: if it be an hired thing, it came for his hire.

16 ¶ And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her, he shall surely endow her to be his wife.

17 If her father utterly refuse to give her unto him, he shall pay money according to the dowry of virgins.

18 ¶ Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live.

19 ¶ Whosoever lieth with a beast shall surely be put to death.

20 ¶ He that sacrificeth unto any god, save unto the LORD only, he shall be utterly destroyed.

21 ¶ Thou shall neither vex a stranger, nor oppress him: for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ Ye shall not afflict any widow or fatherless child.

23 If thou afflict them in any wise, and they cry at all unto me, I will surely hear their cry;

24 And my wrath shall wax hot, and I will kill you with the sword; and your wives shall be widows, and your children fatherless.

25 ¶ If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury.

26 ¶ If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down:

27 For that is his covering only; it is his raiment for his skin: wherein shall he sleep? and it shall come to pass, when he crieth unto me, that I will hear; for I am gracious.

28 ¶ Thou shalt not revile the gods, nor curse the ruler of thy people.

29 ¶ Thou shalt not delay to offer the first of thy ripe fruits, and of thy liquors: the first-born of thy sons shalt thou give unto me.

30 Likewise shalt thou do with thine oxen, and with thy sheep: seven days it shall be with his dam; on the eighth day thou shalt give it me.

31 ¶ And ye shall be holy men unto me: neither shall ye eat any flesh that is torn of beasts in the field; ye shall cast it to the dogs.

C H A P. XXIII.

1 Of slander and false witness.—4 Of charitableness.—12 Of the sabbath.—13 Of idolatry.—18 Of the blood and the fat of the sacrifice.—20 An angel is promised, with a blessing, if they obey him.

THOU shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness.

2 ¶ Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither shalt thou speak in a cause to decline after many, to wrest judgment:

3 ¶ Neither shalt thou countenance a poor man in his cause.

4 ¶ If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again.

5 If thou see the ass of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, and wouldest forbear to help him, thou shalt surely help with him.

6 Thou shalt not wrest the judgment of thy poor in his cause.

7 Keep thee far from a false matter; and the innocent and righteous slay thou not: for I will not justify the wicked.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXII.

Verse 1. Five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep.] More for an ox than for a sheep, because the owner, besides all the other profit, lost the daily labour of his ox.

2. If a thief.] Broke into a house in the night, and was killed in the doing it, his blood was upon his own head.

16. Not betrothed.] To lie with a maid, who was already under engagement of marriage, was punished with death.

18. Not suffer a witch to live.] Witchcraft not only gives that honour to the devil which is due to God alone, but bids defiance to the divine providence, wages war with God's government, puts his work into the devil's hand, expecting him to do good and evil. By our law, consulting, covenanting with, invoking or employing any evil spirit, to any intent whatever, and exercising any enchantment, charm, or sorcery, whereby hurt shall be done to any person, is made felony, without benefit of clergy.

28. Thou shalt not revile the gods.] That is, the judges and magistrates. Princes and magistrates are our fathers, whom the fifth commandment obligeth us to honour.

31. Ye shall be holy men, &c.] i. e. Ye shall be, as it were, a nation of priests, in comparison of those wicked nations among whom ye sojourn. Ye shall likewise abstain from any food which ye do not kill yourselves, and purify from the blood, which must not be eaten.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

Verse 2. Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil.] General usage will never excuse us in any ill practice; nor is the broad way ever the safer for being crowded. We must enquire what we ought to do, not what the most do; because we must be judged by our master, not our fellow-servants; and it is too great a compliment, to be willing to go to hell for company.

9. Thou

8 ¶ And thou shalt take no gift; for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous.

9 ¶ Also thou shalt not oppress a stranger: for ye know the heart of a stranger, seeing ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

10 And six years thou shalt sow thy land, and shalt gather in the fruits thereof:

11 But the seventh year thou shalt let it rest and lie still, that the poor of thy people may eat; and what they leave, the beast of the field shall eat. In like manner thou shalt deal with thy vineyard, and with thy olive-yard.

12 Six days thou shalt do thy work, and on the seventh day thou shalt rest: that thine ox and thine ass may rest, and the son of thy handmaid, and the stranger, may be refreshed.

13 And in all things that I have said unto you be circumspect: and make no mention of the name of other gods, neither let it be heard out of thy mouth.

14 ¶ Three times thou shalt keep a feast unto me in the year.

15 Thou shalt keep the feast of unleavened bread: (thou shalt eat unleavened bread seven days, as I commanded thee, in the time appointed of the month Abib; for in it thou camest out from Egypt; and none shall appear before me empty:)

16 And the feast of harvest, the first-fruits of thy labours, which thou hast sown in thy field: and the feast of in-gathering, which is in the end of the year, when thou hast gathered in thy labours out of the field.

17 Three times in the year all thy males shall appear before the LORD God.

18 ¶ Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leavened bread; neither shall the fat of my sacrifice remain until the morning.

19 The first of the first-fruits of thy land thou shalt bring into the house of the LORD thy God. Thou shalt not seethe a kid in his mother's milk.

20 ¶ Behold, I send an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared.

21 Beware of him, and obey his voice, provoke him not: for he will not pardon your transgressions; for my name is in him.

22 But if thou shalt indeed obey his voice, and do all that I speak; then I will be an enemy unto thine enemies, and an adversary unto thine adversaries.

9. Thou shalt not oppress a stranger.] Though aliens might not inherit lands among them, yet they must have justice done them.

11. That the poor—may eat] That which groweth of its own accord.

12. On the seventh day thou shalt rest.] This command is here repeated, lest any should think the weekly rest might cease when the whole year was consecrated to rest.

13. Make no mention;] To wit, without detestation.

15. None shall appear before me empty.] None shall ever come at those times without some offering or other, for the support of the Levites, and the worship of God.

16. The feast of harvest] i. e. Of wheat-harvest: for barley-harvest was before this time. This feast was otherwise called Pentecost.

The feast of in-gathering.] To wit, of all the rest of the fruits of the earth, as of the vines and olives. This was also called the feast of booths, and of tabernacles. All their three feasts had a respect unto the harvest, which began in the passover, was carried on at pentecost, and was fully completed and ended in this feast.

19. Thou shalt not seethe a kid in his mother's milk.] The words may be rendered thus, Thou shalt not seethe, or roast, (for the word bashal signifies to roast as well as to boil, as is evident from Deut. 16. 7.) a kid, being, or whilst it is, in his mother's milk; which it may be said to be, either, 1. While it sucks its mother's milk; and so it may admit of a two-fold interpretation; First, that this is to be understood of the passover, of which most conceive he had now spoken, ver. 18. in which they used either a lamb or a kid, Exod. 12. 5. and then the word bashal must be rendered roast; Secondly, that this speaks not of sacrifice to God, wherein sucking creatures are allowed, Exod. 21. 30. Lev. 22. 27. 1 Sam. 7. 9. but of man's use. Or rather, 2. Whilst it is very tender and young, rather of a milky than a fleshy substance. And it may be said to be in its mother's milk, by an usual hypallage, when its mother's milk is in it, i. e. whilst the milk it sucks, as it were, remains in it undigested and unconverted into flesh, even as a man is often said to be in the spirit, when indeed the spirit is in him. And what is here indefinitely prohibited, is elsewhere particularly explained, and the time defined, to wit, that it be not offered to God before it was eight days old; and consequently, if they might not be offered to God, they might not be used by men for food.

No. 7.

23 For mine angel shall go before thee, and bring thee in unto the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites; and I will cut them off.

24 Thou shalt not bow down to their gods, nor serve them, nor do after their works: but thou shalt utterly overthrow them, and quite break down their images.

25 And ye shall serve the LORD your God, and he shall bless thy bread and thy water; and I will take sickness away from the midst of thee.

26 ¶ There shall nothing cast their young, nor be barren, in thy land; the number of thy days I will fulfil.

27 I will send my fear before thee, and will destroy all the people to whom thou shalt come; and I will make all thine enemies turn their backs unto thee.

28 And I will send hornets before thee, which shall drive out the Hivite, the Canaanite, and the Hittite, from before thee.

29 I will not drive them out from before thee in one year, lest the land become desolate, and the beast of the field multiply against thee.

30 By little and little I will drive them out from before thee, until thou be increased, and inherit the land.

31 And I will set thy bounds from the Red-sea even unto the sea of the Philistines, and from the desert unto the river: for I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hand: and thou shalt drive them out before thee.

32 Thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor with their gods.

33 They shall not dwell in thy land, lest they make thee sin against me; for if thou serve their gods, it will surely be a snare unto thee.

AND he said unto Moses, Come up unto the LORD, thou, and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel; and worship ye afar off.

2 And Moses alone shall come near the Lord: but they shall not come nigh; neither shall the people go up with him.

3 ¶ And

20. An Angel.] To wit, Christ, the Angel of the covenant, as may be gathered both from the following words, because pardon of sin, which is God's prerogative, Mark 2. 7. is here ascribed to him, and God's name is in him; and by comparing other scriptures, as Exod. 32. 34. Acts 7. 38, 39. 1 Cor. 10. 9. See Exod. 13. 21. and 14. 19.

25. Thy bread and thy water.] i. e. All thy provisions; bread denoting any kind of meat, and water any kind of drink, 1 Sam. 25. 11.

26. The number of thy days I will fulfil.] I will preserve thee, so as thou shalt live as long as the course of nature and temper of thy body will permit.

27. My fear.] i. e. A great terror, or terror wrought by me; see Exod. 33. 2. Josh. 24. 12.

28. Hornets.] Properly so called, as may be gathered from Josh. 24. 12. Deut. 7. 20. Hornets are of themselves very troublesome and mischievous; but these, it is very probable, were, like those Egyptian flies, chap. 8. 21. of an extraordinary bigness and perniciousness. Nor is it strange that such creatures did drive many of these people from their habitations; for many heathen writers give us instances of some people driven from their seats by frogs, others by mice, others by bees and wasps.

31. Sea of the Philistines.] The Mediterranean sea.

The desert.] Of Egypt or Arabia.

The river.] To wit, Euphrates, which is often called the river by way of eminency.

32, 33.] In these verses, the reason of all covenant and intercourse with the seven nations being forbid is plainly to be seen, the impossibility of the Israelites making any such league, without being seduced into idolatrous practices, the consequence of which must always prove destructive, as we find it did whenever they mixed with them. No peace was therefore to be concluded with any of the Canaanites, unless they first embraced the Jewish religion.

C H A P. XXV.

3 ¶ And Moses came and told the people all the words of the LORD, and all the judgments: and all the people answered with one voice, and said, All the words which the LORD hath said will we do.

4 And Moses wrote all the words of the LORD, and rose up early in the morning, and builded an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars, according to the twelve tribes of Israel.

5 And he sent young men of the children of Israel, which offered burnt-offerings, and sacrificed peace-offerings of oxen unto the LORD.

6 And Moses took half of the blood, and put it in basons; and half of the blood he sprinkled on the altar.

7 And he took the book of the covenant, and read in the audience of the people; and they said, All that the LORD hath said will we do, and be obedient.

8 And Moses took the blood, and sprinkled it on the people, and said, Behold the blood of the covenant, which the LORD hath made with you concerning all these words.

9 ¶ Then went up Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel.

10 And they saw the God of Israel: and there was under his feet as it were a paved work of a sapphire-stone, and as it were the body of heaven in his clearness.

11 And upon the nobles of the children of Israel he laid not his hand: also they saw God, and did eat and drink.

12 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Come up to me into the mount, and be there: and I will give thee tables of stone, and a law, and commandments which I have written, that thou mayest teach them.

13 And Moses rose up, and his minister Joshua: and Moses went up into the mount of God.

14 And he said unto the elders, Tarry ye here for us, until we come again unto you: and, behold, Aaron and Hur are with you: if any man have any matters to do, let him come unto them.

15 And Moses went up into the mount, and a cloud covered the mount.

16 And the glory of the LORD abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days: and the seventh day he called unto Moses out of the midst of the cloud.

17 And the sight of the glory of the LORD was like devouring fire on the top of the mount, in the eyes of the children of Israel.

18 And Moses went into the midst of the cloud, and gat him up into the mount: and Moses was in the mount forty days and forty nights.

1 What the Israelites must offer for the making of the tabernacle.—10 The form of the ark.—17 The mercy-seat, with the cherubims.—23 The table, with the furniture thereof.—31 The candlestick, with the instruments thereof.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring me an offering: of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart ye shall take my offering.

3 And this is the offering which ye shall take of them; gold, and silver, and brass,

4 And blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair,

5 And rams' skins dyed red, and badgers' skins, and shittim-wood;

6 Oil for the light, spices for anointing oil, and for sweet incense;

7 Onyx stones, and stones to be set in the ephod, and in the breast-plate.

8 And let them make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among them.

9 According to all that I shew thee, after the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern of all the instruments thereof, even so shall ye make it.

10 ¶ And they shall make an ark of shittim-wood: two cubits and a half shall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

11 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, within and without shalt thou overlay it, and shalt make upon it a crown of gold round about.

12 And thou shalt cast four rings of gold for it, and put them in the four corners thereof: and two rings shall be in the one side of it, and two rings in the other side of it.

13 And thou shalt make staves of shittim-wood, and overlay them with gold.

14 And thou shalt put the staves into the rings by the sides of the ark, that the ark may be borne with them.

15 The staves shall be in the rings of the ark: they shall not be taken from it.

16 And thou shalt put into the ark the testimony which I shall give thee.

17 ¶ And thou shalt make a mercy-seat of pure gold; two cubits and a half shall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof.

18 And thou shalt make two cherubims of gold; of beaten work shalt thou make them, in the two ends of the mercy-seat.

19 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXV.

Verse 1. And the Lord spake unto Moses, &c.] We must understand all this that is now related, to have passed during the forty days which Moses spent on the top of the mountain with Jehovah, who having now made his covenant with the Israelites, and having received their promises of obedience, proceeds to describe to Moses what kind of temple he would have consecrated to him during their then unsettled state. But this, with all its punctuality and niceties, was but a type of that more glorious one which was to succeed it under Solomon; and that under Solomon was still but a type of the last and most finished workmanship of God, the temple of saints in the New Jerusalem, under the Christian dispensation.

2. Of every man that giveth it willingly, &c.] The service of God, of all kinds, must be the free-will offering of the heart; for God loveth a cheerful giver.

4. Blue, and purple, and scarlet.] Some materials proper for the work, and of the colours here mentioned, to wit, wool, or thread, or some such like things, as appears from Heb. 9. 19.

5. Shittim-wood.] A kind of wood growing in Egypt and the deserts of Arabia, very durable and precious.

8. A sanctuary.] A sort of ambulatory temple; and in all antiquity we find nothing more ancient than such portable temples.

11. A crown.] A border, raised up above the rest of the ark.

16. The testimony.] To the two tables of stone, wherein the decalogue was written, called the testimony here, and chap. 30. 6. Lev. 16. 13.

17. A mercy-seat.] Or, propitiatory; which seems, from the sameness of dimensions, to be nothing else but the covering of the ark, upon which God is said to sit; whence the ark is called God's footstool.

18. Two cherubims of gold.] Moses has not told us what was the form of these cherubims; but they were designed to represent the angelical nature.

23. Thou

3. And all the judgments, &c.] i. e. Both the ceremonial and the moral law; and to both the people with one voice gave their hearty assent and promise of obedience.

5. Peace-offerings of oxen.] Though these are only mentioned, yet other creatures were also sacrificed, Heb. 9. 19, 20.

7. The book of the covenant.] Wherein Moses had written the conditions of this covenant, to wit, the words and laws of God, ver. 4.

8. On the people.] Either upon the twelve pillars representing the people; or, upon the people's representatives, viz. the elders mentioned ver. 1.

10. They saw the God of Israel.] Not any visible resemblance of the divine nature, which is expressly denied, Deut. 4. 15. 1 Tim. 6. 16. and was refused to Moses when he desired it, chap. 33. 18—20. and surely would never be granted to the elders of Israel; but some glorious appearance or token of God's special presence.

Under his feet.] By his feet is meant only the lower part, which rested, as it were, upon a glittering pavement.

11. They saw God, and did eat and drink.] So far were they from being destroyed, that they were not affrighted at this glorious appearance of God, but were refreshed and comforted by it, and did joyfully eat and drink together in God's presence, celebrating the sacred feast made of the remnant of the peace-offerings.

12. A law and commandments.] To wit, the ten commandments, so called by way of eminency: for these only were written by God upon the stony tables, as appears by Exod. 34. 28.

13. And his minister Joshua, &c.] Joshua had been pitched on already by Moses for his assistant and successor.

17. And the sight of the glory, &c.] This glorious appearance, in which Jehovah manifested himself, was, nevertheless, harmless to Moses and his assistant Joshua, who were endued with powers to sustain its influence; nay, perhaps it was the means which supported and nourished their mortal bodies forty days without their usual food.

19 And make one cherub on the one end, and the other cherub on the other end; even of the mercy-seat shall ye make the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

20 And the cherubims shall stretch forth their wings on high, covering the mercy-seat with their wings, and their faces shall look one to another; toward the mercy-seat shall the faces of the cherubims be.

21 And thou shalt put the mercy-seat above upon the ark; and in the ark thou shalt put the testimony that I shall give thee.

22 And there I will meet with thee, and I will commune with thee from above the mercy-seat, from between the two cherubims which are upon the ark of the testimony, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the children of Israel.

23 ¶ Thou shalt also make a table of shittim-wood: two cubits shall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

24 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, and make thereto a crown of gold round about.

25 And thou shalt make unto it a border of an hand-breadth round about, and thou shalt make a golden crown to the border thereof round about.

26 And thou shalt make for it four rings of gold, and put the rings in the four corners that are on the four feet thereof.

27 Over against the border shall the rings be, for places of the staves to bear the table.

28 And thou shalt make the staves of shittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, that the table may be borne with them.

29 And thou shalt make the dishes thereof, and spoons thereof, and covers thereof, and bowls thereof, to cover withal: of pure gold shalt thou make them.

30 And thou shalt set upon the table shew-bread before me alway.

31 ¶ And thou shalt make a candlestick of pure gold; of beaten work shall the candlestick be made: his shaft, and his branches, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers, shall be of the same.

32 And six branches shall come out of the sides of it: three branches of the candlestick out of the one side, and three branches of the candlestick out of the other side:

33 Three bowls made like unto almonds, with a knop and a flower in one branch; and three bowls made like almonds in the other branch, with a knop and a flower: so in the six branches that come out of the candlestick.

34 And in the candlestick shall be four bowls made like unto almonds, with their knops and their flowers.

35 And there shall be a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, according to the six branches that proceed out of the candlestick.

36 Their knops and their branches shall be of the same: all of it shall be one beaten work of pure gold.

37 And thou shalt make the seven lamps thereof: and they shall light the lamps thereof, that they may give light over against it.

38 And the tongs thereof, and the snuff-dishes thereof, shall be of pure gold.

39 Of a talent of pure gold shall he make it, with all these vessels.

40 And look that thou make them after their pattern, which was shewed thee in the mount.

C H A P. XXVI.

1 The ten curtains of the tabernacle.—14 The covering of rams' skins.—31 The vail for the ark.

23. Thou shalt also make a table, &c.] This and the following six verses are entirely descriptive of the furniture of that house, where the splendour of God was to inhabit visibly; and as the whole was an allegorical representation, it was necessary that the house of God should be properly and completely furnished.

30. Shew-bread, &c.] In remembrance of the food having been constantly supplied to their nation, during the whole of their pilgrimage in the wilderness. It was called shew-bread, or bread of presence, to denote God's presence and communication with them at all times.

MOREOVER, thou shalt make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and scarlet: with cherubims of cunning work shalt thou make them.

2 The length of one curtain shall be eight and twenty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: and every one of the curtains shall have one measure.

3 The five curtains shall be coupled together one to another; and other five curtains shall be coupled one to another.

4 And thou shalt make loops of blue upon the edge of the one curtain, from the selvedge in the coupling; and likewise shalt thou make in the uttermost edge of another curtain in the coupling of the second.

5 Fifty loops shalt thou make in the one curtain, and fifty loops shalt thou make in the edge of the curtain that is in the coupling of the second, that the loops may take hold one of another.

6 And thou shalt make fifty taches of gold, and couple the curtains together with the taches: and it shall be one tabernacle.

7 ¶ And thou shalt make curtains of goats' hair, to be a covering upon the tabernacle: eleven curtains shalt thou make.

8 The length of one curtain shall be thirty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: and the eleven curtains shall be all of one measure.

9 And thou shalt couple five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves, and shalt double the sixth curtain in the forefront of the tabernacle.

10 And thou shalt make fifty loops on the edge of the one curtain that is outmost in the coupling, and fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which coupleth the second.

11 And thou shalt make fifty taches of brass, and put the taches into the loops, and couple the tent together, that it may be one.

12 And the remnant that remaineth of the curtains of the tent, the half curtain that remaineth shall hang over the back-side of the tabernacle.

13 And a cubit on the one side, and a cubit on the other side, of that which remaineth in the length of the curtains of the tent, it shall hang over the sides of the tabernacle, on this side and on that side, to cover it.

14 And thou shalt make a covering for the tent of rams' skins dyed red, and a covering above of badgers' skins.

15 ¶ And thou shall make boards for the tabernacle of shittim-wood standing up.

16 Ten cubits shall be the length of a board, and a cubit and an half shall be the breadth of one board.

17 Two tenons shall there be in one board, set in order one against another: thus shalt thou make for all the boards of the tabernacle.

18 And thou shall make the boards for the tabernacle, twenty boards on the south-side, southward.

19 And thou shalt make forty sockets of silver under the twenty boards; two sockets under one board for his two tenons, and two sockets under another board for his two tenons.

20 And for the second side of the tabernacle, on the north side, there shall be twenty boards:

21 And their forty sockets of silver; two sockets under one board, and two sockets under another board.

22 And for the sides of the tabernacle westward thou shalt make six boards.

23 And two boards shalt thou make for the corners of the tabernacle in the two sides.

24 And they shall be coupled together beneath, and they shall be coupled together above the head of it unto one ring: thus shall it be for them both; they shall be for the two corners.

25 And

31. And thou shalt make, &c.] Either by thyself, or by some other person whom thou shalt cause to make it.

39. A talent;] Which contains three thousand shekels, chap. 38. 25. or about three hundred and fifty pounds.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVI.

Verse 1. The tabernacle,] Or tent; wherein the ark, table, and candlestick were to be placed.

Of cunning work;] Either woven, or wrought with needle, wherein is most skill and curiosity.

27. For

25 And they shall be eight boards, and their sockets of silver, sixteen sockets; two sockets under one board, and two sockets under another board.

26 ¶ And thou shalt make bars of shittim wood: five for the boards of the one side of the tabernacle,

27 And five bars for the boards of the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the side of the tabernacle for the two sides westward.

28 And the middle bar in the midst of the boards shall reach from end to end.

29 And thou shalt overlay the boards with gold, and make their rings of gold for places for the bars: and thou shalt overlay the bars with gold.

30 And thou shalt rear up the tabernacle according to the fashion thereof, which was shewed thee in the mount.

31 ¶ And thou shalt make a vail of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen of cunning work: with cherubims shall it be made.

32 And thou shalt hang it upon four pillars of shittim wood, overlaid with gold: their hooks shall be of gold, upon the four sockets of silver.

33 ¶ And thou shalt hang up the vail under the taches, that thou mayest bring in thither within the vail the ark of the testimony: and the vail shall divide unto you between the holy place and the most holy.

34 And thou shalt put the mercy-seat upon the ark of the testimony, in the most holy place.

35 And thou shalt set the table without the vail, and the candlestick over against the table, on the side of the tabernacle toward the south: and thou shalt put the table on the north-side.

36 And thou shalt make an hanging for the door of the tent of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work.

37 And thou shalt make for the hanging five pillars of shittim wood, and overlay them with gold, and their hooks shall be of gold: and thou shalt cast five sockets of brass for them.

C H A P. XXVII.

1 The altar of burnt-offering, with the vessels thereof.—9 The court of the tabernacle inclosed with hangings and pillars.—18 The measure of the court.—20 The oil for the lamp.

AND thou shalt make an altar of shittim wood, five cubits long, and five cubits broad: the altar shall be four-square: and the height thereof shall be three cubits.

2 And thou shalt make the horns of it upon the four corners thereof: his horns shall be of the same; and thou shalt overlay it with brass.

3 And thou shalt make his pans to receive his ashes, and his shovels, and his basons, and his flesh-hooks, and his fire-pans: all the vessels thereof thou shalt make of brass.

27. For the two sides westward.] This should undoubtedly be rendered, for the side westward.

30. And thou shalt rear up, &c.] This charge is repeated more than once, that every thing relating to the tabernacle should be executed strictly, according to the plan revealed to Moses by Jehovah himself. The expression rear up seems to comprehend the whole elevation and form of the structure.

31. And thou shalt make a vail, &c.] It was this vail or separation of the inner, or most holy place, from the ordinary place of worship, which was miraculously rent in twain from the top to the bottom, when our blessed Lord expired on the cross; and this was done in the sight of the priest at the time of their evening sacrifice. This extraordinary rending of the vail was to represent the perfect revelation of the will of God to all people, and equally to priest and congregation; and to shew that there was no more separation of Jew or Gentile, but that all might have access to the Holy of Holies, even to Christ himself, through the vail of his flesh, which was then on the cross.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVII.

Verse 1. An altar.] Not that for incense, but another for sacrifices.

2. The horns;] Which were elevated above the body of the altar, in form either of pyramids or spires. These were not only for ornament, but for use also, either to keep things put upon it from falling, or that beasts to be offered might be bound to them: see Psa. 118. 27.

With brass;] With plates of brass of competent thickness, both above the wood and under it, that the fire might not take hold of the wood.

4 And thou shalt make for it a grate of net-work of brass: and upon the net shalt thou make four brasen rings in the four corners thereof.

5 And thou shalt put it under the compass of the altar beneath, that the net may be even to the midst of the altar.

6 And thou shalt make staves for the altar, staves of shittim wood, and overlay them with brass.

7 And the staves shall be put into the rings, and the staves shall be upon the two sides of the altar, to bear it.

8 Hollow with boards shalt thou make it: as it was shewed thee in the mount, so shall they make it.

9 ¶ And thou shalt make the court of the tabernacle; for the south side southward there shall be hangings for the court of fine twined linen of an hundred cubits long, for one side:

10 And the twenty pillars thereof and their twenty sockets shall be of brass: the hooks of the pillars and their fillets shall be of silver.

11 And likewise for the north side in length, there shall be hangings of an hundred cubits long, and his twenty pillars, and their twenty sockets of brass: the hooks of the pillars and their fillets of silver.

12 ¶ And for the breadth of the court on the west side shall be hangings of fifty cubits: their pillars ten, and their sockets ten.

13 And the breadth of the court on the east side eastward shall be fifty cubits.

14 The hangings of one side of the gate shall be fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their sockets three.

15 And on the other side shall be hangings, fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their sockets three.

16 ¶ And for the gate of the court shall be an hanging of twenty cubits, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work: and their pillars shall be four, and their sockets four.

17 All the pillars round about the court shall be filleted with silver: their hooks shall be of silver, and their sockets of brass.

18 ¶ The length of the court shall be an hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty every where, and the height five cubits of fine twined linen, and their sockets of brass.

19 All the vessels of the tabernacle, in all the service thereof, and all the pins thereof, and all the pins of the court, shall be of brass.

20 ¶ And thou shalt command the children of Israel, that they bring the pure oil-olive beaten for the light, to cause the lamp to burn always.

21 In the tabernacle of the congregation without the vail, which is before the testimony, Aaron and his sons shall order it from evening to morning before the LORD. It shall be a statute for ever unto their generations on the behalf of the children of Israel.

C H A P.

3. Basons;] To receive the blood of the sacrifices.

Flesh-hooks;] For taking up the pieces of the sacrifices, in order to lay them right upon the fire.

Fire-pans;] In which they carried live coals from this altar to that of incense.

9. Court of the tabernacle.] A court encompassing the tabernacle, chap. 40. 33. in the midst whereof the altar of sacrifices was placed, upon which the offerings were burnt in the open air, which was most convenient.

19. All the vessels, &c.] i. e. Except such as have been expressly ordered to be made of silver: as to the pins, especially those in the court, which probably were fastenings to cords to prevent the curtains flying up, they were to be made of brass, not being subject to rust or injury from the weather.

20. Pure oil-olive beaten;] Out of the olive with a pestle, which is more free from dregs than that which is squeezed out with a press.

To cause the lamp to burn always.] It would seem, from chap. 30. 8. Lev. 24. 2, &c. 1 Sam. 3. 3. 2 Chron. 13. 11. that the lamps did not burn by day, but were only lighted in the evening; and this is the opinion of most interpreters. But Josephus, who was himself a priest, says they burned the lamps day and night, three of them being kept burning all day, and the rest being lighted in the evening, Antiq. l. 3. c. 3. And indeed it was necessary; for otherwise the priest must have ministered in the dark at the altar of incense, as there was no window in the holy place.

ANNO-

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 Aaron and his sons are set apart for the priest's office.—
2 Holy garments are appointed.—6 The ephod.—15 The breast-plate.—30 The Urim and Thummim.—31 The robe of the ephod.—36 The plate of the mitre.—39 The embroidered coat.—40 The garments for Aaron's sons.

AND take thou unto thee Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that he may minister unto me in the priest's office, even Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's sons.

2 And thou shalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, for glory and for beauty.

3 And thou shalt speak unto all that are wise-hearted, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, that they may make Aaron's garments to consecrate him, that he may minister unto me in the priest's office.

4 And these are the garments which they shall make; a breast-plate, and an ephod, and a robe, and a broidered coat, a mitre, and a girdle: and they shall make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, and his sons, that he may minister unto me in the priest's office.

5 ¶ And they shall take gold, and blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen.

6 And they shall make the ephod of gold, of blue, and of purple, of scarlet, and fine twined linen, with cunning work.

7 It shall have the two shoulder-pieces thereof joined at the two edges thereof; and so it shall be joined together.

8 And the curious girdle of the ephod, which is upon it, shall be of the same, according to the work thereof; even of gold, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 And thou shalt take two onyx-stones, and grave on them the names of the children of Israel:

10 Six of their names on one stone, and the other six names of the rest on the other stone, according to their birth.

11 With the work of an engraver in stone, like the engravings of a signet, shalt thou engrave the two stones with the names of the children of Israel: thou shalt make them to be set in ouches of gold.

12 And thou shalt put the two stones upon the shoulders of the ephod for stones of memorial unto the children of Israel: and Aaron shall bear their names before the LORD upon his two shoulders for a memorial:

13 ¶ And thou shalt make ouches of gold.

14 And two chains of pure gold at the ends; of wreathen work shalt thou make them, and fasten the wreathen chains to the ouches.

15 ¶ And thou shalt make the breast-plate of judgment with cunning work: after the work of the ephod thou shalt make it; of gold, of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, and of fine twined linen, thou shalt make it.

16 Four-square it shall be, being doubled; a span shall be the length thereof, and a span shall be the breadth thereof.

17 And thou shalt set in it settings of stones, even four rows of stones; the first row shall be a sardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle: this shall be the first row.

18 And the second row shall be an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond.

19 And the third row a ligure, an agate, and an amethyst.

20 And the fourth row a beryl, and an onyx, and a jasper: they shall be set in gold in their inclosings.

21 And the stones shall be with the names of the children of Israel, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a signet; every one with his name shall they be according to the twelve tribes.

22 ¶ And thou shalt make upon the breast-plate chains at the ends, of wreathen work, of pure gold.

23 And thou shalt make upon the breast-plate two rings of gold, and shalt put the two rings on the two ends of the breast-plate.

24 And thou shalt put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings which are on the ends of the breast-plate.

25 And the other two ends of the two wreathen chains thou shalt fasten in the two ouches, and put them on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod before it.

26 ¶ And thou shalt make two rings of gold, and thou shalt put them upon the two ends of the breast-plate, in the border thereof, which is in the side of the ephod inward.

27 And two other rings of gold thou shalt make, and shalt put them on the two sides of the ephod underneath, toward the fore-part thereof, over against the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod.

28 And they shall bind the breast-plate by the rings thereof unto the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, that it may be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breast-plate be not loosed from the ephod.

29 And Aaron shall bear the names of the children of Israel, in the breast-plate of judgment, upon his heart, when he goeth in unto the holy place, for a memorial before the LORD continually.

30 ¶ And thou shalt put in the breast-plate of judgment the Urim and the Thummim; and they shall be upon Aaron's heart, when he goeth in before the LORD: and Aaron shall bear the judgment of the children of Israel upon his heart before the LORD continually.

31 ¶ And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVIII.

Verse 1. In the priest's office, &c.] This is the first time we read of the priest's office mentioned by appointment, though every master of a family was priest in his own house from the earliest times. It appears, that when the temple was established there were three ranks or degrees of priests belonging to it, answering to the ministers, deacons, and subdeacons, in the primitive church. From Aaron the succession was continued in his family, and the high-priesthood was fixed to the line of his first-born; for all the rest of his posterity were priests, simply so called, or priests of the second order. And it may be farther remarked, that, except Aaron, (in whom the series of priests were continued) all the rest of the descendants of Levi were called Levites.

2. Holy garments;] Garments to be used in holy ministration.

3. Wise-hearted;] i. e. Skilful artists.

Whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom.] The mechanical skill of artists is here, with great propriety, ascribed to God; not that we should consider it as given by inspiration, like the spirit of prophecy, but because every good gift is derived from him. On this account God is likewise acknowledged as the teacher of husbandry, Isa. 28. 26.

4. Ephod.] This was a short upper garment, made without sleeves, which was girt about the body.

A robe.] An upper garment like a surplice.

A broidered coat.] An under-coat, curiously wrought with circular works like eyes, as the word denotes, and richly adorned with gems and other things.

15. Breast-plate of judgment;] So called, because the priest wore it upon his breast, when he went to ask counsel of God, ver. 29. as also when he sat as judge, to teach the law and to determine controversies, which was a part of his office, Lev. 10. 11. Deut. 17. 8. 9.

No. 7.

17. Rows of stones.] It is needless to trouble the reader with the explication of these stones, which the Jewish doctors themselves are not agreed in.

30. Urim and the Thummim.] The words confessedly signify light, or illuminations and perfections, which may be understood either of two different things, the one noting the knowledge, the other the perfection, to wit, of virtues and graces, which were required in the high-priest, and which were in Christ in an eminent degree, and from him alone communicated to his people; or of one and the same thing, noting perfect light or illumination, by a figure called Hendyadis, oft used in scripture, as Deut. 16. 18. Matt. 4. 16. compared with Job 10. 20. Acts 17. 25. compared with Gen. 2. 7. Which may seem probable, 1. Because the great use of this instrument was to give light and direction in difficult and dubious cases, and not to confer any other perfection upon any person. 2. Because sometimes both these words and things are expressed only by one of them, and that is by Urim, Numb. 27. 21. 1 Sam. 28. 6. which signifies lights. And the name seems to be given from the effect; because hence the Israelites had clear light, and perfect or certain direction in dark and doubtful matters. But the great question is, what this Urim and Thummim was, and in what manner God answered by it. Which God having on purpose concealed from us, and not set down the matter or form of it, as he hath done of all the other particulars, it may seem curiosity and presumption for men solicitously to enquire, and positively to determine. It may suffice us to know, that this was a singular piece of divine workmanship, which the high-priest was obliged to wear upon solemn occasions, as one of the conditions upon which God engaged to give him answers. Which answers God might give to him either by inward suggestion to his mind, or by a vocal expression to his ear.

The judgment;] The breast-plate of judgment.

33. Bells

31 ¶ And thou shalt make the robe of the ephod all of blue.

32 And there shall be an hole in the top of it, in the midst thereof: it shall have a binding of woven work round about the hole of it, as it were the hole of an habergeon, that it be not rent.

33 ¶ And beneath, upon the hem of it, thou shalt make pomegranates of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, round about the hem thereof; and bells of gold between them round about:

34 A golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, upon the hem of the robe round about.

35 And it shall be upon Aaron, to minister: and his sound shall be heard when he goeth in unto the holy place before the LORD, and when he cometh out; that he die not.

36 ¶ And thou shalt make a plate of pure gold, and grave upon it, like the engravings of a signet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

37 And thou shalt put it on a blue lace, that it may be upon the mitre; upon the forefront of the mitre it shall be.

38 And it shall be upon Aaron's forehead, that Aaron may bear the iniquity of the holy things, which the children of Israel shall hallow in all their holy gifts; and it shall be always upon his forehead, that they may be accepted before the LORD.

39 ¶ And thou shalt embroider the coat of fine linen, and thou shalt make the mitre of fine linen, and thou shalt make the girdle of needle-work.

40 ¶ And for Aaron's sons thou shalt make coats, and thou shalt make for them girdles, and bonnets shalt thou make for them, for glory and for beauty.

41 And thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him; and shalt anoint them, and consecrate them, and sanctify them, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office.

42 And thou shalt make them linen breeches to cover their nakedness; from the loins even unto the thighs they shall reach:

43 And they shall be upon Aaron, and upon his sons, when they come in unto the tabernacle of the congregation, or when they come near unto the altar to minister in the holy place; that they bear not iniquity, and die. It shall be a statute for ever unto him, and his seed after him.

C H A P. XXIX.

1 The sacrifice and ceremonies of consecrating the priests.—

38 The continual burnt-offering:—45 God's promise to dwell among the children of Israel.

AND this is the thing that thou shalt do unto them to hallow them, to minister unto me in the priest's office: Take one young bullock, and two rams without blemish,

2 And unleavened bread, and cakes unleavened tempered with oil, and wafers unleavened anointed with oil: of wheaten flour shalt thou make them.

33. Bells of gold; By the sound whereof the people might be admonished of the work which the priest was employed in, and thereby be incited to join their affections and devotions with his.

36. Holiness to the Lord. To remind the priest of his special consecration to God.

38. That Aaron may bear, &c. This shall be a pledge or sign, that a pardon shall be granted, at his intercession, for all the sinful defects of the people in the performance of their sacred duties.

39. Coat of fine linen. A loose and large garment made with sleeves, worn under the ephod, reaching down to the feet, which was girt with a girdle.

3 And thou shalt put them into one basket, and bring them in the basket, with the bullock and the two rams.

4 And Aaron and his sons thou shalt bring unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shalt wash them with water.

5 And thou shalt take the garments, and put upon Aaron the coat, and the robe of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breast-plate, and gird him with the curious girdle of the ephod.

6 And thou shalt put the mitre upon his head, and put the holy crown upon the mitre.

7 Then shalt thou take the anointing oil, and pour it upon his head, and anoint him.

8 And thou shalt bring his sons, and put coats upon them.

9 And thou shalt gird them with girdles, (Aaron and his sons,) and put the bonnets on them: and the priest's office shall be theirs for a perpetual statute: and thou shalt consecrate Aaron and his sons.

10 And thou shalt cause a bullock to be brought before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the bullock.

11 And thou shalt kill the bullock before the LORD, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 And thou shalt take of the blood of the bullock, and put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger, and pour all the blood beside the bottom of the altar.

13 And thou shalt take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul that is above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and burn them upon the altar.

14 But the flesh of the bullock, and his skin, and his dung, shalt thou burn with fire without the camp: it is a sin-offering.

15 ¶ Thou shalt also take one ram, and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

16 And thou shalt slay the ram, and thou shalt take his blood, and sprinkle it round about upon the altar.

17 And thou shalt cut the ram in pieces, and wash the inwards of him, and his legs, and put them unto his pieces, and unto his head.

18 And thou shalt burn the whole ram upon the altar; it is a burnt-offering unto the LORD: it is a sweet savour, an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

19 ¶ And thou shalt take the other ram, and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

20 Then shalt thou kill the ram, and take of his blood, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and upon the tip of the right ear of his sons, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot, and sprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

21 And thou shalt take of the blood that is upon the altar, and of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his sons, and upon the garments of his sons with him: and he shall be faith in the future sacrifice of Christ, upon whom their sins were to be laid, and by whose blood they were expiated.

14. It is a sin-offering; To wit, for the high-priest, as is plain from the context, and therefore ought to be burnt by that law, Lev. 4. There was indeed a law, that that sin-offering, whose blood was not carried into the tabernacle, which was the case here, should not be burnt, but eaten, Lev. 6. 30. and 10. 18. But that concerned the people, not the priests, who did not eat, but burn their own sin-offerings, Lev. 4. 3—12.

18. Sweet savour. Heb. A savour of rest, wherewith God will be well pleased.

19. Shalt take the other ram. For a peace-offering. So here were all the three sorts of sacrifices, which were afterwards to be offered by them for the people.

20. And put it upon the tip of the right ear, &c. These are parts consecrated in the name and stead of all the rest; the ear, as the instrument of hearing and receiving the mind and will of God in all their sacred administrations, and in their whole conversation; the hand and foot, as the instruments of action and execution of that which they hear and understand to be the mind of God. And all these parts are sprinkled with this blood, to shew the absolute necessity of Christ's blood, to qualify them for an acceptable and successful discharge of their office.

22. A ram

be hallowed, and his garments, and his sons, and his son's garments with him.

22 Also thou shalt take of the ram the fat, and the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and the right shoulder; for it is a ram of consecration:

23 And one loaf of bread, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer out of the basket of the unleavened bread that is before the LORD.

24 And thou shalt put all in the hands of Aaron, and in the hands of his sons; and shalt wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

25 And thou shalt receive them of their hands, and burn them upon the altar for a burnt-offering, for a sweet savour before the LORD: it is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

26 And thou shalt take the breast of the ram of Aaron's consecration, and wave it for a wave-offering before the LORD: and it shall be thy part.

27 And thou shalt sanctify the breast of the wave-offering, and the shoulder of the heave-offering, which is waved and which is heaved up of the ram of the consecration, even of that which is for Aaron, and of that which is for his sons:

28 And it shall be Aaron's and his sons' by a statute for ever, from the children of Israel: for it is an heave-offering: and it shall be an heave-offering from the children of Israel of the sacrifice of their peace-offerings, even their heave-offering unto the LORD.

29 ¶ And the holy garments of Aaron shall be his sons' after him, to be anointed therein, and to be consecrated in them.

30 And that son that is priest in his stead shall put them on seven days, when he cometh into the tabernacle of the congregation, to minister in the holy place.

31 ¶ And thou shalt take the ram of the consecration, and seethe his flesh in the holy place.

32 And Aaron and his sons shall eat the flesh of the ram, and the bread that is in the basket, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

33 And they shall eat those things wherewith the atonement was made, to consecrate and to sanctify them: but a stranger shall not eat thereof, because they are holy.

34 And if ought of the flesh of the consecrations, or of the bread, remain unto the morning, then thou shalt burn the remainder with fire: it shall not be eaten, because it is holy.

35 And thus shalt thou do unto Aaron, and to his sons, according to all things which I have commanded thee: seven days shalt thou consecrate them.

36 And thou shalt offer every day a bullock for a sin-offering for atonement; and thou shalt cleanse the altar, when thou hast made an atonement for it, and thou shalt anoint it, to sanctify it.

37 Seven days thou shalt make an atonement for the altar, and sanctify it; and it shall be an altar most holy: whatsoever toucheth the altar shall be holy:

38 ¶ Now this is that which thou shalt offer upon the altar; two lambs of the first year day by day continually.

39 The one lamb thou shalt offer in the morning; and the other lamb thou shalt offer at even;

40 And with the one lamb a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil; and the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering.

41 And the other lamb thou shalt offer at even, and shalt do thereto according to the meat-offering of the morning, and according to the drink-offering thereof, for a sweet savour, an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

42 This shall be a continual burnt-offering throughout your generations, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD: where I will meet you, to speak there unto thee.

43 And there I will meet with the children of Israel, and the tabernacle shall be sanctified by my glory.

44 And I will sanctify the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar: I will sanctify also both Aaron and his sons, to minister to me in the priest's office.

45 ¶ And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will be their God.

46 And they shall know that I am the LORD their God, that brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, that I may dwell among them: I am the LORD their God.

CHAPTER XXX.

1 The altar of incense.—11 The ransom of souls.—18 The brasen laver.—22 The holy anointing oil.—34 The composition of the perfume.

AND thou shalt make an altar to burn incense upon: of shittim-wood shalt thou make it.

2 A cubit shall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, (four-square shall it be,) and two cubits shall be the height thereof; the horns thereof shall be of the same.

3 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, the top thereof, and the sides thereof round about, and the horns thereof; and thou shalt make unto it a crown of gold round about.

4 And two golden rings shalt thou make to it under the crown of it by the two corners thereof, upon the two sides of it shalt thou make it; and they shall be for places for the staves to bear it withal.

5 And thou shalt make the staves of shittim-wood, and overlay them with gold.

6 And thou shalt put it before the vail that is by the ark of the testimony, before the mercy-seat that is over the testimony, where I will meet with thee.

7 And Aaron shall burn thereon sweet incense every morning: when he dresseth the lamps, he shall burn incense upon it.

8 And when Aaron lighteth the lamps at even, he shall burn incense upon it; a perpetual incense before the LORD, throughout your generations.

9 Ye

22. A ram of consecration.] Of the priests in their office.

26. It shall be thy part.] To wit, the breast alone, whereas both shoulder and breast were given to Aaron afterwards; the reason whereof might be, that Moses was not a proper and complete priest, as Aaron afterwards was, but only appointed by God for this time to do that work.

27. Which is waved, and which is heaved up.] The Rabbins tell us, the difference between these two is, that the former was waved up and down, east, west, north, and south, to signify, that he to whom it was offered was Lord of the whole world, the God who fills all space, and to whom all things of right belong; whereas the latter was only lifted up towards heaven, in token of its being devoted to God. But both these words are often used for a general offering.

29. His sons.] i. e. His eldest sons successively.

30. Seven days.] For so long the solemnity of the consecration lasted, ver. 35.

31. The holy place.] In the court-yard at the door of the tabernacle, where it was both boiled and eaten, as appears from this and the next verse, and from Lev. 8. 31.

33. A stranger.] i. e. One who is not of the priestly race.

37. An altar most holy.] As appears from the following reason, because it was not only holy in itself, but by its touch communicated a legal holiness to other things.

38. Two lambs—day by day continually.] There were other occasional sacrifices of various sorts; but these were constant, and never omitted. And yet it may be questioned whether this law took place in the wilderness, where they could hardly be supplied with two lambs every day without a miracle.

40. A tenth-deal of flour.] An omer, or the tenth part of an ephah; equal to about half a peck English.

An hin.] The sixth part of an ephah; so that the fourth part of an hin of wine, according to Dr. Cumberland, was about a quart and something more than a quarter of a pint English.

45. I will dwell.] By my special grace, and favour, and blessing.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXX.

Verse 6. Before the vail.] Before the second vail, in the holy place, and near to the holy of holies, and consequently to the ark and mercy-seat.

7. Aaron shall burn thereon sweet incense.] Aaron was to do this for the first time, but afterwards any priest might do it, as appears from Luke 1. 9. this not being done in the holy of holies, which was the high priest's peculiar prerogative.

9. Strange

9 Ye shall offer no strange incense thereon, nor burnt-sacrifice, nor meat-offering; neither shall ye pour drink-offering thereon.

10 And Aaron shall make an atonement upon the horns of it once in a year, with the blood of the sin-offering of atonements: once in the year shall he make atonement upon it throughout your generations: it is most holy unto the LORD.

11 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

12 When thou takest the sum of the children of Israel, after their number, then shall they give every man a ransom for his soul unto the LORD, when thou numberest them; that there be no plague among them, when thou numberest them.

13 This they shall give, every one that passeth among them that are numbered, half a shekel, after the shekel of the sanctuary: (a shekel is twenty gerahs:) an half shekel shall be the offering of the LORD.

14 Every one that passeth among them that are numbered, from twenty years old and above, shall give an offering unto the LORD.

15 The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not give less, than half a shekel, when they give an offering unto the LORD, to make an atonement for your souls.

16 And thou shalt take the atonement-money of the children of Israel, and shalt appoint it for the service of the tabernacle of the congregation: that it may be a memorial unto the children of Israel before the LORD, to make an atonement for your souls.

17 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

18 Thou shalt also make a laver of brass, and his foot also of brass, to wash withal: and thou shalt put it between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar, and thou shalt put water therein.

19 For Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and their feet thereat:

20 When they go into the tabernacle of the congregation, they shall wash with water, that they die not: or when they come near to the altar to minister, to burn offering made by fire unto the LORD:

21 So they shall wash their hands and their feet, that they die not: and it shall be a statute for ever to them, even to him and to his seed, throughout their generations.

22 ¶ Moreover, the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

23 Take thou also unto thee principal spices, of pure myrrh five hundred shekels, and of sweet cinnamon half so much, even two hundred and fifty shekels, and of sweet calamus two hundred and fifty shekels,

24 And of cassia five hundred shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, and of oil-olive an hin:

25 And thou shalt make it an oil of holy ointment, an ointment compound after the art of the apothecary: it shall be an holy anointing oil.

26 And thou shalt anoint the tabernacle of the congregation therewith, and the ark of the testimony.

27 And the table and all his vessels, and the candlestick and his vessels, and the altar of incense, 28 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his vessels, and the laver and his foot.

29 And thou shalt sanctify them, that they may be most holy: whatsoever toucheth them shall be holy.

9. Strange incense;] i. e. Of any other sort than what I shall here appoint, ver. 34, &c.

10. Once in a year.] On the day of expiation, Lev. 16. 19. Numb. 29. 7.

12. A ransom for his soul;] Whereby they acknowledged the right and power which God had over their lives, and that they had forfeited them by their sins, and that it was God's mercy to continue their lives to them.

13. After the shekel of the sanctuary.] Because the standard by which all shekels were to be examined was kept in the sanctuary, as afterwards the just weights and measures were kept in christian temples, or other public places. See Lev. 27. 25. Numb. 3. 47. Ezek. 45. 10, &c.

14. Every one, &c.] Every man was bound to pay this tax, whether priest or Levite, Israelite or stranger; none were excepted but women and servants, and such as were under age.

15. The rich shall not give more, &c.] To teach them that they were all upon a level in the sight of God.

18. To wash withal;] Both the priests, and the parts of the sacrifices. The altar;] To wit, of burnt-offerings.

19. Wash their—feet;] Because the priests served at the altar bare-

30 And thou shalt anoint Aaron and his sons, and consecrate them, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office.

31 And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, This shall be an holy anointing oil unto me throughout your generations.

32 Upon man's flesh shall it not be poured, neither shall ye make any other like it, after the composition of it: it is holy, and it shall be holy unto you.

33 Whosoever compoundeth any like it, or whosoever putteth any of it upon a stranger, shall even be cut off from his people.

34 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Take unto thee sweet spices; stacte, and onycha, and galbanum; these sweet spices, with pure frankincense: of each shall there be a like weight:

35 And thou shalt make it a perfume, a confection after the art of the apothecary, tempered together, pure and holy.

36 And thou shalt beat some of it very small, and put of it before the testimony in the tabernacle of the congregation, where I will meet with thee: it shall be unto you most holy.

37 And as for the perfume which thou shalt make, ye shall not make to yourselves according to the composition thereof: it shall be unto thee holy for the LORD.

38 Whosoever shall make like unto that, to smell thereto, shall even be cut off from his people.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Bezalcel and Aholiab are called, and made meet for the work of the tabernacle.—12 The observance of the sabbath is again commanded.—18 Moses receiveth the two tables.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 See, I have called by name Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah:

3 And I have filled him with the spirit of God, in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanship,

4 To devise cunning works, to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass,

5 And in cutting of stones to set them, and in carving of timber, to work in all manner of workmanship.

6 And I, behold I, have given with him Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan; and in the hearts of all that are wise-hearted I have put wisdom, that they may make all that I have commanded thee:

7 The tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the testimony, and the mercy-seat that is thereupon, and all the furniture of the tabernacle,

8 And the table and his furniture, and the pure candlestick with all his furniture, and the altar of incense,

9 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his furniture, and the laver and his foot,

10 And the clothes of service, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister in the priest's office.

11 And the anointing oil, and sweet incense for the holy footed; which appears from this, that in the description of their vestments there is no mention of shoes or sandals: and in this the Hebrew doctors are unanimous.

20. That they die not;] For though the fault might seem small, yet the command was evident and easy, and therefore the disobedience argued presumption, rebellion, and contempt.

23. Pure myrrh;] Freely dropping from the tree, which is esteemed better than that which is forced out of it.

24. And of cassia.] There have been various conjectures what this cassia was; for the drug now known by that name is not aromatic.

32. Upon man's flesh;] Except those whom God himself, the author of this law, excepts, to wit, the high-priests.

34. Frankincense;] An odoriferous gum, which distils from a tree common in some parts of Arabia.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXI.

Verse 3. In wisdom, &c.] These clauses being explicatory of the former, shew what gifts of the spirit God had filled him with.

8. The pure candlestick;] Because always kept bright or clean, or because made of pure gold.

holy place: according to all that I have commanded thee shall they do.

12 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

13 Speak thou also unto the children of Israel, saying, Verily my sabbaths ye shall keep: for it is a sign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the LORD that doth sanctify you.

14 Ye shall keep the sabbath therefore; for it is holy unto you. Every one that defileth it shall surely be put to death: for whosoever doeth any work therein, that soul shall be cut off from among his people.

15 Six days may work be done; but in the seventh is the sabbath of rest, holy to the LORD: whosoever doeth any work in the sabbath-day, he shall surely be put to death.

16 Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the sabbath, to observe the sabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant.

17 It is a sign between me and the children of Israel for ever: for in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day he rested and was refreshed.

18 ¶ And he gave unto Moses, when he had made an end of communing with him upon mount Sinai, two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God.

C H A P. XXXII.

1 The people, in the absence of Moses, cause Aaron to make a calf.—7 God is angered thereby.—11 At the entreaty of Moses, he is appeased.—15 Moses cometh down with the tables:—19 he breaketh them:—20 he destroyeth the calf,—25 and causeth the idolaters to be slain:—30 he prayeth for the people.

AND when the people saw that Moses delayed to come down out of the mount, the people gathered themselves together unto Aaron, and said unto him, Up, make us gods which shall go before us: for as for this Moses, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

2 And Aaron said unto them, Break off the golden ear-rings which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me.

3 And all the people brake off the golden ear-rings which were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron.

4 And he received them at their hand, and fashioned it with a graving tool, after he had made it a molten calf: and they said, These be thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

5 And when Aaron saw it, he built an altar before it; and Aaron made proclamation, and said, To-morrow is a feast to the LORD.

6 And they rose up early on the morrow, and offered burnt-offerings, and brought peace-offerings: and the people sat down to eat and to drink, and rose up to play.

7 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Go, get thee down: for thy people, which thou broughtest out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themselves:

8 They have turned aside quickly out of the way which I commanded them: they have made them a molten calf, and have worshipped it, and have sacrificed thereunto, and said, These be thy gods, O Israel, which have brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

9 And the LORD said unto Moses, I have seen this people, and, behold, it is a stiff-necked people:

10 Now, therefore, let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot against them, and that I may consume them: and I will make of thee a great nation.

11 ¶ And Moses besought the LORD his God, and said, LORD, why doth thy wrath wax hot against thy people, which thou hast brought forth out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and with a mighty hand?

12 Wherefore should the Egyptians speak, and say, For mischief did he bring them out, to slay them in the mountains, and to consume them from the face of the earth? Turn from thy fierce wrath, and repent of this evil against thy people.

13 Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, thy servants, to whom thou swarest by thine own self, and saidst unto them, I will multiply your seed as the stars of heaven; and all this land that I have spoken of will I give unto your seed, and they shall inherit it for ever.

14 And the LORD repented of the evil which he thought to do unto his people.

15 ¶ And Moses turned, and went down from the mount, and the two tables of the testimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other were they written.

16 And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables.

17 And when Joshua heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said unto Moses, There is a noise of war in the camp.

18 And he said, It is not the voice of them that shout for mastery, neither is it the voice of them that cry for being overcome: but the noise of them that sing do I hear.

19 ¶ And it came to pass, as soon as he came nigh unto the camp, that he saw the calf, and the dancing: and Moses' anger waxed hot, and he cast the tables out of his hands, and brake them beneath the mount.

20 And he took the calf which they had made, and burnt it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and straved it upon the water, and made the children of Israel drink of it.

21 ¶ And Moses said unto Aaron, What did this people unto thee, that thou hast brought so great a sin upon them?

22 And Aaron said, Let not the anger of my lord wax hot: thou knowest the people, that they are set on mischief.

23 For

13. My sabbaths ye shall keep.] This precept seems here to be repeated, to restrain the time for the fore-mentioned works, q. d. Though the work of the tabernacle and utensils be holy, and for an holy use, yet I will not have it done upon my holy day.

That doth sanctify you;] That selecteth you out of all people, and consecrateth you to myself, and to my service and worship, a great part whereof is the observation of the sabbath.

17. Was refreshed.] Which denotes the pleasure or delight God took in reflecting upon his works, beholding that every thing he had made was very good, Gen. 1. 31.

18. With the finger of God;] By God's own powerful operation, and not by the art of man; or by the express command and direction of God, and by the ministration of an angel.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXII.

Verse 1. The people;] i. e. Most, or some of the people, as it is expressed, 1 Cor. 10. 7.

Make us gods;] i. e. Images or representations of God, whom, after the manner of idolaters, they call by God's name. For it is ridiculous to think that the body of the Israelites, who were now lately instructed by the mouth, and words, and miraculous works of the eternal God, should be so senseless as to think that was the true God which themselves had made, and that out of their own ear-rings; much more, that that was the God that brought them out of Egypt, as they say, ver. 4.

Which shall go before us.] They wanted to get back again into Egypt, Act. 7. 39.

No. 7.

4. These be thy gods;] The meaning is, This is the sign, or symbol, or image, of thy God.

5. To the Lord;] Heb. To Jehovah. Which title being peculiar to the true God, and being here given by Aaron to the calf, with the approbation of the people, makes it more than probable that the people designed to worship the true God in this calf, which they made only as a visible token of God's presence with them, and an image by which they might convey their worship to God.

6. To eat and to drink.] For the sacrifices were accompanied with feasting, both among the worshippers of the true God and among idolaters. See Exod. 18. 12. and 24. 11.

To play;] By shouting, and singing, and dancing, as appears from ver. 17, 18, 19.

19. Brake them;] Not through rash anger, but by divine instinct, partly to punish their idolatry with so great a loss, and partly to shew that the covenant made between God and them was by their sin broken, and now of none effect, and not to be renewed but by bitter repentance.

20. Burnt it in the fire;] Melted it down, and so destroyed its form and external shape.

Made the children of Israel drink of it.] This he did, doubtless, to convince them how much they had debased themselves in worshipping so vile an idol; and at the same time to make the Israelites give a signal and public testimony of their condemning the practice of idolatry, by swallowing the dust of their idol with their drink.

22. They are set on mischief.] Heb. are in evil. i. e. are altogether wicked, addicted to, or bent upon wickedness, so that it was impossible for me to stop or divert their course.

X

21. I cast

23 For they said unto me, Make us gods which shall go before us: for as for this Moses, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

24 And I said unto them, Whosoever hath any gold, let them break it off. So they gave it me: then I cast it into the fire, and there came out this calf.

25 ¶ And when Moses saw that the people were naked, (for Aaron had made them naked unto their shame among their enemies,)

26 Then Moses stood in the gate of the camp, and said, Who is on the LORD's side? let him come unto me. And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves together unto him.

27 And he said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Put every man his sword by his side, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the camp, and slay every man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour.

28 And the children of Levi did according to the word of Moses: and there fell of the people that day about three thousand men.

29 For Moses had said, Consecrate yourselves to-day to the LORD, even every man upon his son, and upon his brother; that he may bestow upon you a blessing this day.

30 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that Moses said unto the people, Ye have sinned a great sin: and now I will go up unto the LORD: peradventure I shall make an atonement for your sin.

31 And Moses returned unto the LORD, and said, Oh! this people have sinned a great sin, and have made them gods of gold.

32 Yet now, if thou wilt, forgive their sin; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou hast written.

33 And the LORD said unto Moses, Whosoever hath sinned against me, him will I blot out of my book.

34 Therefore now go, lead the people unto the place of which I have spoken unto thee: Behold, mine angel shall go before thee: nevertheless, in the day when I visit, I will visit their sin upon them.

35 And the LORD plagued the people, because they made the calf which Aaron made.

C H A P. XXXIII.

1 The Lord refuseth to go with the people.—4 The people mourn thereat.—9 The Lord talketh familiarly with Moses.—18 Moses desireth to see the glory of God.

AND the LORD said unto Moses, Depart, and go up hence, thou and the people which thou hast

24. I cast it into the fire, and there came out this calf.] We read ver. 4. that Aaron made it; and therefore what he says here is to be understood as proceeding from a desire to soften and extenuate his guilt as far as he could consistently with truth.

25. Naked;] i. e. That they were stripped of the innocency of their minds and lives; and of their defence, to wit, of the favour and protection of God, by which alone they were secured from the Egyptians, and were to be defended against those many and mighty enemies, towards whom they were about to march.

26. All the sons of Levi;] i. e. The most of that tribe, as that universal particle is oft understood; for some of them, it is probable, were guilty.

27. Slay every man his brother.] The meaning is, Slay every principal offender whom you meet with, without any indulgence or exception, though brother, companion, or neighbour.

29. Consecrate yourselves;] i. e. Let this terrible example of severity excite you to cleanse yourselves from all pollution, especially from idolatry, as you have been both the witnesses and executioners.

32. Blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book.] Let me die, says he, rather than live to see the evils that are coming upon this people, if thou shalt think fit to punish them as they deserve. For those who understand Moses' words as if he wished to be excluded from eternal life for the sake of his brethren, make him talk a language quite unnatural, and inconsistent with that desire of self-happiness which is the first law of nature.

34. I will visit their sin upon them.] When I shall punish them for their other sins, I will remember and punish this also.

35. And the Lord plagued the people, &c.] As he is said to have plagued Pharaoh; i. e. he suffered the consequence of their idolatrous disposition to become thorns in their sides and serpents in their way; for it occasioned their being defeated by many of their enemies, and at last produced a fatal captivity.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIII.

Verse 3. I will not go up in the midst of thee;] By my own special and gracious presence, as hitherto I have done, but I will depart from brought up out of the land of Egypt, unto the land which I swore unto Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, Unto thy seed will I give it:

2 And I will send an angel before thee; and I will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite:

3 Unto a land flowing with milk and honey: for I will not go up in the midst of thee; for thou art a stiff-necked people: lest I consume thee in the way.

4 ¶ And when the people heard these evil tidings, they mourned: and no man did put on him his ornaments.

5 For the LORD had said unto Moses, Say unto the children of Israel, Ye are a stiff-necked people: I will come up into the midst of thee in a moment, and consume thee: therefore now put off thy ornaments from thee, that I may know what to do unto thee.

6 And the children of Israel stripped themselves of their ornaments by the mount Horeb.

7 ¶ And Moses took the tabernacle, and pitched it without the camp, afar off from the camp, and called it the tabernacle of the congregation. And it came to pass, that every one which sought the LORD went out unto the tabernacle of the congregation, which was without the camp.

8 And it came to pass, when Moses went out unto the tabernacle, that all the people rose up, and stood every man at his tent-door, and looked after Moses, until he was gone into the tabernacle.

9 ¶ And it came to pass, as Moses entered into the tabernacle, the cloudy pillar descended, and stood at the door of the tabernacle, and the LORD talked with Moses.

10 And all the people saw the cloudy pillar stand at the tabernacle door: and all the people rose up and worshipped, every man in his tent-door.

11 And the LORD spake unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend. And he turned again into the camp; but his servant Joshua, the son of Nun, a young man, departed not out of the tabernacle.

12 ¶ And Moses said unto the LORD, See, thou sayest unto me, Bring up this people: and thou hast not let me know whom thou wilt send with me. Yet thou hast said, I know thee by name, and thou hast also found grace in my sight.

13 Now, therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy sight, shew me now thy way, that I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy sight; and consider that this nation is thy people.

thee. In pursuance hereof God removes his tabernacle without the camp, ver. 7.

4. And when the people heard, &c.] Moses informed the people of this determination of Jehovah; and as the return of their leader had satisfied all their doubts, they now were ashamed and overwhelmed with grief for their late defection from their God, and very properly appeared as penitents. These ornaments were probably some superstitious relics.

5. That I may know what to do unto thee.] That I may either inflict my judgments or suspend them, as thou art penitent or impenitent.

7. The tabernacle.] The sacred tabernacle was not yet made; and therefore this must refer to some other tent, probably that of Moses himself.

9. And the Lord talked with Moses, &c.] After their idolatrous behaviour, the people looked anxiously after Moses when he went into the tabernacle, as their mediator with God; for by the descent of the cloud, though they were excluded, Moses was still admitted to a conference with Jehovah as heretofore.

11. The Lord spake unto Moses face to face.] He spake with him freely and familiarly, and immediately, not by an angel in a dream or vision, as he did to other prophets. See Deut. 34. 10.

A young man.] The word we so translate signifies a minister or servant, because service is usually performed by the younger sort. Joshua could not now be called a young man, on account of his age: for he must have been at this time upwards of fifty, as may be gathered from Josh. 24. 29. compared with Deut. 34. 7.

12. I know thee by name;] i. e. Distinctly and familiarly, as one whom I have much converse with, and great kindness for. And knowing here denotes approbation and affection, as Psal. 1. 6. Matt. 7. 23. compare Jer. 1. 5.

13. Shew me now thy way;] The method which thou wilt chuse for the fulfilling of thy promise, and the course which thou wouldst have me take, and the way by which I shall conduct thy people to the promised land.

15. U

14 And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest.

15 And he said unto him, If thy presence go not with me, carry us not up hence.

16 For wherein shall it be known here that I and thy people have found grace in thy sight? Is it not in that thou goest with us? So shall we be separated, I and thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth.

17 And the LORD said unto Moses, I will do this thing also that thou hast spoken: for thou hast found grace in my sight, and I know thee by name.

18 ¶ And he said, I beseech thee, shew me thy glory.

19 And he said, I will make all my goodness pass before thee, and I will proclaim the name of the LORD before thee, and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will shew mercy on whom I will shew mercy.

20 And he said, Thou canst not see my face: for there shall no man see me and live.

21 And the LORD said, Behold, there is a place by me, and thou shalt stand upon a rock:

22 And it shall come to pass, while my glory passeth by, that I will put thee in a cleft of the rock, and will cover thee with my hand while I pass by:

23 And I will take away mine hand, and thou shalt see my back parts; but my face shall not be seen.

C H A P. XXXIV.

1 The tables are renewed.—5 The name of the LORD proclaimed.—8 Moses entreatheth God to go with them.—10 God maketh a covenant with them.—29 Moses, after being forty days in the mount, cometh down with the tables.

AND the LORD said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables which thou brakdest.

2 And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto mount Sinai, and present thyself there to me in the top of the mount.

3 And no man shall come up with thee, neither let any man be seen throughout all the mount: neither let the flocks nor herds feed before that mount.

4 ¶ And he hewed two tables of stone, like unto the first; and Moses rose up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as the LORD had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tables of stone.

5 ¶ And the LORD descended in the cloud, and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the LORD.

6 And the LORD passed by before him, and proclaimed, The LORD, The LORD God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth,

7 Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity, and transgression, and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, unto the third and to the fourth generation.

8 ¶ And Moses made haste, and bowed his head toward the earth, and worshipped.

9 And he said, If now I have found grace in thy sight, O LORD, let my Lord, I pray thee, go among us (for it is a stiff-necked people) and pardon our iniquity and our sin, and take us for thine inheritance.

10 ¶ And he said, Behold, I make a covenant: before all thy people I will do marvels, such as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation: and all the people among which thou art shall see the work of the LORD: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.

11 Observe thou that which I command thee this day; Behold, I drive out before thee the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite.

12 Take heed to thyself, lest thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goest, lest it be for a snare in the midst of thee:

13 But ye shall destroy their altars, break their images, and cut down their groves:

14 For thou shalt worship no other god: for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God:

15 Lest thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, and they go a whoring after their gods, and do sacrifice unto their gods, and one call thee, and thou eat of his sacrifice;

16 And thou take of their daughters unto thy sons, and their daughters go a whoring after their gods, and make thy sons go a whoring after their gods.

17 Thou shalt make thee no molten gods.

18 ¶ The feast of unleavened bread shalt thou keep. Seven days thou shalt eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee, in the time of the month Abib: for in the month Abib thou camest out from Egypt.

19 All that openeth the matrix is mine: and every firstling among thy cattle, whether ox or sheep, that is male;

20 But the firstling of an ass thou shalt redeem with a lamb: and if thou redeem him not, then shalt thou break his neck. All the first-born of thy sons thou shalt redeem. And none shall appear before me empty.

21 ¶ Six days thou shalt work, but on the seventh day thou shalt rest: in caring-time and in harvest thou shalt rest.

22 ¶ And thou shalt observe the feast of weeks, of the first-fruits of wheat-harvest, and the feast of ingathering at the year's end.

23 ¶ Thrice in the year shall all your men-children appear before the LORD God, the God of Israel.

24 For I will cast out the nations before thee, and enlarge thy borders: neither shall any man desire thy land, when thou shalt go up to appear before the LORD thy God thrice in the year.

25 ¶ Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leaven, neither shall the sacrifice of the feast of the passover be left unto the morning.

15. If thy presence go not with me, carry us not up hence.] Let us rather live and die in the wilderness with thy presence and favour, than go into Canaan without it.

19. I will make all my goodness pass before thee.] i. e. I will display such degrees of my glory before thee as will not hurt thee, but be delightful to thee; for it is impossible for a mortal to behold the height of divine majesty, without being dissolved and destroyed by its piercing brightness.

23. My back parts.] A shadow or obscure delineation of my glory, as much as thou canst bear, though not as much as thou dost desire.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIV.

Verse 1. Hew thee two tables of stone.] The first tables were made immediately by God; these tables must be made by Moses, in token of God's displeasure for their sin.

3. And no man shall come up, &c.] See the same prohibition, chap. 29. 21. under penalty of death, or some dreadful misfortune.

5, 6, 7. And the Lord descended, &c.] These three verses contain a most beautiful display of the glorious attributes and tender mercies of God; setting forth his justice and extreme hatred to sin, yet ever ready to forgive the repentant sinner, and giving warning of the fatal consequences of sin, even to the third and fourth generation.

9. For it is a stiff-necked people.] And therefore need thy glorious presence to rule them. Or rather, though it be a stiff-necked people, as thou saidst, yet forsake them not. The Hebrew particle, chi, often signifies though, as chap. 5. 11. Isa. 54. 6.

10. With thee.] In the midst of thee, i. e. of thy people, as ver. 11. before thee, i. e. before thy people.

12. Take heed to thyself, &c.] Here we see plainly, that as idolatry was the sin which brought destruction upon the Canaanites, the Israelites are cautioned not to fall into the same snare.

15. Eat of his sacrifice.] Whereby thou wilt partake with him in an idolatrous worship; because such feasts were a part of the worship offered to the idol, and were accompanied with solemn benedictions and thanksgivings to the idol.

16. Whoring after their gods.] Whoredom is constantly the figure by which infidelity to God's religion is expressed; it occurs particularly in the Old Testament, and the whore of Babylon in the Revelation is no other than idolatrous Rome, with her deified saints and angels.

17. No molten gods.] Nor graven, nor any other. But he mentions molten, because their late idol was of that kind.

27. These

26 The first of the first-fruits of thy land thou shalt bring unto the house of the LORD thy God. Thou shalt not see the a kid in his mother's milk.

27 And the LORD said unto Moses, Write thou these words: for after the tenor of these words I have made a covenant with thee, and with Israel.

28 And he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights; he did neither eat bread, nor drink water: and he wrote upon the tables the words of the covenant, the ten commandments.

29 ¶ And it came to pass, when Moses came down from mount Sinai, with the two tables of testimony in Moses' hand, (when he came down from the mount,) that Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone, while he talked with him.

30 And when Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses, behold, the skin of his face shone; and they were afraid to come nigh him.

31 And Moses called unto them; and Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned unto him: and Moses talked with them.

32 And afterward all the children of Israel came nigh: and he gave them in commandment all that the LORD had spoken with him in mount Sinai.

33 And till Moses had done speaking with them, he put a vail on his face.

34 But when Moses went in before the LORD to speak with him, he took the vail off, until he came out. And he came out and spake unto the children of Israel that which he was commanded.

35 And the children of Israel saw the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses' face shone: and Moses put the vail upon his face again, until he went in to speak with Him.

C H A P. XXXV.

2 The sabbath.—4 The free gifts for the tabernacle.—20 The readiness of the people to offer.—30 Bezaleel and Aholiab are called to the work.

AND Moses gathered all the congregation of the children of Israel together, and said unto them, These are the words which the LORD hath commanded, that ye should do them.

2 ¶ Six days shall work be done, but on the seventh day there shall be to you an holy day, a sabbath of rest to the LORD: whosoever doeth work therein shall be put to death.

3 Ye shall kindle no fire throughout your habitations upon the sabbath-day.

4 ¶ And Moses spake unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the LORD commanded, saying,

5 Take ye from among you an offering unto the LORD: whosoever is of a willing heart let him bring it, an offering of the LORD; gold, and silver, and brass,

6 And blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair,

7 And rams' skins dyed red, and badgers' skins, and shittim-wood,

8 And oil for the light, and spices for anointing oil, and for the sweet incense,

9 And onyx-stones, and stones to be set for the ephod, and for the breast-plate.

10 And every wise-hearted among you shall come and make all that the LORD hath commanded:

11 The tabernacle, his tent, and his covering, his taches, and his boards, his bars, his pillars, and his sockets;

12 The ark and the staves thereof, with the mercy-seat, and the vail of the covering;

13 The table and his staves, and all his vessels, and the shew-bread;

14 The candlestick also for the light, and his furniture, and his lamps, with the oil for the light;

15 And the incense-altar, and his staves, and the anointing oil, and the sweet incense, and the hanging for the door at the entering in of the tabernacle;

16 The altar of burnt-offering, with his brasen grate, his staves, and all his vessels; the laver and his foot:

17 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and their sockets, and the hanging for the door of the court;

18 The pins of the tabernacle, and the pins of the court, and their cords;

19 The clothes of service, to do service in the holy place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister in the priest's office.

20 ¶ And all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses.

21 And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the LORD's offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments.

22 And they came, both men and women, as many as were willing-hearted, and brought bracelets, and earrings, and rings, and tablets, all jewels of gold: and every man that offered, offered an offering of gold unto the LORD.

23 And every man with whom was found blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair, and red skins of rams, and badgers' skins, brought them.

24 Every one that did offer an offering of silver and brass brought the LORD's offering: and every man with whom was found shittim-wood, for any work of the service, brought it.

25 And all the women that were wise-hearted did spin with their hands, and brought that which they had spun, both of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, and of fine linen.

26 And all the women, whose heart stirred them up in wisdom, spun goats' hair.

27 And the rulers brought onyx-stones, and stones to be set for the ephod, and for the breast-plate;

28 And spice, and oil for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the sweet incense.

29 The children of Israel brought a willing offering unto the LORD, every man and woman, whose heart made them willing to bring, for all manner of work, which the LORD had commanded to be made by the hand of Moses.

30 ¶ And Moses said unto the children of Israel, See, the LORD hath called by name Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah;

31 And he hath filled him with the spirit of God, in wisdom, in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanship;

32 And to devise curious works, to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass,

33 And in the cutting of stones to set them, and in carving of wood, to make any manner of cunning work.

34 And he hath put in his heart that he may teach, both he and Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan.

35 Them hath he filled with wisdom of heart, to work all manner of work, of the engraver and of the cunning workman,

27. These words:] The ritual precepts mentioned here above.

28. He wrote:] Not Moses, but the Lord, as appears from ver. 1.

29. The skin of his face.] The splendor of the divine majesty was so piercing, that it altered the very skin of his face, and made it luminous.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXV.

Verse 3. Ye shall kindle no fire.] See chap. 20. 10.

13. The shew-bread:] The dishes on which the shew-bread was set; for Moses had no order to make the bread itself.

21. And they came, every one, &c.] They were all so happy at their reconciliation and acceptance with God, that with the greatest cheerfulness they brought every one their several contributions. The rich brought their gold and jewels, and the rest in proportion to their ability.

25. And all the women, &c.] Those who were skilful in spinning or needle-work lent their assistance towards the drapery of the tabernacle.

27, 28. And the rulers, &c.] The richest and most principal men contributed the finest jewels in their possession, and the most valuable spices.

29. The children of Israel, &c.] This verse specifies, that the offering was so complete, as to leave nothing wanting for the completion of the business.

workman, and of the embroiderer, in blue, and in purple, in scarlet, and in fine linen, and of the weaver, even of them that do any work, and of those that devise cunning work.

1 The offerings are delivered to the workmen.—5 The liberality of the people is restrained.—8 The curtains of cherubims.—14 The curtains of goats' hair.—19 The covering of skins.—20 The boards with their sockets.—31 The bars.—35 The vail.—37 The hanging for the door.

THEN wrought Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wise-hearted man, in whom the LORD put wisdom and understanding, to know how to work all manner of work for the service of the sanctuary, according to all that the LORD had commanded.

2 And Moses called Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wise-hearted man, in whose heart the LORD had put wisdom, even every one whose heart stirred him up to come unto the work to do it.

3 And they received of Moses all the offering which the children of Israel had brought for the work of the service of the sanctuary, to make it withal. And they brought yet unto him free-offerings every morning.

4 ¶ And all the wise men, that wrought all the work of the sanctuary, came every man from his work which they made.

5 ¶ And they spake unto Moses, saying, The people bring much more than enough for the service of the work which the LORD commanded to make.

6 And Moses gave commandment, and they caused it to be proclaimed throughout the camp, saying, Let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the sanctuary. So the people were restrained from bringing :

7 For the stuff they had was sufficient for all the work to make it, and too much.

8 ¶ And every wise-hearted man, among them that wrought the work of the tabernacle, made ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and scarlet : with cherubims of cunning work made he them.

9 The length of one curtain was twenty and eight cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits : the curtains were all of one size.

10 And he coupled the five curtains one unto another : and the other five curtains he coupled one unto another.

11 And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain, from the selvedge in the coupling : likewise he made in the uttermost side of another curtain, in the coupling of the second.

12 Fifty loops made he in one curtain, and fifty loops made he in the edge of the curtain which was in the coupling of the second : the loops held one curtain to another.

13 And he made fifty taches of gold, and coupled the curtains one unto another with the taches. So it became one tabernacle.

14 ¶ And he made curtains of goats' hair, for the tent over the tabernacle : eleven curtains he made them.

15 The length of one curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits was the breadth of one curtain : the eleven curtains were of one size.

16 And he coupled five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves.

17 And he made fifty loops upon the uttermost edge of the curtain in the coupling, and fifty loops made he upon the edge of the curtain which coupleth the second.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXVI.

Verse 3. And they received, &c.] When they came to set about the work, each workman had the several contributions delivered into his hands, and the people still continued to bring their offerings.

4, 5, 6, 7.] Such was the liberality of the people, that at last it was necessary for Moses to acquaint them, that there was more than enough for the purpose of building the tabernacle. This shews the integrity of the workmen, who, though they possibly might have appropriated some No. 8.

18 And he made fifty taches of brass to couple the tent together, that it might be one.

19 ¶ And he made a covering for the tent of rams' skins dyed red, and a covering of badgers' skins above that.

20 ¶ And he made boards for the tabernacle of shittim-wood, standing up.

21 The length of a board was ten cubits, and the breadth of a board one cubit and a half.

22 One board had two tenons, equally distant one from another : thus did he make for all the boards of the tabernacle.

23 And he made boards for the tabernacle ; twenty boards for the south-side southward :

24 And forty sockets of silver he made under the twenty boards ; two sockets under one board for his two tenons, and two sockets under another board for his two tenons.

25 And for the other side of the tabernacle, which is toward the north corner, he made twenty boards,

26 And their forty sockets of silver ; two sockets under one board, and two sockets under another board.

27 And for the sides of the tabernacle westward he made six boards.

28 And two boards made he for the corners of the tabernacle in the two sides.

29 And they were coupled beneath, and coupled together at the head thereof, to one ring : thus he did to both of them in both the corners.

30 And there were eight boards ; and their sockets were sixteen sockets of silver, under every board two sockets.

31 ¶ And he made bars of shittim-wood ; five for the boards of the one side of the tabernacle,

32 And five bars for the boards of the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the tabernacle for the sides westward.

33 And he made the middle bar to shoot through the boards from the one end to the other.

34 And he overlaid the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold to be places for the bars, and overlaid the bars with gold.

35 ¶ And he made a vail of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen : with cherubims made he it of cunning work.

36 And he made thereunto four pillars of shittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold : their hooks were of gold ; and he cast for them four sockets of silver.

37 ¶ And he made an hanging for the tabernacle-door of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, of needle-work ;

38 And the five pillars of it, with their hooks : and he overlaid their chapiters and their fillets with gold ; but their five sockets were of brass.

1 The ark.—6 The mercy-seat with cherubims.—10 The table.—17 The candlestick.—25 The altar of incense.—29 The anointing-oil, and sweet incense.

AND Bezaleel made the ark of shittim-wood : two cubits and a half was the length of it, and a cubit and a half the breadth of it, and a cubit and a half the height of it :

2 And he overlaid it with pure gold within and without, and made a crown of gold to it round about.

3 And he cast for it four rings of gold, to be set by the four corners of it ; even two rings upon the one side of it, and two rings upon the other side of it.

4 And he made staves of shittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold.

5 And he put the staves into the rings by the sides of the ark, to bear the ark.

6 ¶ And he made the mercy-seat of pure gold: two cubits and a half was the length thereof, and one cubit and a half the breadth thereof.

7 And he made two cherubims of gold; beaten out of one piece made he them, on the two ends of the mercy-seat;

8 One cherub on the end on this side, and another cherub on the other end on that side: out of the mercy-seat made he the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

9 And the cherubims spread out their wings on high, and covered with their wings over the mercy-seat, with their faces one to another; even to the mercy-seat-ward were the faces of the cherubims.

10 ¶ And he made the table of shittim-wood: two cubits was the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof:

11 And he overlaid it with pure gold, and made thereunto a crown of gold round about.

12 Also he made thereunto a border of an hand-breadth round about, and made a crown of gold for the border thereof round about.

13 And he cast for it four rings of gold, and put the rings upon the four corners that were in the four feet thereof.

14 Over against the border were the rings, the places for the staves, to bear the table.

15 And he made the staves of shittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold, to bear the table.

16 And he made the vessels which were upon the table, his dishes, and his spoons, and his bowls, and his covers to cover withal, of pure gold.

17 ¶ And he made the candlestick of pure gold: of beaten work made he the candlestick; his shaft, and his branch, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers, were of the same:

18 And six branches going out of the sides thereof; three branches of the candlestick out of the one side thereof, and three branches of the candlestick out of the other side thereof:

19 Three bowls made after the fashion of almonds in one branch, a knop and a flower; and three bowls made like almonds in another branch, a knop and a flower: so throughout the six branches going out of the candlestick.

20 And in the candlestick were four bowls made like almonds, his knops, and his flowers:

21 And a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, according to the six branches going out of it.

22 Their knops and their branches were of the same: all of it was one beaten work of pure gold.

23 And he made his seven lamps, and his snuffers, and his snuff-dishes, of pure gold.

24 Of a talent of pure gold made he it, and all the vessels thereof.

25 ¶ And he made the incense-altar of shittim-wood: the length of it was a cubit, and the breadth of it a cubit; it was four-square: and two cubits was the height of it; the horns thereof were of the same.

26 And he overlaid it with pure gold, both the top of it, and the sides thereof round about, and the horns of it: also he made unto it a crown of gold round about.

27 And he made two rings of gold for it under the crown thereof, by the two corners of it, upon the two sides thereof, to be places for the staves to bear it withal.

28 And he made the staves of shittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold.

29 ¶ And he made the holy anointing oil, and the pure incense of sweet spices, according to the work of the apothecary.

1 The altar of burnt-offering.—8 The laver of brass.—9 The court.—21 The sum of what the people offered.

AND he made the altar of burnt-offering of shittim-wood: five cubits was the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof: it was four-square: and three cubits the height thereof.

2 And he made the horns thereof on the four corners of it; the horns thereof were of the same: and he overlaid it with brass.

3 And he made all the vessels of the altar, the pots, and the shovels, and the basons, and the flesh-hooks, and the fire-pans: all the vessels thereof made he of brass.

4 And he made for the altar a brasen grate of network under the compass thereof, beneath unto the midst of it.

5 And he cast four rings for the four ends of the grate of brass, to be places for the staves.

6 And he made the staves of shittim-wood, and overlaid them with brass.

7 And he put the staves into the rings on the sides of the altar, to bear it withal; he made the altar hollow with boards.

8 ¶ And he made the laver of brass, and the foot of it of brass, of the looking-glasses of the women assembling, which assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

9 ¶ And he made the court: on the south side southward the hangings of the court were of fine twined linen, an hundred cubits:

10 Their pillars were twenty, and their brasen sockets twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, were of silver.

11 And for the north-side, the hangings were an hundred cubits, their pillars were twenty, and their sockets of brass twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of silver.

12 And for the west-side were hangings of fifty cubits, their pillars ten, and their sockets ten: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of silver.

13 And for the east-side eastward fifty cubits.

14 The hangings of the one side of the gate were fifteen cubits; their pillars three, and their sockets three.

15 And for the other side of the court-gate, on this hand and that hand, were hangings of fifteen cubits; their pillars three, and their sockets three.

16 All the hangings of the court round about were of fine twined linen.

17 And the sockets for the pillars were of brass; the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of silver; and the overlaying of their chapters of silver; and all the pillars of the court were filleted with silver.

18 And the hanging for the gate of the court was needle-work, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen: and twenty cubits was the length, and the height in the breadth was five cubits, answerable to the hangings of the court.

19 And their pillars were four, and their sockets of brass four; their hooks of silver, and the overlaying of their chapters, and their fillets, of silver.

20 And all the pins of the tabernacle, and of the court round about, were of brass.

21 ¶ This is the sum of the tabernacle, even of the tabernacle of testimony, as it was counted, according to the commandment of Moses, for the service of the Levites,

8. One cherub on the end, &c.] Various are the opinions of the learned in regard to the form of these cherubims; some supposing them, from the etymology of the word, to have resembled oxen; but it appears to have been more generally concluded, that they were human, or angelic figures, whose wings reached each other across the ark, and over the mercy-seat.

Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, son to Aaron the priest.

22 And Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the LORD commanded Moses.

23 And with him was Aholiab, son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, an engraver and a cunning workman, and an embroiderer in blue, and in purple, and in scarlet, and fine linen.

24 All the gold that was occupied for the work, in all the work of the holy place, even the gold of the offering, was twenty and nine talents, and seven hundred and thirty shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

25 And the silver of them that were numbered of the congregation was an hundred talents, and a thousand seven hundred and threescore and fifteen shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary :

26 A bekah for every man, that is, half a shekel, after the shekel of the sanctuary, for every one that went to be numbered, from twenty years old and upward, for six hundred thousand and three thousand and five hundred and fifty men.

27 And of the hundred talents of silver were cast the sockets of the sanctuary, and the sockets of the vail : an hundred sockets of the hundred talents, a talent for a socket.

28 And of the thousand seven hundred seventy and five shekels, he made hooks for the pillars, and overlaid their chapiters, and filleted them.

29 And the brass of the offering was seventy talents, and two thousand and four hundred shekels.

30 And therewith he made the sockets to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the brasen altar, and the brasen grate for it, and all the vessels of the altar,

1 The clothes of service, and holy garments.—2 The ephod.—8 The breast-plate.—22 The robe of the ephod.—27 The coats, mitre, &c.—30 The plate of the holy crown.—33 All is viewed and approved by Moses.

AND of the blue, and purple, and scarlet, they made clothes of service, to do service in the holy place, and made the holy garments for Aaron ; as the LORD commanded Moses :

2 ¶ And he made the ephod of gold, blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen.

3 And they did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires, to work it in the blue, and in the purple, and in the scarlet, and in the fine linen, with cunning work.

4 They made shoulder-pieces for it, to couple it together : by the two edges was it coupled together.

5 And the curious girdle of his ephod, that was upon it, was of the same, according to the work thereof ; of gold, blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, as the LORD commanded Moses.

6 ¶ And they wrought onyx-stones inclosed in ouches of gold, graven as signets are graven, with the names of the children of Israel.

24. Twenty and nine talents, and seven hundred and thirty shekels.] This sum, according to the computation of Bishop Cumberland, amounts to upwards of 150,000l. sterling.

25. And the silver, &c.] There being 603,550 men, who offered each of them half a shekel, as the next verse tells us, the total sum is 301,775 shekels, which, at 2s. 4d. to a shekel of silver, amount to 35,207l. sterling.

That it may not seem unaccountable that so great treasures should be found among the Israelites in the desert, it is to be remembered, that their ancestors were very great men, and had gathered great riches before they had come into Egypt ; that they were further enriched, first by the spoils of the Egyptians, and then of the Amalekites ; besides, it is probable that they traded with the neighbouring nations, who bordered on the wilderness, while they continued in it.

7 And he put them on the shoulders of the ephod, that they should be stones for a memorial to the children of Israel ; as the LORD commanded Moses.

8 ¶ And he made the breast-plate of cunning work, like the work of the ephod ; of gold, blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 It was four-square ; they make the breast-plate double : a span was the length thereof, and a span the breadth thereof, being doubled.

10 And they set in it four rows of stones : the first row was a sardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle : this was the first row.

11 And the second row, an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond.

12 And the third row a ligure, an agate, and an amethyst.

13 And the fourth row, a beryl, an onyx, and a jasper : they were inclosed in ouches of gold in their inclosings.

14 And the stones were according to the names of the children of Israel, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a signet, every one with his name, according to the twelve tribes.

15 And they made upon the breast-plate chains at the ends, of wreathen work of pure gold.

16 And they made two ouches of gold, and two gold rings, and put the two rings in the two ends of the breast-plate.

17 And they put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings on the ends of the breast-plate.

18 And the two ends of the two wreathen chains they fastened in the two ouches, and put them on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod, before it.

19 And they made two rings of gold, and put them on the two ends of the breast-plate, upon the border of it, which was on the side of the ephod inward.

20 And they made two other golden rings, and put them on the two sides of the ephod underneath, toward the fore-part of it, over against the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod :

21 And they did bind the breast-plate by his rings unto the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, that it might be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breast-plate might not be loosed from the ephod ; as the LORD commanded Moses.

22 ¶ And he made the robe of the ephod of woven work, all of blue.

23 And there was an hole in the midst of the robe, as the hole of an habergeon, with a band round about the hole, that it should not rend.

24 And they made upon the hems of the robe pomegranates of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and twined linen.

25 And they made bells of pure gold, and put the bells between the pomegranates upon the hem of the robe, round about between the pomegranates ;

26 A bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate, round about the hem of the robe to minister in ; as the LORD commanded Moses.

27 ¶ And they made coats of fine linen, of woven work, for Aaron and for his sons.

28 And a mitre of fine linen, and goodly bonnets of fine linen, and linen breeches of fine twined linen.

29 And a girdle of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, to be made ; and here, as before, every thing was costly, and worthy of the Divine Being, whose presence was expected to adorn the tabernacle. The gold wire and precious stones were ornamentally intermixed, as described, chap. 28.

8. And he made the breast-plate, &c.] As the whole of this chapter, and the fore-going, are but repetitions of what was commanded Moses in the mount, chap. 25. the reader is recommended to observe, how particularly the former directions are here repeated, which may convince us they were indispensably and punctually performed in every part of the work. Bishop Patrick very judiciously observes, that in all this exact recapitulation, not the least mention is made of the Urim and Thummim ; which seems to indicate, that they were not distinct things from the breast-plate or its stones, but only another name for the same thing. This observation is still farther strengthened from Lev. 8. 8. where the priest's robes being mentioned, the Urim and Thummim are likewise spoken of, without mentioning the precious stones, as if they were the same thing.

purple, and scarlet, of needle-work; as the LORD commanded Moses.

30 ¶ And they made the plate of the holy crown of pure gold, and wrote upon it a writing, like to the engravings of a signet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

31 And they tied unto it a lace of blue, to fasten it on high upon the mitre; as the LORD commanded Moses.

32 ¶ Thus was all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation finished: and the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so did they.

33 ¶ And they brought the tabernacle unto Moses, the tent and all his furniture, his taches, his boards, his bars, and his pillars, and his sockets,

34 And the covering of rams' skins dyed red, and the covering of badgers' skins, and the vail of the covering,

35 The ark of the testimony, and the staves thereof, and the mercy-seat,

36 The table, and all the vessels thereof, and the shewbread,

37 The pure candlestick, with the lamps thereof, even with the lamps to be set in order, and all the vessels thereof, and the oil for light,

38 And the golden altar, and the anointing oil, and the sweet incense, and the hanging for the tabernacle door,

39 The brasen altar, and his grate of brass, his staves, and all his vessels, the laver and his foot,

40 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and his sockets, and the hanging for the court-gate, his cords, and his pins, and all the vessels of the service of the tabernacle for the tent of the congregation.

41 The clothes of service to do service in the holy place, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and his sons' garments, to minister in the priest's office.

42 According to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so the children of Israel made all the work.

43 And Moses did look upon all the work, and, behold, they had done it as the LORD had commanded, even so had they done it: and Moses blessed them.

C H A P. XL.

1 The tabernacle commanded to be reared.—12 Aaron and his sons to be sanctified.—34 A cloud covereth the tabernacle.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 On the first day of the first month shalt thou set up the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

3 And thou shalt put therein the ark of the testimony, and cover the ark with the vail.

4 And thou shalt bring in the table, and set in order the things that are to be set in order upon it; and thou shalt bring in the candlestick, and light the lamps thereof.

5 And thou shalt set the altar of gold for the incense before the ark of the testimony, and put the hanging of the door to the tabernacle.

6 And thou shalt set the altar of the burnt-offering before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

7 And thou shalt set the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and shalt put water therein.

8 And thou shalt set up the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court-gate.

9 And thou shalt take the anointing oil, and anoint the tabernacle, and all that is therein, and shalt hallow it, and all the vessels thereof: and it shall be holy.

10 And thou shalt anoint the altar of the burnt-offering, and all his vessels, and sanctify the altar: and it shall be an altar most holy.

11 And thou shalt anoint the laver and his foot, and sanctify it.

12 ¶ And thou shalt bring Aaron and his sons unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and wash them with water.

13 ¶ And thou shalt put upon Aaron the holy garments, and anoint him, and sanctify him; that he may minister unto me in the priest's office.

14 And thou shalt bring his sons, and clothe them with coats:

15 And thou shalt anoint them, as thou didst anoint their father, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office: for their anointing shall surely be an everlasting priesthood throughout their generations.

16 Thus did Moses: according to all that the LORD commanded him, so did he.

17 ¶ And it came to pass, in the first month, in the second year, on the first day of the month, that the tabernacle was reared up.

18 And Moses reared up the tabernacle, and fastened his sockets, and set up the boards thereof, and put in the bars thereof, and reared up his pillars.

19 And he spread abroad the tent over the tabernacle, and put the covering of the tent above upon it; as the LORD commanded Moses.

20 ¶ And he took and put the testimony into the ark, and set the staves on the ark, and put the mercy-seat above upon the ark:

21 And he brought the ark into the tabernacle, and set up the vail of the covering, and covered the ark of the testimony; as the LORD commanded Moses.

22 ¶ And he put the table in the tent of the congregation, upon the side of the tabernacle northward, without the vail.

23 And he set the bread in order upon it before the LORD; as the LORD had commanded Moses.

24 ¶ And he put the candlestick in the tent of the congregation, over against the table, on the side of the tabernacle southward.

25 And he lighted the lamps before the LORD; as the LORD commanded Moses.

26 ¶ And he put the golden altar in the tent of the congregation, before the vail:

27 And he burnt sweet incense thereon; as the LORD commanded Moses.

28 ¶ And he set up the hanging at the door of the tabernacle.

29 And he put the altar of burnt-offering by the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation, and offered upon it the burnt-offering, and the meat-offering; as the LORD commanded Moses.

30 ¶ And he set the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and put water there, to wash withal.

31 And Moses, and Aaron, and his sons, washed their hands and their feet thereat:

32 When

33. And they brought the tabernacle, &c.] They laid every thing before Moses for his approbation.

34, 35, 36, 37.] See chap. 26.

43. And Moses blessed them.] i. e. He signified his approbation of all being completed as the Lord had ordered, by blessing both the work and workmen.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XL.

Verse 2. On the first day of the first month, &c.] i. e. Of the second year after their coming out of Egypt. The Jews always made this epoch the set time to count their years from.

14. Thou shalt bring his sons, &c.] They were anointed with the same oil, though to an inferior priesthood, which was to continue in their family for ever.

15. An everlasting priesthood.] He signifies that this unction should be for all succeeding priests; they should not need to be anointed again, except the successive high-priests. See chap. 7. 29. Lev. 4. 3. and 16. 32. and 21. 10.

17. In the second year,] After their coming out of Egypt, Numb. 7. 1. 20, 21. And he took and put the testimony, &c.] He put the law and the tables into the ark, and then fixed it in its place with the mercy-seat, and parted or separated that room by the curious vail.

29. And he put the altar, &c.] The great altar and laver he placed within the great court.

31. And Moses, and Aaron, and his sons, &c.] In this ceremony Moses acted as high-priest, washing himself before he went to sacrifice. See chap. 30. 19, 20, 21.

32 When they went into the tent of the congregation, and when they came near unto the altar, they washed; as the LORD commanded Moses.

33 And he reared up the court round about the tabernacle and the altar, and set up the hanging of the court-gate: so Moses finished the work.

34 ¶ Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.

35 And Moses was not able to enter into the tent of the congregation, because the cloud abode thereon, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.

36 And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Israel went onward in all their journeys;

37 But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not till the day that it was taken up.

38 For the cloud of the LORD was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeys.

34. Then a cloud, &c.] This was the same cloud which had been seated over Moses' tent; but now, upon the tabernacle being finished, and a reconciliation having taken place between the Lord and his people, it came and settled in the tabernacle, pursuant to the promise made to them, chap. 25. 8, 22.

35. And Moses was not able, &c.] This returning brightness of God's presence so far exceeded his former display of his glory, that Moses could not endure its splendour, till he was enabled to do so by divine support.

The cloud—and the glory.] The cloud and the glory are one and the same, as were the pillar of cloud and of fire.

36, 37, 38. And when the cloud, &c.] This manifestation of the Divine presence, whether by cloud or fire, was now their continual and regular guide when to march, and when to halt. This Divine appearance continued with them till it conducted them into the land of Canaan. The darkness then remained in the sanctuary, but there was no more visible cloud outwards.

REFLECTIONS ON THE BOOK OF EXODUS.

IT is impossible to read this extraordinary account of the rise of so considerable a republic as the Jews, from a single family, in a foreign country, without being convinced of the intervention of a particular Providence in the government of kingdoms; and that nations, as well as individuals, have their crisis, or height of impiety, beyond which God will not suffer them to proceed.

The Egyptians were a flourishing learned people; but all their arts and sciences, however ornamental, were not able to teach them one single truth in regard to the Deity; and, amidst the most profound knowledge of policy, they were totally ignorant of the providential government of the world.

We see then the necessity of a revelation from Almighty God originally, and likewise that there should be some settled form of worship, some rites and ceremonies to strike the senses, and prevent their being caught away by any glittering novelty, in which superstition may chance to appear. For as the original worship of God, as practised by the first inhabitants of the earth, was plain and simple, it must have been owing to the love of novelty, as well as the love of the world, that religion, in time, became so totally disfigured, and loaded with ridiculous and even impious ceremonies.

In order therefore to obviate this dreadful misfortune to his own people, God was pleased, as soon as he had miraculously led them out of an enemy's country, where they had been treated as slaves, to give them a moral and ritual law: and he joined them both together, that neither might be forgotten. The moral law was to be eternal, and to bind their consciences for ever: but the ritual or ceremonial ordinances were given to prevent their attending to idolatrous forms of worship, which might strike their fancy, and delude them from the true God: and likewise to be types and shadows, as it were, of that more perfect form of worship, which they were taught to hope their posterity would enjoy under the priesthood of the Messiah.

As it is expressly declared, that every law and ceremony came immediately by revelation to Moses from Jehovah himself, we must plainly perceive, that no human being can have a right to establish a church, or form of worship, different from the church of God; and, from the very regular and circumstantial manner in which every thing was ordered to be conducted, we must necessarily perceive, that regularity and order is expected of us in our worship of the Divine Being, as well as reverence and sincerity.

This work is intended to represent the Holy Scriptures as they appear, the fountain of truth, simple and unadorned; and by shewing that it was intended they should be within the limits of the human understanding, convince mankind that they are the proper study for man to be engaged in.

THE THIRD BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED LEVITICUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS Book, containing the actions of about one month's space, acquainteth us with the Levitical Ceremonies used after the Tabernacle was erected, and anointed in the wilderness, and is therefore called Leviticus. It treats of laws concerning persons and things clean and unclean, by infirmity or accident; as also purifyings in general once a year, and divers particular cleansings, with a brief repetition of divers laws, chap. 19. together with certain feasts, of seven years rest, of the jubilee, and redemption of things consecrated to God, &c. but especially of such ceremonies as were used about offerings and sacrifices, which were both expiatory for trespasses wittingly or unwittingly committed, whether by the people or the priests; and also eucharistical, in the owning of God's blessings. Here are declared also laws for the regulating of these, and prescribing the lawful time for marriages; here is set down how several abominable sins are punishable by the magistrate; and how these things are to be managed by certain persons appropriated to the tribe of Levi, whose office is confirmed from heaven, and the mal-administration of it threatened, and the judgment particularly inflicted on Nadab and Abihu for an example. Here are also promises and threatenings, to the observers or breakers of this law.

CHAP. I.

1 The burnt-offerings,—3 of the herd,—10 of the flocks,—14 of the fowls.

AND the LORD called unto Moses, and spake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, If any man of you bring an offering unto the LORD, ye shall bring your offering of the cattle, even of the herd, and of the flock.

3 ¶ If his offering be a burnt-sacrifice of the herd, let him offer a male without blemish: he shall offer it of his own voluntary will at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD.

4 And he shall put his hand upon the head of the burnt-offering; and it shall be accepted for him, to make atonement for him.

5 And he shall kill the bullock before the LORD; and the priests, Aaron's sons, shall bring the blood, and sprinkle the blood round about upon the altar that is by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

6 And he shall flay the burnt-offering, and cut it into his pieces.

7 And the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire upon the altar, and lay the wood in order upon the fire.

8 And the priests, Aaron's sons, shall lay the parts, the head, and the fat, in order upon the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar.

9 But his inwards and his legs shall he wash in water: and the priest shall burn all on the altar, to be a burnt-sacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

10 ¶ And if his offering be of the flocks, namely, of the sheep, or of the goats, for a burnt-sacrifice; he shall bring it a male without blemish.

11 And he shall kill it on the side of the altar northward before the LORD: and the priests, Aaron's sons, shall sprinkle his blood round about upon the altar:

12 And he shall cut it into his pieces, with his head and his fat: and the priest shall lay them in order on the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar.

13 But he shall wash the inwards and the legs with water; and the priest shall bring it all, and burn it upon the altar: it is a burnt-sacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour, unto the LORD.

14 ¶ And if the burnt-sacrifice for his offering to the LORD

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 2. If any man of you bring an offering.] There are divers kinds of sacrifices here prescribed, some by way of acknowledgment to God for mercies either desired or received; others by way of satisfaction for men's sins; others were mere exercises of piety and devotion. And the reason why there are so many kinds of them was, partly, respect to the childish estate of the Jews, who, by the custom of nations and their own natural inclinations, were much addicted to outward rites and ceremonies, that they might have full employment of that kind in God's service, and thereby be kept from temptations to idolatry; and partly to represent, as well the several perfections of Christ, the true sacrifice, and the various benefits of his death, as the several duties which men owe to their Creator and Redeemer, all which could not be so well expressed by one sort of sacrifices.

Of the herd, and of the flock.] The only living creatures which were permitted to be offered upon the Jewish altar were, out of the herd, the bullock only; and out of the flock, the sheep and the goat; and from among the fowls, the turtle-dove, or the young pigeon. Now God chose these kinds of creatures for his sacrifices, either, 1. In opposition to the Egyptian idolatry, to which divers of the Israelites had been used, and were still in danger of revolting to again, that the frequent destruction of these creatures might bring such silly deities into contempt. Or, 2. Because these are the fittest representations both of Christ and of true Christians, as being patient and harmless, and most useful to men. Or, 3. As the best and most profitable creatures, with which it is fit God should be served, and which we should be ready to part with, when God requires us to do so. Or, 4. As things most common and obvious, that men might never want a sacrifice when they needed, or God required it.

3. A burnt-sacrifice.] Strictly so called, such as was to be all burnt, the skin excepted, Lev. 7, 8. see Gen. 8, 20. and 1 Kings 3, 15. For otherwise every sacrifice was burnt, more or less. This sacrifice did partly signify, that the whole man, in whose stead the sacrifice was offered, was to be entirely and unreservedly offered or devoted to God's service; and that the whole man did deserve to be utterly consumed, if God should deal severely with him.

A male.] As being more perfect than the female.

Without blemish.] To signify that God should be served with the best of every kind.

4. Put his hand, &c.] See note on Exod. 29, 10.

To make atonement for him.] To wit, ceremonially and sacramentally; as directing his faith and thoughts to that true propitiatory sacrifice which in time was to be offered up for him.

6. Cut it into his pieces.] To wit, the head, and fat, and inwards, and legs, ver. 8, 9.

7. Put fire.] Or, dispose the fire, i. e. blow it up, and put it together, so as it might be fit for the present work. For the fire there used and allowed came down from heaven, Lev. 9, 24. and was to be carefully preserved there, and all other fire was forbidden.

9. But his inwards, &c.] These parts were not to be burnt upon the altar, till they were well cleansed by washing them in water.

Of a sweet savour.] See Gen. 8, 21.

14. And

LORD be of fowls, then he shall bring his offering of turtle doves, or of young pigeons.

15 And the priest shall bring it unto the altar, and wring off his head, and burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof shall be wrung out at the side of the altar.

16 And he shall pluck away his crop with his feathers, and cast it beside the altar on the east part, by the place of the ashes:

17 And he shall cleave it with the wings thereof, but shall not divide it asunder: and the priest shall burn it upon the altar, upon the wood that is upon the fire: it is a burnt-sacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

C H A P. II.

1 The meat-offering of flour with oil and incense,—12 and of the first-fruits in the ear.—13 The salt of the offering.

AND when any will offer a meat-offering unto the LORD, his offering shall be of fine flour; and he shall pour oil upon it, and put frankincense thereon:

2 And he shall bring it to Aaron's sons, the priests: and he shall take thereout his handful of the flour thereof, and of the oil thereof, with all the frankincense thereof; and the priest shall burn the memorial of it upon the altar, to be an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD:

3 And the remnant of the meat-offering shall be Aaron's and his sons'; it is a thing most holy of the offerings of the LORD made by fire.

4 ¶ And if thou bring an oblation of a meat-offering, baken in the oven, it shall be unleavened cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, or unleavened wafers anointed with oil.

5 ¶ And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in a pan, it shall be of fine flour unleavened, mingled with oil.

6 Thou shalt part it in pieces, and pour oil thereon: it is a meat-offering.

7 ¶ And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in the frying-pan, it shall be made of fine flour with oil.

8 And thou shalt bring the meat-offering that is made of these things unto the LORD: and when it is presented unto the priest, he shall bring it unto the altar.

9 And the priest shall take from the meat-offering a memorial thereof, and shall burn it upon the altar: it is an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

10 And that which is left of the meat-offering shall be Aaron's and his sons': it is a thing most holy of the offerings of the LORD made by fire.

11 No meat-offering which ye shall bring unto the LORD shall be made with leaven: for ye shall burn no leaven, nor any honey, in any offering of the LORD made by fire.

14. And if the—sacrifice—be of fowls.] Those who were not able to go to the charge of a sheep or goat might offer a bird; nay, he who was not able to be at this expence was accepted if he offered bread; or, if even this was too great a burden, he might worship God by bringing only an offering of flour, as appears in the next chapter.

15. Shall—wring off his head.] Yet not so as to be quite separated from the body of the fowl, chap. 5. 18.

16. On the east part;] viz. Of the tabernacle. Here the filth was cast, being the remotest place from the holy of holies.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 1. A meat-offering.] This was of two kinds, the one joined with other offerings, Numb. 15. 4, 7, 10.

2. The memorial of it;] A portion of it, as a testimony or memorial that the whole sacrifice was dedicated to God.

3. Most holy;] i. e. Such as were to be eaten only by the priests, and that only in the holy place near the altar.

4. Unleavened cakes—mingled with oil, &c.] Leaven is in scripture language figuratively expressive of impurity, and oil was always esteemed as an emblem of holiness and excellence.

6. Thou shalt part it in pieces.] Because part of it was offered to God, and part given to the priest.

11. No meat-offering;] To wit, which is offered of free will, for in other offerings it might be used, chap. 7. 13. and 23. 17.

12 ¶ As for the oblation of the first-fruits, ye shall offer them unto the LORD; but they shall not be burnt on the altar for a sweet savour.

13 ¶ And every oblation of thy meat-offering shalt thou season with salt; neither shalt thou suffer the salt of the covenant of thy God to be lacking from thy meat-offering: with all thine offerings thou shalt offer salt.

14 And if thou offer a meat-offering of thy first-fruits unto the LORD, thou shalt offer, for the meat-offering of thy first-fruits, green ears of corn dried by the fire, even corn beaten out of full ears.

15 And thou shalt put oil upon it, and lay frankincense thereon: it is a meat-offering.

16 And the priest shall burn the memorial of it, part of the beaten corn thereof, and part of the oil thereof, with all the frankincense thereof: it is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

C H A P. III.

1 The peace-offering of the herd,—6 of the flock,—7 whether a lamb,—12 or a goat.

AND if his oblation be a sacrifice of peace-offering, if he offer it of the herd, whether it be a male or female, he shall offer it without blemish before the LORD.

2 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron's sons, the priests, shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

3 And he shall offer of the sacrifice of the peace-offering, an offering made by fire unto the LORD, the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards,

4 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it shall he take away.

5 And Aaron's sons shall burn it on the altar, upon the burnt-sacrifice, which is upon the wood that is on the fire: it is an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

6 ¶ And if his offering for a sacrifice of peace-offering unto the LORD be of the flock, male or female, he shall offer it without blemish.

7 ¶ If he offer a lamb for his offering, then shall he offer it before the LORD.

8 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron's sons shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

9 And he shall offer of the sacrifice of the peace-offering an offering made by fire unto the LORD; the fat thereof, and the whole rump, it shall he take off hard by the back-bone; and the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards,

10 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them,

Shall be made with leaven.] This was forbidden, partly to remind them of their deliverance out of Egypt, when they were forced through haste to bring away their meal or dough unleavened; and partly in opposition to the custom of the heathens in such cases, who made their sacrificial bread of the lightest and sweetest kind possible.

13. Every oblation of thy meat-offering shalt thou season with salt.] This Maimonides says was in opposition to the custom of the early heathens, who used no salt, but honey and other sweet-meats, to season their sacrifices. We are likewise warranted, by the New Testament, to consider this circumstance in a moral light; that it denoteth integrity and uncorruptedness of heart, which renders both the persons of men and their services acceptable to God.

16. And the priest shall burn, &c.] He was only to burn a part, and to have the rest for his own use, except the frankincense, which was to be entirely consumed, because the priest could make no use of the frankincense.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. A male or female;] Which were allowed here, though not in burnt-offerings.

5. Upon the burnt-sacrifice, &c.] The daily one, or any other; for the offerings never began with the sacrifices of thanksgiving, but first with those of expiation or atonement; to shew that no sacrifice could be acceptable to God, if an atonement for sin did not precede it.

11. The them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it shall he take away.

11 And the priest shall burn it upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire unto the LORD.

12 ¶ And if his offering be a goat, then he shall offer it before the LORD.

13 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of it, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about.

14 And he shall offer thereof his offering, even an offering made by fire unto the LORD: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.

15 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it shall he take away.

16 And the priest shall burn them upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire, for a sweet savour: all the fat is the LORD's.

17 It shall be a perpetual statute for your generations throughout all your dwellings, that ye eat neither fat nor blood.

CHAP. IV.

1 The sin-offering of ignorance,—3 for the priest,—13 for the congregation,—22 for the ruler,—27 for the people.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a soul shall sin through ignorance against any of the commandments of the LORD, concerning things which ought not to be done, and shall do against any of them:

3 ¶ If the priest that is anointed do sin according to the sin of the people; then let him bring, for his sin which he hath sinned, a young bullock without blemish unto the LORD for a sin-offering.

4 And he shall bring the bullock unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD, and shall lay his hand upon the bullock's head, and kill the bullock before the LORD.

5 And the priest that is anointed shall take of the bullock's blood, and bring it to the tabernacle of the congregation:

6 And the priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle of the blood seven times before the LORD, before the vail of the sanctuary.

7 And the priest shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar of sweet incense before the LORD, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation; and shall pour all the blood of the bullock at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8 And he shall take off from it all the fat of the bullock for the sin-offering: the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards,

9 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it shall he take away,

10 As it was taken off from the bullock of the sacrifice of peace-offerings: and the priest shall burn them upon the altar of the burnt-offering.

11 And the skin of the bullock, and all his flesh, with his head, and with his legs, and his inwards, and his dung,

12 Even the whole bullock shall he carry forth without the camp unto a clean place, where the ashes are poured out, and burn him on the wood with fire: where the ashes are poured out shall he be burnt.

13 ¶ And if the whole congregation of Israel sin through ignorance, and the thing be hid from the eyes of the assembly, and they have done somewhat against any of the commandments of the LORD, concerning things which should not be done, and are guilty;

14 When the sin which they have sinned against it is known, then the congregation shall offer a young bullock for the sin, and bring him before the tabernacle of the congregation.

15 And the elders of the congregation shall lay their hands upon the head of the bullock before the LORD: and the bullock shall be killed before the LORD.

16 And the priest that is anointed shall bring of the bullock's blood to the tabernacle of the congregation.

17 And the priest shall dip his finger in some of the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the LORD, even before the vail.

18 And he shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar which is before the LORD, that is in the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall pour out all the blood at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

19 And he shall take all his fat from him, and burn it upon the altar.

20 And he shall do with the bullock as he did with the bullock for a sin-offering, so shall he do with this: and the priest shall make an atonement for them, and it shall be forgiven them.

21 And he shall carry forth the bullock without the camp, and burn him as he burned the first bullock: it is a sin-offering for the congregation.

22 ¶ When a ruler hath sinned, and done somewhat through ignorance against any of the commandments of the LORD his God, concerning things which should not be done, and is guilty;

23 Or if his sin, wherein he hath sinned, come to his knowledge, he shall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a male without blemish.

24 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the goat, and kill it in the place where they kill the burnt-offering before the LORD: it is a sin-offering.

25 And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and shall pour out his blood at the bottom of the altar of burnt-offering.

26 And he shall burn all his fat upon the altar, as the fat of the sacrifice of peace-offerings: and the priest shall make an atonement for him as concerning his sin, and it shall be forgiven him.

27 ¶ And

11. The food.] It is call food, (Heb. bread,) to note God's acceptance of it, and delight in it, as men delight in their food.

16. The fat.] That kind of fat which is easily separated from the flesh; for the fat that was here and there mixed with the flesh they might eat, Deut. 32. 14. Neh. 8. 10.

17. Neither fat.] This was forbidden, to preserve the reverence of holy rites and sacrifices.

Blood.] This was forbidden, partly to maintain reverence to God and his worship; partly out of opposition to idolaters, who used to drink the blood of their sacrifices.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 2. Sin through ignorance.] This must necessarily be understood of more than common sins, and daily infirmities; for if every such sin had required an offering, it had not been possible either for most sinners to bear such a charge, or for the altar to receive so many sacrifices, or for the priest to manage so infinite a work. And for ordinary sins, they were ceremonially expiated by the daily offering, and by that on the great day of atonement, chap. 16. 30.

And shall do against any of them.] Then he shall offer according to his quality, which is here to be understood-out of the following verses.

3. According to the sin of the people.] In the same manner as any of the people do. But the words may be rendered, to the sin or guilt of the people, which may be mentioned as a reason of the law, and an aggravation of his sin, that by it he commonly brings sin, and guilt, and punishment, upon the people who are infected or scandalized by his example.

7. And the priest shall put some of the blood, &c.] He was to put it on the horns of the altar, to remind him that he was not worthy to offer any incense on it, till he had expiated his own guilt.

12. The whole bullock shall he carry forth.] No part of this was to be eaten by the priest, as it was in other sin-offerings, chap. 6. 26. The reason is plain, because the offerer might not eat of his own sin-offering, and the priest was the offerer in this case, as also in the sin-offering for the whole congregation below, ver. 21. of which the priest himself was a member.

13. The whole congregation.] Who by this expression are plainly distinguished from the elders of the people, ver. 15. which doubtless implies their judges and governors; and therefore this sin must be understood as a sin committed by the whole body of the community, or the church, including priest and people.

26. It shall be forgiven him.] Both ceremonially and judicially, as to all ecclesiastical censures or civil punishments.

27 ¶ And if any one of the common people sin through ignorance, while he doeth somewhat against any of the commandments of the LORD, concerning things which ought not to be done, and be guilty :

28 Or if his sin which he hath sinned come to his knowledge ; then he shall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a female without blemish, for his sin which he hath sinned.

29 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the sin-offering, and slay the sin-offering in the place of the burnt-offering.

30 And the priest shall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and shall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar.

31 And he shall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat is taken away from off the sacrifice of peace-offerings; and the priest shall burn it upon the altar for a sweet savour unto the LORD : and the priest shall make an atonement for him, and it shall be forgiven him.

32 And if he bring a lamb for a sin-offering, he shall bring it a female without blemish.

33 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the sin-offering, and slay it for a sin-offering in the place where they kill the burnt-offering.

34 And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and shall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar.

35 And he shall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the lamb is taken away from the sacrifice of the peace-offerings ; and the priest shall burn them upon the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the LORD : and the priest shall make an atonement for his sin that he hath committed, and it shall be forgiven him.

CHAP. V.

2 He that sinneth in touching an unclean thing,—4 or in making an oath :—6 His trespass-offering.—14 The trespass-offering in sacrilege.

AND if a soul sin, and hear the voice of swearing, and is a witness, whether he hath seen or known of it ; if he do not utter it, then he shall bear his iniquity.

2 ¶ Or if a soul touch any unclean thing, whether it be a carcase of an unclean beast, or a carcase of unclean cattle, or the carcase of unclean creeping things, and if it be hidden from him ; he also shall be unclean and guilty.

3 Or if he touch the uncleanness of man, whatsoever uncleanness it be that a man shall be defiled withal, and it be hid from him ; when he knoweth of it, then he shall be guilty.

4 ¶ Or if a soul swear, pronouncing with his lips to do evil, or to do good, whatsoever it be that a man shall pronounce with an oath, and it be hid from him ; when he knoweth of it, then he shall be guilty in one of these.

27. One of the common people, &c.] Either male or female, as he could best afford it. Let us observe, in regard to all these several sacrifices to be found among the Jews, that it is not supposed any of them are in themselves of sufficient value to clear a sinner of his guilt, which must always be personal ; but God in his mercy has instituted them as signs of repentance, and promised to accept them. They are likewise figurative representations of that more perfect expiation of the sins of mankind by the Messiah.

28. A female.] Because the sin of one of those was less than the sin of the ruler, for whom a male was required, ver. 21.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. The voice of swearing.] Either, 1st. Of adjuration upon oath, when the judge adjures a witness to speak the whole truth ; of which see Matt. 26. 36. Or, 2. Of false swearing before a judge. Or rather, 3. Of cursing, or blasphemy, or execration, as the word commonly signifies ; and that either, 1. Against one's neighbour, as 2 Sam. 16. 17. or, 2. Against God, as chap. 24. 10, 11. which may seem to be principally intended here, because the crime here spoken of is of so high a nature, that he who heard it was obliged to reveal it, and prosecute the guilty.

Known,] By sufficient information from others.

His iniquity,] i. e. The punishment of it ; as that word is oft used, as Gen. 19. 15. Numb. 18. 1.

No. 8.

5 And it shall be, when he shall be guilty in one of these things, that he shall confess that he hath sinned in that thing :

6 ¶ And he shall bring his trespass-offering unto the LORD for his sin which he hath sinned, a female from the flock, a lamb or a kid of the goats, for a sin-offering ; and the priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his sin.

7 And if he be not able to bring a lamb, then he shall bring, for his trespass which he hath committed, two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, unto the LORD ; one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering.

8 And he shall bring them unto the priest, who shall offer that which is for the sin-offering first, and wring off his head from his neck, but shall not divide it asunder.

9 And he shall sprinkle of the blood of the sin-offering upon the side of the altar, and the rest of the blood shall be wrung out at the bottom of the altar : it is a sin-offering.

10 And he shall offer the second for a burnt-offering, according to the manner : and the priest shall make an atonement for him, for his sin which he hath sinned, and it shall be forgiven him.

11 ¶ But if he be not able to bring two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons ; then he that sinned shall bring for his offering the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a sin-offering : he shall put no oil upon it, neither shall he put any frankincense thereon : for it is a sin-offering.

12 Then shall he bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his handful of it, even a memorial thereof, and burn it on the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the LORD : it is a sin-offering.

13 And the priest shall make an atonement for him, as touching his sin that he hath sinned in one of these, and it shall be forgiven him : and the remnant shall be the priest's, as a meat-offering.

14 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

15 If a soul commit a trespass, and sin through ignorance in the holy things of the LORD, then he shall bring for his trespass unto the LORD a ram without blemish out of the flocks, with thy estimation by shekels of silver, after the shekel of the sanctuary, for a trespass-offering :

16 And he shall make amends for the harm that he hath done in the holy thing, and shall add the fifth part thereto, and give it unto the priest : and the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespass-offering, and it shall be forgiven him.

17 ¶ And if a soul sin, and commit any of these things which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the LORD ; though he wist it not, yet is he guilty, and shall bear his iniquity.

18 And he shall bring a ram without blemish out of the flock, with thy estimation, for a trespass-offering unto the priest : and the priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his ignorance wherein he erred, and wist it not ; and it shall be forgiven him.

2. Unclean thing.] To wit, ceremonially. Of which see chap. 11. 24, &c. and Deut. 14.

3. If he touch the uncleanness of man, &c.] i. e. If he touched or conversed with any person that was legally unclean ; whereof see chap. 12. 13, 14.

4. Swear ;] To wit, rashly, without consideration, either of God's law, or his own power or right, as David did, 1 Sam. 25. 22.

In one of these,] Either in the good or evil which he swore to do.

6. He shall bring his trespass-offering, &c.] Interpreters much dispute what the difference is betwixt sin-offerings and trespass-offerings. The most probable opinion is, that the sin-offering had respect to offences against God only ; but the trespass-offering to offences so committed against God that their neighbours were also injured by them. And yet this distinction does not always hold ; for in this very passage the same sacrifice is called a trespass-offering and a sin-offering.

15. If a soul commit a trespass, &c.] This seems to relate to an omission of having paid the tithe or acknowledgment to God ; in which case the offender was to pay a fifth part more than the value, even though he did it ignorantly.

17. And if a soul, &c.] It is observable, that all the penalties are inflicted even upon those who sin ignorantly ; but then it is because the offence, being against the sacred establishment of God's religion, was of the utmost consequence to the whole people, since all their prosperity depended upon the strict observance of his laws.

passed against the LORD.

C H A P. VI.

1 The trespass-offering for sins done wittingly.—8 The burnt-offering.—14 the meat-offering.—19 The offering at consecration.—24 The sin-offering.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 If a soul sin, and commit a trespass against the LORD, and lie unto his neighbour in that which was delivered him to keep, or in fellowship, or in a thing taken away by violence, or hath deceived his neighbour;

3 Or have found that which was lost, and lieth concerning it, and sweareth falsely; in any of all these that a man doeth, sinning therein:

4 Then it shall be, because he hath sinned and is guilty, that he shall restore that which he took violently away, or the thing which he hath deceitfully gotten, or that which was delivered him to keep, or the lost thing which he found,

5 Or all that about which he hath sworn falsely: he shall even restore it in the principal, and shall add the fifth part more thereto, and give it unto him to whom it appertaineth, in the day of his trespass-offering.

6 And he shall bring his trespass-offering unto the LORD, a ram without blemish out of the flock, with thy estimation, for a trespass-offering, unto the priest.

7 And the priest shall make an atonement for him before the LORD: and it shall be forgiven him, for any thing of all that he hath done in trespassing therein.

8 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

9 Command Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the burnt-offering: (it is the burnt-offering, because of the burning upon the altar all night unto the morning, and the fire of the altar shall be burning in it.)

10 And the priest shall put on his linen garment, and his linen breeches shall he put upon his flesh, and take up the ashes which the fire hath consumed with the burnt-offering on the altar, and he shall put them beside the altar.

11 And he shall put off his garments, and put on other garments, and carry forth the ashes without the camp unto a clean place.

12 And the fire upon the altar shall be burning in it; it shall not be put out: and the priest shall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt-offering in order upon it; and he shall burn thereon the fat of the peace-offerings.

13 The fire shall ever be burning upon the altar; it shall never go out.

14 ¶ And this is the law of the meat-offering: The sons of Aaron shall offer it before the LORD, before the altar.

15 And he shall take of it his handful of the flour of the meat-offering, and of the oil thereof, and all the frankincense which is upon the meat-offering, and shall burn it upon the altar for a sweet savour, even the memorial of it, unto the LORD.

16 And the remainder thereof shall Aaron and his sons eat: with unleavened bread shall it be eaten in the holy place; in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation they shall eat it.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 2. Against the Lord.] This sin, though directly committed against man only, is here emphatically said to be done against the Lord, because it was a secret sin, of which God alone was the witness and judge, and because God's name was abused in it by perjury, ver. 3.

3. Sweareth falsely.] His oath being required, seeing there was no other way of discovery left.

4. Is guilty.] This guilt of his being manifested, either by his refusing to swear when called to it, as in some of the cases alledged; or by his voluntary confession upon remorse, whereby he reapeth this benefit, that he only restores the principal with the addition of a fifth part; whereas, if he were convicted of his fault, he was to pay double, Exod. 22. 9.

9. Burning upon the altar all night, &c.] This holy fire upon the great brazen altar was to be kept continually burning night and day.

11. He shall put off his garments, &c.] Because this was no sacred, but a common work.

16. With unleavened bread.] Or rather, unleavened, for with is not in the Hebrew, and it disturbs the sense; for since the meat-offering itself

17 It shall not be baken with leaven. I have given it unto them for their portion of my offerings made by fire; it is most holy, as is the sin-offering, and as the trespass-offering.

18 All the males among the children of Aaron shall eat of it. It shall be a statute for ever in your generations, concerning the offerings of the LORD made by fire: every one that toucheth them shall be holy.

19 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

20 This is the offering of Aaron and of his sons, which they shall offer unto the LORD in the day when he is anointed; the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a meat-offering perpetual, half of it in the morning, and half thereof at night.

21 In a pan it shall be made with oil; and when it is baken, thou shalt bring it in: and the baken pieces of the meat-offering shalt thou offer for a sweet savour unto the LORD.

22 And the priest of his sons, that is anointed in his stead, shall offer it: it is a statute for ever unto the LORD; it shall be wholly burnt.

23 For every meat-offering for the priest shall be wholly burnt: it shall not be eaten.

24 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

25 Speak unto Aaron and to his sons, saying, This is the law of the sin-offering: in the place where the burnt-offering is killed shall the sin-offering be killed before the LORD: it is most holy.

26 The priest that offereth it for sin shall eat it: in the holy place shall it be eaten, in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation.

27 Whatsoever shall touch the flesh thereof shall be holy: and when there is sprinkled of the blood thereof upon any garment, thou shalt wash that whereon it was sprinkled in the holy place.

28 But the earthen vessel wherein it is sodden shall be broken: and if it be sodden in a brasen pot, it shall be both scoured and rinsed in water.

29 All the males among the priests shall eat thereof: it is most holy.

30 And no sin-offering, whereof any of the blood is brought into the tabernacle of the congregation to reconcile withal in the holy place, shall be eaten: it shall be burnt in the fire.

18. Shall be holy:] i. e. Having no uncleanness upon them; for in that case even the priests themselves might not touch them.

23. It shall not be eaten.] To signify the imperfection of the Levitical priests, who could not bear their own iniquity.

26. The priest that offereth it for sin:] For the sins of the rulers, or of the people, or any of them, but not for the sins of the priests; for then the blood was brought into the tabernacle, and therefore it might not be eaten.

27. Thou shalt wash it—in the holy place.] Out of reverence to the blood of sacrifices, which hereby was kept from a profane or common touch.

28. The earthen vessel—shall be broken:] Because, being full of pores, the liquor in which it was sodden might easily sink into it, whereby it was ceremonially holy, and therefore was broken, lest afterwards it should be abused to profane or common uses, whereas brass vessels might be cleansed by scouring.

ANNO.

6 Every male among the priests shall eat thereof; it shall be eaten in the holy place: it is most holy.

7 As the sin-offering is, so is the trespass-offering: there is one law for them: the priest that maketh atonement therewith shall have it.

8 And the priest that offereth any man's burnt-offering, even the priest, shall have to himself the skin of the burnt-offering which he hath offered.

9 And all the meat-offering that is baken in the oven, and all that is dressed in the frying-pan, and in the pan, shall be the priest's that offereth it.

10 And every meat-offering mingled with oil, and dry, shall all the sons of Aaron have, one as much as another.

11 ¶ And this is the law of the sacrifice of peace-offerings, which he shall offer unto the LORD.

12 If he offer it for a thanksgiving, then he shall offer with the sacrifice of thanksgiving unleavened cakes mingled with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and cakes mingled with oil, of fine flour, fried.

13 Besides the cakes, he shall offer for his offering leavened bread, with the sacrifice of thanksgiving of his peace-offerings.

14 And of it he shall offer one out of the whole oblation for an heave-offering unto the LORD, and it shall be the priest's that sprinkleth the blood of the peace-offerings.

15 And the flesh of the sacrifice of his peace-offerings for thanksgiving shall be eaten the same day that it is offered; he shall not leave any of it until the morning.

16 But if the sacrifice of his offering be a vow, or a voluntary offering, it shall be eaten the same day that he offereth his sacrifice: and on the morrow also the remainder of it shall be eaten:

17 But the remainder of the flesh of the sacrifice on the third day shall be burnt with fire.

18 And if any of the flesh of the sacrifice of his peace-offerings be eaten at all on the third day, it shall not be accepted, neither shall it be imputed unto him that offereth it; it shall be an abomination, and the soul that eateth of it shall bear his iniquity.

19 And the flesh that toucheth any unclean thing shall not be eaten; it shall be burnt with fire: and as for the flesh, all that be clean shall eat thereof.

20 But the soul that eateth of the flesh of the sacrifice of peace-offerings that pertain unto the LORD, having his uncleanness upon him, even that soul shall be cut off from his people.

21 Moreover, the soul that shall touch any unclean thing, as the uncleanness of man, or any unclean beast, or any abominable unclean thing, and eat of the flesh of the sacrifice of peace-offerings which pertain unto the LORD, even that soul shall be cut off from his people.

22 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

23 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, Ye shall eat no manner of fat, of ox, or of sheep, or of goat.

24 And the fat of the beast that dieth of itself, and the fat of that which is torn with beasts, may be used in any other use: but ye shall in no wise eat of it.

25 For whosoever eateth the fat of the beast, of which men offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD, even the soul that eateth it shall be cut off from his people.

26 Moreover, ye shall eat no manner of blood, whether it be of fowl or of beast, in any of your dwellings.

27 Whatsoever soul it be that eateth any manner of blood, even that soul shall be cut off from his people.

28 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

29 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, He that offereth the sacrifice of his peace-offerings unto the LORD, shall bring his oblation unto the LORD of the sacrifice of his peace-offerings.

30 His own hands shall bring the offerings of the LORD made by fire, the fat with the breast, it shall he bring, that the breast may be waved for a wave-offering before the LORD.

31 And the priest shall burn the fat upon the altar: but the breast shall be Aaron's and his sons'.

32 And the right shoulder shall ye give unto the priest for an heave-offering of the sacrifices of your peace-offerings.

33 He among the sons of Aaron that offereth the blood of the peace-offerings, and the fat, shall have the right shoulder for his part.

34 For the wave-breast and the heave-shoulder have I taken of the children of Israel from off the sacrifices of their peace-offerings, and have given them unto Aaron the priest, and unto his sons, by a statute for ever, from among the children of Israel.

35 ¶ This is the portion of the anointing of Aaron, and of the anointing of his sons, out of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, in the day when he presented them to minister unto the LORD in the priest's office:

36 Which the LORD commanded to be given them of the children of Israel, in the day that he anointed them, by a statute for ever throughout their generations.

37 This is the law of the burnt-offering, of the meat-offering, and of the sin-offering, and of the trespass-offering, and of the consecrations, and of the sacrifice of the peace-offerings,

38 Which the LORD commanded Moses in mount Sinai, in the day that he commanded the children of Israel to offer their oblations unto the LORD, in the wilderness of Sinai.

CHAP. VIII.

3 And gather thou all the congregation together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 And Moses did as the LORD commanded him; and the assembly was gathered together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

5 And Moses said unto the congregation, This is the thing which the LORD commanded to be done.

any legal defilement shall presume willingly to eat of that which was dedicated to God, was to be cut off, that is, excluded from all the privileges of an Israelite. The intention of all these precepts was for preserving the greater reverence and regard to sacred things.

11 And he sprinkled thereof upon the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all his vessels, both the layer and his foot, to sanctify them.

12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head, and anointed him, to sanctify him.

13 And Moses brought Aaron's sons, and put coats upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonnets upon them; as the LORD commanded Moses.

14 And he brought the bullock for the sin-offering: and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the bullock for the sin-offering.

15 And he slew it; and Moses took the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about with his finger, and purified the altar, and poured the blood at the bottom of the altar, and sanctified it, to make reconciliation upon it.

16 And he took all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat; and Moses burned it upon the altar.

17 But the bullock, and his hide, his flesh, and his dung, he burnt with fire without the camp; as the LORD commanded Moses.

18 ¶ And he brought the ram for the burnt-offering: and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the ram.

19 And he killed it; and Moses sprinkled the blood upon the altar round about.

20 And he cut the ram into pieces; and Moses burnt the head, and the pieces, and the fat.

21 And he washed the inwards and the legs in water; and Moses burnt the whole ram upon the altar: it was a burnt-sacrifice for a sweet savour, and an offering made by fire unto the LORD; as the LORD commanded Moses.

22 ¶ And he brought the other ram, the ram of consecration: and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the ram.

23 And he slew it; and Moses took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aaron's right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 And he brought Aaron's sons, and Moses put of the blood upon the tip of their right ear, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet: and Moses sprinkled the blood upon the altar round about.

25 And he took the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat, and the right shoulder:

26 And out of the basket of unleavened bread, that was before the LORD, he took one unleavened cake, and a cake of oiled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right shoulder:

27 And he put all upon Aaron's hands, and upon his sons' hands, and waved them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

28 And Moses took them from off their hands, and burnt them on the altar upon the burnt-offering: they were consecrations for a sweet savour: it is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

29 And Moses took the breast, and waved it for a wave-offering before the LORD: for of the ram of consecration it was Moses' part; as the LORD commanded Moses.

30 And Moses took of the anointing oil, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and sprinkled it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his sons, and upon his sons' garments with him; and sanctified Aaron and his garments, and his sons, and his sons' garments with him.

31 ¶ And Moses said unto Aaron and to his sons, Boil the flesh at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and there eat it with the bread that is in the basket of consecrations, as I commanded, saying, Aaron and his sons shall eat it.

32 And that which remaineth of the flesh and of the bread shall ye burn with fire.

33 And ye shall not go out of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation in seven days, until the days of your consecration be at an end: for seven days shall he consecrate you.

34 As he hath done this day, so the LORD hath commanded to do, to make an atonement for you.

35 Therefore shall ye abide at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night seven days, and keep the charge of the LORD, that ye die not: for so I am commanded.

36 So Aaron and his sons did all things which the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

CHAP. IX.

2 The first-offerings of Aaron for himself and people.—8 The sin-offering.—12 The burnt-offering.—23 Moses and Aaron bless the people.—24 Fire cometh from the Lord upon the altar.

AND it came to pass, on the eighth day, that Moses called Aaron and his sons, and the elders of Israel: 2 And he said unto Aaron, Take thee a young calf for a sin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, without blemish, and offer them before the LORD.

3 And unto the children of Israel thou shalt speak, saying, Take ye a kid of the goats for a sin-offering; and a calf and a lamb, both of the first year, without blemish, for a burnt-offering;

4 Also a bullock and a ram for peace-offerings, to sacrifice before the LORD; and a meat-offering mingled with oil: for to-day the LORD will appear unto you.

5 ¶ And they brought that which Moses commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation: and all the congregation drew near, and stood before the LORD.

6 And Moses said, This is the thing which the LORD commanded that ye should do: and the glory of the LORD shall appear unto you.

7 And Moses said unto Aaron, Go unto the altar, and offer thy sin-offering, and thy burnt-offering, and make an atonement for thyself, and for the people: and offer the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them; as the LORD commanded.

8 ¶ Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and slew the calf of the sin-offering, which was for himself.

9 And

13. And girded them with girdles, &c.] i. e. He anointed and consecrated his sons as subordinate priests to act under him. See Exod. 28. 40.

17. The bullock and his hide;] Which in the offerings for the people was not burnt, but given to the priest.

29. It was Moses' part;] As at this time administering the priest's office.

33. And ye shall not go out of the door of the tabernacle, &c.] This should be rendered, Ye shall not go from the door of the tabernacle: for the consecration was not performed in, but at the door of the tabernacle, ver. 3, 31, 35. nor were they permitted to enter the sanctuary till the ceremony was completed.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 3. For a sin-offering:] For the people, as it is expressed, ver. 15. for whose sin a young bullock was required, Lev. 4. 15. but that was for some particular sin, whereas this was more general and indefinite, for all their sins.

4. To-day the Lord will appear unto you.] See the fulfilling of this promise, ver. 24.

7. For thyself, and for the people.] The order is very observable; first for thyself, otherwise thou art unfit to do it for the people. Hereby God would teach us, both the deficiency of this priesthood, and the absolute necessity of an higher and better priest, Heb. 7. 26, 27.

C H A P. X.

9 And the sons of Aaron brought the blood unto him: and he dipped his finger in the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the bottom of the altar.

10 But the fat, and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver, of the sin-offering, he burnt upon the altar: as the LORD commanded Moses.

11 And the flesh and the hide he burnt with fire without the camp.

12 And he slew the burnt-offering; and Aaron's sons presented unto him the blood, which he sprinkled round about upon the altar.

13 And they presented the burnt-offering unto him, with the pieces thereof, and the head: and he burnt them upon the altar.

14 And he did wash the inwards and the legs, and burnt them upon the burnt-offering on the altar.

15 ¶ And he brought the people's offering, and took the goat, which was the sin-offering for the people, and slew it, and offered it for sin, as the first.

16 And he brought the burnt-offering, and offered it according to the manner.

17 And he brought the meat-offering, and took an handful thereof, and burnt it upon the altar, besides the burnt-sacrifice of the morning.

18 He slew also the bullock and the ram for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, which was for the people: and Aaron's sons presented unto him the blood, which he sprinkled upon the altar round about,

19 And the fat of the bullock, and of the ram, the rump, and that which covereth the inwards, and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver:

20 And they put the fat upon the breasts, and he burnt the fat upon the altar:

21 And the breasts and the right shoulder Aaron waved for a wave-offering before the LORD: as Moses commanded.

22 And Aaron lifted up his hand towards the people, and blessed them; and came down from offering of the sin-offering, and the burnt-offering, and peace-offerings.

23 ¶ And Moses and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the congregation, and came out, and blessed the people: and the glory of the LORD appeared unto all the people.

24 ¶ And there came a fire out from before the LORD, and consumed upon the altar the burnt-offering and the fat: which when all the people saw, they shouted, and fell on their faces.

9. The horns of the altar.] To wit, of burnt-offerings, of which alone he speaks both in the foregoing and following words; and the blood was poured out at the bottom of this altar only, not of the altar of incense, as appears from chap. 4. 7.

15. As the first.] To wit, in like manner as he did that for the priest, ver. 8. and consequently burnt this, as he did the other, ver. 11. for which Moses reproves him, chap. 10. 17.

22. And came down.] To wit, from the altar; which is supposed to have stood upon raised ground. Compare Exod. 20. 26.

23. Moses.] Who went in with Aaron to direct him, and to see him perform those parts of his office which were to be done in the holy place.

24. And there came a fire out from before the Lord.] That glory which now appeared unto them sent out flashes of fire, which burnt up the sacrifice. This celestial fire the priests are ordered to keep always burning upon the altar, chap. 6. 13. and it is said to have lasted till the time of Solomon, when God sent fire anew from heaven, to consume the sacrifices which were offered at the dedication of the temple: and that again is said to have been preserved till the destruction of the first temple.

They shouted, and fell on their faces.] They lifted up their voices to God in exalted notes of praise, and prostrated themselves before him with awful veneration.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse 1. Strange fire.] Fire not taken from the altar, as it ought, but from some common fire.

Which he commanded them not.] For seeing Moses himself neither did, nor might to, any thing in God's worship without God's command, which is oft noted of him; for these to do it was a more unpardonable and inexcusable presumption. Besides, not commanding may be here put for forbidding, as it is, Jer. 32. 35.

Now as this was forbidden implicitly, chap. 6. 12. especially when God himself made a comment upon that text, and by sending fire from heaven declared of what fire he there spake; so it is more than probable it was forbidden expressly, though that be not here mentioned, nor was it necessary it should.

No. 9.

1 Nadab and Abihu burnt by fire.—6 Aaron and his sons forbidden to mourn for them.—8 The priests forbidden wine.—13 The law of eating holy things.

AND Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, took either of them his censer, and put fire therein, and put incense thereon, and offered strange fire before the LORD, which he commanded them not.

2 And there went out fire from the LORD, and devoured them; and they died before the LORD.

3 Then Moses said unto Aaron, This is it that the LORD spake, saying, I will be sanctified in them that come nigh me, and before all the people I will be glorified. And Aaron held his peace.

4 And Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel, the uncle of Aaron, and said unto them, Come near, carry your brethren from before the sanctuary out of the camp.

5 So they went near, and carried them in their coats out of the camp; as Moses had said.

6 ¶ And Moses said unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar, and unto Ithamar, his sons, Uncover not your heads, neither rend your clothes; lest ye die, and lest wrath come upon all the people: but let your brethren, the whole house of Israel, bewail the burning which the LORD hath kindled.

7 And ye shall not go out from the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: for the anointing oil of the LORD is upon you. And they did according to the word of Moses.

8 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Aaron, saying,

9 Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die; it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations.

10 And that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean;

11 And that ye may teach the children of Israel all the statutes which the LORD hath spoken unto them by the hand of Moses.

12 ¶ And Moses spake unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar, and unto Ithamar, his sons that were left, Take the meat-offering that remaineth of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and eat it without leaven beside the altar: for it is most holy:

13 And ye shall eat it in the holy place, because it is thy due, and thy sons' due, of the sacrifices of the LORD made by fire: for so I am commanded.

14 And

2. Devoured them.] Destroyed their lives; for the bodies and garments were not consumed, as appears from ver. 4. 5. Thus lightning many times kills persons, without making any impression on their bodies or garments.

3. This is it that the Lord spake.] Though the express words be not recorded in scripture, yet it is probable they were uttered by Moses in God's name; and the sense and substance of them is in many places. See Exod. 19. 22. and 29. 43. Lev. 8. 35.

Aaron held his peace.] Partly through excessive grief, which is sometimes signified by silence, as Isa. 47. 5. Lam. 2. 10. and principally in acknowledgment of God's justice, and of his submission to it. Compare Psa. 39. 10. Ezek. 24. 17. He murmured not, nor replied against God, nor against Moses; wisely considering, that their sin was directly against God, and in that which is most dear and honourable in God's account, to wit, in his worship; and that God's honour ought to be dearer to him than his sons.

4. Moses called—the sons of Uzziel.] For Aaron and his sons had scarce finished their consecration-work, and were employed in their holy ministrations, from which they were not to be called for funeral solemnities.

Your brethren.] i. e. Kinsmen, as that word is oft used.

5. Their coats.] In the holy garments wherein they ministered; which being polluted, both by their sin and by the touch of their dead bodies, God would not have any more used in his service.

6. Uncover not your heads, neither rend your clothes.] Give no signification of your sorrow; mourn not for them.

7. And ye shall not go out, &c.] It appears, from chap. 21. 12. that if the priests heard of the death of any of their kindred, at the time of ministration, they were nevertheless to go on with the service, and not leave off, nor quit the temple, because the anointing oil was upon them; i. e. they were devoted to God and spiritual affairs only.

9. Do not drink wine, nor strong drink.] This is here added, possibly because Nadab and Abihu had been led into their error by drinking too much. Drunkenness is so odious a thing in itself, especially in a minister, and most of all in the time of his administration of sacred things, that God saw fit to prevent all occasions of it.

16. And

14 And the wave-breast and heave-shoulder shall ye eat in a clean place; thou, and thy sons, and thy daughters, with thee: for they be thy due, and thy sons' due, which are given out of the sacrifices of peace-offerings of the children of Israel.

15 The heave-shoulder and the wave-breast shall they bring with the offerings made by fire of the fat, to wave it for a wave-offering before the LORD; and it shall be thine, and thy sons' with thee, by a statute for ever; as the LORD hath commanded.

16 ¶ And Moses diligently sought the goat of the sin-offering, and, behold, it was burnt: and he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the sons of Aaron which were left alive, saying,

17 Wherefore have ye not eaten the sin-offering in the holy place, seeing it is most holy, and God hath given it you to bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the LORD?

18 Behold, the blood of it was not brought in within the holy place; ye should indeed have eaten it in the holy place, as I commanded.

19 And Aaron said unto Moses, Behold, this day have they offered their sin-offering, and their burnt-offering, before the LORD; and such things have befallen me: and if I had eaten the sin-offering to-day, should it have been accepted in the sight of the LORD?

20 And when Moses heard that, he was content.

C H A P. XI.

2 What beasts may,—4 what may not be eaten,—9 what fishes,—13 what fowls,—21 the creeping things.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying unto them,

2 ¶ Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, These are the beasts which ye shall eat, among all the beasts that are on the earth.

3 Whatsoever parteth the hoof, and is cloven-footed, and cheweth the cud, among the beasts, that shall ye eat.

4 Nevertheless, these shall ye not eat, of them that chew the cud, or them that divide the hoof: as the camel, because he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you.

5 And the coney, because he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you.

6 And the hare, because he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you.

7 And the swine, though he divide the hoof, and be cloven-footed, yet he cheweth not the cud; he is unclean to you.

8 Of their flesh shall ye not eat, and their carcase shall ye not touch; they are unclean to you.

9 ¶ These shall ye eat, of all that are in the waters:

16. And, behold, it was burnt.] This justifies Moses' suspicion, that some mistake might be committed in the holy things; for, upon enquiring, he found that the priests had burnt upon the altar those parts of the people's sin-offering which they ought to have eaten themselves, chap. 6. 26, 29.

19. Have they offered their sin-offering.] They have done the substance of the thing, though they have mistaken this one circumstance.

Such things have befallen me;] Whereby, having been oppressed with grief, and almost bereft of my reason, it is not strange nor unpardonable, if I have mistaken.

Should it have been accepted in the sight of the Lord?] Because it was not to be eaten with sorrow, but with rejoicing and thanksgiving, as appears from Deut. 12. 7. and 26. 14. Hos. 9. 4.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 2. These are the beasts which ye shall eat.] Various reasons have been given for making this distinction among beasts; but it is agreed by all, that the general purpose and intention of the ceremonial institutions which were prescribed to the Jews, was to keep a separate people; lest, by contracting a too familiar intercourse with the Gentiles, they might be drawn in to imitate their superstitions and idolatries. Maimonides is of opinion, that the creatures here called unclean were all forbidden to be eaten by the Jews, because they were unwholesome food. Another reason for making a distinction between clean and unclean beasts, was to raise in the Jews an high opinion of their peculiar dignity and pre-eminence above all other nations. But this matter they carried to a greater height than their legislator intended. It was not whatsoever hath fins and scales in the waters, in the seas, and in the rivers, them shall ye eat.

10 And all that have not fins nor scales in the seas, and in the rivers, of all that move in the waters, and of any living thing which is in the waters, they shall be an abomination unto you:

11 They shall be even an abomination unto you: ye shall not eat of their flesh, but ye shall have their carcasses in abomination.

12 Whatsoever hath no fins nor scales in the waters, that shall be an abomination unto you.

13 ¶ And these are they which ye shall have in abomination among the fowls: they shall not be eaten, they are an abomination: the eagle, and the ossifrage, and the ospray,

14 And the vulture, and the kite after his kind;

15 Every raven after his kind:

16 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckow, and the hawk after his kind,

17 And the little owl, and the cormorant, and the great owl,

18 And the swan, and the pelican, and the gier-eagle,

19 And the stork, the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the bat.

20 All fowls that creep, going upon all four, shall be an abomination unto you.

21 Yet these may ye eat, of every flying creeping thing that goeth upon all four, which have legs above their feet, to leap withal upon the earth;

22 Even these of them ye may eat; the locust after his kind, and the bald-locust after his kind, and the beetle after his kind, and the grasshopper after his kind.

23 But all other flying creeping things, which have four feet, shall be an abomination unto you.

24 And for these ye shall be unclean: whosoever toucheth the carcase of them shall be unclean until the even.

25 And whosoever beareth ought of the carcase of them shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the even.

26 The carcasses of every beast which divideth the hoof, and is not cloven-footed, nor cheweth the cud, are unclean unto you: every one that toucheth them shall be unclean.

27 And whatsoever goeth upon his paws, among all manner of beasts that go on all four, these are unclean unto you: whoso toucheth their carcase shall be unclean until the even.

28 And he that beareth the carcase of them shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the even; they are unclean unto you.

29 ¶ These also shall be unclean unto you among the creeping things that creep upon the earth; the weasel, and the mouse, and the tortoise after his kind, his design to prevent their having any intercourse with the Gentiles in the common offices of humanity, but their having any fellowship with them in their impieties and superstitions.

30 And

5. The coney.] It is doubted whether we translate the word right; most interpreters think it signifies a large species of rat, common both in Egypt and Palestine.

7. And the swine.] The swine, as Dr. James observes, is the only animal in the creation subject to the leprosy, and also something very like what we call the king's evil, called in Latin scrufula, from scorfu a sow. The measles is another contagious distemper which this animal is subject to; and for these reasons it was probably prohibited.

10. All that have not fins nor scales, &c.] Fish without scales soonest of all incline to putrefaction. See James's Med. Dict.

13. The ossifrage.] This is a species of eagle, so called from the Latin os, a bone, and frango to break, because it breaks the bones of its prey. The ospray.] This is another species of eagle.

16. And the night-hawk.] Bochart is of opinion, that the bird here meant is the male ostrich. But it may be observed, that the flesh of that bird is so hard, that there was no need to forbid the eating of it.

And the cuckow.] Some interpreters render it a didapper, or sea-mew. 17. And the little owl.] Bochart and Le Clerc render it the bittern; but the Seventy, more properly, the night-raven.

18. And the gier-eagle;] Or the vulture-eagle, gier being an old English word for vulture.

20. All fowls that creep;] Read, All flying things that go upon four; such as bats, and several kinds of flies.

29. Among the creeping things that creep;] That is, those creeping things whose legs are so short that they seem to creep.

30. And

30 And the ferret, and theameleon, and the lizard, and the snale, and the mole.

31 These are unclean to you among all that creep: whosoever doth touch them, when they be dead, shall be unclean until the even.

32 And upon whatsoever any of them, when they are dead, doth fall, it shall be unclean: whether it be any vessel of wood, or raiment, or skin, or sack, whatsoever vessel it be, wherein any work is done, it must be put into water, and it shall be unclean until the even; so it shall be cleansed.

33 And every earthen vessel, whereinto any of them falleth, whatsoever is in it shall be unclean; and ye shall break it.

34 Of all meat which may be eaten, that on which such water cometh shall be unclean; and all drink that may be drunk in every such vessel shall be unclean.

35 And every thing whereupon any part of their carcase falleth, shall be unclean; whether it be oven, or ranges for pots, they shall be broken down: for they are unclean, and shall be unclean unto you.

36 Nevertheless, a fountain or pit, wherein there is plenty of water, shall be clean: but that which toucheth their carcase shall be unclean.

37 And if any part of their carcase fall upon any sowing-seed which is to be sown, it shall be clean.

38 But if any water be put upon the seed, and any part of their carcase fall thereon, it shall be unclean unto you.

39 And if any beast, of which ye may eat, die; he that toucheth the carcase thereof shall be unclean until the even.

40 And he that eateth of the carcase of it shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the even; he also that beareth the carcase of it shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the even.

41 And every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth shall be an abomination; it shall not be eaten.

42 Whatsoever goeth upon the belly, and whatsoever goeth upon all four, or whatsoever hath more feet among all creeping things that creep upon the earth, them ye shall not eat; for they are an abomination.

43 Ye shall not make yourselves abominable with any creeping thing that creepeth, neither shall ye make yourselves unclean with them, that ye should be defiled thereby.

44 For I am the LORD your God: ye shall therefore sanctify yourselves, and ye shall be holy; for I am holy: neither shall ye defile yourselves with any manner of creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

45 For I am the LORD that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy.

46 This is the law of the beast, and of the fowl, and of every living creature that moveth in the waters, and of every creature that creepeth upon the earth;

47 To make a difference between the unclean and the clean, and between the beast that may be eaten and the beast that may not be eaten.

C H A P. XII.

2 The purification of a woman after child-birth:—6 her offerings for her purifying.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 2 ¶ Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a woman have conceived seed, and born a man-child, then she shall be unclean seven days; according to the days of the separation for her infirmity shall she be unclean.

3 And in the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin shall be circumcised.

4 And she shall then continue in the blood of her purifying three and thirty days: she shall touch no hallowed thing, nor come into the sanctuary, until the days of her purifying be fulfilled.

5 But if she bear a maid-child, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as in her separation: and she shall continue in the blood of her purifying threescore and six days.

6 ¶ And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled, for a son, or for a daughter, she shall bring a lamb of the first year for a burnt-offering, and a young pigeon, or a turtle-dove, for a sin-offering, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the priest;

7 Who shall offer it before the LORD, and make an atonement for her; and she shall be cleansed from the issue of her blood. This is the law for her that hath born a male or a female.

8 And if she be not able to bring a lamb, then she shall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons; the one for the burnt-offering, and the other for a sin-offering: and the priest shall make an atonement for her, and she shall be clean.

C H A P. XIII.

Laws and tokens for the priest to discern the leprosy.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron, saying,

2 When a man shall have in the skin of his flesh a rising, a scab, or bright spot, and it be in the skin of his flesh like the plague of leprosy; then he shall be brought unto Aaron the priest, or unto one of his sons the priests:

3 And the priest shall look on the plague in the skin of the flesh: and when the hair in the plague is turned white, and the plague in sight be deeper than the skin of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosy: and the priest shall look on him, and pronounce him unclean.

4 If the bright spot be white in the skin of his flesh, and in sight be not deeper than the skin, and the hair thereof be not turned white; then the priest shall shut up him that hath the plague seven days.

5 And

5. And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying threescore and six days.] The time in both particulars is double to the former; not so much from natural causes, (because the purifications in female births are longer and slower, which if it were true, yet doth not extend to any such time as is here mentioned;) as for moral reasons: either to be as a blot upon that sex for being the first in man's transgression, 1 Tim. 2. 14. or to put an honour upon the sacrament of circumcision, which being administered to the males, did put an end to that pollution sooner than otherwise had been.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 2. Leprosy.] A distemper most frequent in Egypt and Syria, &c. known also among the Greeks, who note, that it was not so properly a disease as a defilement or distemper in the skin, whence Christ is not said to heal, but to cleanse the lepers that came to him. And this distemper is here provided against, not because it was worse than others, but because it was externally and visibly filthy, and because of its infectious nature.

3. When the hair in the plague is turned white.] When the leprosy came to its height, not the hair only, but also the skin was turned white, as Exod. 4. 6. Numb. 12. 10. And this change of colour was an evidence both of the abundance of excrementitious humours, and of the weakness of nature.

Deeper than the skin of his flesh.] For the leprosy did consume both the skin and the flesh, as appears from 2 Kings 5. 14.

10. There

30. And the ferret.] Dr. James is of opinion that it signifies a frog; and observes, that all these reptiles are extremely subject to putrefaction; that the smell of them, when putrefied, is very offensive; whence we must conclude that their juices are greatly alkaliescent.

35. Ranges for pots.] This might be better rendered by the single word pots; for as the oven was for bread, so the pots were for flesh; and under these two are comprehended all vessels wherein they either baked or boiled.

44. Sanctify yourselves.] As the Jews were peculiarly devoted to God, so they were to be distinguished by a peculiarity of diet, which, by reminding them of their particular relation to God, served emblematically to put them in mind of their obligation to study moral purity.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 3. In the eighth day, &c.] Which law is here repeated, because the woman's uncleanness lasting for seven days, was one, though not the only reason, why the child's circumcision was put off till the eighth day.

4. Three and thirty days.] This law was not only designed to represent the inward reverence and respect wherewith the public worship of God is to be attended, but likewise was a good political institution; since the natural weakness of women during this time required quiet and little company; and the temper of their blood in those hotter climates made a longer separation necessary than in these colder countries.

5 And the priest shall look on him the seventh day : and, behold, if the plague in his sight be at a stay, and the plague spread not in the skin ; then the priest shall shut him up seven days more :

6 And the priest shall look on him again the seventh day : and, behold, if the plague be somewhat dark, and the plague spread not in the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean : it is but a scab ; and he shall wash his clothes, and be clean.

7 But if the scab spread much abroad in the skin, after that he hath been seen of the priest for his cleansing, he shall be seen of the priest again :

8 And if the priest see that, behold, the scab spreadeth in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean : it is a leprosy.

9 ¶ When the plague of leprosy is in a man, then he shall be brought unto the priest :

10 And the priest shall see him : and, behold, if the rising be white in the skin, and it have turned the hair white, and there be quick raw flesh in the rising ;

11 It is an old leprosy in the skin of his flesh, and the priest shall pronounce him unclean, and shall not shut him up : for he is unclean.

12 And if a leprosy break out abroad in the skin, and the leprosy cover all the skin of him that hath the plague, from his head even to his foot, wheresoever the priest looketh ;

13 Then the priest shall consider : and, behold, if the leprosy have covered all his flesh, he shall pronounce him clean that hath the plague ; it is all turned white : he is clean.

14 But when raw flesh appeareth in him, he shall be unclean.

15 And the priest shall see the raw flesh, and pronounce him to be unclean : for the raw flesh is unclean : it is a leprosy.

16 Or if the raw flesh turn again, and be changed unto white, he shall come unto the priest :

17 And the priest shall see him : and, behold, if the plague be turned into white ; then the priest shall pronounce him clean that hath the plague : he is clean.

18 ¶ The flesh also in which, even in the skin thereof, was a bile, and is healed,

19 And in the place of the bile there be a white rising, or a bright spot, white, and somewhat reddish, and it be shewed to the priest ;

20 And if, when the priest seeth it, behold, it be in sight lower than the skin, and the hair thereof be turned white ; the priest shall pronounce him unclean : it is a plague of leprosy broken out of the bile.

21 But if the priest look on it, and, behold, there be no white hairs therein ; and if it be not lower than the skin, but be somewhat dark ; then the priest shall shut him up seven days :

22 And if it spread much abroad in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean : it is a plague.

23 But if the bright spot stay in his place, and spread not, it is a burning bile ; and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

24 ¶ Or if there be any flesh, in the skin whereof there is a hot burning, and the quick flesh that burneth have a white bright spot, somewhat reddish, or white ;

25 Then the priest shall look upon it : and, behold, if the hair in the bright spot be turned white, and it be in sight deeper than the skin : it is a leprosy broken out of the burning : wherefore the priest shall pronounce him unclean : it is the plague of leprosy.

26 But if the priest look on it, and, behold, there be no white hair in the bright spot, and it be no lower than the other skin, but be somewhat dark ; then the priest shall shut him up seven days :

27 And the priest shall look upon him the seventh day : and if it be spread much abroad in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean : it is the plague of leprosy.

28 And if the bright spot stay in his place ; and spread not in the skin, but it be somewhat dark ; it is a rising of the burning, and the priest shall pronounce him clean : for it is an inflammation of the burning.

29 ¶ If a man or woman have a plague upon the head or the beard ;

30 Then the priest shall see the plague : and, behold, if it be in sight deeper than the skin, and there be in it a yellow thin hair ; then the priest shall pronounce him unclean : it is a dry scall, even a leprosy upon the head or beard.

31 And if the priest look on the plague of the scall, and, behold, it be not in sight deeper than the skin, and that there is no black hair in it ; then the priest shall shut up him that hath the plague of the scall seven days :

32 And in the seventh day the priest shall look on the plague : and, behold, if the scall spread not, and there be in it no yellow hair, and the scall be not in sight deeper than the skin ;

33 He shall be shaven, but the scall shall he not shave ; and the priest shall shut up him that hath the scall seven days more :

34 And in the seventh day the priest shall look on the scall : and, behold, if the scall be not spread in the skin, nor be in sight deeper than the skin ; then the priest shall pronounce him clean : and he shall wash his clothes, and be clean.

35 But if the scall spread much in the skin after his cleansing ;

36 Then the priest shall look on him : and, behold, if the scall be spread in the skin, the priest shall not seek for yellow hair ; he is unclean.

37 But if the scall be in his sight at a stay, and that there is black hair grown up therein : the scall is healed, he is clean : and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

38 ¶ If a man also or a woman have in the skin of their flesh bright spots, even white bright spots ;

39 Then the priest shall look : and, behold, if the bright spots in the skin of their flesh be darkish white ; it is a freckled spot that groweth in the skin ; he is clean.

40 And the man whose hair is fallen off his head, he is bald ; yet is he clean.

41 And he that hath his hair fallen off from the part of his head toward his face, he is forehead-bald ; yet is he clean.

42 And if there be in the bald head, or bald forehead, a white reddish sore ; it is leprosy sprung up in his bald head, or his bald forehead.

43 Then the priest shall look upon it : and, behold, if the rising of the sore be white reddish in his bald head, or in his bald forehead, as the leprosy appeareth in the skin of the flesh ;

44 He is a leprous man, he is unclean : the priest shall pronounce him utterly unclean : his plague is in his head.

45 And the leper in whom the plague is, his clothes shall be rent, and his head bare, and he shall put a covering upon his upper lip, and shall cry, Unclean, unclean.

46 All

10. There be quick raw flesh.] Which shewed that this leprosy had eaten into the very flesh.

13. Covered all his flesh.] When it appeared in some one part, it discovered the humour which lurked within, and withal the inability of nature to expel it ; but when it overspread all, it manifested the strength of nature conquering the distemper, and purging out the ill humours into the outward parts.

16. If the raw flesh—be changed unto white,] As it is usual with sores when they begin to be healed, the skin, which is white, coming upon the flesh.

29. If a man or woman have a plague.] i. e. Any cutaneous eruption, concerning which the priest, as before-mentioned, was to be the judge.

31. There is no black hair in it.] For had that appeared, it had ended the doubt, the black hair being a sign of soundness and strength of nature, ver. 37. as the yellow hair was a sign of unsoundness.

47. The

46 All the days wherein the plague shall be in him he shall be defiled; he is unclean: he shall dwell alone; without the camp shall his habitation be.

47 ¶ The garment also that the plague of leprosy is in, whether it be a woollen garment or a linen garment;

48 Whether it be in the warp or woof, of linen, or of woollen: whether in a skin, or in any thing made of skin:

49 And if the plague be greenish or reddish in the garment, or in the skin, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of skin: it is a plague of leprosy, and shall be shewed unto the priest:

50 And the priest shall look upon the plague, and shut up it that hath the plague seven days:

51 And he shall look on the plague, on the seventh day: if the plague be spread in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in a skin, or in any work that is made of skin; the plague is a fretting leprosy; it is unclean.

52 He shall therefore burn that garment, whether warp or woof, in woollen or in linen, or any thing of skin, wherein the plague is: for it is a fretting leprosy; it shall be burnt in the fire.

53 And if the priest shall look, and, behold, the plague be not spread in the garment, either in the warp or in the woof, or in any thing of skin:

54 Then the priest shall command that they wash the thing wherein the plague is, and he shall shut it up seven days more:

55 And the priest shall look on the plague after that it is washed: and, behold, if the plague have not changed his colour, and the plague be not spread, it is unclean: thou shalt burn it in the fire; it is fret inward, whether it be bare within or without.

56 And if the priest look, and, behold, the plague be somewhat dark after the washing of it; then he shall rend it out of the garment, or out of the skin, or out of the warp, or out of the woof:

57 And if it appear still in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of skin; it is a spreading plague: thou shalt burn that wherein the plague is with fire.

58 And the garment, either warp or woof, or whatsoever thing of skin it be, which thou shalt wash, if the plague be departed from them, then it shall be washed the second time, and shall be clean.

59 This is the law of the plague of leprosy in a garment of woollen or linen, either in the warp or woof, or any thing of skins, to pronounce it clean, or to pronounce it unclean.

C H A P. XIV.

2 Rites and sacrifices in cleansing the leper.—37 Signs of leprosy.—48 Cleansing of the house.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 ¶ This shall be the law of the leper in the day of his cleansing: He shall be brought unto the priest;

3 And the priest shall go forth out of the camp: and the priest shall look, and, behold, if the plague of leprosy be healed in the leper;

4 Then shall the priest command to take for him that is to be cleansed two birds alive and clean, and cedar-wood, and scarlet, and hyssop.

5 And the priest shall command that one of the birds be killed in an earthen vessel, over running water.

6 As for the living bird, he shall take it, and the cedar-wood, and the scarlet, and the hyssop, and shall dip them, and the living bird, in the blood of the bird that was killed over the running water.

7 And he shall sprinkle upon him that is to be cleansed from the leprosy seven times, and shall pronounce him clean, and shall let the living bird loose into the open field.

8 And he that is to be cleansed shall wash his clothes, and shave off all his hair, and wash himself in water, that he may be clean; and after that he shall come into the camp, and shall tarry abroad out of his tent seven days.

9 But it shall be on the seventh day, that he shall shave all his hair off his head, and his beard, and his eyebrows, even all his hair he shall shave off: and he shall wash his clothes, also he shall wash his flesh in water, and he shall be clean.

10 And on the eighth day he shall take two he-lambs without blemish, and one ewe-lamb of the first year without blemish, and three tenth-deals of fine flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, and one log of oil.

11 And the priest that maketh him clean shall present the man that is to be made clean, and those things, before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 And the priest shall take one he-lamb, and offer him for a trespass-offering, and the log of oil, and wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

13 And he shall slay the lamb in the place where he shall kill the sin-offering and the burnt-offering, in the holy place: for as the sin-offering is the priest's, so is the trespass-offering: it is most holy.

14 And the priest shall take some of the blood of the trespass-offering, and the priest shall put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

15 And the priest shall take some of the log of oil, and pour it into the palm of his own left hand.

16 And the priest shall dip his right finger in the oil that is in his left hand, and shall sprinkle of the oil with his finger seven times before the LORD.

17 And of the rest of the oil that is in his hand shall the priest put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the blood of the trespass-offering.

18 And the remnant of the oil that is in the priest's hand he shall pour upon the head of him that is to be cleansed: and the priest shall make an atonement for him before the LORD.

19 And the priest shall offer the sin-offering, and make an atonement for him that is to be cleansed from his uncleanness; and afterward he shall kill the burnt-offering.

20 And the priest shall offer the burnt-offering and the meat-offering upon the altar: and the priest shall make an atonement for him, and he shall be clean.

21 And if he be poor, and cannot get so much, then he shall take one lamb for a trespass-offering to be waved, to make an atonement for him, and one tenth-deal of fine flour mingled with oil for a meat-offering, and a log of oil;

22 And two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, such as he is able to get; and the one shall be a sin-offering, and the other a burnt-offering.

23 And

47. The garment, &c.] Leprosy in garments and houses is unknown in these times and places; which is not strange, there being some diseases or distempers peculiar to some ages and countries, as the learned have noted.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIV.

Verse 4. Two birds alive and clean, and cedar-wood, &c.] The hyssop, bound with scarlet round a stick of cedar-wood, served for an instrument to sprinkle the blood and water. The juice or resin of cedar, together with hyssop, were reckoned medicinal for diseases of the skin. Many moral and metaphysical reasons are given for the use of these particulars, which, as they are conjectural, shall be passed over.

7. And shall let the living bird loose;] Signifying the taking off that restraint that was laid upon the leper, and the liberty which the leper now had to return to his former habitation and conversation with other men.

8. Abroad out of his tent seven days:] i. e. He was not to lodge with his wife or family for a week; lest any remains of the infection should injure them.

12. And the priest shall—offer him for a trespass-offering:] To teach them that sin was the cause of leprosy and of all diseases.

19. Make an atonement, &c.] By this act of devotion it seems as if the impurity of the body was considered as a type or figure of the foulness of the mind contracted by sin. The rite of purification was likewise made burdensome and expensive, to induce men to be cautious of contracting the distemper.

21. A log of oil.] The smallest measure among the Jews, about half a pint.

23 And he shall bring them on the eighth day for his cleansing unto the priest, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the LORD.

24 And the priest shall take the lamb of the trespass-offering, and the log of oil, and the priest shall wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

25 And he shall kill the lamb of the trespass-offering, and the priest shall take some of the blood of the trespass-offering, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

26 And the priest shall pour of the oil into the palm of his own left hand.

27 And the priest shall sprinkle with his right finger some of the oil that is in his left hand seven times before the LORD.

28 And the priest shall put of the oil that is in his hand upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the place of the blood of the trespass-offering.

29 And the rest of the oil that is in the priest's hand he shall put upon the head of him that is to be cleansed, to make an atonement for him before the LORD.

30 And he shall offer the one of the turtle-doves, or of the young pigeons, such as he can get;

31 Even such as he is able to get, the one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, with the meat-offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for him that is to be cleansed before the LORD.

32 This is the law of him in whom is the plague of leprosy, whose hand is not able to get that which pertaineth to his cleansing.

33 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

34 When ye be come into the land of Canaan, which I give to you for a possession, and I put the plague of leprosy in a house of the land of your possession:

35 And he that owneth the house shall come and tell the priest, saying, It seemeth to me there is as it were a plague in the house:

36 Then the priest shall command that they empty the house, before the priest go into it to see the plague, that all that is in the house be not made unclean; and afterward the priest shall go in to see the house:

37 And he shall look on the plague, and, behold, if the plague be in the walls of the house, with hollow strakes, greenish or reddish, which in sight are lower than the wall:

38 Then the priest shall go out of the house to the door of the house, and shut up the house seven days:

39 And the priest shall come again the seventh day, and shall look: and, behold, if the plague be spread in the walls of the house;

40 Then the priest shall command that they take away the stones in which the plague is, and they shall cast them into an unclean place without the city.

41 And he shall cause the house to be scraped within round about, and they shall pour out the dust that they scrape off without the city into an unclean place:

42 And they shall take other stones, and put them in the place of those stones; and he shall take other mortar, and shall plaster the house.

43 And if the plague come again, and break out in the house, after that he hath taken away the stones, and after he hath scraped the house, and after it is plastered;

44 Then the priest shall come and look; and, behold, if the plague be spread in the house, it is a fretting leprosy in the house: it is unclean.

45 And he shall break down the house, the stones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the mortar of the house: and he shall carry them forth out of the city into an unclean place.

46 Moreover, he that goeth into the house all the while that it is shut up shall be unclean until the even.

47 And he that lieth in the house shall wash his clothes: and he that eateth in the house shall wash his clothes.

48 ¶ And if the priest shall come in, and look upon it, and, behold, the plague hath not spread in the house, after the house was plastered; then the priest shall pronounce the house clean, because the plague is healed.

49 And he shall take to cleanse the house two birds, and cedar-wood, and scarlet, and hyssop:

50 And he shall kill the one of the birds in an earthen vessel over running water:

51 And he shall take the cedar-wood, and the hyssop, and the scarlet, and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of the slain bird, and in the running water, and sprinkle the house seven times:

52 And he shall cleanse the house with the blood of the bird, and with the running water, and with the living bird, and with the cedar-wood, and with the hyssop, and with the scarlet:

53 But he shall let go the living bird out of the city into the open fields, and make an atonement for the house; and it shall be clean:

54 This is the law for all manner of plague of leprosy and scall,

55 And for the leprosy of a garment, and of an house,

56 And for a rising, and for a scab, and for a bright spot:

57 To teach when it is unclean, and when it is clean: this is the law of leprosy.

CHAP. XV.

2 Uncleaness of men in issues.—13 Their cleansing.—19 Uncleaness of women in issues.—28 Their cleansing.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying,

2 ¶ Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When any man hath a running issue out of his flesh, because of his issue he is unclean.

3 And this shall be his uncleanness in his issue: whether his flesh run with his issue, or his flesh be stopped from his issue, it is his uncleanness.

4 Every bed whereon he lieth that hath the issue is unclean: and every thing whereon he sitteth shall be unclean.

5 And whosoever toucheth his bed shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

6 And he that sitteth on any thing whereon he sat that hath the issue, shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

7 And he that toucheth the flesh of him that hath the issue shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

8 And if he that hath the issue spit upon him that is clean, then he shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

9 And what saddle soever he rideth upon that hath the issue shall be unclean.

10 And whosoever toucheth any thing that was under him shall be unclean until the even: and he that beareth any of those things shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

11 And

44. If the plague be spread, &c.] The Jews have a tradition, that this disorder was of a peculiar nature, and inflicted for some particular sin; that it began on the walls of a house, and, upon the repentance of the parties, sometimes died away, and went no further; but for this there is no foundation.

54. This is the law, &c.] These were indispensable ordinances in regard to infectious diseases; and their strictness serves to denote how much more careful we ought to be, to present our hearts and souls pure and without spot or defilement before God.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 13. In running water, &c.] So particularly attentive are the laws of Moses to promote cleanliness, that running water is even insisted on, as being best calculated for a thorough cleansing and purification, being itself more clear and pure than any other.

11 And whomsoever he toucheth that hath the issue, and hath not rinsed his hands in water, he shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

12 And the vessel of earth that he toucheth which hath the issue shall be broken: and every vessel of wood shall be rinsed in water.

13 And when he that hath an issue is cleansed of his issue, then he shall number to himself seven days for his cleansing, and wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in running water, and shall be clean.

14 And on the eighth day he shall take to him two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and come before the LORD, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and give them unto the priest.

15 And the priest shall offer them, the one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering: and the priest shall make an atonement for him before the LORD for his issue.

16 And if any man's seed of copulation go out from him, then he shall wash all his flesh in water, and be unclean until the even.

17 And every garment, and every skin, whereon is the seed of copulation, shall be washed with water, and be unclean until the even.

18 The woman also with whom man shall lie with seed of copulation, they shall both bathe themselves in water, and be unclean until the even.

19 ¶ And if a woman have an issue, and her issue in her flesh be blood, she shall be put apart seven days: and whosoever toucheth her shall be unclean until the even.

20 And every thing that she lieth upon in her separation shall be unclean: every thing also that she sitteth upon shall be unclean.

21 And whosoever toucheth her bed shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

22 And whosoever toucheth any thing that she sat upon shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

23 And if it be on her bed, or on any thing whereon she sitteth, when he toucheth it he shall be unclean until the even.

24 And if any man lie with her at all, and her flowers be upon him, he shall be unclean seven days; and all the bed whereon he lieth shall be unclean.

25 And if a woman have an issue of her blood many days out of the time of her separation, or if it run beyond the time of her separation; all the days of the issue of her uncleanness shall be as the days of her separation: she shall be unclean.

26 Every bed whereon she lieth all the days of her issue shall be unto her as the bed of her separation; and whatsoever she sitteth upon shall be unclean, as the uncleanness of her separation.

27 And whosoever toucheth those things shall be unclean, and shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even.

28 But if she be cleansed of her issue, then she shall number to herself seven days, and after that she shall be clean.

29 And on the eighth day she shall take unto her two turtles, or two young pigeons, and bring them unto the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

30 And the priest shall offer the one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering; and the priest shall make an atonement for her before the LORD for the issue of her uncleanness.

31 Thus shall ye separate the children of Israel from their uncleanness, that they die not in their uncleanness, when they defile my tabernacle that is among them.

32 This is the law of him that hath an issue, and of him whose seed goeth from him, and is defiled therewith;

33 And of her that is sick of her flowers, and of him that hath an issue, of the man, and of the woman, and of him that lieth with her which is unclean.

CHAP. XVI.

11 The high-priest's sin-offering.—16 Sin-offering for the people.—20 The scape-goat.—29 The feast of expiation.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, after the death of the two sons of Aaron, when they offered before the LORD, and died:

2 And the LORD said unto Moses, Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holy place within the vail, before the mercy-seat, which is upon the ark, that he die not; for I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy-seat.

3 Thus shall Aaron come into the holy place: with a young bullock for a sin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering.

4 He shall put on the holy linen coat, and he shall have the linen breeches upon his flesh, and shall be girded with the linen girdle, and with the linen mitre shall he be attired: these are holy garments; therefore shall he wash his flesh in water, and so put them on.

5 And he shall take of the congregation of the children of Israel two kids of the goats for a sin-offering, and one ram for a burnt-offering.

6 And Aaron shall offer his bullock of the sin-offering, which is for himself, and make an atonement for himself, and for his house.

7 And he shall take the two goats, and present them before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8 And Aaron shall cast lots upon the two goats; one lot for the LORD, and the other lot for the scape-goat.

9 And Aaron shall bring the goat upon which the LORD's lot fell, and offer him for a sin-offering.

10 But the goat on which the lot fell to be the scape-goat shall be presented alive before the LORD, to make an atonement with him, and to let him go for a scape-goat into the wilderness.

11 ¶ And Aaron shall bring the bullock of the sin-offering, which is for himself, and shall make an atonement

15. And the priest shall—make an atonement for him.] Not as if this was in itself a sin, as it might proceed from accidental causes: though oft-times it was sinful, as being the fruit of a man's intemperance and immoderate lust. See chap. 14. 12.

24. He shall be unclean seven days.] If he did this unwittingly; but if the man and woman did this knowingly, they were both punished with death, Lev. 18. 20.

31. Thus shall ye separate, &c.] By these peculiar laws the people of Israel were rendered pure and cleanly above all other nations; and by this outward attention to their bodies, they were habitually impressed with a continual sense of the necessity of the inward purity of the heart.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 2. At all times.] Not whensoever he pleaseth, but only when I shall appoint him, to wit, to take down the parts and furniture of it upon every removal, and to minister unto me once in the year, Exod. 30. 10.

In the cloud.] Either in a bright and glorious cloud, which used to be over the mercy-seat, or rather, in the cloud of incense mentioned afterward, ver. 13.

3. With a young bullock;] i. e. With the blood of it, as it is explained ver. 14. for as for the body of it, that was to be killed, and offered without upon the altar of burnt-offerings.

4. He shall put on the holy linen coat.] It is observable, that the high-priest did not use his peculiar and glorious robes, but only his linen garments, which were common to him with ordinary priests: the reason whereof was, because this was a day of mourning and humiliation, at which times people were to lay aside their ornaments, Exod. 33. 5.

8. And Aaron shall cast lots upon the two goats.] The form of which was this: There was an urn brought to the high-priest, into which he threw two wooden lots, upon one of which were written the words, For Jehovah, and on the other, For Azazel: after shaking them, he put both his hands into the urn, and brought up the lots, the one in his right hand, the other in his left; and as the goats stood on each side of him, their fate was determined by the lot which came up in the hand next to them. The import of the word Azazel is matter of dispute.

9. Upon which the Lord's lot fell.] Went up out of the vessel into which the lots were put, and out of which they were brought up.

12. Within atonement for himself, and for his house, and shall kill the bullock of the sin-offering which is for himself;

12 And he shall take a censer full of burning coals of fire from off the altar before the LORD, and his hands full of sweet incense beaten small, and bring it within the vail:

13 And he shall put the incense upon the fire before the LORD, that the cloud of the incense may cover the mercy-seat that is upon the testimony, that he die not.

14 And he shall take of the blood of the bullock, and sprinkle it with his finger upon the mercy-seat eastward: and before the mercy-seat shall he sprinkle of the blood with his finger seven times.

15 ¶ Then shall he kill the goat of the sin-offering that is for the people, and bring his blood within the vail, and do with that blood as he did with the blood of the bullock, and sprinkle it upon the mercy-seat, and before the mercy-seat.

16 And he shall make an atonement for the holy place, because of the uncleanness of the children of Israel, and because of their transgressions in all their sins: and so shall he do for the tabernacle of the congregation that remaineth among them in the midst of their uncleanness.

17 And there shall be no man in the tabernacle of the congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the holy place, until he come out, and have made an atonement for himself, and for his household, and for all the congregation of Israel.

18 And he shall go out unto the altar that is before the LORD, and make an atonement for it; and shall take of the blood of the bullock, and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about.

19 And he shall sprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger seven times, and cleanse it, and hallow it from the uncleanness of the children of Israel.

20 ¶ And when he hath made an end of reconciling the holy place, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar, he shall bring the live goat:

21 And Aaron shall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confess over him all the iniquities of the children of Israel, and all their transgressions in all their sins, putting them upon the head of the goat, and shall send him away by the hand of a fit man into the wilderness.

22 And the goat shall bear upon him all their iniquities unto a land not inhabited: and he shall let go the goat in the wilderness.

23 And Aaron shall come into the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall put off the linen garments which he put on when he went into the holy place, and shall leave them there:

24 And he shall wash his flesh with water in the holy place, and put on his garments, and come forth, and offer his burnt-offering, and the burnt-offering of the people, and make an atonement for himself and for the people.

25 And the fat of the sin-offering shall he burn upon the altar.

26 And he that let go the goat for the scape-goat shall wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in water, and afterward come into the camp.

27 And the bullock for the sin-offering, and the goat for the sin-offering, whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the holy place, shall one carry forth without the camp; and they shall burn in the fire their skins, and their flesh, and their dung.

28 And he that burneth them shall wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in water, and afterward he shall come into the camp.

29 ¶ And this shall be a statute for ever unto you; that in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, ye shall afflict your souls, and do no work at all, whether it be one of your own country, or a stranger that sojourneth among you:

30 For on that day shall the priest make an atonement for you, to cleanse you, that ye may be clean from all your sins before the LORD.

31 It shall be a sabbath of rest unto you, and ye shall afflict your souls, by a statute for ever.

32 And the priest whom he shall anoint, and whom he shall consecrate to minister in the priest's office in his father's stead, shall make the atonement, and shall put on the linen clothes, even the holy garments:

33 And he shall make an atonement for the holy sanctuary, and he shall make an atonement for the tabernacle of the congregation, and for the altar: and he shall make an atonement for the priests, and for all the people of the congregation.

34 And this shall be an everlasting statute unto you, to make an atonement for the children of Israel for all their sins once a year. And he did as the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAP. XVII.

2 Blood of slain beasts must be offered to the Lord.—10 Eating of blood forbidden,—15 and all that dieth.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto Aaron, and unto his sons, and unto all the children of Israel, and say unto them, This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded, saying,

3 What man soever there be of the house of Israel that killeth an ox, or lamb, or goat, in the camp, or that killeth it out of the camp,

4 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer an offering unto the LORD before the tabernacle of the LORD, blood shall be imputed unto that man, he hath shed blood; and that man shall be cut off from among his people.

5 To the end that the children of Israel may bring their sacrifices which they offer in the open field, even that they may bring them unto the LORD, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the priest, and offer them for peace-offerings unto the LORD.

6 And

12. Within the vail;] i. e. Into the holy of holies, verse 2.

16. He shall make an atonement for the holy place.] This was intended as an annual acknowledgment, that the Jewish place of worship was, by the sins committed the preceding year by the priests and people, rendered an unworthy habitation for the Divine presence.

18. The altar that is before the Lord;] i. e. The altar of burnt-offering, which was in the outer-court, and is said to be before the Lord, because it stood before the tabernacle, the symbol of the Divine presence.

21. Into the wilderness.] Which signifies the removal of their sins far away, both from the people and out of God's sight, or from the place of his presence.

22. The goat shall bear upon him, &c.] This is likewise a plain type of the Messiah, who in his own body bare our sins, 1 Pet. 2. 24.

24. Put on his garments;] Not his ordinary priestly linen garments, for he was to leave them in the tabernacle, ver. 23. but the high-priestly garments, called his garments properly and peculiarly, and by way of distinction from the former garments, which are called holy garments, ver. 4. and the linen garments, ver. 23. but never his garments, as these are. And this change of his garments was not without cause; for the common priestly garments were more proper and fit for him in the former part of his ministration; because he was to appear before the Lord in the most holy place to humble himself, and make atonement for his own and for his people's sins, and therefore his humblest and meanest attire was most fit.

29. The seventh month;] Answering, part to our September, and part to our October; when they had gathered in all their fruits, and were most at leisure for God's service.

On the tenth day.] Object. It was on the ninth day, Lev. 23. 32. Answer. It began in the evening of the ninth day, and continued till the evening of the tenth day, as is there sufficiently implied.

31. Sabbath of rest;] i. e. Observed as a sabbath-day.

32. Whom he shall anoint;] Or, who shall be anointed.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 4. And bringeth it not, &c.] This law, like the rest, must be understood with this exception, unless the lawgiver himself shall think fit to dispense with it occasionally; for, in after times, the prophets were permitted, upon extraordinary occasions, to sacrifice in other places besides the tabernacle or temple, as appears from 1 Sam. 7. 9. and 9. 13. 11. 15. and 16. 2. 2 Sam. 24. 18. 1 Kings 18. 23.

Blood shall be imputed unto that man.] He shall be esteemed and punished as a murderer both by God and men.

5. Which they offer in the open field.] Before the erection of the sanctuary, the Israelites sacrificed any where; in the fields, high places, and mountains.

7. They

6 And the priest shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar of the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a sweet savour unto the LORD.

7 And they shall no more offer their sacrifices unto devils, after whom they have gone a whoring. This shall be a statute for ever unto them throughout their generations.

8 ¶ And thou shalt say unto them, Whatsoever man there be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers which sojourn among you, that offereth a burnt-offering or sacrifice,

9 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer it unto the LORD; even that man shall be cut off from among his people.

10 ¶ And whatsoever man there be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, that eateth any manner of blood; I will even set my face against that soul that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people.

11 For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul.

12 Therefore I said unto the children of Israel, No soul of you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger that sojourneth among you eat blood.

13 And whatsoever man there be of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, which hunteth and catcheth any beast or fowl that may be eaten; he shall even pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust:

14 For it is the life of all flesh; the blood of it is for the life thereof: therefore I said unto the children of Israel, Ye shall eat the blood of no manner of flesh: for the life of all flesh is the blood thereof; whosoever eateth it shall be cut off.

15 ¶ And every soul that eateth that which died of itself, or that which was torn with beasts, (whether it be one of your own country, or a stranger,) he shall both wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even: then shall he be clean.

16 But if he wash them not, nor bathe his flesh; then he shall bear his iniquity.

6 Unlawful marriages.—19 Unlawful lusts.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, I am the LORD your God.

3 After the doings of the land of Egypt, wherein ye dwelt, shall ye not do: and after the doings of the land of Canaan, whither I bring you, shall ye not do: neither shall ye walk in their ordinances.

7. They shall no more offer their sacrifices unto devils.] So they did, not directly or intentionally, but by construction and consequence, because the devil is the author of idolatry, and is eminently served, pleased, and honoured, by it. And as the Egyptians were notorious for their idolatry, as appears by the testimony of scripture, and of all ancient writers, so the Israelites were infected with their leaven, Josh. 24. 14. Ezek. 20. 7. and 23. 2, 3. And the name of devils is commonly given in scripture to idols, yea, even to those which seemed most innocent, as to Jeroboam's calves, 2 Chron. 11. 15. by which he and the people designed and professed to worship the true God. See Deut. 32. 17. Psa. 106. 1 Cor. 10. 20.

13. And whatsoever man, &c.] Here another reason is given to extend the same practice towards animals taken for food expressly; and this seems to be a statute never to be departed from, not even by Christians; for St. Paul tells some of his converts, to abstain from things strangled, and from blood.

15. That eateth;] To wit, through ignorance and inadvertency.

A stranger;] Either the proselytes of the gate, who were obliged to observe the precepts of Noah, whereof this was one, or the proselytes of righteousness, or converts to the Jewish religion: for other strangers were allowed to eat such things, Deut. 14. 21.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

Verse 2. I am the Lord your God.] There is something very awful and engaging in thus introducing the law to the people; tending to impress upon their minds the grand truth of the unity of the Godhead, and that no other Deity was to be so much as thought of beside him.

5. He shall live in them.] Not only happily here, but also eternally hereafter, as it is expounded, Matt. 19. 17. Rom. 10. 5.

No. 9.

4 Ye shall do my judgments, and keep mine ordinances, to walk therein; I am the LORD your God.

5 Ye shall therefore keep my statutes and my judgments; which if a man do, he shall live in them: I am the LORD.

6 ¶ None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedness: I am the LORD.

7 The nakedness of thy father, or the nakedness of thy mother, shalt thou not uncover: she is thy mother; thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

8 The nakedness of thy father's wife shalt thou not uncover: it is thy father's nakedness.

9 The nakedness of thy sister, the daughter of thy father, or daughter of thy mother, whether she be born at home, or born abroad, even their nakedness thou shalt not uncover.

10 The nakedness of thy son's daughter, or of thy daughter's daughter, even their nakedness thou shalt not uncover: for theirs is thine own nakedness.

11 The nakedness of thy father's wife's daughter, begotten of thy father, (she is thy sister,) thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

12 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's sister: she is thy father's near kinswoman.

13 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mother's sister: for she is thy mother's near kinswoman.

14 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's brother, thou shalt not approach to his wife: she is thine aunt.

15 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy daughter-in-law: she is thy son's wife; thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.

16 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy brother's wife: it is thy brother's nakedness.

17 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter, neither shalt thou take her son's daughter, or her daughter's daughter, to uncover her nakedness; for they are her near kinswomen: it is wickedness.

18 Neither shalt thou take a wife to her sister to vex her, to uncover her nakedness, besides the other, in her life-time.

19 ¶ Also thou shalt not approach unto a woman to uncover her nakedness, as long as she is put apart for her uncleanness.

20 Moreover, thou shalt not lie carnally with thy neighbour's wife, to defile thyself with her.

21 And thou shalt not let any of thy seed pass through the fire to Molech, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD.

22 Thou shalt not lie with mankind as with woman-kind: it is abomination.

23 Neither

7. Thou shalt not uncover her nakedness.] Besides other arguments against such unnatural conjunctions as are prohibited in this chapter, it may be observed, that they serve to confound relation, and introduce a repugnance and contrariety of relative duties; for, in this instance, how could a man both maintain the superiority of a husband, and at the same time act in the inferior capacity of a son, towards one and the same person? If he has an unalienable right to rule over her as a wife, she has an equal right to his filial awe and obedience as a parent.

8. Thy—father's wife;] i. e. Thy step-mother.

9. The nakedness of thy sister.] It is for the interest of society, not to allow families to marry within themselves, but to diffuse the obligations of social love, by joining in alliance with such as were not related to them before. Indeed, in the beginning, when God had created only one man and one woman, such marriages were necessary; but now there is great reason why they should be prohibited.

16. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy brother's wife;] Unless he died childless, for then the next brother was obliged to marry her, Deut. 25. 5.

17. Her daughter;] To wit, thy step-daughter.

21. Thou shalt not let any of thy seed pass through the fire to Molech.] Molech, which literally signifies king, was the idol of the Ammonites. The Rabbins assure us, that this idol was of brass, and placed on a throne of the same metal: his head, which resembled that of a calf, was adorned with a royal crown, and his arms were extended as if to embrace any that approached him. When they intended to offer any children to him, they heated the statue with a great fire made within it; and, when it was burning hot, they placed the miserable victim within his arms, by which means it was destroyed by the violence of the heat; and that the cries of the children, thus barbarously tormented, might not be heard, they made a great noise with drums and other instruments.

24. For

23 Neither shalt thou lie with any beast to defile thyself therewith; neither shall any woman stand before a beast to lie down thereto: it is confusion.

24 Defile not ye yourselves in any of these things: for in all these the nations are defiled which I cast out before you.

25 And the land is defiled: therefore I do visit the iniquity thereof upon it, and the land itself vomiteth out her inhabitants.

26 Ye shall therefore keep my statutes and my judgments, and shall not commit any of these abominations; neither any of your own nation, nor any stranger that sojourneth among you:

27 (For all these abominations have the men of the land done, which were before you, and the land is defiled;)

28 That the land spue not you out also, when ye defile it, as it spued out the nations that were before you.

29 For whosoever shall commit any of these abominations, even the souls that commit them shall be cut off from among their people.

30 Therefore shall ye keep mine ordinance, that ye commit not any one of these abominable customs, which were committed before you, and that ye defile not yourselves therein: I am the LORD your God.

C H A P. XIX.

A repetition of sundry laws.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the LORD your God am holy.

3 ¶ Ye shall fear every man his mother and his father, and keep my sabbaths: I am the LORD your God.

4 Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourselves molten gods: I am the LORD your God.

5 ¶ And if ye offer a sacrifice of peace-offerings unto the LORD, ye shall offer it at your own will.

6 It shall be eaten the same day ye offer it, and on the morrow; and if ought remain until the third day, it shall be burnt in the fire.

7 And if it be eaten at all on the third day, it is abominable; it shall not be accepted.

8 Therefore every one that eateth it shall bear his iniquity, because he hath profaned the hallowed thing of the LORD; and that soul shall be cut off from among his people.

9 ¶ And when ye reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither shalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harvest.

10 And thou shalt not glean thy vineyard, neither shalt thou gather every grape of thy vineyard; thou shalt leave them for the poor and stranger: I am the LORD your God.

11 ¶ Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another.

12 ¶ And ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD.

13 ¶ Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning.

14 ¶ Thou shalt not curse the deaf, nor put a stumbling-block before the blind, but shalt fear thy God: I am the LORD.

15 ¶ Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment; thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour.

16 ¶ Thou shalt not go up and down as a tale-bearer among thy people: neither shalt thou stand against the blood of thy neighbour: I am the LORD.

17 ¶ Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him.

18 ¶ Thou shalt not avenge nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself: I am the LORD.

19 ¶ Ye shall keep my statutes. Thou shalt not let thy cattle gender with a diverse kind: thou shalt not sow thy field with mingled seed: neither shall a garment mingled of linen and woollen come upon thee.

20 ¶ And whosoever lieth carnally with a woman that is a bond-maid, betrothed to an husband, and not at all redeemed, nor freedom given her, she shall be scourged: they shall not be put to death, because she was not free.

21 And he shall bring his trespass-offering unto the LORD, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, even a ram for a trespass-offering.

22 And the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespass-offering before the LORD for his sin which he hath done: and the sin which he hath done shall be forgiven him.

23 ¶ And when ye shall come into the land, and shall have planted all manner of trees for food; then ye shall count the fruit thereof as uncircumcised: three years shall it be as uncircumcised unto you: it shall not be eaten of.

24 But in the fourth year all the fruit thereof shall be holy, to praise the LORD withal.

25 And in the fifth year shall ye eat of the fruit thereof, that it may yield unto you the increase thereof: I am the LORD your God..

26 ¶ Ye

24. For in all these the nations, &c.] The commission of such horrid and unnatural crimes, when once so far tolerated as to become natural, must surely appear to us a sufficient reason for the extirpation and overthrow of such accumulated depravity. For what species of iniquity must not have been practised, where sins against natural temptations can gain such an ascendancy? Thus the Lord tells the Israelites, that it was not for their goodness, but for the iniquity of the Canaanites, that they were driven out from before them.

29. These abominations, &c.] The words abomination and whoredom, mentioned in scripture, generally mean idolatry; but here it includes all those enormous crimes committed by the nations through which the Israelites were to pass.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 3. Ye shall fear every man his mother and his father.] We are of opinion, that more is here meant than merely the duty due to parents; and that, by this expression, is intimated, that the Israelites should attend to and respect the ordinances handed down to them from their parents concerning God's laws.

4. Turn ye not unto idols, &c.] The word idols, in the Hebrew, signifies vain things; i. e. things which can be of no use or advantage, which can neither assist you in distress, nor injure you by their power, and therefore not fit objects for devotion.

10. I am the Lord your God.] Who gave you all these things, with a reservation of my authority over you, and right in them, and with a charge of giving part of them to the poor.

13. The wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night.] Thou shalt pay him his wages when he has done his work, if he require them.

14. Not curse—nor put a stumbling-block, &c.] Under these two particulars are manifestly and especially forbidden all injuries done to such as are unable to right or defend themselves.

16. Neither shalt thou stand against the blood of thy neighbour;] To wit, in judgment, as a false accuser or false witness; for accusers and witnesses used to stand, whilst the judges sat, in courts of judicature.

17. Thy brother;] The same with neighbour, as it follows, i. e. every man, Matt. 5. 44. for it is manifest, that God's law commanded them to love strangers no less than Israelites.

Rebuke thy neighbour.] If thy brother hath done thee or others any injury, thou shalt neither divulge it to others as a tale-bearer, nor hate him, and smother that hatred by a sullen silence, as 2 Sam. 13. 22. nor justify, flatter, and encourage him therein, but shalt freely, and in love, tell him of his fault.

18. Not avenge.] To avenge one's self in a private way, by returning evil for evil, or to take satisfaction for injuries of one's own accord, is the thing here forbidden, as also Rom. 12. 19. which is not inconsistent with suing to the civil magistrate for legal redress, in case of grievous injuries sustained in his person, estate, and reputation; which is agreeable to the Jewish law of retaliation, Exod. 21. 22, &c.

19. Thou shalt not let thy cattle gender with a diverse kind.] This was prohibited, partly because such a conjunction would tend to destroy the great law of nature; partly, that by the restraints here laid, even upon brute creatures, men might be taught to abhor all unnatural and unlawful lusts; partly, to teach the Israelites to avoid mixture with other nations, either in marriage or in religion: which may also be signified by the following prohibitions.

23. And when ye shall come into the land, &c.] Several reasons are given for this law; but the most natural is this, that the fruit of the first three years' growth being unconcocted, was not fit to be offered to God, to whom the best of every thing ought to be presented.

As uncircumcised;] i. e. As unclean.

26. Observe

26 ¶ Ye shall not eat any thing with the blood: neither shall ye use enchantment, nor observe times.

27 ¶ Ye shall not round the corners of your heads, neither shalt thou mar the corners of thy beard.

28 Ye shall not make any cuttings in your flesh for the dead, nor print any marks upon you: I am the LORD.

29 ¶ Do not prostitute thy daughter, to cause her to be a whore: lest the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedness.

30 ¶ Ye shall keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary: I am the LORD.

31 ¶ Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the LORD your God.

32 ¶ Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD.

33 ¶ And if a stranger sojourn with thee in your land, ye shall not vex him, 34 But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

35 ¶ Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in mete-yard, in weight, or in measure.

36 Just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, shall ye have: I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt.

37 Therefore shall ye observe all my statutes, and all my judgments, and do them: I am the LORD.

2 Of giving seed to Molech.—6 Of going to wizards.—7 Of sanctification.—9 Of cursing parents.—10 Of adultery.—11 Of incest.—18 Of uncleanness.—22 Obedience is required.—27 Wizards must be put to death.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 ¶ Again, thou shalt say to the children of Israel, Whosoever be of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn in Israel, that giveth any of his seed unto Molech, he shall surely be put to death: the people of the land shall stone him with stones.

3 And I will set my face against that man, and will cut him off from among his people; because he hath given of his seed unto Molech, to defile my sanctuary, and to profane my holy name.

4 And if the people of the land do any wise hide their eyes from the man, when he giveth of his seed unto Molech, and kill him not;

5 Then I will set my face against that man, and against his family, and will cut him off, and all that go a whoring after him, to commit whoredom with Molech, from among their people.

6 ¶ And the soul that turneth after such as have familiar spirits, and after wizards, to go a whoring after them, I will even set my face against that soul, and will cut him off from among his people.

7 ¶ Sanctify yourselves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the LORD your God.

8 And ye shall keep my statutes, and do them: I am the LORD which sanctify you.

9 ¶ For every one that curseth his father, or his mother, shall be surely put to death: he hath cursed his father or his mother, his blood shall be upon him.

10 ¶ And the man that committeth adultery with another man's wife, even he that committeth adultery with his neighbour's wife, the adulterer and the adulteress shall surely be put to death.

11 ¶ And the man that lieth with his father's wife hath uncovered his father's nakedness: both of them shall surely be put to death; their blood shall be upon them.

12 ¶ And if a man lie with his daughter-in-law, both of them shall surely be put to death: they have wrought confusion; their blood shall be upon them.

13 ¶ If a man also lie with mankind as he lieth with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination: they shall surely be put to death; their blood shall be upon them.

14 ¶ And if a man take a wife and her mother, it is wickedness: they shall be burnt with fire, both he and they; that there be no wickedness among you.

15 ¶ And if a man lie with a beast, he shall surely be put to death; and ye shall slay the beast.

16 And if a woman approach unto any beast, and lie down thereto, thou shalt kill the woman and the beast: they shall surely be put to death; their blood shall be upon them.

17 ¶ And if a man shall take his sister, his father's daughter, or his mother's daughter, and see her nakedness, and she see his nakedness; it is a wicked thing; and they shall be cut off in the sight of their people; he hath uncovered his sister's nakedness: he shall bear his iniquity.

18 ¶ And if a man shall lie with a woman having her sickness, and shall uncover her nakedness; he hath discovered her fountain, and she hath uncovered the fountain

Wizards.] The Hebrew word seems to import the same as those we call cunning men or fortune-tellers.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. And the Lord spake unto Moses, &c.] The principal laws in the two foregoing chapters are here repeated, and enforced with penalties; and therefore it will be unnecessary to repeat what has been already observed.

3. And I will set my face against, &c.] The providence of God looks forward to a thousand generations; and, speaking after the manner of men, God expresses himself as setting his face against, or being the punisher of, all such dreadful practices as must, in the end, prove the ruin of his church and state.

5. Then I will set my face, &c.] Here the Almighty seems to say he would, in the course of his providence, punish this abettor of idolatry personally, together with all his adherents.

6. And the soul that turneth after, &c.] The enquiry after conjurors, dæmons, and evil spirits, must naturally proceed from, and beget superstition, which is always the destruction of true religion, and entirely destroys the belief in a governing Providence.

To go a whoring after them, &c.] Fidelity and purity, in matters of religion, are compared to the chastity of the marriage-bed. Hence every species of idolatry is looked upon as a breach of faith with God's church, and likened to whoredom and adultery; as the idolater carries those deities and offerings to the temples of dæmons, which belong, lawfully, to the established church of God, to which he is figuratively joined and espoused.

15. Ye shall slay the beast;] Partly to prevent monstrous births, and partly to blot out the memory of so loathsome a crime.

17. In the sight of their people;] i. e. Publicly, for the terror and caution of others.

26. Observe times;] To wit, superstitiously, by the observation of the clouds, or stars; or otherwise, by esteeming some days lucky, others unlucky. See Deut. 18. 10, 11. Esh. 3. 7.

27. Ye shall not round the corners of your heads;] i. e. Your temples; ye shall not cut off the hair of your heads round about your temples. This the Gentiles did, either for the worship of devils or idols, to whom young men used to consecrate their hair, being cut off from their heads, as Homer, Plutarch, and many others, write; or in funerals, or immoderate mournings, as it appears from Isa. 15. 2. Jer. 48. 37. And the like is to be thought concerning the beard or the hair in the corner, i. e. corners of the beard. The reason then of this prohibition is, because God would not have his people agree with idolaters, neither in their idolatry, nor in their excessive sorrowing, no nor so much as in the appearance and outward significations or expressions thereof.

28. Ye shall not make any cuttings in your flesh;] Which the Gentiles commonly did, both in the worship of their idols and their solemn mournings, 1 Kings 18. 28.

29. Do not prostitute thy daughter,] As the Gentiles frequently did, for the honour of some of their idols, to whom divers women were consecrated.

31. Regard not them that have familiar spirits;] i. e. Them that have a spirit or gift of divination. They were commonly believed to have familiar intercourse with some dæmon, and to be actuated by a supernatural impulse in the delivery of their oracles; an opinion which seems confirmed by the sacred writings, 1 Sam. 28. 7, 8. Acts 16. 16. The reason of this prohibition must be, either that those familiar spirits with whom they had commerce were of an impure diabolical nature, and in order to obtain intercourse with them profane rites were used; or most of those who pretended to a familiarity with dæmons were mere impostors, pretending to the gift of prophecy or divination, and amused the credulous vulgar with dark and ambiguous predictions, which were capable of answering the event whichever way it fell out.

fountain of her blood: and both of them shall be cut off from among their people.

19 And thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mother's sister, nor of thy father's sister; for he uncovereth his near kin: they shall bear their iniquity.

20 And if a man shall lie with his uncle's wife, he hath uncovered his uncle's nakedness: they shall bear their sin; they shall die childless.

21 And if a man shall take his brother's wife, it is an unclean thing: he hath uncovered his brother's nakedness; they shall be childless.

22 ¶ Ye shall therefore keep all my statutes, and all my judgments, and do them; that the land whither I bring you to dwell therein spue you not out.

23 And ye shall not walk in the manners of the nations which I cast out before you: for they committed all these things, and therefore I abhorred them.

24 But I have said unto you, Ye shall inherit their land, and I will give it unto you to possess it, a land that floweth with milk and honey: I am the LORD your God, which have separated you from other people.

25 Ye shall therefore put difference between clean beasts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean: and ye shall not make your souls abominable by beast or by fowl, or by any manner of living thing that creepeth on the ground, which I have separated from you as unclean.

26 And ye shall be holy unto me: for I the LORD am holy, and have severed you from other people, that ye should be mine.

27 ¶ A man also or woman that hath a familiar spirit, or that is a wizard, shall surely be put to death: they shall stone them with stones; their blood shall be upon them.

C H A P. XXI.

1 Of priests' mourning.—6 Of their holiness.—7 Of their marriages.—17 Priests with blemishes must not minister in the sanctuary.

AND the LORD said unto Moses, Speak unto the priests the sons of Aaron, and say unto them, There shall none be defiled for the dead among his people:

2 But for his kin that is near unto him, that is, for his mother, and for his father, and for his son, and for his daughter, and for his brother,

3 And for his sister a virgin, that is nigh unto him, which hath had no husband; for her may he be defiled.

4 But he shall not defile himself, being a chief man among his people, to profane himself.

5 They shall not make baldness upon their head, neither shall they shave off the corner of their beard, nor make any cuttings in their flesh.

6 ¶ They shall be holy unto their God, and not profane the name of their God: for the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and the bread of their God, they do offer: therefore they shall be holy.

21. If a man shall take his brother's wife,] Except in the case allowed by God, Deut. 25. 5.

25, 26, 27. Ye shall therefore put difference, &c.] For the reasons mentioned before, to keep them a distinct people, they were to observe all the peculiar ordinances concerning their food; and, above all, never to consult any witch or wizard, but to put them all to death as blasphemers and idolaters.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 1. There shall none be defiled for the dead;] To wit, by touching of the dead body, or abiding in the same house with it, or assisting at the funerals, or eating of the funeral feast. The reason of this law is evident, because by such pollution they were excluded from converse with men, to whom by their function they were to be serviceable on all occasions, and from the handling of holy things, Numb. 6. 6. and 9. 11, 14, 16. Deut. 26. 14. Hos. 9. 4.

2. But for his kin that is near unto him.] Here the case of very near relations is excepted, since it would have been hard to restrain them from paying the last duties of natural affection to a parent, a wife, a child, or a brother.

5. They shall not make baldness, &c.] In imitation of the heathens in their signs of sorrow.

7 ¶ They shall not take a wife that is a whore, or profane: neither shall they take a woman put away from her husband; for he is holy unto his God.

8 Thou shalt sanctify him therefore, for he offereth the bread of thy God: he shall be holy unto thee: for I the LORD, which sanctify you, am holy.

9 ¶ And the daughter of any priest, if she profane herself by playing the whore, she profaneth her father: she shall be burnt with fire.

10 And he that is the high-priest among his brethren, upon whose head the anointing oil was poured, and that is consecrated to put on the garments, shall not uncover his head, nor rend his clothes;

11 Neither shall he go in to any dead body, nor defile himself for his father, or for his mother.

12 Neither shall he go out of the sanctuary, nor profane the sanctuary of his God; for the crown of the anointing oil of his God is upon him: I am the LORD.

13 ¶ And he shall take a wife in her virginity.

14 A widow, or a divorced woman, or profane, or an harlot, these shall he not take: but he shall take a virgin of his own people to wife.

15 Neither shall he profane his seed among his people: for I the LORD do sanctify him.

16 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

17 ¶ Speak unto Aaron, saying, Whosoever he be of thy seed in their generations that hath any blemish, let him not approach to offer the bread of his God:

18 For whatsoever man he be that hath a blemish, he shall not approach: a blind man, or a lame, or he that hath a flat nose, or any thing superfluous,

19 Or a man that is broken-footed, or broken-handed,

20 Or crook-backed, or a dwarf, or that hath a blemish in his eye, or be scurvy, or scabbed, or hath his stones broken.

21 No man that hath a blemish, of the seed of Aaron the priest, shall come nigh to offer the offerings of the LORD made by fire; he hath a blemish, he shall not come nigh to offer the bread of his God.

22 He shall eat the bread of his God, both of the most holy, and of the holy.

23 Only he shall not go in unto the vail, nor come nigh unto the altar, because he hath a blemish; that he profane not my sanctuaries: for I the LORD do sanctify them.

24 And Moses told it unto Aaron, and to his sons, and unto all the children of Israel.

C H A P. XXII.

2 Priests when to abstain from holy things.—6 How cleansed.—10 Who may eat of the holy things.—19 Sacrifices must be without blemish.—29 The law of eating the sacrifice of thanksgiving.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Speak unto Aaron, and to his sons, that they separate themselves from the holy things of the children of Israel, and that they profane not my holy name in those things which they hallow unto me: I am the LORD.

3 Say

7. They shall not, &c.] i. e. No priest shall do so, because he is more especially dedicated to God.

9. The daughter,] And by analogy his son also, and his wife, because the reason of the law here added concerns all. And nothing is more common than to name one kind for the rest of the same nature, as also is done, chap. 18.

She profaneth her father,] i. e. Exposeth his person and office, and consequently religion, to contempt.

12. Neither shall he go out of the sanctuary;] To wit, to attend the funeral of any person: for upon other occasions he might and did commonly go out.

17. Any blemish;] i. e. Any defect or excess of parts, any notorious deformity or imperfection in his body.

22. He shall eat the bread of his God,] Which a priest having any uncleanness upon him might not do. Whereby God would shew the great difference between natural infirmities sent upon a man by God, and moral defilements which a man brought upon himself.

3 Say unto them, Whosoever be of all your seed, among your generations, that goeth unto the holy things, which the children of Israel hallow unto the LORD, having his uncleanness upon him, that soul shall be cut off from my presence: I am the LORD.

4 What man soever of the seed of Aaron is a leper, or hath a running issue; he shall not eat of the holy things, until he be clean. And whoso toucheth any thing that is unclean by the dead, or a man whose seed goeth from him;

5 Or whosoever toucheth any creeping thing, whereby he may be made unclean, or a man of whom he may take uncleanness, whatsoever uncleanness he hath:

6 The soul which hath touched any such shall be unclean until even, and shall not eat of the holy things, unless he wash his flesh with water.

7 And when the sun is down, he shall be clean, and shall afterward eat of the holy things, because it is his food.

8 That which dieth of itself, or is torn with beasts, he shall not eat to defile himself therewith: I am the LORD.

9 They shall therefore keep mine ordinance, lest they bear sin for it, and die therefore, if they profane it: I the LORD do sanctify them.

10 ¶ There shall no stranger eat of the holy thing: a sojourner of the priest, or an hired servant, shall not eat of the holy thing.

11 But if the priest buy any soul with his money, he shall eat of it, and he that is born in his house; they shall eat of his meat.

12 If the priest's daughter also be married unto a stranger, she may not eat of an offering of the holy things.

13 But if the priest's daughter be a widow, or divorced, and have no child, and is returned unto her father's house, as in her youth, she shall eat of her father's meat; but there shall no stranger eat thereof.

14 ¶ And if a man eat of the holy thing unwittingly, then he shall put the fifth part thereof unto it, and shall give it unto the priest, with the holy thing.

15 And they shall not profane the holy things of the children of Israel which they offer unto the LORD;

16 Or suffer them to bear the iniquity of trespass, when they eat their holy things: for I the LORD do sanctify them.

17 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

18 Speak unto Aaron, and to his sons, and unto all the children of Israel, and say unto them, Whatsoever be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers in Israel, that will offer his oblation for all his vows, and for all his free-will-offerings, which they will offer unto the LORD for a burnt-offering;

19 Ye shall offer at your own will a male without blemish of the beeves, of the sheep, or of the goats.

20 But whatsoever hath a blemish, that shall ye not offer: for it shall not be acceptable for you.

21 And whosoever offereth a sacrifice of peace-offerings unto the LORD, to accomplish his vow, or a free-will-offering in beeves, or sheep, it shall be perfect to be accepted: there shall be no blemish therein.

22 Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having a wen, or scurvy, or scabbed, ye shall not offer these unto the LORD, nor make an offering by fire of them upon the altar unto the LORD.

23 Either a bullock, or a lamb that hath any thing superfluous or lacking in his parts, that mayest thou offer for a free-will-offering; but for a vow it shall not be accepted.

24 Ye shall not offer unto the LORD that which is bruised, or crushed, or broken, or cut; neither shall ye make any offering thereof in your land.

25 Neither from a stranger's hand shall ye offer the bread of your God of any of these: because their corruption is in them, and blemishes be in them: they shall not be accepted for you.

26 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

27 When a bullock, or a sheep, or a goat, is brought forth, then it shall be seven days under the dam: and from the eighth day and thenceforth it shall be accepted for an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

28 And whether it be cow or ewe, ye shall not kill it and her young both in one day.

29 ¶ And when ye will offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving unto the LORD, offer it at your own will.

30 On the same day it shall be eaten up; ye shall leave none of it until the morrow: I am the LORD.

31 Therefore shall ye keep my commandments, and do them: I am the LORD.

32 Neither shall ye profane my holy name; but I will be hallowed among the children of Israel: I am the LORD which hallow you,

33 That brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the LORD.

3 ¶ Six days shall work be done; but the seventh-day is the sabbath of rest, an holy convocation; ye shall do no work therein: it is the sabbath of the LORD in all your dwellings.

4 ¶ These are the feasts of the LORD, even holy convocations, which ye shall proclaim in their seasons.

5 In the fourteenth day of the first month at even is the LORD's passover.

6 And on the fifteenth day of the same month is the feast of unleavened bread unto the LORD; seven days ye must eat unleavened bread.

7 In the first day ye shall have an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work therein.

8 But ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD seven days: in the seventh day is an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work therein.

9 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

10. Shall no stranger;] i. e. Of a strange family, who is not a priest, as ver. 12. compare Matt. 12. 4. But there is an exception to this rule, ver. 11.

12. If the priest's daughter, &c.] i. e. If she marries out of the family of Aaron, she is then to be looked upon as belonging to another house.

14. And shall give it unto the priest, with the holy thing;] Or, and shall give unto the priest the holy thing, i. e. the worth of it, which the priest was either to take unto himself, or to offer to God, as the nature of the thing was.

22. Blind or broken, &c.] As God is the author and maker of all living creatures, and even of the inanimate creation, so there was nothing more reasonable, while the law of sacrifices continued, than that the best of every thing should be offered to him.

23. Either a bullock or a lamb, &c.] Ye may freely give or sell a beast that hath some accidental defect; but such a one must not be offered at the altar.

11 And he shall wave the sheaf before the LORD, to be accepted for you: on the morrow after the sabbath the priest shall wave it.

12 And ye shall offer that day, when ye wave the sheaf, an he-lamb without blemish of the first year for a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

13 And the meat-offering thereof shall be two tenth-deals of fine flour mingled with oil, an offering made by fire unto the LORD for a sweet savour: and the drink-offering thereof shall be of wine, the fourth part of an hin.

14 And ye shall eat neither bread, nor parched corn, nor green ears, until the self-same day that ye have brought an offering unto your God: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

15 ¶ And ye shall count unto you from the morrow after the sabbath, from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the wave-offering; seven sabbaths shall be complete.

16 Even unto the morrow after the seventh sabbath shall ye number fifty days; and ye shall offer a new meat-offering unto the LORD.

17 Ye shall bring out of your habitations two wave-loaves of two tenth-deals: they shall be of fine flour, they shall be baked with leaven, they are the first-fruits unto the LORD.

18 And ye shall offer with the bread seven lambs without blemish of the first year, and one young bullock, and two rams: they shall be for a burnt-offering unto the LORD, with their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, even an offering made by fire of sweet savour unto the LORD.

19 Then ye shall sacrifice one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, and two lambs of the first year for a sacrifice of peace-offerings.

20 And the priest shall wave them with the bread of the first-fruits for a wave-offering before the LORD, with the two lambs: they shall be holy to the LORD for the priest.

21 And ye shall proclaim on the self-same day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you: ye shall do no servile work therein. It shall be a statute for ever in all your dwellings throughout your generations.

22 ¶ And when ye reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not make clean riddance of the corners of thy field when thou reapest, neither shalt thou gather any gleanings of thy harvest; thou shalt leave them unto the poor and to the stranger: I am the LORD your God.

23 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, shall ye have a sabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, an holy convocation.

25 Ye shall do no servile work therein; but ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

26 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

27 Also on the tenth day of this seventh month there shall be a day of atonement; it shall be an holy convocation unto you, and ye shall afflict your souls, and offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

28 And ye shall do no work in that same day; for it is a day of atonement, to make an atonement for you before the LORD your God.

29 For whatsoever soul it be that shall not be afflicted in that same day, he shall be cut off from among his people.

30 And whatsoever soul it be that doeth any work in that same day, the same soul will I destroy from among his people.

31 Ye shall do no manner of work. It shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

32 It shall be unto you a sabbath of rest, and ye shall afflict your souls: in the ninth day of the month at even, from even unto even, shall ye celebrate your sabbath.

33 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

34 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, The fifteenth day of this seventh month shall be the feast of tabernacles for seven days unto the LORD.

35 On the first day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work therein.

36 Seven days ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD: on the eighth day shall be an holy convocation unto you, and ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD: it is a solemn assembly; and ye shall do no servile work therein.

37 These are the feasts of the LORD, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations, to offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD, a burnt-offering, and a meat-offering, a sacrifice, and drink-offerings, every thing upon his day:

38 Besides the sabbaths of the LORD, and besides your gifts, and besides all your vows, and besides all your free-will-offerings, which ye give unto the LORD.

39 Also in the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the LORD seven days: on the first day shall be a sabbath, and on the eighth day shall be a sabbath.

40 And ye shall take you on the first day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm-trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook; and ye shall rejoice before the LORD your God seven days.

41 And ye shall keep it a feast unto the LORD seven days in the year. It shall be a statute for ever in your

11. The morrow after the sabbath;] i. e. After the first day of the feast of unleavened bread, which was a sabbath or day of rest, as appears from ver. 7.

14. Neither bread, &c.] Made of new wheat, as the nature and reason of the law sheweth.

16. Even unto the morrow, &c.] From this day they were to reckon seven weeks, or forty-nine days; and then was to be celebrated the second, or great harvest-festival, of Pentecost; so called from its being fifty days after the former, on which another first-fruit-offering was to be made of the wheat that was then ripe.

19. One young bullock, and two rams.] In Numb. 28. 11, 19. it is two young bullocks and one ram. Perhaps it was left to their liberty to chuse which they would offer.

20. They shall be holy to the Lord for the priest.] The priests had to themselves not only the breast and shoulder, as in others, which belonged to the priest, but also the rest which belonged to the offerer; because the whole congregation being the offerers here, it could neither be distributed to them all, nor given to some without offence or injury to the rest.

21. That it may be an holy convocation.] This feast was partly commemorative of God's goodness in giving the law from mount Sinai, on the fiftieth day after their coming out of Egypt, and partly gratulatory for the fair prospect of completing their harvest.

24. A memorial of blowing of trumpets;] i. e. Solemnized with the blowing of trumpets by the priests, not in a common way, as they did every first day of every month, Numb. 11. 10. but in an extraordinary manner, not only in Jerusalem, but in all the cities of Israel. This seems to have been instituted, 1. To solemnize the beginning of the new year, whereof, as to civil matters, and particularly as to the jubilee, this was the first day; concerning which it was fit the people should be admonished, both to excite their thankfulness for God's blessings in the last year, and to direct them in their civil affairs. 2. To put a special honour upon this month. For as the seventh day was the sabbath, and the seventh year was a sabbatical year, so God would have the seventh month to be a kind of sabbatical month, for the many sabbaths and solemn feasts which were observed in this more than in any other month.

34. The fifteenth day of the seventh month shall be the feast of tabernacles.] This festival was instituted in thankful remembrance of their having dwelt in booths or tabernacles forty years securely, under the divine protection. Moses has given us a fuller description of this feast than of any other; probably because it was not to be celebrated till after they were settled in the promised land. The first day of this festival was ushered in by a general procession, in which the men carried in their hands branches of trees, mentioned ver. 40. waving them about to the four winds, and singing some psalms or hymns proper for the solemnity, and crying Hosannah! which word properly signifies, save, we beseech thee. The hundred and eighteenth psalm is likewise supposed to have been sung on, if not composed on purpose for, this festival; because there are not only several expressions in it that have a great affinity to this feast, but also, from the very analogy of the composure, with the ceremonies of it: such as the praying more particularly for the coming of the Messiah, for the prosperity of the next year, the fetching of water from the pool of Siloa, &c. This last ceremony, however, is thought to be of much later date, and to have been introduced but a little before our Saviour's time; though some of the Jews attribute the institution of it to the prophets Haggai and Zechariah. See Univ. Hist. vol. iii. p. 27. Oct.

39. The fruit.] Not the corn, which was gathered long before, but the fruit of their trees, as vines, olives, &c. which completed the harvest, whence this is called the feast of ingathering, Exod. 23. 16.

your generations; ye shall celebrate it in the seventh month.

42 Ye shall dwell in booths seven days: all that are Israelites born shall dwell in booths:

43 That your generations may know that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

9 And it shall be Aaron's and his sons; and they shall eat it in the holy place: for it is most holy unto him of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, by a perpetual statute.

10 ¶ And the son of an Israelitish woman, whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Israel; and this son of the Israelitish woman and a man of Israel strove together in the camp;

11 And the Israelitish woman's son blasphemed the name of the LORD, and cursed; and they brought him unto Moses: (and his mother's name was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan:)

12 And they put him in ward, that the mind of the LORD might be shewed them.

13 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

14 Bring forth him that hath cursed without the camp, and let all that heard him lay their hands upon his head, and let all the congregation stone him.

15 And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, Whosoever curseth his God shall bear his sin,

16 And he that blasphemeth the name of the LORD, he shall surely be put to death, and all the congregation shall certainly stone him: as well the stranger, as he that is born in the land, when he blasphemeth the name of the LORD, shall be put to death.

17 ¶ And he that killeth any man shall surely be put to death.

18 And he that killeth a beast shall make it good; beast for beast.

19 And if a man cause a blemish in his neighbour; as he hath done, so shall it be done to him;

20 Breach for breach, eye for eye, tooth for tooth: as he hath caused a blemish in a man, so shall it be done to him again.

21 And he that killeth a beast, he shall restore it: and he that killeth a man, he shall be put to death.

22 Ye shall have one manner of law, as well for the stranger as for one of your own country: for I am the LORD your God.

23 ¶ And Moses spake unto the children of Israel, that they should bring forth him that had cursed out of the camp, and stone him with stones: and the children of Israel did as the LORD commanded Moses.

C H A P. XXV.

1 The sabbath of the seventh year.—8 The jubilee.—14 Of oppression.—18 Blessing of obedience.—23 Redemption of land.—35 Compassion of the poor.—39 Usage of bond-men.—47 Servants' redemption.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses in Mount Sinai, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come into the land which I give you, then shall the land keep a sabbath unto the LORD.

3 Six years thou shalt sow thy field, and six years thou shalt prune thy vineyard, and gather in the fruit thereof;

4 But in the seventh year shall be a sabbath of rest unto the land, a sabbath for the LORD: thou shalt neither sow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard.

5 That which groweth of its own accord of thy harvest thou shalt not reap, neither gather the grapes of thy vine undressed: for it is a year of rest unto the land.

6 And the sabbath of the land shall be meat for you; for thee, and for thy servant, and for thy maid, and for thy hired servant, and for thy stranger that sojourneth with thee,

7 And for thy cattle, and for the beasts that are in thy land, shall all the increase thereof be meat.

8 ¶ And thou shalt number seven sabbaths of years unto thee, seven times seven years; and the space of the seven sabbaths of years shall be unto thee forty and nine years.

9 Then shalt thou cause the trumpet of the jubilee to sound, on the tenth day of the seventh month; in the day of atonement shall ye make the trumpet sound throughout all your land.

10 And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIV.

Verse 2, 3, 4. Pure oil-olive, &c.] The annual feasts being thus determined and settled, Moses now reminds the Israelites concerning the provision of all the materials for daily sacrifices.

10. The son of an Israelitish woman, &c.] The Jews tell us, this controversy was occasioned by the Egyptian attempting to set up his tent among the children of Dan, in right of his mother, who was of that tribe; but being opposed by an Israelite, he came before the judges, who giving sentence against him, he, out of rage, uttered blasphemy against God, and cursed those judges who condemned him.

12. That the mind of the Lord might be shewed them.] For God had only said in general, that he would not hold such guiltless, i. e. he would punish them, but had not declared how he would have them punished by men.

14. Let all that heard him lay their hands upon his head.] Whereby they gave public testimony that they heard this person speak such words, and did, in their own and in all the prophets' names, desire and demand justice to be executed upon him.

15. Whosoever curseth his God.] This seems to be a distinct precept from the following, and therefore Le Clerc understands it of cursing or reviling magistrates, as in Exod. 22. 28. of which this criminal had probably been guilty, as well as of blasphemy against Jehovah.

22. I am the Lord your God.] i. e. I am the Lord God, who is no respecter of persons, but will punish with equal justice the sins of the Israelites and of the strangers.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXV.

Verse 2. Shall the land keep a sabbath;] i. e. Enjoy rest and freedom from plowing, tilling, &c.

5. Thou shalt not reap;] i. e. As thy own, peculiarly, but only so as others may reap it with thee, for present food.

6. The sabbath.] That fruit which groweth in the sabbatical year.

10. Ye shall hallow the fiftieth year.] By which it seems plain that the year of jubilee was not the fortieth and ninth year, as some learned men think, but precisely the fiftieth year.

Unto all the inhabitants thereof;] Such as were Israelites; principally to all servants, even to such as would not and did not go out at the seventh year; and to the poor, who now were acquitted from all their debts, and restored to their possessions.

Every man unto his possession,] Which had been sold, or otherwise alienated from him. This law was not at all unjust, because all buyers and sellers had an eye to this condition in their bargains; but it was necessary and expedient in many regards; as, 1. To remind them that God alone was the lord, and owner, and proprietor, both of them and their lands, and they only his tenants and farmers; a point which they were very apt to forget. 2. That hereby inheritances, families, and tribes, might be kept entire and clear until the coming of the Messias, who was to be known, as by other things, so by the tribe and family out of which he was to come.

liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it shall be a jubilee unto you; and ye shall return every man unto his possession, and ye shall return every man unto his family.

11 A jubilee shall that fiftieth year be unto you: ye shall not sow, neither reap that which groweth of itself in it, nor gather the grapes in it of thy vine undressed.

12 For it is the jubilee; it shall be holy unto you: ye shall eat the increase thereof out of the field.

13 In the year of this jubilee ye shall return every man unto his possession.

14 ¶ And if thou sell ought unto thy neighbour, or buyest ought of thy neighbour's hand, ye shall not oppress one another:

15 According to the number of years after the jubilee thou shalt buy of thy neighbour, and according unto the number of years of the fruits he shall sell unto thee.

16 According to the multitude of years thou shalt increase the price thereof, and according to the fewness of years thou shalt diminish the price of it: for according to the number of the years of the fruits doth he sell unto thee.

17 Ye shall not therefore oppress one another; but thou shalt fear thy God: for I am the LORD your God.

18 ¶ Wherefore ye shall do my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them; and ye shall dwell in the land in safety.

19 And the land shall yield her fruit, and ye shall eat your fill, and dwell therein in safety.

20 And if ye shall say, What shall we eat the seventh year? behold, we shall not sow, nor gather in our increase:

21 Then I will command my blessing upon you in the sixth year, and it shall bring forth fruit for three years.

22 And ye shall sow the eighth year, and eat yet of old fruit until the ninth year; until her fruits come in ye shall eat of the old store.

23 ¶ The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are strangers and sojourners with me.

24 And in all the land of your possession ye shall grant a redemption for the land.

25 ¶ If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath sold away some of his possession, and if any of his kin come to redeem it, then shall he redeem that which his brother sold.

26 And if the man have none to redeem it, and himself be able to redeem it, 27 Then let him count the years of the sale thereof, and restore the overplus unto the man to whom he sold it, that he may return unto his possession.

28 But if he be not able to restore it to him, then that which is sold shall remain in the hand of him that hath bought it until the year of jubilee: and in the jubilee it shall go out, and he shall return unto his possession.

29 ¶ And if a man sell a dwelling-house in a walled city, then he may redeem it within a whole year after it is sold: within a full year may he redeem it.

30 And if it be not redeemed within the space of a full year, then the house that is in the walled city shall be established for ever to him that bought it throughout his generations: it shall not go out in the jubilee.

31 But the houses of the villages which have no walls round about them shall be counted as the fields of the country; they may be redeemed, and they shall go out in the jubilee.

32 Notwithstanding, the cities of the Levites, and the houses of the cities of their possession, may the Levites redeem at any time.

33 And if a man purchase of the Levites, then the house that was sold, and the city of his possession, shall go out in the year of jubilee; for the houses of the cities of the Levites are their possession among the children of Israel.

34 But the field of the suburbs of their cities may not be sold; for it is their perpetual possession.

35 ¶ And if thy brother be waxen poor, and fallen in decay with thee; then thou shalt relieve him: yea, though he be a stranger, or a sojourner; that he may live with thee.

36 Take thou no usury of him, or increase, but fear thy God; that thy brother may live with thee.

37 Thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury, nor lend him thy victuals for increase.

38 I am the LORD your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, and to be your God.

39 ¶ And if thy brother that dwelleth by thee be waxen poor, and be sold unto thee; thou shalt not compel him to serve as a bond-servant.

40 But as an hired servant, and as a sojourner, he shall be with thee, and shall serve thee unto the year of jubilee:

41 And then shall he depart from thee, both he and his children with him, and shall return unto his own family, and unto the possession of his fathers shall he return.

42 For they are my servants, which I brought forth out of the land of Egypt; they shall not be sold as bond-men.

43 Thou shalt not rule over him with rigour, but shalt fear thy God.

44 Both thy bond-men, and thy bond-maids, which thou shalt have, shall be of the heathen that are round about you; of them shall ye buy bond-men and bond-maids.

45 Moreover, of the children of the strangers that do sojourn among you, of them shall ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they begat in your land: and they shall be your possession.

46 And ye shall take them as an inheritance for your children after you, to inherit them for a possession; they shall be your bond-men for ever: but over your brethren, the children of Israel, ye shall not rule one over another with rigour.

47 ¶ And if a sojourner or a stranger wax rich by thee, and thy brother that dwelleth by him wax poor, and sell himself unto the stranger or sojourner by thee, or to the stock of the stranger's family:

48 After that he is sold he may be redeemed again; one of his brethren may redeem him:

49 Either his uncle, or his uncle's son, may redeem him, or any that is nigh of kin unto him of his family may

11. Ye shall not sow,] Though it come immediately after a seventh year, wherein also this was forbidden.

16. According to the multitude of years, &c.] i. e. The price of every estate was to be proportioned to the distance of time from the jubilee-year, when it must of course return to the first possessor.

21. For three years;] i. e. For that part of the sixth year which was between the beginning of harvest and the beginning of the seventh year, for the whole seventh year, and for that part of the eighth year which was before the harvest, which reached almost until the beginning of the ninth year.

24. And in all the land, &c.] i. e. If at any time a man who had sold his estate could afford to purchase it again, it should not be refused him by the then possessor.

27. The years of the sale thereof;] i. e. From the time of the sale to the jubilee.

29. If a man sell a dwelling-house, &c.] Here we see that the law made a difference between houses in cities and those in the country; the former, if not redeemed within a year, were never more to return to their first owner, not even at the jubilee; whereas the latter, being part of their estates and inheritance, were to be subject to the same law as their estates, to which they were an appendage.

34. May not be sold;] Not sold at all, because these were no inclosures, but common fields, in which all the Levites that lived in such a city had an interest, and therefore no particular Levite could dispose of his part in it.

39. Thou shalt not compel him to serve as a bond-servant.] This is to be understood of that person who refused to accept of a release from service at the end of six years, and had his ear bored as a testimony of his engaging himself to be a perpetual servant, according to the law given, Exod. 21. 6.

46. Bond-men for ever, &c.] But let it be remarked, that these slaves were to be treated with humanity; and that, should a slave lose an eye, or even a tooth, by his master's severity, he was immediately emancipated.

may redeem him; or if he be able, he may redeem himself.

50 And he shall reckon with him that bought him, from the year that he was sold to him, unto the year of jubilee: and the price of his sale shall be according unto the number of years; according to the time of an hired servant shall it be with him.

51 If there be yet many years behind, according unto them he shall give again the price of his redemption out of the money that he was bought for.

52 And if there remain but few years unto the year of jubilee, then he shall count with him, and according unto his years shall he give him again the price of his redemption.

53 And as a yearly hired servant shall he be with him; and the other shall not rule with rigour over him in thy sight.

54 And if he be not redeemed in these years, then he shall go out in the year of jubilee, both he, and his children with him.

55 For unto me the children of Israel are servants; they are my servants, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

C H A P. XXVI.

1 Of idolatry.—2 Religiousness.—3 A blessing promised.—

14 A curse threatened.—40 God promiseth to remember them that repent.

YE shall make you no idols nor graven image, neither rear you up a standing image, neither shall ye set up any image of stone in your land, to bow down unto it: for I am the LORD your God.

2 Ye shall keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary: I am the LORD.

3 ¶ If ye walk in my statutes, and keep my commandments, and do them;

4 Then I will give you rain in due season, and the land shall yield her increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit:

5 And your threshing shall reach unto the vintage; and the vintage shall reach unto the sowing-time; and ye shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely.

6 And I will give peace in the land, and ye shall lie down, and none shall make you afraid: and I will rid evil beasts out of the land, neither shall the sword go through your land.

7 And ye shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you by the sword.

8 And five of you shall chase an hundred, and an hundred of you shall put ten thousand to flight: and your enemies shall fall before you by the sword.

9 For I will have respect unto you, and make you fruitful, and multiply you, and establish my covenant with you.

10 And ye shall eat old store, and bring forth the old because of the new.

11 And I will set my tabernacle among you: and my soul shall not abhor you.

55. Unto me the children of Israel are servants, &c.] i. e. Remember how I redeemed you all from slavery, and shewed you favour in a land of oppression; even so should ye shew kindness to each other, nor think of perpetuating your bondage.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVI.

Verse 4. I will give you rain in due season.] In Canaan and Syria they were wont to have hardly any rain but at two stated seasons; in spring, before harvest, and in the end of autumn, at seed-time; which two seasons are called the former and the latter rain, Jer. 5, 24. without which the year was quite barren.

5. Your threshing shall reach unto the vintage;] i. e. You shall have so plentiful an harvest, that you shall not be able to thresh out your corn in a little time, but that work will last to the vintage.

6. And I will rid evil beasts, &c.] All the promises here given are in a sublime and scriptural style, peculiar to the eastern manner of expression: it is impossible not to feel the force and dignity of it in every verse.

8. Five of you, &c.] A proverbial expression, intimating that few of them should be an over-match for many of their enemies.

No. 10.

12 And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people.

13 I am the LORD your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, that ye should not be their bond-men; and I have broken the bands of your yoke, and made you go upright.

14 ¶ But if ye will not hearken unto me, and will not do all these commandments;

15 And if ye shall despise my statutes, or if your soul abhor my judgments, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but that ye break my covenant:

16 I also will do this unto you, I will even appoint over you terror, consumption, and the burning ague, that shall consume the eyes, and cause sorrow of heart: and ye shall sow your seed in vain; for your enemies shall eat it.

17 And I will set my face against you, and ye shall be slain before your enemies; they that hate you shall reign over you; and ye shall flee when none pursueth you.

18 And if ye will not yet for all this hearken unto me, then I will punish you seven times more for your sins.

19 And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass;

20 And your strength shall be spent in vain: for your land shall not yield her increase, neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruits.

21 ¶ And if ye walk contrary unto me, and will not hearken unto me, I will bring seven times more plagues upon you, according to your sins.

22 I will also send wild beasts among you, which shall rob you of your children, and destroy your cattle, and make you few in number: and your high-ways shall be desolate.

23 And if ye will not be reformed by me by these things, but will walk contrary unto me;

24 Then will I also walk contrary unto you, and will punish you yet seven times for your sins.

25 And I will bring a sword upon you, that shall avenge the quarrel of my covenant: and when ye are gathered together within your cities, I will send the pestilence among you; and ye shall be delivered into the hand of the enemy.

26 And when I have broken the staff of your bread, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven, and they shall deliver you your bread again by weight: and ye shall eat, and not be satisfied.

27 And if ye will not for all this hearken unto me, but walk contrary unto me;

28 Then I will walk contrary unto you also in fury; and I, even I, will chastise you seven times for your sins.

29 And ye shall eat the flesh of your sons, and the flesh of your daughters shall ye eat.

30 And I will destroy your high places, and cut down your images, and cast your carcasses upon the carcasses of your idols, and my soul shall abhor you.

31 And I will make your cities waste, and bring your sanctuaries unto desolation, and I will not smell the savour of your sweet odours.

32 And

10. And ye shall eat old store, and bring forth, &c.] This is peculiarly expressive of plenty, where the old stock is represented as lasting so long as to be under the necessity of being removed to make room for the new.

13. Made you go upright;] With heads lifted up, not pressed down with a yoke.

16. Consume the eyes,] By the decay of spirits, and the influence of ill humours.

19. I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass.] The heavens shall yield you no rain, nor the earth fruits.

26. They shall deliver—your bread by weight.] This is a sign and consequence both of a famine, and of the baking of the bread of several families together in one oven, wherein each family took care to weigh their bread, and to receive the same proportion which they had put in.

30. Your images;] Or, your images of the sun, made for the honour and worshipping of the sun, and having some resemblance to it. See 2 Chron. 34. 7. Under this one kind of idolatry, famous and frequent in those times and places, he includes all the rest.

31. I will not smell;] i. e. Not own or accept.

33. And

CHAP. XXVII.

32 And I will bring the land into desolation; and your enemies which dwell therein shall be astonished at it.

33 And I will scatter you among the heathen, and will draw out a sword after you: and your land shall be desolate, and your cities waste.

34 Then shall the land enjoy her sabbaths, as long as it lieth desolate, and ye be in your enemies' land; even then shall the land rest, and enjoy her sabbaths.

35 As long as it lieth desolate it shall rest; because it did not rest in your sabbaths, when ye dwelt upon it.

36 And upon them that are left alive of you I will send a faintness into their hearts in the lands of their enemies; and the sound of a shaken leaf shall chase them; and they shall flee, as fleeing from a sword; and they shall fall; when none pursueth.

37 And they shall fall one upon another, as it were before a sword, when none pursueth: and ye shall have no power to stand before your enemies.

38 And ye shall perish among the heathen, and the land of your enemies shall eat you up.

39 And they that are left of you shall pine away in their iniquity in your enemies' land; and also in the iniquities of their fathers shall they pine away with them.

40 ¶ If they shall confess their iniquity, and the iniquity of their fathers, with their trespass which they trespassed against me, and that also they have walked contrary unto me;

41 And that I also have walked contrary unto them, and have brought them into the land of their enemies: if then their uncircumcised hearts be humbled, and they then accept of the punishment of their iniquity:

42 Then will I remember my covenant with Jacob, and also my covenant with Isaac, and also my covenant with Abraham will I remember; and I will remember the land.

43 The land also shall be left of them, and shall enjoy her sabbaths, while she lieth desolate without them: and they shall accept of the punishment of their iniquity; because, even because they despised my judgments, and because their soul abhorred my statutes.

44 And yet for all that, when they be in the land of their enemies, I will not cast them away, neither will I abhor them, to destroy them utterly, and to break my covenant with them: for I am the LORD their God.

45 But I will for their sakes remember the covenant of their ancestors, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt in the sight of the heathen, that I might be their God: I am the LORD.

46 These are the statutes, and judgments, and laws, which the LORD made between him and the children of Israel in mount Sinai by the hand of Moses.

33. And will draw out a sword after you:] The sword shall follow you into strange lands, and you shall have no rest there.

37. They shall fall one upon another:] As soldiers use to do when their ranks are broken, and they are forced to fly away hastily from their pursuers.

40, 41. If they shall confess, &c.] But yet, however great and lasting any of these calamities might be, God would not have the succeeding generations utterly to despair; for, upon their sincere humiliation and unfeigned repentance, he would accept of them again for his church and people, and restore them to his favour, blessing, and protection.

42. Then will I remember my covenant:] To wit, so as to perform it, and make good all that I have promised in it.

45. I will for their sakes remember the covenant, &c.] It ought to be rendered, according to the Hebrew, I will remember towards them, or in favour of them. This is one of the passages of scripture from which the Jews derive great consolation, promising themselves from hence a sure deliverance from their national exile. But now that the Mosaic dispensation is at an end, they can have no claim to such promises, unless upon the footing of their conversion to Christianity.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVII.

Verse 2. A singular vow:] Or, an eminent, or hard, or wonderful vow, not concerning things, which was not strange but customary, but concerning persons, as it here follows, which he vowed, or by vow devoted unto the Lord. There want not instances of such vows, and of persons which devoted either themselves or their children to the service of God; and that either more strictly and particularly, as the Nazarites, and the Levites, 1 Sam. 1. 11. and for these there was no redemption admitted,

2 Concerning vows.—9 Of a beast given by vow.—14 Of a house.—16 Of a field, and the redemption thereof.—28 No devoted thing may be redeemed.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 2 ¶ Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When a man shall make a singular vow, the persons shall be for the LORD, by thy estimation.

3 And thy estimation shall be of the male from twenty years old even unto sixty years old, even thy estimation shall be fifty shekels of silver, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

4 And if it be a female, then thy estimation shall be thirty shekels.

5 And if it be from five years old even unto twenty years old, then thy estimation shall be of the male twenty shekels, and for the female ten shekels.

6 And if it be from a month old even unto five years old, then thy estimation shall be of the male five shekels of silver, and for the female thy estimation shall be three shekels of silver.

7 And if it be from sixty years old and above; if it be a male, then thy estimation shall be fifteen shekels, and for the female ten shekels.

8 But if he be poorer than thy estimation, then he shall present himself before the priest, and the priest shall value him: according to his ability that vowed shall the priest value him.

9 ¶ And if it be a beast, whereof men bring an offering unto the LORD, all that any man giveth of such unto the LORD shall be holy.

10 He shall not alter it, not change it, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good: and if he shall at all change beast for beast, then it and the exchange thereof shall be holy.

11 And if it be any unclean beast, of which they do not offer a sacrifice unto the LORD, then he shall present the beast before the priest:

12 And the priest shall value it, whether it be good or bad: as thou valuest it who art the priest, so shall it be.

13 But if he will at all redeem it, then he shall add a fifth part thereof unto thy estimation.

14 ¶ And when a man shall sanctify his house to be holy unto the LORD; then the priest shall estimate it, whether it be good or bad: as the priest shall estimate it, so shall it stand.

15 And if he that sanctified it will redeem his house, then he shall add the fifth part of the money of thy estimation unto it, and it shall be his.

16 ¶ And if a man shall sanctify unto the LORD some part of a field of his possession, then thy estimation shall be but they were in person to perform the service to which they were devoted; or more largely and generally, as some, who were not Levites, nor intended themselves or their children should be Nazarites, might yet, through zeal to God and his service, devote themselves or children to the service of God and of the sanctuary, though not in such a way as the Levites, which they were forbidden to do, yet in some kind of subserviency to them. And because there might be too great a number of persons thus dedicated, which might be burdensome and chargeable to the sanctuary, therefore an exchange is allowed, and the priests are directed to impose and require a tax for their redemption.

6. From a month old, &c.] Samuel was devoted to the Lord before he was born; but in every different period, the value of redemption was fixed by divine ordinance, that no priest might over-rate the price to a parent. Concerning the value of the shekel, see Exod. 30. 13.

8. But if he be poorer, &c.] No distress or oppression could take place from any of God's religious ordinances; if, therefore, a man was too poor to bear the estimation which the high-priest had set upon his offering, he was then to represent the case to the priests in waiting, who should take only what he would afford to give; but something was absolutely necessary, by way of consideration for anything once offered voluntarily to God.

10. Then it and the exchange thereof shall be holy;] i. e. Both the thing first vowed, and the thing offered or given in exchange. This was inflicted upon him as a just penalty for his rashness and levity in such matters.

16. Some part of a field;] Because it was unlawful to vow away all his possessions, as thereby he had disabled himself from the performance of divers duties, by way of sacrifice, alms-giving, &c. and made himself burdensome to his brethren.

be according to the seed thereof: an homer of barley-seed shall be valued at fifty shekels of silver.

17 If he sanctify his field from the year of jubilee, according to thy estimation it shall stand.

18 But if he sanctify his field after the jubilee, then the priest shall reckon unto him the money according to the years that remain, even unto the year of the jubilee, and it shall be abated from thy estimation.

19 And if he that sanctified the field will in any wise redeem it, then he shall add the fifth part of the money of thy estimation unto it, and it shall be assured to him.

20 And if he will not redeem the field, or if he have sold the field to another man, it shall not be redeemed any more.

21 But the field, when it goeth out in the jubilee, shall be holy unto the LORD, as a field devoted: the possession thereof shall be the priest's.

22 And if a man sanctify unto the LORD a field which he hath bought, which is not of the fields of his possession;

23 Then the priest shall reckon unto him the worth of thy estimation, even unto the year of the jubilee: and he shall give thine estimation in that day, as a holy thing unto the LORD.

24 In the year of the jubilee the field shall return unto him of whom it was bought, even to him to whom the possession of the land did belong.

25 And all thy estimations shall be according to the shekel of the sanctuary: twenty gerahs shall be the shekel.

An homer of barley-seed shall be valued at fifty shekels;] That is, as much land as an homer of barley will sow shall be rated at fifty shekels, or about five pounds seventeen shillings.

20. He,] The priest, or some in his name.

22. Which is not of the fields of his possession;] Which is not his patrimony or inheritance.

26. No man shall sanctify it;] To wit, by vow; because it is not his own, but the Lord's already.

29. None devoted, which shall be devoted of men, shall be redeemed; but shall surely be put to death.] The true meaning of this passage, which has give rise to a great variety of disputes, is plainly this, Every thing which is devoted of men shall not be redeemed, but shall surely die; that is, Every person, which is given in perpetuity, shall not be redeemed, but shall die in that devoted state: for though our version has it, he shall surely be put to death, in the original it is only, dying, he shall die; he shall not be redeemed, he shall continue till death in a devoted state. Thus when God said to Adam, In the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die; or as it is in the Hebrew, dying, thou shalt die; it is not, thou shalt be put to death, but thou shalt die. From which, and several 26 ¶ Only the firstling of the beasts, which should be the LORD's firstling, no man shall sanctify it: whether it be ox, or sheep, it is the LORD's.

27 And if it be of an unclean beast, then he shall redeem it according to thine estimation, and shall add a fifth part of it thereto: or if it be not redeemed, then it shall be sold according to thy estimation.

28 ¶ Notwithstanding, no devoted thing that a man shall devote unto the LORD, of all that he hath, both of man and beast, and of the field of his possession, shall be sold or redeemed: every devoted thing is most holy unto the LORD.

29 None devoted, which shall be devoted of men, shall be redeemed; but shall surely be put to death.

30 ¶ And all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD's: it is holy unto the LORD.

31 And if a man will at all redeem ought of his tithes, he shall add thereto the fifth part thereof.

32 ¶ And concerning the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatsoever passeth under the rod, the tenth shall be holy unto the LORD.

33 He shall not search whether it be good or bad, neither shall he change it: and if he change it at all, then both it and the change thereof shall be holy; it shall not be redeemed.

34 These are the commandments which the LORD commanded Moses for the children of Israel in mount Sinai.

other passages of scripture, it appears, that the expression signifies simply to die. We have an example of the manner how persons were devoted, or given to the Lord, in the prophet Samuel; whose mother vowed a vow unto the Lord, and said, O Lord of hosts, if thou wilt look indeed on the affliction of thine handmaid, and give unto thine handmaid a man-child, then I will give him unto the Lord all the days of his life, 1 Sam. 1. 11. Accordingly, when the child was weaned, she brought him, that he might appear before the Lord, and there abide for ever, or for life: which shews both how a person was devoted, and yet not sacrificed, or made a victim to God.

32. Whatsoever passeth under the rod;] Either, 1. The tither's rod, it being the manner of the Jews, in tithing, to cause all their cattle to pass through some gate or narrow passage, where the tenth was marked by a person appointed for that purpose, and reserved for the priest. Or, 2. The shepherd's rod, under which the herds and flocks passed, and by which they were governed and numbered.

34. These are the commandments, &c.] i. e. These are added to the foregoing, before they removed from the wilderness of Sinai.

REFLECTIONS ON THE BOOK OF LEVITICUS.

THOSE who object to the number of ordinances, and the seeming useless ceremonies mentioned in this book, would do well to consider the temper of the people to whom they were given.

Every sensible observant man must perceive, that all these outward ceremonies were but means to the great end of inward purity. They were necessary to establish religion, because such is the weak and sensual nature of the human mind, that it is not content with the intrinsic excellence of piety, but is continually catching at, and attracted by, the pompous show of outward ceremony; and therefore had not God loaded his church among the Jews with all these several rites, the people would soon have neglected the simplicity of religion, and betook themselves (as indeed they frequently did, notwithstanding all these restrictions) to the unmeaning pompous ceremonies attending idolatry. But if we examine these ordinances fairly, troublesome as they must have been, we shall find, that they were morally good, and essentially useful to the people; for by increasing the respect for God and religion among the people, they established public faith and credit, without which no society can subsist. Truth must be the foundation of all compacts; and therefore it is absolutely necessary that an oath, or solemn appeal to God, should be held sacred. Sacrifices were likewise useful for the same reason, viz. that they were the proper expiatives to a gross and sensual people, that some atonement was necessary for their daily sins and offences against God: not that sacrifice took away their sin, but the ordinance itself impressed their minds with a constant sense of their faults, and thus awakened them from that lethargy which the unrestrained practice of iniquity might occasion.

Many other rites and ceremonies were politically useful, in order to keep peace and good government among them, such as confining the priesthood to one family; and some again were salutary, and tended to keep them free from infectious diseases. But the greater part of the religious ceremonies seemed formed with the greatest wisdom, to counteract particular rites among the idolaters they had left, or might afterwards mix with.

As to the laws of justice and equity between man and man, they scarcely can be equalled in any legislature; and it was certainly owing to their own depraved and sensual nature, that the Jews were not the most virtuous people under heaven.

THE FOURTH BOOK OF MOSES,

NUMBERS.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS book gives us an history of almost forty years travel of the children of Israel through the Wilderness, where we have an account of their journeys, and what happened to them therein, with their government, and how they were managed thereby; called Numbers, by reason of the several Numberings of the people, as at the offerings of the princes, and at their several journeys, &c. but especially two; one, chap. 1. out of which the priests and Levites were excepted, but numbered by themselves, viz. in the second year after they were come out of Egypt, in the first month whereof the passover was instituted; with the order about the tabernacle both of the Levites and people, and their several marches, encampings, and manner of pitching their tents; the priests' maintenance and establishment, by the miraculous budding of Aaron's rod; with the several impediments in their marches, both among themselves, by several murmurings, seditions, and conspiracies; and from their enemies, viz. the Edomites, and Canaanites, over whom having obtained a victory, and afterwards murmuring, they were stung with fiery serpents, and cured by the brasen one; Amorites, whose kings, Sihon and Og, they overcame and slew; and Moabites, where, by the allurements of Balaam, who was hired by Balak to curse Israel, they joined themselves to Baal-peor, and are plagued for it that openly opposed them. The other chief numbering is in chap. 26. where they are found almost as many as at the first, though among them were none of the first numbering, (according to what God had threatened, chap. 14.) save Moses, Joshua, and Caleb, by reason of their desire to return back into Egypt, upon the discouraging report of ten of those twelve that Moses sent to spy out the land; whereupon they were forced to wander above 38 years in the Wilderness; where he gave them several laws, civil, ecclesiastical, and military; as also particular directions about women's inheriting, occasioned by the case of Zelophehad's daughters, and concerning vows; and then brings them back to the borders of Canaan, where, after divers victories obtained against their enemies, they were directed how the land of Canaan was to be divided among the tribes, and what portion the Levites were to have among them; together with six cities of refuge set apart for the man-slayer. At length, Aaron being dead, and Eleazar placed in his stead, and Moses also having received the sentence of death, doth, by God's appointment, deliver up the people unto the charge and conduct of Joshua.

CHAP. I.

1 God commandeth Moses to number the people.—5 The princes of the tribes.—17 The number of every tribe.—47 The Levites are exempted, for the service of the Lord.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the first day of the second month, in the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

2 Take ye the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls:

3 From twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Israel; thou and Aaron shall number them by their armies.

4 And with you there shall be a man of every tribe; every one head of the house of his fathers.

5 ¶ And these are the names of the men that shall stand with you: Of the tribe of Reuben; Elizur the son of Shedeur.

6 Of Simeon; Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

7 Of Judah; Nahshon the son of Amminadab.

8 Of Issachar; Nethaneel the son of Zuar.

9 Of Zebulun; Eliab the son of Helon.

10 Of the children of Joseph: of Ephraim; Elishama the son of Ammihud: of Manasseh; Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.

11 Of Benjamin; Abidan the son of Gideon.

12 Of Dan; Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.

13 Of Asher; Pagiel the son of Ocran.

14 Of Gad; Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

15 Of Naphtali; Ahira the son of Enan:

16 These were the renowned of the congregation, princes of the tribes of their fathers, heads of thousands in Israel.

17 ¶ And Moses and Aaron took these men which are expressed by their names:

18 And they assembled all the congregation together on the first day of the second month; and they declared their pedigrees after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, by their polls.

19 As the LORD commanded Moses, so he numbered them in the wilderness of Sinai.

20 And the children of Reuben, Israel's eldest son, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

21 Those

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. And the Lord spake unto Moses, &c.] It was now about thirteen months since the Israelites had left Egypt, almost twelve of which they had resided at mount Sinai, receiving all the foregoing laws and injunctions relating to their conduct in civil and religious concerns. Before they left this station, an order is given by God to Moses and Aaron, that a general muster be made, and an exact poll taken of all the Israelitish men, from the age of twenty and upwards, the Levites excepted, and a careful distinction observed in the tribes, families, and households, that every one might know, and deliver to his posterity, a clear account from what tribe he descended, and to what family he belonged; God hereby further providing for ascertaining the genealogy of the Messiah, who was to be born of this nation.

2. Of all the—children of Israel.] So the strangers mixed with them were not numbered.

5. Of the tribe of Reuben.] The tribes are here numbered according to the order or quality of their birth; first the children of Leah, and then of Rachel, and then of the handmaids.

14. Deuel.] Called Reuel, Numb. 2. 14. the Hebrew letters Daluth and Resh being very like, and oft changed.

21. Those

21 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Reuben, were forty and six thousand and five hundred.

22 ¶ Of the children of Simeon, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, those that were numbered of them, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

23 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Simeon, were fifty and nine thousand and three hundred.

24 ¶ Of the children of Gad, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

25 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Gad, were forty and five thousand six hundred and fifty.

26 ¶ Of the children of Judah, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

27 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Judah, were threescore and fourteen thousand and six hundred.

28 ¶ Of the children of Issachar, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

29 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Issachar, were fifty and four thousand and four hundred.

30 ¶ Of the children of Zebulun, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

31 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Zebulun, were fifty and seven thousand and four hundred.

32 ¶ Of the children of Joseph, namely, of the children of Ephraim, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

33 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Ephraim, were forty thousand and five hundred.

34 ¶ Of the children of Manasseh, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

35 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Manasseh, were thirty and two thousand and two hundred.

36 ¶ Of the children of Benjamin, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

37 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Benjamin, were thirty and five thousand and four hundred.

38 ¶ Of the children of Dan, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

39 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Dan, were threescore and two thousand and seven hundred.

40 ¶ Of the children of Asher, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

41 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Asher, were forty and one thousand and five hundred.

42 ¶ Of the children of Naphtali, throughout their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war ;

43 Those that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Naphtali, were fifty and three thousand and four hundred.

44 These are those that were numbered, which Moses and Aaron numbered, and the princes of Israel, being twelve men : each one was for the house of his fathers.

45 So were all those that were numbered of the children of Israel, by the house of their fathers, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war in Israel ;

46 Even all they that were numbered were six hundred thousand and three thousand and five hundred and fifty.

47 ¶ But the Levites, after the tribe of their fathers, were not numbered among them.

48 For the LORD had spoken unto Moses, saying,

49 Only thou shalt not number the tribe of Levi, neither take the sum of them, among the children of Israel :

50 But thou shalt appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of testimony, and over all the vessels thereof, and over all things that belong to it : they shall bear the tabernacle, and all the vessels thereof ; and they shall minister unto it, and shall encamp round about the tabernacle.

51 And when the tabernacle setteth forward, the Levites shall take it down ; and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites shall set it up : and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

52 And the children of Israel shall pitch their tents every man by his own camp, and every man by his own standard, throughout their hosts.

53 But the Levites shall pitch round about the tabernacle of testimony, that there be no wrath upon the congregation of the children of Israel : and the Levites shall keep the charge of the tabernacle of testimony.

54 And the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so did they.

By which it appears, what is pretty singular, that there was not one man dead since their last muster, seven months ago, for they were at that time just so many as are here mentioned, Exod. 38. 26. unless we will suppose, which might be the case, that the number of those who were come of age since the last numbering just equalled the number of those who had died ; or, which seems most probable, that a few odd numbers might be neglected.

49. Thou shalt not number the tribe of Levi,] Because they were to attend upon the service of the tabernacle.

53. That there be no wrath, &c.] i. e. That no sacrilege be committed, so as to occasion the wrath of God to be exerted against the people.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 2. Shall pitch by his own standard.] It is manifest that there were four great standards or ensigns, which here follow, distinguished by their colours or figures, or otherwise ; also that there were other particular ensigns belonging to each of their father's houses or families, as is here said.

3 ¶ And on the east side, toward the rising of the sun, shall they of the standard of the camp of Judah pitch, throughout their armies: and Nahshon the son of Amminadab shall be captain of the children of Judah.

4 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were threescore and fourteen thousand and six hundred.

5 And those that do pitch next unto him shall be the tribe of Issachar: and Nethaneel the son of Zuar shall be captain of the children of Issachar.

6 And his host, and those that were numbered thereof, were fifty and four thousand and four hundred.

7 Then the tribe of Zebulun: and Eliab the son of Helon shall be captain of the children of Zebulun.

8 And his host, and those that were numbered thereof, were fifty and seven thousand and four hundred.

9 All that were numbered in the camp of Judah, were an hundred thousand and fourscore thousand and six thousand and four hundred, throughout their armies: these shall first set forth.

10 ¶ On the south side shall be the standard of the camp of Reuben, according to their armies: and the captain of the children of Reuben shall be Elizur the son of Shedeur.

11 And his host, and those that were numbered thereof, were forty and six thousand and five hundred.

12 And those which pitch by him shall be the tribe of Simeon: and the captain of the children of Simeon shall be Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

13 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were fifty and nine thousand and three hundred.

14 Then the tribe of Gad: and the captain of the sons of Gad shall be Eliasaph the son of Reuel.

15 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were forty and five thousand and six hundred and fifty.

16 All that were numbered in the camp of Reuben, were an hundred thousand and fifty and one thousand and four hundred and fifty, throughout their armies: and they shall set forth in the second rank.

17 ¶ Then the tabernacle of the congregation shall set forward with the camp of the Levites, in the midst of the camp: as they encamp, so shall they set forward, every man in his place by their standards.

18 ¶ On the west side shall be the standard of the camp of Ephraim, according to their armies: and the captain of the sons of Ephraim shall be Elishama, the son of Ammihud.

19 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were forty thousand and five hundred.

20 And by him shall be the tribe of Manasseh: and the captain of the children of Manasseh shall be Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.

21 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were thirty and two thousand and two hundred.

22 Then the tribe of Benjamin: and the captain of the sons of Benjamin shall be Abidan the son of Gideoni.

23 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were thirty and five thousand and four hundred.

Far off.] It is supposed they were at two thousand cubits distance from the tabernacle, which was the space between the people and the ark, Jos. 3. 4. and it is not improbable, because the Levites encamped round about it, between them and the tabernacle.

7. Then the tribe of Zebulun, &c.] These three, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun, were all born of Leah.

9. These shall first set forth.] To march in front, being a body of one hundred and eighty-six thousand four hundred men.

17. With the camp of the Levites, in the midst of the camp.] Which is not to be understood strictly or exactly, but largely; for in their march they were divided, and part of that tribe marched next after Judah, Numb. 10. 17. and the other part exactly in the midst of the camp.

31. An hundred thousand and fifty and seven thousand and six hundred.] The strongest camp next after Judah; and therefore he comes in the rear, as Judah marched in the front, that the tabernacle might be best guarded where there was most danger. The Jews say, this camp made a square of twelve miles in compass about the tabernacle, three miles on each side.

32. These are those, &c.] Such was the noble militia of Israel, an 24 All that were numbered of the camp of Ephraim, were an hundred thousand and eight thousand and an hundred, throughout their armies: and they shall go forward in the third rank.

25 ¶ The standard of the camp of Dan shall be on the north side by their armies: and the captain of the children of Dan shall be Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.

26 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were threescore and two thousand and seven hundred.

27 And those that encamp by him shall be the tribe of Asher: and the captain of the children of Asher shall be Pagiel the son of Ocran.

28 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were forty and one thousand and five hundred.

29 Then the tribe of Naphtali: and the captain of the children of Naphtali shall be Ahira the son of Enan.

30 And his host, and those that were numbered of them, were fifty and three thousand and four hundred.

31 All they that were numbered in the camp of Dan, were an hundred thousand and fifty and seven thousand and six hundred: they shall go hindmost with their standards.

32 ¶ These are those which were numbered of the children of Israel by the house of their fathers; all those that were numbered of the camps, throughout their hosts, were six hundred thousand and three thousand and five hundred and fifty.

33 But the Levites were not numbered among the children of Israel; as the LORD commanded Moses.

34 And the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses: so they pitched by their standards, and so they set forward every one after their families, according to the house of their fathers.

15 The Levites numbered.—21 The families of the Gershonites.—27 of the Kohathites.—33 of the Merarites.—38 The place and charge of Moses and Aaron.—40 The first-born freed by the Levites.—45 The overplus are redeemed.

THESE also are the generations of Aaron and Moses, in the day that the LORD spake with Moses in mount Sinai.

2 And these are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the first-born, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

3 These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the priests which were anointed, whom he consecrated to minister in the priest's office.

4 And Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD, when they offered strange fire before the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai, and they had no children: and Eleazar and Ithamar ministered in the priest's office, in the sight of Aaron their father.

Verse 1. The generations ;] i. e. Either, 1. The things done by them; as the word generation is sometimes used, as Gen. 6. 9. and 25. 19. and 37. 2. Or rather, 2. The kindred or family, for that is the subject of this chapter, and not their events or actions. Obj. Aaron's family indeed is here mentioned, but not the family of Moses. Ans. Moses' family and children are here included under the general name of the Amramites, ver. 27. which includes all the children of Amram, the persons only of Aaron and Moses being excepted.

In the day that the Lord spake with Moses in Mount Sinai.] This seems to be added, because Nadab and Abihu, mentioned ver. 2. were then alive, though dead at the time of taking this account.

8 And they shall keep all the instruments of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the children of Israel, to do the service of the tabernacle.

9 And thou shalt give the Levites unto Aaron and to his sons: they are wholly given unto him out of the children of Israel.

10 And thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall wait on their priest's office: and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

11 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

12 And I, behold, I have taken the Levites from among the children of Israel, instead of all the first-born that openeth the matrix among the children of Israel: therefore the Levites shall be mine.

13 Because all the first-born are mine: for on the day that I smote all the first-born in the land of Egypt, I hallowed unto me all the first-born in Israel, both man and beast; mine they shall be: I am the LORD.

14 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, saying,

15 Number the children of Levi, after the house of their fathers, by their families: every male from a month old and upward shalt thou number them.

16 And Moses numbered them, according to the word of the LORD, as he was commanded.

17 And these were the sons of Levi, by their names; Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari.

18 And these are the names of the sons of Gershon by their families; Libni and Shimei.

19 And the sons of Kohath by their families; Amram, and Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

20 And the sons of Merari by their families; Mahli, and Mushi: these are the families of the Levites, according to the house of their fathers.

21 ¶ Of Gershon was the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimites: these are the families of the Gershonites.

22 Those that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, even those that were numbered of them, were seven thousand and five hundred.

23 The families of the Gershonites shall pitch behind the tabernacle westward.

24 And the chief of the house of the father of the Gershonites shall be Eliasaph the son of Lael.

25 And the charge of the sons of Gershon, in the tabernacle of the congregation, shall be the tabernacle, and the tent, the covering thereof, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

26 And the hangings of the court, and the curtain for the door of the court, which is by the tabernacle, and by the altar round about, and the cords of it, for all the service thereof.

27 ¶ And of Kohath was the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Uzzielites: these are the families of the Kohathites.

28 In the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were eight thousand and six hundred, keeping the charge of the sanctuary.

29 The families of the sons of Kohath shall pitch on the side of the tabernacle southward.

30 And the chief of the house of the father of the families of the Kohathites, shall be Elizaphan the son of Uzziel.

31 And their charge shall be the ark, and the table, and the candlestick, and the altars, and the vessels of the sanctuary wherewith they minister, and the hanging, and all the service thereof.

32 And Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, shall be chief over the chief of the Levites, and have the oversight of them that keep the charge of the sanctuary.

33 ¶ Of Merari was the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Mushites: these are the families of Merari.

34 And those that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were six thousand and two hundred.

35 And the chief of the house of the father of the families of Merari was Zuriel the son of Abihail: these shall pitch on the side of the tabernacle northward.

36 And under the custody and charge of the sons of Merari shall be the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof, and all the vessels thereof, and all that serveth thereto.

37 And the pillars of the court round about, and their sockets, and their pins, and their cords.

38 But those that encamp before the tabernacle toward the east, even before the tabernacle of the congregation eastward, shall be Moses, and Aaron and his sons, keeping the charge of the sanctuary, for the charge of the children of Israel; and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

39 All that were numbered of the Levites, which Moses and Aaron numbered at the commandment of the LORD, throughout their families, all the males, from a month old and upward, were twenty and two thousand.

40 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Number all the first-born of the males of the children of Israel, from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names.

41 And thou shalt take the Levites for me (I am the LORD) instead of all the first-born among the children of Israel; and the cattle of the Levites, instead of all the firstlings among the cattle of the children of Israel.

42 And Moses numbered, as the LORD commanded him, all the first-born among the children of Israel.

43 And all the first-born males, by the number of names, from a month old and upward, and those that were numbered

7. The charge of the whole congregation;] i. e. Of all the sacrifices and services which are due to the Lord from all the people.

10. The stranger that cometh nigh.] The severity of this sentence is agreeable to the charge every where given, to keep God's temple holy and undefiled. None but those who were expressly called, and separated to the priesthood, were to exercise any of its functions. It would be well for religion, if none but people of real abilities and unblemished characters were admitted to God's service in our modern ordinations.

12. I have taken the Levites—instead of all the first-born.] Whereas, in gratitude to God for his great mercy in sparing the first-born of Israel, while those of Egypt were destroyed, every first-born male was consecrated to his service, Exod. 13. 2, 12, 13. it is now ordered by God, that the nation be released from that obligation, by substituting the tribe of Levi to be the perpetual ministers of religion in lieu of their first-born males.

15. Number the children of Levi—every male from a month;] Because at that time the first-born, in whose stead the Levites came, Numb. 8. 16. were offered to God, Luke 2. 29. and to be redeemed, Numb. 27. 16. and from that time the Levites were consecrated to God, and were, as soon as they were capable, to be instructed in their work. Elsewhere they are numbered from twenty-five years old, when they were entered as novices to part of their work, Numb. 18. 24. and from thirty years old, when they were completely admitted to their whole office.

27. Kohath.] This family had many privileges above the others; of that were Moses and Aaron, and all the priests: they had the chief place about the tabernacle, and the care of the most holy things here below, ver. 31. and in the land of Canaan they had twenty-three cities, which were almost as many as both their brethren received. See Jos. 21.

32. And Eleazar—shall be chief.] Next under the high-priest; whence he is called the second priest, 2 Kings 25. 18. and in case of the high-priest's absence by sickness, or other necessary occasions, he was to perform his work, 1 Kings 4. 4. and he had a superiority over all the rest of the priests and Levites.

39. Twenty and two thousand.] If the particular numbers mentioned ver. 22. 28. 34. be put together, they make exactly 22,300. But it is thought, that the odd 300 are omitted here, either according to the use of the holy scripture, where, in so great numbers, small sums are commonly neglected, or because they were the first-born of the Levites, and therefore belonged to God already, and so could not be given to him again instead of the other first-born.

43. And all the first-born males—were twenty and two thousand two hundred and threescore and thirteen.] It may appear strange, that from above 600,000 full-grown men there should be no more first-born sons: but it must be remembered, that only those were numbered who had been born since the slaughter of the Egyptians, which was not much above a year ago; for it was only from that time that the first-born was to be consecrated to God.

numbered of them, were twenty and two thousand two hundred and threescore and thirteen.

44 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

45 Take the Levites instead of all the first-born among the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of their cattle; and the Levites shall be mine: I am the LORD.

46 And for those that are to be redeemed of the two hundred and threescore and thirteen, of the first-born of the children of Israel, which are more than the Levites;

47 Thou shalt even take five shekels apiece by the poll, after the shekel of the sanctuary shalt thou take them: (the shekel is twenty gerahs.)

48 And thou shalt give the money, wherewith the odd number of them is to be redeemed, unto Aaron and to his sons.

49 And Moses took the redemption-money of them that were over and above them that were redeemed by the Levites:

50 Of the first-born of the children of Israel took he the money; a thousand three hundred and threescore and five shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

51 And Moses gave the money of them that were redeemed unto Aaron, and to his sons, according to the word of the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Levites' service.—4 The service of the Kohathites.—

16 The charge of Eleazar.—19 Office of the priests.—36

The number of the Kohathites,—40 of the Gershonites,—

48 and of the Merarites.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

2 Take the sum of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, after their families, by the house of their fathers;

3 From thirty years old and upward, even until fifty years old, all that enter into the host, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 ¶ This shall be the service of the sons of Kohath, in the tabernacle of the congregation, about the most holy things.

5 ¶ And when the camp setteth forward, Aaron shall come, and his sons, and they shall take down the covering vail, and cover the ark of testimony with it;

6 And shall put thereon the covering of badgers' skins, and shall spread over it a cloth wholly of blue, and shall put in the staves thereof.

7 And upon the table of shew-bread they shall spread a cloth of blue, and put thereon the dishes, and the spoons, and the bowls, and covers to cover withal: and the continual bread shall be thereon:

8 And they shall spread upon them a cloth of scarlet, and cover the same with a covering of badgers' skins, and shall put in the staves thereof.

9 And they shall take a cloth of blue, and cover the candlestick of the light, and his lamps, and his tongs, and his snuff-dishes, and all the oil-vessels thereof, wherewith they minister unto it:

10 And they shall put it, and all the vessels thereof, within a covering of badgers' skins, and shall put it upon a bar.

11 And upon the golden altar they shall spread a cloth of blue, and cover it with a covering of badgers' skins, and shall put to the staves thereof:

12 And they shall take all the instruments of ministry, wherewith they minister in the sanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue, and cover them with a covering of badgers' skins, and shall put them on a bar.

13 And they shall take away the ashes from the altar, and spread a purple cloth thereon:

14 And they shall put upon it all the vessels thereof, wherewith they minister about it, even the censers, the flesh-hooks, and the shovels, and the basons, all the vessels of the altar; and they shall spread upon it a covering of badgers' skins, and put to the staves of it.

15 And when Aaron and his sons have made an end of covering the sanctuary, and all the vessels of the sanctuary, as the camp is to set forward; after that, the sons of Kohath shall come to bear it: but they shall not touch any holy thing, lest they die. These things are the burden of the sons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation.

16 ¶ And to the office of Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest pertaineth the oil for the light, and the sweet incense, and the daily meat-offering, and the anointing oil, and the oversight of all the tabernacle, and of all that therein is in the sanctuary, and in the vessels thereof.

17 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

18 Cut ye not off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites:

19 But thus do unto them, that they may live and not die, when they approach unto the most holy things; Aaron and his sons shall go in, and appoint them every one to his service and to his burden:

20 But they shall not go in to see when the holy things are covered, lest they die.

21 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

22 Take also the sum of the sons of Gershon, throughout the houses of their fathers, by their families;

23 From thirty years old and upward, until fifty years old, shalt thou number them: all that enter in to perform the service, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

24 This is the service of the families of the Gershonites, to serve, and for burdens:

25 And they shall bear the curtains of the tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the congregation, his covering, and the covering of the badgers' skins that is above upon it, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

26 And the hangings of the court, and the hanging for the door of the gate of the court, which is by the tabernacle and by the altar round about, and their cords, and all the instruments of their service, and all that is made for them: so shall they serve.

27 At the appointment of Aaron and his sons shall be all the service of the sons of the Gershonites, in all their burdens, and in all their service: and ye shall appoint unto them in charge all their burdens.

28 This is the service of the families of the sons of Gershon in the tabernacle of the congregation: and their charge shall be under the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest.

29 ¶ As for the sons of Merari, thou shalt number them after their families, by the house of their fathers;

30 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, shalt thou number them, every one that entereth into the service, to do the work of the tabernacle of the congregation.

31 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 3. From thirty years old.] This age was prescribed, as the age of full strength of body, and therefore most proper for their present laborious work of carrying the parts and vessels of the tabernacle, and of maturity of judgment, which is necessary for the right management of holy services.

5. And they shall take down the covering vail;] Whereby the holy place was parted from the most holy. While the cloud or symbol of the divine presence rested upon the tabernacle, none might enter the most holy place but the high-priest, which he did but one day in the year,

CHAP. V.

31 And this is the charge of their burden, according to all their service in the tabernacle of the congregation; the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and sockets thereof,

32 And the pillars of the court round about, and their sockets, and their pins, and their cords, with all their instruments, and with all their service: and by name ye shall reckon the instruments of the charge of their burden.

33 This is the service of the families of the sons of Merari, according to all their service, in the tabernacle of the congregation, under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.

34 ¶ And Moses and Aaron, and the chief of the congregation, numbered the sons of the Kohathites, after their families, and after the house of their fathers;

35 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth into the service, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

36 And those that were numbered of them by their families were two thousand seven hundred and fifty.

37 These were they that were numbered of the families of the Kohathites, all that might do service in the tabernacle of the congregation, which Moses and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

38 And those that were numbered of the sons of Gershon, throughout their families, and by the house of their fathers,

39 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth into the service, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation;

40 Even those that were numbered of them, throughout their families, by the house of their fathers, were two thousand and six hundred and thirty.

41 These are they that were numbered of the families of the sons of Gershon, of all that might do service in the tabernacle of the congregation, whom Moses and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the LORD.

42 ¶ And those that were numbered of the families of the sons of Merari, throughout their families, by the house of their fathers.

43 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth into the service, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation:

44 Even those that were numbered of them, after their families, were three thousand and two hundred.

45 These be those that were numbered of the families of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron numbered, according to the word of the LORD, by the hand of Moses.

46 All those that were numbered of the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron and the chief of Israel numbered, after their families, and after the house of their fathers;

47 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that came to do the service of the ministry, and the service of the burden in the tabernacle of the congregation.

48 Even those that were numbered of them, were eight thousand and five hundred and fourscore.

49 According to the commandment of the LORD, they were numbered by the hand of Moses, every one according to his service, and according to his burden; thus were they numbered of him, as the LORD commanded Moses.

32. By name, &c.] i. e. Piece by piece, each part particularly mentioned.

47. To do the service, &c.] This service of the ministry here mentioned means only the laborious part; and the same Hebrew word in Lev. 23. 7. is translated servile work.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 2. Put out of the camp,] In which the people dwelt; as afterwards out of the cities and towns, that they might not converse with others, and infect them.

6. Be guilty;] i. e. Shall be sensible of his guilt.

7. And add unto it the fifth part.] In cases of theft detected, the criminal is bound to restore four, and in some cases five times the value, 1. No. 11.

2 The unclean removed.—5 Restitution to be made in trespasses.—12 The trial of jealousy.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Command the children of Israel, that they put out of the camp every leper, and every one that hath an issue, and whosoever is defiled by the dead.

3 Both male and female shall ye put out, without the camp shall ye put them; that they defile not their camps, in the midst whereof I dwell.

4 And the children of Israel did so, and put them out without the camp: as the LORD spake unto Moses, so did the children of Israel.

5 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

6 Speak unto the children of Israel, When a man or woman shall commit any sin that men commit, to do a trespass against the LORD, and that person be guilty;

7 Then they shall confess their sin which they have done: and he shall recompense his trespass with the principal thereof, and add unto it the fifth part thereof, and give it unto him against whom he hath trespassed.

8 But if the man have no kinsman to recompense the trespass unto, let the trespass be recompensed unto the LORD, even to the priest; besides the ram of the atonement, whereby an atonement shall be made for him.

9 And every offering of all the holy things of the children of Israel, which they bring unto the priest, shall be his.

10 And every man's hallowed thing shall be his: whatsoever any man giveth the priest, it shall be his.

11 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

12 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, If any man's wife go aside, and commit a trespass against him,

13 And a man lie with her carnally, and it be hid from the eyes of her husband, and be kept close, and she be defiled, and there be no witness against her, neither she be taken with the manner;

14 And the spirit of jealousy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be defiled: or if the spirit of jealousy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be not defiled:

15 Then shall the man bring his wife unto the priest, and he shall bring her offering for her, the tenth part of an ephah of barley-meal; he shall pour no oil upon it, nor put frankincense thereon; for it is an offering of jealousy, an offering of memorial, bringing iniquity to remembrance.

16 And the priest shall bring her near, and set her before the LORD.

17 And the priest shall take holy water in an earthen vessel; and of the dust that is on the floor of the tabernacle the priest shall take, and put it into the water:

18 And the priest shall set the woman before the LORD, and uncover the woman's head, and put the offering of memorial in her hands, which is the jealousy-offering: and the priest shall have in his hand the bitter water that causeth the curse:

19 And the priest shall charge her by an oath, and say unto the woman, If no man have lain with thee, and if thou hast not gone aside to uncleanness with another instead of thy husband, be thou free from this bitter water that causeth the curse:

20 But

Exod. 22. 1, 2. But here, he who ingenuously confessed a secret fault is more mildly dealt with, being amerced only in a fifth part of the principal, together with a ram of atonement, and that in order to encourage restitution.

13. There be no witness against her;] For if it was witnessed, she was to die for it, Lev. 20. 10.

15. He shall bring her offering,] By way of solemn appeal to God, whom hereby she desired to judge between her and her husband.

17. Holy water;] Either water out of the holy laver, Exod. 30. 18. or, perhaps, the water of purification appointed for such kind of uses, Numb. 19. 9. This was used, that, if she were guilty, she might be afraid to add profaneness and the pollution of holy things to her other crime.

20 But if thou hast gone aside to another instead of thy husband, and if thou be defiled, and some man hath lain with thee besides thine husband :

21 Then the priest shall charge the woman with an oath of cursing ; and the priest shall say unto the woman, The LORD make thee a curse and an oath among thy people, when the LORD doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly to swell ;

22 And this water that causeth the curse shall go into thy bowels, to make thy belly to swell, and thy thigh to rot. And the woman shall say, Amen, Amen.

23 And the priest shall write these curses in a book, and he shall blot them out with the bitter water :

24 And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water that causeth the curse : and the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter.

25 Then the priest shall take the jealousy-offering out of the woman's hand, and shall wave the offering before the LORD, and offer it upon the altar :

26 And the priest shall take an handful of the offering, even the memorial thereof, and burn it upon the altar, and afterward shall cause the woman to drink the water.

27 And when he hath made her to drink the water, then it shall come to pass, that if she be defiled, and have done trespass against her husband, that the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter, and her belly shall swell, and her thigh shall rot : and the woman shall be a curse among her people.

28 And if the woman be not defiled, but be clean ; then she shall be free, and shall conceive seed.

29 This is the law of jealousies, when a wife goeth aside to another instead of her husband, and is defiled ;

30 Or, when the spirit of jealousy cometh upon him, and he be jealous over his wife, and shall set the woman before the LORD, and the priest shall execute upon her all this law.

31 Then shall the man be guiltless from iniquity, and this woman shall bear her iniquity.

CHAP. VI.

1 The law of the Nazarites.—22 Form of blessing the people.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When either man or woman shall separate themselves to vow a vow of a Nazarite, to separate themselves unto the LORD.

3 He shall separate himself from wine, and strong drink, and shall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink, neither shall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moist grapes, or dried.

4 All the days of his separation shall he eat nothing that is made of the vine-tree, from the kernels even to the husk.

5 All the days of the vow of his separation there shall no razor come upon his head ; until the days be fulfilled in the which he separateth himself unto the LORD, he shall be holy ; and shall let the locks of the hair of his head grow.

6 All the days that he separateth himself unto the LORD, he shall come at no dead body.

7 He shall not make himself unclean for his father, or for his mother, for his brother, or for his sister, when they die : because the consecration of his God is upon his head.

8 All the days of his separation he is holy unto the LORD.

9 And if any man die very suddenly by him, and he hath defiled the head of his consecration ; then he shall shave his head in the day of his cleansing, on the seventh day shall he shave it.

10 And on the eighth day he shall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons, to the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

11 And the priest shall offer the one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, and make an atonement for him, for that he sinned by the dead, and shall hallow his head that same day.

12 And he shall consecrate unto the LORD the days of his separation, and shall bring a lamb of the first year for a trespass-offering : but the days that were before shall be lost, because his separation was defiled.

13 And this is the law of the Nazarite, when the days of his separation are fulfilled : he shall be brought unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation :

14 And he shall offer his offering unto the LORD, one he-lamb of the first year without blemish for a burnt-offering, and one ewe-lamb of the first year without blemish for a sin-offering, and one ram without blemish for peace-offerings,

15 And a basket of unleavened bread, cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, and wafers of unleavened bread anointed with oil, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings.

16 And the priest shall bring them before the LORD, and shall offer his sin offering, and his burnt-offering :

17 And he shall offer the ram for a sacrifice of peace-offerings unto the LORD, with the basket of unleavened bread : the priest shall offer also his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

18 And the Nazarite shall shave the head of his separation at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation ; and shall take the hair of the head of his separation, and put it in the fire which is under the sacrifice of the peace-offerings.

19 And the priest shall take the sodden shoulder of the ram, and one unleavened cake out of the basket, and one unleavened wafer : and shall put them upon the hands of the Nazarite, after the hair of his separation is shaven :

20 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 2. Either man or woman ;] For both sexes might make this vow, if they were free and at their own disposal, for otherwise their parents or husbands could disannul the vow, chap. 30. 5.

A vow of a Nazarite ;] Whereby they did sequester themselves in a great part from worldly employments and enjoyments, that they might entirely consecrate themselves to God's service ; and this either for their whole life-time, of which see Judg. 13. 5. and 16. 17. 1 Sam. 1. 11. Luke 1. 15. or for a less and limited space of time, of which in this chapter.

5. There shall no razor come upon his head ;] This was appointed as a sign of his mortification to worldly delights.

7. The consecration ;] The token of his consecration, viz. his long hair.

11. He sinned ;] i. e. Contracted a ceremonial uncleanness.

12. The days of his separation ;] As many days as he had before separated or vowed unto God.

14. For a burnt-offering, &c.] Three sacrifices were to conclude the performance of his vow : first, a burnt-offering, in testimony of his entire and willing devotion to God's service ; secondly, a sin-offering, imploring pardon for his defects ; thirdly, his peace-offering of thanksgiving, in gratitude to God for his grace and assistance.

19. The sodden shoulder ;] The left shoulder, as it appears from ver. 20. where this is joined with the heave-shoulder, and which was the right shoulder, and which was the priest's due in all sacrifices, Lev. 7. 32. and in this also.

21. Besides

27. If she be defiled, &c.] The Jews tell us, that these effects presently followed : that she grew pale, and her eyes were ready to start out of her head ; so that they cried out, " Carry her away, lest she defile the court of the temple by dying there." But these accounts cannot be depended upon, since Moses says nothing of it. Dr. Spencer is of opinion, that this is one of those laws which were given to the Jews because of the hardness of their hearts, and to prevent more cruel and unjust treatment of the women by their jealous husbands. But if what Bishop Patrick observes, out of the Jewish writers, be true, that the woman, upon confessing her guilt, was only divorced and condemned to lose her dowry, it is most probable that this miraculous punishment was always avoided by confession.

28. Shall conceive seed ;] i. e. Shall bring forth children, as the Jews say, in case of her innocence, infallibly she did, yea though she was barren before.

30. The spirit of jealousy, &c.] i. e. When he hath reason or cause of jealousy given him by his wife's conduct.

31. Then shall the man be guiltless from iniquity ;] Which he should not have been, if he had either dissembled, or indulged her in so great a wickedness, and not endeavoured to bring her either to repentance or punishment : see Matt. 1. 19.

And this woman shall bear her iniquity ;] i. e. The punishment of her iniquity, whether she was false to her husband, or, by any light and foolish carriage, gave him occasion to suspect her to be so.

20 And the priest shall wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD; this is holy for the priest, with the wave-breast and heave-shoulder: and after that the Nazarite may drink wine.

21 This is the law of the Nazarite, who hath vowed, and of his offering unto the LORD for his separation, besides that that his hand shall get: according to the vow which he vowed, so he must do after the law of his separation.

22 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

23 Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons, saying, On this wise ye shall bless the children of Israel, saying unto them,

24 The LORD bless thee, and keep thee;

25 The LORD make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee:

26 The LORD lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.

27 And they shall put my name upon the children of Israel, and I will bless them.

CHAP. VII.

3 The offering of the princes at the dedication of the tabernacle.—10 The several offerings at the dedication of the altar.—89 God speaketh to Moses.

AND it came to pass, on the day that Moses had fully set up the tabernacle, and had anointed it, and sanctified it, and all the instruments thereof, both the altar, and all the vessels thereof, and had anointed them, and sanctified them;

2 That the princes of Israel, heads of the house of their fathers, (who were the princes of the tribes, and were over them that were numbered) offered:

3 And they brought their offering before the LORD, six covered waggons, and twelve oxen; a waggon for two of the princes, and for each one an ox; and they brought them before the tabernacle.

4 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

5 Take it of them, that they may be to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to his service.

6 And Moses took the waggons and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites.

7 Two waggons and four oxen he gave unto the sons of Gershon, according to their service.

8 And four waggons and eight oxen he gave unto the sons of Merari, according unto their service, under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.

9 But unto the sons of Kohath he gave none: because the service of the sanctuary belonging unto them was, that they should bear upon their shoulders.

10 ¶ And the princes offered for dedicating of the altar, in the day that it was anointed, even the princes offered their offering before the altar.

11 And the LORD said unto Moses, They shall offer their offering each prince on his day, for the dedicating of the altar.

12 ¶ And he that offered his offering the first day, was Nahshon the son of Amminadab, of the tribe of Judah.

13 And his offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them were full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

14 One spoon of ten shekels of gold, full of incense:

15 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering:

16 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering:

17 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Nahshon the son of Amminadab.

18 ¶ On the second day Nethaneel, the son of Zuar, prince of Issachar, did offer.

19 He offered for his offering one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

20 One spoon of gold of ten shekels, full of incense:

21 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering:

22 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering:

23 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Nethaneel the son of Zuar.

24 ¶ On the third day Eliab the son of Helon, prince of the children of Zebulun, did offer.

25 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

26 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense:

27 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering:

28 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering:

29 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Eliab the son of Helon.

30 ¶ On the fourth day Elizur the son of Shedeur, prince of the children of Reuben, did offer.

31 His offering was one silver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering.

32 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense:

33 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering:

34 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering:

35 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year: this was the offering of Elizur the son of Shedeur.

36 On the fifth day Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai, prince of the children of Simeon, did offer.

37 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

38 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense:

39 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering.

40 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering:

41 And

21. Besides that that his hand shall get; i. e. Besides what he shall voluntarily give according to his ability.

24. Keep thee; i. e. Continue his blessings to thee, and preserve thee in and to the use of them.

26. Lift up his countenance upon thee; i. e. Look upon thee with a cheerful and pleasant countenance, as one that is reconciled to thee, and well pleased with thee and thy offerings and services: or, regard, protect, and help thee.

Peace.] Peace with God and with thy own conscience, and with all men; and all prosperity, which is comprehended under this word.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 1. On the day that Moses had fully set up the tabernacle, &c.] That is, on the day after every thing was finished relating to the tabernacle, the priests, Levites, &c. On the day is a Hebraism, signifying after such a time. See ver. 84, 88.

9. But unto the sons of Kohath, &c.] Because their burden was, on account of the value and dignity of it, to be borne on their shoulders.

11. Each prince on his day, &c.] Which made this solemnity last twelve days; each tribe having an opportunity, by its representative, to express their reverence and devotion to God.

18. On the second day Nethaneel—did offer.] It will be observed, that there is no difference in the offerings of these princes; but all offered plate of equal weight, and an equal number of sacrifices: which might be so ordered to prevent all vain-boasting and emulation among men of equal authority and place. If any should object against so many repetitions, they should remember, that such repetitions are more suitable to the simplicity of the primitive times. Hence we meet with so many of them in Homer, who is thought to have lived near the time of Moses.

41 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

42 ¶ On the sixth day Eliasaph the son of Deuel, prince of the children of Gad, offered :

43 His offering was one silver charger of the weight of an hundred and thirty shekels, a silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary : both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering :

44 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

45 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

46 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering :

47 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

48 ¶ On the seventh day Elishama the son of Amihud, prince of the children of Ephraim, offered.

49 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary ; both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering.

50 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

51 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

52 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering :

53 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Elishama the son of Amihud.

54 ¶ On the eighth day offered Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur, prince of the children of Manasseh.

55 His offering was one silver charger of the weight of an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary ; both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering.

56 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

57 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

58 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering :

59 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.

60 ¶ On the ninth day Abidan the son of Gideoni, prince of the children of Benjamin, offered.

61 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary ; both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering :

62 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

63 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

64 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering :

65 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year : this was the offering of Abidan the son of Gideoni.

66 ¶ On the tenth day Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai, prince of the children of Dan, offered :

67 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary ; both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering :

68 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

48. This was the dedication, &c.] i. e. Thus magnificently were the altars furnished at their first using, on account of the children of Israel ; for both altars were used, though but one is named.

89. Moses—heard the voice of one speaking unto him, &c.] This explains the manner how God communicated his will to Moses, not by some impression on his mind in a vision, or by representing things to him in a dream, but by a clear and distinct voice ; but at the same time he saw no image or similitude.

God speaking thus to Moses, with an audible voice, as if he had been clothed with a body, was an earnest of the incarnation of the Son of

69 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

70 One kid of the goats, for a sin-offering :

71 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year : this was the offering of Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.

72 ¶ On the eleventh day Pagiel the son of Ocran, prince of the children of Asher, offered.

73 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary : both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering :

74 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

75 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

76 One kid of the goats, for a sin-offering :

77 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Pagiel the son of Ocran.

78 ¶ On the twelfth day Ahira the son of Enan, prince of the children of Naphtali, offered.

79 His offering was one silver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary ; both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering :

80 One golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense :

81 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year, for a burnt-offering :

82 One kid of the goats, for a sin-offering :

83 And for a sacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the first year. This was the offering of Ahira the son of Enan.

84 This was the dedication of the altar (in the day when it was anointed) by the princes of Israel : twelve chargers of silver, twelve silver bowls, twelve spoons of gold :

85 Each charger of silver weighing an hundred and thirty shekels, each bowl seventy : all the silver vessels weighed two thousand four hundred shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

86 The golden spoons were twelve, full of incense, weighing ten shekels apiece, after the shekel of the sanctuary : all the gold of the spoons was an hundred and twenty shekels.

87 All the oxen for the burnt-offering were twelve bullocks, the rams twelve, the lambs of the first year twelve, with their meat-offering : and the kids of the goats for sin-offering, twelve :

88 And all the oxen for the sacrifice of the peace-offerings, were twenty and four bullocks, the rams sixty, the he-goats sixty, the lambs of the first year sixty. This was the dedication of the altar, after that it was anointed.

89 And when Moses was gone into the tabernacle of the congregation, to speak with Him ; then he heard the voice of one speaking unto him from off the mercy-seat that was upon the ark of testimony, from between the two cherubims : and He spake unto him.

CHAP. VIII.

1 How the lamps are to be lighted.—5 The consecration of the Levites.—23 Age and time of their service.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Speak unto Aaron, and say unto him, When thou lightest the lamps, the seven lamps shall give light over against the candlestick.

3 And

God, when in the fulness of time the Word should be made flesh, and speak in the language of the sons of men. That he who spake to Moses was the eternal Word, was the belief of many of the ancients. For all God's communion with man is by his Son, who is the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Verse 2. Shall give light over against the candlestick.] Rather, shall shine from before the face of the candlestick ; shall lighten every part of the room where the candlestick was placed : the sanctuary had no windows, therefore all the lights proceeded from the lamps placed on the candlestick.

7. Water

3 And Aaron did so: he lighted the lamps thereof over against the candlestick; as the LORD commanded Moses.

4 And this work of the candlestick was of beaten gold; unto the shaft thereof, unto the flowers thereof, was beaten work: according unto the pattern which the LORD had shewed Moses, so he made the candlestick.

5 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

6 Take the Levites from among the children of Israel, and cleanse them.

7 And thus shalt thou do unto them, to cleanse them: Sprinkle water of purifying upon them, and let them shave all their flesh, and let them wash their clothes, and so make themselves clean.

8 Then let them take a young bullock with his meat-offering, even fine flour mingled with oil, and another young bullock shalt thou take for a sin-offering.

9 And thou shalt bring the Levites before the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou shalt gather the whole assembly of the children of Israel together:

10 And thou shalt bring the Levites before the LORD, and the children of Israel shall put their hands upon the Levites:

11 And Aaron shall offer the Levites before the LORD, for an offering of the children of Israel; that they may execute the service of the LORD.

12 And the Levites shall lay their hands upon the heads of the bullocks: and thou shalt offer the one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, unto the LORD, to make an atonement for the Levites.

13 And thou shalt set the Levites before Aaron and before his sons, and offer them for an offering unto the LORD.

14 Thus shalt thou separate the Levites from among the children of Israel: and the Levites shall be mine.

15 And after that shall the Levites go in, to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou shalt cleanse them, and offer them for an offering.

16 For they are wholly given unto me from among the children of Israel; instead of such as open every womb, even instead of the first-born of all the children of Israel, have I taken them unto me.

17 For all the first-born of the children of Israel are mine, both man and beast: on the day that I smote every first-born in the land of Egypt, I sanctified them for myself.

18 And I have taken the Levites for all the first-born of the children of Israel.

19 And I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron, and to his sons, from among the children of Israel, to do the service of the children of Israel in the tabernacle of the congregation, and to make an atonement for the children of Israel: that there be no plague among the children of Israel, when the children of Israel come nigh unto the sanctuary.

20 And Moses and Aaron, and all the congregation of the children of Israel, did to the Levites according unto all that the LORD commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so did the children of Israel unto them.

21 And the Levites were purified, and they washed their clothes: and Aaron offered them as an offering before the LORD; and Aaron made an atonement for them, to cleanse them.

22 And after that went the Levites in to do their service in the tabernacle of the congregation before Aaron and before his sons: as the LORD had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so did they unto them.

23 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

24 This is it that belongeth unto the Levites: from twenty and five years old, and upward, they shall go in to wait upon the service of the tabernacle of the congregation:

25 And from the age of fifty years they shall cease waiting upon the service thereof, and shall serve no more:

26 But shall minister with their brethren in the tabernacle of the congregation, to keep the charge, and shall do no service. Thus shalt thou do unto the Levites touching their charge.

CHAP. IX.

2 The passover commanded again.—6 A second passover for the unclean or absent.—15 The cloud guideth the removings and encampings of the Israelites.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

2 Let the children of Israel also keep the passover at his appointed season.

3 In the fourteenth day of this month, at even, ye shall keep it in his appointed season: according to all the rites of it, and according to all the ceremonies thereof, shall ye keep it.

4 And Moses spake unto the children of Israel, that they should keep the passover.

5 And they kept the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month at even, in the wilderness of Sinai: according to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so did the children of Israel.

6 ¶ And there were certain men, who were defiled by the dead body of a man, that they could not keep the passover on that day: and they came before Moses and before Aaron on that day.

7 And those men said unto him, We are defiled by the dead body of a man: wherefore are we kept back, that we may not offer an offering of the LORD in his appointed season among the children of Israel?

8 And Moses said unto them, Stand still, and I will hear what the LORD will command concerning you.

9 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If any man of you, or of your posterity, shall be unclean by reason of a dead body, or be in a journey afar off, yet he shall keep the passover unto the LORD.

11 The fourteenth day of the second month at even they shall keep it, and eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

Put their hands, &c.] Whereby they signified transferring of that right of ministering to God from the first-born, in whose hands it formerly was, unto the Levites.

11. Aaron shall offer, &c.] Heb. Shall wave the Levites for a wave-offering. Le Clerc conjectures, that they were only presented before God at the altar, or went round about the altar at Aaron's command; for the word often signifies to offer in general.

13. And offer them;] i. e. After having offered them.

15. Thou shalt cleanse them;] i. e. After thou hast cleansed them.

22. And after that went the Levites, &c.] After every thing had been done according to the Lord's command, relative to their consecration, they entered upon their service as inferior attendants upon the priests.

24, 25. From twenty and five years old, &c.] See note 1. chap. 4. After fifty years of age they were to leave their laborious work, and return to their temple service under the priests.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 1. And the Lord spake, &c.] Moses here relates a matter which had happened long before the numbering of the people, or the consecration of the Levites; and therefore it should be read, "The Lord hath spoken."

2. Let the children of Israel also keep the passover, &c.] We find in Exod. 12. 25. an order for observing this religious duty when they "came to the promised land;" they might not therefore have thought of observing it in the wilderness, had it not thus been mentioned.

5. They kept the passover, &c.] According to all the rites and ceremonies mentioned, Exod. 12. which shews, that they had plenty of flocks and herds with them. Some are of opinion, that they purchased them from the neighbouring Arabians and Ishmaelites.

7. And those men said unto him, &c.] They appealed to him to know if there were any remedy for them, which might exempt them from the sentence of the law, mentioned Lev. 7. 20.

10. If any man—be unclean by reason of a dead body, &c.] The same is to be understood of all other cases of legal uncleanness.

12 They shall leave none of it unto the morning, nor break any bone of it: according to all the ordinances of the passover they shall keep it.

13 But the man that is clean, and is not in a journey, and forbeareth to keep the passover, even the same soul shall be cut off from among his people: because he brought not the offering of the LORD in his appointed season, that man shall bear his sin.

14 And if a stranger shall sojourn among you, and will keep the passover unto the LORD; according to the ordinance of the passover, and according to the manner thereof, so shall he do: ye shall have one ordinance, both for the stranger and for him that was born in the land.

15 ¶ And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, namely, the tent of the testimony: and at even there was upon the tabernacle as it were the appearance of fire, until the morning.

16 So it was alway: the cloud covered it by day, and the appearance of fire by night.

17 And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle, then after that the children of Israel journeyed: and in the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Israel pitched their tents.

18 At the commandment of the LORD the children of Israel journeyed, and at the commandment of the LORD they pitched: as long as the cloud abode upon the tabernacle they rested in their tents.

19 And when the cloud tarried long upon the tabernacle many days, then the children of Israel kept the charge of the LORD, and journeyed not.

20 And so it was, when the cloud was a few days upon the tabernacle: according to the commandment of the LORD they abode in their tents, and according to the commandment of the LORD they journeyed.

21 And so it was, when the cloud abode from even unto the morning, and that the cloud was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed: whether it was by day or by night that the cloud was taken up, they journeyed.

22 Or whether it were two days, or a month, or a year, that the cloud tarried upon the tabernacle, remaining thereon, the children of Israel abode in their tents, and journeyed not: but when it was taken up, they journeyed.

23 At the commandment of the LORD they rested in their tents, and at the commandment of the LORD they journeyed: they kept the charge of the LORD at the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

1 The use of the silver trumpets.—11 The Israelites remove from Sinai to Paran.—29 Hobab is entreated by Moses not to leave them.—33 The blessing of Moses at the removing and resting of the ark.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Make thee two trumpets of silver: of a whole piece shalt thou make them: that thou mayest use them for the calling of the assembly, and for the journeying of the camps.

14. A stranger;] To wit, a proselyte.

15. The tent of the testimony;] So called because of the ark, which contained the divine law or testimony, i. e. the ten commandments.

17—19. And when the cloud, &c.] All their motions were directed by this appearance; they remained in any one spot, according to the taking up, or suspension, of the cloud over them; they gave themselves up entirely to the Divine protection, as it was signified to them by Moses.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse 2. Two trumpets,] For Aaron's two sons; though afterwards the number of trumpets were much increased, as the number of the priests also was. See 2 Chron. 5. 12.

3. They;] i. e. The priests, by comparing this with ver. 8.

5. An alarm, &c.] The sounds were to be different for different occasions; the alarm was to be shrill and quick, the signal for a march.

8. The sons of Aaron—shall blow with the trumpets;] To oblige them to the greatest regard and observance, as if God himself had called them.

9. Ye shall be saved from your enemies.] If you use this ordinance of God with trust and dependence upon God for help; which condition is

3 And when they shall blow with them, all the assembly shall assemble themselves to thee at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 And if they blow but with one trumpet, then the princes, which are heads of the thousands of Israel, shall gather themselves unto thee.

5 When ye blow an alarm, then the camps that lie on the east parts shall go forward.

6 When ye blow an alarm the second time, then the camps that lie on the south side shall take their journey: they shall blow an alarm for their journeys.

7 But when the congregation is to be gathered together, ye shall blow, but ye shall not sound an alarm.

8 And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow with the trumpets; and they shall be to you for an ordinance for ever throughout your generations.

9 And if ye go to war in your land against the enemy that oppresseth you, then ye shall blow an alarm with the trumpets; and ye shall be remembered before the LORD your God, and ye shall be saved from your enemies.

10 Also in the day of your gladness, and in your solemn days, and in the beginnings of your months, ye shall blow with the trumpets over your burnt-offerings, and over the sacrifices of your peace-offerings; that they may be to you for a memorial before your God: I am the LORD your God.

11 ¶ And it came to pass on the twentieth day of the second month, in the second year, that the cloud was taken up from off the tabernacle of the testimony.

12 And the children of Israel took their journeys out of the wilderness of Sinai; and the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran.

13 And they first took their journey, according to the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

14 ¶ In the first place went the standard of the camp of the children of Judah, according to their armies: and over his host was Nahshon the son of Amminadab.

15 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Issachar, was Nethaneel the son of Zuar.

16 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, was Eliab the son of Helon.

17 And the tabernacle was taken down; and the sons of Gershon, and the sons of Merari, set forward, bearing the tabernacle.

18 ¶ And the standard of the camp of Reuben set forward according to their armies: and over his host was Elizur the son of Shedeur.

19 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Simeon, was Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

20 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Gad, was Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

21 And the Kohathites set forward, bearing the sanctuary; and the other did set up the tabernacle against they came.

22 ¶ And the standard of the camp of the children of Ephraim set forward, according to their armies: and over his host was Elishama the son of Ammihud.

23 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Manasseh was Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.

24 And necessarily to be understood from divers other scriptures, where it is expressed.

10. Days of your gladness:] i. e. Days appointed for rejoicing and thanksgiving to God.

12. And the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran.] Dr. Wells is of opinion, that the wilderness of Paran is taken in scripture, sometimes in a large, and sometimes in a stricter sense. In the latter it signified only that part of the desert of Arabia, between Hazareth on the west, and mount Seir on the east; but in the former it seems to have denoted all the desert lying between the wilderness of Shur, westward, towards Egypt, and mount Seir, or the land of Edom, eastward; between the land of Canaan northward, and Red Sea southward: in which sense it comprehended Kibroth-hattaavah and Hazareth; and in this sense Moses seems to have used it in this place, as also in Deut. 1. 19. When we departed from Horeb, we went through all that great and terrible wilderness, &c. that is, the wilderness of Paran.

13. According to the commandment, &c.] i. e. According to the directions given in chap. 2. first marched the tribe of Judah, with Issachar and Zebulun. The Levites then taking down the tabernacle, the two classes of Gershon and Merari followed next; and the rest according to the fore-mentioned orders.

29. Raguel,]

24 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, was Abidan the son of Gideoni.

25 ¶ And the standard of the camp of the children of Dan set forward, which was the re-re-ward of all the camps throughout their hosts: and over his host was Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.

26 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Asher, was Pagiel the son of Ocran.

27 And over the host of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, was Ahira the son of Enan.

28 Thus were the journeyings of the children of Israel according to their armies, when they set forward.

29 ¶ And Moses said unto Hobab, the son of Raguel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which the LORD said, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good: for the LORD hath spoken good concerning Israel.

30 And he said unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred.

31 And he said, Leave us not, I pray thee; forasmuch as thou knowest how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and thou mayest be to us instead of eyes.

32 And it shall be, if thou go with us, yea, it shall be, that what goodness the LORD shall do unto us, the same will we do unto thee.

33 ¶ And they departed from the mount of the LORD three days journey: and the ark of the covenant of the LORD went before them in the three days journey, to search out a resting place for them.

34 And the cloud of the LORD was upon them by day, when they went out of the camp.

35 And it came to pass, when the ark set forward, that Moses said, Rise up, LORD, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee.

36 And when it rested, he said, Return, O LORD, unto the many thousands of Israel.

2 The burning of Taberah quenched by Moses' prayer.—

4 The people lust for flesh, and lothe manna.—11 Moses complaineth of his charge.—16 God divideth his burden.—31 Quails are given at Kibroth-hattaavah.

AND when the people complained, it displeased the LORD: and the LORD heard it; and his anger was kindled; and the fire of the LORD burnt among them, and consumed them that were in the uttermost parts of the camp.

29. Raguel,] Called also Revel, Exod. 2. 18. who seems to be the same who is called Jethro, Exod. 3. 1. it being usual in scripture for one person to have two or three names. And therefore this Hobab is not Jethro, but his son; which may seem more probable, because Jethro was old, and unfit to travel, and desirous, as may well be thought, to die in his own country, whither he returned, Exod. 18. 27. but Hobab was young, and fitter for these journeys, and therefore entreated by Moses to stay and bear them company.

Moses' father-in-law.] Which words seem to belong to Raguel, or Revel, not to Hobab, though others are of another mind.

31. Thou mayest be to us instead of eyes,] To direct and guide us: for though the cloud determined them to a general place, yet many particulars might be uncertain and unknown to Moses, wherein Hobab, having long lived in those parts, might be able to advise him; as concerning the conveniences of water for their cattle, concerning the safety or danger of the several parts by reason of serpents or wild beasts, or enemies, in the parts adjoining to them, that so they might guard themselves better against them.

33. And the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before them.] The words may be thus literally translated; The ark of the Lord marched in their presence; the cloud was over it in the midst of the army, and conspicuous to their view.

To search out a resting-place:] To direct them in finding it out.

35, 36. Rise up, Lord: Return, O Lord, &c.] Moses might, with great reason, offer up his prayers to the Almighty in behalf of his people, knowing how unworthy they were of his countenance. This act of devotion might, likewise, have a good effect upon the people in general.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. And when the people complained:] When they began to mutter some complaints to themselves, but not openly to Moses. They grew weary of living on manna, ver. 4, 5. and desirous of a variety of food.

2 And the people cried unto Moses; and when Moses prayed unto the LORD, the fire was quenched.

3 And he called the name of the place Taberah: because the fire of the LORD burnt among them.

4 ¶ And the mixed multitude that was among them fell a lusting: and the children of Israel also wept again, and said, Who shall give us flesh to eat?

5 We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlick:

6 But now our soul is dried away; there is nothing at all, besides this manna, before our eyes.

7 And the manna was as coriander-seed, and the colour thereof as the colour of bdellium.

8 And the people went about, and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it: and the taste of it was as the taste of fresh oil.

9 And when the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell upon it.

10 ¶ Then Moses heard the people weep throughout their families, every man in the door of his tent: and the anger of the LORD was kindled greatly; Moses also was displeased.

11 And Moses said unto the LORD, Wherefore hast thou afflicted thy servant? and wherefore have I not found favour in thy sight, that thou layest the burden of all this people upon me?

12 Have I conceived all this people? have I begotten them, that thou shouldest say unto me, Carry them in thy bosom, as a nursing father beareth the sucking child, unto the land which thou swarest unto their fathers?

13 Whence should I have flesh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, saying, Give us flesh, that we may eat.

14 I am not able to bear all this people alone, because it is too heavy for me.

15 And if thou deal thus with me, kill me, I pray thee, out of hand, if I have found favour in thy sight; and let me not see my wretchedness.

16 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Gather unto me seventy men of the elders of Israel, whom thou knowest to be the elders of the people, and officers over them; and bring them unto the tabernacle of the congregation, that they may stand there with thee.

17 And I will come down and talk with thee there: and I will take of the spirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them: and they shall bear the burden of

The fire of the Lord:] i. e. A fire sent from God in an extraordinary manner.

In the uttermost parts of the camp:] Either because the sin began there among the mixed multitude, who probably had their place there, or among those who were feeble and weary with their last journey, and therefore hindmost in the march.

4. The mixed multitude,] Consisting of Egyptians, or other people, which being affected with God's miraculous works in Egypt, and thereupon believing the promise of God to carry them to a land of milk and honey, for their own advantage joined themselves to the Israelites, Exod. 12. 38.

The children of Israel—wept again.] This relates, either to their former murmuring upon this occasion a twelve-month before, Exod. 16. 2. or rather to their complaining, mentioned ver. 1. to denote the aggravation of their sin, that having just now sinned in the same kind, and sorely smarted for their sin, and being but newly delivered from their fears and dangers caused thereby, they forthwith murmur again, and that more passionately than before, expressing themselves in tears and bitter words.

Flesh.] This word is here taken generally, so as to include fish, as the next words shew.

6. Our soul is dried away, &c.] We might almost translate these words, "we have no indulgencies;" for the word (nepheson) the soul, is sometimes put for the "animal passions and appetites." It is translated lust in Psa. 78. 18, &c.

11. Wherefore have I not found favour in thy sight?] Why didst thou not hear my prayer, when I desired thou wouldst excuse me, and commit the care and government of this unruly people to some other person? See Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 10.

16. Whom thou knowest to be the elders of the people.] Whom thou by experience discernest to be elders, not only in years, and name, and place, but also in wisdom and gravity, and authority with the people.

17. I will take of the spirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them.]

of the people with thee, that thou bear it not thyself alone.

18 And say thou unto the people, Sanctify yourselves against to-morrow, and ye shall eat flesh: for ye have wept in the ears of the LORD, saying, Who shall give us flesh to eat? for it was well with us in Egypt: therefore the LORD will give you flesh, and ye shall eat.

19 Ye shall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, neither ten days, nor twenty days;

20 But even a whole month, until it come out at your nostrils, and it be loathsome unto you; because that ye have despised the LORD which is among you, and have wept before him, saying, Why came we forth out of Egypt?

21 And Moses said, The people among whom I am, are six hundred thousand footmen; and thou hast said, I will give them flesh, that they may eat a whole month.

22 Shall the flocks and the herds be slain for them, to suffice them? or shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them, to suffice them?

23 And the LORD said unto Moses, Is the LORD's hand waxed short? thou shalt see now whether my word shall come to pass unto thee, or not.

24 ¶ And Moses went out, and told the people the words of the LORD, and gathered the seventy men of the elders of the people, and set them round about the tabernacle.

25 And the LORD came down in a cloud, and spake unto him, and took of the spirit that was upon him, and gave it unto the seventy elders: and it came to pass, that when the spirit rested upon them, they prophesied, and did not cease.

26 But there remained two of the men in the camp, the name of the one was Eldad, and the name of the other Medad: and the spirit rested upon them, (and they were of them that were written, but went not out unto the tabernacle:) and they prophesied in the camp.

27 And there ran a young man, and told Moses, and said, Eldad and Medad do prophesy in the camp.

28 And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of Moses, one of his young men, answered, and said, My lord Moses, forbid them.

29 And Moses said unto him, Enviest thou for my sake? would God that all the LORD's people were prophets, and that the LORD would put his spirit upon them.

them.] i. e. I will give the same spirit to them which I have given to thee. The spirit is here put for the gifts of the spirit, as it is Numb. 27. 18. Joel 2. 28. John 7. 39. Acts 19. 2, 6. 1 Cor. 14. 12, 32. and particularly for the spirit of prophecy, ver. 23. whereby they were enabled, as Moses had been and still was, to discern hidden and future things, and resolve doubtful and difficult cases, which made them fit for government.

22. All the fish of the sea;] Not of the ocean in general, for that would be too great an hyperbole; but of the Red Sea, which was not far from them.

25. They prophesied;] i. e. Discoursed of the word and works of God in a singular and marvellous manner, as the prophets did. So this word is used, 1 Sam. 10. 5, 6. Joel 2. 28. Acts 2. 17. 1 Cor. 14. 3.

Did not cease;] Either for that day, because they continued in that exercise all that day, and, it may be, all the night too, as it is said of Saul, 1 Sam. 19. 24. or also afterwards, to denote that this was a continued gift conferred upon them, to enable them the better to discharge their magistracy; which was more expedient for them than for the rulers of other people, because the Jews were under a theocracy, or the government of God, and even their civil controversies were decided out of that word of God which the prophets expounded, and in their wilderness-condition they had frequent occasions of seeking counsel from God, which was the work of prophets, and they were to determine all things agreeably to the mind and will of God, which therefore they were obliged to study.

26. There remained two of the men in the camp;] Not going to the tabernacle, as the rest did; either modestly declining that high employment from an humble sense of their own insufficiency, as Saul did, 1 Sam. 10. 22. or not having sufficient or seasonable notice to repair thither; or, being detained in the camp and in their dwellings either by uncleanness, or sickness, or some urgent occasion, not without God's special providence, that so the miracle might be more evident, and their call and authority more unquestionable to all the people.

28. My lord Moses, forbid them;] He feared either schism or sedition, or that, by their usurpation of authority independently upon Moses, and separately from him, his power and esteem might be lessened.

31. And there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought quails from the sea;] By the sea is meant the Red Sea, which was at no great dis-

30 And Moses gat him into the camp, he and the elders of Israel.

31 ¶ And there went forth a wind from the LORD, and brought quails from the sea, and let them fall by the camp, as it were a day's journey on this side, and as it were a day's journey on the other side, round about the camp, and as it were two cubits high upon the face of the earth.

32 And the people stood up all that day, and all that night, and all the next day, and they gathered the quails: he that gathered least gathered ten homers: and they spread them all abroad for themselves round about the camp.

33 And while the flesh was yet between their teeth, ere it was chewed, the wrath of the LORD was kindled against the people, and the LORD smote the people with a very great plague.

34 And he called the name of that place Kibroth-hattaavah: because there they buried the people that husted.

35 And the people journeyed from Kibroth-hattaavah unto Hazeroth: and abode at Hazeroth.

CHAP. XII.

1 God rebuketh the sedition of Miriam and Aaron.—10 Miriam's leprosy.—14 God commandeth her to be shut out of the host.

AND Miriam and Aaron spake against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married: for he had married an Ethiopian woman.

2 And they said, Hath the LORD indeed spoken only by Moses? hath he not spoken also by us? And the LORD heard it.

3 (Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth.)

4 And the LORD spake suddenly unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, Come out ye three unto the tabernacle of the congregation. And they three came out.

5 And the LORD came down in the pillar of the cloud, and stood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam: and they both came forth.

6 And he said, Hear now my words: If there be a prophet among you, I the LORD will make myself known tance from the camp of Israel; and the wind is said to be from the Lord, because it was ordered and directed by his special power and providence.

32. Ten homers.] The word homer, in this place, is probably intended only to employ a large quantity in general.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 1. Miriam and Aaron.] Miriam seems to be first named, because she was the chief instigator or first mover of the sedition; wherefore she also is more eminently punished.

Ethiopian woman;] Which was either, 1. Zipporah, who is here called an Ethiopian, in the Hebrew a Cushite, because she was a Midianite: the word Cush being generally used in scripture, not for Ethiopia properly so called, below Egypt, but for Arabia. If she be meant, it is probable they did not quarrel with him for marrying her, because that was done long since, but for being swayed by her and her relations, by whom they might think he was persuaded to make this innovation, and to choose seventy rulers, as he had done formerly, Exod. 18. by which co-partnership in government they thought their authority and reputation diminished. Or. 2. Some other woman, though not named in scripture, whom he married, either whilst Zipporah lived, or rather because she was now dead; though that, as many other things, be not recorded: for as the quarrel seems to be about his marrying a stranger, so it is probable it was a late and fresh occasion about which they contended, and not a thing done forty years ago.

3. The man Moses was very meek, &c.] Quest. Did it become Moses thus to commend himself? Ans. The holy penmen of scripture are not to be measured or censured by profane writers, because they are guided by special instinct in every thing they write; and as they oft-times publish their own and their near relations' greatest faults, where it may be useful to the honour of God, and the edification of the church in after ages, so it is not strange if, for the same reason, sometimes they commend themselves, especially when they are forced to it by the insolence and contempt of their adversaries, which was Moses' case here; in which case St. Paul also commends himself, 2 Cor. 11. 5, &c. and 12. 11, 12. Or, probably this commendation was added, as some other clauses were, by some succeeding prophets.

6. In a vision;] Whereby God represents things to the mind of a prophet when he is awake, as Gen. 15. 1. and 46. 2 Dan. 8. 18.

known unto him in a vision, and will speak unto him in a dream.

7 My servant Moses is not so, who is faithful in all mine house.

8 With him will I speak mouth to mouth, even apparently, and not in dark speeches; and the similitude of the LORD shall he behold: wherefore then were ye not afraid to speak against my servant Moses?

9 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against them; and he departed.

10 And the cloud departed from off the tabernacle; and, behold, Miriam became leprous, white as snow: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and, behold, she was leprous.

11 And Aaron said unto Moses, Alas, my lord, I beseech thee, lay not the sin upon us, wherein we have done foolishly, and wherein we have sinned.

12 Let her not be as one dead, of whom the flesh is half consumed when he cometh out of his mother's womb.

13 And Moses cried unto the LORD, saying, Heal her now, O God, I beseech thee.

14 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, If her father had but spit in her face, should she not be ashamed seven days? let her be shut out from the camp seven days, and after that let her be received in again.

15 And Miriam was shut out from the camp seven days, and the people journeyed not till Miriam was brought in again.

16 And afterward the people removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wilderness of Paran.

CHAP. XIII.

4 The names of the men sent to search the land.—17 Their instructions.—21 Their acts.—26 Their relation.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Send thou men, that they may search the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel: of every tribe of their fathers shall ye send a man, every one a ruler among them.

3 And Moses, by the commandment of the LORD, sent them from the wilderness of Paran: all those men were heads of the children of Israel.

4 And these were their names: of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur.

5 Of the tribe of Simeon, Saphat the son of Hori.

6 Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

7 Of the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph.

8 Of the tribe of Ephraim, Oshea the son of Nun.

9 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Phalti the son of Raphu.

7. Who is faithful in all mine house;] i. e. My church and people; and who hath discharged his office faithfully, and not partially and self-seekingly, as you falsely accuse him.

8. With him will I speak mouth to mouth;] i. e. Distinctly, by an articulate voice; immediately and familiarly, not by an interpreter.

Apparently;] Plainly and certainly.

Not in dark speeches;] Not in parables, similitudes, riddles, dark resemblances; as by shewing a boiling pot, an almond tree, &c. to Jeremiah; or a chariot with wheels, &c. to Ezekiel.

10. And the cloud departed from the tabernacle.] It stood at a great distance from them, till Miriam was removed from the tabernacle, and carried out of the camp.

Miriam became leprous;] She, and not Aaron, either because she was first or chief in the transgression; or because God would not have his worship either interrupted or dishonoured, which it must have been if Aaron had been leprous.

11. Lay not the sin upon us;] Let not the guilt and punishment of this sin rest upon us; upon her in this kind, upon me in any other kind; but pray to God for the pardon and removal of it.

14. If her father had spit in her face;] i. e. Expressed some eminent token of indignation and contempt, which this was, Job 30. 10.

15. Brought in again;] i. e. Restored to the community. Nothing is here said of the usual sacrifices and atonements, because this being a supernatural affliction, she was, probably, healed by the same extraordinary means; the people, in the mean time, remaining in their stations, out of respect to the quality and rank of the offender; whose health being now restored, they continued their journeys.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 2. Send thou men.] It appears, from Deut. 1. 22. that the people first requested that spies should be sent, and this out of a diffidence of God's promise, as is probable from the story following; and consequently this command is only in compliance to their humour.

No. 11.

10 Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the son of Sodi.

11 Of the tribe of Joseph, namely, of the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddai the son of Susi.

12 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli.

13 Of the tribe of Asher, Sethur the son of Michael.

14 Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vophsi.

15 Of the tribe of Gad, Geuel the son of Machi.

16 These are the names of the men which Moses sent to spy out the land. And Moses called Oshea the son of Nun, Jehoshua.

17 ¶ And Moses sent them to spy out the land of Canaan, and said unto them, Get ye up this way southward, and go up into the mountain:

18 And see the land, what it is; and the people that dwelleth therein, whether they be strong or weak, few or many:

19 And what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad; and what cities they be that they dwell in, whether in tents, or in strong holds;

20 And what the land is, whether it be fat or lean, whether there be wood therein or not. And be ye of good courage, and bring of the fruit of the land. Now the time was the time of the first-ripe grapes.

21 ¶ So they went up, and searched the land, from the wilderness of Zin unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath.

22 And they ascended by the south, and came unto Hebron; where Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmi, the children of Anak, were. (Now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.)

23 And they came unto the brook of Eshchol, and cut down from thence a branch with one cluster of grapes, and they bare it between two upon a staff; and they brought of the pomegranates, and of the figs.

24 The place was called the brook Eshchol, because of the cluster of grapes which the children of Israel cut down from thence.

25 And they returned from searching of the land after forty days.

26 ¶ And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh; and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and shewed them the fruit of the land.

27 And they told him, and said, We came unto the land whither thou sentest us, and surely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it:

28 Nevertheless, the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great: and moreover, we saw the children of Anak there.

29 The

16. And Moses called Oshea—Jehoshua.] We find him called Joshua, Exod. 17. 9. when he went to fight the Amalekites. The word is of the same import with Jesus, (i. e. a Saviour;) and therefore in the Septuagint translation he is more than once called by that name.

17. Into the mountain;] i. e. Into the mountainous country, and thence into the valleys, and so take an exact survey of the whole land.

19. Whether in tents or in strong holds.] The words may be better translated, as in the Vulgate and Septuagint, Whether in cities with or without walls.

21. From the wilderness of Zin,] In the south of Canaan, Numb. 34. 3. Josh. 15. 3. differing from the wilderness of Sin, which was nigh unto Egypt, Exod. 16. 1.

Unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath;] i. e. From the south they passed through the whole land, even to the northern part of it.

22. And came;] Heb. He came, to wit, Caleb, as appears from Josh. 14. 9, 12, 14. for it is probable that the spies distributed their work among them, and went, either severally, or in small parties; and, it seems, the survey of this part was left to Caleb.

Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.] This seems to be noted to confront the Egyptians, who vainly boasted of the antiquity of their city Zoan above all places.

23. They bare it between two upon a staff;] Either for the weight of it, considering the length of the way they were to carry it, or for the preservation of it whole and entire. In those eastern and southern countries there are vines and grapes of an extraordinary size, as Strabo and Pliny affirm.

26. To Kadesh;] So called by way of abbreviation, (which is frequent in Hebrew names) for Kadesh-barnea.

28. The children of Anak;] A gigantic race of men, who had their name from Anak their founder, and were so terrible to their neighbours, that it became a proverbial saying among them, Who can stand before the children of Anak?

29. The

29 The Amalekites dwell in the land of the south: and the Hittites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites, dwell in the mountains: and the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and by the coast of Jordan.

30 And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it.

31 But the men that went up with him said, We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we.

32 And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, through which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of a great stature.

33 And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants: and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The people murmuring at the news,—6 Joshua and Caleb labour to still them.—11 God threateneth them.—13 Moses obtaineth pardon.—26 The murmurers are deprived of entering into the land.—36 The men who raised the evil report die by a plague.—40 The people smitten.

AND all the congregation lifted up their voice, and cried; and the people wept that night.

2 And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron: and the whole congregation said unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt! or would God we had died in this wilderness!

3 And wherefore hath the LORD brought us unto this land, to fall by the sword, that our wives and our children should be a prey; where it not better for us to return into Egypt?

4 And they said one to another, Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt.

5 Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the assembly of the congregation of the children of Israel.

6 ¶ And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, which were of them that searched the land, rent their clothes:

29. The Amalekites dwell in the land of the south;] Where we are to enter the land; and they who were so eager and fierce against us, that they came into the wilderness to fight with us, will without doubt oppose us when we come close by their land, and are about to settle in their neighbourhood.

The Hittites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites, dwell in the mountains,] i. e. In the mountainous country in the south-east part of the land; so that you cannot enter there without great difficulty, both because of the noted strength and valour of those people, and because of the advantage they have from the mountains.

30. Caleb,] Together with Joshua, as is manifest from Numb. 14. 6, 7. Let us go up at once and possess it.] He does not say, Let us go up and conquer it. He looks upon that to be as good as done already: but, Let us go up, and possess it!—There is nothing to be done, but to enter without delay, and take the possession which our great Lord is now ready to give us! Thus difficulties that lie in the way of salvation vanish away before a lively faith.

We are well able to overcome it;] Partly in moral probability, because we are one people united under one head, whereas they are divided into several nations and governments of different counsels, and interests, and inclinations; and principally because of the assistance of the Almighty God.

32. A land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof.] This expression seems to denote that the inhabitants were so very numerous, that the land was but just sufficient to maintain them: for the words literally run thus; the land is meat for its own inhabitants. Thus they represent them terrible, both for their number and strength.

33. And there we saw the giants, &c.] In the sixth chapter of Genesis, the word nephilim, or giants, occurs; and it is thought, by most learned men, to signify men of violence and rapine; but here it is not improbable, that the signification may be, that they were a race of gigantic people, so much is said by the Israelites in regard to their bodily strength.

7 And they spake unto all the company of the children of Israel, saying, The land which we passed through to search it is an exceeding good land.

8 If the LORD delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey.

9 Only rebel not ye against the LORD, neither fear ye the people of the land: for they are bread for us: their defence is departed from them, and the LORD is with us: fear them not.

10 But all the congregation bade stone them with stones: and the glory of the LORD appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation before all the children of Israel.

11 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be ere they believe me, for all the signs which I have shewed among them?

12 I will smite them with the pestilence, and disinherit them, and will make of thee a greater nation, and mightier than they.

13 ¶ And Moses said unto the LORD, Then the Egyptians shall hear it, (for thou broughtest up this people in thy might from among them;)

14 And they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land: for they have heard that thou, LORD, art among this people, that thou, LORD, art seen face to face, and that thy cloud standeth over them, and that thou goest before them, by day-time in a pillar of a cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night.

15 Now if thou shalt kill all this people as one man, then the nations which have heard the fame of thee will speak, saying,

16 Because the LORD was not able to bring this people into the land which he swore unto them, therefore he hath slain them in the wilderness.

17 And now, I beseech thee, let the power of my LORD be great, according as thou hast spoken, saying,

18 The LORD is long-suffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression, and by no means clearing the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation.

19 Pardon, I beseech thee, the iniquity of this people according unto the greatness of thy mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this people, from Egypt even until now.

20 And the LORD said, I have pardoned according to thy word.

4. Let us make a captain.] This was but a purpose or a desire, and yet it is imputed to them as if they had done it, Nehem. 9. 16, 17. they appointed a captain, &c. even as Abraham's purpose to offer up Isaac, for the deed, Heb. 11. 17.

5. Moses and Aaron fell on their faces,] As humble and earnest supplicants, either to the people, to intreat them to desist from their wicked and pernicious enterprise; or rather, to God, by comparing this with Numb. 16. 4. and 20. 6. who alone was able to still and govern this tumultuous and stiff-necked people.

9. They are bread for us;] i. e. An easy prey for us. See chap. 24. 8. Psa. 14. 4.

Their defence is departed from them, &c.] i. e. The Canaanites having filled up the measure of their iniquities, the divine protection is withdrawn from them, and by the tenor of God's covenant is insured to us, if we do not forfeit it by our unreasonable ingratitude and infidelity.

10. In the tabernacle,] i. e. On or above the tabernacle.

12. I will smite them—and disinherit them.] This was not an absolute determination, as the event shewed, but only a conditional threatening.

13. And Moses said, &c.] This favoured servant of God now shews a very becoming zeal for the glory of his Lord, and the honour of his people.

14. Art seen face to face, &c.] This may signify, either by figure, the very plain manifestation of God's protection, or that the similitude of Jehovah actually appeared.

17. Let the power of my Lord be great:] i. e. Let the power of thy mercy be magnified in bearing with an ungrateful people, and in pardoning this and their other sins; which sense agrees best with what follows.

18. And by no means clearing the guilty.] The word guilty is not in the original; and, being directly opposite to the intention of Moses' petition, the passage might be better rendered as follows: Who will not make quite desolate, though he visit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, &c.

20. I have pardoned according to thy word;] So far as not to extirpate them entirely by present death.

21 But as truly as I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD.

22 Because all those men which have seen my glory, and my miracles, which I did in Egypt and in the wilderness, have tempted me now these ten times, and have not hearkened to my voice;

23 Surely they shall not see the land which I swore unto their fathers, neither shall any of them that provoked me see it:

24 But my servant Caleb, because he had another spirit with him, and hath followed me fully, him will I bring into the land whereinto he went; and his seed shall possess it.

25 Now the Amalekites, and the Canaanites dwelt in the valley.) To-morrow turn you, and get you into the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.

26 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

27 How long shall I bear with this evil congregation, which murmur against me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel, which they murmur against me.

28 Say unto them, As truly as I live, saith the LORD, as ye have spoken in mine ears, so will I do to you:

29 Your carcases shall fall in this wilderness: and all that were numbered of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, which have murmured against me,

30 Doubtless ye shall not come into the land concerning which I swore to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

31 But your little ones, which ye said should be a prey, them will I bring in, and they shall know the land which ye have despised.

32 But as for you, your carcases they shall fall in this wilderness,

33 And your children shall wander in the wilderness forty years, and bear your whoredoms, until your carcases be wasted in the wilderness.

34 After the number of the days in which ye searched the land, even forty days (each day for a year) shall ye bear your iniquities, even forty years, and ye shall know my breach of promise.

35 I the LORD have said, I will surely do it unto all this evil congregation, that are gathered together against me: in this wilderness they shall be consumed, and there they shall die.

36 And the men which Moses sent to search the land, who returned, and made all the congregation to murmur against him, by bringing up a slander upon the land,

37 Even those men that did bring up the evil report upon the land, died by the plague before the LORD.

38 But Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, which were of the men that went to search the land, lived still.

39 And Moses told these sayings unto all the children of Israel: and the people mourned greatly.

40 ¶ And they rose up early in the morning, and gat them up into the top of the mountain, saying, Lo, we be here, and will go up unto the place which the LORD hath promised: for we have sinned.

41 And Moses said, Wherefore now do ye transgress the commandment of the LORD? but it shall not prosper.

42 Go not up, for the LORD is not among you, that ye be not smitten before your enemies.

43 For the Amalekites and the Canaanites are there before you, and ye shall fall by the sword: because ye are turned away from the LORD, therefore the LORD will not be with you.

44 But they presumed to go up unto the hill-top: nevertheless, the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and Moses, departed not out of the camp.

45 Then the Amalekites came down, and the Canaanites which dwelt in that hill, and smote them, and discomfited them, even unto Hormah.

CHAP. XV.

1 The law of the meat and drink-offering.—13 The stranger is under the same law.—17 The law of the first of the dough.—22 The sacrifice for sins of ignorance.—30 The punishment of presumption.—32 He that violated the sabbath is stoned.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye be come into the land of your habitations, which I give unto you,

3 And will make an offering by fire unto the LORD, a burnt-offering, or a sacrifice, in performing a vow, or in a free-will-offering, or in your solemn feasts, to make a sweet savour unto the LORD, of the herd, or of the flock:

4 Then shall he that offereth his offering unto the LORD bring a meat-offering of a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of oil.

5 And the fourth part of an hin of wine, for a drink-offering, shalt thou prepare with the burnt-offering or sacrifice, for one lamb.

6 Or for a ram, thou shalt prepare for a meat-offering, two tenth-deals of flour mingled with the third part of an hin of oil.

7 And for a drink-offering, thou shalt offer the third part of an hin of wine, for a sweet savour unto the LORD.

8 And when thou preparest a bullock for a burnt-offering, or for a sacrifice in performing a vow, or peace-offerings unto the LORD:

9 Then shall he bring with a bullock a meat-offering of three tenth-deals of flour mingled with half an hin of oil.

10 And thou shalt bring for a drink-offering half an hin of wine, for an offering made by fire for a sweet savour unto the LORD;

11 Thus shall it be done for one bullock, or for one ram, or for a lamb, or a kid.

12 According to the number that ye shall prepare, so shall ye do to every one according to their number.

13 All that are born of the country, shall do these things after this manner, in offering an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

14 And if a stranger sojourn with you, or whosoever be among you in your generations, and will offer an offering made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD; as ye do, so he shall do.

15 One ordinance shall be both for you of the congregation, and also for the stranger that sojourneth with you, an ordinance for ever in your generations: as ye are, so shall the stranger be before the LORD.

16 One

21. With the glory of the Lord;] i. e. With the report of the glorious and righteous acts of God in punishing this rebellious people in the manner following.

22. Ten times;] i. e. Very often. Ten is put for an indefinite number.

24. But my servant Caleb, &c.] From his trusting in God, he was promised a sure reward in preference to all the host of Israel, who had forfeited their claim to God's favour and protection.

30. I swear to make you;] i. e. Your nation; for God did not swear to do so to these particular persons.

33. Shall wander in the wilderness;] i. e. They shall live like the shepherds of Arabia, in tents, and removing from place to place, having no certain dwelling.

Your whoredoms;] i. e. The punishment of your whoredoms, to wit, of your apostasy from, and perfidiousness against the Lord, who was your husband, and had married you to himself.

34. Ye shall know my breach of promise.] That as you have first broken the covenant between you and me, so I will make it void on my part, by denying you the blessings promised in that covenant, and to be given to you in case of your obedience.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 1. And the Lord spake unto Moses, &c.] We cannot easily find, by any connection of this with the former chapter, when the following ordinances were given. Calmet supposes it to have happened near the end of their wanderings, and when the rebellious people mentioned in the last chapter were dead.

14. A stranger;] To wit, a proselyte, for such offerings were not accepted from others.

16 One law and one manner shall be for you, and for the stranger that sojourneth with you.

17 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

18 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come into the land whither I bring you,

19 Then it shall be, that when ye eat of the bread of the land, ye shall offer up an heave-offering unto the LORD.

20 Ye shall offer up a cake of the first of your dough for an heave-offering: as ye do the heave-offering of the threshing floor, so shall ye heave it.

21 Of the first of your dough ye shall give unto the LORD, an heave-offering in your generations.

22 ¶ And if ye have erred, and not observed all these commandments which the LORD hath spoken unto Moses,

23 Even all that the LORD hath commanded you by the hand of Moses, from the day that the LORD commanded Moses, and henceforward among your generations;

24 Then it shall be, if ought be committed by ignorance without the knowledge of the congregation, that all the congregation shall offer one young bullock for a burnt-offering, for a sweet savour unto the LORD, with his meat-offering, and his drink-offering, according to the manner, and one kid of the goats for a sin-offering.

25 And the priest shall make an atonement for all the congregation of the children of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them; for it is ignorance: and they shall bring their offering, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD, and their sin-offering before the LORD, for their ignorance:

26 And it shall be forgiven all the congregation of the children of Israel, and the stranger that sojourneth among them: seeing all the people were in ignorance:

27 ¶ And if any soul sin through ignorance, then he shall bring a she-goat of the first year for a sin-offering.

28 And the priest shall make an atonement for the soul that sinneth ignorantly, when he sinneth by ignorance before the LORD, to make an atonement for him; and it shall be forgiven him.

29 Ye shall have one law for him that sinneth through ignorance, both for him that is born among the children of Israel, and for the stranger that sojourneth among them.

30 ¶ But the soul that doth ought presumptuously, whether he be born in the land, or a stranger, the same reproacheth the LORD; and that soul shall be cut off from among his people.

31 Because he hath despised the word of the LORD, and hath broken his commandment, that soul shall utterly be cut off; his iniquity shall be upon him.

32 ¶ And while the children of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man that gathered sticks upon the sabbath-day.

33 And they that found him gathering sticks brought him unto Moses and Aaron, and unto all the congregation.

34 And they put him in ward, because it was not declared what should be done to him.

35 And the LORD said unto Moses, The man shall be surely put to death: all the congregation shall stone him with stones without the camp.

36 And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and stoned him with stones, and he died; as the LORD commanded Moses.

37 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

38 Speak unto the children of Israel, and bid them that they make them fringes in the borders of their garments throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband of blue.

39 And it shall be unto you for a fringe, that ye may look upon it, and remember all the commandments of the LORD, and do them; and that ye seek not after your own heart, and your own eyes, after which ye use to go a whoring:

40 That ye may remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God.

41 I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the LORD your God.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The rebellion of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.—28 Moses separateth the people.—31 The earth swalloweth up Korah, and a fire consumeth others.—36 The censers are reserved to holy use.—41 Many slain by a plague for murmuring.—46 Aaron by incense stayeth the plague.

NOW Korah, the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, and Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, and On, the son of Peleth, sons of Reuben, took men:

2 And they rose up before Moses, with certain of the children of Israel, two hundred and fifty princes of the assembly, famous in the congregation, men of renown:

3 And they gathered themselves together against Moses and against Aaron, and said unto them, Ye take too much upon you, seeing all the congregation are holy, every one of them, and the LORD is among them: wherefore then lift up yourselves above the congregation of the LORD?

4 And when Moses heard it, he fell upon his face.

5 And he spake unto Korah, and unto all his company, saying, Even to-morrow the LORD will shew who are his, and who is holy; and will cause him to come near unto him: even him whom he hath chosen will he cause to come near unto him.

6 This do: Take you censers, Korah, and all his company;

7 And put fire therein, and put incense in them before the LORD to-morrow: and it shall be that the man whom the LORD doth choose, he shall be holy: ye take too much upon you, ye sons of Levi.

8 And Moses said unto Korah, Hear, I pray you, ye sons of Levi;

9 Seemeth it but a small thing unto you, that the God

19. When ye eat;] i. e. When you are about to eat it: for before they did eat it, they were to offer this offering to God.

32. A man that gathered sticks on the sabbath-day.] This seems to be added as an example of a presumptuous sin; for as the law of the sabbath was plain and positive, so this transgression of it must needs be a known and wilful sin.

34. What should be done unto him;] i. e. In what manner he was to be cut off, or by what kind of death he was to die, which therefore God here particularly determines: otherwise it was known in general, that sabbath-breakers were to be put to death, from Exod. 31. 14. and 35. 2.

39. That ye may look upon it, &c.] All the outward ceremonies of the Jews had reference to some inward virtue; and they required to be daily and hourly reminded of this duty, as appears by their so frequently deviating from it.

To go a whoring.] This expression is the usual phrase for idolatry, and we find it often made use of in scripture, Exod. 34. 15. Deut. 31. 16. Judg. 2. 17. It seems also to signify any sin to which men are violently inclined by sensual inclinations.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 1. The son of Izhar,] Amram's brother, Exod. 6. 18. therefore Moses, Aaron, and he, were cousin-germans. Moreover, Izhar was the second son of Kohath, whereas Elizaphan, whom Moses had preferred before him, and made prince or ruler of the Kohathites, Numb. 3. 30: was the son of Uzziel, the fourth son of Kohath. This, the Jewish writers say, made him discontented, which at last broke forth into sedition.

Sons of Reuben.] These are drawn into confederacy with Korah, partly because they were his next neighbours, both being encamped on the south-side, and therefore could easily communicate counsel; partly in hopes to recover their rights of primogeniture, in which the priesthood was comprehended, which was given away from their father.

3. Ye take too much upon you,] By perpetuating the priesthood in yourselves and families, with the exclusion of all others from it.

4. Fell upon his face,] In dread of the consequence of their impiety.

13. On

of Israel hath separated you from the congregation of Israel, to bring you near to himself, to do the service of the tabernacle of the LORD, and to stand before the congregation to minister unto them?

10 And he hath brought thee near to him, and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee: and seek ye the priesthood also?

11 For which cause both thou and all thy company are gathered together against the LORD: and what is Aaron, that ye murmur against him?

12 ¶ And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab; which said, We will not come up:

13 Is it a small thing that thou hast brought us up out of a land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderness, except thou make thyself altogether a prince over us?

14 Moreover, thou hast not brought us into a land that floweth with milk and honey, or given us inheritance of fields and vineyards: wilt thou put out the eyes of these men? we will not come up.

15 And Moses was very wroth, and said unto the LORD, Respect not thou their offering: I have not taken one ass from them, neither have I hurt one of them.

16 ¶ And Moses said unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company before the LORD, thou and they, and Aaron, to-morrow:

17 And take every man his censer, and put incense in them, and bring ye before the LORD every man his censer, two hundred and fifty censers; thou also and Aaron, each of you his censer.

18 And they took every man his censer, and put fire in them, and laid incense thereon, and stood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation with Moses and Aaron.

19 And Korah gathered all the congregation against them unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the glory of the LORD appeared unto all the congregation.

20 And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

21 Separate yourselves from among this congregation, that I may consume them in a moment.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and said, O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, shall one man sin, and wilt thou be wroth with all the congregation?

23 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speak unto the congregation, saying, Get you up from about the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

25 And Moses rose up, and went unto Dathan and Abiram: and the elders of Israel followed him.

26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, lest ye be consumed in all their sins.

27 So they gat up from the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, on every side: and Dathan and Abiram came out, and stood in the door of their tents, and their wives, and their sons, and their little children.

28 And Moses said, Hereby ye shall know that the LORD hath sent me to do all these works; for I have not done them of mine own mind.

29 If these men die the common death of all men, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men; then the LORD hath not sent me.

30 But if the LORD make a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow them up, with all that appertain unto them, and they go down quick into the pit; then ye shall understand that these men have provoked the LORD.

31 ¶ And it came to pass, as he had made an end of speaking all these words, that the ground clave asunder that was under them:

32 And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their houses, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, and all their goods.

33 They, and all that appertained to them, went down alive into the pit, and the earth closed upon them: and they perished from among the congregation.

34 And all Israel that were round about them fled at the cry of them: for they said, Lest the earth swallow us up also.

35 And there came out a fire from the LORD, and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incense.

36 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

37 Speak unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning, and scatter thou the fire yonder; for they are hallowed.

38 The censers of these sinners against their own souls, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the altar: for they offered them before the LORD, therefore they are hallowed: and they shall be a sign unto the children of Israel.

39 And Eleazar the priest took the brasen censers, wherewith they that were burnt had offered; and they were made broad plates for a covering of the altar;

40 To be a memorial unto the children of Israel, that no stranger, which is not of the seed of Aaron, come near to offer incense before the LORD; that he be not as Korah, and as his company: as the LORD said to him by the hand of Moses.

41 ¶ But on the morrow all the congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron, saying, Ye have killed the people of the LORD.

42 And it came to pass, when the congregation was gathered against Moses and against Aaron, that they looked toward the tabernacle of the congregation: and, behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the LORD appeared.

43 And Moses and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation.

44 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

45 Get ye up from among this congregation, that I may consume them as in a moment: and they fell upon their faces.

46 ¶ And Moses said unto Aaron, Take a censer, and put fire therein from off the altar, and put on incense, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make an atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the LORD; the plague is begun.

47 And Aaron took as Moses commanded, and ran into the midst of the congregation; and, behold, the plague was begun among the people: and he put on incense, and made an atonement for the people.

48 And he stood between the dead and the living; and the plague was stayed.

49 Now they that died in the plague were fourteen thousand

13. Out of a land that floweth with milk and honey:] Out of Egypt; a place indeed of great plenty, but to them a place of torment and intolerable slavery. They invidiously and scoffingly use the same words wherewith God by Moses commended the land of Canaan.

14. Wilt thou put out the eyes of these men?] Wilt thou lead them about like blind men whither thou pleasest; one time towards Canaan, another time towards Egypt again?

15. I have not taken one ass from them;] i. e. Not any thing of the smallest value, as an ass was. See 1 Sam. 12. 3.

19. All the congregation.] It seems by this, that the people were generally incensed against Moses, and inclined to Korah's side.

22. One man;] To wit, Korah, the ringleader of this sedition.

27. So they gat up, &c.] It is really astonishing that the impression made upon the minds of the whole congregation, who immediately abandoned Korah and his adherents, should not have affected himself. This should be a warning to mankind to consider, that when they have been guilty of obstinate and hardened impiety, it is not inconsistent with the justice of God to deliver them up to the consequence of their vices. Such was the case of Pharaoh.

30. Into the pit;] i. e. Into the grave, which God thereby makes.

32. All the men that appertained unto Korah;] Appertained is not in the Hebrew, but simply, all the men to Korah; i. e. The earth swallowed up Dathan and Abiram, and their company, who were in the insurrection of Korah. But as to Korah himself, it appears from ver. 16, 17, that he headed those 250, who, in offering incense presumptuously before the Lord, were consumed by fire, ver. 35. and consequently he was consumed with them, as is intimated, ver. 40. We read also in Numb. 26. 11, that the sons of Korah escaped this dreadful death, either not partaking with, or timely forsaking, their father's rebellion.

46. Go quickly unto the congregation.] This he might do upon this extraordinary occasion, having God's command for his warrant, though ordinarily incense was to be offered only in the tabernacle. thousand and seven hundred, besides them that died about the matter of Korah.

50 And Aaron returned unto Moses, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the plague was stayed.

C H A P. XVII.

8 Aaron's rod among all the rods of the tribes only flourisheth.
—10 Is left for a monument against the rebels.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and take of every one of them a rod, according to the house of their fathers, of all their princes, according to the house of their fathers, twelve rods: write thou every man's name upon his rod.

3 And thou shalt write Aaron's name upon the rod of Levi: for one rod shall be for the head of the house of their fathers.

4 And thou shalt lay them up in the tabernacle of the congregation before the testimony, where I will meet with you.

5 And it shall come to pass, that the man's rod whom I shall choose shall blossom: and I will make to cease from me the murmurings of the children of Israel, whereby they murmur against you.

6 ¶ And Moses spake unto the children of Israel, and every one of their princes gave him a rod apiece, for each prince one, according to their fathers' houses, even twelve rods: and the rod of Aaron was among their rods.

7 And Moses laid up the rods before the LORD in the tabernacle of witness.

8 And it came to pass, that on the morrow Moses went into the tabernacle of witness; and, behold, the rod of Aaron for the house of Levi was budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed blossoms, and yielded almonds.

9 And Moses brought out all the rods from before the LORD unto all the children of Israel: and they looked, and took every man his rod.

10 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Bring Aaron's rod again before the testimony, to be kept for a token against the rebels: and thou shalt quite take away their murmurings from me, that they die not.

11 And Moses did so: as the LORD commanded him, so did he.

12 And the children of Israel spake unto Moses, saying, Behold, we die, we perish, we all perish.

13 Whosoever cometh any thing near unto the tabernacle of the LORD shall die: shall we be consumed with dying?

C H A P. XVIII.

1 The charge of the priests and Levites.—8 The priests' portion.—21 The Levites' portion.—25 The heave-offering of the priests out of the Levites' portion.

AND the LORD said unto Aaron, Thou, and thy sons, and thy father's house with thee, shall bear the iniquity of the sanctuary: and thou and thy sons with thee shall bear the iniquity of your priesthood.

2 And thy brethren also of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou with thee, that they may be joined unto thee, and minister unto thee: but thou and thy sons with thee shall minister before the tabernacle of witness.

3 And they shall keep thy charge, and the charge of all the tabernacle: only they shall not come nigh the vessels of the sanctuary and the altar, that neither they nor ye also, die.

4 And they shall be joined unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the service of the tabernacle: and a stranger shall not come nigh unto you.

5 And ye shall keep the charge of the sanctuary, and the charge of the altar: that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Israel.

6 And I, behold, I have taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Israel: to you they are given as a gift for the LORD, to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7 Therefore thou and thy sons with thee shall keep your priest's office for every thing of the altar, and within the vail; and ye shall serve: I have given your priest's office unto you as a service of gift: and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

8 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Aaron; Behold, I also have given thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, of all the hallowed things of the children of Israel; unto thee have I given them by reason of the anointing, and to thy sons, by an ordinance for ever.

9 This shall be thine of the most holy things, reserved from the fire: every oblation of theirs, every meat-offering of theirs, and every sin-offering of theirs, and every trespass-offering of theirs, which they shall render unto me, shall be most holy for thee and for thy sons.

10 In the most holy place shalt thou eat it; every male shall eat it: it shall be holy unto thee.

11 And this is thine; the heave-offering of their gift, with all the wave-offerings of the children of Israel; I have given them unto thee, and to thy sons, and to thy daughters with thee, by a statute for ever: every one that is clean in thy house shall eat of it.

12 All the best of the oil, and all the best of the wine, and of the wheat, the first-fruits of them which they shall offer unto the LORD, them have I given thee.

13 And whatsoever is first ripe in the land, which they shall bring unto the LORD, shall be thine; every one that is clean in thine house shall eat of it.

14 Every thing devoted in Israel shall be thine.

15 Every thing that openeth the matrix in all flesh, which they bring unto the LORD, whether it be of man or beasts, shall be thine: nevertheless, the first-born of man shalt thou surely redeem, and the firstling of unclean beasts shalt thou redeem.

16 And those that are to be redeemed, from a month old shalt thou redeem, according to thine estimation, for the money of five shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary, which is twenty gerahs.

17 But the firstling of a cow, or the firstling of a sheep, or the firstling of a goat, thou shalt not redeem; they are holy: thou shalt sprinkle their blood upon the altar, and shalt burn their fat for an offering made by fire, for a sweet savour unto the LORD.

18 And the flesh of them shall be thine, as the wave-breast and as the right shoulder are thine.

19 All the heave-offerings of the holy things, which the children of Israel offer unto the LORD, have I given thee, and thy sons and thy daughters with thee, by a statute

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 10. To be kept for a token, &c.] Most probably it was frequently shewn to the people afterwards, to remind them of what had happened, and to prevent a relapse in their behaviour.

12. We die, we perish, we all perish.] This is a natural picture of the consternation of their minds.

13. Shall we be consumed with dying?] Must we then all perish for what is past? Is there no mercy for us? Thus they are ever in extremes, either daring or presumptuous, or abject and full of despair.

your priesthood:] i. e. Shall suffer the punishment of all the usurpations and pollutions of the sanctuary, or the holy things, and of all the errors and profanations committed by yourselves, or by you permitted in others, in things belonging to your priesthood, because you have power from me to keep them all within their bounds.

8. Unto thee have I given them;] Not only the charge of them, but the use of them for thyself and family, in such manner as I have elsewhere expressed.

10. In the most holy place;] i. e. In the court of the tabernacle, called most holy in respect of the camp and places remote from the sanctuary.

15. Every thing that, &c.] The redemption-money was about eleven shillings and nine-pence a head, at a month old. See Exod. 13. 13.

19. A covenant of salt;] i. e. A durable and perpetual covenant.

20. I am

statute for ever: it is a covenant of salt for ever before the LORD unto thee and to thy seed with thee.

20 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Aaron, Thou shalt have no inheritance in their land, neither shalt thou have any part among them: I am thy part and thine inheritance among the children of Israel.

21 And, behold, I have given the children of Levi all the tenth in Israel for an inheritance, for their service which they serve, even the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

22 Neither must the children of Israel henceforth come nigh the tabernacle of the congregation, lest they bear sin, and die.

23 But the Levites shall do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they shall bear their iniquity: It shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations, that among the children of Israel they have no inheritance.

24 But the tithes of the children of Israel, which they offer as an heave-offering unto the LORD, I have given to the Levites to inherit; therefore I have said unto them, Among the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance.

25 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Thus speak unto the Levites, and say unto them, When ye take of the children of Israel the tithes which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then ye shall offer up an heave-offering of it for the LORD, even a tenth part of the tithe.

27 And this your heave-offering shall be reckoned unto you as though it were the corn of the threshing-floor, and as the fulness of the wine-press.

28 Thus ye also shall offer an heave-offering unto the LORD of all your tithes which ye receive of the children of Israel: and ye shall give thereof the LORD's heave-offering to Aaron the priest.

29 Out of all your gifts ye shall offer every heave-offering of the LORD, of all the best thereof, even the hallowed part thereof, out of it.

30 Therefore thou shalt say unto them, When ye have heaved the best thereof from it, then it shall be counted unto the Levites as the increase of the threshing-floor, and as the increase of the wine-press.

31 And ye shall eat it in every place, ye and your households; for it is your reward for your service in the tabernacle of the congregation.

32 And ye shall bear no sin by reason of it, when ye have heaved from it the best of it: neither shall ye pollute the holy things of the children of Israel, lest ye die.

CHAP. XIX.

2 The water of separation made of the ashes of a red heifer.
—11 The law for the use of it in purification.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying,

2 This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD hath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring thee a red heifer without spot, wherein is no blemish, and upon which never came yoke.

20. I am thy part;] i. e. I have appointed thee a liberal maintenance out of my oblations.

27. As though it were the corn of the threshing-floor, &c.] It shall be accepted of you as much as if you offered it out of your own lands and labours.

28. To Aaron the priest,] And to his children, which were one with him, and were all to have their share herein, ver. 8, 9.

30. When ye have heaved, &c.] God required that the priests should in gratitude pay him a tenth of that tenth which the people were ordered to pay them. It was to be taken out of the best, as well as the worst, and not all from the best, as the words seem to imply.

31. In every place:] At their own houses, or where they pleased.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 2. A red heifer.] The word in the original, which we render

3 And ye shall give her unto Eleazar the priest, that he may bring her forth without the camp, and one shall slay her before his face:

4 And Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood with his finger, and sprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation seven times:

5 And one shall burn the heifer in his sight: her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, with her dung, shall he burn:

6 And the priest shall take cedar-wood, and hyssop, and scarlet, and cast it into the midst of the burning of the heifer.

7 Then the priest shall wash his clothes, and he shall bathe his flesh in water, and afterward he shall come into the camp, and the priest shall be unclean until the even.

8 And he that burneth her shall wash his clothes in water, and bathe his flesh in water, and shall be unclean until the even.

9 And a man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it shall be kept for the congregation of the children of Israel for a water of separation: it is a purification for sin.

10 And he that gathereth the ashes of the heifer shall wash his clothes, and be unclean until the even: and it shall be unto the children of Israel, and unto the stranger that sojourneth among them, for a statute for ever.

11 ¶ He that toucheth the dead body of any man shall be unclean seven days.

12 He shall purify himself with it on the third day, and on the seventh day he shall be clean: but if he purify not himself the third day, then the seventh day he shall not be clean.

13 Whosoever toucheth the dead body of any man that is dead, and purifieth not himself, defileth the tabernacle of the LORD: and that soul shall be cut off from Israel: because the water of separation was not sprinkled upon him, he shall be unclean; his uncleanness is yet upon him.

14 This is the law, when a man dieth in a tent: All that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, shall be unclean seven days.

15 And every open vessel, which hath no covering bound upon it, is unclean.

16 And whosoever toucheth one that is slain with a sword in the open fields, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days.

17 And for an unclean person they shall take of the ashes of the burnt heifer of purification for sin, and running water shall be put thereto in a vessel:

18 And a clean person shall take hyssop, and dip it in the water, and sprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the vessels, and upon the persons that were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one slain, or one dead, or a grave:

19 And the clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean, on the third day, and on the seventh day: and on the seventh day he shall purify himself, and wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and shall be clean at even.

20 But

heifer, properly signifies a young cow, between the age of a calf and a heifer. If it be asked why this sacrifice was to be an heifer, the reason seems to be this, that it was in opposition to the Egyptian superstition; for though they offered bullocks in sacrifice, they held cows in great veneration.

3. Unto Eleazar;] Not to Aaron, because this service made him unclean for a season, verse 7.

9. A water of separation;] i. e. Appointed for the cleansing of them that are in a state of separation, who, for their uncleanness, are separated from the congregation.

13. Whosoever—defileth the tabernacle—shall be cut off;] To wit, if this transgression be done presumptuously: for if it was done ignorantly, he was only to offer sacrifice, Lev. 5. 3, 6, 17.

15. Every open vessel, &c.] That may happen to be in the room or tent of the dead person. All these ordinances were to be looked upon as emblems of that purity of heart and mind, with which every true worshipper of God ought to approach him.

20. The

20 But the man that shall be unclean, and shall not purify himself, that soul shall be cut off from among the congregation; because he hath defiled the sanctuary of the LORD: the water of separation hath not been sprinkled upon him; he is unclean.

21 And it shall be a perpetual statute unto them, that he that sprinkleth the water of separation shall wash his clothes; and he that toucheth the water of separation shall be unclean until even.

22 And whatsoever the unclean person toucheth shall be unclean: and the soul that toucheth it shall be unclean until even.

CHAP. XX.

1 The children of Israel come to Zin,—2 murmur for want of water.—7 Moses smiting the rock, bringeth forth water at Meribah.—14 Moses desireth a passage through Edom, which is denied him.—28 Aaron resigneth his place to Eleazar, and dieth.

THEN came the children of Israel, even the whole congregation, into the desert of Zin, in the first month: and the people abode in Kadesh; and Miriam died there, and was buried there.

2 And there was no water for the congregation: and they gathered themselves together against Moses, and against Aaron.

3 And the people chode with Moses, and spake, saying, Would God that we had died when our brethren died before the LORD!

4 And why have ye brought up the congregation of the LORD into this wilderness, that we and our cattle should die there?

5 And wherefore have ye made us to come up out of Egypt, to bring us in unto this evil place? it is no place of seed, or of figs, or of vines, or of pomegranates; neither is there any water to drink.

6 And Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the assembly unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they fell upon their faces; and the glory of the LORD appeared unto them.

7 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

8 Take the rod, and gather thou the assembly together, thou and Aaron thy brother, and speak ye unto the rock before their eyes; and it shall give forth his water, and thou shalt bring forth to them water out of the rock: so thou shalt give the congregation and their beasts drink.

9 And Moses took the rod from before the LORD, as he commanded him.

10 And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he said unto them, Hear now, ye rebels: must we fetch you water out of this rock?

20. The man that shall be unclean, &c.] This was a law never to be dispensed with, touching any person defiled by the dead; whoever neglected it was to be cut off.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. Then came the children of Israel into—the desert of Zin, in the first month.] The people having now wandered in the wilderness near forty years, and that generation of murmurers being almost all dead, they are again brought back to Kadesh. It may seem strange that Moses should pass in silence the transactions of thirty-eight years of the peregrinations of the Israelites: but we must remember, that he writes not so much in the quality of an historian, as of a legislator; and probably no new laws were delivered during that time.

And Miriam died there.] Eusebius tells us, that Miriam's sepulchre was still extant in his time at Kadesh, at a small distance from the city of Petra, the metropolis of Arabia Petrea.

2. And there was no water for the congregation.] The water with which they had hitherto been supplied from Horeb now failed; as an intimation, that they were now to quit the wilderness, and to be introduced into the promised land, a land of rivers and springs.

And they gathered themselves together against Moses, and against Aaron.] Though this new generation had so clearly seen the actual accomplishment of the divine judgments threatened to their fathers, yet the pain of thirst threw them into the same sin of murmuring against God, and mutinying against their leaders.

6. And Moses and Aaron went, &c.] They turned from the multitude, and fell on their faces towards the tabernacle, intreating the Lord, most probably, to interfere in the people's behalf; for the glory of the Lord

11 And Moses lifted up his hand, and with his rod he smote the rock twice; and the water came out abundantly: and the congregation drank, and their beasts also.

12 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron, Because ye believed me not, to sanctify me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them.

13 This is the water of Meribah; because the children of Israel strove with the LORD, and he was sanctified in them.

14 ¶ And Moses sent messengers from Kadesh unto the king of Edom, Thus saith thy brother Israel, Thou knowest all the travail that hath befallen us:

15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt a long time; and the Egyptians vexed us and our fathers:

16 And when we cried unto the LORD, he heard our voice, and sent an angel, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt; and, behold, we are in Kadesh, a city in the uttermost of thy border:

17 Let us pass, I pray thee, through thy country: we will not pass through the fields, or through the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the king's high-way, we will not turn to the right hand nor to the left, until we have passed thy borders.

18 And Edom said unto him, Thou shalt not pass by me, lest I come out against thee with the sword.

19 And the children of Israel said unto him, We will go by the highway: and if I and my cattle drink of thy water, then I will pay for it: I will only, without doing any thing else, go through on my feet.

20 And he said, Thou shalt not go through. And Edom came out against him with much people, and with a strong hand.

21 Thus Edom refused to give Israel passage through his border: wherefore Israel turned away from him.

22 ¶ And the children of Israel, even the whole congregation, journeyed from Kadesh, and came unto mount Hor.

23 And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron in mount Hor, by the coast of the land of Edom, saying,

24 Aaron shall be gathered unto his people; for he shall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Israel, because ye rebelled against my word at the water of Meribah.

25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring them up unto mount Hor:

26 And strip Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son: and Aaron shall be gathered unto his people, and shall die there.

27 And Moses did as the LORD commanded: and they appeared; and Jehovah told Moses what he should do to procure water.

10. Must we fetch water out of this rock?] as if they could do it by their own power; and thus did not sanctify the Lord in the eyes of the children of Israel.

12. Because ye believed me not, to sanctify me in the eyes of the children of Israel.] They discovered the weakness of their faith by their smiting the rock, and that twice, which is emphatically noted, as if they doubted whether once smiting would have done it; whereas Moses was not commanded to smite so much as once, but only to speak to it. And yet they do not seem to doubt of the power of God, but of his will, whether he would gratify these rebels with this further miracle, after so many of the like kind. They also discover some arrogance in that expression, ver.

13. Meribah;] Called Meribah-Kadesh, to distinguish it from another Meribah, Exod. 17. 7.

And he was sanctified in them.] God glorified his power, goodness, and veracity, in the eyes of the Israelites, by this signal miracle, and demonstrated his impartial justice in punishing his greatest favourites for their unbelief.

17. The wells,] Or pits, which any of you have digged for your private use; to wit, without paying for it, ver. 19. Deut. 2. 6. but only shall make use of the waters of common rivers, which are free to all passengers, and will not be prejudicial to thee.

22. Mount Hor.] This mountain was on the east border of the land of Edom; and probably had its name from Hori, the first possessor of it, Gen. 36. 30. This place is called Mosera, Deut. 2. 6.

26. Strip Aaron of his garments:] To wit, of his priestly garments, in token of his resignation of his office.

28. And they went up into mount Hor, in the sight of all the congregation.

28 And Moses stripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son; and Aaron died there in the top of the mount: and Moses and Eleazar came down from the mount.

29 And when all the congregation saw that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirty days, even all the house of Israel.

CHAP. XXI.

3 Israel destroy the Canaanites at Hormah.—6 The people plagued with fiery serpents.—9 are healed by a brazen serpent.—10 Journeys of the Israelites.—21 Sihon is overcome—33 and Og.

AND when king Arad the Canaanite, which dwelt in the south, heard tell that Israel came by the way of the spies; then he fought against Israel, and took some of them prisoners.

2 And Israel vowed a vow unto the LORD, and said, If thou wilt indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will utterly destroy their cities.

3 And the LORD hearkened to the voice of Israel, and delivered up the Canaanites; and they utterly destroyed them and their cities: and he called the name of the place Hormah.

4 ¶ And they journeyed from mount Hor, by the way of the Red sea, to compass the land of Edom: and the soul of the people was much discouraged because of the way.

5 And the people spake against God, and against Moses, Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderness? for there is no bread, neither is there any water; and our soul loatheth this light bread.

6 And the LORD sent fiery serpents among the people, and they bit the people: and much people of Israel died.

7 ¶ Therefore the people came to Moses, and said, We have sinned, for we have spoken against the LORD, and against thee; pray unto the LORD, that he take away the serpents from us. And Moses prayed for the people.

8 And the LORD said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent, and set it upon a pole: and it shall come to pass, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, shall live.

9 And Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole: and it came to pass, that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived.

10 ¶ And the children of Israel set forward, and pitched in Oboth.

28. And Aaron died there.] In the fortieth year after they came out of Egypt, on the first day of the fifth month, which answers to our July, when Aaron was one hundred and twenty-three years old.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 1. King Arad the Canaanite.] Or rather, the Canaanite king of Arad: for Arad is not the name of a man, but of a city or territory, as may seem from Josh. 12. 14. Judg. 1. 16.

By the way of the spies.] By the same way which the spies entered Canaan, when they were sent to view the land thirty-eight years before: or by the way of the spies which he himself sent out to observe the marches and motions of the Israelites.

2. I will utterly destroy their cities.] I will reserve no person nor thing for my own use, but devote them all to total destruction.

3. They utterly destroyed them, &c.] i. e. As many of them as they took at that time.

6. Fiery serpents.] The words in the original signify burning or winged serpents. These creatures were so very common both in Egypt and Arabia, that the countries would not be habitable, had not Providence thought proper to prevent their multiplying as other serpents do; for the Arabians tell us, that after they have coupled together, the female never fails to kill the male, and that her young ones kill her as soon as they are hatched. Universal History.

9. When he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived.] The healing virtue which accompanied the looking on this image was derived from God alone, who was pleased in this manner to display his power, to make the Israelites sensible that those serpents were sent by him, and that they had no reason to fear any evil whatsoever, provided they made God their friend, whose power could provide a remedy in all emergencies. Most interpreters observe a remarkable similitude between the virtue of this brazen serpent, erected on a pole, and that of Christ's death; and the same is taken notice of by our blessed Saviour himself. As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up:

No. 12.

11 And they journeyed from Oboth, and pitched at Ije-abarim, in the wilderness which is before Moab, toward the sun-rising.

12 From thence they removed, and pitched in the valley of Zared.

13 From thence they removed, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, which is in the wilderness that cometh out of the coasts of the Amorites: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites.

14 Wherefore it is said in the book of the wars of the LORD, What he did in the Red sea, and in the brooks of Arnon,

15 And at the stream of the brooks that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar, and lieth upon the border of Moab.

16 And from thence they went to Beer: that is the well whereof the LORD spake unto Moses, Gather the people together, and I will give them water.

17 ¶ Then Israel sang this song, Spring up, O well: sing ye unto it:

18 The princes digged the well, the nobles of the people digged it, by the direction of the law-giver, with their staves. And from the wilderness they went to Mattanah:

19 And from Mattanah to Nahaliel: and from Nahaliel to Bamoth:

20 And from Bamoth in the valley, that is in the country of Moab, to the top of Pisgah, which looketh toward Jeshimon.

21 ¶ And Israel sent messengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, saying,

22 Let me pass through thy land: we will not turn into the fields, or into the vineyards; we will not drink of the waters of the well: but we will go along by the king's high-way, until we be past thy borders.

23 And Sihon would not suffer Israel to pass through his border: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and went out against Israel into the wilderness: and he came to Jahaz, and fought against Israel:

24 And Israel smote him with the edge of the sword, and possessed his land from Arnon to Jabbok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was strong.

25 And Israel took all these cities: and Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heshbon, and in all the villages thereof.

26 For Heshbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who had fought against the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon.

27 Where-that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life, John 3. 14, 15.

14. In the book of the wars of the Lord.] What book this was, is a question not easily answered. Most interpreters take it for some ancient record of those countries to which Moses refers. Le Clerc, by the wars of the Lord, understands the wars of the Israelites, who fought under the banner and direction of Jehovah. This seems to have been some poem or narration of the wars and victories of the Lord, either by or relating to the Israelites.

17. Then Israel sang.] Some of the devout people composed a short hymn of praise, to be sung by the whole assembly. What we translate, sing ye unto it, should be rendered, answer unto it; for the ancient manner was to sing alternately.

18. Digged it—with their staves;] i. e. The water sprung up with such ease and speed, that the princes no sooner directed us with their staves where to dig, but our labours were successful. Or the sense may be, the princes, and those who wear the badges of dignity, joined with the multitude in digging it.

20. To the top of Pisgah.] Rather, to the beginning of Pisgah, a part of the mountains of Abarim.

Which looketh towards Jeshimon;] Or, towards the wilderness, as the word is rendered; Deut. 32. 10.

21. And Israel sent messengers, &c.] With the same peaceable terms as they had before sent to King Arad the Canaanite.

24. From Arnon, &c.] Or, which reached from Arnon, &c. such supplements being very usual: and so here is contained a description or limitation of Sihon's conquest and kingdom, that it extended only from Arnon—unto the children of Ammon; and then the following words, for the border of the children of Ammon was strong, come in very fitly, not as a reason why the Israelites did not or could not conquer the Ammonites, for they were absolutely forbidden to meddle with them, Deut. 3. 8. but as a reason why Sihon could not enlarge his conquests and empire to the Ammonites, as he had done to the Moabites.

2 M

27. They

27 Wherefore they that speak in proverbs say, Come into Heshbon, let the city of Sihon be built and prepared:

28 For there is a fire gone out of Heshbon, a flame from the city of Sihon: it hath consumed Ar of Moab, and the lords of the high places of Arnon.

29 Woe to thee, Moab! thou art undone, O people of Chemosh: he hath given his sons that escaped, and his daughters, into captivity unto Sihon king of the Amorites.

30 We have shot at them; Heshbon is perished even unto Dibon, and we have laid them waste even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba.

31 ¶ Thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites.

32 And Moses sent to spy out Jaazer, and they took the villages thereof, and drove out the Amorites that were there.

33 ¶ And they turned and went up by the way of Bashan: and Og the king of Bashan went out against them, he, and all his people, to the battle at Edrei.

34 And the LORD said unto Moses, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thy hand, and all his people, and his land; and thou shalt do to him as thou didst unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon.

35 So they smote him, and his sons, and all his people, until there was none left him alive: and they possessed his land.

C H A P. XXII.

1 Balak's first message to Balaam is refused:—21 his second message obtaineth him.—22 An angel meeteth him.—36 Balak entertaineth him.

AND the children of Israel set forward, and pitched in the plains of Moab, on this side Jordan by Jericho.

2 ¶ And Balak the son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites.

3 And Moab was sore afraid of the people, because they were many: and Moab was distressed because of the children of Israel.

4 And Moab said unto the elders of Midian, Now shall this company lick up all that are round about us, as the ox licketh up the grass of the field. And Balak the son of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time.

5 He sent messengers therefore unto Balaam the son of Beor to Pethor, which is by the river of the land of the children of his people, to call him, saying, Behold, there is a people come out from Egypt; behold, they cover the face of the earth, and they abide over against me:

6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, curse me this people; for they are too mighty for me: peradventure I shall prevail, that we may smite them, and that I may drive them out of the land: for I wot that he whom thou blestest is blessed, and he whom thou curstest is cursed.

7 And the elders of Moab and the elders of Midian departed, with the rewards of divination in their hand; and they came unto Balaam, and spake unto him the words of Balak.

8 And he said unto them, Lodge here this night, and I will bring you word again, as the LORD shall speak unto me: and the princes of Moab abode with Balaam.

9 And God came unto Balaam, and said, What men are these with thee?

10 And Balaam said unto God, Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, hath sent unto me, saying,

11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, which covereth the face of the earth: come now, curse me them: peradventure I shall be able to overcome them, and drive them out.

12 And God said unto Balaam, Thou shalt not go with them; thou shalt not curse the people: for they are blessed.

13 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and said unto the princes of Balak, Get ye into your land: for the LORD refuseth to give me leave to go with you.

14 And the princes of Moab rose up, and they went unto Balak, and said, Balaam refuseth to come with us.

15 ¶ And Balak sent yet again princes, more, and more honourable than they.

16 And they came to Balaam, and said to him, Thus saith Balak the son of Zippor, Let nothing, I pray thee, hinder thee from coming unto me:

17 For I will promote thee unto very great honour, and I will do whatsoever thou sayest unto me: come therefore, I pray thee, curse me this people.

18 And Balaam answered and said unto the servants of Balak, If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the LORD my God, to do less or more.

19 Now therefore, I pray you, tarry ye also here this night,

27. They that speak in proverbs:] The poets, or other ingenious persons, to wit, of the Amorites or Canaanites, who made this following song of triumph over the vanquished Moabites: which is here brought in, partly as a proof that this was now Sihon's land, and partly as an evidence of the just judgment of God in spoiling the spoilers, and subduing those who insulted over their conquered enemies.

The city of Sihon:] That which was once the royal city of the king of Moab, but now is the city of Sihon.

28. For there is a fire gone out of Heshbon.] Here the poet rises into raptures, and prophesies the conquest of the whole country, by the desolating army of Sihon marching out of Heshbon; for, by fire, he means war, to which it is very properly compared: I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battle, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind, Amos 1. 14.

29. O people of Chemosh.] He calls the Moabites the people of Chemosh, because they worshipped the god Chemosh, 1 Kings 11. 7.

33. Bashan:] A mountain celebrated in scripture for its rich pastures, excellent breed of cattle, and stately oaks.

And Og the king of Bashan.] This Og was of the remnant of the giants, a mighty people in that country, Josh. 12. 4.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXII.

Verse 1. The plains of Moab,] Which still retained their ancient title, though they had been taken away from the Moabites by Sihon, and from him by the Israelites.

4. And Moab said unto the elders of Midian.] He sent messengers to the princes of Midian, inviting them, as his confederates, to join with him against the Israelites, whom he represented as their common enemy.

As the ox licketh up the grass:] A lively metaphor, to signify how easily the Israelites would conquer them, without a timely opposition, and likewise what an universal desolation they would make.

5. He sent messengers therefore.] Ancient history informs us, that it was a general custom amongst most of the heathen nations, before they took up arms, to consult their gods, by oracles and other methods of divination, about the event of the war.

Unto Balaam.] He is called a soothsayer or diviner, Josh. 13. 22. because he used enchantments, Numb. 24. 1. And it is the opinion of the generality of the fathers, and of numbers of commentators, that he was a mere magician, a false prophet and idolater. But that he was a true prophet, or one who had revelations from the true God, is plain from 2 Pet. 2. 16. compared with Numb. 22. 8, 9, 10, 12, 13. and 24. 1. and indeed no prophet in Israel could speak of God more reverently, and yet in more familiar terms, than Balaam does, verse 18. If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God. But the history shews that his covetousness and ambition got the better of his piety, 2 Pet. 2. 15. Jude 11.) and so far debauched his moral honesty, as, for the rewards set before him, to make him seek, by several indirect and sinister means, to obtain leave from God to curse the people of Israel, even after God had assured him that they should be blessed and made prosperous in their enterprise.

6. Curse me this people.] It was the received opinion among the heathen nations, that imprecations might be made, which would have effect, not only on private persons, but even on whole nations.

I wot that he whom thou blestest is blessed, &c.] He had great confidence in Balaam's skill and power in these matters.

13. The Lord refuseth to give me leave to go with you.] He conceals the principal thing, to wit, the reason of God's prohibition, and secretly intimates his own readiness to comply with them, if God had not hindered him.

18. If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God.] Thus far his piety and regard to the command of God appeared to have had the ascendancy over his covetousness and ambition; but the next words shew, that those passions were far from being entirely subdued. He would fain have gratified them, if he could by any means have satisfied his conscience.

19. Tarry—here this night.] Here the iniquity of his heart begins to disclose itself. He well knew that it was the unalterable purpose of the Almighty night, that I may know what the LORD will say unto me more.

20 And God came unto Balaam at night, and said unto him, If the men come to call thee, rise up, and go with them; but yet the word which I shall say unto thee, that shalt thou do.

21 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and saddled his ass, and went with the princes of Moab.

22 ¶ And God's anger was kindled because he went: and the angel of the LORD stood in the way for an adversary against him. Now he was riding upon his ass, and his two servants were with him.

23 And the ass saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand: and the ass turned aside out of the way, and went into the field: and Balaam smote the ass, to turn her into the way.

24 But the angel of the LORD stood in a path of the vineyards, a wall being on this side, and a wall on that side.

25 And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she thrust herself unto the wall, and crushed Balaam's foot against the wall: and he smote her again.

26 And the angel of the LORD went further, and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn, either to the right hand or to the left.

27 And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she fell down under Balaam: and Balaam's anger was kindled, and he smote the ass with a staff.

28 And the LORD opened the mouth of the ass, and she said unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou hast smitten me these three times?

29 And Balaam said unto the ass, Because thou hast mocked me: I would there were a sword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee.

30 And the ass said unto Balaam, Am not I thine ass, upon which thou hast ridden ever since I was thine unto this day? was I ever wont to do so unto thee? And he said, Nay.

31 Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down his head, and fell flat on his face.

32 And the angel of the LORD said unto him, Wherefore hast thou smitten thine ass these three times? behold, I went out to withstand thee, because thy way is perverse before me.

33 And the ass saw me, and turned from me these three times: unless she had turned from me, surely now also I had slain thee, and saved her alive.

34 And Balaam said unto the angel of the LORD, I have sinned; for I knew not that thou stoodest in the way against me: now therefore if it displease thee, I will get me back again.

35 And the angel of the LORD said unto Balaam, Go with the men: but only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that thou shalt speak: So Balaam went with the princes of Balak.

36 ¶ And when Balak heard that Balaam was come, he went out to meet him unto a city of Moab, which is in the border of Arnon, which is in the utmost coast.

37 And Balak said unto Balaam, Did I not earnestly send unto thee to call thee? wherefore camest thou not unto me? am I not able indeed to promote thee to honour?

38 And Balaam said unto Balak, Lo, I am come unto thee; have I now any power at all to say any thing? the word that God putteth in my mouth, that shall I speak.

39 And Balaam went with Balak, and they came unto Kirjath-huzoth.

40 And Balak offered oxen and sheep, and sent to Balaam, and to the princes that were with him.

41 And it came to pass on the morrow, that Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal, that thence he might see the utmost part of the people.

C H A P. XXIII.

1 Balak's sacrifice.—7, 18 Balaam's parable.

AND Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven oxen and seven rams.

2 And Balak did as Balaam had spoken; and Balak and Balaam offered on every altar a bullock and a ram.

3 And Balaam said unto Balak, Stand by thy burnt-offering, and I will go: peradventure the LORD will come to meet me: and whatsoever he sheweth me I will tell thee. And he went to an high place.

4 And God met Balaam: and he said unto him, I have prepared seven altars, and I have offered upon every altar a bullock and a ram.

5 And the LORD put a word in Balaam's mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak.

6 And he returned unto him, and, lo, he stood by his burnt-sacrifice, he, and all the princes of Moab.

7 ¶ And he took up his parable, and said, Balak the king of Moab hath brought me from Aram, out of the mountains of the east, saying, Come, curse me Jacob, and come, defy Israel.

8 How shall I curse, whom God hath not cursed? or how shall I defy, whom the LORD hath not defied?

9 For from the top of the rocks I see him, and from the Almighty to bless the Israelites, but still, having an avaricious eye to the tempting rewards, he insinuates to the messengers there was some hope that, at his intercession, the counsels of heaven could be altered, and the unchangeable Being himself moved to recede from his first decree.

20. If the men come to call thee, rise up, and go with them.] On this condition he was to go.

22. God's anger was kindled, because he went:] Because he went, and with an inclination, to curse Israel: for his whole intention in taking the journey, was, if possible, to find out some method of complying with the earnest desire of Balak.

23. The ass saw the angel.] Which Balaam saw not, because God withheld his eyes, as he did the eyes of Daniel's companions, Dan. 10. 7.

29. Balaam said unto the ass.] It has been thought strange, that Balaam should express no surprise at this prodigy: but perhaps he had imbibed the doctrine of the transmigration of souls, which then was, and still is, too common in the east; and thence might be the less astonished at hearing a brute speak. But why might not Balaam be surprised, though Moses has not mentioned it? The ancient Jews were of opinion, that he really was so: Josephus tells us, he was greatly astonished at it. Nor will the silence of Moses, in this particular, be any material objection, if it be considered, that his narration is so very concise, that many particulars of this history are, doubtless, omitted, as being of no great moment to be told.

31. The Lord opened the eyes of Balaam.] He presented the angel to his view; or perhaps he awakened his attention, and made him take notice of the angel, whom he had not before observed.

35. Go with the men.] The angel, having now sufficiently warned the prophet against gratifying the Moabites in their unreasonable desire, gives him free permission to pursue his journey.

41. Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal.] Baal was the god of this country. The name signifies lord. This god, like those of other nations, was worshipped in high places, which were generally planted with groves. It was thought necessary, in solemn imprecations, to have the persons devoted present to the view of him who pronounced the anathema; for which reason Balak conducted Balaam to these high places, that he might from thence have a full prospect of the camp of Israel.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

Verse 1. Seven altars and—seven oxen, &c.] That he designed in this sacrifice to observe the religious rites observed in worshipping the God of Israel appears from ver. 4. but he was to blame that he would have altars erected in the high places of Baal, where he now was, chap. 22. 41. and in erecting divers altars, according to the manner of heathens and idolaters; whereas God appointed and holy men used but one altar, though various sacrifices were to be offered upon it.

3. Peradventure the Lord will come to meet me.] From this passage it is inferred, that, in those early times, it was usual for the prophets, and other pious persons, after performing the sacred rites, to retire into some solitary place, there to wait for an answer to their prayers from God, who often sent an angel to deliver to them his oracles.

He went to an high place.] He was already in an high place; and therefore we must prefer the translation, he went solitary, i. e. into the most retired part of the grove.

7. His parable.] Or prophetic speech.

9. I see him:] I see the people, according to thy desire, chap. 22. 41. but cannot improve that sight to the end for which thou didst design it, to wit, to curse them.

The people shall dwell alone;] That is, be separated from other nations by peculiar laws, religion, and manners.

10. Who

the hills I behold him: lo, the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations.

10 Who can count the dust of Jacob, and the number of the fourth part of Israel? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!

11 And Balak said unto Balaam, What hast thou done unto me? I took thee to curse mine enemies, and, behold, thou hast blessed them altogether.

12 And he answered and said, Must I not take heed to speak that which the LORD hath put in my mouth?

13 And Balak said unto him, Come, I pray thee, with me unto another place, from whence thou mayest see them: thou shalt see but the utmost part of them, and shalt not see them all: and curse me them from thence.

14 ¶ And he brought him into the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

15 And he said unto Balak, Stand here by thy burnt-offering, while I meet the LORD yonder.

16 And the LORD met Balaam, and put a word in his mouth, and said, Go again unto Balak, and say thus:

17 And when he came to him, behold, he stood by his burnt-offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak said unto him, What hath the LORD spoken?

18 And he took up his parable, and said, Rise up, Balak, and hear; hearken unto me, thou son of Zippor:

19 God is not a man, that he should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good?

20 Behold, I have received commandment to bless: and he hath blessed, and I cannot reverse it.

21 He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel: the LORD his God is with him, and the shout of a king is among them.

22 God brought them out of Egypt: he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn.

23 Surely there is no enchantment against Jacob, neither is there any divination against Israel: according to this time it shall be said of Jacob and of Israel, What hath God wrought!

24 Behold, the people shall rise up as a great lion, and lift up himself as a young lion: he shall not lie down until he eat of the prey, and drink the blood of the slain.

25 ¶ And Balak said unto Balaam, Neither curse them at all, nor bless them at all.

26 But Balaam answered and said unto Balak, Told not I thee, saying, All that the LORD speaketh, that I must do?

27 ¶ And Balak said unto Balaam, Come, I pray thee, I will bring thee into another place: peradventure it will please God that thou mayest curse me them from thence.

28 And Balak brought Balaam unto the top of Peor, that looketh toward Jeshimon.

29 And Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks and seven rams.

30 And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Balaam prophesieth the happiness of Israel:—10 Balak dismisseth him:—15 He prophesieth of the Star of Jacob.

AND when Balaam saw that it pleased the LORD to bless Israel, he went not, as at other times, to seek for enchantments, but he set his face toward the wilderness.

2 And Balaam lifted up his eyes, and he saw Israel abiding in his tents, according to their tribes; and the Spirit of God came upon him.

3 And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes are open hath said:

4 He hath said, which heard the words of God, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open:

5 How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thy tabernacles, O Israel!

6 As the vallies are they spread forth, as gardens by the river's side, as the trees of lign-aloes which the LORD hath planted, and as cedar-trees beside the waters.

7 He shall pour the water out of his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters; and his king shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted.

8 God brought him forth out of Egypt; he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn: he shall eat up the nations his enemies, and shall break their bones, and pierce them through with his arrows.

9 He couched, he lay down as a lion, and as a great lion: who shall stir him up? Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee.

10 ¶ And Balak's anger was kindled against Balaam, and he smote his hands together: and Balak said unto Balaam,

10. Who can count the dust of Jacob? Who can count a people which is like the dust of the earth for number? Perhaps it was a necessary part of the ceremony in such solemn imprecations, to count over, so as to specify exactly the several individuals that were to be devoted. If so, this will suggest a reason why Balak invites Balaam to another place, where he might see only the skirts of the Israelitish camp, that so, if he could not count them all at once, he might at least count a part of them, in order to their being devoted one part after another. See ver. 13.

Let me die the death of the righteous.] By the righteous here is meant the Israelites, who were a righteous people in comparison with the rest of the world; and on this account he wishes, that after having enjoyed long life and prosperity, he might die, like them, in the favour of God, and in the hope of that future reward which is reserved for the righteous in the other world.

21. He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel.] The word which we render iniquity signifies in many places of scripture an idol; and therefore the Vulgate renders the passage, There is no idol in Jacob, neither is there any image seen in Israel. As if he had said, Though the Israelites may be guilty of several transgressions of the divine laws, yet so long as they keep themselves from idolatry, God will not give them over to the sword of their enemies, but crown them with victory and triumph.

The shout of a king is among them;] i. e. Such joyful and triumphant shouts as those wherewith a people congratulate the approach and presence of their king, when he appears among them upon some solemn occasion, or when he returns from battle with victory and spoils. The expression implies God's being their king and ruler, and their abundant security and just confidence in him as such.

22. He,] viz. Israel, whom God brought out of Egypt, such change of numbers being very common in the Hebrew language. The sense is, Israel is not now what he was in Egypt, a poor, weak, dispirited, unarmed people, but strong and invincible.

The strength of an unicorn;] Whose great strength and fierceness is celebrated in scripture, Numb. 21. 8. Deut. 33. 17. Job 39. 9. Psal. 22. 21. and 92. 10.

23. There is no enchantment against Jacob.] I find by experience and serious consideration, that all mine and thing endeavours to enchant Israel are in vain, being frustrated by their omnipotent God. I can do thee no service by my art against them.

24. The people shall rise up, &c.] As a lion rouseth up himself to fight, or to go out to the prey, so shall Israel stir up themselves to warlike attempts against all their enemies, as occasion shall offer itself.

He shall not lie down;] i. e. Not rest or cease from fighting and pursuing.

28. Balak brought Balaam unto the top of Peor.] This was the most famous high place in all the country of Moab, where, as Selden conjectures, Baal had a temple, and was thence called Baalpeor; as Jupiter, when worshipped at Olympus, was called Jupiter Olympus.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIV.

Verse 1. He went not, as at other times, to seek for enchantments.] This implies that he had hitherto used some unwarrantable acts to compass his ends. But whether he had used particular enchantments, and what these enchantments were, is a question not easily resolved. But whatever they were, finding them of no avail to procure the least evil sentence against the Israelites, he left them all off at his next sacrifice.

6. Which the Lord hath planted;] which grow naturally of themselves; or which are best of their kind.

7. He shall pour the water out of his buckets.] This seems to imply, that God should bless them with plentiful harvests, to which rain greatly contributed in those countries.

His seed shall be in many waters;] Rather by many waters. That is, it shall be sown in a ground well watered, and consequently bring forth a plentiful crop. Metaphorically it may imply the great increase of the Israelites.

His king shall be higher than Agag.] Agag was the greatest king then known; it was the general name for the kings of Amalek.

Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies, and, behold, thou hast altogether blessed them these three times.

11 Therefore now flee thou to thy place: I thought to promote thee unto great honour; but, lo, the LORD hath kept thee back from honour.

12 And Balaam said unto Balak, Spake not I also to thy messengers which thou sentest unto me, saying,

13 If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the LORD, to do either good or bad of mine own mind: but what the LORD saith, that will I speak?

14 And now, behold, I go unto my people: come therefore, and I will advertise thee what this people shall do to thy people in the latter days.

15 ¶ And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes are open hath said:

16 He hath said, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the Most High, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open:

17 I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not nigh: there shall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Sceptre shall rise out of Israel, and shall smite the corners of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth.

18 And Edom shall be a possession, Seir also shall be a possession for his enemies; and Israel shall do valiantly.

19 Out of Jacob shall come he that shall have dominion, and shall destroy him that remaineth of the city.

20 And when he looked on Amalek, he took up his parable, and said, Amalek was the first of the nations, but his latter end shall be that he perish for ever.

21 And he looked on the Kenites, and took up his parable, and said, Strong is thy dwelling-place, and thou puttest thy nest in a rock.

22 Nevertheless, the Kenite shall be wasted, until Asshur shall carry thee away captive.

23 And he took up his parable, and said, Alas, who shall live when God doeth this!

24 And ships shall come from the coast of Chittim, and shall afflict Asshur, and shall afflict Eber, and he also shall perish for ever.

11. The Lord hath kept thee back from honour:] Jehovah hath kept thee back from honour; insinuating that Balaam had been more careful to please Jehovah, whom he considered only as the tutelary god of the Hebrews, than Baal-peor, or the other gods of the Moabites.

14. Come—and I will advertise thee, &c.] Here it would seem, that pernicious counsel, mentioned chap. 31. 16. which Balaam gave to Balak, ought to come in: and accordingly it is here inserted in the Chaldaic, the Jerusalem, and Jonathan's paraphrase.

17. I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not nigh.] It is common in Hebrew to use the future for the present tense; and therefore the true sense of the passage is, I see him, (the person of whom he is going to speak,) though not yet in being: I behold him, though he be yet far off.

There shall come a star out of Jacob, and a sceptre shall rise out of Israel.] This prophecy may possibly, in some sense, relate to David; but, without doubt, it belongs principally to Christ; for we must remember that the Egyptians had two sorts of alphabetic letters, one popular, the other mysterious: here the metaphor of sceptre was common and popular, to denote a ruler, like David: but the star, though, like the other, it signified, in the prophetic writings, a temporal prince, yet it had a hidden and mysterious meaning likewise, and in the Egyptian hieroglyphics denoted a god: hence we conclude, that the metaphor here used of a star was of that mysterious kind, and so to be understood; and consequently that it related only to Christ, the eternal Son of God. Warburton's Div. Legat. vol. II. p. 148.

Shall smite the corners of Moab:] Shall utterly destroy the Moabites. This, in the spiritual meaning, denotes the victories which Christ gained over the Gentiles; not by destroying their bodies, as David did those of the Moabites, but by captivating their minds to the love of goodness, and subduing their affections to the service of the true God. Le Clerc.

And destroy all the children of Sheth.] Moab and the children of Sheth were the same people. Seth signifies a drunkard, and they might properly be called the children of the drunkard, when they derived their being as a people from their father Lot's being in liquor; hence their country was called Shittim, Numb. 25. 1.

19. Out of Jacob shall come he that shall have dominion.] This was literally fulfilled in David, and has its spiritual accomplishment in Christ, whose universal dominion is thus described: He shall have dominion from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth, Psa. 77. 8.

20. Amalek was the first of the nations;] One of the most ancient, eminent, and noble of all the neighbouring nations, Gen. 14. 7.

No. 12.

25 And Balaam rose up, and went and returned to his place: and Balak also went his way.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Israel commit whoredom and idolatry.—6 Phinebas killeth Zimri and Cozbi.—16 The Midianites are to be vexed.

AND Israel abode in Shittim, and the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab.

2 And they called the people unto the sacrifices of their gods: and the people did eat, and bowed down to their gods.

3 And Israel joined himself unto Baal-peor: and the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel.

4 And the LORD said unto Moses, Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up before the LORD against the sun, that the fierce anger of the LORD may be turned away from Israel.

5 And Moses said unto the judges of Israel, Slay ye every one his men that were joined unto Baal-peor.

6 ¶ And, behold, one of the children of Israel came and brought unto his brethren a Midianitish woman, in the sight of Moses, and in the sight of all the congregation of the children of Israel, who were weeping before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7 And when Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, saw it, he rose up from among the congregation, and took a javelin in his hand.

8 And he went after the man of Israel into the tent, and thrust both of them through, the man of Israel, and the woman through her belly. So the plague was stayed from the children of Israel.

9 And those that died in the plague were twenty and four thousand.

10 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

11 Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, hath turned my wrath away from the children of Israel, (while he was zealous for my sake among them,) that I consumed not the children of Israel in my jealousy.

12 Wherefore say, Behold, I give unto him my covenant of peace.

13 And

His latter end shall be, that he perish for ever.] This prediction was literally accomplished by Saul, 1 Sam. 15. 18.

21. And he looked on the Kenites.] By the Kenites seems to be meant the Midianites, Jethro's posterity, for he was called the Kenite, Judg. 1. 16. Strong is thy dwelling-place, and thou puttest thy nest in a rock.] It seems they dwelt upon steep mountains, and therefore thought themselves secure.

22. Nevertheless, the Kenite shall be wasted until Asshur shall carry thee away captive.] The Kenites shall be insensibly diminished, till at last they are all carried away captive by the Assyrians; which was accomplished when Salmanezzer, king of Assyria, carried away the ten tribes into captivity, and with them the Kenites.

24. Ships shall come from the coast of Chittim, and shall afflict Asshur.] By Chittim is meant Greece, Gen. 10. 4. This prophecy was fulfilled when Alexander the Great overthrew the Persian empire, which included the Chaldeans and Assyrians.

And shall afflict Asshur:] Probably the neighbouring nations bordering upon the river Euphrates.

And he also shall perish for ever.] This doth not refer to Eber, i. e. to the Hebrews and other eastern nations, but to those that afflicted them, viz. the Greeks and Romans, who he prophesies should at last be utterly destroyed.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXV.

Verse 1. Daughters of Moab, &c.] And of Midian also, as appears from verse 6, 17, 18. These women exposed themselves to the lust of the Israelites, and enticed them to idolatry, by the counsel of Balak, who having learned that the prosperity of Israel depended upon the observance of the divine laws, and that there was no way to bring a curse on them but by seducing them from their duty, invented this low stratagem to accomplish his wicked design.

2. Called the people to the sacrifice of their gods.] The feasts which succeeded these sacrifices were accompanied with music and dancing, which had a great tendency to invite youthful minds to partake of them, and at the same time to inflame their carnal appetites, which these fair deluders would not let them gratify, unless they consented to worship their idols.

4. Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up.] This passage may be better rendered, Take unto thine assistance all the heads or judges of the people, and hang them up, i. e. all those who have joined themselves to Baal-peor.

9. Those that died in the plague were twenty and four thousand.] St. Paul mentions

2 N

13 And he shall have it, and his seed after him, even the covenant of an everlasting priesthood; because he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Israel.

14 Now the name of the Israelite that was slain, even that was slain with the Midianitish woman, was Zimri the son of Salu, a prince of a chief house among the Simeonites.

15 And the name of the Midianitish woman that was slain was Cozbi, the daughter of Zur; he was head over a people, and of a chief house in Midian.

16 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

17 Vex the Midianites, and smite them:

18 For they vex you with their wives, wherewith they have beguiled you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of a prince of Midian their sister, which was slain in the day of the plague for Peor's sake.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 The sum of all Israel taken.—57 The families and number of the Levites.

AND it came to pass after the plague, that the LORD spake unto Moses, and unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, saying,

2 Take the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, from twenty years old and upward, throughout their father's house, all that are able to go to war in Israel.

3 And Moses and Eleazar the priest spake with them in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho, saying,

4 Take the sum of the people, from twenty years old and upward, as the LORD commanded Moses and the children of Israel, which went forth out of the land of Egypt.

5 ¶ Reuben, the eldest son of Israel: the children of Reuben; Hanoch, of whom cometh the family of the Hanochites: of Pallu, the family of the Palluites:

6 Of Hezron, the family of the Hezronites: of Carmi, the family of the Carmites.

7 These are the families of the Reubenites: and they that were numbered of them were forty and three thousand and seven hundred and thirty.

8 And the sons of Pallu; Eliab.

9 And the sons of Eliab; Nemuel, and Dathan, and Abiram. This is that Dathan and Abiram, which were famous in the congregation, who strove against Moses and against Aaron in the company of Korah, when they strove against the LORD:

10 And the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them up together with Korah, when that company died, what time the fire devoured two hundred and fifty men: and they became a sign.

11 Notwithstanding, the children of Korah died not.

12 ¶ The sons of Simeon, after their families: of Nemuel, the family of the Nemuelites: of Jamin, the family of the Jaminites: of Jachin, the family of the Jachinites:

13 Of Zerah, the family of the Zarhites: of Shaul the family of the Shaulites.

14 These are the families of the Simeonites, twenty and two thousand and two hundred.

15 ¶ The children of Gad after their families: of Zephon, the family of the Zephonites: of Haggi, the family of the Haggites: of Shuni, the family of the Shunites:

16 Of Ozni, the family of the Oznites: of Eri, the family of the Erites:

17 Of Arod, the family of the Arodites: of Areli, the family of the Arelites.

Verse 2. Take the sum of all the congregation.] They were numbered twice before, Exod. 30. 11, 12. and chap. 1. 1, 2. Now they are numbered a third time, partly to demonstrate the faithfulness of God, both in cutting all those off whom he had threatened to cut off, chap. 14. 29.

and in a stupendous increase and multiplication of the people according to his promise, notwithstanding all their sins, and the sweeping judgments inflicted upon them; and partly to prepare the way for the equal division of the land which they were now going to possess.

10. And the earth swallowed them up together with Korah, &c.] These words seem to import that Korah was swallowed up with Dathan and Abiram. But it being more probable, chap. 16. 32. that Korah was consumed by the fire of God with those who offered incense unbidden; the words may be otherways translated thus; The earth swallowed them up, viz. Dathan and Abiram: And as for Korah, he died with that company what time the fire devoured, &c.

52 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

53 Unto these the land shall be divided for an inheritance, according to the number of names.

54 To many thou shalt give the more inheritance, and to few thou shalt give the less inheritance: to every one shall his inheritance be given, according to those that were numbered of him.

55 Notwithstanding, the land shall be divided by lot; according to the names of the tribes of their fathers they shall inherit.

56 According to the lot shall the possession thereof be divided between many and few.

58 These are the families of the Levites: the family of the Libnites, the family of the Hebronites, the family of the Mahlites, the family of the Mushites, the family of the Korathites. And Kohath begat Amram.

54. To every one shall his inheritance be given.] This equal division of property was, under God, the great bulwark and strength of the Hebrew commonwealth; for property is the natural foundation of power, and hence the natural foundation of every government is laid in the distribution of the lands or territory belonging to the several members of it. According to a tolerably exact computation of the extent of the Hebrew territory, the land of Canaan contained about fourteen millions nine hundred and seventy-six thousand acres; which quantity of land will divide to six hundred thousand men above twenty-one acres and a half in property, with a remainder of one million nine hundred and seventy-six thousand acres for the princes of tribes, heads of families, Levitical cities, and other public uses: so that there was a provision sufficient to enable each person, with all the advantages of that fertile country and fine climate, to live as well as men can do in ours upon an estate of fifty or sixty pounds a year.

55. Notwithstanding, the land shall be divided by lot.] This dividing by lot had respect only to the quarter each tribe was to possess: thus, for instance, it was first determined by lot which of the twelve tribes

61 And Nadab and Abihu died, when they offered strange fire before the LORD.

62 And those that were numbered of them were twenty and three thousand, all males, from a month old and upward: for they were not numbered among the children of Israel, because there was no inheritance given them among the children of Israel.

63 ¶ These are they that were numbered by Moses and Eleazar the priest, who numbered the children of Israel in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho.

64 But among these there was not a man of them whom Moses and Aaron the priest numbered, when they numbered the children of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai.

65 For the LORD had said of them, They shall surely die in the wilderness. And there was not left a man of them, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The daughters of Zelophehad sue for an inheritance.—15 Moses sueth for a successor.—18 Joshua is appointed.

THE N came the daughters of Zelophehad, the son of Hopher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of Manasseh the son of Joseph: and these are the names of his daughters; Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah.

2 And they stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the priest, and before the princes, and all the congregation, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,

3 Our father died in the wilderness, and he was not in the company of them that gathered themselves together against the LORD in the company of Korah; but died in his own sin, and had no sons.

4 Why should the name of our father be done away from among his family, because he hath no son? Give unto us therefore a possession among the brethren of our father.

5 And Moses brought their cause before the LORD.

6 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

7 The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren, and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them.

8 And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter.

9 And if he have no daughter, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren.

10 And if he have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his father's brethren.

11 And if his father have no brethren, then ye shall give

65. There was not left a man of them;] To wit, of those who then murmured and rebelled against God; as plainly appears, both because this threatening and punishment is confined to those transgressors, and because otherwise this had not been true; for of those that were then numbered, there were now left Eleazar and Ithamar, and possibly many of the Levites, and some others, who being not guilty of that sin, did not partake of their judgment.

Verse 3. But died in his own sin.] He did not die as a ringleader of rebellion, in which he had associated others to sin with him, but as a common sinner, to whom death is due.

give his inheritance unto his kinsman that is next to him of his family, and he shall possess it; and it shall be unto the children of Israel a statute of judgment, as the LORD commanded Moses.

12 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Get thee up into this mount Abarim, and see the land which I have given unto the children of Israel.

13 And when thou hast seen it, thou also shalt be gathered unto thy people, as Aaron thy brother was gathered.

14 For ye rebelled against my commandment in the desert of Zin, in the strife of the congregation, to sanctify me at the water before their eyes: that is, the water of Meribah in Kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin.

15 ¶ And Moses spake unto the LORD, saying,

16 Let the LORD, the God of the spirits of all flesh, set a man over the congregation, 17 Which may go out before them, and which may go in before them, and which may lead them out, and which may bring them in; that the congregation of the LORD be not as sheep which have no shepherd.

18 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Take thee Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the spirit, and lay thine hand upon him;

19 And set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation: and give him a charge in their sight.

20 And thou shalt put some of thine honour upon him, that all the congregation of the children of Israel may be obedient.

21 And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall ask counsel for him, after the judgment of Urim before the LORD: at his word shall they go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he and all the children of Israel with him, even all the congregation.

22 And Moses did as the LORD commanded him: and he took Joshua, and set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation.

23 And he laid his hands upon him, and gave him a charge, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

C H A P. XXVIII.

3 The continual burnt-offering,—9 The offering on the sabbath,—16 at the passover,—26 in the day of first-fruits.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Command the children of Israel, and say unto them, My offering, and my bread for my sacrifices made by fire, for a sweet savour unto me, shall ye observe to offer unto me in their due season.

3 ¶ And thou shalt say unto them, This is the offering made by fire which ye shall offer unto the LORD: two lambs of the first year without spot, day by day, for a continual burnt-offering.

4 The one lamb shalt thou offer in the morning, and the other lamb shalt thou offer at even:

5 And a tenth part of an ephah of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil.

12. Abarim.] The whole tract of mountains was called Abarim, whereof one of the highest was called Nebo, and the top of that Pisgah, Deut. 34. 1. It appears, from Deut. 32. 49. that these words were spoken after all that follows in this book, and also in the book of Deuteronomy.

18. Lay thine hand, &c.] This ceremony denoted Moses' transferring the public trust, which was delegated to him from God, from himself upon Joshua.

20. Thou shalt put some of thine honour.] Thou shalt not now use him as a servant, as thou hast done, but as a brother, and thy partner in the government, shewing respect to him, and causing others to do so.

21. Stand before Eleazar the priest.] It is the opinion of both Jewish and Christian interpreters, that none but persons of the first dignity were allowed to consult the oracles of God in this manner; so that this privilege shews the great pre-eminence Joshua had above other Israelites; for though he was not to be admitted to so near an intercourse with God as Moses had been, yet he is here assured, that he should never want direction from the oracle in any doubt, by consulting the high-priest, who was to receive the answer.

After the judgment of Urim.] See note on Exod. 28. 30.

6 It is a continual burnt-offering, which was ordained in mount Sinai for a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

7 And the drink-offering thereof shall be the fourth part of an hin for the one lamb: in the holy place shalt thou cause the strong wine to be poured unto the LORD for a drink-offering.

8 And the other lamb shalt thou offer at even: as the meat-offering of the morning, and as the drink-offering thereof, thou shalt offer it, a sacrifice made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

9 ¶ And on the sabbath-day two lambs of the first year without spot, and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, and the drink-offering thereof:

10 This is the burnt-offering of every sabbath, besides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

11 ¶ And in the beginnings of your months ye shall offer a burnt-offering unto the LORD; two young bullocks, and one ram, seven lambs of the first year, without spot:

12 And three tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, for one bullock: and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, for one ram;

13 And a several tenth-deal of flour mingled with oil for a meat-offering unto one lamb, for a burnt-offering of a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

14 And their drink-offerings shall be half an hin of wine unto a bullock, and the third part of an hin unto a ram, and a fourth part of an hin unto a lamb: this is the burnt-offering of every month throughout the months of the year.

15 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering unto the LORD shall be offered, besides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

16 ¶ And in the fourteenth day of the first month is the passover of the LORD.

17 And on the fifteenth day of this month is the feast: seven days shall unleavened bread be eaten.

18 In the first day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall do manner of servile work therein:

19 But ye shall offer a sacrifice made by fire for a burnt-offering unto the LORD; two young bullocks, and one ram, and seven lambs of the first year: they shall be unto you without blemish:

20 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oil: three tenth-deals shall ye offer for a bullock, and two tenth-deals for a ram:

21 A several tenth-deal shalt thou offer for every lamb, throughout the seven lambs;

22 And one goat for a sin-offering, to make an atonement for you.

23 Ye shall offer these besides the burnt-offering in the morning, which is for a continual burnt-offering.

24 After this manner ye shall offer daily, throughout the seven days, the meat of the sacrifice made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD: it shall be offered besides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

25 And on the seventh day ye shall have an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work:

Vers 1. And the Lord spake, &c.] The stated sacrifices and service of the tabernacle having now, for many years, by reason of the frequent and tedious journeys of the Israelites, been very much interrupted, and this new generation not having heard the ordinances relating to them at their first institution, and being now shortly to take up their residence in the promised land, where they were obliged to conform to the most punctual observance of them; God commands Moses to repeat them to the people, in the following order, of daily, weekly, monthly, and anniversary sacrifices.

2. My offering, and my bread.] The sacrifices which were consumed on the altar were considered as the food of God.

23. The burnt-offering in the morning.] The morning sacrifice alone is mentioned, because the celebration of the feast began with it; and principally because this alone was doubtful, whether this might not be omitted when so many other sacrifices were offered in that morning; whereas there was no question but the evening sacrifice should be offered, when there were none other besides it to be offered.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The offering at the feast of trumpets,—12 and on the eight days of the feast of tabernacles.

AND in the seventh month, on the first day of the month, ye shall have an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work: it is a day of blowing the trumpets unto you.

2 And ye shall offer a burnt-offering for a sweet savour unto the LORD, one young bullock, one ram, and seven lambs of the first year, without blemish;

3 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals for a bullock, and two tenth-deals for a ram,

4 And one tenth-deal for one lamb, throughout the seven lambs;

5 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, to make an atonement for you:

6 Besides the burnt-offering of the month, and his meat-offering, and the daily burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, according unto their manner, for a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And ye shall have on the tenth day of this seventh month an holy convocation; and ye shall afflict your souls: ye shall not do any work therein.

8 But ye shall offer a burnt-offering unto the LORD for a sweet savour; one young bullock, one ram, and seven lambs of the first year; they shall be unto you without blemish.

9 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals to a bullock, and two tenth-deals to one ram,

10 A several tenth-deal for one lamb, throughout the seven lambs:

11 One kid of the goats for a sin-offering; besides the sin-offering of atonement, and the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering of it, and their drink-offerings.

12 ¶ And on the fifteenth day of the seventh month ye shall have an holy convocation; ye shall do no servile work, and ye shall keep a feast unto the LORD seven days:

13 And ye shall offer a burnt-offering, a sacrifice made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD; thirteen young bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year; they shall be without blemish:

14 And their meat-offering shall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals unto every bullock of the thirteen bullocks, two tenth-deals to each ram of the two rams,

15 And a several tenth-deal to each lamb of the fourteen lambs:

16 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

17 ¶ And on the second day ye shall offer twelve young bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the first year, without spot:

18 And their meat-offering and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

19 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering thereof, and their drink-offerings.

20 ¶ And on the third day eleven bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the first year, without blemish:

21 And their meat-offering and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

22 And one goat for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

23 ¶ And on the fourth day ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year, without blemish:

24 Their meat-offering and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

25 And one kid of the goats for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

26 ¶ And on the fifth day nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year, without spot:

27 And their meat-offering and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

28 And one goat for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

29 ¶ And on the sixth day, eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year, without blemish:

30 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

31 And one goat for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

32 ¶ And on the seventh day seven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the first year, without blemish:

33 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

34 And one goat for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

35 ¶ On the eighth day ye shall have a solemn assembly: ye shall do no servile work therein.

36 But ye shall offer a burnt-offering, a sacrifice made by fire, of a sweet savour unto the LORD; one bullock, one ram, seven lambs of the first year, without blemish:

37 Their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, for the bullock, for the ram, and for the lambs, shall be according to their number, after the manner:

38 And one goat for a sin-offering, besides the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

reason of this festival, authors are much divided about it. The Jews, in general, believe it was instituted in memory of the creation, which happened at the time of the year on which this feast was ordered to be celebrated. Some of the fathers are of opinion it was in memory of the law given on mount Sinai, at which time the trumpet and thunder was heard. Others, from some of the ceremonies observed by the Jews, by way of preparation for, and from some of their notions about this festival, have conceived, that it was intended to put mankind in remembrance of the general resurrection, which is to be ushered in with the sound of the trumpet, Lev. 23. 24. *Univers. 2 Vows not to be broken.—3 Exception of a maid's vow,—6 of a wife's,—9 of a widow's.

AND Moses spake unto the heads of the tribes concerning the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded.

2 If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth.

3 ¶ If a woman also vow a vow unto the LORD, and bind herself by a bond, being in her father's house in her youth;

4 And her father hear her vow, and her bond wherewith she hath bound her soul, and her father shall hold his peace at her: then all her vows shall stand, and every bond wherewith she hath bound her soul shall stand.

5 But if her father disallow her in the day that he heareth, not any of her vows or of her bonds wherewith she hath bound her soul shall stand: and the LORD shall forgive her, because her father disallowed her.

6 ¶ And if she had at all an husband when she vowed, or uttered ought out of her lips, wherewith she bound her soul;

7 And her husband heard it, and held his peace at her in the day that he heard it; then her vows shall stand, and her bonds wherewith she bound her soul shall stand.

8 But if her husband disallowed her on the day that he heard it; then he shall make her vow which she vowed, and that which she uttered with her lips, wherewith she bound her soul, of none effect: and the LORD shall forgive her.

9 ¶ But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced, wherewith they have bound their souls, shall stand against her.

10 And if she vowed in her husband's house, or bound her soul by a bond with an oath;

11 And her husband heard it, and held his peace at her, and disallowed her not: then all her vows shall stand, and every bond wherewith she bound her soul shall stand.

12 But if her husband hath utterly made them void on the day he heard them; then whatsoever proceeded out of her lips concerning her vows, or concerning the bond of her soul, shall not stand: her husband hath made them void, and the LORD shall forgive her.

13 Every vow, and every binding oath to afflict the soul, her husband may establish it, or her husband may make it void.

14 But if her husband altogether hold his peace at her from day to day; then he establisheth all her vows, or all her bonds, which are upon her: he confirmeth them, because he held his peace at her in the day that he heard them.

15 But if he shall any wise make them void, after that he hath heard them, then he shall bear her iniquity.

16 These are the statutes which the LORD commanded Moses between a man and his wife, between the father and his daughter, being yet in her youth, in her father's house.

4 Of every tribe a thousand, throughout all the tribes of Israel, shall ye send to the war.

5 So there were delivered out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand of every tribe, twelve thousand armed for war.

6 And Moses sent them to the war, a thousand of every tribe, them and Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, to the war, with the holy instruments, and the trumpets to blow in his hand.

7 And they warred against the Midianites, as the LORD commanded Moses; and they slew all the males.

8 And they slew the kings of Midian, besides the rest of them that were slain; namely, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian; Balaam also the son of Beor they slew with the sword.

9 And the children of Israel took all the women of Midian captives, and their little ones, and took the spoil of all their cattle, and all their flocks, and all their goods.

10 And they burnt all their cities wherein they dwelt, and all their goodly castles, with fire.

11 And they took all the spoil, and all the prey, both of men and of beasts.

12 And they brought the captives, and the prey, and the spoil, unto Moses, and Eleazar the priest, and unto the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the camp at 39. And for your peace-offerings.] It appears from the account, that there were every year sacrificed at the tabernacle and temple, at the national charge, the following number of beasts, viz. lambs 1101, bullocks 122, rams 72, kids 21, goats 2; exclusive of a prodigious number of voluntary vow and trespass-offerings.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXX.

Verse 1. Heads of the tribes, &c.] Representatives of the people, called heads of the people, Deut. 33. 5. Called also princes of Israel, 1 Chron. 28. 1.

2. To bind his soul with a bond.] To restrain himself from something otherwise lawful, or to oblige himself to the performance of something otherwise not necessary.

3. If a woman—vow.] Being unmarried, and therefore at her parents' disposal, the law orders that her vows shall be no further obligatory than as her parents consent to them at first making thereof: the same rule holds good as to orphans, servants, and wives, who are under the power of their guardians, masters, and husbands.

5. The Lord shall forgive her.] Or will forgive, either her rashness in making such vows, or rather her not performing of them. But this is to be understood only of such vows as could not be performed without invading the father's or superior's right.

9. Every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced.] Though she be in her father's house, whither such persons oft returned: which limitation may be gathered both from the opposition of her being in her father's house, ver. 10. and from hence, that this was the only doubtful case; for if such a person was not in her father's house, she was unquestionably bound by it; and being now freed from her husband, and returned to her father, it was doubtful whether she was not returned to the same state of subjection in which she was before, and consequently unable to make or perform a vow without her father's consent, as she was before, which is here denied.

13. To afflict the soul, &c.] The word soul here means no more than animal life. This vow was a religious resolution of fasting or humiliation, in which case the husband, as having power over his wife's body, might confirm or disannul it.

14. If her husband—hold his peace.] His silence, or his not contradicting it at the first proposal, shall be interpreted a consent; nor shall it be in the husband's or father's power to retract that consent, or hinder her from performing her vow; if he does, he shall bear her iniquity: God shall punish him, and not her, for a breach of sacred faith.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXI.

Verse 2. Shalt thou be gathered unto thy people.] See note on Gen. 25. 8. but Moses was first to see the Midianites justly punished, for having enticed the Hebrews to idolatry, according to Balaam's wicked counsel.

5. Twelve thousand armed for war.] God would send no more, though it is apparent that the Midianites were numerous and strong, because he would try and exercise their trust in him, and because he would hereby give them an earnest of their conquest of Canaan.

7. All the males.] All whom they took in that war; and herein they did according to God's own order concerning such people, Deut. 20. 13.

8. Balaam also, &c.] He certainly very justly perished for the evil counsel he had given against Israel. See verse 16.

14. And at the plains of Moab, which are by Jordan near Jericho.

13 ¶ And Moses, and Eleazar the priest, and all the princes of the congregation, went forth to meet them without the camp.

14 And Moses was wroth with the officers of the host, with the captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, which came from the battle.

15 And Moses said unto them, Have ye saved all the women alive?

16 Behold, these caused the children of Israel, through the counsel of Balaam, to commit trespass against the LORD in the matter of Peor, and there was a plague among the congregation of the LORD.

17 Now therefore kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman that hath known man by lying with him.

18 But all the women-children, that have not known a man by lying with him, keep alive for yourselves.

19 And do ye abide without the camp seven days; whosoever hath killed any person, and whosoever hath touched any slain, purify both yourselves and your captives on the third day, and on the seventh day.

20 And purify all your raiment, and all that is made of skins, and all work of goats' hair, and all things made of wood.

21 ¶ And Eleazar the priest said unto the men of war which went to the battle, This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD commanded Moses;

22 Only the gold, and the silver, the brass, the iron, the tin, and the lead;

23 Every thing that may abide the fire, ye shall make it go through the fire, and it shall be clean: nevertheless it shall be purified with the water of separation: and all that abideth not the fire ye shall make go through the water.

24 And ye shall wash your clothes on the seventh day, and ye shall be clean, and afterward ye shall come into the camp.

25 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Take the sum of the prey that was taken, both of man and of beast, thou, and Eleazar the priest, and the chief fathers of the congregation:

27 And divide the prey into two parts; between them that took the war upon them, who went out to battle, and between all the congregation.

28 And levy a tribute unto the LORD of the men of war which went out to battle; one soul of five hundred, both of the persons, and of the beeves, and of the asses, and of the sheep.

29 Take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the priest, for an heave-offering of the LORD.

30 And of the children of Israel's half, thou shalt take one portion of fifty, of the persons, of the beeves, of the asses, and of the flocks, of all manner of beasts, and give them unto the Levites, which keep the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD.

31 And Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the LORD commanded Moses.

32 And the booty, being the rest of the prey, which the men of war had caught, was six hundred thousand and seventy thousand and five thousand sheep,

33 And threescore and twelve thousand beeves,

34 And threescore and one thousand asses,

35 And thirty and two thousand persons in all, of women that had not known man by lying with him.

36 And the half, which was the portion of them that went out to war, was in number three hundred thousand and seven and thirty thousand and five hundred sheep;

37 And the LORD's tribute of the sheep was six hundred and threescore and fifteen.

38 And the beeves were thirty and six thousand, of which the LORD's tribute was threescore and twelve.

39 And the asses were thirty thousand and five hundred, of which the LORD's tribute was threescore and one.

40 And the persons were sixteen thousand, of which the LORD's tribute was thirty and two persons.

41 And Moses gave the tribute, which was the LORD's heave-offering, unto Eleazar the priest, as the LORD commanded Moses.

42 And of the children of Israel's half, which Moses divided from the men that warred,

43 (Now the half that pertained unto the congregation, was three hundred thousand and thirty thousand and seven thousand and five hundred sheep,

44 And thirty and six thousand beeves,

45 And thirty thousand asses and five hundred,

46 And sixteen thousand persons;)

47 Even of the children of Israel's half, Moses took one portion of fifty, both of man and of beast, and gave them unto the Levites, which kept the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD: as the LORD commanded Moses.

48 ¶ And the officers which were over thousands of the host, the captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds, came near unto Moses;

49 And they said unto Moses, Thy servants have taken the sum of the men of war which are under our charge, and there lacketh not one man of us.

50 We have therefore brought an oblation for the LORD, what every man hath gotten, of jewels of gold, chains, and bracelets, rings, ear-rings, and tablets, to make an atonement for our souls before the LORD.

51 And Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold of them, even all wrought jewels.

52 And all the gold of the offering that they offered up to the LORD, of the captains of thousands, and of the captains of hundreds, was sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty shekels.

53 (For the men of war had taken spoil, every man for himself.)

54 And Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold of the captains of thousands, and of hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for a memorial for the children of Israel before the LORD.

C H A P.

14. And Moses was wroth, &c.] If we reflect upon the use which the Midianitish women had made of the advice of Balaam, and had actually prostituted themselves to promote the ruin of the Israelites, we cannot wonder at the conduct of Moses to the most abandoned among them, to which, undoubtedly, his orders were restrained.

17. Kill every male among the little ones;] Which they were forbidden to do to other people, Deut. 20. 14. except the Canaanites, to whom this people had equalled themselves by their horrid crimes; and therefore it is not strange, nor unjust, that God, the supreme Lord of all men's lives, who as he gives them, so may take them away when he pleaseth, did equal them in the punishment.

And kill every woman that hath known man;] Partly for punishment, because the guilt was general; and though some of them only did prostitute themselves to the Israelites, yet the rest made themselves accessory by their consent, or concurrence, or approbation; and partly, for prevention of the like mischief from such an adulterous generation.

18. For yourselves;] Either to sell them as slaves to others, or to use them as servants to yourselves, or to marry them, when you have prepared and instructed them.

27. All the congregation.] The congregation had some share, because the warriors went in the name of all, and because all having been injured by the Midianites, all were to have some share in the reparation; but the warriors, who were but 12,000, had a far greater share than others of their brethren, because they underwent greater pains and dangers.

28. A tribute unto the Lord—one soul of five hundred.] The Lord's tribute of men was not, that they should be slain in sacrifice, as some have absurdly imagined; but they were a tribute or donation for the use of the priests and Levites, to be employed by them as their ministers and servants.

32. The rest of the prey, &c.] This country must have been extremely rich and populous, since the account of the whole booty amounts to no less than,

Sheep	-	-	-	-	675,000
Neat cattle	-	-	-	-	72,000
Asses	-	-	-	-	61,000
Virgins and young girls	-	-	-	-	32,000

49. There lacketh not one man of us.] The Israelites had here an evident proof that the hand of Omnipotence fought against their enemies.

52. Sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty shekels;] About five talents and a half, for three hundred shekels make a talent, Erod. 25. 39. which amounts to about twenty-seven thousand nine hundred and nineteen pounds sterling.

C H A P. XXXII.

1 The Reubenites and Gadites sue for their inheritance.—6 Moses reproveth them.—16 Offer conditions.—33 Moses assigneth them the land.—39 They conquer it.

NOW the children of Reuben and the children of Gad had a very great multitude of cattle: and when they saw the land of Jazer, and the land of Gilead, that, behold, the place was a place for cattle;

2 The children of Gad and the children of Reuben came and spake unto Moses, and to Eleazar the priest, and unto the princes of the congregation, saying,

3 Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon,

4 Even the country which the LORD smote before the congregation of Israel, is a land for cattle, and thy servants have cattle.

5 Wherefore, said they, if we have found grace in thy sight, let this land be given unto thy servants for a possession, and bring us not over Jordan.

6 ¶ And Moses said unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, Shall your brethren go to war, and shall ye sit here?

7 And wherefore discourage ye the heart of the children of Israel from going over into the land which the LORD hath given them?

8 Thus did your fathers, when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to see the land.

9 For when they went up unto the valley of Eshcol, and saw the land, they discouraged the heart of the children of Israel, that they should not go into the land which the LORD had given them.

10 And the LORD's anger was kindled the same time, and he sware, saying,

11 Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land which I swore unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob; because they have not wholly followed me:

12 Save Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite, and Joshua the son of Nun: for they have wholly followed the LORD.

13 And the LORD's anger was kindled against Israel, and he made them wander in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the LORD was consumed.

14 And, behold, ye are risen up in your fathers' stead, an increase of sinful men, to augment yet the fierce anger of the LORD toward Israel.

15 For if ye turn away from after him, he will yet again leave them in the wilderness; and ye shall destroy all this people.

16 ¶ And they came near unto him, and said, We will build sheep-folds here for our cattle, and cities for our little ones:

17 But we ourselves will go ready armed before the children of Israel, until we have brought them unto their place; and our little ones shall dwell in the fenced cities, because of the inhabitants of the land.

18 We will not return unto our houses, until the children of Israel have inherited every man his inheritance.

19 For we will not inherit with them on yonder side Jordan, or forward, because our inheritance is fallen to us on this side Jordan eastward.

20 ¶ And Moses said unto them, If ye will do this thing, if ye will go armed before the LORD to war,

21 And will go all of you armed over Jordan before the LORD, until he hath driven out his enemies from before him,

22 And the land be subdued before the LORD; then afterward ye shall return, and be guiltless before the LORD, and before Israel; and this land shall be your possession before the LORD.

23 But if ye will not do so, behold, ye have sinned against the LORD: and be sure your sin will find you out.

24 Build ye cities for your little ones, and folds for your sheep: and do that which hath proceeded out of your mouth.

25 And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben spake unto Moses, saying, Thy servants will do as my lord commandeth.

26 Our little ones, our wives, our flocks, and all our cattle, shall be there in the cities of Gilead:

27 But thy servants will pass over, every man armed for war, before the LORD to battle, as my lord saith.

28 So concerning them Moses commanded Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel:

29 And Moses said unto them, If the children of Gad and the children of Reuben will pass with you over Jordan, every man armed to battle, before the LORD, and the land shall be subdued before you; then ye shall give them the land of Gilead for a possession:

30 But if they will not pass over with you armed, they shall have possessions among you in the land of Canaan.

31 And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben answered, saying, As the LORD hath said unto thy servants, so will we do.

32 We will pass over armed before the LORD into the land of Canaan, that the possession of our inheritance on this side Jordan may be ours.

33 And Moses gave unto them, even to the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and unto half the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land, with the cities thereof in the coasts, even the cities of the country round about.

34 ¶ And the children of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer,

35 And Atroth, Shophan, and Jaazer, and Jogbehah,

36 And Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, fenced cities: and folds for sheep.

37 And the children of Reuben built Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Kirjathaim,

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Two and forty journeys of the Israelites.—50 The Canaanites are to be destroyed.

THESE are the journeys of the children of Israel, which went forth out of the land of Egypt, with their armies, under the hand of Moses and Aaron.

2 And Moses wrote their goings out according to their journeys, by the commandment of the LORD: and these are their journeys, according to their goings out.

3 And they departed from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month: on the morrow after the passover, the children of Israel went out with an high hand in the sight of all the Egyptians.

4 (For the Egyptians buried all their first-born, which the LORD had smitten among them: upon their gods also the LORD executed judgments.)

5 And the children of Israel removed from Rameses, and pitched in Succoth.

6 And they departed from Succoth, and pitched in Etham, which is in the edge of the wilderness.

7 And they removed from Etham, and turned again unto Pi-hahiroth, which is before Baal-zephon: and they pitched before Migdol.

8 And they departed from before Pi-hahiroth, and passed through the midst of the sea, into the wilderness, and went three days' journey in the wilderness of Etham, and pitched in Marah.

9 And they removed from Marah, and came unto Elim: and in Elim were twelve fountains of water, and threescore and ten palm-trees; and they pitched there.

10 And they removed from Elim, and encamped by the Red sea.

11 And they removed from the Red sea, and encamped in the wilderness of Sin.

12 And they took their journey out of the wilderness of Sin, and encamped in Dophkah.

13 And they departed from Dophkah, and encamped in Alush.

14 And they removed from Alush, and encamped at Rephidim, where was no water for the people to drink.

15 And they departed from Rephidim, and pitched in the wilderness of Sinai.

16 And they removed from the desert of Sinai, and pitched at Kibroth-hattaavah.

17 And they departed from Kibroth-hattaavah, and encamped at Hazeroth.

18 And they departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in Rithmah.

19 And they departed from Rithmah, and pitched at Rimmon-parez.

20 And they departed from Rimmon-parez, and pitched in Libnah.

21 And they removed from Libnah, and pitched at Rissah.

22 And they journeyed from Rissah, and pitched in Kehelathah.

23 And they went from Kehelathah, and pitched in mount Shapher.

24 And they removed from mount Shapher, and encamped in Haradah.

25 And they removed from Haradah, and pitched in Makheloth.

26 And they removed from Makheloth, and encamped at Tahath.

27 And they departed from Tahath, and pitched at Tarah.

28 And they removed from Tarah, and pitched in Mithcah.

29 And they went from Mithcah, and pitched in Hashmonah.

30 And they departed from Hashmonah, and encamped at Moseroth.

31 And they departed from Moseroth, and pitched in Bene-jaakan.

32 And they removed from Bene-jaakan, and encamped at Hor-hagidgad.

33 And they went from Hor-hagidgad, and pitched in Jotbathah.

34 And they removed from Jotbathah, and encamped at Ebronah.

35 And they departed from Ebronah, and encamped at Ezion-gaber.

36 And they removed from Ezion-gaber, and pitched in the wilderness of Zin, which is Kadesh.

37 And they removed from Kadesh, and pitched in mount Hor, in the edge of the land of Edom.

38 And Aaron the priest went up into mount Hor, at the commandment of the LORD, and died there, in the fortieth year after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt, in the first day of the fifth month:

39 And Aaron was an hundred and twenty and three years old, when he died in mount Hor.

40 And king Arad the Canaanite, which dwelt in the south, in the land of Canaan, heard of the coming of the children of Israel.

41 And they departed from mount Hor, and pitched in Zalmonah.

42 And they departed from Zalmonah, and pitched in Punon.

43 And they departed from Punon, and pitched in Oboth.

44 And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in Ije-abarim, in the border of Moab.

45 And they departed from Iim, and pitched in Dibon-gad.

46 And

40. Unto Machir;] i. e. Not to Machir himself, who doubtless was long since dead, but the family and posterity of Machir.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIII.

Verse 1. These are the journeys of the children of Israel.] As the peculiar providence of God remarkably appears in the protection of the Israelites, from the time they departed out of Egypt till they came to the borders of Canaan; so Moses was particularly commissioned to preserve the history of them, for the benefit of posterity: therefore here he recapitulates the principal stages of this long journey, and sets them all before the reader in one view, that all, who would take pains to examine things, might be satisfied by what a train of miracles such a multitude of people were fed every day, for forty years together, in a barren and inhospitable desert.

47 And they removed from Almon-diblathaim, and pitched in the mountains of Abarim, before Nebo.

48 And they departed from the mountains of Abarim, and pitched in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

49 And they pitched by Jordan, from Beth-jesimoth even unto Abel-shittim, in the plains of Moab.

50 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho, saying,

51 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye are passed over Jordan into the land of Canaan,

52 Then ye shall drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you, and destroy all their pictures, and destroy all their molten images, and quite pluck down all their high places :

53 And ye shall dispossess the inhabitants of the land, and dwell therein : for I have given you the land to possess it.

54 And ye shall divide the land by lot for an inheritance among your families : and to the more ye shall give the more inheritance, and to the fewer ye shall give the less inheritance : every man's inheritance shall be in the place where his lot falleth : according to the tribes of your fathers ye shall inherit.

55 But if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you ; then it shall come to pass, that those which ye let remain of them shall be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides, and shall vex you in the land wherein ye dwell.

56 Moreover, it shall come to pass, that I shall do unto you as I thought to do unto them.

3 Then your south quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin along by the coast of Edom, and your south border shall be the outmost coast of the salt sea eastward :

4 And your border shall turn from the south to the ascent of Akrabbim, and pass on to Zin : and the going forth thereof shall be from the south to Kadesh-barnea, and shall go on to Hazar-addar, and pass on to Azmon :

5 And the border shall fetch a compass from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and the goings out of it shall be at the sea.

Your south quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin.] The south bounds were to end at the last point of the Salt or Dead Sea, running by the borders of Idumea, to the most northern part of the river Nile, and to the Mediterranean Sea westward, and along by the wilderness of Zin, meeting the bounds of the river Jordan.

Your south border shall be the outmost coast of the salt sea.] Moses determines the boundary of Canaan, on the south, to be Idumea and the deserts of Arabia, Josh. 15. 3.

5. The border shall fetch a compass from Azmon unto the river of Egypt:] i. e. To the Nile. This was farther than the Israelites ever extended their conquests ; but thus far they had permission to extend them.

8 From mount Hor ye shall point out your border unto the entrance of Hamath : and the goings forth of the border shall be to Zedad :

9 And the border shall go on to Ziphron, and the goings out of it shall be at Hazar-enan : this shall be your north border.

10 And ye shall point out your east border from Hazar-enan to Shepham :

11 And the coast shall go down from Shepham to Riblah, on the east side of Ain ; and the border shall descend, and shall reach unto the side of the sea of Chinnereth eastward :

12 And the border shall go down to Jordan, and the goings out of it shall be at the salt sea. This shall be your land, with the coasts thereof round about.

13 And Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying, This is the land which ye shall inherit by lot, which the LORD commanded to give unto the nine tribes, and to the half-tribe :

14 For the tribe of the children of Reuben, according to the house of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, according to the house of their fathers, have received their inheritance ; and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance :

15 The two tribes and the half-tribe have received their inheritance on this side Jordan near Jericho eastward, toward the sun-rising.

16 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

17 These are the names of the men which shall divide the land unto you ; Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun.

18 And ye shall take one prince of every tribe, to divide the land by inheritance.

19 And the names of the men are these : of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

20 And of the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the son of Ammihud.

21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chislon.

22 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the son of Jogli.

23 The prince of the children of Joseph, for the tribe of the children of Manasseh, Hanniel the son of Ephod.

24 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Ephraim, Kemuel the son of Shiphtan.

25 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, Elizaphan the son of Pharnach.

26 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Issachar, Paltiel the son of Azzan.

27 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Asher, Ahihud the son of Shelomi.

28 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, Pedahel the son of Ammihud.

29 These are they whom the LORD commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Israel in the land of Canaan.

C H A P.

The goings out of it shall be at the sea:] The Mediterranean Sea, called, ver. 6. the Great Sea.

7. Ye shall point out for you Mount Hor.] The mountain here mentioned is very different from that where Aaron died ; the latter was on the south of Canaan, whereas this was on the north of it : and therefore by Hor in this place we are probably to understand Hermon, or some part of mount Lebanon which bounded Canaan on the north.

9. And the goings out of it shall be at Hazar-enan.] The village of the fountain, viz. of Jordan, which had its rise in that tract.

11. The coast shall go down from Shepham to Riblah.] The eastern bounds ran from the head of Jordan along the whole course of the river to the Dead Sea, till it met the south bounds in the borders of Edom. Shepham and Riblah where two towns on the banks of Jordan.

The border shall reach unto the sea of Chinnereth.] Called in the New Testament the sea of Tiberias, or Galilee.

14. For the tribe of the children of Reuben, &c.] We may recollect, that they chose to remain in Gilead on this side Jordan, but promised to go out nevertheless, and assist their brethren to conquer the promised land on the other side Jordan.

17. These are the names, &c.] These were the people appointed to see that all was fairly conducted in the division of the lands by lot.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 Cities for the Levites with their suburbs.—6 Cities of refuge.
—9 The laws of murder.—31 No satisfaction for murder.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the Levites, of the inheritance of their possession, cities to dwell in; and ye shall give also unto the Levites suburbs for the cities round about them.

3 And the cities shall they have to dwell in: and the suburbs of them shall be for their cattle, and for their goods, and for all their beasts.

4 And the suburbs of the cities, which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall reach from the wall of the city, and outward, a thousand cubits round about.

5 And ye shall measure from without the city on the east side two thousand cubits, and on the south side two thousand cubits, and on the west side two thousand cubits, and on the north side two thousand cubits; and the city shall be in the midst: this shall be to them the suburbs of the cities.

6 ¶ And among the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites there shall be six cities for refuge, which ye shall appoint for the manslayer, that he may flee thither: and to them ye shall add forty and two cities.

7 So all the cities which ye shall give to the Levites shall be forty and eight cities: them shall ye give with their suburbs.

8 And the cities which ye shall give shall be of the possession of the children of Israel: from them that have many, ye shall give many; but from them that have few, ye shall give few: every one shall give of his cities unto the Levites, according to his inheritance which he inheriteth.

9 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye be come over Jordan, into the land of Canaan,

11 Then ye shall appoint you cities, to be cities of refuge for you; that the slayer may flee thither which killeth any person at unawares.

12 And they shall be unto you cities for refuge from the avenger; that the manslayer die not, until he stand before the congregation in judgment.

13 And of these cities which ye shall give, six cities shall ye have for refuge.

14 Ye shall give three cities on this side Jordan, and three cities shall ye give in the land of Canaan, which shall be cities of refuge.

15 These six cities shall be a refuge, both for the children of Israel, and for the stranger, and for the sojourner among them: that every one that killeth any person unawares may flee thither.

16 And if he smite him with an instrument of iron, so that he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death.

17 And if he smite him with throwing a stone, wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death.

18 Or if he smite him with an hand-weapon of wood, wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death.

19 The revenger of blood himself shall slay the murderer: when he meeteth him, he shall slay him.

20 But if he thrust him of hatred, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die;

21 Or in enmity smite him with his hand, that he die: he that smote him shall surely be put to death; for he is a murderer: the revenger of blood shall slay the murderer, when he meeteth him.

22 But if he thrust him suddenly without enmity, or have cast upon him any thing without laying of wait;

23 Or with any stone, wherewith a man may die, seeing him not, and cast it upon him, that he die, and was not his enemy, neither sought his harm;

24 Then the congregation shall judge between the slayer and the revenger of blood, according to these judgments:

25 And the congregation shall deliver the slayer out of the hand of the revenger of blood, and the congregation shall restore him to the city of his refuge, whither he was fled; and he shall abide in it unto the death of the high-priest, which was anointed with the holy oil.

26 But if the slayer shall at any time come without the border of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled;

27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of blood kill the slayer; he shall not be guilty of blood:

28 Because he should have remained in the city of his refuge until the death of the high-priest: but after the death of the high-priest the slayer shall return into the land of his possession.

29 So these things shall be for a statute of judgment unto you throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

30 Whoso killeth any person, the murderer shall be put to death by the mouth of witnesses: but one witness shall not testify against any person to cause him to die.

31 Moreover, ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death.

32 And ye shall take no satisfaction for him that is fled to the city of his refuge, that he should come again to dwell in the land, until the death of the priest.

33 So ye shall not pollute the land wherein ye are; for blood it defileth the land: and the land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that shed it.

34 Defile not therefore the land which ye shall inhabit, wherein I dwell: for I the LORD dwell among the children of Israel.

CHAP.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXV.

Verse 2. That they give unto the Levites, &c.] Provision is particularly made for the priests and Levites, because they had no inheritance with the rest, being a distinct body of themselves.

4. A thousand cubits.] In the Greek version it is 2000, which the next verse certainly proves to be the right reading: 2000 cubits is about three-fourths of a mile.

6. Six cities for refuge.] The Levites were to have forty-eight cities, ver. 7. six of which were to be cities of refuge, or privileged places, whither any person, who had the misfortune to kill another accidentally, might immediately repair and take sanctuary. These asylums were very different from those of other nations. They did not screen the guilty from the stroke of justice: the person who flew thither for protection was properly tried; and, if found guilty of having killed his neighbour designedly, was put to death; but, if it appeared that the action was purely accidental, he was returned to the city of refuge, and dwelt there in safety.

8. Every one shall give, &c.] i. e. Each tribe should contribute, according to their possessions, their share of towns for the accommodation of the Levites.

11. Killeth any person at unawares.] Not to protect the rash or violent murderer, but to screen the unintentional man-slayer from the relation's revenge, till his trial could be brought on before the proper judges.

14. Ye shall give three cities on this side Jordan.] Because that land was as long as Canaan, though not so broad; and, besides, these might be convenient for many of them that lived in Canaan.

19. The revenger of blood himself shall slay the murderer.] Either, 1. By himself, as the following words shew; so it is only a permission, that he may do it without offence to God, or danger to himself: Or, 2. By the magistrate, from whom he shall demand justice; so it is a command, as may appear by comparing this with ver. 31. and Deut. 19. 12, 13.

25. He shall abide in it unto the death of the high-priest.] Because the public grief for the loss of so public a person was likely to assuage the private griefs and passions of men; the rather, because by this example they were minded of their own mortality, and thereby withheld from taking vengeance; and to shew that the death of Christ, (the true high-priest, whom the others did evidently and eminently represent and typify,) is the only mean whereby sins are pardoned and sinners set at liberty.

33. So ye shall not pollute, &c.] No satisfaction was to be taken for the murderer, because that being a crime which struck at the root of humanity and all society, nothing could be more just than that life should pay for life. And in this we have wisely followed these ancient ordinances.

ANNO-

CHAP. XXXVI.

1. The inconvenience of the inheritance of daughters,—5 is remedied by marrying in their own tribes.

AND the chief fathers of the families of the children of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of the sons of Joseph, came near, and spake before Moses, and before the princes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel;

2 And they said, The LORD commanded my lord to give the land for an inheritance by lot to the children of Israel: and my lord was commanded by the LORD to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother unto his daughters.

3 And if they be married to any of the sons of the other tribes of the children of Israel, then shall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and shall be put to the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: so shall it be taken from the lot of our inheritance.

4 And when the jubilee of the children of Israel shall be, then shall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: so shall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

5 ¶ And Moses commanded the children of Israel, according to the word of the LORD, saying, The tribe of the sons of Joseph hath said well.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXVI.

Verse 4. And when the jubilee, &c.] Concerning this year of jubilee, look back to Lev. 25. 10, 13. These fathers represent, that this year would be of no use then, because the estates would descend, of course, to the heirs of such a marriage, and thus be alienated from their own tribe.

6. Only to the family of the tribe of their father shall they marry.] They are hereby confined, not only to the same tribe, but also to the family of their tribe, as appears from the reason of the law; for God would have the inheritance of families as well as tribes kept entire and unmixed: and this was one reason of that law of marrying the brother's wife, Deut. 25.

6 This is the thing which the LORD doth command concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, Let them marry to whom they think best; only to the family of the tribe of their father shall they marry.

7 So shall not the inheritance of the children of Israel remove from tribe to tribe; for every one of the children of Israel shall keep himself to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And every daughter that possesseth an inheritance in any tribe of the children of Israel, shall be wife unto one of the family of the tribe of her father, that the children of Israel may enjoy every man the inheritance of his fathers.

9 Neither shall the inheritance remove from one tribe to another tribe; but every one of the tribes of the children of Israel shall keep himself to his own inheritance.

10 Even as the LORD commanded Moses, so did the daughters of Zelophehad.

11 For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married unto their father's brothers' sons.

12 And they were married into the families of the sons of Manasseh the son of Joseph; and their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father.

13 These are the commandments and the judgments which the LORD commanded, by the hand of Moses, unto the children of Israel, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

And although the next verse may seem to thwart this interpretation, the reason of this law being there given, that inheritances might not go from tribe to tribe; yet verse 8. confirms it, where the very same phrase is repeated, and that more emphatically, that such shall marry one of the family of the tribe of her father; and this further reason and restriction is added, that they may enjoy every man the inheritance, not only of his tribe, but of his fathers, to wit, belonging to the father's family.

8. Every daughter that possesseth an inheritance.] Women that were heiresses should do as they are here commanded; but with regard to those who had no inheritances, they might marry into what tribe they pleased.

REFLECTIONS ON THE BOOK OF NUMBERS.

THE Almighty Disposer of all events is pleased to act by second causes in the government of the moral and political, as well as the physical world. As being himself the God of reason and order, we find them commanded amongst men, on purpose to produce that harmony and regularity in the lower world, which is the foundation of peace, and the perfection of virtue itself.

That there might be no confusion either in ecclesiastical or civil matters, proper people were separated and chosen for each purpose. The laws and regulations for each are specified; for, without this, it was impossible that the honour of God, or the advantage of the people, should be maintained. This may serve to shew us, that the subordinate degrees, in church and state, now amongst us, have not only their uses, but are actually of Divine appointment; and, consequently, to be zealously adhered to, defended, and established, in every Christian society.

The numbering of the people took place for three very good reasons; 1st, to collect regularly a sufficient sum for building the temple; 2dly, for appointing captains and leaders over every family; 3dly, for properly dividing the land of Canaan among the tribes. All this was done to preserve order, and prevent confusion; and was, doubtless, directed and commanded by God himself.

Many excellent rules are laid down for our conduct, in the examples exhibited to our view in the Book of Numbers. Not only unanimity and order are recommended, but zeal itself, in a good cause, is shewn to be highly acceptable to God; for it was by a very proper and zealous resistance of sin, that Phinehas put an end to a most destructive plague, which had begun in the tents of Israel. We see likewise the fatal effects of murmuring and repining at the dispensations of God's providence, when (chap. xi. 1.) the greatest part of the host were destroyed: and we cannot see the several apostacies of this chosen people from the law of God, and their various punishments, without considering within ourselves, how invariably the wrath of God follows, sooner or later, those who presume to act in defiance of his will, and trample upon his laws.

THE FIFTH BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

DEUTERONOMY.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE name of this Book, every commentator tells us, is Greek, and signifies the Second Law, or more properly, "a repetition of the law a second time;" and it may possibly seem tedious to the generality of readers, to find the same ordinances so often repeated. But whoever attentively considers the conduct of the Israelites as a nation, how easily they forgot what had been commanded them, and how ready they were to yield to any idolatrous enticement, will not be surprised that Moses, like a kind father, should, over and over again, repeat such charges to his children as were necessary to secure their future welfare. He knew, by the appointment of God, that he was on the point of being taken from them; he knew likewise that, however successful they might be in war, they were nevertheless liable to the seduction of the inhabitants among whom they were to sojourn in times of peace. He had seen how little they had been affected by all God's national favours and his national judgments; neither his kindness or severity had been able to fix and attach them steadily to their duty. Besides, the people now about to enter on the land of Canaan, not having been present at the awful circumstances attending the deliverance of the Law, might be supposed to be less influenced by its authority; and therefore Moses repeats it to them in such a manner, as to awaken them to a just sense of its weight and consequence, as well as its use and advantage to them and their posterity. Besides, these repetitions seem to us to be the characteristic of a genuine author; for a mere collector would have omitted whatever might appear tedious or unnecessary; whereas Moses, who writes not for his own glory, but by command of God, and from real patriotic love to a people he had so long governed, and carried through so many difficulties, aims at nothing but their real welfare, and to supply by his advice the loss they would experience in his removal from them. All the prophecies and persuasive arguments of Moses are penned with so much dignity and sincerity, that they cannot fail to affect the feelings of every honest and religious man, for they are both pathetic and clear; but in particular his Divine Hymn and Prophecy concerning the future state of his people, and their several tribes, is so very ancient a prediction, and yet so plain, that whoever traces them in their completion in the different times, nations, and empires of the world, must be convinced of the truth of the divine authority of Moses, and consequently that the Christian Religion has a firm basis in that system of divinity which Christ so often appealed to in the Old Testament.

CHAP. I.

1 Moses' speech in the end of the fortieth year, briefly rehearsing the story,—6 of God's promise,—13 of giving them officers,—22 of sending spies.

THESE be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel, on this side Jordan in the wilderness, in the plain over against the Red sea, between Paran, and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Dizahab.

2 (There are eleven days' journey from Horeb, by the way of mount Seir, unto Kadesh-barnea.)

3 And it came to pass in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel, according unto all that the LORD had given him in commandment unto them;

4 After he had slain Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan, which dwelt at Astaroth in Edrei.

5 On this side Jordan, in the land of Moab, began Moses to declare this law, saying,

6 ¶ The LORD our God spake unto us in Horeb, saying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount:

7 Turn you, and take your journey; and go to the mount of the Amorites, and unto all the places nigh thereunto, in the plain, in the hills, and in the vale, and in the south, and by the sea-side, to the land of the Canaanites, and unto Lebanon, unto the great river, the river Euphrates.

8 Behold, I have set the land before you: go in and possess the land which the LORD swore unto your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give unto them, and to their seed after them.

9 ¶ And I spake unto you at that time, saying, I am not able to bear you myself alone:

10 The LORD your God hath multiplied you, and, behold, ye are this day as the stars of heaven for multitude.

11 (The LORD God of your fathers make you a thousand times so many more as ye are, and bless you, as he hath promised you!)

12 How can I myself alone bear your cumbrance, and your burden, and your strife?

13 Take ye wise men and understanding, and known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you.

14 And ye answered me, and said, The thing which thou hast spoken is good for us to do.

15 So I took the chief of your tribes, wise men, and known, and made them heads over you, captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, and captains over

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. Over against the Red sea.] This is undoubtedly a wrong translation; for they were now at a vast distance from the Red Sea. The original word Suph signifies a rush, and is here the name of a town or district in the country of Moab, Numb. 21. 14. Deut. 34. 8. whereas the Red Sea is never expressed by Suph alone, but always by Jam Suph. This place seems to have been near the Dead Sea, and to have had its name from the many flags or rushes which grew there.

2. There are eleven days' journey.] This is added to shew, that the reason why the Israelites in so many years were advanced no further from Horeb than to these plains, was not the great distance of the place, or length of the way, which was but a journey of eleven days at most, but because of their rebellions, as is mentioned before, and repeated in this book.

7. To the mount of the Amorites, &c.] Here are set down the four boundaries of the land of Canaan. The mount of the Amorites on the east, the sea-coast on the west, Lebanon on the north, and part of Palestine on the south.

over fifties, and captains over tens, and officers among your tribes.

16 And I charged your judges at that time, saying, Hear the causes between your brethren, and judge righteously between every man and his brother, and the stranger that is with him.

17 Ye shall not respect persons in judgment, but ye shall hear the small as well as the great; ye shall not be afraid of the face of man, for the judgment is God's: and the cause that is too hard for you, bring it unto me, and I will hear it.

18 And I commanded you at that time all the things which ye should do.

19 ¶ And when we departed from Horeb, we went through all that great and terrible wilderness, which ye saw by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as the LORD our God commanded us; and we came to Kadesh-barnea.

20 And I said unto you, Ye are come unto the mountain of the Amorites, which the LORD our God doth give unto us.

21 Behold, the LORD thy God hath set the land before thee; go up, and possess it, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath said unto thee; fear not, neither be discouraged.

22 ¶ And ye came near unto me every one of you, and said, We will send men before us, and they shall search us out the land, and bring us word again by what way we must go up, and into what cities we shall come.

23 And the saying pleased me well: and I took twelve men of you, one of a tribe.

24 And they turned and went up into the mountain, and came unto the valley of Eshcol, and searched it out.

25 And they took of the fruit of the land in their hands, and brought it down unto us, and brought us word again, and said, It is a good land which the LORD our God doth give us.

26 Notwithstanding, ye would not go up, but rebelled against the commandment of the LORD your God.

27 And ye murmured in your tents, and said, Because the LORD hated us, he hath brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to destroy us.

28 Whither shall we go up? our brethren have discouraged our heart, saying, The people is greater and taller than we; the cities are great, and walled up to heaven; and, moreover, we have seen the sons of the Anakims there.

29 Then I said unto you, Dread not, neither be afraid of them.

30 The LORD your God, which goeth before you, he shall fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt before your eyes;

31 And in the wilderness, where thou hast seen how that the LORD thy God bare thee as a man doth bear his son, in all the way that ye went, until ye came into this place.

32 Yet in this thing ye did not believe the LORD your God,

33 Who went in the way before you, to search you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night, to shew you by what way ye should go, and in a cloud by day.

34 And the LORD heard the voice of your words, and was wroth, and sware, saying,

35 Surely there shall not one of these men of this evil generation see that good land, which I sware to give unto your fathers,

36 Save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, he shall see it, and to him will I give the land that he hath trodden upon, and to his children, because he hath wholly followed the LORD.

37 Also the LORD was angry with me for your sakes, saying, Thou also shalt not go in thither.

38 But Joshua the son of Nun, which standeth before thee, he shall go in thither. Encourage him: for he shall cause Israel to inherit it.

39 Moreover, your little ones, which ye said should be a prey, and your children which in that day had no knowledge between good and evil, they shall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they shall possess it.

40 But as for you, turn ye, and take your journey into the wilderness, by the way of the Red sea.

41 Then ye answered, and said unto me, We have sinned against the LORD, we will go up and fight, according to all that the LORD our God commanded us. And when ye had girded on every man his weapons of war, ye were ready to go up into the hill.

42 And the LORD said unto me, Say unto them, Go not up, neither fight, for I am not among you; lest ye be smitten before your enemies.

43 So I spake unto you, and ye would not hear, but rebelled against the commandment of the LORD, and went presumptuously up into the hill.

44 And the Amorites, which dwelt in that mountain, came out against you, and chased you, as bees do, and destroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah.

45 And ye returned, and wept before the LORD; but the LORD would not hearken to your voice, nor give ear unto you.

46 So ye abode in Kadesh many days, according unto the days that ye abode there.

CHAP. II.

1 The story is continued, that they were not to meddle with the Edomites,—9 nor with the Moabites,—19 nor with the Ammonites,—24 but Sibon the Amorite was to be subdued by them.

THEN we turned, and took our journey into the wilderness, by the way of the Red sea, as the LORD spake unto me: and we compassed mount Seir many days.

2 And the LORD spake unto me, saying,

3 Ye have compassed this mountain long enough: turn you northward.

4 And command thou the people, saying, Ye are to pass through the coast of your brethren the children of Esau, which dwell in Seir, and they shall be afraid of you: take ye good heed unto yourselves therefore.

5 Meddle not with them: for I will not give you of their land, no not so much as a foot-breadth, because I have given mount Seir unto Esau for a possession.

6 Ye

17. Ye shall not respect persons in judgment;] i. e. Not give sentence according to the outward qualities of the person, as he is poor or rich, your friend or enemy, but purely according to the merits of the cause.

27. And ye murmured in your tents, &c.] Though they were delighted with the fertility of the country, they expressed a fear of the power of the inhabitants; forgetting that they were under the particular providence of God, who had promised that one of them should chase a thousand. This mistrust is termed rebellion and murmuring.

28. Walled up to heaven;] i. e. To a great height; a common hyperbole, as Gen. 11. 4. Psa. 107. 26.

31. God bare thee as a man doth bear his son.] Or carried thee as a father carries his weak and tender child in his arms, as Isa. 49. 22. or as upon eagles' wings, as it is, Exod. 19. 4. through difficulties and dangers, gently leading you according as you were able to go, and sustaining you by his power and goodness.

37. The Lord was angry with me, &c.] Upon occasion of your wickedness and perverseness, by which you provoked me to speak unadvisedly, Psa. 106. 32, 33.

44. Chased you, as bees do;] As bees, which, being provoked, come out and sting their adversary and disturber, Psa. 118. 12.

46. According unto the days, &c.] i. e. As you abode in Kadesh many, even forty days, until the spies which you sent returned to give you an account, so you also abode there many days, or a long time after, and were not now permitted to make any further progress towards Canaan.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 1. Then we turned, &c.] From the borders of Canaan to go southward. Here Moses proceeds in relating to this new generation of Israelites, how their fathers spent near 39 years in tedious marches to and fro through that desert country, till that race of murmurers was quite extinct, when orders were again given to direct their course towards Canaan.

6 Ye shall buy meat of them for money, that ye may eat: and ye shall also buy water of them for money, that ye may drink.

7 For the LORD thy God hath blessed thee in all the works of thy hand: he knoweth thy walking through this great wilderness: these forty years the LORD thy God hath been with thee; thou hast lacked nothing.

8 And when we passed by from our brethren the children of Esau, which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain from Elath, and from Ezion-gaber, we turned, and passed by the way of the wilderness of Moab.

9 And the LORD said unto me, Distress not the Moabites, neither contend with them in battle: for I will not give thee of their land for a possession; because I have given Ar unto the children of Lot for a possession.

10 The Emims dwelt therein in times past, a people great, and many, and tall as the Anakims;

11 Which also were accounted giants, as the Anakims; but the Moabites call them Emims.

12 The Horims also dwelt in Seir before-time; but the children of Esau succeeded them, when they had destroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their stead; as Israel did unto the land of his possession, which the LORD gave unto them.

13 Now rise up, said I, and get you over the brook Zered: and we went over the brook Zered.

14 And the space in which we came from Kadesh-barnea, until we were come over the brook Zered, was thirty and eight years: until all the generation of the men of war were wasted out from among the host, as the LORD sware unto them.

15 For indeed the hand of the LORD was against them, to destroy them from among the host, until they were consumed.

16 ¶ So it came to pass, when all the men of war were consumed and dead from among the people,

17 That the LORD spake unto me, saying,

18 Thou art to pass over through Ar, the coast of Moab, this day.

19 And when thou comest nigh over against the children of Ammon, distress them not, nor meddle with them: for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon any possession, because I have given it unto the children of Lot for a possession.

20 (That also was accounted a land of giants: giants dwelt therein in old time, and the Ammonites call them Zamzumims;

21 A people great, and many, and tall as the Anakims: but the LORD destroyed them before them, and they succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead:

22 As he did to the children of Esau, which dwelt in Seir, when he destroyed the Horims from before them, and they succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead, even unto this day:

23 And the Avims which dwelt in Hazerim, even unto Azzah, the Caphtorims which came forth out of Caphtor, destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.)

24 ¶ Rise ye up, take your journey, and pass over the river Arnon: behold, I have given into thine hand Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land: begin to possess it, and contend with him in battle.

25 This day will I begin to put the dread of thee, and the fear of thee, upon the nations that are under the whole heaven, who shall hear report of thee, and shall tremble, and be in anguish because of thee.

26 ¶ And I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemoth, unto Sihon king of Heshbon, with words of peace, saying, 27 Let me pass through thy land: I will go along by the high-way, I will neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left.

28 Thou shalt sell me meat for money, that I may eat; and give me water for money, that I may drink; only I will pass through on my feet,

29 (As the children of Esau which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites which dwell in Ar, did unto me,) until I shall pass over Jordan, into the land which the LORD our God giveth us.

30 But Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him: for the LORD thy God hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinate, that he might deliver him into thy hand, as appeareth this day.

31 And the LORD said unto me, Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before thee: begin to possess, that thou mayest inherit his land.

32 Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to fight at Jahaz.

33 And the LORD our God delivered him before us; and we smote him, and his sons, and all his people.

34 And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly destroyed the men, and the women, and the little ones, of every city; we left none to remain:

35 Only the cattle we took for a prey unto ourselves, and the spoil of the cities which we took.

36 From Aroer, which is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the city that is by the river, even unto Gilead, there was not one city too strong for us: the LORD our God delivered all unto us.

37 Only unto the land of the children of Ammon thou camest not, nor unto any place of the river Jabbok, nor unto the cities in the mountains, nor unto whatsoever the LORD our God forbade us.

C H A P. III.

1 The story of the conquest of Og king of Bashan.—12 The distribution of those lands to the two tribes and half.—23 Moses' prayer to enter into the land.

THEN we turned and went up the way to Bashan: and Og the king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to battle, at Edrei.

2 And

6. Ye shall buy meat of them:] For, though the manna did yet rain upon them, they were not forbidden to buy other meats when they had opportunity, but only were forbidden greedily to hunger after them, when they could not obtain them.

9. I have given Ar, &c.] Ar was the capital city of Moab, Numb. 21. 15, 28. and is here put for the whole country. Though the Moabites were now a wicked people, yet, for their pious ancestors' sake, God would not have them possessed.

10. The Emims:] Men terrible for stature and strength, as their very name imports. See Gen. 14. 5.

12. The Horims also dwelt in Seir.] The history of the expulsion of the Emims by the Moabites, and of the Horites by the Edomites, is nowhere recorded; but it seems to be mentioned here as an encouragement to the Israelites, not to fear the stoutest enemies that might oppose their possessing themselves of the promised land.

17. The Lord spake unto me, &c.] From the 20th to the 23d verse (both inclusive) is a parenthesis, wherein Moses encourages the Israelites by relating what changes had happened in the stout and valiant nations of gigantic people, by the permission of God; from whence they might conclude, that no power would be able to resist them, when they fought under his banner.

20. The Ammonites call them Zamzumims.] Moses mentions the Zuzims, Gen. 14. 15. and from their being joined there with the same people as here, it is probable they were the same.

23. The Avims which dwell in Hazerim.] We have here another instance of God's disposing of countries unto what people he pleases. The Avims are mentioned, Josh. 13. 3. as the ancient inhabitants of Palestine.

The Caphtorims;] i. e. The Philistines, who were called Caphtorim from their founder, who settled in Caphtor, a country in or about Egypt. The words are somewhat transposed; the meaning is, that a people called Caphtorim destroyed the Avims, and possessed their country.

25. Will I begin to put the dread, &c.] The Almighty, who necessarily acts by the most perfect wisdom and justice, brings on by a gradual interposition the destined ends of his providence. Whoever is delighted with such contemplations, may see forbearance, mercy, and justice, in all the proceedings of God, both towards his own people and their enemies.

30. For the Lord thy God hardened his spirit;] i. e. God gave him over to his own inflexible humour, which was set upon violent courses. See Exod. 4. 21.

34. Utterly destroyed, &c.] By God's command, these being a part of those people who were devoted by the Lord of life and death to utter destruction for their abominable wickedness. See chap. 7. 2. and 20. 16.

37. Only unto the land, &c.] God spared these people for the reason before mentioned, verse 9. The places likewise beyond the river Jabbok were the borders of the children of Ammon.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. Then we turned, &c.] Moses, as a farther encouragement to the Israelites to proceed with a dependence on the divine power, and in a steady obedience to the laws prescribed them, goes on reminding them of the amazing success with which their arms were attended against Og king of Bashan.

9. Which

2 And the LORD said unto me, Fear him not: for I will deliver him, and all his people, and his land, into thy hand; and thou shalt do unto him as thou didst unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon.

3 So the LORD our God delivered into our hands Og also the king of Bashan, and all his people: and we smote him, until none was left to him remaining.

4 And we took all his cities at that time; there was not a city which we took not from them, threescore cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

5 All these cities were fenced with high walls, gates, and bars, beside unwalled towns a great many.

6 And we utterly destroyed them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heshbon, utterly destroying the men, women, and children, of every city.

7 But all the cattle, and the spoil of the cities, we took for a prey to ourselves.

8 And we took at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites, the land that was on this side Jordan, from the river of Arnon unto mount Hermon:

9 (Which Hermon the Sidonians call Sirion; and the Amorites call it Shenir;)

10 All the cities of the plain, and all Gilead, and all Bashan, unto Salchah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

11 For only Og king of Bashan remained of the remnant of giants; behold, his bedstead was a bedstead of iron: is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man.

12 And this land which we possessed at that time, from Aroer, which is by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenites and to the Gadites.

13 And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half-tribe of Manasseh; all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, which was called, The land of giants.

14 Jair the son of Manasseh took all the country of Argob, unto the coasts of Geshuri, and Maachathi; and called them after his own name, Bashan-havoth-jair, unto this day.

15 And I gave Gilead unto Machir.

16 And unto the Reubenites, and unto the Gadites, I gave from Gilead even unto the river Arnon, half the valley, and the border, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;

17 The plain also, and Jordan, and the coasts thereof, from Chinnereth even unto the sea of the plain, even the salt sea, under Ashdod-pisgah eastward.

18 ¶ And I commanded you at that time, saying, The LORD your God hath given you this land to possess it; ye shall pass over armed before your brethren the children of Israel, all that are meet for the war.

9. Which Hermon the Sidonians call Sirion.] Sirion signifies a mountain; Hermon, by way of eminence, by the Sidonians is called the mountain. It is thus called, Psa. 29. 6.

The Amorites call it Shenir;] So called, as Bochart conjectures, from the wild cats which were in this mountain, for Sinar in Arabic is the name of that animal.

11. His bedstead was a bedstead of iron,] To support his gigantic body. Bedsteads of iron, brass, and other metals, are not unusual in warm countries, as a defence against vermin, and were frequently used in ancient days.

Is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon?] Where it might now be, either, because the Ammonites, in some further battle with Og, had taken it as a spoil; or, because, after Og's death, the Ammonites desired to have this monument of his greatness, and the Israelites permitted them to carry it away to their chief city.

Nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it.] Thence it appears that Og was six cubits high, reckoning the bedstead to have been made, according to the common custom, a third part longer than the person who lay in it. Now six cubits answers to ten feet and a half of our measure; so that he must have been near as tall again as any ordinary man. So Goliath is said to have been six cubits and a span in height, i. e. about eleven feet, 1 Sam. 17. 4. Le Clerc however conjectures, that Og might order his bed to be made longer than was sufficient, that posterity might have a higher opinion of the gigantic personage who lay in it. The same is said to be done by 19 But your wives, and your little ones, and your cattle, (for I know that ye have much cattle,) shall abide in your cities which I have given you;

20 Until the LORD hath given rest unto your brethren, as well as unto you, and until they also possess the land which the LORD your God hath given them beyond Jordan: and then shall ye return every man unto his possession which I have given you.

21 ¶ And I commanded Joshua at that time, saying, Thine eyes have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto these two kings: so shall the LORD do unto all the kingdoms whither thou passest.

22 Ye shall not fear them: for the LORD your God he shall fight for you.

23 ¶ And I besought the LORD at that time, saying,

24 O LORD God, thou hast begun to shew thy servant thy greatness, and thy mighty hand: for what God is there in heaven or in earth, that can do according to thy works, and according to thy might?

25 I pray thee, let me go over, and see the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly mountain and Lebanon.

26 But the LORD was wroth with me for your sakes, and would not hear me: and the LORD said unto me, Let it suffice thee: speak no more unto me of this matter.

27 Get thee up into the top of Pisgah, and lift up thine eyes westward, and northward, and southward, and eastward, and behold it with thine eyes: for thou shalt not go over this Jordan.

28 But charge Joshua, and encourage him, and strengthen him: for he shall go over before this people, and he shall cause them to inherit the land which thou shalt see.

29 So we abode in the valley over against Beth-peor.

CHAP. IV.

1 An exhortation to obedience.—41 Moses appointeth the three cities of refuge on this side Jordan.

NOW therefore hearken, O Israel, unto the statutes and unto the judgments which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers giveth you.

2 Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish ought from it, that ye may keep the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you.

3 Your eyes have seen what the LORD did because of Baal-peor: for all the men that followed Baal-peor, the LORD thy God hath destroyed them from among you.

4 But ye that did cleave unto the LORD your God are alive every one of you this day.

5 Behold, I have taught you statutes, and judgments, even as the LORD my God commanded me, that ye should do so in the land whither ye go to possess it.

6 Keep

Alexander the Great, before his return from India, who ordered each of his foot-soldiers to erect two beds of the length of five cubits, in order to leave with the inhabitants signs of the enormous size and strength of his men.

20. Until the Lord hath given rest, &c.] When the other tribes were settled in Canaan, Joshua sent them home to their wives and children. See Josh. 22. 4.

21. I commanded Joshua, &c.] i. e. I represented to him how much God had done already for his people, and encouraged him by shewing him, that it was God's will he should have the glory of leading you into the promised land.

29. Beth-peor.] The house or temple of Peor, or of Baal-peor, of which see Numb. 25. 3. whence this place or city had its name.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 1. Now therefore hearken, O Israel.] Moses, having thus laid before them so long a train of divine dispensations towards their nation, exhorted them, in the most serious and earnest manner, to be punctually obedient to the laws of God, and cautious of offending him; this being the very intent for which they were conducted to the promised land, and the absolute condition of their peaceful and happy enjoyment of it.

2. Ye shall not add, &c.] You shall neither add to the law which I have given you any heathenish superstitions, or modes of worship of your own invention; nor shall you wilfully omit any plain duty which it requires.

7. What

6 Keep therefore and do them: for this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations, which shall hear all these statutes, and say, Surely, this great nation is a wise and understanding people.

7 For what nation is there so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, as the LORD our God is in all things that we call upon him for?

8 And what nation is there so great, that hath statutes and judgments so righteous, as all this law which I set before you this day?

9 Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life; but teach them thy sons, and thy sons' sons.

10 Specially the day that thou stoodest before the LORD thy God in Horeb, when the LORD said unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they shall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children.

11 And ye came near, and stood under the mountain; and the mountain burned with fire unto the midst of heaven, with darkness, clouds, and thick darkness.

12 And the LORD spake unto you out of the midst of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but saw no similitude; only ye heard a voice.

13 And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments: and he wrote them upon two tables of stone.

14 And the LORD commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and judgments, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to possess it.

15 Take ye therefore good heed unto yourselves; (for ye saw no manner of similitude on the day that the LORD spake unto you in Horeb out of the midst of the fire:)

16 Lest ye corrupt yourselves, and make you a graven image, the similitude of any figure, the likeness of male or female;

17 The likeness of any beast that is on the earth, the likeness of any winged fowl that flieth in the air;

18 The likeness of any thing that creepeth on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth:

19 And lest thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou seest the sun, and the moon, and the stars, even all the host of heaven, shouldest be driven to worship them, and serve them, which the LORD thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole heaven.

20 But the LORD hath taken you, and brought you forth out of the iron furnace, even out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as ye are this day.

21 Furthermore, the LORD was angry with me for your sakes, and sware that I should not go over Jordan, and that I should not go in unto that good land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance:

22 But I must die in this land, I must not go over Jordan: but ye shall go over, and possess that good land.

23 Take heed unto yourselves, lest ye forget the covenant of the LORD your God, which he made with you, and make you a graven image, or the likeness of any thing which the LORD thy God hath forbidden thee.

24 For the LORD thy God is a consuming fire, even a jealous God.

25 ¶ When thou shalt beget children, and children's children, and ye shall have remained long in the land, and shall corrupt yourselves, and make a graven image, or the likeness of any thing, and shall do evil in the sight of the LORD thy God, to provoke him to anger:

26 I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that ye shall soon utterly perish from off the land whereunto ye go over Jordan to possess it: ye shall not prolong your days upon it, but shall utterly be destroyed.

27 And the LORD shall scatter you among the nations, and ye shall be left few in number among the heathen, whither the LORD shall lead you.

28 And there ye shall serve gods, the work of men's hands, wood and stone, which neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell.

29 But if from thence thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart, and with all thy soul.

30 When thou art in tribulation, and all these things are come upon thee, even in the latter days, if thou turn to the LORD thy God, and shalt be obedient unto his voice;

31 (For the LORD thy God is a merciful God;) he will not forsake thee, neither destroy thee, nor forget the covenant of thy fathers; which he sware unto them.

32 For ask now of the days that are past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the one side of heaven unto the other, whether there hath been any such thing as this great thing is, or hath been heard like it?

33 Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live?

34 Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched-out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

35 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know that the LORD he is God; there is none else besides him.

36 Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might instruct thee; and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire, and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire.

37 And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight with his mighty power out of Egypt:

38 To drive out nations from before thee, greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

39 Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the LORD he is God in heaven above and upon the earth beneath: there is none else.

40 Thou

7. What nation, &c.] The Jews were the only nation under heaven that had a symbol of God's presence continually among them.

12. But saw no similitude, &c.] Though God appeared unto Moses and a few chosen men of right apprehensions and sound understandings, yet he never shewed himself in any visible form to the people in general, their notions being too gross, and too ready to receive wrong impressions of the nature of God. To them therefore he ever continued invisible, that they might not have the smallest excuse for worshipping him under any human semblance.

14. Teach you statutes and judgments; i. e. The ceremonial and judicial laws, which are here distinguished from the moral, or the ten commandments, ver. 13.

16. The likeness of male or female, &c.] It is justly observed, that this is the very picture of Egypt, which had gods of all sorts; dead persons deified, male and female, and numerous images of them; and worshipped as deities, bulls, cows, sheep, goats, dogs, cats, birds, the ibis and hawk, serpents and crocodiles, river-horses, together with the sun, moon, and stars of heaven. This worship of almost all sorts of brute beasts, birds, fishes, reptiles, so peculiar to Egypt, was so horribly absurd and stupid, that it could never have entered into the head of a legislator to forbid it, had not he been himself a witness of such monstrous impieties.

No. 14.

20. Out of the iron furnace;] To which Egypt is fitly compared, not only for the torment and misery which they there endured, but also because they were thoroughly tried and purged thereby, as metals are by the fire.

24. A jealous God;] Who will be highly incensed against thee, if thou followest after other lovers, or committest whoredom with idols, and will bear no rival or partner.

29. If from thence.] God, who from the beginning knows all things, foreseeing that Israel would certainly depart from him, and that sore calamities would in consequence fall upon the whole nation, in great mercy makes a way for their return and recovery, yea, even before either the sin, or the punishment, has any existence.

32. For ask now, &c.] How sensible and candid is this appeal: and indeed it is an appeal which may be made to infidels, in regard to the truth of the Jewish history, "Whether there hath been any such thing as this," &c. For certainly there is no history in the world at all similar to the 40 Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes and his commandments, which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for ever.

41 ¶ Then Moses severed three cities on this side Jordan, toward the sun-rising;

42 That the slayer might flee thither, which should kill his neighbour unawares, and hated him not in times past; and that, fleeing unto one of these cities, he might live.

43 Namely, Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain country, of the Reubenites; and Ramoth in Gilead, of the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan, of the Manassites.

44 ¶ And this is the law which Moses set before the children of Israel:

45 These are the testimonies, and the statutes, and the judgments, which Moses spake unto the children of Israel, after they came forth out of Egypt;

46 On this side Jordan, in the valley over against Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt at Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel smote, after they were come forth out of Egypt:

47 And they possessed his land, and the land of Og king of Bashan, two kings of the Amorites, which were on this side Jordan, toward the sun-rising:

48 From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, even unto mount Sion, which is Hermon.

49 And all the plain on this side Jordan eastward, even unto the sea of the plain, under the springs of Pishgah.

CHAP. V.

1 The covenant in Horeb.—6 The ten commandments.—22 Moses receiveth the law from God.

AND Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep, and do them.

2 The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb.

3 The LORD made not this covenant with our fathers, but with us, even us, who are all of us here alive this day.

4 The LORD talked with you face to face in the mount, out of the midst of the fire,

5 (I stood between the LORD and you at that time, to shew you the word of the LORD: for ye were afraid by reason of the fire, and went not up into the mount;) saying,

6 ¶ I am the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.

7 Thou shalt have none other gods before me.

8 Thou shalt not make thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth:

9 Thou shalt not bow down thyself unto them, nor serve them: for I the LORD thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me;

10 And shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

11 Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

12 Keep the sabbath-day to sanctify it, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee.

13 Six days thou shalt labour, and do all thy work:

14 But the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thine ox, nor thine ass, nor any of thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: that thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant, may rest as well as thou.

15 And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and that the LORD thy God brought thee out thence through a mighty hand and by a stretched-out arm: therefore the LORD thy God commanded thee to keep the sabbath-day.

16 ¶ Honour thy father and thy mother, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee: that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

17 Thou shalt not kill.

18 Neither shalt thou commit adultery.

19 Neither shalt thou steal.

20 Neither shalt thou bear false witness against thy neighbour.

21 Neither shalt thou desire thy neighbour's wife, neither shalt thou covet thy neighbour's house, his field, or his man-servant, or his maid-servant, his ox, or his ass, or any thing that is thy neighbour's.

22 ¶ These words the LORD spake unto all your assembly in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, of the cloud, and of the thick darkness, with a great voice: and he added no more. And he wrote them in two tables of stone, and delivered them unto me.

23 And it came to pass, when ye heard the voice out of the midst of the darkness, (for the mountain did burn with fire,) that ye came near unto me, even all the heads of your tribes, and your elders:

24 And ye said, Behold, the LORD our God hath shewed us his glory and his greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire; we have seen this day that God doth talk with man, and he liveth.

25 Now therefore why should we die? for this great fire will consume us: if we hear the voice of the LORD our God any more, then we shall die.

26 For who is there of all flesh that hath heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as we have, and lived?

27 ¶ Go thou near, and hear all that the LORD our God shall say; and speak thou unto us all that the LORD our God shall speak unto thee; and we will hear it, and do it.

28 And the LORD heard the voice of your words, when ye spake unto me; and the LORD said unto me, I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have spoken unto thee: they have well said all that they have spoken.

29 O that there were such an heart in them, that they would fear me, and keep all my commandments always, that the Jewish, founded on such circumstantial relations, and so well supported, not only by itself, but by profane witnesses, in custom, and ceremonies, and traditions, if not by contemporary writers.

40. That it may go well, &c.] This is a national promise and encouragement, and therefore temporal; for kingdoms and nations subsist only in this present world.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments, &c.] Wherever the statutes and judgments are mentioned together, is meant the irrevocable moral law, which was never to be done away, and not the ceremonial law, which was only for a season. The former was that which our Saviour said he came to "fulfil," or complete; the latter was that which, like a wall of partition, was to be broken down, and all nations become one fold under one shepherd, the Lord Jesus Christ.

4. The Lord talked with you face to face.] You beheld a conspicuous symbol of the divine presence, and heard a divine voice speaking speaking unto you from thence, clearly and distinctly, as one man talks with another face to face.

6. I am the Lord thy God, &c.] The ten commandments delivered Exod. 20. are here repeated with some small difference of words, but the sense is perfectly the same.

16. That it may go well with thee.] These words are added to what we meet with in Exod. 20. 12. as a farther motive to obedience; and we find the apostle taking notice of it, Eph. 6. 3.

29. O that there were such an heart in them, &c.] This expression denotes, that men's compliance with their duty, and the happiness which thence arises to them, are things highly pleasing and acceptable to God, the most sincere lover of souls. From these and the like texts of scripture, some are apt to reason with themselves, that if God be so desirous of men's reformation, why does he not bring it about by his almighty power? But though God could easily over-rule the liberty of man's will and choice, and restrain him from doing any thing but what is good; yet it is not consonant to wisdom that his power should be exerted this way, because that it might be well with them, and with their children for ever!

30 Go say to them, Get ye into your tents again.

31 But as for thee, stand thou here by me, and I will speak unto thee all the commandments, and the statutes, and the judgments, which thou shalt teach them, that they may do them in the land which I give them to possess it.

32 Ye shall observe to do therefore as the LORD your God hath commanded you: ye shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

33 Ye shall walk in all the ways which the LORD your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that it may be well with you, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye shall possess.

CHAP. VI.

1 The end of the law is obedience.—8 An exhortation thereto.

NOW these are the commandments, the statutes, and the judgments, which the LORD your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to possess it:

2 That thou mightest fear the LORD thy God, to keep all his statutes, and his commandments, which I command thee; thou, and thy son, and thy son's son, all the days of thy life; and that thy days may be prolonged.

3 ¶ Hear therefore, O Israel, and observe to do it, that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increase mightily, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promised thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

4 Hear, O Israel; The LORD our God is one LORD.

5 And thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

6 And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart.

7 And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

8 And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes.

9 And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates.

10 And it shall be, when the LORD thy God shall have brought thee into the land which he swore unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give thee great and goodly cities which thou buildedst not,

11 And houses full of all good things which thou filedst not, and wells digged which thou diggedst not; vineyards and olive-trees which thou plantedst not; when thou shalt have eaten, and be full, because it would entirely destroy all the morality of men's actions, and take away the very nature of virtue and vice: they would be mere machines rather than intelligent beings. Should God make use of the irresistible influence of his power upon free agents, their operations, however regular they might be, could no more be denominated virtuous, than the movements of a watch or clock. So far is it therefore from being unworthy of God to forbear exerting his irresistible power upon moral agents, that, on the contrary, it would be altogether unworthy of him to exercise that power; because it would be to subvert his whole design, in creating rational and intelligent beings. Moral agents must be influenced by moral motives, by reason and argument, by persuasion and conviction, by hopes and fears.

31. But as for thee, &c.] Moses was undoubtedly enabled to behold the glory of God nearer and in a more familiar manner than any other of his ministers. See Exod. 20. 21. 24. 2, 18.

33. That ye may live, &c.] i. e. [That ye may be continued in a lively flourishing state as a nation.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 4. The Lord our God is one Lord.] As there is but one supreme God, Jehovah, so he alone is to be the object of worship, in opposition to the many idols and false gods of the heathen nations.

5. And thou shalt love, &c.] Now he shews another spring or principle of sincere obedience to God, even hearty love to God, which will make his work and service easy; and that the fear he mentioned before, ver. 2. was such as would consist with love to God, and not that slavish fear and honour which produces hatred.

12 Then beware lest thou forget the LORD, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.

13 Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God, and serve him, and shalt swear by his name.

14 Ye shall not go after other gods, of the gods of the people which are round about you:

15 (For the LORD thy God is a jealous God among you:) lest the anger of the LORD thy God be kindled against thee, and destroy thee from off the face of the earth.

16 ¶ Ye shall not tempt the LORD your God, as ye tempted him in Massah.

17 Ye shall diligently keep the commandments of the LORD your God, and his testimonies, and his statutes, which he hath commanded thee.

18 And thou shalt do that which is right and good in the sight of the LORD; that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest go in and possess the good land which the LORD swore unto thy fathers;

19 To cast out all thine enemies from before thee, as the LORD hath spoken.

20 ¶ And when thy son asketh thee in time to come, saying, What mean the testimonies, and the statutes, and the judgments, which the LORD our God hath commanded you?

21 Then thou shalt say unto thy son, We were Pharaoh's bond-men in Egypt, and the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

22 And the LORD shewed signs and wonders, great and sore, upon Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his household, before our eyes:

23 And he brought us out from thence, that he might bring us in, to give us the land which he swore unto our fathers.

24 And the LORD commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear the LORD our God, for our good always, that he might preserve us alive, as it is at this day.

25 And it shall be our righteousness, if we observe to do all these commandments before the LORD our God, as he hath commanded us.

CHAP. VII.

1 All communion with the nations is forbidden, for fear of idolatry,—6 for the holiness of the people, &c.

WHEN the LORD thy God shall bring thee into the land whither thou goest to possess it, and hath cast out many nations before thee, the Hittites, and the Girgashites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations greater and mightier than thou:

2 And when the LORD thy God shall deliver them before thee; thou shalt smite them, and utterly destroy them: thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor shew mercy unto them:

3 Neither

8. Thou shalt bind, &c.] Thou shalt give all diligence, and use all means, to keep them in remembrance, as men oft-times bind something upon their hands, or put it before their eyes, to prevent forgetfulness of a thing which they much desire to remember.

9. Thou shalt write them, &c.] Some wrote them on little rolls, which they fastened to their gates; others inclosed them in a case, which they fastened to the gate, or put into a hole in the wall; on this place the devotees laid their hands as often as they went out, and said, The Lord preserve my going out and my coming in.

13. Thou shalt swear by his name.] The meaning seems to be, that they were to be stedfast in the worship of the true God, and in professing that religion which he had instituted. Thus, to swear to the Lord of hosts, is to profess the true religion, Isa. 19. 18. So Psa. 63. 11. every one that sweareth by him, means every worshipper of the true God.

20. And when thy son, &c.] This is to awaken their gratitude as a nation, by teaching them to repeat to their children the history of their establishment, and force them to acknowledge the Divine Providence to which they were indebted.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 1. Seven nations.] There were ten in Gen. 15. 19. But this being some hundreds of years after that, it is not strange if three of them were either destroyed by foreign or domestic wars, or by cohabitation and marriage united with and swallowed up in some of the rest.

2. Thou shalt smite them, and utterly destroy them;] i. e. In case they continue obstinate in their idolatry, they are to be destroyed as a nation or body politic. But if they forsook their idolatry, and became converts unto the true religion, they would then be, what God required them to be,

3 Neither shalt thou make marriages with them; thy daughter thou shalt not give unto his son, nor his daughter shalt thou take unto thy son.

4 For they will turn away thy son from following me, that they may serve other gods: so will the anger of the LORD be kindled against you, and destroy thee suddenly.

5 But thus shall ye deal with them: ye shall destroy their altars, and break down their images, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven images with fire.

6 For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God: the LORD thy God hath chosen thee to be a special people unto himself, above all people that are upon the face of the earth.

7 The LORD did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people; for ye were the fewest of all people:

8 But because the LORD loved you, and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, hath the LORD brought you out with a mighty hand, and redeemed you out of the house of bond-men, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

9 Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him, and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations;

10 And repayeth them that hate him to their face, to destroy them: he will not be slack to him that hateth him, he will repay him to his face.

11 Thou shalt therefore keep the commandments, and the statutes, and the judgments, which I command thee this day, to do them.

12 ¶ Wherefore it shall come to pass, if ye hearken to these judgments, and keep, and do them, that the LORD thy God shall keep unto thee the covenant and the mercy which he swore unto thy fathers:

13 And he will love thee, and bless thee, and multiply thee: he will also bless the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep, in the land which he swore unto thy fathers to give thee.

14 Thou shalt be blessed above all people: there shall not be male or female barren among you, or among your cattle.

15 And the LORD will take away from thee all sickness, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt (which thou knowest) upon thee; but will lay them upon all them that hate thee.

16 And thou shalt consume all the people which the LORD thy God shall deliver thee; thine eyes shall have no pity upon them: neither shalt thou serve their gods; for that will be a snare unto thee.

17 If thou shalt say in thine heart, These nations are more than I, how can I dispossess them?

18 Thou shalt not be afraid of them: but shalt well remember what the LORD thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt;

19 The great temptations which thine eyes saw, and the signs, and the wonders, and the mighty hand, and the stretched-out arm, whereby the LORD thy God brought thee out: so shall the LORD thy God do unto all the people of whom thou art afraid.

20 Moreover, the LORD thy God will send the hornet among them, until they that are left, and hide themselves from thee, be destroyed.

21 Thou shalt not be affrighted at them: for the LORD thy God is among you, a mighty God and terrible.

22 And the LORD thy God will put out those nations before thee by little and little: thou mayest not consume them at once, lest the beasts of the field increase upon thee.

23 But the LORD thy God shall deliver them unto thee, and shall destroy them with a mighty destruction, until they be destroyed.

24 And he shall deliver their kings into thine hand, and thou shalt destroy their name from under heaven: there shall no man be able to stand before thee, until thou have destroyed them.

25 The graven images of their gods shall ye burn with fire: thou shalt not desire the silver or gold that is on them, nor take it unto thee, lest thou be snared therein: for it is an abomination to the LORD thy God.

26 Neither shalt thou bring an abomination into thy house, lest thou be a cursed thing like it: but thou shalt utterly detest it, and thou shalt utterly abhor it; for it is a cursed thing.

C H A P. VIII.

An exhortation to obedience in regard of God's dealing.

ALL the commandments which I command thee this day shall ye observe to do, that ye may live and multiply, and go in and possess the land which the LORD swore unto your fathers.

2 And thou shalt remember all the way which the LORD thy God led thee these forty years in the wilderness, to humble thee, and to prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments, or no.

3 And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, (which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know,) that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD doth man live.

4 Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee, neither did thy foot swell these forty years.

5 Thou shalt also consider in thine heart, that as a man chasteneth his son, so the LORD thy God chasteneth thee.

6 Therefore thou shalt keep the commandments of the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways, and to fear him.

7 For the LORD thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains, and depths that spring out of valleys and hills.

8 A land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig-trees, and pomegranates; a land of oil-olive and honey; be, penitents, and proper objects of forgiveness. But it is a rule laid down in scripture, and founded in reason, Jer. 18. 7, 8. At what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom; to pluck up, and to pull down, and to destroy it; if that nation against whom I have pronounced, turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them.

9 A land

7. For ye were the fewest of all people;] To wit, at that time when God first declared his love to you, and choice of you for his peculiar people, which was done to Abraham. For Abraham had but one son concerned in this choice and covenant, to wit, Isaac, and that was in his hundredth year: and Isaac was sixty years old ere he had a child, and then they had only two children; and though Jacob had twelve sons, yet it was a long time ere they made any considerable increase. Nor do we read of any great multiplication of them till after Joseph's death, Exod. 1, 6, 7.

9. To a thousand generations.] Mercy is the most adorable attribute of God; it is, as it were, natural to him, and therefore he is said to extend his mercy to a thousand generations, whilst his anger is said to be limited to the third or fourth. See second commandment, Exod. 20.

10. Them that hate him, &c.] Moses, in all probability, here means the idolatrous nations, who were now going to be punished openly, or face to face; who certainly may be said to hate God, when they turn from him, and despise his religion.

15. The evil diseases of Egypt—upon thee.] The leprosy and other cutaneous distempers, which were reckoned peculiar to Egypt.

26. Lest thou be a cursed thing, &c.] A cursed thing, or an abomination, always means something idolatrous; and had the Israelites been suffered to convert any of the gold or silver to private use, some bad consequence might have ensued to religion, from the number of gold and silver images found among the spoils of the vanquished.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Verse 2. To know what was in thine heart.] God, who knows the hearts of all men, needed not to be informed how they were disposed towards him. But this is spoken after the manner of men; and the meaning is, that God did, as men usually do when they want to try any one's sincerity; namely, he laid opportunities in their way of giving unexceptionable proofs of their virtue and integrity.

4. Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee.] The common interpretation of these words is, that, by a constant miracle, their clothes did not so much as decay, nor their feet swell, or grow callous, by so long travelling in hot and stony places.

9. Whose

9 A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack any thing in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass.

10 When thou hast eaten, and art full, then thou shalt bless the LORD thy God, for the good land which he hath given thee.

11 Beware that thou forget not the LORD thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgments, and his statutes, which I command thee this day:

12 Lest, when thou hast eaten and art full, and hast built goodly houses, and dwelt therein;

13 And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied;

14 Then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the LORD thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage;

15 Who led thee through that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water; who brought thee forth water out of the rock of flint;

16 Who fed thee in the wilderness with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that he might humble thee, and that he might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end;

17 And thou say in thine heart, My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth.

18 But thou shalt remember the LORD thy God: for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may establish his covenant which he sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day.

19 And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the LORD thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day, that ye shall surely perish.

20 As the nations which the LORD destroyeth before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the LORD your God.

C H A P. IX.

Moses dissuadeth them from the opinion of their own righteousness, by rehearsing their several rebellions.

HEAR, O Israel: Thou art to pass over Jordan this day, to go in to possess nations greater and mightier than thyself, cities great and fenced up to heaven;

2 A people great and tall, the children of the Anakims, whom thou knowest, and of whom thou hast heard say, Who can stand before the children of Anak?

3 Understand therefore this day, that the LORD thy God is he which goeth over before thee, as a consuming fire; he shall destroy them, and he shall bring them down before thy face: so shalt thou drive them out, and destroy them quickly, as the LORD hath said unto thee.

9. Whose stones are iron:] That is, iron mines are as plentiful as quarries of stone in other places.

Thou mayest dig brass:] Copper, of which brass is made.

10. When thou hast eaten, and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God.] Hence the Jews have made it a general rule that every one bless God at their meals: and what can be more reasonable than thankfully to acknowledge God, the giver of all good; and what time more proper to make this acknowledgment, than when his bounty has satisfied our hunger, and quenched our thirst? And surely it must fill every virtuous breast with concern, to see this pious practice of antiquity, delivered down to us from our religious ancestors, now growing obsolete, and almost out of fashion.

15. The rock of flint.] Dr. Shaw observes, that the rock of Meribah, which has continued down to this day without the least injury from time or accidents, and is in scripture called the rock of flint, may, from its purple or reddish colour, be more properly rendered, the rock of amethyst, or granate rock. It is about six yards square, lying loose near the middle of the valley of Rephidim, and seems to have been formerly a cliff of mount Sinai, which hangs in a variety of precipices all over this valley. The stream which floweth withal, (Psa. 78. 20.) has hollowed across one corner of this rock a channel about two inches deep, and twenty wide; in this channel there are a great number of holes, four or five inches deep, the plain tokens of their having been formerly so many fountains.

19. Ye shall surely perish.] No favour or partiality could excuse this

No. 14.

4 Speak not thou in thine heart, after that the LORD thy God hath cast them out from before thee, saying, For my righteousness the LORD hath brought me in to possess this land: but for the wickedness of these nations the LORD doth drive them out from before thee.

5 Not for thy righteousness, or for the uprightness of thine heart, dost thou go to possess their land: but for the wickedness of these nations, the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee, and that he may perform the word which the LORD sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

6 Understand therefore, that the LORD thy God giveth thee not this good land to possess it for thy righteousness; for thou art a stiff-necked people.

7 ¶ Remember, and forget not, how thou provokedst the LORD thy God to wrath in the wilderness: from the day that thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious against the LORD.

8 Also in Horeb ye provoked the LORD to wrath, so that the LORD was angry with you to have destroyed you.

9 When I was gone up into the mount, to receive the tables of stone, even the tables of the covenant which the LORD made with you, then I abode in the mount forty days and forty nights, I neither did eat bread nor drink water.

10 And the LORD delivered unto me two tables of stone, written with the finger of God; and on them was written according to all the words which the LORD spake with you in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the assembly.

11 And it came to pass, at the end of forty days and forty nights, that the LORD gave me the two tables of stone, even the tables of the covenant.

12 And the LORD said unto me, Arise, get thee down quickly from hence; for thy people which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt have corrupted themselves; they are quickly turned aside out of the way which I commanded them; they have made them a molten image.

13 Furthermore, the LORD spake unto me, saying, I have seen this people, and, behold, it is a stiff-necked people:

14 Let me alone, that I may destroy them, and blot out their name from under heaven: and I will make of thee a nation mightier and greater than they.

15 So I turned, and came down from the mount, and the mount burned with fire: and the two tables of the covenant were in my two hands.

16 And I looked, and, behold, ye had sinned against the LORD your God, and had made you a molten calf: ye had turned aside quickly out of the way which the LORD had commanded you.

17 And

grand fault and defection from God. As the Canaanites were now to be destroyed for their idolatry, so God assures the Israelites they shall be cut off by the same stroke of justice, if they give into the same wicked practices.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 1. Thou art to pass over Jordan this day:] Shortly, within a little time, the word day being oft put for time, as John 8. 56. 1 Cor. 4. 5. Rev. 16. 14. within two months: for Moses spake this on the first day of the eleventh month, Deut. 1. 3. and they passed over Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, Josh. 4. 19.

5. Not for thy righteousness—but for the wickedness of these nations, &c.] Though the Canaanites were expelled for their national wickedness, it does not follow that the Israelites were settled in their room for their own virtue; for God often chastises the wicked by means of others who are fully as wicked as they.

7. Remember—how thou provokedst, &c.] Nothing can more effectually introduce humility into the heart than a sense of its own weakness. We should call our past errors to remembrance, in order to be better guarded for the future.

14. Let me alone,] Stop not the course of my fury by thy intercession.

16. Ye had turned aside quickly.] He might well say quickly, for it was only a few weeks before that God had commanded them not to worship any graven image, and immediately after ordered Moses to repeat this precept particularly to them, not to make gods of silver or gods of gold.

2 S

17. And

17 And I took the two tables, and cast them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes.

18 And I fell down before the LORD, as at the first, forty days and forty nights: I did neither eat bread, nor drink water, because of all your sins which ye sinned, in doing wickedly in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

19 (For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure wherewith the LORD was wroth against you to destroy you.) But the LORD hearkened unto me at that time also.

20 And the LORD was very angry with Aaron to have destroyed him: and I prayed for Aaron also the same time.

21 And I took your sin, the calf which ye had made, and burnt it with fire, and stamped it, and ground it very small, even until it was as small as dust: and I cast the dust thereof into the brook that descended out of the mount.

22 And at Taberah, and at Massah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah, ye provoked the LORD to wrath.

23 Likewise when the LORD sent you from Kadesh-barnea, saying, Go up and possess the land which I have given you; then ye rebelled against the commandment of the LORD your God: and ye believed him not, nor hearkened to his voice.

24 Ye have been rebellious against the LORD from the day that I knew you.

25 Thus I fell down before the LORD forty days and forty nights, as I fell down at the first; because the LORD had said he would destroy you.

26 I prayed therefore unto the LORD, and said, O LORD God, destroy not thy people and thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed through thy greatness, which thou hast brought forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

27 Remember thy servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; look not unto the stubbornness of this people, nor to their wickedness, nor to their sin:

28 Lest the land whence thou broughtest us out say, Because the LORD was not able to bring them into the land which he promised them, and because he hated them, he hath brought them out to slay them in the wilderness.

29 Yet they are thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out by thy mighty power and by thy stretched-out arm.

C H A P. X.

1 God's mercy in restoring the two tables,—6 in continuing the priesthood,—8 in separating the tribe of Levi.—12 An exhortation to obedience.

AT that time the LORD said unto me, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first, and come up unto me into the mount, and make thee an ark of wood.

17. And brake them;] Not by an unbridled passion, but in zeal for God's honour, and by the direction of God's spirit, to signify to the people, that the covenant between God and them contained in those tables was broken and made void, and they were now quite cast out of God's favour.

21. And I cast the dust thereof into the brook,] That there might be no monument or remembrance of it left.

24. Ye have been rebellious, &c.] This is spoken collectively, as of the whole nation, who, indeed, were all dissatisfied, in the midst of a constant exertion of miracles.

25. Thus I fell down before the Lord forty days, &c.] Having mentioned these instances of their perverse disposition, he returns to what he begun to say, ver. 13. concerning his intercession with God for a pardon, which he could not obtain without long and great importunity.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse 6. And the children of Israel took their journey from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan to Mosera: there Aaron died.] This passage has been thought contradictory to two other accounts in the Hebrew text, (Numb. 20. 28. and 33. 33.) both which agree in declaring, that Aaron died at mount Hor, the seventh station from Mosera. The learned and ingenious Mr. Kennicott says this is a corruption in the Hebrew Pentateuch, which probably happened very early, at least before the Greek version was made. His words are these: "The reader will be pleased to find, that the Samaritan text and its version have delivered down the genuine and consistent words of Moses in all particulars; for they have preserved the many words which have been carelessly omitted in the Hebrew, and they read in the following manner: "And the children of Israel journeyed from Mosera, and pitched in Bene-

2 And I will write on the tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou brakedst, and thou shalt put them in the ark.

3 And I made an ark of shittim-wood, and hewed two tables of stone like unto the first, and went up into the mount, having the two tables in mine hand.

4 And he wrote on the tables, according to the first writing, the ten commandments, which the LORD spake unto you in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the assembly: and the LORD gave them unto me.

5 And I turned myself, and came down from the mount, and put the tables in the ark which I had made, and there they be, as the LORD commanded me.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel took their journey from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan to Mosera: there Aaron died, and there he was buried; and Eleazar his son ministered in the priest's office in his stead.

7 From thence they journeyed unto Gudgodah; and from Gudgodah to Jotbath, a land of rivers of waters.

8 ¶ At that time the LORD separated the tribe of Levi, to bear the ark of the covenant of the LORD, to stand before the LORD, to minister unto him, and to bless in his name, unto this day.

9 Wherefore Levi hath no part nor inheritance with his brethren: the LORD is his inheritance, according as the LORD thy God promised him.

10 And I stayed in the mount, according to the first time, forty days and forty nights; and the LORD hearkened unto me at that time also, and the LORD would not destroy thee.

11 And the LORD said unto me, Arise, take thy journey before the people, that they may go in and possess the land, which I swore unto their fathers to give unto them.

12 ¶ And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul,

13 To keep the commandments of the LORD, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?

14 Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, is the LORD's thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is.

15 Only the LORD had a delight in thy fathers to love them, and he chose their seed after them, even you above all people, as it is this day.

16 Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, and be no more stiff-necked.

17 For the LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, a great God, a mighty, and a terrible, which regardeth not persons, nor taketh reward.

18 He doth execute the judgment of the fatherless and widow, and loveth the stranger, in giving him food and raiment.

19 Love

"jaakan: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Hagidgad: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Jotbathah, a land of rivers of waters: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Ebronah: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Ezion-gaber: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in the wilderness of Zin, which is Kadesh: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in mount Hor; and there Aaron died," &c.—All this is consistent, and agreeable to the account in Numb. 33. 31, &c. which see.

8. At that time;] About that time, i. e. when I was come down from the mount, as was said ver. 5. for these words manifestly look to that verse, the 6th and 7th verses being put in by way of parenthesis, as was said before.

9. The Lord is his inheritance;] i. e. The Lord's portion, to wit, tithes and offerings, which belong to God, are given, by him, to the Levites, for their subsistence from generation to generation, as inheritances run.

12, 13. And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, &c.] This is the application of the foregoing discourse: What now ought to be your behaviour, in return for so great a degree of pardoning mercy, that has restored you to such blessed privileges of the divine covenant?

14. Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, &c.] The first heaven comprehends the atmosphere, the space illuminated by the sun, moon, and stars; the second, or the heaven of heavens, all the glorious region in which the throne of God is placed. It is called the heaven of heavens, for its eminency, as Song of songs, King of kings, Holy of holies, &c.

16. Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, &c.] Your chief aim must be, to attain those inward dispositions of mind, and to reform those sinful affections, that are intended by circumcision, and other external ordinances.

20. Thou

19 Love ye therefore the stranger : for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

20 Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God : him shalt thou serve, and to him shalt thou cleave, and swear by his name.

21 He is thy praise, and he is thy God, that hath done for thee these great and terrible things which thine eyes have seen.

22 Thy fathers went down into Egypt with threescore and ten persons : and now the LORD thy God hath made thee as the stars of heaven for multitude.

CHAP. XI.

1 An exhortation to obedience,—2 by experience of God's great works,—8 by promise of God's blessing,—17 by threatenings.—18 A careful study is required in God's word.—26 The blessing and curse.

THEREFORE thou shalt love the LORD thy God, and keep his charge, and his statutes, and his judgments, and his commandments, always.

2 ¶ And know ye this day : for I speak not with your children which have not known, and which have not seen the chastisement of the LORD your God, his greatness, his mighty hand, and his stretched-out arm,

3 And his miracles, and his acts, which he did in the midst of Egypt, unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and unto all his land :

4 And what he did unto the army of Egypt, unto their horses, and to their chariots ; how he made the water of the Red sea to overflow them as they pursued after you, and how the LORD hath destroyed them unto this day ;

5 And what he did unto you in the wilderness, until ye came into this place ;

6 And what he did unto Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, the son of Reuben : how the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their households, and their tents, and all the substance that was in their possession, in the midst of all Israel :

7 But your eyes have seen all the great acts of the LORD which he did.

8 ¶ Therefore shall ye keep all the commandments which I command you this day, that ye may be strong, and go in and possess the land, whither ye go to possess it ;

9 And that ye may prolong your days in the land which the LORD swore unto your fathers to give unto them, and to their seed, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 For the land, whither thou goest in to possess it, is not as the land of Egypt, from whence ye came out, where thou sowedst thy seed, and wateredst it with thy foot, as a garden of herbs :

11 But the land, whither ye go to possess it, is a land of hills and valleys, and drinketh water of the rain of heaven :

12 A land which the LORD thy God careth for : the eyes of the LORD thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year.

13 ¶ And it shall come to pass, if ye shall hearken diligently unto my commandments which I command you this day, to love the LORD your God, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul ;

14 That I will give you the rain of your land in his due season, the first rain and the latter rain, that thou mayest gather in thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil.

15 And I will send grass in thy fields for thy cattle, that thou mayest eat and be full.

16 Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aside to serve other gods, and worship them ;

17 And then the LORD's wrath be kindled against you, and he shut up the heaven that there be no rain, and that the land yield not her fruit ; and lest ye perish quickly from off the good land which the LORD giveth you.

18 ¶ Therefore shall ye lay up these my words in your heart, and in your soul, and bind them for a sign upon your hand, that they may be as frontlets between your eyes.

19 And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

20 And thou shalt write them upon the door-posts of thine house, and upon thy gates :

21 That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which the LORD swore unto your fathers to give them, as the days of heaven upon the earth.

22 ¶ For if ye shall diligently keep all these commandments which I command you, to do them, to love the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him ;

23 Then will the LORD drive out all these nations from before you, and ye shall possess greater nations and mightier than yourselves.

24 Every place whereon the soles of your feet shall tread shall be yours ; from the wilderness and Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermost sea, shall your coast be.

25 There shall no man be able to stand before you : for the LORD your God shall lay the fear of you, and the dread of you, upon all the land that ye shall tread upon, as he hath said unto you.

26 ¶ Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse :

27 A blessing, if ye obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you this day ;

28 And a curse, if ye will not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but turn aside out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods which ye have not known.

29 And it shall come to pass, when the LORD thy God hath brought thee in unto the land whither thou goest to possess it, that thou shalt put the blessing upon mount Gerizim, and the curse upon mount Ebal.

30 Are they not on the other side Jordan, by the way where the sun goeth down, in the land of the Canaanites, which dwell in the champaign over against Gilgal, beside the plains of Moreh ?

31 For

20. Thou shalt fear the Lord, &c.] This was the text which our Saviour repeated to the tempter in the wilderness, when he offered to give him all the glories of the world, if he would fall down and worship him. God alone, said our blessed Mediator, is to be the object of man's adoration, and nothing is to be put in competition with him.

22. As the stars of heaven, &c.] According to his promise to your ancestor, the faithful Abraham. See Gen. 15. 5.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 10. For the land, &c.] This verse is explained by a passage out of Philo, who tells us that the Egyptians, to supply the want of rain, used to water their gardens by a machine for drawing water, fixed upon the banks of the Nile, which was so contrived as to be turned by the foot. So the meaning is, that whereas Egypt was watered by human art, Canaan was watered by rain from heaven.

11. But the land whither ye go—drinketh water of the rain of heaven.] Not a low country, like that of Egypt, but full of hills, which could not be made fruitful but by rain from heaven, which seldom falls in Egypt, whose fruitfulness depended upon the annual overflowing of the Nile.

12. A land which the Lord thy God careth for ;] A land, not so much fruitful of itself, as by the peculiar blessings of God upon it ; and therefore they might expect to find it fertile or barren, according as they were faithful or remiss in their duty.

14. The first rain and the latter rain.] In Judea and the neighbouring countries they seldom have rain but at two seasons of the year ; the first falls in seed-time, to make the corn spring ; the other a little before harvest, to ripen it.

24. Every place—shall be yours ;] Not absolutely, as if the Jews should be lords of all the world, as the Rabbins fondly conceit, but in the promised land, as it is restrained in the following words.

29. Thou shalt put the blessing upon mount Gerizim, and the curse upon mount Ebal.] In order to make you the more sensible upon what terms you are to enjoy the promised land, there shall be a solemn rendezvous of your several tribes, some at mount Gerizim, and others at mount Ebal ; where, at the one place, the priest shall, in an audible and solemn manner, pronounce the several blessings of God promised upon your obedience ; and, at the other, the curses consequent upon the practice of vice, injustice, and idolatry. These mountains were situated in the tribe of Ephraim, and separated only by a valley about one hundred paces wide.

ANNO.

31 For ye shall pass over Jordan, to go in to possess the land which the LORD your God giveth you, and ye shall possess it, and dwell therein.

32 And ye shall observe to do all the statutes and judgments which I set before you this day.

C H A P. XII.

2 Monuments of idolatry to be destroyed.—5 The place of God's service to be kept.—23 Blood forbidden.

THESE are the statutes and judgments which ye shall observe to do in the land which the LORD God of thy fathers giveth thee to possess it, all the days that ye live upon the earth.

2 ¶ Ye shall utterly destroy all the places, wherein the nations which ye shall possess served their gods, upon the high mountains, and upon the hills, and under every green tree :

3 And ye shall overthrow their altars, and break their pillars, and burn their groves with fire ; and ye shall hew down the graven images of their gods, and destroy the names of them out of that place.

4 Ye shall not do so unto the LORD your God.

5 ¶ But unto the place which the LORD your God shall choose out of all your tribes to put his name there, even unto his habitation shall ye seek, and thither thou shalt come :

6 And thither ye shall bring your burnt-offerings, and your sacrifices, and your tithes, and heave-offerings of your hand, and your vows, and your free-will-offerings, and the firstlings of your herds, and of your flocks :

7 And there ye shall eat before the LORD your God, and ye shall rejoice in all that ye put your hand unto, ye and your households, wherein the LORD thy God hath blessed thee.

8 Ye shall not do after all the things that we do here this day, every man whatsoever is right in his own eyes.

9 For ye are not as yet come to the rest, and to the inheritance which the LORD your God giveth you.

10 But when ye go over Jordan, and dwell in the land which the LORD your God giveth you to inherit, and when he giveth you rest from all your enemies round about, so that ye dwell in safety ;

11 Then there shall be a place which the LORD your God shall choose, to cause his name to dwell there ; thither shall ye bring all that I command you ; your burnt-offerings, and your sacrifices, your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand, and all your choice vows which ye vow unto the LORD :

12 And ye shall rejoice before the LORD your God, ye, and your sons, and your daughters, and your men-servants, and your maid-servants, and the Levite that is within your gates ; forasmuch as he hath no part nor inheritance with you.

13 Take heed to thyself that thou offer not thy burnt-offerings in every place that thou seest :

14 But in the place which the LORD shall choose, in one of thy tribes, there thou shalt offer thy burnt-offerings, and there thou shalt do all that I command thee.

15 Notwithstanding, thou mayest kill and eat flesh in all thy gates, whatsoever thy soul lusteth after, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee : the unclean and the clean may eat thereof ; as of the roe-buck, and as of the hart.

16 Only ye shall not eat the blood ; ye shall pour it upon the earth as water.

17 ¶ Thou mayest not eat within thy gates the tithe of thy corn, or of thy wine, or of thy oil, or the firstlings of thy herds, or of thy flock, nor any of thy vows which thou vowest, nor thy free-will-offerings, or heave-offering of thine hand :

18 But thou must eat them before the LORD thy God in the place which the LORD thy God shall choose, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant, and the Levite that is within thy gates : and thou shalt rejoice before the LORD thy God in all that thou putteth thine hands unto :

19 Take heed to thyself that thou forsake not the Levite, as long as thou livest upon the earth.

20 ¶ When the LORD thy God shall enlarge thy border, as he hath promised thee, and thou shalt say, I will eat flesh, (because thy soul longeth to eat flesh,) thou mayest eat flesh, whatsoever thy soul lusteth after.

21 If the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen to put his name there be too far from thee ; then thou shalt kill of thy herd and of thy flock, which the LORD hath given thee, as I have commanded thee, and thou shalt eat in thy gates whatsoever thy soul lusteth after.

22 Even as the roe-buck and the hart is eaten, so thou shalt eat them ; the unclean and the clean shall eat of them alike.

23 ¶ Only be sure that thou eat not the blood : for the blood is the life ; and thou mayest not eat the life with the flesh.

24 Thou shalt not eat it ; thou shalt pour it upon the earth as water.

25 Thou shalt not eat it ; that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the LORD.

26 Only thy holy things which thou hast, and thy vows, thou shalt take, and go unto the place which the LORD shall choose :

27 And thou shalt offer thy burnt-offerings, the flesh and the blood, upon the altar of the LORD thy God ; and the blood of thy sacrifices shall be poured out upon the altar of the LORD thy God, and thou shalt eat the flesh.

28 Observe and hear all these words which I command thee, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou doest that which is good and right in the sight of the LORD thy God.

29 ¶ When the LORD thy God shall cut off the nations from before thee, whither thou goest to possess them, and thou succeedest them, and dwellest in their land ;

30 Take heed to thyself, that thou be not snared by following them, after that they be destroyed from before thee ; and that thou enquire not after their gods, saying, How did these nations serve their gods ? even so will I do likewise.

31 Thou shalt not do so unto the LORD thy God : for every abomination to the LORD which he hateth have they done unto their gods ; for even their sons and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their gods.

32 What thing soever I command you, observe to do it : thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 2. Upon the high mountains, and upon the hills.] The first altars seem to have been those of nature's raising ; namely, mountains and places of eminence, whither men repaired for retirement and contemplation. Thence such places acquired a relative sanctity ; that is, they were considered as holy places. But, in length of time, the temples and altars there raised being abused to the vilest purposes of superstition, and become the scenes of barbarous idol-worship, Moses wisely ordered them to be destroyed.

4. Ye shall not do so unto the Lord your God ;] i. e. Not worship him in several places, mountains, groves, &c. which sense is evident from the following opposition.

8. Ye shall not do after all the things that we do here this day.] For in the wilderness, while the Israelites were destitute of many things requisite to the exact performance of all their sacred rites, and not yet sufficiently accustomed to the yoke of their new laws, they were excused from the observance of many of them. Of this we have several proofs, particularly the total neglect of circumcision during the whole time of their wandering in the wilderness, though it had been carefully observed in Egypt.

11. And—your choice vows ;] i. e. The prime of your flocks which you shall have vowed ; for such only they were allowed to consecrate by vow, Lev. 20. 22, &c.

31. Burnt in the fire to their gods.] This diabolical rite was notoriously practised by the Carthaginians, and at last it overspread all nations, and even found admittance among the refined Greeks themselves ; though it must be owned, that the accounts of this horrid superstition have been aggravated by the credulity, ignorance, or misrepresentation, of authors.

C H A P. XIII.

1 Enticers to idolatry,—6 how near soever unto thee,—10 are to be stoned to death.

IF there arise among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and giveth thee a sign or a wonder;

2 And the sign or the wonder come to pass, whereof he spake unto thee, saying, Let us go after other gods, which thou hast not known, and let us serve them;

3 Thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams: for the LORD your God proveth you, to know whether ye love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

4 Ye shall walk after the LORD your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments, and obey his voice, and ye shall serve him, and cleave unto him.

5 And that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams, shall be put to death; (because he hath spoken to turn you away from the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you out of the house of bondage, to thrust thee out of the way which the LORD thy God commanded thee to walk in,) so shalt thou put the evil away from the midst of thee.

6 ¶ If thy brother, the son of thy mother, or thy son, or thy daughter, or the wife of thy bosom, or thy friend, which is as thine own soul, entice thee secretly, saying, Let us go and serve other gods, which thou hast not known, thou, nor thy fathers;

7 Namely, of the gods of the people which are round about you, nigh unto thee, or far off from thee, from the one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth;

8 Thou shalt not consent unto him, nor hearken unto him; neither shall thine eye pity him, neither shalt thou spare, neither shalt thou conceal him.

9 But thou shalt surely kill him; thine hand shall be first upon him to put him to death, and afterwards the hand of all the people.

10 And thou shalt stone him with stones, that he die: because he hath sought to thrust thee away from the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.

11 And all Israel shall hear, and fear, and shall do no more any such wickedness as this is among you.

12 ¶ If thou shalt hear say in one of thy cities, which the LORD thy God hath given thee to dwell there, saying,

13 Certain men, the children of Belial, are gone out from among you, and have withdrawn the inhabitants of their city, saying, Let us go and serve other gods, which ye have not known;

14 Then shalt thou enquire, and make search, and ask diligently: and, behold, if it be truth, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought among you:

15 Thou shalt surely smite the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword, destroying it utterly, and all that is therein, and the cattle thereof, with the edge of the sword.

16 And thou shalt gather all the spoil of it into the midst of the street thereof, and shalt burn with fire the city, and all the spoil thereof, every whit, for the LORD thy God: and it shall be an heap for ever, it shall not be built again.

17 And there shall cleave nought of the cursed thing to thine hand: that the LORD may turn from the fierceness of his anger, and shew thee mercy, and have compassion upon thee, and multiply thee, as he hath sworn unto thy fathers;

18 When thou shalt hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep all his commandments, which I command thee this day, to do that which is right in the eyes of the LORD thy God.

C H A P. XIV.

1 God's children must not disfigure themselves in mourning.—

3 What may, and what may not, be eaten.—22 Tithes of divine service.—23 Tithes and firstlings of rejoicing before the Lord.

YE are the children of the LORD your God; ye shall not cut yourselves, nor make any baldness between your eyes for the dead.

2 For thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God; and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself, above all the nations that are upon the earth.

3 ¶ Thou shalt not eat any abominable thing.

4 These are the beasts which ye shall eat; the ox, the sheep, and the goat,

5 The hart, and the roe-buck, and the fallow-deer, and the wild goat, and the pygarg, and the wild ox, and the chamois.

6 And every beast that parteth the hoof, and cleaveth the cleft into two claws, and cheweth the cud, among the beasts, that ye shall eat.

7 Nevertheless, these ye shall not eat of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the cloven hoof; as the camel, and the hare, and the coney: for they chew the cud, but divide not the hoof; therefore they are unclean unto you.

8 And the swine, because it divideth the hoof, yet cheweth not the cud, it is unclean unto you: ye shall not eat of their flesh, nor touch their dead carcase.

9 ¶ These ye shall eat of all that are in the waters; all that have fins and scales shall ye eat.

10 And whatsoever hath not fins and scales ye may not eat; it is unclean unto you.

11 ¶ Of all clean birds ye shall eat.

12 But these are they of which ye shall not eat: the eagle, and the ossifrage, and the osprey,

13 And the glede, and the kite, and the vulture after his kind,

14 And every raven after his kind,

15 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckoo, and the hawk after his kind,

16 The little owl, and the great owl, and the swan,

17 And the pelican, and the gier-eagle, and the cormorant,

18 And the stork, and the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the bat.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 3. For the LORD your God proveth you,] By permitting some evil spirit to work a miracle in favour of a false doctrine, in order to try your faith and sincerity.

9. But thou shalt surely kill him;] Nor privately, which pretence would have opened the door to innumerable murders, but by procuring his death by the sentence of the magistrate.

Thine hand shall be first upon him, &c.] Thou shalt cast the first stone at him, as the witness was to do. See Deut. 17. 7. Acts 7. 58.

13. Certain men, the children of Belial,] A title oft used in scripture, as Judg. 19. 22. 1 Sam. 1. 16. and 25. 25. 2 Sam. 16. 7, &c. It signifies properly, persons without yoke, vile and wretched miscreants, lawless and rebellious, that will suffer no restraint; that neither fear God, nor reverence man.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIV.

Verse 1, 2. Ye are the children of the LORD your God, &c.] Moses proceeds to remind this new generation of several other particular laws, designed to keep up the distinction between the Israelites and other nations, to guard them from superstitious practices.

No. 14.

3. Thou shalt not eat any abominable thing.] In order to preserve them even from common conversation with other nations, and thereby the more effectually to secure them from their idolatries, they are prohibited the use of certain meats, which are therefore called abominable.

5. The hart and the roe-buck, &c.] The original names of these seven quadrupeds are thus interpreted by Dr. Shaw: 1. The hart or deer comprehends all the varieties of the deer kind: 2. The tzebi does not signify the roe-buck, but the antelope: 3. What we call the fallow-deer, may more properly be rendered, the wild beeve: 4. The akko is a particular species of the wild goat, and should be translated the goat deer, as the Septuagint and Vulgate have it: 5. The pygarg denotes a creature whose hinder parts are white, and may be called the white-buttocks: it is shaped exactly like the antelope, and of the same colour; only its horns are twice as long, the animal itself being twice as big: 6. The wild ox should have been rendered the buffalo: 7. The chamois, the Arabic version calls it the jeraffa, which still continues to be the eastern name of that quadruped; it is a sort of mountain goat, or inhabitant of the rocks. Thus then the beasts which Moses here enumerates are most probably the deer, the antelope, the wild-beeve, the goat-deer, the white-buttocks, the buffalo, and the jeraffa.

19 And every creeping thing that lieth is unclean unto you: they shall not be eaten.

20 But of all clean fowls ye may eat.

21 ¶ Ye shall not eat of any thing that dieth of itself: thou shalt give it unto the stranger that is in thy gates, that he may eat it; or thou mayest sell it unto an alien: for thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God. Thou shalt not see the a kid in his mother's milk.

22 ¶ Thou shalt truly tithe all the increase of thy seed, that the field bringeth forth year by year.

23 And thou shalt eat before the LORD thy God, in the place which he shall choose to place his name there, the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine oil, and the firstlings of thy herds, and of thy flocks: that thou mayest learn to fear the LORD thy God always.

24 And if the way be too long for thee, so that thou art not able to carry it, or if the place be too far from thee, which the LORD thy God shall choose to set his name there, when the LORD thy God hath blessed thee:

25 Then shalt thou turn it into money, and bind up the money in thine hand, and shalt go unto the place which the LORD thy God shall choose.

26 And thou shalt bestow that money for whatsoever thy soul lusteth after, for oxen, or for sheep, or for wine, or for strong drink, or for whatsoever thy soul desireth: and thou shalt eat there before the LORD thy God, and thou shalt rejoice, thou, and thine household.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seventh year a year of release for the poor.—19 All firstling males of the cattle are to be sanctified unto the Lord.

AT the end of every seven years thou shalt make a release.

2 And this is the manner of the release: Every creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour shall release it; he shall not exact it of his neighbour, or of his brother, because it is called the LORD's release.

3 Of a foreigner thou mayest exact it again: but that which is thine with thy brother, thine hand shall release.

4 Save when there shall be no poor among you: for the LORD shall greatly bless thee in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it:

5 Only if thou carefully hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe to do all these commandments which I command thee this day.

6 For the LORD thy God blesseth thee, as he promised thee, and thou shalt lend unto many nations, but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt reign over many nations, but they shall not reign over thee.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 2. Every creditor that lendeth—shall release.] This cannot be meant of money lent to those who were able to pay, but only of money lent to an Israelite who was in poor circumstances, as appears from ver. 4.

3. Of a foreigner thou mayest exact it.] Le Clerc well observes, that there was not the same reason for releasing the principal or interest to a foreigner as to a Hebrew; for the Hebrew observed the sabbatical year, whereas the other sowed, and reaped, and traded, in that year as well as others, and so was more able to pay.

4. Save when there shall be no poor among you.] Or, That none among you be pinched by extreme poverty, should be preferred here.

7. Thou shalt not harden thy heart, &c.] Lest this law might make people cautious in lending to the poor, as being assured they should lose the debt at the seventh year, if they were not able to pay it before, Moses gives them a charge, that no Israelite should be led by so mean a principle, but look upon every poor neighbour as a member of the same happy society, equally related to God as himself, who there-

7 ¶ If there be among you a poor man of one of thy brethren, within any of thy gates, in thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not harden thy heart, nor shut thine hand from thy poor brother;

8 But thou shalt open thine hand wide unto him, and shalt surely lend him sufficient for his need, in that which he wanteth.

9 Beware that there be not a thought in thy wicked heart, saying, The seventh year, the year of release, is at hand; and thine eye be evil against thy poor brother, and thou givest him nought; and he cry unto the LORD against thee, and it be sin unto thee.

10 Thou shalt surely give him, and thine heart shall not be grieved when thou givest unto him: because that for this thing the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all thy works, and in all that thou puttest thine hand unto.

11 For the poor shall never cease out of the land: therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land.

12 ¶ And if thy brother, an Hebrew man, or an Hebrew woman, be sold unto thee, and serve thee six years; then in the seventh year thou shalt let him go free from thee.

13 And when thou sendest him out free from thee, thou shalt not let him go away empty:

14 Thou shalt furnish him liberally out of thy flock, and out of thy floor, and out of thy wine-press: of that wherewith the LORD thy God hath blessed thee thou shalt give unto him.

15 And thou shalt remember that thou wast a bond-man in the land of Egypt, and the LORD thy God redeemed thee: therefore I command thee this thing to-day.

16 And it shall be, if he say unto thee, I will not go away from thee; (because he loveth thee and thine house, because he is well with thee;)

17 Then thou shalt take an awl, and thrust it through his ear unto the door, and he shall be thy servant for ever. And also unto thy maid-servant thou shalt do likewise.

18 It shall not seem hard unto thee, when thou sendest him away free from thee; for he hath been worth a double-hired servant to thee, in serving thee six years: and the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all that thou doest.

19 ¶ All the firstling males that come of thy herd, and of thy flock, thou shalt sanctify unto the LORD thy God; thou shalt do no work with the firstling of thy bullock, nor shear the firstling of thy sheep.

20 Thou shalt eat it before the LORD thy God year by year, in the place which the LORD shall choose, thou and thy household.

21 And if there be any blemish therein, as if it be lame or blind, or have any ill blemish, thou shalt not sacrifice it unto the LORD thy God.

22 Thou shalt eat it within thy gates: the unclean and the clean person shall eat it alike, as the roe-buck, and as the hart.

23 Only thou shalt not eat the blood thereof: thou shalt pour it upon the ground as water.

fore would be sure to punish all uncharitableness to such as were his own; as he would be to bless and reward those who, with a generous and bountiful heart, gratefully depended upon his providence, and obeyed his commands.

17. He shall be thy servant for ever; i. e. All the time of his life, or at least till the year of jubilee.

18. He hath been worth a double-hired servant to thee;] Or, he deserves double wages to an hired servant, because he served thee upon better terms, both without wages, which hired servants require, and for a longer time, even for six years, as it here follows; whereas servants were ordinarily hired but from year to year, Lev. 25. 53. or, at most, but for three years, as they gather from this place and Isa. 16. 14.

19. Not shear, &c.] The Hebrew word signifies to pluck off; and Varro tells us, this was the method of fleecing the sheep, before that of shearing was found out; and Pliny informs us, that the same custom still subsisted in his time, lib. 8. cap. 48.

C H A P. XVI.

- 1 The feast of the passover,—9 of weeks,—13 of tabernacles.
—16 Every male must offer, as he is able, at those three feasts.

OBSEERVE the month of Abib, and keep the passover unto the LORD thy God; for in the month of Abib the LORD thy God brought thee forth out of Egypt by night.

2 Thou shalt therefore sacrifice the passover unto the LORD thy God, of the flock and the herd, in the place which the LORD shall choose to place his name there.

3 Thou shalt eat no leavened bread with it; seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, even the bread of affliction; for thou camest forth out of the land of Egypt in haste; that thou mayest remember the day when thou camest forth out of the land of Egypt all the days of thy life.

4 And there shall be no leavened bread seen with thee in all thy coasts seven days; neither shall there any thing of the flesh, which thou sacrificedst the first day at even, remain all night until the morning.

5 Thou mayest not sacrifice the passover within any of thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee:

6 But at the place which the LORD thy God shall choose to place his name in, there thou shalt sacrifice the passover at even, at the going down of the sun, at the season that thou camest forth out of Egypt.

7 And thou shalt roast and eat it in the place which the LORD thy God shall choose: and thou shalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents.

8 Six days thou shalt eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day shall be a solemn assembly to the LORD thy God: thou shalt do no work therein.

9 ¶ Seven weeks shalt thou number unto thee: begin to number the seven weeks from such time as thou beginnest to put the sickle to the corn.

10 And thou shalt keep the feast of weeks unto the LORD thy God with a tribute of a free-will-offering of thine hand, which thou shalt give unto the LORD thy God, according as the LORD thy God hath blessed thee:

11 And thou shalt rejoice before the LORD thy God, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant, and the Levite that is within thy gates, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, that are among you, in the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen to place his name there.

12 And thou shalt remember that thou wast a bondman in Egypt: and thou shalt observe and do these statutes.

13 ¶ Thou shalt observe the feast of tabernacles seven days, after that thou hast gathered in thy corn and thy wine.

14 And thou shalt rejoice in thy feast, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant, and the Levite, the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, that are within thy gates.

15 Seven days shalt thou keep a solemn feast unto the LORD thy God, in the place which the LORD shall choose: because the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all thine increase, and in all the works of thine hands, therefore thou shalt surely rejoice.

16 ¶ Three times in a year shall all thy males appear before the LORD thy God, in the place which he shall choose; in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles: and they shall not appear before the LORD empty:

17 Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee.

18 ¶ Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment.

19 Thou shalt not wrest judgment; thou shalt not respect persons, neither take a gift: for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wise, and pervert the words of the righteous.

20 That which is altogether just shalt thou follow, that thou mayest live, and inherit the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

21 ¶ Thou shalt not plant thee a grove of any trees near unto the altar of the LORD thy God, which thou shalt make thee.

22 Neither shalt thou set thee up any image, which the LORD thy God hateth.

THOU shalt not sacrifice unto the LORD thy God any bullock or sheep wherein is blemish, or any evil-favouredness: for that is an abomination unto the LORD thy God.

2 ¶ If there be found among you, within any of thy gates which the LORD thy God giveth thee, man or woman that hath wrought wickedness in the sight of the LORD thy God, in transgressing his covenant,

3 And hath gone and served other gods, and worshipped them, either the sun, or moon, or any of the host of heaven, which I have not commanded;

4 And it be told thee, and thou hast heard of it, and enquired diligently, and, behold, it be true, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought in Israel:

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 1. Observe the month of Abib;] When a festival was to be observed in perpetual commemoration of the bondage in Egypt, and the merciful and miraculous deliverance from it, at the punctual time, and with every circumstance mentioned in the foregoing laws relating to it. See Exod. 12. Numb. 28. 16, 17, &c.

By night.] Though they came out of Egypt by day, and in the morning, as appears from Exod. 12. 22. and 13. 3. Numb. 33. 3. yet they are here said to come out by night, because in the night Pharaoh was forced to give them leave to depart, and accordingly they marched to the place of rendezvous, and in the morning entered upon their full march.

3. The bread of affliction.] So called because it was insipid, and not easily digested; and therefore served to put them in mind of their afflicted state in Egypt.

7. Thou shalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents;] Unto thine own habitations, which were called tents, because they had no other dwellings when these precepts were delivered to them. The words are only a permission, not an absolute command: After you have eaten the paschal lamb, you are permitted to return home, if you please.

9. Seven weeks shalt thou number.] The feast of Pentecost was kept in solemn commemoration of the awful delivery of the law at mount Sinai, and in thankfulness to God for the fruits of the year. See Exod. 23. 16.

13. The feast of tabernacles.] This feast was kept in remembrance of the providential preservation of the Israelites, during their travels in the wilderness.

18. Judges—shalt thou make thee in all thy gates.] In all thy gates may signify, as in chap. 18. 6. in all thy cities. Accordingly they had judges appointed, and consistories erected, in every city, for determining all differences arising out of the law; though not as to the power of life and death, which was seldom granted them by their rulers, except in larger cities.

21. Thou shalt not plant—a grove.] To plant groves in honour of the true God was a part of primitive worship, Gen. 21. 33. but the Gentiles having abused this custom, the Israelites were prohibited to plant any such groves near the place of divine worship; yet their history shews how prone they were to fall into this superstition, 2 Kings 18. 4. and 23. 14. 2 Chron. 14. 3. and 15. 16.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 3. Any of the host of heaven;] i. e. Any of the stars, many of which were worshipped by the neighbouring nations; as the dog-star by the Egyptians. They called the planets gods, and were the first who, in honour of them, divided the days into weeks, according to the number of the planets.

7 The hands of the witnesses shall be first upon him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people; so thou shalt put the evil away from among you.

8 ¶ If there arise a matter too hard for thee in judgment, between blood and blood, between plea and plea, and between stroke and stroke, being matters of controversy within thy gates; then shalt thou arise and get thee up into the place which the LORD thy God shall choose;

9 And thou shalt come unto the priests the Levites, and unto the judge that shall be in those days, and enquire; and they shall shew thee the sentence of judgment:

10 And thou shalt do according to the sentence which they of that place which the LORD shall choose shall shew thee: and thou shalt observe to do according to all that they inform thee:

11 According to the sentence of the law which they shall teach thee, and according to the judgment which they shall tell thee, thou shalt do: thou shalt not decline from the sentence which they shall shew thee, to the right hand nor to the left.

12 And the man that will do presumptuously, and will not hearken unto the priest that standeth to minister there before the LORD thy God, or unto the judge, even that man shall die: and thou shalt put away the evil from Israel.

13 And all the people shall hear, and fear, and do no more presumptuously.

14 ¶ When thou art come unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, and shalt possess it, and shalt dwell therein, and shalt say, I will set a king over me, like as all the nations that are about me:

15 Thou shalt in any wise set him king over thee whom the LORD thy God shall choose; one from among thy brethren shalt thou set king over thee: thou mayest not set a stranger over thee, which is not thy brother.

16 But he shall not multiply horses to himself, nor cause the people to return to Egypt, to the end that he should multiply horses: forasmuch as the LORD hath said unto you, Ye shall henceforth return no more that way.

17 Neither shall he multiply wives to himself, that his heart turn not away; neither shall he greatly multiply to himself silver and gold.

18 And it shall be, when he sitteth upon the throne of his kingdom, that he shall write him a copy of this law in a book, out of that which is before the priests the Levites.

19 And it shall be with him, and he shall read therein all the days of his life; that he may learn to fear the LORD his God, to keep all the words of this law and these statutes, to do them:

20 That his heart be not lifted up above his brethren, and that he turn not aside from the commandment to the right hand or to the left: to the end that he may prolong his days in his kingdom, he, and his children, in the midst of Israel.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Lord is the priests' and Levites' inheritance.—15 Christ the prophet is to be heard.—20 The presumptuous prophet is to die.

THE priests the Levites, and all the tribe of Levi, shall have no part nor inheritance with Israel: they shall eat the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and his inheritance.

2 Therefore shall they have no inheritance among their brethren: the LORD is their inheritance, as he hath said unto them.

3 ¶ And this shall be the priest's due from the people, from them that offer a sacrifice, whether it be ox or sheep: and they shall give unto the priest the shoulder, and the two cheeks, and the maw.

4 The first-fruit also of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine oil, and the first of the fleece of thy sheep, shalt thou give him:

5 For the LORD thy God hath chosen him out of all thy tribes, to stand to minister in the name of the LORD, him and his sons, for ever.

6 ¶ And if a Levite come from any of thy gates out of all Israel, where he sojourned, and come with all the desire of his mind unto the place which the LORD shall choose;

7 Then he shall minister in the name of the LORD his God, as all his brethren the Levites do, which stand there before the LORD.

8 They shall have like portions to eat, besides that which cometh of the sale of his patrimony.

9 ¶ When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations.

10 There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch,

11 Or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer.

12 For all that do these things are an abomination unto the LORD: and because of these abominations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee.

13 Thou

7. The hands of the witnesses shall be first upon him:] That they might thereby confirm the truth of their testimony, by being the first executors of the sentence; and that his blood, if innocent, might lay at their door.

8. Between blood and blood:] In a question that may arise, whether a man hath committed wilful murder, or only casual.

Between stroke and stroke:] i. e. In the case of wounds or strokes inflicted by one man upon another.

16. He shall not multiply horses to himself:] He shall not keep a great number of horses for mere pomp and show, or establish a body of cavalry for war, lest they should cause the people to return to Egypt, viz. to buy horses; with which idolatrous country he would have them to have no traffic or familiar intercourse. Hence it appears, that in Moses' time it was customary to procure horses chiefly from Egypt, and so it continued to be in the days of Solomon. 1 Kings 10. 28, 29.

17. Neither shall he multiply wives:] Lest he be seduced from the true religion by marrying the worshippers of strange gods, as Solomon was.

18. He shall write him a copy of this law.] Either this book of Deuteronomy, which is an abstract of the law; or as others say, the whole five books of Moses, and that with his own hand, as a means to fix it more in his mind; insomuch, that though a copy was left him by his father, he was, notwithstanding, to transcribe one for himself. So the Jews understood it. And in like manner they tell us, that every private Israelite was bound to write a copy of the law. But from Josh. 8. 32. it is inferred that some short abstract only must be here meant; for it is not to be imagined that these stones, upon which Joshua wrote, contained the whole Pentateuch.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

Verse 3. Checks, and the maw.] These are now added to what was before appointed for the priest's portion, Lev. 8. 32, &c. By the maw is meant the stomach, which was accounted by the ancients a great dainty.

6. If a Levite.] By a Levite is here meant a priest, that is, any of the Levitical tribe.

Come—with all the desire, &c.] To encourage all those of the sacred order to take delight in the exercise of their ministry, and promote the honour of divine service, he appointed that such of the priests as chose to serve at the tabernacle out of their ordinary course, and addict themselves to a constant attendance upon the public ministry, should have the same continual allowance with the priests and Levites in waiting.

8. Besides that which cometh of the sale of his patrimony:] i. e. Besides what personal estate they had got themselves, or was left them by their relations, and which were to be sold for his use: for though the priests had no share in the land of Canaan given them at the division of the country, yet they might purchase houses, goods, and cattle, and sometimes lands too, as Abiathar, 1 Kings 2. 26. and Jeremiah, Jer. 32. 7, 8.

10. One—that useth divination:] Of which there are many sorts. The Hebrew words are Kosem hoscim, from Kasam, which signifies to decide by casting lots or arrows, of which see Ezek. 21. 21, 22. The manner of it was by inscribing upon several arrows the names of the cities which they were to attack; and, after mixing the arrows together, one was drawn at a venture, which presented the name of the city which was to be first attacked.

Or an enchanter:] One who divines by means of serpents.

A witch:] One that does mischief to men or beasts by evil arts.

11. Or a charmer:] One that charmeth serpents, or other cattle, Psal. 58. 6. Or, a fortune-teller, that foretelleth the events of men's lives by the aspects of the stars, &c.

A necromancer:] One who enquires of the dead. The manner of consulting the dead was by visiting their graves in the night, and there lying down and muttering certain words with a low voice, by which means they pretended to have communion with them by dreams, or by their appearing to them.

15. God

13 Thou shalt be perfect with the LORD thy God.

14 For these nations which thou shalt possess hearkened unto observers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, the LORD thy God hath not suffered thee so to do.

15 ¶ The LORD thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him ye shall hearken;

16 According to all that thou desiredst of the LORD thy God in Horeb, in the day of the assembly, saying, Let me not hear again the voice of the LORD my God, neither let me see this great fire any more, that I die not.

17 And the LORD said unto me, They have well spoken that which they have spoken.

18 I will raise them up a Prophet from among their brethren like unto thee, and will put my words in his mouth; and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him.

19 And it shall come to pass, that whosoever will not hearken unto my words, which he shall speak in my name, I will require it of him.

20 But the prophet, which shall presume to speak a word in my name, which I have not commanded him to speak, or that shall speak in the name of other gods, even that prophet shall die.

21 And if thou say in thine heart, How shall we know the word which the LORD hath not spoken?

22 When a prophet speaketh in the name of the LORD, if the thing follow not, nor come to pass, that is the thing which the LORD hath not spoken, but the prophet hath spoken it presumptuously; thou shalt not be afraid of him.

CHAP. XIX.

2 The cities of refuge:—4 the privilege thereof.—14 The land-mark is not to be removed.—15 Two witnesses at the least.—16 The punishment of a false one.

WHEN the LORD thy God hath cut off the nations, whose land the LORD thy God giveth thee, and thou succeedest them, and dwellest in their cities, and in their houses;

2 Thou shalt separate three cities for thee in the midst of thy land, which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it.

3 Thou shalt prepare thee a way, and divide the coasts of thy land, which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit, into three parts, that every slayer may flee thither.

4 ¶ And this is the case of the slayer which shall flee thither, that he may live: Whoso killeth his neighbour ignorantly, whom he hated not in time past;

5 As when a man goeth into the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and his hand fetcheth a stroke with the axe to cut down the tree, and the head slipeth from the helve, and lighteth upon his neighbour, that he die; he shall flee unto one of those cities, and live:

6 Lest the avenger of the blood pursue the slayer, while his heart is hot, and overtake him, because the way is long, and slay him; whereas he was not worthy of death, inasmuch as he hated him not in time past.

7 Wherefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt separate three cities for thee.

8 And if the LORD thy God enlarge thy coast, as he hath sworn unto thy fathers, and give thee all the land which he promised to give unto thy fathers;

9 If thou shalt keep all these commandments to do them, which I command thee this day, to love the LORD thy God, and to walk ever in his ways; then shalt thou add three cities more for thee, besides these three:

10 That innocent blood be not shed in thy land, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and so blood be upon thee.

11 ¶ But if any man hate his neighbour, and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him mortally that he die, and fleeth into one of these cities:

12 Then the elders of his city shall send and fetch him thence, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, that he may die.

13 Thine eye shall not pity him, but thou shalt put away the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, that it may go well with thee:

14 ¶ Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's land-mark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it.

15 ¶ One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established.

16 ¶ If a false witness rise up against any man, to testify against him that which is wrong;

17 Then both the men, between whom the controversy is, shall stand before the LORD, before the priests, and the judges, which shall be in those days;

18 And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsely against his brother;

19 Then shall ye do unto him as he had thought to have done unto his brother: so shalt thou put the evil away from among you.

20 And those which remain shall hear, and fear, and shall henceforth commit no more any such evil among you.

21 And thine eye shall not pity, but life shall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

CHAP.

15. God will raise up unto thee a Prophet.] God will supply you with a succession of truly inspired prophets, to whom he will reveal his will and determinations concerning your republic. This is the natural sense of these words; but, as they point to some prophet more eminent than the rest, they should be understood, literally, of the Messiah; for as they may be so interpreted as to comprehend all the prophets whom God sent after Moses, so surely the Messiah, the most eminent of all those prophets, is not to be excluded. And Le Clerc justly observes, that the ancient Jews undoubtedly understood them as peculiarly applicable to the Messiah; since St. Peter, who, as the apostolic manner was, reasons with the Jews upon received principles, and accommodates those words to Jesus of Nazareth, Acts 3. 22. and 7. 37.

Like unto me.] In a limited sense, all the succeeding prophets may be called like unto Moses, i. e. truly inspired, and commissioned by God, as he was, in opposition to those pretenders to the gift of prophecy among the heathens, whom he had before mentioned; but, in their full meaning, the words are applicable to none but the Messiah, who was a second lawgiver like unto Moses, which none of the other prophets were: nor had any of the other prophets, but the Messiah, such a near and familiar intercourse with God as Moses.

Unto him ye shall hearken.] By this precept the Jews were bound to give ear to all the prophets who proved their commission from God; but especially to the Messiah, who not only resembled Moses, but infinitely exceeded him. To this passage Le Clerc refers those words of our Saviour, Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust: for had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me; for he wrote of me, John 5. 45.

No. 15.

19. Whosoever will not hearken, &c.] I will punish him severely for it, as this phrase is taken, Gen. 9. 5. and 42. 22. The sad effect of this threatening the Jews have felt for above 1700 years together.

22. If the thing follow not, &c.] If a prophet appeal to some miracle, or future event, as an absolute sign of his being sent from God, and the miracle should fail, or the prediction not be fulfilled, he shall be considered as an impostor.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 2. In the midst of thy land.] That is, within the limits of thy land; for if they had all three been in the heart of the country, they would in a great measure have defeated the whole intention in separating them, which was, that they should be placed so conveniently in several parts of the country, that men might easily and speedily flee to them.

3. Thou shalt prepare thee a way.] Make a plain road to them, and keep it always in good repair, that the manslayer might meet with no difficulty in his flight thither. And the Jews say, where two roads parted, they were bound to set up a post, whereon was engraven, in great letters, Miklat, i. e. refuge, that he might not mistake his way.

14. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's land-mark.] In ancient times, when they had not come into the practice of fencing and inclosing their ground, it was of great importance for the distinction of property, that land-marks should not be removed.

CHAP. XX.

- 1 The priest's exhortation to encourage the people to battle.—
 10 How to use the cities that accept or refuse the proclamation of peace.

WHEN thou goest out to battle against thine enemies, and seest horses and chariots, and a people more than thou, be not afraid of them: for the LORD thy God is with thee, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

2 And it shall be, when ye are come nigh unto the battle, that the priest shall approach and speak unto the people,

3 And shall say unto them, Hear, O Israel; Ye approach this day unto battle against your enemies: let not your hearts faint, fear not, and do not tremble, neither be ye terrified because of them;

4 For the LORD your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you against your enemies, to save you.

5 ¶ And the officers shall speak unto the people, saying, What man is there that hath built a new house, and hath not dedicated it? let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

6 And what man is he that hath planted a vineyard, and hath not yet eaten of it? let him also go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man eat of it.

7 And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife, and hath not taken her? let him go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man take her.

8 And the officers shall speak further unto the people, and they shall say, What man is there that is fearful, and faint-hearted? let him go and return unto his house, lest his brethren's heart faint as well as his heart.

9 And it shall be, when the officers have made an end of speaking unto the people, that they shall make captains of the armies to lead the people.

10 ¶ When thou comest nigh unto a city to fight against it, then proclaim peace unto it.

11 And it shall be, if it make thee answer of peace, and open unto thee, then it shall be, that all the people that is found therein shall be tributaries unto thee, and they shall serve thee.

12 And if it will make no peace with thee, but will make war against thee, then thou shalt besiege it.

13 And when the LORD thy God hath delivered it into thine hands, thou shalt smite every male thereof with the edge of the sword.

14 But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the spoil thereof, shalt thou take unto thyself: and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which the LORD thy God hath given thee.

15 Thus shalt thou do unto all the cities which are very far off from thee, which are not of the cities of these nations.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. And seest horses and chariots.] The armies of the Israelites consisted wholly of foot, and their law seems to have obliged them to continue so, in order to a more entire reliance upon God; the Canaanites, and other nations, having the advantage of chariots and horses. Thus, while other nations trusted, some in chariots, and some in horses, the Israelites were trained up to remember, and trust in the name of the Lord their God, Psa. 20. 7.

5, 6, 7. The officers shall speak unto the people, &c.] The heralds were to make proclamation, allowing an exemption from the war to such as had lately purchased estates, newly built houses, and not yet settled in them, planted new vineyards, or were just married; lest the thoughts of such men, continually hankering after their private affairs, might dispirit them from the business of the war, and the service of the public. To this passage the apostle seems to allude, 2 Tim. 2. 4. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life.

5. A new house, and hath not dedicated it:] Which was done by feasting and thanksgiving to God. See the title of Psa. 3. and Nehem. 12. 27. Heb. hath initiated it, i. e. entered upon it, taken possession of it, dwelt in it.

Lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it:] And so he should lose and another get the fruit of his labours, which might seem unjust or hard. But this and the following exceptions are to be understood only of a war allowed by God, not in a war commanded by God, nor in the approaching war with the Canaanites, from which even the bridegroom was not exempted, as the Jewish writers note.

11. If it make thee answer of peace:] Accept the conditions offered to them, which were three: 1. That they should renounce idolatry; 2. Become their subjects; 3. Pay them a yearly tribute.

16 But of the cities of these people, which the LORD thy God doth give thee for an inheritance, thou shalt save alive nothing that breatheth.

17 But thou shalt utterly destroy them, namely, the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee:

18 That they teach you not to do after all their abominations, which they have done unto their gods; so should ye sin against the LORD your God.

19 ¶ When thou shalt besiege a city a long time, in making war against it to take it, thou shalt not destroy the trees thereof, by forcing an axe against them: for thou mayest eat of them, and thou shalt not cut them down, (for the tree of the field is man's life,) to employ them in the siege.

20 Only the trees which thou knowest that they be not trees for meat, thou shalt destroy and cut them down; and thou shalt build bulwarks against the city that maketh war with thee, until it be subdued.

CHAP. XXI.

- 1 *Expiation of an uncertain murder.—*15 *The first-born not to be disinherited.—*18 A stubborn son is to be stoned to death.

IF one be found slain in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it, lying in the field, and it be not known who hath slain him;

2 Then thy elders and thy judges shall come forth, and they shall measure unto the cities which are round about him that is slain.

3 And it shall be, that the city which is next unto the slain man, even the elders of that city, shall take an heifer which hath not been wrought with, and which hath not drawn in the yoke.

4 And the elders of that city shall bring down the heifer unto a rough valley, which is neither eared nor sown, and shall strike off the heifer's neck there in the valley.

5 And the priests the sons of Levi shall come near, (for them the LORD thy God hath chosen to minister unto him, and to bless in the name of the LORD,) and by their word shall every controversy and every stroke be tried.

6 And all the elders of that city, that are next unto the slain man, shall wash their hands over the heifer that is beheaded in the valley.

7 And they shall answer and say, Our hands have not shed this blood, neither have our eyes seen it.

8 Be merciful, O LORD, unto thy people Israel, whom thou hast redeemed, and lay not innocent blood unto thy people of Israel's charge. And the blood shall be forgiven them.

9 So

16. Thou shalt save alive nothing that breatheth.] i. e. Neither man, woman, nor child. Some of the Jews, however, think this is not a command, but a permission, which warranted them to kill all without distinction of sex or age; yet did not so enjoin it, but that they might spare such as repented.

18. That they teach you not to do after all their abominations.] Here we have the reason for that severe execution mentioned in the preceding verses. They were most abominable idolators, who offered their children to Molech: they were magicians, wizards, necromancers, &c. So that God thought them not fit to live any longer upon the face of the earth; and it was mercy to the human race in general, not to suffer such a wicked contagious generation to subsist.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 1. If one be found slain in the land, &c.] The expiation ordained for a concealed murder, when the criminal could not be found by the most diligent inquisition after him, was attended with great solemnity, in order to shew the heinousness of the fact, and to terrify others from committing the like.

4. Unto a rough valley.] The Hebrew signifies either a valley or a torrent, and probably is here meant of a valley with a brook running through it; for, in the sixth verse, the elders are required to wash their hands over the heifer; which seems to intimate that there was running water in the place.

Which is neither eared nor sown.] A rough waste piece of ground was chosen, because the blood of the victim would have polluted cultivated ground. For such sacrifices rendered every person and thing that touched them unclean, Lev. 16. 26, 27.

12. She

9 So shalt thou put away the guilt of innocent blood from among you, when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the LORD.

10 ¶ When thou goest forth to war against thine enemies, and the LORD thy God hath delivered them into thine hands, and thou hast taken them captive,

11 And seest among the captives a beautiful woman, and hast a desire unto her, that thou wouldest have her to thy wife;

12 Then thou shalt bring her home to thine house, and she shall shave her head, and pare her nails;

13 And she shall put the raiment of her captivity from off her, and shall remain in thine house, and bewail her father and her mother a full month: and after that, thou shalt go in unto her, and be her husband, and she shall be thy wife.

14 And it shall be, if thou have no delight in her, then thou shalt let her go whither she will; but thou shalt not sell her at all for money, thou shalt not make merchandise of her, because thou hast humbled her.

15 ¶ If a man have two wives, one beloved, and another hated, and they have borne him children, both the beloved and the hated; and if the first-born son be hers that was hated:

16 Then it shall be, when he maketh his sons to inherit that which he hath, that he may not make the son of the beloved first-born before the son of the hated, which is indeed the first-born.

17 But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the first-born, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the first-born is his.

18 ¶ If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, which will not obey the voice of his father, or the voice of his mother, and that, when they have chastened him, will not hearken unto them:

19 Then shall his father and his mother lay hold on him, and bring him out unto the elders of his city, and unto the gate of his place:

20 And they shall say unto the elders of his city, This our son is stubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton, and a drunkard.

21 And all the men of his city shall stone him with stones that he die: so shalt thou put evil away from among you; and all Israel shall hear and fear.

22 ¶ And if a man have committed a sin worthy of death, and he be to be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree;

23 His body shall not remain all night upon the tree, but thou shalt in any wise bury him that day; (for he that is hanged is accursed of God;) that thy land be not defiled, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

12. She shall shave her head, and pare her nails.] These were external signs of mourning, Lev. 19. 27.

18, 19, 20, 21. If a man have a stubborn and rebellious son, &c.] Moses now adds a law for the regulation of families, by giving to parents a well-tempered power over extravagant and incorrigible children; which was not to put the lives of children absolutely into their hands, as the laws of some other countries did, but to direct them, when all means of admonition and correction were lost upon any son, and they saw nothing but ruin to the estate and family by his lewdness and debauchery, to make complaint to the magistracy in court, who, upon sufficient evidence given against him, were to condemn him to death, as a terrible example of disobedience to the laws of God.

22. And thou hang him on a tree;] Which was done after the malefactor was put to death some other way, this public shame being added to his former punishment. See Josh. 10. 26. 2 Sam. 4. 12.

23. For he that is hanged is accursed of God;] i. e. He is in a singular manner cursed and punished by God's appointment with a most shameful kind of punishment, as this was held among the Jews and all nations. This punishment was inflicted only upon the most notorious and public offenders, as Numb. 25. 4. 2 Sam. 21. 6. and principally to foreshadow that Christ should undergo this execrable punishment, and be made a curse for us, Gal. 3. 13.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXII.

Verse 1. Thou shalt not see thy brother's ox, &c.] It is evident from Exod. 23. 4. compared with our Saviour's parable of the Samaritan, Luke 10. 30. that the word brother implies every man without distinction.

5. The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, &c.] The last words of this verse shew this to have been an idolatrous custom,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of humanity toward brethren.—5 The sex to be distinguished by apparel.—9 Confusion is to be avoided.—13 The punishment of slander.—20 Of adultery.—28 Of fornication.—30 Of incest.

THOU shalt not see thy brother's ox or his sheep go astray, and hide thyself from them: thou shalt in any case bring them again unto thy brother.

2 And if thy brother be not nigh unto thee, or if thou know him not, then thou shalt bring it unto thine own house, and it shall be with thee until thy brother seek after it, and thou shalt restore it to him again.

3 In like manner shalt thou do with his ass, and so shalt thou do with his raiment; and with all lost thing of thy brother's, which he hath lost, and thou hast found, shalt thou do likewise: thou mayest not hide thyself.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not see thy brother's ass or his ox fall down by the way, and hide thyself from them: thou shalt surely help him to lift them up again.

5 ¶ The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that do so are abomination unto the LORD thy God.

6 ¶ If a bird's nest chance to be before thee in the way in any tree, or on the ground, whether they be young ones, or eggs, and the dam sitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, thou shalt not take the dam with the young.

7 But thou shalt in any wise let the dam go, and take the young to thee, that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days.

8 ¶ When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thine house, if any man fall from thence.

9 ¶ Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with diverse seeds; lest the fruit of thy seed which thou hast sown, and the fruit of thy vineyard, be defiled.

10 ¶ Thou shalt not plow with an ox and an ass together.

11 ¶ Thou shalt not wear a garment of diverse sorts, as of woollen and linen together.

12 ¶ Thou shalt make thee fringes upon the four quarters of thy vesture wherewith thou coverest thyself.

13 ¶ If any man take a wife, and go in unto her, and hate her,

14 And give occasions of speech against her, and bring up an evil name upon her, and say, I took this woman, and when I came to her, I found her not a maid:

15 Then shall the father of the damsel, and her mother, and was practised by the heathens; particularly, in the worship of Venus, women appeared before her in armour, and men in women's apparel; and this promiscuous dress opened a door to all manner of impurity, and therefore was wisely forbid.

6. Thou shalt not take the dam with the young.] This is one of those merciful constitutions in the law of Moses which respect the animal creation, and tended to humanize the heart of that people, to create in them a sense of divine providence extending itself to all creatures, and to teach them to exercise their dominion over them with gentleness.

8. Thou shalt make a battlement;] i. e. A fence or breast-work; because the roofs of their houses were made flat or plain, that men might walk on them. See Judg. 16. 27. 1 Sam. 9. 25. 2 Sam. 11. 2. Neh. 8. 16. Matt. 24. 17.

9. Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with diverse seeds.] This and the two following precepts, though in themselves small and trivial, are given, according to that time and state of the church, for documents or instructions in greater matters; and particularly to commend to them simplicity and sincerity in all their carriages towards God and men, and to forbid all mixture of their inventions with God's institutions in doctrine and worship.

Lest the fruit—be defiled.] Or, as Le Clerc and others render it, Lest the fruit of thy vineyard be consecrated; i. e. lest, upon thy transgression of this law, the fruit of thy vineyard be consecrated to the sacred treasury, it being a mixture which the law had forbidden.

10. Not plow with an ox and an ass together.] This law too is thought to have respect to some idolatrous custom of the Gentiles, who were taught to believe that their fields would be more fruitful, if thus plowed; for it is not likely men would have yoked together two creatures so different in their tempers and motions, had they not been led to it by some superstition.

CHAP. XXIII.

mother, take and bring forth the tokens of the damsel's virginity, unto the elders of the city in the gate.

16 And the damsel's father shall say unto the elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife, and he hateth her.

17 And, lo, he hath given occasions of speech against her, saying, I found not thy daughter a maid; and yet these are the tokens of my daughter's virginity: and they shall spread the cloth before the elders of the city.

18 And the elders of that city shall take that man and chastise him.

19 And they shall amerce him in an hundred shekels of silver, and give them unto the father of the damsel, because he hath brought up an evil name upon a virgin of Israel, and she shall be his wife; he may not put her away all his days.

20 But if this thing be true, and the tokens of virginity be not found for the damsel:

21 Then they shall bring out the damsel to the door of her father's house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones that she die; because she hath wrought folly in Israel, to play the whore in her father's house: so shalt thou put evil away from among you.

22 ¶ If a man be found lying with a woman married to an husband, then they shall both of them die, both the man that lay with the woman, and the woman: so shalt thou put away evil from Israel.

23 ¶ If a damsel that is a virgin be betrothed unto an husband, and a man find her in the city, and lie with her:

24 Then ye shall bring them both out unto the gate of that city, and ye shall stone them with stones that they die; the damsel, because she cried not, being in the city; and the man, because he hath humbled his neighbour's wife: so thou shalt put away evil from among you.

25 ¶ But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her; then the man only that lay with her shall die.

26 But unto the damsel thou shalt do nothing; there is in the damsel no sin worthy of death: for as when a man riseth against his neighbour, and slayeth him, even so is this matter.

27 For he found her in the field, and the betrothed damsel cried, and there was none to save her.

28 ¶ If a man find a damsel that is a virgin, which is not betrothed, and lay hold on her, and lie with her, and they be found:

29 Then the man that lay with her shall give unto the damsel's father fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife; because he hath humbled her, he may not put her away all his days.

30 ¶ A man shall not take his father's wife, nor discover his father's skirt.

superstition. Le Clerc understands this prohibition symbolically, viz. that the Israelites were not to make marriages with the unbelieving nations; and to confirm his opinion, quotes St. Paul, Be not unequally yoked with unbelievers, 2 Cor. 6. 14.

17. Shall spread the cloth before the elders of the city.] The Jews understand these words, not literally of a cloth, but figuratively, of an evident proof, laid open, like a cloth unfolded; which probably was the testimony of matrons.

19. An hundred shekels.] About twelve pounds sterling.

30. Nor discover his father's skirt.] This phrase is borrowed from an ancient custom or ceremony among the Jews. It was usual for the bridegroom, when he brought his bride into the bridal chamber, to spread the skirt of his robe over her, to denote his right to her, and power over her, Ruth 3. 9. Ezek. 16. 8.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

Verse. 1. Shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord.] The meaning is, not that he shall not be allowed to come into the church or holy assemblies to worship the true God; but that such an one shall not be admitted to offices either in the church or commonwealth of Israel, and shall not have his name entered in the public register as an Israelite.

2. A bastard.] Under this name the Jews comprehend, not only one begotten in simple fornication, but the offspring of all such incestuous marriages as are prohibited, Lev. 18.

3. An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord for ever.] A male of these nations being only mentioned, the Jews tell us, that their women were not concerned in this law. Thus, though an Israelitish woman was not to marry an Ammonite or Moabite, yet a man of Israel might marry one of their women, after they had

2 A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD: even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD.

3 An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to their tenth generation shall they not enter into the congregation of the LORD for ever.

4 Because they met you not with bread and with water in the way, when ye came forth out of Egypt: and because they hired against thee Balaam the son of Beor, of Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse thee.

5 Nevertheless, the LORD thy God would not hearken unto Balaam; but the LORD thy God turned the curse into a blessing unto thee, because the LORD thy God loved thee.

6 Thou shalt not seek their peace not their prosperity all thy days for ever.

7 ¶ Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite; for he is thy brother: thou shalt not abhor an Egyptian; because thou wast a stranger in his land.

8 The children that are begotten of them shall enter into the congregation of the LORD in their third generation.

4. Because they met you not with bread and with water in the way.] It was a piece of ancient hospitality, to give strangers in their travels the refreshment of bread and water, i. e. of meat and drink.

6. Thou shalt not seek their peace, &c.] That is, thou shalt not enter into any alliances with them.

7. Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite.] The Edomites were the descendants of Esau, and consequently a kindred nation; and as they were a circumcised people, they might make marriages with them, provided they worshipped the true God.

Not abhor an Egyptian.] God would not suffer the memory of the hospitality they had received from the Egyptians to be forgotten, though they had been afterwards oppressed by them in the basest manner.

9. When the host goeth forth against thine enemies, &c.] This rule was to be observed at all times, but especially when they were going forth to battle, when they had the greatest need of the Divine protection and assistance, which they could not reasonably hope for, if they were wicked.

13. A paddle upon thy weapon.] Le Clerc renders it, Thou shalt have a paddle, besides thy arms; which is full as agreeable to the original as our translation, and makes a much plainer sense.

14. The Lord—walketh in the midst of thy camp.] The ark, the symbol of God's presence, went along with them; so that reverence to the divine Majesty required, that no uncleanness, whether natural or moral, should be found among them.

15. Not deliver unto his master, &c.] This is thought to have a particular relation to times of war, when heathen soldiers or servants might desert, and come over to the Israelites, with intent to turn proselytes to the true religion.

WHEN a man hath taken a wife, and married her, and it come to pass that she find no favour in his eyes, because he hath found some uncleanness in her; then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and send her out of his house:

2 And when she is departed out of his house, she may go and be another man's wife.

3 And if the latter husband hate her, and write her a bill of divorcement, and giveth it in her hand, and sendeth her out of his house; or if the latter husband die, which took her to be his wife;

4 Her former husband, which sent her away, may not

18. Not bring the hire of a whore.] It was a custom, among the idolatrous nations, for prostitutes of both sexes to dedicate to pious uses some part of what they had earned by prostitution, hereby hoping to atone for their vices. To this the prophet Micah alludes, chap. 1. 7. and Solomon, Prov. 7. 14. in opposition to which idolatrous practice this law is thought to have been instituted.

Or the price of a dog, into the house of the Lord.] The most natural explanation of this is, to take the word dog here in a figurative sense for the sodomite or whore-master mentioned above; it being a known figure in most languages to call men of intemperate lusts by the name of that animal which they resemble in their manners. Accordingly men of beastly natures are called dogs, Matt. 15. 26.

20. Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury.] As their neighbours, the Sidonians, Tyrians, and Egyptians, made great gain by merchandise, it was not reasonable that they should borrow money of the Israelites for nothing: but it was reasonable, that the Israelites themselves, whose chief profit was by husbandry, and breeding of cattle, should have money lent them freely by one another without interest, their land not being a country of traffic, whereby money might be improved as in other kingdoms.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIV.

Verse 1. Because he hath found some uncleanness in her.] Some loathsome distemper of body, or quality of mind, not observed before marriage; or, some light and unchaste carriage, as this or the like phrase commonly signifies, but not amounting to adultery, which was not punished with divorce, but with death.

Let him write her a bill of divorcement, &c.] Which is not a command to divorce them, as some of the Jews understood it, nor an allowance and approbation, as plainly appears not only from the New Testament, Matt. 5. 31, 32. and 19. 8, 9. but also from the Old Testament, Gen. 2. 24. Mal. 2. 16. but merely a permission or toleration of that practice, No. 15.

take her again to be his wife, after that she is defiled: for that is abomination before the LORD: and thou shalt not cause the land to sin, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

5 ¶ When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business: but he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken.

6 ¶ No man shall take the nether or the upper milstone to pledge: for he taketh a man's life to pledge.

7 ¶ If a man be found stealing any of his brethren of the children of Israel, and maketh merchandise of him, or selleth him; then that thief shall die, and thou shalt put evil away from among you.

8 ¶ Take heed in the plague of leprosy, that thou observe diligently, and do according to all that the priests the Levites shall teach you: as I commanded them, so ye shall observe to do.

9 Remember what the LORD thy God did unto Miriam by the way, after that ye were come forth out of Egypt.

10 ¶ When thou dost lend thy brother any thing, thou shalt not go into his house to fetch his pledge.

11 Thou shalt stand abroad, and the man to whom thou dost lend shall bring out the pledge abroad unto thee.

12 And if the man be poor, thou shalt not sleep with his pledge.

13 In any case thou shalt deliver him the pledge again when the sun goeth down, that he may sleep in his own raiment, and bless thee: and it shall be righteousness unto thee before the LORD thy God.

14 ¶ Thou shalt not oppress an hired servant that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy strangers that are in thy land within thy gates:

15 At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the LORD, and it be sin unto thee.

16 ¶ The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, neither shall the children be put to death for the fathers: every man shall be put to death for his own sin.

17 ¶ Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the stranger, nor of the fatherless, nor take the widow's raiment to pledge.

18 But thou shalt remember that thou wast a bondman in Egypt, and the LORD thy God redeemed thee thence: therefore I command thee to do this thing.

19 ¶ When thou cuttest down thine harvest in thy field, for prevention of greater mischiefs and cruelties of that hard-hearted people towards their wives; and this only for a season, even until the time of reformation, as it is called, Heb. 9. 10. i. e. till the coming of the Messias, when things were to return to their first institution and purest condition.

4. Her former husband—may not take her again.] In order to restrain them from abuse in this permission, the law provides, that the husband who had once put away his wife, should, upon her being married to another, be incapable of taking her again, though she might grow rich, or otherways desirable.

6. No man shall take the nether or the upper milstone to pledge.] Used in their hand-mills, of which see Exod. 11. 5. Jer. 25. 10. Under this one kind he understands all other things necessary to get a livelihood, the taking whereof is against the laws both of charity and prudence, seeing by those things alone he can be enabled both to subsist and to pay his debts.

10. Not go into his house to fetch his pledge.] This was a merciful provision for the poor, whose houses no man might enter into, without their consent, and there chuse what he pleased for the security of his debt, but the lender was to take what the borrower could best spare.

12. Not sleep with his pledge.] If the pledge was to be returned every night, where was the use of taking a pledge at all? To this the Rabbins answer, that this was a means of preventing the debt from being released in the sabbatical year, as it would otherways have been.

16. The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, &c.] This is a rule of common equity: and how it is consistent with God's threatening to visit the sins of the fathers upon the children, see note on Exod. 20. 5.

19. When thou cuttest down, &c.] There were many merciful laws relating to the poor: see Lev. 19. 9, 10. and 23. 22. where they are ordered not to be over-exact in reaping the fruits of their fields and vineyards, but to leave something to be gathered by their poor neighbours.

field, and hast forgot a sheaf in the field, thou shalt not go again to fetch it: it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow; that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all the work of thine hands.

20 When thou beatest thine olive-tree, thou shalt not go over the boughs again: it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow.

21 When thou gatherest the grapes of thy vineyard, thou shalt not glean it afterward: it shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow.

3 Stripes must not exceed forty.—13. Of unjust weights.—

17 The memory of Amalek to be blotted out.

IF there be a controversy between men, and they come unto judgment, that the judges may judge them; then they shall justify the righteous, and condemn the wicked.

2 And it shall be, if the wicked man be worthy to be beaten, that the judge shall cause him to lie down, and to be beaten before his face, according to his fault, by a certain number.

3 Forty stripes he may give him, and not exceed: lest, if he should exceed, and beat him above these with many stripes, then thy brother should seem vile unto thee.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn.

5 ¶ If brethren dwell together, and one of them die, and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry without unto a stranger: her husband's brother shall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an husband's brother unto her.

6 And it shall be, that the first-born which she beareth shall succeed in the name of his brother which is dead, that his name be not put out of Israel.

7 And if the man like not to take his brother's wife, then let his brother's wife go up to the gate unto the elders, and say, My husband's brother refuseth to raise up unto his brother a name in Israel, he will not perform the duty of my husband's brother.

8 Then the elders of his city shall call him, and speak unto him: and if he stand to it, and say, I like not to take her;

9 Then shall his brother's wife come unto him in the presence of the elders, and loose his shoe from off his foot, and spit in his face, and shall answer and say, So shall it be done unto that man that will not build up his brother's house.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXV.

Verse 1. If there be a controversy between men, &c.] Having affixed punishments to the breaches of the most capital laws, Moses now orders that the several inferior courts of justice should take the cognizance of other criminal matters deserving only corporal penalties, and be just and impartial in their proceedings upon all such complaints.

3. Forty stripes—and not exceed.] For the prevention of excess in this punishment, they were wont to give but 39 stripes, 2 Cor. 11. 24. Ainsworth, however, mentions another reason for not exceeding 39 stripes, namely, that the scourge they used in beating had three cords; so that every stroke was counted for three stripes, and then they could not give even 40, but either 39 or 42, which was above the limited number. The law of Moses very wisely limited the number of strokes, that severe judges might not order delinquents to be lashed to death, as was often done among the Romans.

Lest—thy brother, &c.] Lest the judges, by exceeding the bounds of humanity, might be accustomed to think despicably of their poor brethren, and set their lives at nought.

4. Not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn,] As the Gentiles used to do, having divers devices to keep them from eating when they trod out the corn, which they did in those parts and times by the oxen, Hos. 10. 11. either immediately by their hoofs, Isa. 28. 28. Mic. 4. 13. or by drawing carts and other instruments over the corn, Isa. 25. 10. and 28. 27. and 41. 15. Amos 1. 3. Hereby God taught them humanity and kindness, even to their beasts that served them, Prov. 12. 10. and much more to their servants, or other men who laboured for them, and especially to their ministers, 1 Cor. 9. 9.

10 And his name shall be called in Israel, The house of him that hath his shoe loosed.

11 ¶ When men strive together, one with another, and the wife of the one draweth near for to deliver her husband out of the hand of him that smiteth him, and putteth forth her hand, and taketh him by the secrets:

12 Then thou shalt cut off her hand, thine eye shall not pity her.

13 ¶ Thou shalt not have in thy bag diverse weights, a great and a small.

14 Thou shalt not have in thine house diverse measures, a great and a small.

15 But thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have; that thy days may be lengthened in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

16 For all that do such things, and all that do unrighteously, are an abomination unto the LORD thy God.

17 ¶ Remember what Amalek did unto thee by the way, when ye were come forth out of Egypt;

18 How he met thee by the way, and smote the hindmost of thee, even all that were feeble behind thee, when thou wast faint and weary: and he feared not God.

19 Therefore it shall be, when the LORD thy God hath given thee rest from all thine enemies round about, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it, that thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven; thou shalt not forget it.

C H A P. XXVI.

3 The confession of him that offereth the first-fruits.—16 The covenant between God and the people.

AND it shall be, when thou art come in unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and possessest it, and dwellest therein;

2 That thou shalt take of the first of all the fruit of the earth, which thou shalt bring of thy land that the LORD thy God giveth thee, and shalt put it in a basket, and shalt go unto the place which the LORD thy God shall choose to place his name there.

3 And thou shalt go unto the priest that shall be in those days, and say unto him, I profess this day unto the LORD thy God, that I am come unto the country which the LORD sware unto our fathers for to give us.

4 And the priest shall take the basket out of thine hand, and set it down before the altar of the LORD thy God.

5 And

5. If brethren dwell together.] By brethren we are here to understand, first, brethren properly so called; then kinsmen, who succeed in the room of brothers, as appears from the history of Ruth, chap. 3. 4.

Her husband's brother shall go in unto her;] Only in case he was unmarried, as appears from Lev. 18. 18. And this is thought to be implied in the words, if brethren dwell together; for though the younger, while he continued single, may be supposed to dwell with the elder, yet when he married, he would dwell in a house of his own.

9. Loose his shoe.] This was a note of infamy, to signify that by this unnatural and disingenuous action he was unworthy to be amongst free-men, and fit to be reduced to the condition of the meanest servants or captives, who used to go barefoot, Isa. 20. 3, 4.

Spit in his face.] The Hebrew doctors expound it, shall spit before his face.

18. How he met thee by the way.] The Amalekites fell upon the children of Israel in the wilderness, Exod. 17. 8.

19. Blot out the remembrance of Amalek.] This command was accordingly fulfilled, 1 Sam. 15.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVI.

Verse 1. It shall be, when thou art come in unto the land, &c.] Every Israelite being obliged by law to offer the first-fruits of his field and vineyard at the tabernacle, at the proper seasons of the year, Moses now prescribes to them the forms of solemn procession and prayer with which each offerer should present them:

5. A Syrian

5 And thou shalt speak, and say before the LORD thy God, A Syrian ready to perish was my father; and he went down into Egypt, and sojourned there with a few, and became there a nation, great, mighty, and populous.

6 And the Egyptians evil entreated us, and afflicted us, and laid upon us hard bondage.

7 And when we cried unto the LORD God of our fathers, the LORD heard our voice, and looked on our affliction, and our labour, and our oppression.

8 And the LORD brought us forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with an out-stretched arm, and with great terribleness, and with signs, and with wonders.

9 And he hath brought us into this place, and hath given us this land, even a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 And now, behold, I have brought the first-fruits of the land, which thou, O LORD, hast given me. And thou shalt set it before the LORD thy God, and worship before the LORD thy God: .

11 And thou shalt rejoice in every good thing which the LORD thy God hath given unto thee, and unto thine house, thou, and the Levite, and the stranger that is among you.

12 ¶ When thou hast made an end of tithing all the tithes of thine increase the third year, which is the year of tithing, and hast given it unto the Levite, the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled:

13 Then thou shalt say before the LORD thy God, I have brought away the hallowed things out of mine house, and also have given them unto the Levite, and unto the stranger, to the fatherless, and to the widow, according to all thy commandments which thou hast commanded me: I have not transgressed thy commandments, neither have I forgotten them.

14 I have not eaten thereof in my mourning, neither have I taken away ought thereof for any unclean use, nor given ought thereof for the dead: but I have hearkened to the voice of the LORD my God, and have done according to all that thou hast commanded me.

15 Look down from thy holy habitation, from heaven, and bless thy people Israel, and the land which thou hast given us, as thou swarest unto our fathers, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

16 ¶ This day the LORD thy God hath commanded thee to do these statutes and judgments: thou shalt therefore keep and do them with all thine heart, and with all thy soul.

17 Thou hast avouched the LORD this day to be thy God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and to hearken unto his voice.

18 And the LORD hath avouched thee this day to be his peculiar people, as he hath promised thee, and that thou shouldst keep all his commandments:

19 And to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praise, and in name, and in honour; and that thou mayest be an holy people unto the LORD thy God, as he hath spoken.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The people are commanded to write the law,—5 and to build an altar.—11 The tribes divided.

AND Moses, with the elders of Israel, commanded the people, saying, Keep all the commandments which I command you this day.

2 And it shall be, on the day when ye shall pass over Jordan unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, that thou shalt set thee up great stones, and plaster them with plaster.

3 And thou shalt write upon them all the words of this law, when thou art passed over, that thou mayest go in unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey; as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promised thee.

4 Therefore it shall be, when ye be gone over Jordan, that ye shall set up these stones, which I command you this day, in mount Ebal, and thou shalt plaster them with plaster:

5 And there thou shalt build an altar unto the LORD thy God, an altar of stones: thou shalt not lift up any iron tool upon them.

6 Thou shalt build the altar of the LORD thy God of whole stones: and thou shalt offer burnt-offerings thereunto unto the LORD thy God.

7 And thou shalt offer peace-offerings, and shalt eat there, and rejoice before the LORD thy God.

8 And thou shalt write upon the stones all the words of this law very plainly.

9 ¶ And Moses, and the priests the Levites, spake unto all Israel, saying, Take heed, and hearken, O Israel; this day thou art become the people of the LORD thy God.

10 Thou shalt therefore obey the voice of the LORD thy God, and do his commandments and his statutes, which I command thee this day.

11 ¶ And Moses charged the people the same day, saying,

12 These shall stand upon mount Gerizim to bless the people, when ye are come over Jordan; Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Joseph, and Benjamin:

13 And these shall stand upon mount Ebal to curse; Reuben, Gad, and Asher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.

14 ¶ And the Levites shall speak, and say unto all the men of Israel with a loud voice,

15 Cursed be the man that maketh any graven or molten image, an abomination unto the LORD, the work of the hands of the craftsman, and putteth it in a secret place: and all the people shall answer and say, Amen.

16 Cursed

5. A Syrian ready to perish was my father.] Jacob was a Syrian by descent, Abraham being a native of that country, and he himself lived twenty years with Laban the Syrian, and thence he was called a Syrian; and at the time he went down into Egypt, he was ready to perish by famine.

14. I have not eaten thereof in my mourning.] Spencer thinks this prohibition has a respect to an idolatrous custom of the Egyptians, who, when they offered the first-fruits of the earth, were wont to invoke Isis with doleful lamentations: besides, the Israelites were not allowed to eat things consecrated to God when they were in a state of mourning, Hos. 9. 4.

Neither have I taken away ought thereof for any unclean use;] i. e. For any common use, the words common and unclean being oft indifferently used one for the other; or for any other use than that which thou hast appointed, which would have been a pollution of them.

Nor given ought thereof for the dead.] The Egyptians were wont to consecrate their first-fruits to Osiris, who, Spencer thinks, may be here meant by the dead, for the word is in the singular number. From hence, and other passages in this book, it appears how very careful Moses was to guard the Jews against being infected with the then prevailing idolatry of worshipping the dead.

17. Thou hast avouched, &c.] i. e. Solemnly professed.

18. The Lord hath avouched thee, &c.] God was pleased to assure the Israelites, that they should be his people in an especial manner, provided they kept his commandments.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVII.

Verse 2. Thou shalt—plaster them with plaster,] viz. On the surfaces, for the conveniency of writing upon them.

3. Thou shalt write upon them all the words of this law.] Some think the whole book of Deuteronomy; others, that only the ten commandments are here meant. But Josephus's opinion is more probable, who thinks that it was the cursings that here follow, the last whereof seems to respect the whole law of Moses.

12 and 13. Mount Gerizim to bless—mount Ebal to curse.] Gerizim and Ebal (says Maundrell) are separated by a narrow valley, not above a furlong broad, so that what was said upon the one mountain might be heard by those who were upon the other. The priests, it is thought, stood round about the ark in the valley between the mountains, and, in pronouncing the blessings and cursings, behaved after this manner—first, turning their faces towards mount Gerizim, they proclaimed aloud, Blessed be the man that maketh not any graven image, &c. unto which the people that stood there answered, Amen; then, turning towards mount Ebal, they said, Cursed be the man that maketh, &c. to which they that stood there made the same answer; and so it is to be understood of the rest.

16. Cursed

16 Cursed be he that setteth light by his father or his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen.

17 Cursed be he that removeth his neighbour's landmark: and all the people shall say, Amen.

18 Cursed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of the way: and all the people shall say, Amen.

19 Cursed be he that perverteth the judgment of the stranger, fatherless, and widow: and all the people shall say, Amen.

20 Cursed be he that lieth with his father's wife, because he uncovereth his father's skirt: and all the people shall say, Amen.

21 Cursed be he that lieth with any manner of beast: and all the people shall say, Amen.

22 Cursed be he that lieth with his sister, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen.

23 Cursed be he that lieth with his mother-in-law: and all the people shall say, Amen.

24 Cursed be he that smiteth his neighbour secretly: and all the people shall say, Amen.

25 Cursed be he that taketh reward to slay an innocent person: and all the people shall say, Amen.

26 Cursed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this law to do them: and all the people shall say, Amen.

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 The blessings for obedience.—15 The curses for disobedience.

AND it shall come to pass, if thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day; that the LORD thy God will set thee on high above all nations of the earth.

2 And all these blessings shall come on thee, and overtake thee, if thou shalt hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God.

3 Blessed shalt thou be in the city, and blessed shalt thou be in the field.

4 Blessed shall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep.

5 Blessed shall be thy basket and thy store.

6 Blessed shalt thou be when thou comest in, and blessed shalt thou be when thou goest out.

7 The LORD shall cause thine enemies that rise up against thee to be smitten before thy face: they shall come out against thee one way, and flee before thee seven ways.

8 The LORD shall command the blessing upon thee in thy store-houses, and in all that thou settest thine hand unto: and he shall bless thee in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

9 The LORD shall establish thee an holy people unto himself, as he hath sworn unto thee, if thou shalt keep the commandments of the LORD thy God, and walk in his ways.

10 And all the people of the earth shall see that thou art called by the name of the LORD; and they shall be afraid of thee.

11 And the LORD shall make thee plenteous in goods, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which the LORD swore unto thy fathers to give thee.

12 The LORD shall open unto thee his good treasure, the heaven to give thee rain unto thy land in his season, and to bless all the work of thine hand: and thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow.

13 And the LORD shall make thee the head, and not the tail; and thou shalt be above only, and thou shalt not be beneath; if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the LORD thy God, which I command thee this day, to observe and to do them.

14 And thou shalt not go aside from any of the words which I command thee this day, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.

15 ¶ But it shall come to pass, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe to do all his commandments and his statutes which I command thee this day; that all these curses shall come upon thee, and overtake thee:

16 Cursed shalt thou be in the city, and cursed shalt thou be in the field.

17 Cursed shall be thy basket and thy store.

18 Cursed shall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy land, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep.

19 Cursed shalt thou be when thou comest in, and cursed shalt thou be when thou goest out.

20 The LORD shall send upon thee cursing, vexation, and rebuke, in all that thou settest thine hand unto for to do, until thou be destroyed, and until thou perish quickly; because of the wickedness of thy doings whereby thou hast forsaken me.

21 The LORD shall make the pestilence cleave unto thee, until he have consumed thee from off the land, whither thou goest to possess it.

22 The LORD shall smite thee with a consumption, and with a fever, and with an inflammation, and with an extreme burning, and with the sword, and with blasting, and with mildew: and they shall pursue thee until thou perish.

23 And the heaven that is over thy head shall be brass, and the earth that is under thee shall be iron.

24 The LORD shall make the rain of thy land powder and dust: from heaven shall it come down upon thee, until thou be destroyed.

25 The LORD shall cause thee to be smitten before thine enemies: thou shalt go out one way against them, and flee seven ways before them; and shalt be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.

26 And thy carcase shall be meat unto all fowls of the air, and unto the beasts of the earth, and no man shall fray them away.

27 The LORD will smite thee with the botch of Egypt, and with the emerods, and with the scab, and with the itch, whereof thou canst not be healed.

28 The

26. Cursed be he that confirmeth not all the words, &c.] The verb which we render confirmeth properly signifies performeth, and should have been so translated, as it is, 1 Sam. 15. 11.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXVIII.

Verse 5. Blessed shall be thy basket and thy store;] Thy baskets shall be full of fruits, and thy barns or storehouses full of corn.

10. See that thou art called by the name of the Lord;] i. e. That you are indeed and in truth his people and children.

12. Open unto thee his good treasure, &c.] The Lord shall cause the rain of heaven to fall upon thy land; those magazines of water which are suspended in the clouds, for the purposes of watering and fertilizing the ground, being called God's good treasure, because rain is so beneficial to the earth; and it speaks his goodness to shower down his blessings in such quantities as he thinks proper for the sustenance of man and beast.

13. Make thee the head, and not the tail.] This is a proverbial speech, importing that they should rule over other nations, but other nations should not lord it over them.

22. With an extreme burning, and with the sword.] Both words seem to relate to the bad disposition of the air, by extreme heat and drought; for what we render the sword may, with equal propriety, be translated dryness.

24. Make the rain of thy land powder and dust.] By reason of the long drought, dust blown up into the air by the wind shall fall down in showers instead of rain. These dry showers, says the author of a voyage to the East-Indies, most grievously annoy all those among whom they fall, enough to smite them with present blindness, filling their eyes, ears, nostrils, &c.

25. Be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth;] Which has been fully verified since their dispersion by the Romans. But what renders the completion of this prophecy most amazingly remarkable is, that the Jews are the only people that ever subsisted in such a wandering state, after the dissolution of their laws and government.

26. Thy carcase shall be meat unto all fowls of the air.] Nothing was accounted a greater calamity among the ancients, than to have their bodies lie exposed to be devoured by birds and beasts. This is what Jeremiah calls being buried with the burial of an ass, and the Psalmist bewails it, as one of the sorest judgments that had befallen his nation, Psa. 79. 2, 3. How far this terrible threatening was fulfilled in the Babylonish captivity, will appear by consulting those pathetic descriptions of that calamity, in the book of Lamentations, where it is often declared, that those judgments inflicted upon them was a consequence of the breach of God's covenant.

27. The emerods.] Those painful tumors in the fundament, which often degenerate into ulcers. The word is nowhere to be met with but here and 1 Sam. 5. 6, 9, 12.

35. Smite

28 The LORD shall smite thee with madness, and blindness, and astonishment of heart.

29 And thou shalt grope at noon-day, as the blind gropeth in darkness, and thou shalt not prosper in thy ways: and thou shalt be only oppressed, and spoiled evermore, and no man shall save thee.

30 Thou shalt betroth a wife, and another man shall lie with her: thou shalt build an house, and thou shalt not dwell therein: thou shalt plant a vineyard, and shalt not gather the grapes thereof.

31 Thine ox shall be slain before thine eyes, and thou shalt not eat thereof: thine ass shall be violently taken away from before thy face, and shall not be restored to thee: thy sheep shall be given unto thine enemies, and thou shalt have none to rescue them.

32 Thy sons and thy daughters shall be given unto another people, and thine eyes shall look and fail with longing for them all the day long: and there shall be no might in thine hand:

33 The fruit of thy land, and all thy labours, shall a nation which thou knowest not eat up: and thou shalt be only oppressed and crushed away:

34 So that thou shalt be mad for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see.

35 The LORD shall smite thee in the knees, and in the legs, with a sore botch that cannot be healed, from the sole of thy foot unto the top of thy head.

36 The LORD shall bring thee, and thy king which thou shalt set over thee, unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known; and there shalt thou serve other gods, wood and stone.

37 And thou shalt become an astonishment, a proverb, and a bye-word, among all nations whither the LORD shall lead thee.

38 Thou shalt carry much seed out into the field, and shalt gather but little in: for the locust shall consume it.

39 Thou shalt plant vineyards and dress them, but shalt neither drink of the wine, nor gather the grapes: for the worm shall eat them.

40 Thou shalt have olive-trees throughout all thy coasts, but thou shalt not anoint thyself with the oil: for thine olive shall cast his fruit.

41 Thou shalt beget sons and daughters, but thou shalt not enjoy them: for they shall go into captivity.

42 All thy trees and fruit of thy land shall the locust consume.

43 The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee very high; and thou shalt come down very low.

44 He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him: he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail.

45 Moreover, all these curses shall come upon thee, and shall pursue thee, and overtake thee, till thou be destroyed: because thou hearkenedst not unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep his commandments and his statutes which he commanded thee:

46 And they shall be upon thee for a sign and for a wonder, and upon thy seed for ever.

47 Because thou servedst not the LORD thy God with joyfulness and with gladness of heart, for the abundance of all things:

48 Therefore shalt thou serve thine enemies which the LORD shall send against thee, in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things: and he shall put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have destroyed thee.

49 The LORD shall bring a nation against thee from far, from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flieth, a nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand:

50 A nation of fierce countenance, which shall not regard the person of the old, nor shew favour to the young:

51 And he shall eat the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruit of thy land, until thou be destroyed: which also shall not leave thee either corn, wine, or oil, or the increase of thy kine, or flocks of thy sheep, until he have destroyed thee.

52 And he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, until thy high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou trustedst, throughout all thy land: and he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, throughout all thy land which the LORD thy God hath given thee.

53 And thou shalt eat the fruit of thine own body, the flesh of thy sons, and of thy daughters, (which the LORD thy God hath given thee,) in the siege and in the straitness wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee.

54 So that the man that is tender among you, and very delicate, his eye shall be evil toward his brother, and toward the wife of his bosom, and toward the remnant of his children which he shall leave.

55 So that he will not give to any of them the flesh of his children whom he shall eat: because he hath nothing left him in the siege and in the straitness wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee in all thy gates.

56 The tender and delicate woman among you, which would not adventure to set the sole of her foot upon the ground for delicateness and tenderness, her eye shall be evil toward the husband of her bosom, and toward her son, and toward her daughter,

57 And toward her young one that cometh out from between her feet, and toward her children which she shall bear: for she shall eat them for want of all things secretly in the siege and straitness wherewith thine enemy shall distress thee in thy gates.

58 If thou wilt not observe to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that thou mayest fear this glorious and fearful name, THE LORD THY GOD;

59 Then the LORD will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy seed, even great plagues, and of long continuance, and sore sicknesses, and of long continuance.

60 Moreover, he will bring upon thee all the diseases of Egypt, which thou wast afraid of; and they shall cleave unto thee.

61 Also every sickness, and every plague, which is not written in the book of this law, them will the LORD bring upon thee, until thou be destroyed.

62 And ye shall be left few in number, whereas ye were as the stars of heaven for multitude: because thou wouldest not obey the voice of the LORD thy God.

63 And it shall come to pass, that as the LORD rejoiced over you to do you good, and to multiply you; so the LORD will rejoice over you to destroy you, and to bring

35. Smite thee in the knees, and in the legs, &c.] A terrible breaking out, which spread from the sole of the foot to the crown of the head.

36. The Lord shall bring thee, and thy king—unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known.] This was fully accomplished in the last dispersion of the Jews by the Romans, a people which neither they nor their fathers knew.

49. The Lord shall bring a nation against thee from far, &c.] When you shall have filled up the measure of your iniquity by crucifying your great Messiah, God will bring upon you the arms of a still more warlike and invincible people, namely, the Romans. Julius Severus was called by the emperor Adrian, to their destruction, out of the island of Britain.

As swift as the eagle flieth.] This metaphor is frequently used in scripture, but here with remarkable propriety, as it alludes to the Roman eagles or ensigns.

A nation, whose tongue thou shalt not understand.] The Jews were absolute strangers to the variety of dialects spoken by the many nations of which the Roman army was composed.

No. 15.

50. Not regard the person of the old, nor shew favour to the young.] The Romans in their wars with the Jews spared nobody; their rage and fury extinguishing all reverence to gray hairs, and all tenderness to innocent babes.

52. Until thy high and fenced walls come down.] This was literally fulfilled by the army of Titus, when all the fenced cities of Judah were taken and destroyed, and the very walls of Jerusalem, together with the temple, razed to the ground.

53. Thou shalt eat the fruit of thine own body.] This dreadful prediction was fulfilled when Samaria was besieged by Benhadad, king of Syria; and more fully when the Romans reduced Jerusalem.

56. Her eye shall be evil—toward her son.] This was literally fulfilled, both in the siege of Samaria, wherein a woman boiled her son, 2 Kings 6. 28, 29. and in the first siege of Jerusalem by the Babylonians, Lam. 2. 20. and 4. 10. and was still more exactly fulfilled in the last siege by the Romans. See Josephus's history of the Jewish war, which is the best commentary on this part of the prophecy.

bring you to nought: and ye shall be plucked from off the land whither thou goest to possess it.

64 And the LORD shall scatter thee among all people, from the one end of the earth even unto the other; and there thou shalt serve other gods, which neither thou nor thy fathers have known, even wood and stone.

65 And among these nations shalt thou find no ease, neither shall the sole of thy foot have rest: but the LORD shall give thee there a trembling heart, and failing of eyes, and sorrow of mind.

66 And thy life shall hang in doubt before thee; and thou shalt fear day and night, and shalt have none assurance of thy life.

67 In the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were even! and at even thou shalt say, Would God it were morning! for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou shalt fear, and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see.

68 And the LORD shall bring thee into Egypt again with ships, by the way whereof I spake unto thee, Thou shalt see it no more again: and there ye shall be sold unto your enemies for bond-men and bond-women, and no man shall buy you.

C H A P. XXIX.

2 Moses exhorteth to obedience.—10 All are presented before the Lord.—29 Secret things belong unto God.

THESSE are the words of the covenant which the LORD commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel, in the land of Moab, besides the covenant which he made with them in Horeb.

2 ¶ And Moses called unto all Israel, and said unto them, Ye have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh, and unto all his servants, and unto all his land:

3 The great temptations which thine eyes have seen, the signs, and those great miracles:

4 Yet the LORD hath not given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day.

5 And I have led you forty years in the wilderness: your clothes are not waxen old upon you, and thy shoe is not waxen old upon thy foot.

6 Ye have not eaten bread, neither have ye drunk wine, or strong drink: that ye might know that I am the LORD your God.

7 And when ye came unto this place, Sihon the king of Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan, came out against us unto battle, and we smote them.

8 And we took their land, and gave it for an inheritance unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to the half-tribe of Manasseh.

9 Keep therefore the words of this covenant, and do them, that ye may prosper in all that ye do.

10 ¶ Ye stand this day all of you before the LORD your God; your captains of your tribes, your elders, and your officers, with all the men of Israel,

11 Your little ones, your wives, and thy stranger that is in thy camp, from the hewer of thy wood, unto the drawer of thy water:

63. Be plucked from off the land.] This was remarkably fulfilled by Adrian, who, after he had made a terrible desolation of the Jews, prohibited any of them, by a public decree, to come within sight of Judea.

66. Thy life shall hang in doubt.] Be at the pleasure of thine enemies. The expression denotes the perplexity of that mind which is ever haunted with the fear of death.

68. Bring thee into Egypt again with ships.] Which was literally fulfilled under Titus, when multitudes were carried thither in ships, and sold there for slaves, as Josephus relates. And this expression seems to remind them of that time when they went over the sea without ships, God miraculously drying up the sea before them, &c. which now they would have occasion sadly to remember.

Ye shall be sold—and no man shall buy you.] This version appears absurd. It should be rendered, Ye shall offer yourselves, or, be offered to sale, and no man shall buy you; either because the number of your captives shall be so great, that the market shall be glutted with you; or, because you shall be so loathsome and contemptible, that men shall not be willing to have you for slaves. And this was the condition of the Jews after the destruction of Jerusalem, as Josephus the Jew has left upon record.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIX.

Verse 1. These are the words, &c.] This first verse with great pro-

12 That thou shouldest enter into covenant with the LORD thy God, and into his oath, which the LORD thy God maketh with thee this day:

13 That he may establish thee to-day for a people unto himself, and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath said unto thee, and as he hath sworn unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

14 Neither with you only do I make this covenant and this oath;

15 But with him that standeth here with us this day before the LORD our God, and also with him that is not here with us this day:

16 (For ye know how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we came through the nations which ye passed by.

17 And ye have seen their abominations, and their idols, wood and stone, silver and gold, which were among them:)

18 Lest there should be among you man, or woman, or family, or tribe, whose heart turneth away this day from the LORD our God, to go and serve the gods of these nations; lest there should be among you a root that beareth gall and wormwood:

19 And it come to pass, when he heareth the words of this curse, that he bless himself in his heart, saying, I shall have peace, though I walk in the imagination of mine heart, to add drunkenness to thirst:

20 The LORD will not spare him, but then the anger of the LORD, and his jealousy, shall smoke against that man, and all the curses that are written in this book shall lie upon him, and the LORD shall blot out his name from under heaven.

21 And the LORD shall separate him unto evil out of all the tribes of Israel, according to all the curses of the covenant that are written in this book of the law:

22 So that the generation to come of your children that shall rise up after you, and the stranger that shall come from a far land, shall say, when they see the plagues of that land, and the sicknesses which the LORD hath laid upon it;

23 And that the whole land thereof is brimstone, and salt, and burning, that it is not sown, nor beareth, nor any grass groweth therein, like the overthrow of Sodom, and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, which the LORD overthrew in his anger and in his wrath:

24 Even all nations shall say, Wherefore hath the LORD done thus unto this land? what meaneth the heat of this great anger?

25 Then men shall say, Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt.

26 For they went and served other gods, and worshipped them, gods whom they knew not, and whom he had not given unto them:

27 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against this land, to bring upon it all the curses that are written in this book:

28 And the LORD rooted them out of their land in anger, priety concludes the 28th chapter in the celebrated editions printed by Michaelis and Houbigant.

4. Yet the Lord hath not given you an heart to perceive, &c.] This verse comes in by way of correction or exception to the foregoing clause, in this manner: I said indeed, Ye have seen, &c. verse 2. and thine eyes have seen, &c. but I must recall my words, for in truth you have not seen them; in seeing you have not seen, and perceiving you have not perceived them.

6. Ye have not eaten bread;] i. e. Common bread, purchased by your own money, or made by your own hands; but heavenly and angelical bread, Deut. 8. 3. Psal. 78. 24, 25.

18. A root that beareth gall and wormwood.] That is, a wicked and sinful person, who might diffuse his fatal practices like the venom of an infectious plant. To this passage the apostle alludes, Heb. 12. 15.

19. To add drunkenness to thirst.] A metaphorical expression, to denote a presumptuous continuance in sin. An habitual course of wickedness does but beget a greater inclination to do wickedly still; as drunkenness does not slake, but increase the thirst.

23. Brimstone, and salt, and burning.] That is, is burnt up and made barren as with brimstone and salt; alluding to the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah by fire and brimstone.

anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation, and cast them into another land, as it is this day.

29 The secret things belong unto the LORD our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us, and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Great mercies promised to the penitent.—11 The commandment is manifest.—15 Life and death set before them.

AND it shall come to pass, when all these things are come upon thee, the blessing and the curse, which I have set before thee, and thou shalt call them to mind among all the nations whither the LORD thy God hath driven thee,

2 And shalt return unto the LORD thy God, and shalt obey his voice, according to all that I command thee this day, thou and thy children, with all thine heart, and with all thy soul;

3 That then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compassion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations whither the LORD thy God hath scattered thee.

4 If any of thine be driven out unto the utmost parts of heaven, from thence will the LORD thy God gather thee, and from thence will he fetch thee:

5 And the LORD thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it: and he will do thee good, and multiply thee above thy fathers.

6 And the LORD thy God will circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seed, to love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live.

7 And the LORD thy God will put all these curses upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, which persecuted thee.

8 And thou shalt return and obey the voice of the LORD, and do all his commandments which I command thee this day.

9 And the LORD thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy land, for good: for the LORD will again rejoice over thee for good, as he rejoiced over thy fathers,

10 If thou shalt hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep his commandments and his statutes, which are written in this book of the law, and if thou turn unto the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul.

11 ¶ For this commandment which I command thee this day, it is not hidden from thee, neither is it far off.

12 It is not in heaven, that thou shouldest say, Who shall go up for us to heaven, and bring it unto us, that we may hear it, and do it?

13 Neither is it beyond the sea, that thou shouldest say, Who shall go over the sea for us, and bring it unto us, that we may hear it, and do it?

14 But the word is very nigh unto thee, in thy mouth, and in thy heart, that thou mayest do it.

15 ¶ See, I have set before thee this day life and good, and death and evil;

29. The secret things belong unto the Lord.] Man should not search into those mysteries which God has, in his great wisdom, thought proper to conceal from the sons of men.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXX.

Ver. 6. The Lord—will circumcise thine heart.] The circumcision which upon the restoration will take place, and be required of them, is the circumcision of the heart, i. e. the christian circumcision; and the covenant that will then be established with them shall be the christian covenant.

12. It is not in heaven, &c.] A proverbial expression, to signify that they needed not hard, or impossible labour, to come at the knowledge of God's will. Thus Grotius observes, that the Greeks expressed things very difficult, by going up to heaven.

13. Neither is it beyond the sea:] The knowledge of this commandment is not to be fetched from far distant places, to which divers of the wise heathens travelled for their wisdom: but it was brought to thy very doors and ears, and declared to thee in this wilderness.

14. But the word is—in thy mouth, and in thy heart:] Made so familiar to them, that they might always have it in their common discourse; and 16 In that I command thee this day to love the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his judgments, that thou mayest live and multiply: and the LORD thy God shall bless thee in the land whither thou goest to possess it.

17 But if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not hear, but shalt be drawn away, and worship other gods, and serve them;

18 I denounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish, and that ye shall not prolong your days upon the land whither thou passest over Jordan to go to possess it.

19 I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live:

20 That thou mayest love the LORD thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him; (for he is thy life, and the length of thy days;) that thou mayest dwell in the land which the LORD swore unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give them.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Moses encourageth the people,—7 and Joshua:—9 He delivereth the law unto the priests.—14 God giveth a charge to Joshua.—24 Moses delivereth the book of the law.

AND Moses went and spake these words unto all Israel.

2 And he said unto them, I am an hundred and twenty years old this day; I can no more go out and come in: also the LORD hath said unto me, Thou shalt not go over this Jordan.

3 The LORD thy God, he will go over before thee, and he will destroy these nations from before thee, and thou shalt possess them: and Joshua, he shall go over before thee, as the LORD hath said.

4 And the LORD shall do unto them as he did to Sihon, and to Og, kings of the Amorites, and unto the land of them whom he destroyed.

5 And the LORD shall give them up before your face, that ye may do unto them according unto all the commandments which I have commanded you.

6 Be strong, and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them: for the LORD thy God, he it is that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

7 ¶ And Moses called unto Joshua, and said unto him in the sight of all Israel, Be strong, and of a good courage: for thou must go with this people unto the land which the LORD hath sworn unto their fathers to give them; and thou shalt cause them to inherit it.

8 And the LORD, he it is that doth go before thee; he will be with thee, he will not fail thee, neither forsake thee: fear not, neither be dismayed.

9 ¶ And Moses wrote this law, and delivered it unto the priests the sons of Levi, which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and unto all the elders of Israel.

10 And Moses commanded them, saying, At the end of every seven years, in the solemnity of the year of release, in the feast of tabernacles, had now been so often repeated, that it might be well laid up in their memory. In Moses' law there were no mysteries, known only to a few, as it was in the Egyptian wisdom.

11 When

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXI.

Verse 2. I can no more go out and come in:] i. e. Discharge the office of your governor and leader; not because he wanted vigour of body or mind, which was not in the least abated, chap. 34. 7. but because God did not think fit to permit it, as it follows.

3. The Lord thy God, he will go over before thee:] By means of the ark, the symbol of his presence and protection.

9. Moses wrote this law.] By the law here is meant, either the whole Pentateuch, or this book of Deuteronomy.

10. In the feast of tabernacles, &c.] The most proper season that could be chosen for that purpose, when they had gathered in the fruits of the earth, and so had leisure to attend to the reading of the law; and being likewise, at the end of every seventh year, free from cares by the release of their debts, the law was likely to make the greater impression on them.

11. Thou

11 When all Israel is come to appear before the LORD thy God, in the place which he shall choose, thou shalt read this law before all Israel in their hearing.

12 Gather the people together, men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learn, and fear the LORD your God, and observe to do all the words of this law:

13 And that their children, which have not known any thing, may hear, and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it.

14 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Behold, thy days approach that thou must die: call Joshua, and present yourselves in the tabernacle of the congregation, that I may give him a charge. And Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves in the tabernacle of the congregation.

15 And the LORD appeared in the tabernacle in a pillar of a cloud: and the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of the tabernacle.

16 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Behold, thou shalt sleep with thy fathers; and this people will rise up, and go a whoring after the gods of the strangers of the land, whither they go to be among them, and will forsake me, and break my covenant which I have made with them.

17 Then my anger shall be kindled against them in that day, and I will forsake them, and I will hide my face from them, and they shall be devoured, and many evils and troubles shall befall them, so that they will say in that day, Are not these evils come upon us, because our God is not among us?

18 And I will surely hide my face in that day for all the evils which they shall have wrought, in that they are turned unto other gods.

19 Now therefore write ye this song for you, and teach it the children of Israel: put it in their mouths, that this song may be a witness for me against the children of Israel.

20 For when I shall have brought them into the land which I swear unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey, and they shall have eaten, and filled themselves, and waxen fat; then will they turn unto other gods, and serve them, and provoke me, and break my covenant.

21 And it shall come to pass, when many evils and troubles are befallen them, that this song shall testify against them as a witness; for it shall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their seed: for I know their imagination which they go about, even now, before I have brought them into the land which I swear.

22 ¶ Moses therefore wrote this song the same day, and taught it the children of Israel.

11. Thou shalt read this law,] Thyself, in part; for the Jews tell us, that the king was in person to read some part of it; or at least thou shalt cause it to be read by the priests or Levites; for he could not read it himself in the hearing of all Israel; but this was to be done by several persons, and to the people met in several congregations.

16. Thou shalt sleep with thy fathers.] The word sleep is commonly used in scripture to signify death; and at the same time implies, that death shall not have dominion over them for ever, but that in the morning of the resurrection they shall awake as certainly as they fall asleep.

19. Now therefore write ye this song,] Which follows in the 32d chapter. This hath been always thought the most profitable way of instructing people, and communicating things to posterity by putting them into verse; for which reason, as Aristotle reports, people anciently sung their laws.

26. Take this book of the law, and put it in the side of the ark;] i. e. In the outside, in a little chest fixed to it; for nothing but the tables of stone were contained in the ark, 1 Kings 8. 9. Here it was kept for greater security and reverence.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXII.

Verse 1. Give ear, O ye heavens, &c.] Moses begins this inimitable piece of poetry, by calling to the heaven and earth to attend to what he is going to deliver. Such figurative and animated modes of speech have a great tendency to awaken the attention.

2. My doctrine shall drop, &c.] Or, let my doctrine drop, &c. For it is a prayer that his words might sink into their hearts, to soften them, as the drops of rain and dew do the earth, and produce the fruits of obedience.

4. He is the Rock, &c.] As rocks are places of strength and refuge,

23 And he gave Joshua the son of Nun a charge, and said, Be strong, and of a good courage: for thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the land which I swear unto them: and I will be with thee.

24 ¶ And it came to pass, when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book, until they were finished;

25 That Moses commanded the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, saying,

26 Take this book of the law, and put it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee.

27 For I know thy rebellion, and thy stiff neck: behold, while I am yet alive with you this day ye have been rebellious against the LORD; and how much more after my death?

28 Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may speak these words in their ears, and call heaven and earth to record against them.

29 For I know that after my death ye will utterly corrupt yourselves, and turn aside from the way which I have commanded you: and evil will befall you in the latter days, because ye will do evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger through the work of your hands.

30 And Moses spake in the ears of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song, until they were ended.

C H A P. XXXII.

1 Moses' song.—48 God sendeth him up to mount Nebo, to see the land and die.

GIVE ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth.

2 My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distil as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass:

3 Because I will publish the name of the LORD; ascribe ye greatness unto our God.

4 He is the Rock, his work is perfect; for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth, and without iniquity; just and right is he.

5 They have corrupted themselves; their spot is not the spot of his children: they are a perverse and crooked generation.

6 Do ye thus requite the LORD, O foolish people and unwise? is not he thy father that hath bought thee? hath he not made thee, and established thee?

7 ¶ Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: ask thy father, and he will shew thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee.

8 When the most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel.

9 For

so God is called the rock, because he is the almighty Protector of his servants, in whom they may find at all times a sure refuge. Hence, verse 15. he is called the rock of salvation. So verse 37. the idols of the nations are called the rock, in whom they trusted.

5. Their spot is not the spot of his children;] Or, as Le Clerc renders it, the sons of pollution are not his. The true characteristic of the sons of God is, to imitate and resemble God himself, 1 John 3. 10. It is true, they have their spots through infirmity, to which all are subject: but the crimes of the Israelites were of so high a nature, as to speak them degenerate from their profession of being God's peculiar people; they were the spots of a crooked and perverse generation, who refused to be reclaimed.

6. Is not he thy father that hath bought thee?] Has not he redeemed thee from the bondage of Egypt? To this purchase the Psalmist alludes, Psa. 74. 2. God was the father of the Israelites, not only by creation, but in respect of the Hebrew constitution, whereof he was the father and the founder, having first delivered them from Egypt, as a slave ransomed from slavery.

8. When the most High divided to the nations their inheritance;] When God by his providence did allot the several parts of the world to the several people, which was done, Gen. 10. and 11.

When he separated the sons of Adam;] i. e. Divided them in their languages and habitations, according to their families.

He set the bounds of the people;] That is, (say some) he divided them into seventy nations, which was the number of the children of Israel when they came into Egypt: but the meaning seems rather to be this; "God so distributed the bounds and settlements of the several people and nations, as to reserve such a part of the earth for the Israelites as he knew would be a commodious habitation for so numerous a race."

9. Jacob

9 For the LORD's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance.

10 He found him in a desert land, and in the waste howling wilderness; he led him about, he instructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye.

11 As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings;

12 So the LORD alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him.

13 He made him ride on the high places of the earth, that he might eat the increase of the fields; and he made him to suck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock;

14 Butter of kine, and milk of sheep, with fat of lambs, and rams of the breed of Bashan, and goats, with the fat of kidneys of wheat; and thou didst drink the pure blood of the grape.

15 ¶ But Jeshurun waxed fat, and kicked: thou art waxen fat, thou art grown thick, thou art covered with fatness; then he forsook God which made him, and lightly esteemed the Rock of his salvation.

16 They provoked him to jealousy with strange gods, with abominations provoked they him to anger.

17 They sacrificed unto devils, not to God; to gods whom they knew not, to new gods that came newly up, whom your fathers feared not.

18 Of the Rock that begat thee thou art unmindful, and hast forgotten God that formed thee.

19 And when the LORD saw it, he abhorred them, because of the provoking of his sons, and of his daughters.

20 And he said, I will hide my face from them, I will see what their end shall be; for they are a very froward generation, children in whom is no faith.

21 They have moved me to jealousy with that which is not God; they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: and I will move them to jealousy with those which are not a people; I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation:

22 For a fire is kindled in mine anger, and shall burn unto the lowest hell, and shall consume the earth with her increase, and set on fire the foundations of the mountains.

23 I will heap mischiefs upon them, I will spend mine arrows upon them.

24 They shall be burnt with hunger, and devoured with burning heat, and with bitter destruction: I will also send the teeth of beasts upon them, with the poison of serpents of the dust.

25 The sword without, and terror within, shall destroy both the young man and the virgin, the suckling also, with the man of gray hairs.

26 I said, I would scatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to cease from among men:

27 Were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy, lest their adversaries should behave themselves strangely, and lest they should say, Our hand is high, and the LORD hath not done all this.

28 For they are a nation void of counsel, neither is there any understanding in them.

29 O that they were wise, that they understood this, that they would consider their latter end!

30 How should one chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight, except their Rock had sold them, and the LORD had shut them up?

31 For their rock is not as our Rock, even our enemies themselves being judges.

32 For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and of the fields of Gomorrah: their grapes are grapes of gall, their clusters are bitter.

33 Their wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel venom of asps.

34 Is not this laid up in store with me, and sealed up among my treasures?

35 To me belongeth vengeance, and recompence; their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that shall come upon them make haste.

36 For the LORD shall judge his people, and repent himself for his servants; when he seeth that their power is gone, and there is none shut up, or left.

37 And he shall say, Where are their gods, their rock in whom they trusted, 38 Which did eat the fat of their sacrifices, and drank the wine of their drink-offerings? let them rise up and help you, and be your protection.

39 See

9. Jacob is the lot of his inheritance;] i. e. His heritage by a line or measure allotted to him.

10. He found him in a desert land.] The Israelites were in the wilderness of Arabia when they first made a covenant with God. The word, which we render found, signifies also to suffice or provide for; the meaning therefore of it here will be, that he sustained and provided for them in the wilderness.

In the waste howling wilderness.] Where nothing was to be heard but the howling of wild beasts.

He led him about:] Rather, as in the margin, he compassed him about; he encircled them with his divine protection.

11. As an eagle stirreth up her nest, &c.] The eagle is remarkably fond of her young, which she provokes to fly, or stirs up, by fluttering over them with her wings stretched out. The care therefore of Providence over the Israelites could not be expressed more emphatically than by this comparison.

13. Honey out of the rock.] He brought them to a country where honey and oil flowed from the rocks. A proverbial expression, denoting a land remarkable for its fruitfulness.

14. Rams of the breed of Bashan;] Of the fairest and best kind, Bashan being a country famous for excellent pasture.

With the fat of the kidneys of wheat;] i. e. With the finest of the grains or kernels of wheat; compared to kidneys for their shape, and plumpness, and largeness.

15. Jeshurun waxed fat, and kicked.] Moses here speaks in the prophetic style, which often represents future events as actually present, or already past, to denote the certainty of the thing foretold. The meaning is; Israel, in the days of their prosperity, shall make a very bad use of the blessings of Providence; they shall spurn at God's laws, and become wanton and insolent as a pampered horse. The word Jeshurun, by which the people of Israel are often meant in scripture, may be derived from jasher, righteousness, because they were a people professing righteousness, or governed by righteous laws.

17. They sacrificed unto devils, not to God.] Not that they actually considered their gods as devils; the meaning is, that whatever pretence they might have for their idolatry when they sacrificed, they did it unto devils, the wasters and destroyers of mankind.

22. For a fire is kindled in mine anger.] This verse emphatically paints the dreadful evils which Providence would inflict upon the land of Judea, wasting calamities being here compared to fire. The ingenious Mr.

No. 16.

Peters thinks this verse is no obscure intimation of the dissolution of the world by fire. See Dissert. on Job, p. 406.

And shall burn unto the lowest hell.] Or, unto hell, or the graves beneath. The sense is, it shall not only burn up all the corn, and fruits, and buildings, which appear above ground, but it shall reach to the inwards and depths of the earth, and burn up the very roots and hopes of future increase.

And set on fire the foundations of the mountains;] i. e. Subvert their strongest fortresses. This was perfectly fulfilled in the last destruction of Jerusalem. For Titus himself, as Josephus relates, observing the vast height and strength of the walls, cried out, "God was with us in this war; it is he that drove the Jews from these munitions; for what could the hands of men or machines avail against such towers?" And it is related, both by christian and heathen authors, "That, when Julian the apostate ordered the temple of Jerusalem to be rebuilt, terrible globes of fire burst out near the foundations, which overturned all, burnt the workmen, and made the place so inaccessible, that they desisted from the attempt."

24. They shall be burnt with hunger.] This was fulfilled in their destruction by the Chaldees, when they were so burnt with famine, that their visages were black as a coal, and their skin withered—like a stick, Lam. 4. 8.

26 and 27. I would make the remembrance of them to cease—were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy.] This is spoken in the language of men. The meaning is, that God would totally exterminate them, but that such a sudden and final destruction of his chosen people would occasion the heathens to insult against God himself, by ascribing the destruction of the Israelites to their own valour, or to the power of their idols, and not to his righteous judgments.

30. Except their Rock had sold them:] i. e. Except their God and Protector had quitted his interest in them, and delivered them up unto the will of their enemies, who sold them for slaves.

32. For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, &c.] It is observed, that the soil about Sodom and Gomorrah produced nothing but blasted fruits, of a black hue, without substance, and so dry and sapless, that when pressed they would crumble into ashes.

33. Their wine is the poison of dragons:] Their works are so pernicious, that they resemble the poison of dragons.

36. For the Lord shall judge his people;] Heb. Nevertheless the Lord, &c. i. e. Upon their repentance, he will shew compassion towards Israel, and turn his vengeance against their cruel oppressors.

40. I 16?

39 See now that I, even I, am he, and there is no god with me: I kill, and I make alive; I wound, and I heal: neither is there any that can deliver out of my hand.

40 For I lift up my hand to heaven, and say, I live for ever.

41 If I whet my glittering sword, and mine hand take hold on judgment; I will render vengeance to mine enemies, and will reward them that hate me.

42 I will make mine arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall devour flesh; and that with the blood of the slain, and of the captives, from the beginning of revenges upon the enemy.

43 Rejoice, O ye nations, with his people: for he will avenge the blood of his servants, and will render vengeance to his adversaries, and will be merciful unto his land, and to his people.

44 ¶ And Moses came and spake all the words of this song in the ears of the people, he and Hoshea the son of Nun.

45 And Moses made an end of speaking all these words to all Israel:

46 ¶ And he said unto them, Set your hearts unto all the words which I testify among you this day; which ye shall command your children to observe, to do all the words of this law.

47 For it is not a vain thing for you; because it is your life: and through this thing ye shall prolong your days in the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it.

48 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses that self-same day, saying,

49 Get thee up into this mountain Abarim, unto mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, that is over against Jericho; and behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel for a possession;

50 And die in the mount whither thou goest up, and be gathered unto thy people; as Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people.

51 Because ye trespassed against me among the children of Israel, at the waters of Meribah-kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin; because ye sanctified me not in the midst of the children of Israel.

52 Yet thou shalt see the land before thee; but thou shalt not go thither unto the land which I give the children of Israel.

40. I lift up my hand to heaven,] i. e. I swear solemnly. It was usual to stretch out the hand in swearing.

43. Rejoice, O ye nations, with his people.] This is a prediction of the bringing in of the Gentiles to share with the Jews the privileges of the gospel, and become one church and people of God.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIII.

Verse 1. Moses the man of God;] i. e. The servant, or prophet, or minister of God, as this phrase signifies, 1 Sam. 9. 6, 7. 1 Tim. 6. 11. to acquaint them, that the following prophecies were not his own inventions, but divine inspirations.

2. Rose up from Seir unto them; he shined, &c.] The same divine presence which appeared to them on mount Sinai accompanied them through all their journeys; he rose upon them as the sun from Seir, and spread abroad his beams upon them from mount Paran.

A fiery law.] The law is called fiery, partly, because it is of a fiery nature, purging, searching, and inflaming; for which reasons God's word is compared to fire, Jer. 23. 29. partly to signify that fiery wrath and curse which is inflicted upon sinners for the violation of it, 2 Cor. 3. 7, 9. and principally, because it was delivered out of the midst of the fire, Exod. 19. 16, 18. Deut. 4. 11. and 5. 22, 23.

3. Yea, he loved, &c.] i. e. The law, though delivered with fire, and smoke, and thunder, which might seem to portend nothing but hatred and terror, yet in truth was given to Israel in great love, as being the great means of their temporal and eternal salvation. And although God shews a general and common kindness to all men, yet he loved this people in a singular and peculiar manner.

All his saints are in thy hand;] i. e. Under thy immediate care and protection. Kennicott renders it, He blessed all his saints.

They sat down at thy feet, &c.] They fell down at his feet, and they received of his words.

4. Moses commanded, &c.] It should be, He commanded, &c. that is, Jehovah.

Even the inheritance of the congregation of Jacob.] The law is called their inheritance, partly, because the obligation of it was hereditary, passing from parents to their children; and partly, because this was the best part of all their inheritance and possession, the greatest of all those gifts and favours which God bestowed upon them. See Psa. 119. 111.

6. Let not his men be few.] As the word not is wanting in the Hebrew, the verse may be translated, Let Reuben live and not die, though his men be few; which seems to agree better with Jacob's prophecy, that he

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The majesty of God.—6 The blessings of the twelve tribes.—26 The excellency of Israel.

AND this is the blessing wherewith Moses the man of God blessed the children of Israel before his death.

2 And he said, The LORD came from Sinai, and rose up from Seir unto them; he shined forth from mount Paran, and he came with ten thousands of saints: from his right hand went a fiery law for them.

3 Yea, he loved the people; all his saints are in thy hand: and they sat down at thy feet; every one shall receive of thy words.

4 Moses commanded us a law; even the inheritance of the congregation of Jacob.

5 And he was king in Jeshurun, when the heads of the people and the tribes of Israel were gathered together.

6 ¶ Let Reuben live, and not die; and let not his men be few.

7 ¶ And this is the blessing of Judah: and he said, Hear, LORD, the voice of Judah, and bring him unto his people: let his hands be sufficient for him, and be thou an help to him from his enemies.

8 ¶ And of Levi he said, Let thy Thummim and thy Urim be with thy holy one, whom thou didst prove at Massah, and with whom thou didst strive at the waters of Meribah;

9 Who said unto his father and to his mother, I have not seen him, neither did he acknowledge his brethren, nor knew his own children: for they have observed thy word, and kept thy covenant.

10 They shall teach Jacob thy judgments, and Israel thy law: they shall put incense before thee, and whole burnt-sacrifice upon thine altar.

11 Bless, LORD, his substance, and accept the work of his hands: smite through the loins of them that rise against him, and of them that hate him, that they rise not again.

12 ¶ And of Benjamin he said; The beloved of the LORD shall dwell in safety by him; and the LORD shall cover him all the day long, and he shall dwell between his shoulders.

13 ¶ And should not excel. As there is no mention of Simeon, it is generally thought that his tribe is included in the blessing of Judah, with whom his possessions were mixed. What renders this the more probable is, that he was joined with Judah in those wars against the Canaanites, in which the divine aid is here implored for Judah.

7. Hear, Lord, the voice of Judah, &c.] i. e. Unto the settlement, which he is to possess as his own: for in scripture style, to possess nations, or people, is to possess their lands, Deut. 9. 1. and 12. 29. and 31. 3. Dr. Sherlock, in his learned dissertations on the blessing of Judah, observes, that this benediction cannot relate to the time when it was given, for then Judah's hands were very sufficient for him, this tribe being by much the greatest of the twelve tribes, as appears by two different accounts of the forces of Israel in the book of Numbers, chap. 1. and chap. 26. and there was more reason to put up this petition for several other tribes than for Judah: therefore he refers it to the prophecy of Jacob, and to the continuance of the sceptre of Judah after the destruction of the other tribes. Judah, he observes, in Moses' time, consisted of 74,600, reckoning only those of 20 years old and upward, see Numb. 2. 6. but, upon the return to Babylon, Judah, with Benjamin, the Levites and the remnant of Israel, made only 42,360, Ezra 2. 64. and in so weak a state they were, that Sanballat, in great scorn, said, What do these feeble Jews? Neh. 4. 2. Now Moses, in the spirit of prophecy, seeing the desolation of all the tribes; seeing the tribes of the kingdom of Israel carried away by the Assyrians, the people of Judah by the Babylonians; seeing that Judah should again return, weak, harrassed, and scarcely able to maintain himself in his own country; for them, therefore, he conceives this prophetic prayer: Hear, Lord, the voice of Judah, and bring him unto his people; let his hands be sufficient for him, and be thou an help to him from his enemies.

8. Let thy Thummim and thy Urim be with thy holy one.] Let the tribe of Levi perpetually enjoy the priesthood, and be endowed with that uprightness in the discharge of their duty, and that light and knowledge of divine things, that are signified by the Urim and Thummim.

9. Who said unto his father and to his mother, I have not seen him, &c.] This respects the tribe of Levi, who, fired with a holy zeal for God and the public interest, put the idolatrous worshippers of the golden calf to the sword, without respect of persons, not even sparing those of their nearest relations who had been concerned in that wickedness.

12. Of Benjamin, &c.] Benjamin, being beloved of the Lord, shall dwell near him, i. e. Jehovah; which was accordingly accomplished, the temple of Jerusalem (the place where the divine Majesty especially resided) being in the tribe of Benjamin.

And

13 ¶ And of Joseph he said, Blessed of the LORD be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath,

14 And for the precious fruits brought forth by the sun, and for the precious things put forth by the moon,

15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the lasting hills,

16 And for the precious things of the earth, and fullness thereof, and for the good will of him that dwelt in the bush: let the blessing come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the top of the head of him that was separated from his brethren.

17 His glory is like the firstling of his bullock, and his horns are like the horns of unicorns: with them he shall push the people together to the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.

18 ¶ And of Zebulun he said, Rejoice, Zebulun, in thy going out; and Issachar, in thy tents.

19 They shall call the people unto the mountain; there they shall offer sacrifices of righteousness; for they shall suck of the abundance of the seas, and of treasures hid in the sand.

20 ¶ And of Gad he said, Blessed be he that enlargeth Gad: he dwelleth as a lion, and teareth the arm with the crown of the head.

21 And he provided the first part for himself, because there, in a portion of the lawgiver, was he seated; and he came with the heads of the people, he executed the justice of the LORD, and his judgments with Israel.

22 ¶ And of Dan he said, Dan is a lion's whelp: he shall leap from Bashan.

23 ¶ And of Naphtali he said, O Naphtali, satisfied with favour, and full with the blessing of the LORD, possess thou the west and the south.

24 ¶ And of Asher he said, Let Asher be blessed with children; let him be acceptable to his brethren, and let him dip his foot in oil.

25 Thy shoes shall be iron and brass; and as thy days, so shall thy strength be.

26 ¶ There is none like unto the God of Jeshurun, who rideth upon the heaven in thy help, and in his excellency on the sky.

27 The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms: and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee, and shall say, Destroy them.

28 Israel then shall dwell in safety alone: the fountain of Jacob shall be upon a land of corn and wine: also his heavens shall drop down dew.

29 Happy art thou, O Israel: who is like unto thee, O people, saved by the LORD, the shield of thy help, and who is the sword of thy excellency! and thine enemies shall be found liars unto thee, and thou shalt tread upon their high places.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Moses from mount Nebo vieweth the land:—5 He dieth there:—6 His burial:—7 His age:—8 Thirty days' mourning for him:—9 Joshua succeedeth him.—10 The praise of Moses.

AND Moses went up from the plains of Moab unto the mountain of Nebo, to the top of Pisgah, that is over against Jericho: and the LORD shewed him all the land of Gilead unto Dan,

2 And all Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah, unto the utmost sea,

3 And the south, and the plain of the valley of Jericho, the city of palm-trees, unto Zoar.

4 And the LORD said unto him, This is the land which I swore unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, saying, I will give it unto thy seed: I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not go over thither.

5 ¶ So Moses the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the LORD.

6 ¶ And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over against Beth-peor: but no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day.

7 ¶ And Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated.

8 ¶ And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days: so the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended.

9 ¶ And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom; for Moses had laid his hands upon him: and the children of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as the LORD commanded Moses.

10 ¶ And there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face:

11 In all the signs and the wonders which the LORD sent him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to all his land,

12 And in all that mighty hand, and in all the great terror which Moses shewed in the sight of all Israel.

19. And of treasures hid in the sand.] Le Clerc, with Jonathan, refers this to their making glass of a kind of sand found upon their coast. For the river Belus, famous for its glassy sands, of which alone glass was for a long time manufactured, was in the territories of the Zebulunites.

22. Dan—shall leap from Bashan;] i. e. He may be compared with the young lions of Bashan, leaping down from the mountains into the plains, at the lambs or other prey.

24. And let him dip his foot in oil.] He shall have such plenty of oil, that he may not only wash his face, but his feet also in it. Or the fatness and fertility of his country may be expressed by oil, as Job 29. 6. And so it agrees with Jacob's blessing of him, Gen. 49. 20.

25. Thy shoes shall be iron and brass;] Or, as it is in the margin, Under thy feet shall be iron and brass; i. e. mines of iron and of copper, whereof brass is made. Sidon, which is thought to have had its name from the brass and iron which were here melted, was in the tribe of Asher.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXXIV.

Verse 1. And Moses went up, &c.] Moses, having given his prophetic blessing to all the tribes, obeyed the commands of his God he had so long and so faithfully served. And, from the top of Pisgah, God, in a miraculous manner, gave him a sight of the whole land of Canaan.

3. The city of palm-trees;] i. e. Jericho, so called both here and Judg. 1. 16. and 3. 13. 2 Chron. 28. 15. from the multitude of palm-trees which were in those parts, as Josephus and Strabo write.

6. No man knoweth of his sepulchre, &c.] The reason why this great prophet was so secretly buried, was to prevent the people from paying idolatrous worship to his remains.

10. And there arose not a prophet since—like unto Moses. Yet it is said, Deut. 12. 15. that God would raise up a prophet from the midst of Israel like unto Moses. Whence it follows, that this promise was not fulfilled either in Joshua or Samuel, and the best of the Jews confess that it shall not be fulfilled till the Messiah come.

THE

And he shall dwell between his shoulders;] The Lord shall dwell, i. e. his temple shall be placed between his shoulders, i. e. in his portion, or between his borders, or sides, as the word shoulder is oft used, as Numb. 34. 11, &c. And this was truly the situation of the temple, on both sides whereof was Benjamin's portion; and though mount Sion was in the tribe of Judah, yet mount Moriah, on which the temple was built, was in the tribe of Benjamin.

13, 14. For the precious things of heaven,] For the fruitful showers from heaven: for the dew; the evening and the morning dews are equally refreshing to the earth as rain: and for the deep that coucheth beneath; for springs of water that burst out of the earth, for the use of man and beast: for the precious fruits brought forth by the sun, as corn, &c. by the influence of the sun: and for the precious things put forth by the moon; such productions of the earth as are gathered oftener than once a year, even within the course of a few moons.

15. And for the chief things, &c.] i. e. The excellent fruits, as grapes, olives, figs, &c. which delight in mountains; growing upon, or the precious minerals contained in, their mountains and hills, called ancient and lasting, i. e. such as have been from the beginning of the world, and likely to continue to the end of it.

17. His glory is like the firstling of his bullock;] In whose countenance there is a kind of awful majesty and comely generosity, as Tully, Aelian, &c. observe, This seems to note the kingdom which Ephraim should obtain in Jeroboam and his successors.

Like the horns of unicorns.] It should be rendered, Like the horns of the rhinoceros.

18. Of Zebulun he said, Rejoice, &c.] The chief pleasure of Zebulun, he pronounces, should lie in merchandise, and going out to traffic with the neighbouring nations, which they exercised by their convenient situation near the ports of the Mediterranean.

Issachar, in thy tents;] The people of Issachar are to rejoice in the pleasures of a country life, in husbandry or agriculture. Dr. Shaw observes, that their portion was the most fertile of all the land of Canaan, so that they might well be supposed to rejoice in their tents.

THE BOOK OF J O S H U A.

THE ARGUMENT.

IT is not material to know who was the Penman of this Book, whether Joshua, as seems most probable from Chap. 24. 26. or some other holy Prophet. It is sufficient, that this Book was a part of the Holy Scriptures, or Oracles of God, committed to, and carefully kept by, the Jews, and by them faithfully delivered to us; as appears by the concurring testimony of Christ and his Apostles, who owned and approved of the same Holy Scriptures which the Church of the Jews did. But this is certain, that divers passages in this Book were put into it after Joshua's death, as Josh. 10. 13. compared with 2 Sam. 1. 18. and Josh. 19. 47. compared with Judg. 18. 1. and Josh. 24. 29, 30. And such like insertions have been observed in the five Books of Moses.

CHAP. I.

1 The Lord appointeth Joshua to succeed Moses.—4 The borders of the promised land.—5, 9, God promiseth to assist Joshua:—8 He giveth him instructions.

NOW, after the death of Moses the servant of the LORD, it came to pass, that the LORD spake unto Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' minister, saying,

2 Moses my servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to them, even to the children of Israel.

3 ¶ Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses.

4 From the wilderness and this Lebanon, even unto the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea, toward the going down of the sun, shall be your coast.

5 There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

6 Be strong and of a good courage: for unto this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land which I swear unto their fathers to give them.

7 Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest.

8 This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success.

9 Have not I commanded thee? Be strong, and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the LORD thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.

10 ¶ Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people, saying,

11 Pass through the host, and command the people, saying, Prepare you victuals; for within three days ye shall pass over this Jordan, to go in to possess the land which the LORD your God giveth you to possess it.

12 ¶ And to the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to half the tribe of Manasseh, spake Joshua, saying,

13 Remember the word which Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, saying, The LORD your God hath given you rest, and hath given you this land:

14 Your wives, your little ones, and your cattle, shall remain in the land which Moses gave you on this side Jordan; but ye shall pass before your brethren armed, all the mighty men of valour, and help them,

15 Until the LORD have given your brethren rest, as he hath given you, and they also have possessed the land which the LORD your God giveth them: then ye shall return unto the land of your possession, and enjoy it, which Moses the LORD's servant gave you on this side Jordan, toward the sun-rising.

16 ¶ And they answered Joshua, saying, All that thou commandest us we will do, and whithersoever thou sendest us we will go.

17 According as we hearkened unto Moses in all things, so will we hearken unto thee: only the LORD thy God be with thee, as he was with Moses.

18 Whosoever he be that doth rebel against thy commandment, and will not hearken unto thy words, in all that thou commandest him, he shall be put to death: only be strong, and of a good courage.

CHAP. II.

1 Rahab receiveth and concealeth the two spies sent from Shittim;—8 The covenant between her and them:—23 Their return.

AND Joshua the son of Nun sent out of Shittim two men, to spy secretly, saying, Go, view the land, even Jericho; and they went, and came into an harlot's house, named Rahab, and lodged there.

2. And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 4. From the wilderness and this Lebanon, &c.] The sense is, from the wilderness, south, to Lebanon, north; and from Euphrates, east, to the great sea, west.

11. Prepare you victuals.] The Israelites were now in the countries of Sihon and Og, which they had lately conquered; and the victuals they were commanded to provide themselves with were such as their new conquest afforded: for, being after three days to remove very early in the morning, they might not perhaps have had time to gather a sufficient quantity of manna, which had not yet failed them, and to bake it, before they were obliged to march.

18. Only be strong, &c.] It should be rendered, Therefore be strong.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 1. Go, view the land, even Jericho.] Jericho was a city of Canaan, which afterwards fell to the lot of the tribe of Benjamin, about seven leagues distant from Jerusalem, and two from Jordan. It is called the city of the palm-trees, Deut. 34. 3. because there were great numbers of them in the plains of Jericho.

And

2 And it was told the king of Jericho, saying, Behold, there came men in hither to-night of the children of Israel, to search out the country.

3 And the king of Jericho sent unto Rahab, saying, Bring forth the men that are come to thee, which are entered into thine house; for they be come to search out all the country.

4 And the woman took the two men, and hid them, and said thus, There came men unto me, but I wist not whence they were:

5 And it came to pass, about the time of shutting of the gate, when it was dark, that the men went out; whether the men went I wot not: pursue after them quickly; for ye shall overtake them.

6 But she had brought them up to the roof of the house, and hid them with the stalks of flax which she had laid in order upon the roof.

7 And the men pursued after them the way to Jordan unto the fords: and as soon as they which pursued after them were gone out, they shut the gate.

8 ¶ And before they were laid down, she came up unto them upon the roof;

9 And she said unto the men, I know that the LORD hath given you the land, and that your terror is fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land faint because of you.

10 For we have heard how the LORD dried up the water of the Red sea for you, when ye came out of Egypt; and what ye did unto the two kings of the Amorites, that were on the other side Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom ye utterly destroyed.

11 And as soon as we had heard these things, our hearts did melt, neither did there remain any more courage in any man, because of you: for the LORD your God, he is God in heaven above, and in earth beneath.

12 Now therefore, I pray you, swear unto me by the LORD, since I have shewed you kindness, that ye will also shew kindness unto my father's house, and give me a true token:

13 And that ye will save alive my father, and my mother, and my brethren, and my sisters, and all that they have, and deliver our lives from death.

14 And the men answered her, Our life for yours, if ye utter not this our business: and it shall be, when the LORD hath given us the land, that we will deal kindly and truly with thee.

15 Then she let them down by a cord through the window: for her house was upon the town-wall, and she dwelt upon the wall.

16 And she said unto them, Get ye to the mountain, lest the pursuers meet you; and hide yourselves there three days, until the pursuers be returned: and afterward may ye go your way.

17 And the men said unto her, We will be blameless of this thine oath which thou hast made us swear.

18 Behold, when we come into the land, thou shalt bind this line of scarlet thread in the window which thou didst let us down by: and thou shalt bring thy father, and thy mother, and thy brethren, and all thy father's household, home unto thee.

19 And it shall be, that whosoever shall go out of the doors of thy house into the street, his blood shall be upon his head, and we will be guiltless: and whosoever shall be with thee in the house, his blood shall be on our head, if any hand be upon him.

20 And if thou utter this our business, then we will be quit of thine oath which thou hast made us to swear.

21 And she said, According unto your words, so be it: and she sent them away, and they departed: and she bound the scarlet line in the window.

22 And they went, and came unto the mountain, and abode there three days, until the pursuers were returned; and the pursuers sought them throughout all the way, but found them not.

23 ¶ So the two men returned, and descended from the mountain, and passed over, and came to Joshua the son of Nun, and told him all things that befell them.

24 And they said unto Joshua, Truly the LORD hath delivered into our hands all the land; for even all the inhabitants of the country do faint because of us.

C H A P. III.

1 Joshua cometh to Jordan.—2 The officers instruct the people.

—7 Joshua encouraged.—9 He encourageth the people:—

14 The waters of Jordan are divided.

AND Joshua rose early in the morning; and they removed from Shittim, and came to Jordan, he and all the children of Israel, and lodged there before they passed over.

2 ¶ And it came to pass, after three days, that the officers went through the host:

3 And they commanded the people, saying, When ye see the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, and the priests the Levites bearing it, then ye shall remove from your place, and go after it.

4 Yet there shall be a space between you and it, about two thousand cubits by measure: come not near unto it; that ye may know the way by which ye must go: for ye have not passed this way heretofore.

5 And Joshua said unto the people, Sanctify yourselves: for to-morrow the LORD will do wonders among you.

6 And Joshua spake unto the priests, saying, Take up the ark of the covenant, and pass over before the people. And they took up the ark of the covenant, and went before the people.

7 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, This day will I begin to magnify thee in the sight of all Israel, that they

18. This line of scarlet thread.] It was called a cord before, ver. 15. and probably consisted of so many threads twisted together as would make a line strong enough to bear the weight of a man.

19. Whosoever shall go out of the doors of thy house into the street, his blood shall be upon his head;] The blame of his death shall rest wholly upon himself, as being occasioned by his own neglect or contempt of the means of safety.

21. And she bound the scarlet line in the window,] Forthwith; partly, that the spies might see it hung out before their departure, and so the better know it at some distance; partly, lest some accident might occasion a mistake or neglect about it; and partly, for her own comfort, it being pleasant and encouraging to her to have in her eye the pledge of her deliverance.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. Joshua rose early in the morning, &c.] Pleased with the report given by the spies, Joshua gave orders for the Israelites to decamp, and march in regular orders to the banks of Jordan.

4. Yet there shall be a space between you and it, about two thousand cubits by measure;] Which make a thousand yards; and at which distance from it the Israelites seem to have been encamped in the wilderness; and, because they generally went from their tents to the ark to worship God, especially on the sabbath-days, hence it had been conceived, that a sabbath-day's journey reached only to two thousand cubits. But that may be doubted; for those who encamped nearest the ark were at that distance from it, and came so far; but the most were further from it, and their sabbath-day's journey was considerably longer.

12. Now

And came into an harlot's house, named Rahab.] So she had formerly been: but it is probable she was now converted; for her faith was so eminent that she was not only admitted into the society of God's people, but married into a noble family of the tribe of Judah, from whom Christ sprung, Matt. 1. 5. and is propounded as an example of lively faith unto all Christians, Heb. 11. 31. James 2. 25.

4. There came men unto me, but I wist not whence they were.] Her answer, contained in these and the following words, was palpably false, and therefore unquestionably sinful; howsoever her intention was good therein, see Rom. 3. 8. But it is very probable she, being a heathen, might think, what some Christians have thought, that an officious lie is not unlawful.

6. But she had brought them up to the roof of the house.] It was the custom among the inhabitants of these countries to make the roofs of their houses flat, having battlements round them; and bere the inhabitants used to walk, and lay up some sorts of goods.

7. And the men pursued after them the way to Jordan unto the fords,] Or, passages; i. e. the usual places where people used to pass over Jordan, whether by boats or bridges.

15. She let them down, &c.] Rahab's house was fortunately situated on the town-wall, from whence, as soon as it was dark, she let them down by a scarlet cord from one of her windows which faced the country; for the gates of Jericho had been shut by the king's orders.

16. Get—to the mountain;] i. e. To some of the mountains where-with Jericho was encompassed, in which also there were many caves where they might lurk.

they may know that, as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee.

8 And thou shalt command the priests that bear the ark of the covenant, saying, When ye are come to the brink of the water of Jordan, ye shall stand still in Jordan.

9 ¶ And Joshua said unto the children of Israel, Come hither, and hear the words of the LORD your God.

10 And Joshua said, Hereby ye shall know that the living God is among you, and that he will without fail drive out from before you the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Hivites, and the Perizzites, and the Girgashites, and the Amorites, and the Jebusites.

11 Behold, the ark of the covenant of the LORD of all the earth passeth over before you into Jordan.

12 Now therefore take ye twelve men out of the tribes of Israel, out of every tribe a man.

13 And it shall come to pass, as soon as the soles of the feet of the priests that bear the ark of the LORD, the LORD of all the earth, shall rest in the waters of Jordan, that the waters of Jordan shall be cut off from the waters that come down from above; and they shall stand up on an heap.

14 ¶ And it came to pass, when the people removed from their tents to pass over Jordan, and the priests bearing the ark of the covenant before the people;

15 And as they that bare the ark were come unto Jordan, and the feet of the priests that bare the ark were dipped in the brim of the water, (for Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harvest,)

16 That the waters which came down from above stood and rose up upon an heap very far from the city Adam, that is beside Zaretan; and those that came down toward the sea of the plain, even the salt sea, failed, and were cut off; and the people passed over right against Jericho.

17 And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD stood firm on dry ground in the midst of Jordan, and all the Israelites passed over on dry ground, until all the people were passed clean over Jordan.

CHAP. IV.

1 Twelve men are appointed to take twelve stones for a memorial out of Jordan.—9 Twelve other stones are set up.—

10 The people pass over.—14 God magnifieth Joshua.—

20 The twelve stones pitched in Gilgal.

AND it came to pass, when all the people were clean passed over Jordan, that the LORD spake unto Joshua, saying,

2 Take you twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man,

3 And command ye them, saying, Take you hence out of the midst of Jordan, out of the place where the priests' feet stood firm, twelve stones; and ye shall carry them over with you, and leave them in the lodging-place where ye shall lodge this night.

4 Then Joshua called the twelve men, whom he had prepared of the children of Israel, out of every tribe a man.

12. Now therefore take ye twelve men,] To do what he should command them, chap. 4. 2.

15. Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harvest.] The time of harvest in those hot countries happens early in the spring, when by reason of hasty rains, and the melting of the snow upon mount Lebanon and other neighbouring mountains, the river of Jordan is always full of water, and generally overflows all its banks.

16. The people passed over right against Jericho.] No sooner did the soles of the feet of the priests, who bare the ark of the living God, touch the waters of Jordan, but they divided, and the rapid stream stopped its course, and rose up in heaps like a mountain; so that a passage of above sixteen miles broad was opened for the Israelites; nor could the waters resume their usual course, till the priests were come up out of Jordan.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 3. Take you hence out of the midst of Jordan—twelve stones, &c.] The river continued dry for some time after they were all gone over, i. e. till the priests removed from thence. It has been a custom, among all nations, to erect monuments of stone, to preserve the memory of covenants, victories, and other great transactions; and though there was no inscription on these stones, yet their number, and the spot on which they were erected, was sufficient to signify some memorable

5 And Joshua said unto them, Pass over before the ark of the LORD your God into the midst of Jordan, and take ye up every man of you a stone upon his shoulder, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Israel:

6 That this may be a sign among you, that when your children ask their fathers in time to come, saying, What mean ye by these stones?

7 Then ye shall answer them, that the waters of Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the LORD; when it passed over Jordan, the waters of Jordan were cut off: and these stones shall be for a memorial unto the children of Israel for ever.

8 And the children of Israel did so as Joshua commanded, and took up twelve stones out of the midst of Jordan, as the LORD spake unto Joshua, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, and carried them over with them unto the place where they lodged, and laid them down there.

9 And Joshua set up twelve stones in the midst of Jordan, in the place where the feet of the priests which bare the ark of the covenant stood; and they are there unto this day.

10 ¶ For the priests which bare the ark stood in the midst of Jordan, until every thing was finished that the LORD commanded Joshua to speak unto the people, according to all that Moses commanded Joshua: and the people hastened and passed over.

11 And it came to pass, when all the people were clean passed over, that the ark of the LORD passed over, and the priests, in the presence of the people.

12 And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh, passed over armed before the children of Israel, as Moses spake unto them:

13 About forty thousand prepared for war passed over before the LORD unto battle, to the plains of Jericho.

14 ¶ On that day the LORD magnified Joshua in the sight of all Israel: and they feared him, as they feared Moses, all the days of his life.

15 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Joshua, saying,

16 Command the priests that bear the ark of the testimony, that they come up out of Jordan.

17 Joshua therefore commanded the priests, saying, Come ye up out of Jordan.

18 And it came to pass, when the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD were come up out of the midst of Jordan, and the soles of the priests' feet were lifted up unto the dry land, that the waters of Jordan returned unto their place, and flowed over all his banks, as they did before.

19 ¶ And the people came up out of Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and encamped in Gilgal, in the east border of Jericho.

20 ¶ And those twelve stones, which they took out of Jordan, did Joshua pitch in Gilgal.

21 And he spake unto the children of Israel, saying, When your children shall ask their fathers in time to come, saying, What mean these stones?

thing, which posterity would not fail to hand down from one generation to another.

9. And Joshua set up twelve stones in the midst of Jordan.] It may be asked, How could these stones be a monument of this work, as they could not be seen, being generally covered with the waters of Jordan? To this it is answered, that these stones are not the same with those which a man could carry upon his shoulders, ver. 5. and therefore might be very much larger; and, being set up in two rows, one above another, they might possibly be seen, at least sometimes, when the water was low, and especially where the water was commonly more shallow, as it might be ordinarily in this place, though not at this time, when Jordan overflowed all its banks. Add to this, that the waters of Jordan are said to be very pure and clear; and therefore these stones, though they did not appear above it, might be seen in it, either by those who stood upon the shore, because that river was not broad, or at least by those that passed in boats upon the river, who could easily discern them by the peculiar noise and motion of the water occasioned by that heap of stones.

They are there unto this day.] That is, till the time when the book of Joshua was written.

19. On the tenth day of the first month:] They came out of Egypt on the 15th day of the first month: so that there wanted just five days of forty years since their coming from thence.

22 Then ye shall let your children know, saying, Israel came over this Jordan on dry land.

23 For the LORD your God dried up the waters of Jordan from before you, until ye were passed over, as the LORD your God did to the Red sea, which he dried up from before us, until we were gone over:

24 That all the people of the earth may know the hand of the LORD, that it is mighty: that ye might fear the LORD your God for ever.

C H A P. V.

1 The Canaanites are afraid.—2 Circumcision renewed.—10 The passover is kept at Gilgal.—12 Manna ceaseth.—13 An angel appeareth to Joshua.

AND it came to pass, when all the kings of the Amorites, which were on the side of Jordan westward, and all the kings of the Canaanites, which were by the sea, heard that the LORD had dried up the waters of Jordan from before the children of Israel, until we were passed over, that their heart melted; neither was there spirit in them any more, because of the children of Israel.

2 ¶ At that time the LORD said unto Joshua, Make thee sharp knives, and circumcise again the children of Israel the second time.

3 And Joshua made him sharp knives, and circumcised the children of Israel at the hill of the foreskins.

4 And this is the cause why Joshua did circumcise: All the people that came out of Egypt, that were males, even all the men of war, died in the wilderness by the way, after they came out of Egypt.

5 Now all the people that came out were circumcised; but all the people that were born in the wilderness by the way, as they came forth out of Egypt, them they had not circumcised.

6 For the children of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness, till all the people that were men of war, which came out of Egypt, were consumed, because they obeyed not the voice of the LORD: unto whom the LORD swore that he would not shew them the land which the LORD swore unto their fathers that he would give us, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

7 And their children, whom he raised up in their stead, them Joshua circumcised: for they were uncircumcised, because they had not circumcised them by the way.

8 And it came to pass, when they had done circumcising all the people, that they abode in their places in the camp, till they were whole.

9 And the LORD said unto Joshua, This day have I rolled away the reproach of Egypt from off you: wherefore the name of the place is called Gilgal unto this day.

10 ¶ And the children of Israel encamped in Gilgal, and kept the passover on the fourteenth day of the month at even, in the plains of Jericho.

11 And they did eat of the old corn of the land on the morrow after the passover, unleavened cakes and parched corn in the self-same day.

12 ¶ And the manna ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land, neither had the children of Israel manna any more; but they did eat of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

13 ¶ And it came to pass, when Joshua was by Jericho, that he lifted up his eyes and looked, and, behold, there stood a man over against him, with his sword drawn in his hand: and Joshua went unto him, and said unto him, Art thou for us, or for our adversaries?

14 And he said, Nay; but as captain of the host of the LORD am I now come. And Joshua fell on his face to the earth, and did worship, and said unto him, What saith my Lord unto his servant?

15 And the captain of the LORD's host said unto Joshua, Loose thy shoe from off thy foot; for the place whereon thou standest is holy: and Joshua did so.

NOW Jericho was straitly shut up because of the children of Israel: none went out, and none came in.

2 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, See, I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valour.

3 And ye shall compass the city, all ye men of war, and go round about the city once. Thus shalt thou do six days.

4 And seven priests shall bear before the ark seven trumpets of rams' horns; and the seventh day ye shall compass the city seven times, and the priests shall blow with the trumpets.

5 And it shall come to pass, that when they make a long blast with the ram's horn, and when ye hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with a great shout: and the wall of the city shall fall down flat, and the people shall ascend up, every man straight before him.

6 ¶ And Joshua the son of Nun called the priests, and said unto them, Take up the ark of the covenant, and

In Gilgal.] This place had its name from the rite of circumcision, which was there renewed. It lay about two miles eastward of Jericho. St. Jerom tells us, that it was in his time held in great veneration by the inhabitants of the country. Here the stones taken out of Jordan were pitched, and the people commanded to inform their children of the reason for their being placed there, that they might not be ignorant of the amazing miracle that God was pleased to work there for his people.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. It came to pass, &c.] The kings in the neighbourhood seem to have been under no manner of apprehension of an invasion from the other side of Jordan. The depth of the river, especially at the time of its overflowing, was, they thought, a sufficient barrier against their enemies. They were therefore struck with terror and astonishment at hearing that the Israelites had passed the river; especially when they understood that this passage was performed in a miraculous manner: for if the very waters of Jordan fled from the face of Jehovah, much more might they expect that all human opposition would be vain.

2. Make thee sharp knives;] Called in Hebrew, knives of flints: not as if they were all necessarily to be made of flints, but because such were commonly used, especially in those parts where there was but little iron; and because such knives were often used in this work, as the Jewish doctors note, and in such-like works, as the heathen writers relate. Thus we call that an ink-horn which is made of silver, because those utensils are commonly made of horn.

And circumcise again the children of Israel.] The meaning is, that, as a great number had neglected this rite during their sojourning in the wilderness, there should now be a general circumcision of such, as there was formerly at Sinai, when they received the passover.

9. The reproach of Egypt.] By the reproach of Egypt is meant uncircumcision, with which the Israelites were wont to upbraid other people, and particularly the Egyptians.

11. Did eat of the old corn, &c.] Which the people of the country had left in their barns, when they fled into Jericho, and other strong holds.

13. There stood a man, &c.] Who this person was that appeared to Joshua is not agreed among commentators; though there are several reasons to think he was a divine, and not a created being. For, first, he calls himself the captain of the Lord's host, an appellation by which God himself is frequently called in scripture. Secondly, Joshua's calling him Jehovah, or Lord, a name which neither Joshua should have given, nor he accepted, had he been only an angel. Thirdly, his falling down and worshipping him, which he durst not have done, since God alone is to be adored; nor would the other have permitted, but rather have reproved him, as we find the angel did St. John, Rev. 22. 9. These reasons seem to evidence the divinity of his person; for instead of reproving him for doing him too much honour, we find him commanding him to loose his shoes from his feet, insisting on the high acknowledgment of a divine presence, then in use among the nations of the east. Hence the Rabbins acknowledge, that this was no other than that Being whom the angels of heaven worship.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 1. Was straitly shut up, &c.] God, intending to shew the Israelites that the conquest of Canaan was to be ascribed to him, and not to human power, ordered Joshua not to attack the city, but compass it about seven days, when the walls should fall down flat, and open a passage for the Israelites to enter the city.

4. Trumpets of rams' horns.] By the miraculous fall of the walls of Jericho on the seventh day, God taught the Israelites, whose manna had failed but a few days before, what regard they ought to pay to the sabbath, now that they were come into a land where they could be supported every day of the week, without any miraculous assistance from heaven.

5. A long blast, &c.] A loud sound, protracted after a rustic manner. Wall—fall down flat:] Not all of it; which was not only unnecessary, but inconvenient, and might have given the people better opportunity of escaping; but only a considerable part of it, where the Israelites might fully enter; for Rahab's house was not overthrown.

17. The

and let seven priests bear seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the LORD.

7 And he said unto the people, Pass on, and compass the city, and let him that is armed pass on before the ark of the LORD.

8 ¶ And it came to pass, when Joshua had spoken unto the people, that the seven priests, bearing the seven trumpets of rams' horns, passed on before the LORD, and blew with the trumpets: and the ark of the covenant of the LORD followed them.

9 ¶ And the armed men went before the priests that blew with the trumpets, and the re-reward came after the ark, the priests going on, and blowing with the trumpets.

10 And Joshua had commanded the people, saying, Ye shall not shout, nor make any noise with your voice, neither shall any word proceed out of your mouth, until the day I bid you shout; then shall ye shout.

11 So the ark of the LORD compassed the city, going about it once: and they came into the camp, and lodged in the camp.

12 ¶ And Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the LORD.

13 And seven priests, bearing seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the LORD, went on continually, and blew with the trumpets: and the armed men went before them: but the re-reward came after the ark of the LORD, the priests going on, and blowing with the trumpets.

14 And the second day they compassed the city once, and returned into the camp: so they did six days.

15 And it came to pass on the seventh day, that they rose early, about the dawning of the day, and compassed the city after the same manner seven times: only on that day they compassed the city seven times.

16 And it came to pass at the seventh time, when the priests blew with the trumpets, Joshua said unto the people, Shout; for the LORD hath given you the city.

17 ¶ And the city shall be accursed, even it, and all that are therein, to the LORD: only Rahab the harlot shall live, she and all that are with her in the house, because she hid the messengers that we sent.

18 And ye, in any wise keep yourselves from the accursed thing, lest ye make yourselves accursed, when ye take of the accursed thing, and make the camp of Israel a curse, and trouble it.

19 But all the silver, and gold, and vessels of brass, and iron, are consecrated unto the LORD: they shall come into the treasury of the LORD.

20 ¶ So the people shouted when the priests blew with the trumpets: and it came to pass, when the people heard the sound of the trumpet, and the people shouted with a great shout, that the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they took the city.

21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword.

22 ¶ But Joshua had said unto the two men that had spied out the country, Go into the harlot's house, and bring out thence the woman, and all that she hath, as ye swear unto her.

23 And the young men that were spies went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father, and her mother, and her brethren, and all that she had: and they brought out all her kindred, and left them without the camp of Israel.

24 And they burnt the city with fire, and all that was therein: only the silver and the gold, and the vessels of brass and of iron, they put into the treasury of the house of the LORD.

25 And Joshua saved Rahab the harlot alive, and her father's household, and all that she had; and she dwelleth in Israel, even unto this day: because she hid the messengers which Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

26 ¶ And Joshua adjured them at that time, saying, Cursed be the man before the LORD that riseth up and buildeth this city Jericho: he shall lay the foundation thereof in his first-born, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it.

27 So the LORD was with Joshua, and his fame was noised throughout all the country.

CHAP. VII.

5 The Israelites smitten at Ai.—6 Joshua's complaint.—10 God instructeth him.—18 Achan taken by lot.—20 his confession.—25 he and all he had destroyed.

BUT the children of Israel committed a trespass in the accursed thing: for Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of the accursed thing: and the anger of the LORD was kindled against the children of Israel.

2 And Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is beside Beth-aven, on the east side of Beth-el, and spake unto them, saying, Go up and view the country. And the men went up and viewed Ai.

3 And they returned to Joshua, and said unto him, Let not all the people go up: but let about two or three thousand men go up and smite Ai; and make not all the people to labour thither; for they are but few.

4 So there went up thither of the people about three thousand men: and they fled before the men of Ai.

5 And the men of Ai smote of them about thirty and six men: for they chased them from before the gate even unto Shebarim, and smote them in the going down: wherefore the hearts of the people melted, and became as water.

6 ¶ And Joshua rent his clothes, and fell to the earth upon his face before the ark of the LORD until the eventide, he and the elders of Israel, and put dust upon their heads.

7 And Joshua said, Alas, O LORD God, wherefore hast thou at all brought this people over Jordan, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to destroy us? would to God we had been content, and dwelt on the other side Jordan!

8 O LORD, what shall I say, when Israel turneth their backs before their enemies!

9 For the Canaanites, and all the inhabitants of the land, shall hear of it, and shall environ us round, and cut off our name from the earth: and what wilt thou do unto thy great name?

10 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, Get thee up; wherefore liest thou thus upon thy face?

11 Israel hath sinned, and they have also transgressed my covenant which I commanded them: for they have even taken of the accursed thing, and have also stolen, and dissembled also, and they have put it even among their own stuff.

12 Therefore the children of Israel could not stand before their enemies, but turned their backs before their enemies, 17. The city shall be accursed.] The margin and Septuagint have it, The city shall be devoted.

26. Cursed be the man before the Lord, &c.—He shall lay the foundation thereof in his first-born, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it:] i. e. When he lays the foundation, he shall lose his first-born, and his youngest son when he sets up the gates of it; which was exactly fulfilled in the days of Ahab, 1 Kings 16. 34. But we are not to imagine, that this anathema reached any further than to the builder of Jericho and his family; for after it was built, people made no scruple of inhabiting it, and it afterwards became famous upon many accounts. Here the prophet Elisha sweetened the waters of the spring that supplied it and the neighbouring country; here Herod built a sumptuous palace; and here the great Redeemer of mankind wrought several miracles.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 1. Committed a trespass, &c.] Before the taking of Jericho, Joshua had cautioned the people not to spare any thing that was in it; but, notwithstanding this strict charge against reserving whatsoever was either devoted to general destruction, or consecrated to the Lord, Achan took some of the rich plunder, and hid it in his tent.

enemies, because they were accursed: neither will I be with you any more, except ye destroy the accursed from among you.

13 Up, sanctify the people, and say, Sanctify yourselves against to-morrow: for thus saith the LORD God of Israel, There is an accursed thing in the midst of thee, O Israel; thou canst not stand before thine enemies, until ye take away the accursed thing from among you.

14 In the morning therefore ye shall be brought according to your tribes: and it shall be, that the tribe which the LORD taketh shall come according to the families thereof: and the family which the LORD shall take shall come by households; and the household which the LORD shall take shall come man by man.

15 And it shall be, that he that is taken with the accursed thing shall be burnt with fire, he and all that he hath: because he hath transgressed the covenant of the LORD, and because he hath wrought folly in Israel.

16 ¶ So Joshua rose up early in the morning, and brought Israel by their tribes; and the tribe of Judah was taken:

17 And he brought the family of Judah; and he took the family of the Zarahites: and he brought the family of the Zarahites man by man; and Zabdi was taken:

18 And he brought his household man by man; and Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken.

19 And Joshua said unto Achan, My son, give, I pray thee, glory to the LORD God of Israel, and make confession unto him; and tell me now what thou hast done; hide it not from me.

20 And Achan answered Joshua, and said, Indeed I have sinned against the LORD God of Israel, and thus and thus have I done:

21 When I saw among the spoils a goodly Babylonish garment, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold of fifty shekels weight, then I coveted them, and took them; and, behold, they are hid in the earth, in the midst of my tent, and the silver under it.

22 ¶ So Joshua sent messengers, and they ran unto the tent; and, behold, it was hid in his tent, and the silver under it.

23 And they took them out of the midst of the tent, and brought them unto Joshua, and unto all the children of Israel, and laid them out before the LORD.

24 ¶ And Joshua, and all Israel with him, took Achan the son of Zerah, and the silver, and the garment, and the wedge of gold, and his sons, and his daughters, and his oxen, and his asses, and his sheep, and his tent, and all that he had; and they brought them unto the valley of Achor.

25 And Joshua said, Why hast thou troubled us? the LORD shall trouble thee this day. And all Israel stoned him with stones, and burned them with fire, after they had stoned them with stones.

26 And they raised over him a great heap of stones unto this day. So the LORD turned from the fierceness of his anger. Wherefore the name of that place was called, The valley of Achor, unto this day.

No. 16.

AND the LORD said unto Joshua, Fear not, neither be thou dismayed: take all the people of war with thee, and arise, go up to Ai: see, I have given into thy hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land:

2 And thou shalt do to Ai and her king as thou didst unto Jericho and her king: only the spoil thereof, and the cattle thereof, shall ye take for a prey unto yourselves: lay thee an ambush for the city behind it.

3 ¶ So Joshua arose, and all the people of war, to go up against Ai: and Joshua chose out thirty thousand mighty men of valour, and sent them away by night.

4 And he commanded them, saying, Behold, ye shall lie in wait against the city, even behind the city; go not very far from the city, but be ye all ready

5 And I, and all the people that are with me, will approach unto the city: and it shall come to pass, when they come out against us, as at the first, that we will flee before them,

6 (For they will come out after us) till we have drawn them from the city; for they will say, They flee before us, as at the first: therefore we will flee before them.

7 Then ye shall rise up from the ambush, and seize upon the city: for the LORD your God will deliver it into your hand.

8 And it shall be, when ye have taken the city, that ye shall set the city on fire: according to the commandment of the LORD shall ye do. See, I have commanded you.

9 ¶ Joshua therefore sent them forth: and they went to lie in ambush, and abode between Beth-el and Ai, on the west side of Ai: but Joshua lodged that night among the people.

10 And Joshua rose up early in the morning, and numbered the people, and went up, he and the elders of Israel, before the people to Ai.

11 And all the people, even the people of war that were with him, went up, and drew nigh, and came before the city, and pitched on the north side of Ai; now there was a valley between them and Ai.

12 And he took about five thousand men, and set them to lie in ambush between Beth-el and Ai, on the west side of the city.

13 And when they had set the people, even all the host that was on the north of the city, and their liers in wait on the west of the city, Joshua went that night into the midst of the valley.

14 ¶ And it came to pass, when the king of Ai saw it, that they hastened and rose up early, and the men of the city went out against Israel to battle, he and all his people, at a time appointed, before the plain: but he wist not that there were liers in ambush against him behind the city.

15 And Joshua and all Israel made as if they were beaten before them, and fled by the way of the wilderness.

16 And all the people that were in Ai were called together to pursue after them: and they pursued after Joshua, and were drawn away from the city.

17 And there was not a man left in Ai or Beth-el, that went not out after Israel: and they left the city open, and pursued after Israel.

18 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Verse 1. Take all the people of war with thee;] Partly to strengthen them against those fears which their late defeat had wrought in them; and partly, that all of them might be partakers of this first spoil, and thereby be encouraged to proceed in their work. The weak multitude were not to go, because they might have hindered them in the following stratagem; and it was but fit that the military men, who run the greatest hazards, should have the precedence and privilege in the spoils.

8. Ye shall set the city on fire;] i. e. The gate where they entered, or part of the skirts of the city, as a token they were possessed of it; for they were to take the spoil of the city before they burnt it, ver. 28.

17. And there was not a man left in—Beth-el;] Which, being a neighbouring city, and encouraged by the former success, had sent some forces to assist them; and now, upon notice sent to them of the flight of their common enemies, or upon some other signal given, (which might easily be done, having been appointed before-hand, as is usual in such cases) all their men of war join with those of Ai in the pursuit.

25. Even

18 And the LORD said unto Joshua, Stretch out the spear that is in thy hand toward Ai; for I will give it into thine hand. And Joshua stretched out the spear that he had in his hand toward the city.

19 And the ambush arose quickly out of their place, and they ran as soon as he had stretched out his hand; and they entered into the city, and took it, and hasted, and set the city on fire.

20 And when the men of Ai looked behind them, they saw, and, behold, the smoke of the city ascended up to heaven, and they had no power to flee this way or that way: and the people that fled to the wilderness turned back upon the pursuers.

21 And when Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had taken the city, and that the smoke of the city ascended, then they turned again, and slew the men of Ai.

22 And the other issued out of the city against them; so they were in the midst of Israel, some on this side, and some on that side: and they smote them, so that they let none of them remain or escape.

23 And the king of Ai they took alive, and brought him to Joshua.

24 And it came to pass, when Israel had made an end of slaying all the inhabitants of Ai in the field, in the wilderness wherein they chased them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the sword, until they were consumed, that all the Israelites returned unto Ai, and smote it with the edge of the sword.

25 And so it was, that all that fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thousand, even all the men of Ai.

26 For Joshua drew not his hand back, wherewith he stretched out the spear, until he had utterly destroyed all the inhabitants of Ai.

27 Only the cattle, and the spoil of that city, Israel took for a prey unto themselves, according unto the word of the LORD, which he commanded Joshua.

28 And Joshua burnt Ai, and made it an heap for ever, even a desolation, unto this day.

29 And the king of Ai he hanged on a tree until eventide: and as soon as the sun was down, Joshua commanded that they should take his carcase down from the tree, and cast it at the entering of the gate of the city, and raise thereon a great heap of stones, that remaineth unto this day.

30 ¶ Then Joshua built an altar unto the LORD God of Israel in mount Ebal, 31 As Moses the servant of the LORD commanded the children of Israel, as it is written in the book of the law of Moses, An altar of whole stones, over which no man hath lift up any iron: and they offered thereon burnt-offerings unto the LORD, and sacrificed peace-offerings.

32 And he wrote there upon the stones a copy of the law of Moses, which he wrote in the presence of the children of Israel.

33 ¶ And all Israel, and their elders, and officers, and their judges, stood on this side the ark, and on that side, before the priests the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, as well the stranger, as he that was born among them; half of them over against mount Gerizim, and half of them over against mount Ebal: as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded before, that they should bless the people of Israel.

34 And afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessings and cursings, according to all that is written in the book of the law.

35 There was not a word of all that Moses commanded, which Joshua read not before all the congregation of Israel, with the women, and the little ones, and the strangers that were conversant among them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The kings combine against Israel.—3 The Gibeonites by craft obtain a league.

AND it came to pass, when all the kings which were on this side Jordan, in the hills, and in the valleys, and in all the coasts of the great sea over against Lebanon, the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite, heard thereof;

2 That they gathered themselves together to fight with Joshua, and with Israel, with one accord.

3 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joshua had done unto Jericho and to Ai,

4 They did work wilily, and went and made as if they had been ambassadors, and took old sacks upon their asses, and wine bottles, old, and rent, and bound up,

5 And old shoes and clouted upon their feet, and old garments upon them; and all the bread of their provision was dry and mouldy.

6 And they went to Joshua unto the camp at Gilgal, and said unto him, and to the men of Israel, We be come from a far country: now therefore make ye a league with us.

7 And the men of Israel said unto the Hivites, Peradventure ye dwell among us; and how shall we make a league with you?

8 And they said unto Joshua, We are thy servants: And Joshua said unto them, Who are ye? and from whence come ye?

9 And they said unto him, From a very far country thy servants are come, because of the name of the LORD thy God: for we have heard the fame of him, and all that he did in Egypt,

10 And all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites, that were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heshbon, and to Og king of Bashan, which was at Ashtaroth.

11 Wherefore our elders, and all the inhabitants of our country, spake to us, saying, Take victuals with you for the journey, and go to meet them, and say unto them, We are your servants: therefore now make ye a league with us.

12 This our bread we took hot for our provision out of our houses on the day we came forth to go unto you; but now, behold, it is dry, and it is mouldy:

13 And

25. Even all the men of Ai: i. e. The inhabitants of the city and the territory about it, great and small, men and women.

32. And he wrote there upon the stones a copy of the law of Moses: Not the five books of Moses, nor the book of Deuteronomy; for what stones or time would have sufficed for this? but a compendium of the law, probably the ten commandments; and this he wrote, not upon the stones of the altar, which were to be rough and unpolished, ver. 31. but upon other stones, smooth and plastered. See Deut. 27. 2.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 1. When all the kings, &c. The great success of Joshua against the two towns of Jericho and Ai, and the terrible slaughter he had made among their inhabitants, had so alarmed the kings on that side Jordan, that they entered into a league for their mutual defence, and determined to fight the Israelites with their united forces: but the Gibeonites, foreseeing the impending destruction, had recourse to a stratagem to make peace with Israel; whereby they saved their lives, and delivered their country from the miseries of war.

3, &c. And when the inhabitants—heard, &c. It is a question among casuists, whether the Gibeonites could, with a good conscience, pretend that they were foreigners, and tell a lie to save their lives? Puffendorff thinks them not blameable; but his opinion seems erroneous. Had the Israelites indeed been only a company of banditti, who were carrying blood and desolation into countries where they had no right; or had the Gibeonites been ignorant that a miraculous Providence conducted those conquerors, the fraud which they here practised might have been deemed innocent; for there is no law that obliges us, under the pretence of sincerity, to submit to such incendiaries as are for setting fire to our cities, and putting us and our families to the sword. But the case of the Gibeonites was particular: the idea which they had conceived of the God of Israel should have put them upon some other expedient than that of lying and deceit. They should have enquired (as far as the obscure dispensation they were under would permit them.) into the cause of God's severity against them; they should have acknowledged, that it was their grievous sins which drew down his heavy judgments upon their nation; and, after they had repented thereof, they should have left the rest to Providence, not doubting but that he, who had changed the very course of nature to punish the guilty, would also find out some means to save the penitent.

9, 10. For we have heard the fame of him, and all that he did in Egypt, &c. They cunningly mention those things only which were done some time since, and say nothing of the dividing of Jordan, nor of the destruction of Jericho and Ai, as if they lived so far off, that the fame of those things had not yet reached them.

13. These

13 And these bottles of wine, which we filled, were new, and, behold, they be rent: and these our garments and our shoes are become old, by reason of the very long journey.

14 And the men took of their victuals, and asked not counsel at the mouth of the LORD.

15 And Joshua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live; and the princes of the congregation swore unto them.

16 ¶ And it came to pass, at the end of three days after they had made a league with them, that they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

17 And the children of Israel journeyed, and came unto their cities on the third day. Now their cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, and Kirjath-jearim.

18 And the children of Israel smote them not, because the princes of the congregation had sworn unto them by the LORD God of Israel. And all the congregation murmured against the princes.

19 But all the princes said unto all the congregation, We have sworn unto them by the LORD God of Israel; now therefore we may not touch them.

20 This we will do to them; we will even let them live, lest wrath be upon us, because of the oath which we swore unto them.

21 And the princes said unto them, Let them live; but let them be hewers of wood and drawers of water unto all the congregation; as the princes had promised them.

22 ¶ And Joshua called for them, and he spake unto them, saying, Wherefore have ye beguiled us, saying, We are very far from you; when ye dwell among us?

23 Now therefore ye are cursed, and there shall none of you be freed from being bond-men, and hewers of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God.

24 And they answered Joshua, and said, Because it was certainly told thy servants, how that the LORD thy God commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land, and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you, therefore we were sore afraid of our lives because of you, and have done this thing.

25 And now, behold, we are in thine hand: as it seemeth good and right unto thee to do unto us, do.

26 And so did he unto them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Israel, that they slew them not.

27 And Joshua made them that day hewers of wood and drawers of water for the congregation, and for the altar of the LORD, even unto this day, in the place which he should choose.

C H A P. X.

1 Five kings war against Gibeon:—6 Joshua rescueth it.—

12 The sun and moon stand still.—28 Seven kings more conquered.—43 Joshua returneth to Gilgal.

13. These bottles of wine—behold, they be rent.] These bottles were made of leather, in which they then kept their wine. Leather bottles, or skins, are still used in many countries.

15. Joshua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live.] It has been debated whether this league was lawful and obligatory, because it was contrary to a positive law of God, by which the Israelites were enjoined to make no peace with the inhabitants of Canaan. But this law seems to admit of some exceptions, the true intention of it being to preserve the children of Israel from being tainted with idolatry, and other abominations, by cohabiting with them; therefore, when that objection was removed, if they were willing to relinquish their idolatry and other crimes, and embrace the true religion, they might be spared.

23. Now—ye are cursed;] Devoted to a servile state of life.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse 1. When Adoni-zedek, king of Jerusalem, &c.] This king seems to have been the most potent prince in Canaan, and, if we were to judge from his name, famous for justice and virtue, Adoni-zedek literally signifying, prince of righteousness. This city, in the time of Abraham, was called Salem, and seems to have held the same name till the Israelites came into the land of Canaan, when they called it Jerusalem.

2. Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities.] Gibeon had several cities depending on it, as the royal cities had; but was governed by elders, therefore was not a royal city.

NOW it came to pass, when Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem had heard how Joshua had taken Ai, and had utterly destroyed it; as he had done to Jericho and her king, so he had done to Ai and her king; and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel, and were among them;

2 That they feared greatly, because Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities, and because it was greater than Ai, and all the men thereof were mighty.

3 Wherefore Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem sent unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Piram king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhia king of Lachish, and unto Debir king of Eglon, saying,

4 Come up unto me, and help me, that we may smite Gibeon: for it hath made peace with Joshua, and with the children of Israel.

5 Therefore the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon, gathered themselves together, and went up, they and all their hosts, and encamped before Gibeon, and made war against it.

6 ¶ And the men of Gibeon sent unto Joshua to the camp to Gilgal, saying, Slack not thy hand from thy servants; come up to us quickly, and save us, and help us; for all the kings of the Amorites, that dwell in the mountains, are gathered together against us.

7 So Joshua ascended from Gilgal, he and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valour.

8 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, Fear them not: for I have delivered them into thine hand; there shall not a man of them stand before thee.

9 Joshua therefore came unto them suddenly, and went up from Gilgal all night.

10 And the LORD discomfited them before Israel, and slew them with a great slaughter at Gibeon, and chased them along the way that goeth up to Beth-horon, and smote them to Azekah, and unto Makkedah.

11 And it came to pass, as they fled from before Israel, and were in the going down to Beth-horon, that the LORD cast down great stones from heaven upon them unto Azekah, and they died; they were more which died with hail-stones, than they whom the children of Israel slew with the sword.

12 ¶ Then spake Joshua to the LORD in the day when the LORD delivered up the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon; and thou, Moon, in the valley of Ajalon.

13 And the sun stood still, and the moon stayed, until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies. Is not this written in the book of Jasher? So the sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and hasted not to go down about a whole day.

14 And there was no day like that before it or after it, that the LORD hearkened unto the voice of a man: for the LORD fought for Israel.

15 ¶ And

All the men thereof were mighty;] Were esteemed for their valour.

10. The Lord discomfited them.] The suddenness of the attack doubtless put them into great confusion; besides, God struck them with such terror, that made them seek safety by flight.

Beth-horon.] This city was not in being when the event happened, but was built a little before this book was written. It seems to have taken its name from the miraculous storm mentioned ver. 11. the word signifying the house or place of fury.

Azekah, and Makkedah;] Afterwards two cities in the tribe of Judah, south of Gibeon, whereas Beth-horon lay to the north of it, chap. 15. 35, 41.

13. Is not this written in the book of Jasher?] Either of a man so called, or, of the righteous or upright; wherein possibly the memorable actions of worthy men were recorded, and this amongst the rest; and this book was written and published before Joshua wrote his, and so is fitly alleged here: but this, as well as some few other historical books, is lost, not being a canonical book, and therefore not preserved by the Jews with the same care as they were.

So the sun stood still.] Here is no mention of the moon, because the sun's standing still was the only thing which Joshua desired and needed: and the moon's standing he desired only by accident, to prevent irregularity in the motions of those celestial lights. Some take this to be only a poetical phrase and relation of the victory; that Joshua did so many and such

15 ¶ And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, unto the camp to Gilgal.

16 But these five kings fled, and hid themselves in a cave at Makkedah.

17 And it was told Joshua, saying, The five kings are found hid in a cave at Makkedah.

18 And Joshua said, Roll great stones upon the mouth of the cave, and set men by it for to keep them;

19 And stay ye not, but pursue after your enemies, and smite the hindmost of them; suffer them not to enter into their cities: for the LORD your God hath delivered them into your hand.

20 And it came to pass, when Joshua and the children of Israel had made an end of slaying them with a very great slaughter, till they were consumed, that the rest which remained of them entered into fenced cities.

21 And all the people returned to the camp to Joshua at Makkedah in peace: none moved his tongue against any of the children of Israel.

22 ¶ Then said Joshua, Open the mouth of the cave, and bring out those five kings unto me out of the cave.

23 And they did so, and brought forth those five kings unto him out of the cave; the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon.

24 And it came to pass, when they brought out those kings unto Joshua, that Joshua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the captains of the men of war, which went with him, Come near, put your feet upon the necks of these kings. And they came near, and put their feet upon the necks of them.

25 And Joshua said unto them, Fear not, nor be dismayed; be strong, and of good courage: for thus shall the LORD do to all your enemies against whom ye fight.

26 And afterward Joshua smote them, and slew them, and hanged them on five trees: and they were hanging upon the trees until the evening.

27 And it came to pass, at the time of the going down of the sun, that Joshua commanded, and they took them down off the trees, and cast them into the cave wherein they had been hid, and laid great stones in the cave's mouth, which remain until this very day.

28 ¶ And that day Joshua took Makkedah, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof he utterly destroyed; them, and all the souls that were therein; he let none remain: and he did to the king of Makkedah as he did unto the king of Jericho.

29 ¶ Then Joshua passed from Makkedah, and all Israel with him, unto Libnah, and fought against Libnah:

30 And the LORD delivered it also, and the king thereof, into the hand of Israel; and he smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein: he let none remain in it, but did unto the king thereof as he did unto the king of Jericho.

31 ¶ And Joshua passed from Libnah, and all Israel with him, unto Lachish, and encamped against it, and fought against it.

32 And the LORD delivered Lachish into the hand of Israel, which took it on the second day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein, according to all that he had done to Libnah.

33 ¶ Then Horem king of Gezer came up to help Lachish; and Joshua smote him and his people, until he had left him none remaining.

34 ¶ And from Lachish Joshua passed unto Eglon, and all Israel with him; and they encamped against it, and fought against it.

35 And they took it on that day, and smote it with the edge of the sword; and all the souls that were therein he utterly destroyed that day, according to all that he had done to Lachish.

36 ¶ And Joshua went up from Eglon, and all Israel with him, unto Hebron; and they fought against it.

37 And they took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof, and all the souls that were therein: he left none remaining, (according to all that he had done to Eglon,) but destroyed it utterly, and all the souls that were therein.

38 ¶ And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to Debir, and fought against it:

39 And he took it, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof; and they smote them with the edge of the sword, and utterly destroyed all the souls that were therein; he left none remaining: as he had done to Hebron, so he did to Debir, and to the king thereof; as he had done also to Libnah, and to her king.

40 ¶ So Joshua smote all the country of the hills, and of the south, and of the vale, and of the springs, and all their kings: he left none remaining, but utterly destroyed all that breathed, as the LORD God of Israel commanded.

41 And Joshua smote them from Kadesh-barnea even unto Gaza, and all the country of Goshen, even unto Gibeon.

42 And all these kings and their land did Joshua take at one time; because the LORD God of Israel fought for Israel.

43 And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, unto the camp to Gilgal.

CHAP. XI.

5, 8 Divers kings overcome at the waters of Merom.—16 All the country taken by Joshua.

AND it came to pass, when Jabin king of Hazor had heard those things, that he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achshaph,

2 And to the kings that were on the north of the mountains and of the plains, south of Chinneroth, and in the valley, and in the borders of Dor on the west,

3 And to the Canaanite on the east and on the west, and to the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and

The country of Goshen] Was situated on the south of Canaan, and so called from its excellent pastures.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. King of Hazor.] Hazor was the metropolis of the northern parts of Canaan; it fell to the share of the tribe of Naphtali. Jabin was the name of the king of the Canaanites in that part of the country in latter times, and reigned in this very city, Judges 4. 2.

King of Madon.] This place is mentioned no where else in scripture, but doubtless was subject to Hazor.

Shimron.] A place afterwards in the tribe of Zebulun.

Achshaph.] A place of the tribe of Asher.

2. The kings that were on the north of the mountains.] Who dwelt in the mountainous country near Lebanon.

The plains south of Chinneroth.] In the flat country which lay south of the lake, afterwards called Gennesaret.

In the valley.] The pleasant country between mount Hermon and Gilboa, called the valley of Jezreel.

3. Amorite—Hittite—Perizzite.] There were other Amorites scattered up and down the country, besides these above-mentioned, who were now assembled together by Jabin, in order to compose a very powerful army.

The

such great things in that day, as if the sun and moon had stood still, and given him longer time for it. But the frequent repetition and magnificent declaration of this wonder manifestly confutes that fancy. That the sun and moon did really stand still is affirmed, Hab. 3. 11. and Sirach 46. 4. And if it seem strange to any one, that so wonderful a work, observed by the whole world than then was, should not be mentioned by any heathen writer; he must needs be satisfied, if he consider, that it is confessed by the generality of writers, heathen and others, that there is no certain history or monument in heathen authors of any thing done before the Trojan wars, which was a thousand years after Joshua's time; and that all time before that is called, by the learned heathens, the uncertain, unknown, or obscure time.

In the midst of heaven.] Not in the very meridian or middle part of that hemisphere, but when it had begun a little to decline, the consideration whereof seems to have given Joshua occasion for his desire.

16. In a cave at Makkedah.] It should have been rendered, In a cave near Makkedah; for that city was not yet taken.

40. Joshua smote all the country of the hills, &c.] He subdued the whole country in those parts.

41. Kadesh-barnea—unto Gaza.] Kadesh-barnea lay in the south of Canaan, and Gaza in the south-west; so the meaning is, that Joshua did, in this expedition, subdue all those parts which lay south and west from Gilgal.

and the Jebusite in the mountains, and to the Hivite under Hermon, in the land of Mizpeh.

4 And they went out, they and all their hosts with them, much people, even as the sand that is upon the sea shore in multitude, with horses and chariots very many.

5 And when all these kings were met together, they came and pitched together at the waters of Merom, to fight against Israel.

6 ¶ And the LORD said unto Joshua, Be not afraid because of them; for to-morrow about this time will I deliver them up all slain before Israel: thou shalt hough their horses, and burn their chariots with fire.

7 So Joshua came, and all the people of war with him, against them, by the waters of Merom, suddenly; and they fell upon them.

8 And the LORD delivered them into the hand of Israel, who smote them, and chased them unto great Zidon, and unto Misrephoth-maim, and unto the valley of Mizpeh eastward; and they smote them, until they left them none remaining.

9 And Joshua did unto them as the LORD bade him: he houghed their horses, and burned their chariots with fire.

10 ¶ And Joshua at that time turned back, and took Hazor, and smote the king thereof with the sword: for Hazor before-time was the head of all those kingdoms.

11 And they smote all the souls that were therein with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying them; there was not any left to breathe: and he burned Hazor with fire.

12 And all the cities of those kings, and all the kings of them, did Joshua take, and smote them with the edge of the sword; and he utterly destroyed them, as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded.

13 But as for the cities that stood still in their strength, Israel burned none of them, save Hazor only; that did Joshua burn.

14 And all the spoil of these cities, and the cattle, the children of Israel took for a prey unto themselves; but every man they smote with the edge of the sword, until they had destroyed them, neither left they any to breathe.

15 As the LORD commanded Moses his servant, so did Moses command Joshua, and so did Joshua: he left nothing undone of all that the LORD commanded Moses.

16 ¶ So Joshua took all that land, the hills, and all the south country, and all the land of Goshen, and the valley, and the plain, and the mountain of Israel, and the valley of the same;

17 Even from the mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir,

The Jebusite in the mountains,] About Jerusalem, where they kept a strong hold till the days of David.

Hermon;] A famous mountain in the north-east part of Canaan.

Mizpeh.] There were several cities of this name; but that in or near the tribe of Manasseh seems to be here intended.

4. They and all their hosts, &c.] Their whole army, according to Josephus, amounted to near three hundred thousand foot, ten thousand horse, and two thousand chariots; and, to oppose these, the Israelites had only foot, God having forbid the use of horses, lest a traffic into Egypt for them should prove a snare to them in idolatry.

With—chariots very many.] These chariots made a terrible slaughter among an army of foot. This was the form of them: "The beam to which the horses were fastened was armed with iron points, which projected forwards: the yokes of the horses had two sharp falcions of three cubits in length. The axle-trees had fixed to them two iron spits, with scythes at their extremities; the spokes of the wheels were armed with javelins, and the very fellows with scythes, which tore all they met with to pieces. The axle-tree was of a greater length, and the wheels stronger than ordinary, that they might be more able to resist a shock, and the chariot less liable to be overturned." The charioteer, who was wholly covered with armour, sat in a kind of tower made of very solid wood, about breast high; and sometimes men well armed were put into the chariot, and fought from thence with darts and arrows. So that these machines must have made a dreadful slaughter among the enemy's troops.

5. At the waters of Merom:] A lake made by the river Jordan in the northern part of it, which was in the territory of the king of Shimron, or Shimron-meron, and near Hazor, Jabin's royal city, and almost in the middle of these confederate kings.

6. Hough their horses:] Cut their ham-strings, and render them useless.

8. Unto great Zidon:] A large and famous city in those days, built by even unto Baal-gad in the valley of Lebanon, under mount Hermon: and all their kings he took, and smote them, and slew them.

18 Joshua made war a long time with all those kings.

19 There was not a city that made peace with the children of Israel, save the Hivites, the inhabitants of Gibeon: all other they took in battle:

20 For it was of the LORD to harden their hearts, that they should come against Israel in battle, that he might destroy them utterly, and that they might have no favour, but that he might destroy them, as the LORD commanded Moses.

21 ¶ And at that time came Joshua, and cut off the Anakims from the mountains, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the mountains of Judah, and from all the mountains of Israel: Joshua destroyed them utterly with their cities.

22 There was none of the Anakims left in the land of the children of Israel: only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod, there remained.

23 So Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the LORD said unto Moses; and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel, according to their divisions by their tribes. And the land rested from war.

C H A P. XII.

1 The two kings whose countries Moses took and disposed of.—

7 The one and thirty kings on the other side Jordan that Joshua smote.

NOW these are the kings of the land, which the children of Israel smote, and possessed their land on the other side Jordan toward the rising of the sun, from the river Arnon unto mount Hermon, and all the plain on the east:

2 Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, and ruled from Aroer, which is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and from the middle of the river, and from half Gilead, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;

3 And from the plain to the sea of Chinneroth on the east, and unto the sea of the plain, even the salt sea on the east, the way to Beth-jeshimoth; and from the south, under Ashdod-pisgah;

4 And the coast of Og king of Bashan, which was of the remnant of the giants, that dwelt at Ashtaroth, and at Edrei;

5 And reigned in mount Hermon, and in Salcah, and in all Bashan, unto the border of the Geshurites, and the Maachathites, and half Gilead, the border of Sihon king of Heshbon;

6 Them

the eldest son of Canaan, from whom it had its name. It lay on the sea coast in the north-west part of Canaan.

Unto Misrephoth-maim:] A place not far from Zidon, supposed to be so called from the salt or glass which they made there.

Unto the valley of Mizpeh eastward,] Under mount Hermon, as appears by comparing this with verse 3 and 17, where it seems to be called the valley of Lebanon. This lay on the east, as Zidon did on the west; and so, it seems, they fled several ways; and the Israelites also divided themselves into two bodies, one pursuing east, and the other west.

13. But as for the cities that stood still in their strength:] Which were not utterly ruined, together with their walls, in the taking of them; these cities the Israelites did not burn, because they intended to dwell in them, and would not be at the expence of rebuilding the walls.

Israel burned none of them, save Hazor only:] Because this city began the war, and being the chief and royal city, might renew the war, if the Canaanites should ever seize upon it.

16. The mountain of Israel.] Most probably was Beth-el, where God appeared to Jacob when he went to Padan-aram, and promised to give him this land, Gen. 28. 12, 13. Here he dwelt, by God's direction, after he returned from serving Laban; and God again appeared to him there, renewed his promise, and changed his name from Jacob to Israel, Gen. 35.

21. Cut off the Anakims from the mountains.] The Anakims were a gigantic people, fierce, cruel, and tyrannical. They had fixed their habitations in the mountains, and fortified themselves there, which probably was the reason why Joshua did not attack them before he had finished his other conquests.

The mountains of Judah:] The mountainous country, which fell to the tribe of Judah, together with the three last-mentioned cities.

The mountains of Israel:] The mountainous country in the rest of the tribes of Israel, whither these people fled for shelter.

6 Them did Moses the servant of the LORD, and the children of Israel, smite: and Moses the servant of the LORD gave it for a possession unto the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

7 ¶ And these are the kings of the country which Joshua and the children of Israel smote on this side Jordan on the west, from Baal-gad in the valley of Lebanon, even unto the mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir, which Joshua gave unto the tribes of Israel for a possession, according to their divisions:

8 In the mountains, and in the valleys, and in the plains, and in the springs, and in the wilderness, and in the south country; the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites:

9 ¶ The king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beside Beth-el, one;

10 The king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Hebron, one;

11 The king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachish, one;

12 The king of Eglon, one; the king of Gezer, one;

13 The king of Debir, one; the king of Geder, one;

14 The king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one;

15 The king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one;

16 The king of Makkedah, one; the king of Beth-el, one;

17 The king of Tappuah, one; the king of Hopher, one;

18 The king of Aphek, one; the king of Lasharon, one;

19 The king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one;

20 The king of Shimron-meron, one; the king of Achshaph, one;

21 The king of Taanach, one; the king of Megiddo, one;

22 The king of Kedesh, one; the king of Jokneam of Carmel, one;

23 The king of Dor, in the coast of Dor, one; the king of the nations of Gilgal, one;

24 The king of Tirzah, one; all the kings thirty and one.

2 The bounds of the lands not conquered.—7 The inheritance of the nine tribes and half.—22 Balaam is slain.—24 The bounds of the inheritance of Gad, &c.

NOW Joshua was old and stricken in years; and the LORD said unto him, Thou art old, and stricken in years, and there remaineth yet very much land to be possessed.

2 This is the land that yet remaineth: all the borders of the Philistines, and all Geshuri,

3 From Sihor, which is before Egypt, even unto the borders of Ekron northward, which is counted to the Canaanite; five lords of the Philistines: the Gazathites, and the Ashdothites, the Eshkalonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites; also the Avites:

4 From the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that is beside the Sidonians, unto Aphek, to the borders of the Amorites:

5 And the land of the Giblites, and all Lebanon, toward the sun-rising, from Baal-gad under mount Hermon, unto the entering into Hamath.

6 All the inhabitants of the hill-country, from Lebanon unto Misrephoth-maim, and all the Sidonians, them will I drive out from before the children of Israel: only divide thou it by lot unto the Israelites for an inheritance, as I have commanded thee.

7 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance unto the nine tribes, and the half-tribe of Manasseh,

8 With whom the Reubenites and the Gadites have received their inheritance, which Moses gave them beyond Jordan eastward, even as Moses the servant of the LORD gave them;

9 From Aroer, that is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midst of the river, and all the plain of Medeba unto Dibon:

10 And all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heshbon, unto the border of the children of Ammon:

11 And Gilead, and the border of the Geshurites and Maachathites, and all mount Hermon, and all Bashan unto Salcah;

12 All the kingdom of Og in Bashan, which reigned in Ashtaroth and in Edrei, who remained of the remnant of the giants: for these did Moses smite, and cast them out.

13 Nevertheless, the children of Israel expelled not the Geshurites, nor the Maachathites: but the Geshurites and the Maachathites dwell among the Israelites until this day.

14 Only unto the tribe of Levi he gave none inheritance; the sacrifices of the LORD God of Israel made by fire are their inheritance, as he said unto them.

15 ¶ And Moses gave unto the tribe of the children of Reuben inheritance, according to their families.

16 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 12, 14. The king of Gezer—Hormah—Arad.] We find no mention made of these kings before. These cities lay in the tribe of Judah.

16. Beth-el.] A town depending upon Ai, chap. 8. 17.

17. Tappuah.] A city in the tribe of Ephraim.

Hopher.] Hopher was in the tribe of Zebulun. The land of Hopher is mentioned, 1 Kings 4. 10.

18. Aphek.] There were two cities of this name, one in the tribe of Judah, the other in the tribe of Asher; but which of them is here intended is not determined.

Lasharon.] This place seems to be Sharon, so famous for its pleasant and fruitful country, Isa. 33. 9. and 35. 2. It was situated near Lydda, Acts 9. 35.

21. Taanach.] This city stood in the tribe of Manasseh, on the borders of Zebulun. It belonged to the Levites; but the ancient inhabitants were not driven out of it, Judg. 1. 27.

22. Kedesh.] Was a city in the tribe of Naphtali.

Jokneam of Carmel.] Jokneam was situated in the tribe of Benjamin, at the foot of mount Carmel, near the river Belus, and was one of the Levitical cities.

23. Dor, in the coast of Dor.] This city stood in the tribe of Manasseh, and had a large territory belonging to it called by the same name. It was a royal city, one of the oldest in Phœnicia; and so strong, that the Israelites could not take it, or at least keep possession of it, when it fell to the portion of Manasseh.

The king of the nations of Gilgal.] This is not that Gilgal where Joshua encamped when he came over Jordan, there being no city in that place, nor any king, except the king of Jericho. St. Jerom tells us, that in his time there was a place called Gilgal, about six miles from Antipatris, situated near the sea, and not far from Joppa. Hither, in all probability, the merchants resorted from several countries, and thence the ruler was called the king of the nations of Gilgal.

24. Tirzah.] This place seems to have been in the tribe of Ephraim; for Jeroboam, who was of that tribe, made it the royal seat, till the city of Samaria was built.

All the kings thirty and one.] It is surprising that there should be so many kings in so small a country; but it should be remembered, that these kings were only petty princes, or lords of cities, having a few villages depending upon them, the inhabitants of which were, properly speaking, their tenants; for kingdoms were, in those early ages, very small. We find, that when Cæsar invaded England, there were four kings in the county of Kent only.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 1. Joshua was old and stricken in years.] It is generally imagined he was near an hundred years old.

2. Geshuri.] A city and a country in the north-east, not far from Hermon: it fell to the lot of the tribe of Manasseh.

3. Sihor, which is before Egypt.] Dr. Shaw says Sihor is the same with the Nile, and may properly be said to be before Egypt, or before thou enterest into it.

Ekron northward.] Ekron was a famous city of the Philistines, where Beelzebub was worshipped.

The Avites.] These were a people mixed with the Philistines, being a remnant of the ancient inhabitants of this country. Some have confounded them with the Hivites; but their name is very different in the Hebrew. They also inhabited different parts of the country; for the Hivites dwelt in Hermon in the north, and the Avites in the west.

4. Mearah.] Some translate it a cave, as the word signifies in the Hebrew, and do not understand it as the name of a country.

5. Giblites.] A people inhabiting a city called Gebal, and the country round it, which lay in the neighbourhood of Tyre and Sidon. They are mentioned as stone-cutters sent by Hiram, king of Tyre, to king Solomon, 1 Kings 5. 18.

6. Them will I drive out from before the children of Israel.] This promise was conditional, and depended on the Israelites observing the laws given them by Moses; but, as they did not persist in the true worship of God, great part of these places were never conquered. The Sidonians were never subdued by the Israelites, and the people of Lebanon were only tributaries in the days of David.

Divide thou it by lot unto the Israelites for an inheritance.] The inhabitants are not yet driven out; yet, since I promised to expel them, assign all the fore-mentioned countries to the children of Israel by lot, as the inheritance I have bestowed upon them.

20 And Beth-peor, and Ashdodh-pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth,

21 And all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses smote with the princes of Midian, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, which were dukes of Sihon, dwelling in the country.

22 ¶ Balaam also the son of Beor, the sooth-sayer, did the children of Israel slay with the sword, among them that were slain by them.

23 And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan, and the border thereof. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben after their families, the cities and the villages thereof.

24 ¶ And Moses gave inheritance unto the tribe of Gad, even unto the children of Gad, according to their families.

25 And their coast was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon, unto Aroer, that is before Rabbah;

26 And from Heshbon unto Ramath-mizpeh, and Betonim; and from Mahanaim unto the border of Debir;

28 This is the inheritance of the children of Gad after their families, the cities and their villages.

29 ¶ And Moses gave inheritance unto the half-tribe of Manasseh: and this was the possession of the half-tribe of the children of Manasseh by their families.

30 And their coast was from Mahanaim, all Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the towns of Jair, which are in Bashan, threescore cities:

31 And half Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, were pertaining unto the children of Machir the son of Manasseh, even to the one half of the children of Machir, by their families.

32 These are the countries which Moses did distribute for inheritance in the plains of Moab, on the other side Jordan, by Jericho, eastward.

33 But unto the tribe of Levi Moses gave not any inheritance: the LORD God of Israel was their inheritance, as he said unto them.

C H A P. XIV.

The nine tribes and an half are to have their inheritance by lot.

AND these are the countries which the children of Israel inherited in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, distributed for inheritance unto them.

2 By lot was their inheritance, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses, for the nine tribes, and for the half-tribe.

3 For Moses had given the inheritance of two tribes and an half-tribe on the other side Jordan: but unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.

4 For the children of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim: therefore they gave no part unto the Levites in the land, save cities to dwell in, with their suburbs for their cattle and for their substance.

5 As the LORD commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did, and they divided the land.

6 ¶ Then the children of Judah came unto Joshua in Gilgal; and Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite said unto him, Thou knowest the thing that the LORD said unto Moses the man of God concerning me and thee in Kadesh-barnea.

7 Forty years old was I when Moses the servant of the LORD sent me from Kadesh-barnea to espy out the land: and I brought him word again as it was in mine heart.

8 Nevertheless, my brethren that went up with me made the heart of the people melt: but I wholly followed the LORD my God.

9 And Moses swore on that day, saying, Surely the land whereon thy feet have trodden shall be thine inheritance, and thy children's for ever, because thou hast wholly followed the LORD my God.

10 And now, behold, the LORD hath kept me alive, as he said, these forty and five years, even since the LORD spake this word unto Moses, while the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness: and now, lo, I am this day fourscore and five years old.

11 As yet I am as strong this day as I was in the day that Moses sent me: as my strength was then, even so is my strength now, for war, both to go out, and to come in.

12 Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the LORD spake in that day; for thou heardest in that day how the Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced: if so be the LORD will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out, as the LORD said.

13 And Joshua blessed him, and gave unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh Hebron for an inheritance.

14 Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite unto this day, because that he wholly followed the LORD God of Israel.

15 And the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba, which Arba was a great man among the Anakims. And the land had rest from war.

1 The borders of the lot of Judah.—13 Caleb's portion and conquest, &c.

is justifiable because it was necessary, as being the ground and foundation of his petition.

11. I am as strong this day as I was, &c.] An evident proof that God had preserved him, as he promised.

12. Give me this mountain, whereof the Lord spake:] The mountainous country where Hebron lay; which was promised him when he returned from spying the land, Numb. 14. 24.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 1. This then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah.] The first lot that came up was for the tribe of Judah, that the prophecy of Jacob, with regard to the pre-eminence of that tribe among his brethren, might be kept up. As to the manner of this lottery, it is probably conceived, that there were two urns or pots, into one of which were put the names of all the tribes, each in a distinct paper; and into the other the names of each portion described; then Eleazar, or some other person, drew out first the name of one of the tribes out of one pot, and then the name of one portion out of the other pot, and that portion was appropriated to that tribe; and so in the rest.

Verse 1. And the heads of the fathers of the tribes:] Twelve persons, each the head of his tribe, which were appointed and named by God, Numb. 34. 19. and, if any of them were now dead, no doubt Joshua and Eleazar, by God's direction, put others in their stead.

6. Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite:] He is called the Kenezite, (from several of his ancestors being called Kenez, chap. 15. 17. Judg. 1. 13.) in order to distinguish him from Caleb the son of Hebron, 1 Chron. 2. 18.

7. Forty years old was I when Moses—sent me from Kadesh-barnea, &c.] He mentions this, partly to shew that Moses took care to send persons of some experience, capable of making pertinent observations on the country; and at the same time in their full strength of body, and able to encounter the difficulties and hardships they were like to meet with in their journey.

I brought him word again as it was in mine heart.] I delivered my true opinion, without fear or flattery.

3 And it went out to the south side to Maaleh-acrab-bim, and passed along to Zin, and ascended up on the south side unto Kadesh-barnea, and passed along to Hezron, and went up to Adar, and fetched a compass to Karkaa.

4 From thence it passed toward Azmon, and went out unto the river of Egypt ; and the goings out of that coast were at the sea : this shall be your south coast.

5 And the east border was the salt sea, even unto the end of Jordan. And their border in the north quarter was from the bay of the sea, at the uttermost part of Jordan.

6 And the border went up to Beth-hoglah, and passed along by the north of Beth-arabah : and the border went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben :

7 And the border went up toward Debir, from the valley of Achor, and so northward, looking toward Gilgal, that is before the going up to Adummim, which is on the south side of the river : and the border passed toward the waters of En-shemesh, and the goings out thereof were at En-rogel.

8 And the border went up by the valley of the son of Hinnom unto the south side of the Jebusite ; the same is Jerusalem : and the border went up to the top of the mountain that lieth before the valley of Hinnom, westward, which is at the end of the valley of the giants, northward :

9 And the border was drawn from the top of the hill unto the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, and went out to the cities of mount Ephron ; and the border was drawn to Baalah, which is Kirjath-jearim :

10 And the border compassed from Baalah westward unto mount Seir, and passed along unto the side of mount Jearim, which is Chesalon, on the north side, and went down to Beth-shemesh, and passed on to Timnah :

11 And the border went out unto the side of Ekron, northward : and the border was drawn to Shicron, and passed along to mount Baalah, and went out unto Jabneel ; and the goings out of the border were at the sea.

12 And the west border was to the great sea, and the coast thereof. This is the coast of the children of Judah round about, according to their families.

13 ¶ And unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh he gave a part among the children of Judah, according to the commandment of the LORD to Joshua, even the city of Arba, the father of Anak, which city is Hebron.

14 And Caleb drove thence the three sons of Anak, Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmi, the children of Anak.

By their families.] The lot was only a quantity of land for the whole tribe : unto every family of which a portion was assigned by Joshua, and those who were appointed to see that none were neglected, and that they had every one a just portion.

3. Maaleh-acrabim.] Or, the going up to Acrabbim. This was a mountain so called from the multitude of scorpions that were there.

6. Went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben.] This stone is again mentioned, chap. 18. 17. in describing the bounds of the tribe of Benjamin. It was laid here since the Israelites came into this country ; but by whom, or for what reason, is not known. Probably Bohan performed some famous exploit in this place, or was buried here, being one of those that came over Jordan to assist their brethren in the conquest of Canaan.

8. The valley of the son Hinnom.] A valley on the east side of Jerusalem, so delightfully shaded, that it invited them to perform their idolatrous worship there ; for which it became infamous, 2 Kings 23.

10. Jer. 7. 32. Hinnom, the owner of this valley, was, in all probability, some eminent person in ancient times ; for it is sometimes called the valley of the children of Hinnom, and consequently was enjoyed by his posterity. After it was polluted by idolatry, it became a place where they threw all their filth and dead carcasses ; and there was kept a continual fire, the Jews say, to burn bones, and such sordid things as were thrown there ; from whence, they think, it became the name for hell fire.

The same is Jerusalem.] This city is sometimes called Jebusi, and sometimes Jebus : especially that part of it which was fortified by the Jebusites, and called Mount Sion, lying on the south of Jerusalem.

9. And the border was drawn to Baalah, which is Kirjath-jearim.]

15 And he went up thence to the inhabitants of Debir : and the name of Debir before was Kirjath-sepher.

16 ¶ And Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

17 And Othniel the son of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb, took it : and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

18 And it came to pass, as she came unto him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field : and she lighted off her ass ; and Caleb said unto her, What wouldest thou ?

19 Who answered, Give me a blessing ; for thou hast given me a south land, give me also springs of water : and he gave her the upper springs and the nether springs.

20 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah, according to their families.

21 And the uttermost cities of the tribe of the children of Judah, toward the coast of Edom, southward, were Kabziel, and Eder, and Jagur,

22 And Kinah, and Dimonah, and Adadah,

28 And Hazar-shual, and Beer-sheba, and Biz-jothjah,

29 Baalah, and Iim, and Azem,

30 And Eltolad, and Chesil, and Hormah,

31 And Ziklag, and Madmannah, and Sansannah,

32 And Lebaoth, and Shilhim, and Ain, and Rimmon : all the cities are twenty and nine, with their villages.

34 And Zanoah, and En-gannim, Tappuah, and Enam,

35 Jarmuth, and Adullam, Socoh, and Azekah,

36 And Sharaim, and Adithaim, and Gederah, and Gederothaim ; fourteen cities with their villages.

38 And Dilean, and Mizpeh, and Joktheel,

39 Lachish, and Bozkath, and Eglon,

40 And Cabbon, and Lahmam, and Kithlish,

41 And Gederoth, Beth-dagon, and Naamah, and Makkedah : sixteen cities with their villages.

42 Libnah, and Ether, and Ashan,

43 And Jiphtah, and Ashnah, and Nezib,

44 And Keilah, and Achzib, and Mareshah : nine cities with their villages.

14. Caleb drove thence the three sons of Anak.] He drove this gigantic race from Hebron, by the assistance of the armies of Judah and Simeon, in which probably he had a chief command.

15. And the name of Debir before was Kirjath-sepher.] i. e. The city of learning, or, the law. It is called also Kirjath-sannah, ver. 49. which hath the same signification. Hence some think this city in those times was the seat of learning, as Athens was among the Greeks in after ages.

19. Thou hast given me a south land.] That is, a dry country lying in the south, being mountainous, and exposed to the scorching winds that blew from the deserts of Arabia.

Give me also springs of water.] An adjacent field, wherein were springs of water.

The upper springs and the nether springs.] He generously gave her both the springs in the mountain, and those in the plain ; so that neither the eminences nor the valleys might want water.

32. All the cities are twenty and nine, with their villages.] We were before told, that the cities which fell to the lot of Judah amounted to thirty-eight ; but it must be remembered, that nine of these cities, namely, Beer-sheba, Moladah, Hazar-shual, Baalah, Azem, Hormah, Ziklag, Ain, and Rimmon, were taken from Judah, and given to the tribe of Simeon ; see chap. 19. which nine, with the twenty-nine mentioned in the preceding verses, make the sum of thirty-eight.

45. Ekron, with her towns.] Heb. Her daughters, i. e. lesser cities, or great towns, subject to Ekron's jurisdiction.

60. Kirjath-

47 Ashdod with her towns and her villages, Gaza with her towns and her villages, unto the river of Egypt, and the great sea, and the border thereof.

48 ¶ And in the mountains, Shamir, and Jattir, and Socoh,

49 And Dannah, and Kirjath-sannah, which is Debir,

50 And Anab, and Eshtemo, and Anim,

51 And Goshen, and Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages.

52 Arab, and Dumah, and Eshean,

53 And Janum, and Beth-tappuah, and Aphekah,

54 And Humtah, and Kirjath-arba, (which is Hebron,) and Zihor: nine cities with their villages.

55 Maon, Carmel, and Ziph, and Juttah,

56 And Jezreel, and Jokdeam, and Zanoah,

57 Cain, Gibeah, and Timnah: ten cities with their villages.

58 Halhul, Beth-zur, and Gedor,

59 And Maarath, and Beth-anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages.

60 Kirjath-baal, (which is Kirjath-jearim,) and Rabbah: two cities with their villages.

61 ¶ In the wilderness, Beth-arabah, Middin, and Secacah,

62 And Nibshan, and the city of Salt, and En-gedi: six cities with their villages.

63 As for the Jebusites, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the children of Judah could not drive them out: but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Judah at Jerusalem unto this day.

C H A P. XVI.

1 The general borders of the sons of Joseph.—5 The border of the inheritance of Ephraim.

AND the lot of the children of Joseph fell from Jordan by Jericho, unto the water of Jericho on the east, to the wilderness that goeth up from Jericho throughout mount Beth-el,

2 And goeth out from Beth-el to Luz, and passeth along unto the borders of Archi to Ataroth,

3 And goeth down westward to the coast of Japhleti, unto the coast of Beth-horon the nether, and to Gezer: and the goings out thereof are at the sea.

4 So the children of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, took their inheritance.

5 ¶ And the border of the children of Ephraim according to their families was thus: even the border of their inheritance on the east side was Ataroth-addar, unto Beth-horon the upper:

6 And the border went out toward the sea, to Michmethah on the north side; and the border went about eastward unto Taanath-shiloh, and passed by it on the east to Janohah:

7 And it went down from Janohah to Ataroth, and to Naarath, and came to Jericho, and went out at Jordan:

8 The border went out from Tappuah, westward, unto the river Kanah; and the goings out thereof were at the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.

9 And the separate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasseh, all the cities with their villages.

10 And they drove not out the Canaanites that dwell in Gezer: but the Canaanites dwell among the Ephraimites unto this day, and serve under tribute.

C H A P. XVII.

1 The lot of Manasseh.—12 The Canaanites not driven out.—14 Joseph's children obtain another lot.

TH E R E was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh; for he was the first-born of Joseph; to wit, for Machir the first-born of Manasseh, the father of Gilead: because he was a man of war, therefore he had Gilead and Bashan.

2 There was also a lot for the rest of the children of Manasseh by their families; for the children of Abiezer, and for the children of Helek, and for the children of Asriel, and for the children of Shechem, and for the children of Hephher, and for the children of Shemida: these were the male children of Manasseh the son of Joseph, by their families.

3 ¶ But Zelophehad, the son of Hephher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, but daughters: and these are the names of his daughters, Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

4 And they came near before Eleazar the priest, and before Joshua the son of Nun, and before the princes, saying, The LORD commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our brethren, therefore, according to the commandment of the LORD, he gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

5 And there fell ten portions to Manasseh, besides the land of Gilead and Bashan, which were on the other side Jordan;

6 Because the daughters of Manasseh had an inheritance among his sons; and the rest of Manasseh's sons had the land of Gilead.

7 ¶ And the coast of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethah, that lieth before Shechem; and the border went along on the right hand unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8 Now Manasseh had the land of Tappuah: but Tappuah on the border of Manasseh belonged to the children of Ephraim:

9 And the coast descended unto the river Kanah, southward of the river. These cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manasseh; the coast of Manasseh also was on the north side of the river, and the out-goings of it were at the sea:

10 Southward it was Ephraim's, and northward it was Manasseh's and the sea is his border; and they met together in Asher on the north, and in Issachar on the east.

11 And Manasseh had in Issachar and in Asher, Bethshean

60. Kirjath-baal, &c.] Here the Septuagint has eleven cities, which are entirely omitted in the Hebrew, viz. Theco, and Ephratah, (this is Beth-lehem) and Phagor, and Etan, and Kulom, and Tatam, and Thobes, and Carem, and Galem, and Thetre, and Mancho; eleven cities with their villages: and Kirjath-baal, &c. Dr. Wall observes, these cities were doubtless in the Hebrew copy of the Septuagint; and St. Jerom thinks they may have been omitted by the ancient Jews, out of malice to Christianity, because the Bethlehem-Ephratah (the place of Christ's nativity) is one of these cities.

62. The City of Salt.] Some take this to be Zoar, the little city into which Lot escaped, at the destruction of Sodom; called the city of Salt, either because it stood near the Salt Sea, or because Lot's wife was, in its neighbourhood, turned into a pillar of salt.

63. Could not drive them out.] Because of their unbelief, as Christ could do no mighty works—because of the people's unbelief, Mark 6. 5, 6. Matt. 13. 58. and because of their sloth, and cowardice, and wickedness, whereby they forfeited God's help, and then they must needs be impotent.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 1. The lot of the children of Joseph:] That is, of the tribe of Ephraim, and that half of the tribe of Manasseh which had as yet received no inheritance. The Divine Providence is here very remarkable in ordering their lot to fall next to that of Judah; for as he had the prerogative of being made chief of all Jacob's children, so his descendants are considered before any other tribe, Judah excepted, from whom the great Messiah was to descend.

2. From Beth-el to Luz:] Or, From Bethel-Luzah, as the Septuagint here joins the words; for Beth-el was anciently called Luz, Gen. 28. 19. and 48. 3. though some think this was another Luz, spoken of Judg. 1. 26.

10. Gezer.] This was one of the Levitical cities in the tribe of Ephraim and probably the same with that called by Josephus, Gazara.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 1. There was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh:] That is, for the half-tribe of it, which had yet received no inheritance.

For he was the first-born, &c.] The particle we here render for should have been translated though; and then the sense will be, that the lot of Manasseh did not come up till after that of Ephraim, though he was the first-born. Hence we see that the words of Jacob were literally fulfilled, that Ephraim should be before Manasseh, Gen. 48. 19, 20.

Because he was a man of war, therefore he had Gilead and Bashan:] i. e. Part of these countries; for part of them was also given to the Reubenites and Gadites, chap. 13. 15. They were allotted to him and his posterity, because this was a frontier country, and therefore required such valiant persons to defend it.

shean and her towns, and Ibleam and her towns, and the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, and the inhabitants of En-dor and her towns, and the inhabitants of Taanach and her towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns; even three countries.

12 Yet the children of Manasseh could not drive out the inhabitants of those cities; but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

13 Yet it came to pass, when the children of Israel were waxen strong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute; but did not utterly drive them out.

14 ¶ And the children of Joseph spake unto Joshua, saying, Why hast thou given me but one lot and one portion to inherit, seeing I am a great people, forasmuch as the Lord hath blessed me hitherto?

15 And Joshua answered them, If thou be a great people, then get thee up to the wood-country, and cut down for thyself there in the land of the Perizzites and of the giants, if mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.

16 And the children of Joseph said, The hill is not enough for us: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the land of the valley have chariots of iron, both they who are of Beth-shean and her towns, and they who are of the valley of Jezreel.

17 And Joshua spake unto the house of Joseph, even to Ephraim and to Manasseh, saying, Thou art a great people, and hast great power: thou shalt not have one lot only;

18 But the mountain shall be thine; for it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it down: and the out-goings of it shall be thine; for thou shalt drive out the Canaanites, though they have iron chariots, and though they be strong.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 The tabernacle is set up at Shiloh.—9 The land described.
—10 Joshua divideth it by lot.

AND the whole congregation of the children of Israel assembled together at Shiloh, and set up the tabernacle of the congregation there. And the land was subdued before them.

2 And there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes, which had not yet received their inheritance.

3 And Joshua said unto the children of Israel, How long are ye slack to go to possess the land, which the LORD God of your fathers hath given you?

4 Give out from among you three men for each tribe; and I will send them, and they shall rise and go through the land, and describe it, according to the inheritance of them; and they shall come again to me.

5 And they shall divide it into seven parts: Judah shall abide in their coast on the south, and the house of Joseph shall abide in their coasts on the north.

6 Ye shall therefore describe the land into seven parts,

15. If mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee:] If that mount, which was given thee for thy possession, be too narrow, enlarge thy borders by taking in those wood-lands inhabited by the Jebusites.

16. The hill is not enough for us:] If we should invade and conquer it, and cut down both wood and men, yet it would not be sufficient for us.

Chariots of iron:] Not all made of iron, but armed with iron, not only for defence, but for offence also, having as is were scythes and swords fastened to them, to cut down all that stood in their way.

18. For it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it down:] Or, though it be a wood, thou shalt cut down the trees, and clear the land, that it may afford thee a commodious habitation.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

Verse 1. Shiloh:] A place in the tribe of Ephraim, near Jerusalem. And set up the tabernacle of the congregation there:] Hither it was removed from Gilgal, partly for the honour and conveniency of Joshua, that he, being of the tribe of Ephraim, and seating himself there, might have the opportunity of consulting with God as oft as he desired and needed; and partly for the conveniency of all the tribes, that, being in the heart and centre of them, they might more easily resort to it from all places. Here the tabernacle continued for above three hundred years, even till Samuel's days, 1 Sam. 1. 3.

2. Seven tribes which had not yet received their inheritance.] No lot had been drawn for them in Gilgal. The reason perhaps was, because the tribes of the house of Joseph were not satisfied with the division begun and bring the description hither to me, that I may cast lots for you here before the LORD our God.

7 But the Levites have no part among you; for the priesthood of the LORD is their inheritance; and Gad, and Reuben, and half the tribe of Manasseh, have received their inheritance beyond Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave them.

8 ¶ And the men arose, and went away: and Joshua charged them that went to describe the land, saying, Go, and walk through the land, and describe it, and come again to me, that I may here cast lots for you before the LORD in Shiloh:

9 And the men went, and passed through the land, and described it by cities into seven parts, in a book, and came again to Joshua to the host at Shiloh.

10 ¶ And Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh before the LORD: and there Joshua divided the land unto the children of Israel according to their divisions.

11 ¶ And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came up according to their families: and the coast of their lot came forth between the children of Judah and the children of Joseph.

12 And their border on the north side was, from Jordan; and the border went up to the side of Jericho on the north side, and went up through the mountains westward; and the goings out thereof were at the wilderness of Beth-aven.

13 And the border went over from thence toward Luz, to the side of Luz, which is Beth-el, southward; and the border descended to Ataroth-adar, near the hill that lieth on the south side of the nether Beth-horon.

14 And the border was drawn thence, and compassed the corner of the sea southward, from the hill that lieth before Beth-horon southward; and the goings out thereof were at Kirjath-baal, which is Kirjath-yearim, a city of the children of Judah: this was the west quarter.

15 And the south quarter was from the end of Kirjath-yearim, and the border went out on the west, and went out to the well of waters of Nephtoah:

16 And the border came down to the end of the mountain that lieth before the valley of the son of Hinnom, and which is in the valley of the giants on the north, and descended to the valley of Hinnom, to the side of Jebusi on the south, and descended to En-rogel,

17 And was drawn from the north, and went forth to En-shemesh, and went forth toward Geliloth, which is over against the going up of Adummim, and descended to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben,

18 And passed along toward the side over against Arabah northward, and went down unto Arabah:

19 And the border passed along to the side of Beth-hoglah northward: and the out-goings of the border were at the north bay of the salt sea, at the south end of Jordan: this was the south coast.

20 And Jordan was the border of it on the east side. This there, which induced Joshua to stop his proceedings, till he had made a more accurate survey of the whole country: in order to which God removed him to Shiloh, which being situated near the middle of the country, the task might be more easily performed.

5. Judah shall abide in their coast—and—Joseph, &c.] Notwithstanding this new survey, the tribes were still to remain undisturbed in their possessions, unless it should be found that they had more or less land than was necessary.

10. Joshua cast lots for them, &c.] Masius, in his Comment on Joshua, observes, that as Jacob and Moses foretold the very soil and situation of every particular country that should fall to each tribe, so, on this division by lot, it accordingly came to pass. To Judah fell a country abounding with vines and pasture grounds, Gen. 49. 11. To Asher, one plenteous in oil, iron, and brass, Deut. 33. 24. To Naphtali, one extending from the west to the south of Judah, ibid. To Benjamin, one in which the temple was afterwards built. Zebulun and Issachar had plenty of sea-ports. Ephraim and Manasseh had a land stored with precious fruits. Simeon and Levi had no particular countries; the former having a portion with Judah, and the other being interspersed among the several tribes. Hence we cannot but acknowledge the Divine inspiration in these predictions, and the Divine direction in these lots.

11. And the coast of their lot came forth between the children of Judah and the children of Joseph:] Wherein we see the wisdom of Divine Providence, this being the only place in which that prophecy, Deut. 33. 12. could have been accomplished.

24. Gaba:]

This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, by the coasts thereof round about, according to their families.

21 Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, according to their families, were Jericho, and Beth-hoglah, and the valley of Keziz,

22 And Beth-arabah, and Zemaraim, and Beth-el,

23 And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,

24 And Chephar-haammonai, and Ophni, and Gaba; twelve cities with their villages :

25 Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth,

26 And Mizpeh, and Chephirah, and Mozah,

27 And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah,

28 And Zelah, Eleph, and Jebusi, which is Jerusalem, Gibeath, and Kirjath ; fourteen cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to their families.

C H A P. XIX.

2 The 1st of Simeon,—10 of Zebulun,—17 of Issachar,—24 of Asher,—32 of Naphtali,—40 of Dan.

AND the second lot came forth to Simeon, even for the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families : and their inheritance was within the inheritance of the children of Judah.

2 And they had in their inheritance Beer-sheba, and Sheba, and Moladah,

3 And Hazar-shual, and Balah, and Azem,

4 And Eltolad, and Bethul, and Hormah,

5 And Ziklag, and Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-susah,

6 And Beth-lebaath, and Sharuhem : thirteen cities and their villages :

7 Ain, Remmon, and Ether, and Ashan : four cities and their villages :

8 And all the villages that were round about these cities to Baalath-beer, Ramath of the south. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families.

9 Out of the portion of the children of Judah was the inheritance of the children of Simeon : for the part of the children of Judah was too much for them ; therefore the children of Simeon had their inheritance within the inheritance of them.

10 ¶ And the third lot came up for the children of Zebulun, according to their families : and the border of their inheritance was unto Sarid :

11 And their border went up toward the sea, and Maralah, and reached to Dabbasheth, and reached to the river that is before Jokneam,

12 And turned from Sarid eastward, toward the sun-rising, unto the border of Chisloth-tabor, and then goeth out to Daberath, and goeth up to Japhia,

13 And from thence passeth on along on the east to Gittah-hepher, to Ittah-kazin, and goeth out to Remmon-methoar to Neah :

14 And the border compasseth it on the north side to Hannathon : and the out-goings thereof are in the valley of Jiphthah-el :

15 And Kattath, and Nahalal, and Shimron, and Idalah, and Beth-lehem : twelve cities with their villages.

16 This is the inheritance of the children of Zebulun, according to their families, these cities with their villages.

24. Gaba :] This city was the birth-place of Saul, and thence called Gibeah of Saul, 1 Sam. 10. 26.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 2. Beer-sheba, and Sheba :] Or, Sheba, i. e. otherwise so called ; for that Beer-sheba and Sheba were one and the same city is manifest, both from ver. 6. where all the cities are reckoned to be but thirteen ; and from 1 Chron. 4. 28. where Simeon's cities are enumerated, and Sheba omitted as superfluous.

15. Beth-lehem :] Not that where Christ was born, which was in Judah, thence called Beth-lehem-Judah, but another.

Twelve cities with their villages.] There are more numbered here ; but the rest either were not cities properly so called, having villages 17 ¶ And the fourth lot came out to Issachar, for the children of Issachar, according to their families.

18 And their border was toward Jezreel, and Chesul-loth, and Shunem,

19 And Hapharaim, and Shihon, and Anaharath,

20 And Rabbith, and Kishion, and Abez,

21 And Remeth, and En-gannim, and En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez :

22 And the coast reacheth to Tabor, and Shahazimah, and Beth-shemesh ; and the out-goings of their border were at Jordan : sixteen cities with their villages.

23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar, according to their families, the cities and their villages.

24 ¶ And the fifth lot came out for the tribe of the children of Asher, according to their families.

25 And their border was Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achshaph,

26 And Alammelech, and Amad, and Misheal ; and reacheth to Carmel westward, and to Shihor-libnath,

27 And turneth toward the sun-rising to Beth-dagon, and reacheth to Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphthah-el, toward the north side of Beth-emek, and Neiel, and goeth out to Cabul on the left hand,

28 And Hebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, even unto great Zidon :

29 And then the coast turneth to Ramah, and to the strong city Tyre : and the coast turneth to Hosah ; and the out-goings thereof are at the sea, from the coast to Achzib :

30 Unmah also, and Aphek, and Rehob : twenty and two cities with their villages.

31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asher, according to their families, these cities with their villages.

32 ¶ The sixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali, even for the children of Naphtali, according to their families.

33 And their coast was from Heleph, from Allon to Zaanannim, and Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel, unto Lakum : and the out-goings thereof were at Jordan :

34 And then the coast turneth westward to Aznoth-tabor, and goeth out from thence to Hukkok, and reacheth to Zebulun on the south side, and reacheth to Asher on the west side, and to Judah upon Jordan toward the sun-rising :

35 And the fenced cities are Ziddim, Zer, and Ham-math, Rakkath, and Chinnereth,

36 And Adamah, and Ramah, and Hazor,

37 And Kedesh, and Edrei, and En-hazor,

38 And Iron, and Migdal-el, Horem, and Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh : nineteen cities with their villages.

39 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, according to their families, the cities and their villages.

40 ¶ And the seventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families.

41 And the coast of their inheritance was Zorah, and Eshtaol, and Ir-shemesh,

42 And Shaalabbin, and Ajalon, and Jethlah,

43 And Elon, and Thimnathah, and Ekron,

44 And Eltekeh, and Gibbethon, and Baalath,

45 And Jehud, and Bene-berak, and Gath-rimmon,

46 And Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border before Japho.

47 And the coast of the children of Dan went out too little for them : therefore the children of Dan went up to fight under their jurisdiction ; or were not within this tribe, but only bordering upon it, and belonging to other tribes, which is evident of some of them, and may well be presumed of others.

29. The strong city Tyre.] This was not the Tyre so famous afterwards, that city not being then built, but another not far from Sidon.

34. Judah upon Jordan toward the sun-rising.] It was not near Judah, there being several tribes between them. The meaning is, that this tribe had a communication with that of Judah, by means of the river Jordan.

47. The coast of the children of Dan went out too little for them.] The Hebrew runs thus: The coast of the children of Dan went out from them ; i. e. they were dispossessed of great part of it by the Amorites, who forced them to abandon the valley, and retire to the mountains, Judg. 1. 34.

fight against Leshem, and took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and possessed it, and dwelt therein, and called Leshem, Dan, after the name of Dan their father.

48 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families, these cities with their villages.

49 ¶ When they had made an end of dividing the land for inheritance by their coasts, the children of Israel gave an inheritance to Joshua the son of Nun among them.

50 According to the word of the LORD, they gave him the city which he asked, even Timnath-serah in mount Ephraim: and he built the city, and dwelt therein.

51 These are the inheritance which Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, divided for an inheritance by lot in Shiloh, before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; so they made an end of dividing the country.

C H A P. XX.

1 God commandeth,—7 and the children of Israel appoint, the six cities of refuge.

THE LORD also spake unto Joshua, saying,

2 Speak to the children of Israel, saying, Appoint out for you cities of refuge, whereof I spake unto you by the hand of Moses:

3 That the slayer that killeth any person unawares, and unwittingly, may flee thither: and they shall be your refuge from the avenger of blood.

4 And when he that doth flee unto one of those cities shall stand at the entering of the gate of the city, and shall declare his cause in the ears of the elders of that city; they shall take him into the city unto them, and give him a place, that he may dwell among them.

5 And if the avenger of blood pursue after him, then they shall not deliver the slayer up into his hand: because he smote his neighbour unwittingly, and hated him not before-time.

6 And he shall dwell in that city, until he stand before the congregation for judgment, and until the death of the high priest that shall be in those days: then shall the slayer return, and come unto his own city, and unto his own house, unto the city from whence he fled.

7 ¶ And they appointed Kedesh in Galilee in mount Naphtali, and Shechem in mount Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba (which is Hebron) in the mountain of Judah.

8 And on the other side Jordan, by Jericho eastward, they assigned Bezer in the wilderness upon the plain, out of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan out of the tribe of Manasseh.

9 These were the cities appointed for all the children of Israel, and for the stranger that sojourneth among them, that whosoever killeth any person at unawares might flee thither, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he stood before the congregation.

C H A P. XXI.

1 Eight and forty cities given by lot to the Levites.—43 God giveth the land to the Israelites.

THEN came near the heads of the fathers of the Levites unto Eleazar the priest, and unto Joshua

49. The children of Israel gave an inheritance, &c.] How conspicuous is the modesty of this great man! He was content to stay for his inheritance till all the land was divided, and to receive his portion as a gift from those he had before settled in the promised land.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. The Lord—spake unto Joshua.] From the tabernacle; at the door of which he, Eleazar, and the princes, had been making a division of the land.

2. Appoint out for you cities of refuge.] It was now a proper time for putting in execution this command of Moses, as they were now all met together to receive their respective portions of land.

7. Kedesh in Galilee, &c.] The three cities here mentioned were all the son of Nun, and unto the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel;

2 And they spake unto them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, saying, The LORD commanded, by the hand of Moses, to give us cities to dwell in, with the suburbs thereof for our cattle.

3 And the children of Israel gave unto the Levites, out of their inheritance, at the commandment of the LORD, these cities and their suburbs.

4 And the lot came out for the families of the Kohathites: and the children of Aaron the priest, which were of the Levites, had by lot out of the tribe of Judah, and out of the tribe of Simeon, and out of the tribe of Benjamin, thirteen cities.

5 And the rest of the children of Kohath had by lot, out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim, and out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, ten cities.

6 And the children of Gershon had by lot, out of the families of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.

7 The children of Merari, by their families, had out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

8 And the children of Israel gave by lot unto the Levites these cities with their suburbs, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

9 ¶ And they gave, out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, these cities which are here mentioned by name,

10 Which the children of Aaron, being of the families of the Kohathites, who were of the children of Levi, had: (for theirs was the first lot.)

11 And they gave them the city of Arba the father of Anak, (which city is Hebron,) in the hill-country of Judah, with the suburbs thereof round about it.

12 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof, gave they to Caleb the son of Jephunneh, for his possession.

13 ¶ Thus they gave to the children of Aaron the priest Hebron with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer; and Libnah with her suburbs,

14 And Jattir with her suburbs, and Eshtemoa with her suburbs,

15 And Holon with her suburbs, and Debir with her suburbs,

16 And Ain with her suburbs, and Juttah with her suburbs, and Beth-shemesh with her suburbs: nine cities out of those two tribes.

17 And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with her suburbs, Geba with her suburbs, 18 Anathoth with her suburbs, and Almon with her suburbs: four cities.

19 All the cities of the children of Aaron, the priests, were thirteen cities with their suburbs.

20 ¶ And the families of the children of Kohath, the Levites, which remained of the children of Kohath, even they had the cities of their lot out of the tribe of Ephraim.

21 For they gave them Shechem with her suburbs in mount Ephraim, to be a city of refuge for the slayer; and Gezer with her suburbs, 22 And Kibzaim with her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs: four cities.

23 And

situated on eminences, so that they might be seen at a great distance, and, being dispersed in several parts of the country, every one might enjoy the benefit of one or other of them; for Kedesh was in the north, Hebron in the south, and Shechem between both.

8. Bezer in the wilderness, &c.] The cities mentioned in this verse were assigned by Moses before he died, Deut. 4. 43. but had not their privileges till now.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 4. The lot came out for the families of the Kohathites.] After cities were appointed for the priests and Levites, they were divided by lot among the several families; and the first lot came out for the noblest family of the tribe of Levi; for Moses and Aaron were descended from Kohath.

26, 37. Out

23 And out of the tribe of Dan, Eltekeh with her suburbs, Gibbethon with her suburbs, 24 Aijalon with her suburbs, Gath-rimmon with her suburbs: four cities.

25 And out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Taanach with her suburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her suburbs: two cities.

26 All the cities were ten with their suburbs, for the families of the children of Kohath that remained.

27 ¶ And unto the children of Gershon, of the families of the Levites, out of the other half-tribe of Manasseh, they gave Golan in Bashan with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer; and Beesh-terah with her suburbs: two cities.

28 And out of the tribe of Issachar, Kishon with her suburbs, Dabareh with her suburbs, 29 Jarmuth with her suburbs, En-gannim with her suburbs: four cities.

30 And out of the tribe of Asher, Mishal with her suburbs, Abdon with her suburbs, 31 Helkath with her suburbs, and Rehob with her suburbs: four cities.

32 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer; and Hammoth-dor with her suburbs, and Kartan with her suburbs: three cities.

33 All the cities of the Gershonites, according to their families, were thirteen cities with their suburbs.

34 ¶ And unto the families of the children of Merari, the rest of the Levites, out of the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with her suburbs, and Kartah with her suburbs.

35 Dimnah with her suburbs, Nahalal with her suburbs: four cities.

36 And out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer with her suburbs, and Jahazah with her suburbs, 37 Kedemoth with her suburbs, and Mephaath with her suburbs: four cities.

38 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, to be a city of refuge for the slayer; and Mahanaim with her suburbs, 39 Heshbon with her suburbs, Jazer with her suburbs: four cities in all.

40 So all the cities for the children of Merari, by their families, which were remaining of the families of the Levites, were by their lot twelve cities.

41 All the cities of the Levites, within the possession of the children of Israel, were forty and eight cities with their suburbs.

42 These cities were every one with their suburbs round about them: thus were all these cities.

43 ¶ And the LORD gave unto Israel all the land which he swore to give unto their fathers: and they possessed it, and dwelt therein.

44 And the LORD gave them rest round about, according to all that he swore unto their fathers: and there stood not a man of all their enemies before them; the LORD delivered all their enemies into their hand.

45 There failed not ought of any good thing which the LORD had spoken unto the house of Israel: all came to pass.

C H A P. XXII.

1 The two tribes and a half sent home:—10 They build the altar of testimony in their journey:—11, 21 Disputes about it.

THEN Joshua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh,

2 And said unto them, Ye have kept all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you:

3 Ye have not left your brethren these many days unto this day, but have kept the charge of the commandment of the LORD your God.

4 And now the LORD your God hath given rest unto your brethren, as he promised them: therefore now return ye, and get you unto your tents, and unto the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave you on the other side Jordan.

5 But take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law, which Moses the servant of the LORD charged you, to love the LORD your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul.

6 So Joshua blessed them, and sent them away: and they went unto their tents.

7 ¶ Now to the one half of the tribe of Manasseh Moses had given possession in Bashan: but unto the other half thereof gave Joshua among their brethren on this side Jordan westward. And when Joshua sent them away also unto their tents, then he blessed them;

8 And he spake unto them, saying, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattle, with silver, and with gold, and with brass; and with iron, and with very much raiment: divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren.

9 ¶ And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, returned, and departed from the children of Israel out of Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go unto the country of Gilead, to the land of their possession, whereof they were possessed, according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

10 ¶ And when they came unto the borders of Jordan, that are in the land of Canaan, the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, built there an altar by Jordan, a great altar to see to.

11 ¶ And the children of Israel heard say, Behold, the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, have built an altar over against the land of Canaan, in the borders of Jordan, at the passage of the children of Israel.

12 And when the children of Israel heard of it, the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered themselves together at Shiloh, to go up to war against them.

13 And

[36, 37. Out of the tribe, &c.] These verses were originally omitted in the Masora; though, without them, neither the twelve cities of the Merarites in particular, nor the forty-eight Levitical cities in general, nor the six cities of refuge, can be made up. The Jews in their late editions have inserted these two verses; and it is probable they would in more places fill up the sense of some more texts out of the Septuagint, if that could be done without acknowledging the imperfection of the Masora.

43. The Lord gave unto Israel all the land which he swore to give unto their fathers;] He gave them a right to the whole country, which was accordingly divided among them by lot, and he put them into the actual possession of the greatest part of it. This was exactly conformable to his promise; for they, not being numerous enough to people the whole country at their first coming into it, he never intended to expel the old inhabitants at once, but by degrees, Exod. 23. 29.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXII.

Verse 1. Called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.] The war being ended, Joshua called the two tribes and a half, who had accompanied their brethren as auxiliaries from their possessions on the other side Jordan, and gave them an honourable dismissal.

4. Return—unto your tents.] He calls their houses tents, being a common word used for a long time in the wilderness, to signify their habitations.

8. Return with much riches, &c.] Take a friendly leave of your brethren; and, laden with the spoils you have gotten in Canaan, return to the land of your inheritance, and let those who stayed on the other side Jordan, to defend your wives, your children, and your cattle, share with you in the spoil you have taken.

Josephus, in the speech which he introduces Joshua making to the Reubenites, &c. at their parting, concludes thus:—"I pray you, let no distance of place set limits to our friendship. The interposition of rivers must never divide our affections; for, on which bank soever we reside, we are all Hebrews still. Abraham was the common father of us all, let our abode be where it will. It was from one and the same God that all our forefathers received their being; and that God we are all to worship, according to the ordinances and institutions left us by Moses. So long as we stand firm to that religion, we may be sure of the protection and favour of that God for our comfort: but, whenever you follow after strange gods, the God of your fathers will cut you off."

10. A great altar to see to;] A large and lofty altar, that might be seen at a great distance.

12. When the children of Israel heard of it, &c.] They considered it as intended for sacrifice, and consequently that they were going to abandon the true religion, which required them to worship the Lord alone, and in no other place than that which he himself had chosen.

13 And the children of Israel sent unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half-tribe of Manasseh, into the land of Gilead, Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest;

14 And with him ten princes, of each chief house a prince, throughout all the tribes of Israel; and each one was an head of the house of their fathers, among the thousands of Israel.

15 And they came unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half-tribe of Manasseh, unto the land of Gilead, and they spake with them, saying,

16 Thus saith the whole congregation of the LORD, What trespass is this that ye have committed against the God of Israel, to turn away this day from following the LORD, in that ye have builded you an altar, that ye might rebel this day against the LORD?

17 Is the iniquity of Peor too little for us, from which we are not cleansed until this day, (although there was a plague in the congregation of the LORD,)

18 But that ye must turn away this day from following the LORD? and it will be, seeing ye rebel to-day against the LORD, that to-morrow he will be wroth with the whole congregation of Israel.

19 Notwithstanding, if the land of your possession be unclean, then pass ye over unto the land of the possession of the LORD, wherein the LORD's tabernacle dwelleth, and take possession among us: but rebel not against the LORD, nor rebel against us, in building you an altar besides the altar of the LORD our God.

20 Did not Achan the son of Zerah commit a trespass in the accursed thing, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Israel? and that man perished not alone in his iniquity.

21 ¶ Then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, answered and said unto the heads of the thousands of Israel,

22 The LORD God of gods, the LORD God of gods, he knoweth, and Israel he shall know; if it be in rebellion, or if in transgression against the LORD, (save us not this day,)

23 That we have built us an altar to turn from following the LORD, or if to offer thereon burnt-offering, or meat-offering, or if to offer peace-offerings thereon, let the LORD himself require it;

24 And if we have not rather done it for fear of this thing, saying, In time to come your children might speak unto our children, saying, What have ye to do with the LORD God of Israel?

25 For the LORD hath made Jordan a border between us and you, ye children of Reuben, and children of Gad; ye have no part in the LORD: so shall your children make our children cease from fearing the LORD.

26 Therefore we said, Let us now prepare to build us an altar, not for burnt-offering, nor for sacrifice:

27 But that it may be a witness between us and you, and our generations after us, that we might do the service of the LORD before him with our burnt-offerings, and with our sacrifices, and with our peace-offerings; that your children may not say to our children in time to come, Ye have no part in the LORD.

28 Therefore said we, that it shall be, when they should so say to us, or to our generations in time to come, that we may say again, Behold the pattern of the altar of the LORD, which our fathers made, not for burnt-offerings, nor for sacrifices; but it is a witness between us and you.

29 God forbid that we should rebel against the LORD, and turn this day from following the LORD, to build an altar for burnt-offerings, for meat-offerings, or for sacrifices, besides the altar of the LORD our God, that is before his tabernacle.

30 ¶ And when Phinehas the priest, and the princes of the congregation, and heads of the thousands of Israel which were with him, heard the words that the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the children of Manasseh, spake, it pleased them.

31 And Phinehas, the son of Eleazar the priest, said unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of Manasseh, This day we perceive that the LORD is among us, because ye have not committed this trespass against the LORD: now ye have delivered the children of Israel out of the hand of the LORD.

32 ¶ And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, and the princes, returned from the children of Reuben, and from the children of Gad, out of the land of Gilead, unto the land of Canaan, to the children of Israel, and brought them word again.

33 And the thing pleased the children of Israel; and the children of Israel blessed God, and did not intend to go up against them in battle, to destroy the land wherein the children of Reuben and Gad dwelt.

34 And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, called the altar Ed: for it shall be a witness between us, that the LORD is God.

C H A P. XXIII.

Joshua's exhortation before his death.

AND it came to pass, a long time after that the LORD had given rest unto Israel from all their enemies round about, that Joshua waxed old, and stricken in age.

2 And Joshua called for all Israel, and for their elders, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers, and said unto them, I am old, and stricken in age.

3 And ye have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto all these nations, because of you: for the LORD your God is he that hath fought for you.

4 Behold, I have divided unto you by lot these nations that remain, to be an inheritance for your tribes, from Jordan, with all the nations that I have cut off, even unto the great sea westward.

5 And the LORD your God, he shall expel them from before

13. The children of Israel sent unto the children of Reuben, &c.] Their zeal did not transport them so far as to fall upon their brethren before they were convinced of the truth of their apostacy, and therefore they previously sent a deputation to know the reason for their building such an altar.

16. Thus saith the whole congregation, &c.] The representatives of the whole people of Israel, in whose name this embassy was sent.

17. Although there was a plague in the congregation of the Lord,] Which cut off 24,000, Numb. 25. 9.

19. If the land of your possession be unclean.] They imagined the Reubenites, &c. might think their land less holy for want of an altar, and such a token of the Divine presence as there was in the tabernacle; for an opinion universally prevailed among the ancients, that those countries wherein no place was set apart for the worship of God were unhallowed and unclean.

Then pass ye over unto the land of the possession of the Lord.] Out of zeal for God's service, they were desirous rather to give up some of their own possessions, than have their brethren fall from their religion.

22. The Lord God of gods, the Lord God of gods.] This repetition is intended to signify, that they owned no other God but him whom their forefathers worshipped, by what name soever he was called.

27. That we might do the service of the Lord before him;] Have the privilege to come and worship God at the tabernacle, and offer sacrifices.

31. This day we perceive that the Lord is among us, &c.] He was overjoyed when he found that the children of Reuben, &c. had not forsaken the God of their fathers.

34. The children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, called the altar Ed.] Instead of Ed, it should be thus rendered, called the altar, The altar of witness, &c. Several MSS. supply a word at the end of the verse answering to he, which makes the sense more emphatical, and should be thus translated, The Lord HE is God.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

Verse 2. Called for all Israel.] Joshua, finding the time of his death approaching, called a general assembly of the princes and magistrates, and as many of the common people as could be got together on this occasion, and, in a very tender and affectionate manner, exhorted them, in gratitude to the great Disposer of all things, to a faithful observance of his laws; promising them all the happiness they could wish, in case they obeyed the Lord, and denouncing the greatest evils, if they turned their backs to his precepts.

I am old, and stricken in age.] He insinuates to them, that this, in all probability, would be the last time he should be able to speak to them, in order to engage their attention more perfectly to what he was going to say. He was now in the hundred and tenth year of his age.

ANNO.

before you, and drive them from out of your sight; and ye shall possess their land, as the LORD your God hath promised unto you.

6 Be ye therefore very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, that ye turn not aside therefrom, to the right hand or to the left:

7 That ye come not among these nations, these that remain among you; neither make mention of the name of their gods, nor cause to swear by them, neither serve them, nor bow yourselves unto them:

8 But cleave unto the LORD your God, as ye have done unto this day.

9 For the LORD hath driven out from before you great nations and strong: but as for you, no man hath been able to stand before you unto this day.

10 One man of you shall chase a thousand: for the LORD your God, he it is that fighteth for you, as he hath promised you.

11 Take good heed therefore unto yourselves, that ye love the LORD your God.

12 Else, if ye do in any wise go back, and cleave unto the remnant of these nations, even these that remain among you, and shall make marriages with them, and go in unto them, and they to you;

13 Know for a certainty, that the LORD your God will no more drive out any of these nations from before you; but they shall be snares and traps unto you, and scourges in your sides, and thorns in your eyes, until ye perish from off this good land which the LORD your God hath given you.

14 And, behold, this day I am going the way of all the earth: and ye know in all your hearts, and in all your souls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the LORD your God spake concerning you: all are come to pass unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof.

15 Therefore it shall come to pass, that as all good things are come upon you, which the LORD your God promised you; so shall the LORD bring upon you all evil things, until he have destroyed you from off this good land which the LORD your God hath given you.

16 When ye have transgressed the covenant of the LORD your God, which he commanded you, and have gone and served other gods, and bowed yourselves to them; then shall the anger of the LORD be kindled against you, and ye shall perish quickly from off the good land which he hath given unto you.

C H A P. XXIV.

1 Joshua assembleth the tribes at Shechem.—2 A brief history of God's benefits from Terah.—29 Joshua's age, death, and burial.—32 Joseph's bones are buried.—33 Eleazar dieth.

AND Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel to Shechem, and called for the elders of Israel, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers; and they presented themselves before God.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIV.

Verse 1. And Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel, &c.] It is likely that Joshua, living longer than he expected when he made the foregoing speech to them, called the people together once more, to give some further advice before he died. The meaning of the words seems clearly to be, that, when the men of all the tribes were assembled in and around Shechem, to receive the last commands of their victorious leader, he called the chiefs of all the tribes to him upon Gerizim; where they presented themselves before the Lord, and offered sacrifices on that mountain, which had been before consecrated by the law, and the altar which Joshua himself had erected there between twenty and thirty years before.

To Shechem,] Or Sychem, (called in the New Testament Sychar.) It stood in the narrow valley between mount Gerizim on the south, and Ebal on the north, being built at the foot of the former, and is now called Naplosa.

2. On the other side of the flood.] It should be rendered, the river, as in the Septuagint, i. e. the river Euphrates.

In old time;] Long before they came from Ur of the Chaldees, Gen. 11. 31.

They served other gods.] It is agreed on all hands, that Terah was an idolater, and lived in the country where the worship of images is supposed to have had its origin; even Abraham himself is thought to have been bred up in the same way of worship.

2 ¶ And Joshua said unto all the people, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Your fathers dwelt on the other side of the flood in old time, even Terah, the father of Abraham, and the father of Nahor: and they served other gods.

3 And I took your father Abraham from the other side of the flood, and led him throughout all the land of Canaan, and multiplied his seed, and gave him Isaac.

4 And I gave unto Isaac, Jacob and Esau: and I gave unto Esau mount Seir to possess it; but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.

5 I sent Moses also and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt, according to that which I did among them: and afterward I brought you out.

6 And I brought your fathers out of Egypt: and ye came unto the sea; and the Egyptians pursued after your fathers with chariots and horsemen unto the Red sea.

7 And when they cried unto the Lord, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them; and your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt; and ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

8 And I brought you into the land of the Amorites, which dwelt on the other side Jordan; and they fought with you: and I gave them into your hand, that ye might possess their land: and I destroyed them from before you.

9 Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and warred against Israel, and sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you:

10 But I would not hearken unto Balaam; therefore he blessed you still: so I delivered you out of his hand.

11 And ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jericho: and the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites; and I delivered them into your hand.

12 And I sent the hornet before you, which drave them out from before you, even the two kings of the Amorites; but not with thy sword, nor with thy bow.

13 And I have given you a land for which ye did not labour, and cities which ye built not, and ye dwell in them; of the vineyards and olive-yards, which ye planted not, do ye eat.

14 ¶ Now, therefore, fear the LORD, and serve him in sincerity and in truth; and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt; and serve ye the LORD.

15 And if it seem evil unto you to serve the LORD, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served, that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD.

16 And the people answered and said, God forbid that we should forsake the LORD to serve other gods;

17 For the LORD our God, he it is that brought us up, and our fathers, out of the land of Egypt, from the house

3. I took your father Abraham from the other side of the flood:] From that idolatrous country where he was born and educated. This is mentioned as a singular obligation on the Israelites to adhere unto God, who singled out the father of their families, so many ages since, to be his worshipper.

Throughout all the land of Canaan:] That is, from Charran to Shechem, where the Israelites were now assembled; thence to Beth-el, and afterwards to the south of the land of Canaan.

4. Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.] They were forced to go down into Egypt, where they suffered a long and cruel bondage.

7. Your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt.] Their elders, to whom he now speaks, were all of them present, and saw with their own eyes this great and astonishing miracle.

9. Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and warred against Israel.] He did not actually draw out his forces to attack them, but he prepared them, with an intention to drive them from his coasts, if Balaam could have given him any hopes of success by cursing the people.

12. I sent the hornet before you.] See notes on Exod. 23. 27, 28. and Deut. 7. 10.

14. Therefore fear the Lord;] i. e. Worship and serve him.

15. If it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, &c.] He could not conceive that it was possible for them to turn atheists, and have no god at all; and he was unwilling to suppose they would prefer any god to him, who had not only so miraculously supported and defended them, but had now given them a land flowing with milk and honey.

house of bondage, and which did those great signs in our sight, and preserved us in all the way wherein we went, and among all the people through whom we passed :

18 And the LORD drave out from before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore will we also serve the LORD; for he is our God.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the LORD; for he is an holy God: he is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions nor your sins.

20 If ye forsake the LORD, and serve strange gods, then he will turn and do you hurt, and consume you, after that he hath done you good.

21 And the people said unto Joshua, Nay; but we will serve the LORD.

22 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye are witnesses against yourselves, that ye have chosen you the LORD, to serve him. And they said, We are witnesses.

23 Now therefore put away (said he) the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart unto the LORD God of Israel.

24 And the people said unto Joshua, The LORD our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.

25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute and an ordinance in Shechem.

26 ¶ And Joshua wrote these words in the book of the law of God, and took a great stone, and set it up there under an oak that was by the sanctuary of the LORD.

19. And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the Lord.] What can be more absurd than first to find Joshua exhorting the people to serve the Lord, and afterwards telling them, Ye cannot serve God? The improper insertion of one small letter in the Hebrew makes all this contradiction. The genuine reading gives this translation; Ye shall not cease, or cease not to serve the Lord; and then the reason is most forcible and conclusive—Cease not to serve the Lord; for he is an holy God, &c.

23. Now therefore put away—the strange gods which are among you.] This is a sufficient evidence that Joshua was divinely inspired; for he saw the secret affection they had to idols. There was no idol worshipped publicly; but he knew that they had gods which they worshipped secretly in their closets.

25. Joshua made a covenant with the people.] He renewed the solemn engagement they had before entered into in the time of Moses.

26. Set it up there under an oak that was by the sanctuary; i. e. Near to the place where the ark and tabernacle then were; for though they were forbidden to plant a grove of trees near unto the altar, Deut. 16. 21. as the Gentiles did, yet they might for a time set up an altar, or the ark, near a great tree which had been planted there before.

27 And Joshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us: for it hath heard all the words of the LORD which he spake unto us: it shall be therefore a witness unto you, lest ye deny your God.

28 So Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

29 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died, being an hundred and ten years old.

30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-serah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill of Gaash.

31 And Israel served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that overlived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the LORD, that he had done for Israel.

32 ¶ And the bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem, for an hundred pieces of silver: and it became the inheritance of the children of Joseph.

33 And Eleazar the son of Aaron died: and they buried him in a hill that pertained to Phinehas his son, which was given him in mount Ephraim.

30. And they buried him in—Timnath-serah;] Called, in Judg. 2. 9. Timnath-heres, because of the image of the sun engraven on his sepulchre, in memory of that famous day when the sun stood still till he had completed his victory, chap. 10.

32. The bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem.] This, perhaps, was one occasion for gathering this great assembly together, that they might the more solemnly deposit the bones of that eminent person in the portion of land which his father Jacob had given him, Gen. 48. 22. and which they thought more proper than the cave of Machpelah. It appears, that the bodies of the rest of the sons of Jacob, from whom the twelve tribes descended, were also brought into Canaan to be interred, as Josephus relates, and St. Stephen confirms, Acts 7. 16.

Joshua is generally supposed to be the author of this book; and it is expressly said, in the 26th verse of this chapter, that he wrote these words. It is indeed evident, that he did not write the five last verses, which were added by some sacred penman, probably Samuel; but it is no objection against his writing the rest of the book, which has been imputed to him by the united suffrages of all antiquity.

REFLECTIONS ON THE BOOK OF JOSHUA.

THE most remarkable circumstance recorded in the Book of Joshua is the conquest of the seven nations of Canaan, and the command given by the Lord, Deut. 20. 16, 17. and in other places, to destroy them utterly; which has been looked upon, by the enemies of revelation, as a barbarous and unjust edict, unworthy of the Divine Being. But let candour and good sense go hand in hand, whilst we make a few remarks upon this subject.

1. Though it be granted that the seven nations were to be destroyed, as to form of government and power, as nations, it does not follow, that every man, woman, and child, were to be put to death among them; and to prove that the ordinance, though expressed in such strong terms, was not literally understood, or literally inflicted, we may recollect, that many of these people inhabited the land in Solomon's days, and long after, as appears from 1 Kings 9. 20, 21. and that this monarch only laid a tribute of bond-service upon them, which he could not have done, had he understood that he was literally to put every individual to death. We cannot but remember the case of Uriah the Hittite, which was one of the devoted nations, and yet we know how severely his murder was avenged upon David.

2. The division of the Promised Land shewed a wise and careful provision for the constant and uninterrupted distinction of tribes, families, and genealogies, in this favourite nation; from thence to preserve and clearly ascertain the genealogy of Christ, who was their and our great Messiah, "the end of the law for righteousness," in whom was to be completed all the purposes of this dispensation. It is evident, from the numberless particulars of the partition of the country of Canaan, that this history was written at or very near the time of the transactions mentioned therein, as oral tradition could never have been sufficient for such exactness.

3. Again, we find the Israelites were forbid to make intermarriages with them, Deut. 7. 3. which had surely been a needless prohibition, if all were to be destroyed.

4. Besides, as the reason given for their destruction was, "They will turn away thy son from following me, that they may serve other gods," Deut. 7. 4. if these people forsook their idolatry, and became converts to the true religion, they would then be no longer under the sentence, but become penitents, and worthy of forgiveness; whereas, if they continued obstinate, they were to be destroyed as nations, lest their power or example should introduce idolatry among the people of God. Many instances there are of those who were not destroyed, but served under tribute; and Joshua actually made a peace with the Hivites upon their own conditions, Josh. 9. 11, 15. So that, from what has been observed, and many more circumstances, which an attentive reader may collect, it appears evident, that those who ignorantly object to the dispensation of Providence, in regard to the driving out of the idolatrous nations from Canaan, either do not, or will not, examine the true state of the case, which was very far from being unjust or cruel to any individual whatever: and it evidently appears, that however strong and severe the command appears in the nervous language of scripture, those who were used to the style of speech interpreted it as it was meant to be understood.

Lastly, the farewell speeches of Joshua to the Israelites (like those of Moses) give us an idea of a truly great and good man, a religious and wise governor, whose whole aim was the glory of God, and the happiness of the community over which he presided. Such an example is, indeed, worthy the study and imitation of all princes upon earth.

THE BOOK OF J U D G E S.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Author of this Book is not certainly known; whether it was Samuel, or Ezra, or some other prophet: nor is it material to know. It matters not who was the king's secretary, or with what pen it was written, if it be once known that it was the king who made the order or decree. It is sufficient, that unto the Jews were committed the Oracles of God, Rom. 3. 2. i. e. the Holy Scriptures of the Old Testament, one part of which this was, by confession of all; and the Jews did not falsify their trust therein, but kept those holy books themselves, and delivered them to the world entire, without addition or diminution: for neither Christ nor his Apostles, who severely rebuke them for their mistakes and misunderstandings of some passages of Scripture, ever charge them with any perfidiousness about the Canon or Book of Scripture. This Book is called the Book of Judges, because it treats of the Judges, or of the state of the Commonwealth of Israel under all the Judges, except Eli and Samuel, who being the last of the Judges, and the occasions or instruments of the change of this government, are omitted in this Book. The Judges were a sort of magistrates inferior to kings, and could neither make new laws, nor impose any tributes, but were the supreme executors of God's laws and commands, and the generals of their armies.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The acts of Judah and Simeon.—6 Adoni-bezek justly requited.—8 Jerusalem taken.—10 Hebron taken.—17 Hormah, Gaza, Askelon, and Ekron taken.—21 The acts of Benjamin.—22 Of the house of Joseph.—27 Of Manasseh.—30 Of Zebulun.—31 Of Asher.—33 Of Naphtali.—34 Of Dan.

NOW, after the death of Joshua, it came to pass, that the children of Israel asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites first, to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, Judah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites; and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. So Simeon went with him.

4 And Judah went up: and the LORD delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand; and they slew of them in Bezek ten thousand men.

5 And they found Adoni-bezek in Bezek: and they fought against him, and they slew the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

6 But Adoni-bezek fled; and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes.

7 And Adoni-bezek said, Threescore and ten kings, having their thumbs and their great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table: as I have done, so God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jerusalem, and there he died.

8 (Now the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.)

9 ¶ And afterward the children of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites that dwelt in the mountain, and in the south, and in the valley.

10 And Judah went against the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron, (now the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba,) and they slew Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.

11 And from thence he went against the inhabitants of Debir; and the name of Debir before was Kirjath-sepher:

12 And Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

13 And Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, took it: and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to pass, when she came to him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field: and she lighted from off her ass; and Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou?

15 And she said unto him, Give me a blessing; for thou hast given me a south land; give me also springs of water. And Caleb gave her the upper springs and the nether springs.

16 ¶ And the children of the Kenite, Moses' father-in-law, went up out of the city of palm-trees, with the children of Judah, into the wilderness of Judah, which lieth in the south of Arad; and they went and dwelt among the people.

17 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. Now, after the death of Joshua.] As we read of no person being appointed by Joshua to succeed him in the government, it is probable every tribe was ruled by their own elders, who were their commanders in the war they made with the Canaanites; which government lasted about thirty years.

2. Judah shall go up;] i. e. He shall attack the mountainous country, which was in the lot of his inheritance; according to the prophecy of Jacob, who, after comparing Judah to a lion's whelp, adds, From the prey, my son, thou art gone up, Gen. 49. 9.

4. Bezek.] This city is supposed to have been near Beth-lehem.

5. They found Adoni-bezek in Bezek.] He was king or lord of that place, as his name imports.

6. Cut off his thumbs and his great toes.] That he might be rendered incapable of making war for the future; being unable to handle arms from the loss of his thumbs, and to run swiftly from that of his toes.

No. 18.

In those days, to run swiftly was reckoned a notable quality in a great warrior.

7. As I have done, so God hath requited me.] He acknowledges the justice of his punishment, having inflicted the same on seventy little kings or princes, whom he compelled to gather their meat, like dogs, under his table.

10. Went against the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron.] This shews that the old inhabitants we returned to this place, after it had been taken by Joshua, Josh. 10. 36.

Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.] These were the three sons of Anak, whom Caleb is said, Josh. 15. 14. to have driven from Hebron. But we hence learn, that he did not conquer them till after the death of Joshua.

11. From thence he went against the inhabitants of Debir.] Another city, that had been before taken by Joshua in the beginning of the war; but while his army was employed at a distance, in reducing the other parts of the country, the Canaanites returned, and again took possession of the city.

3 F

19. But

17 And Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they slew the Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly destroyed it: and the name of the city was called Hormah:

18 Also Judah took Gaza with the coast thereof, and Askelon with the coast thereof, and Ekron with the coast thereof.

19 And the LORD was with Judah; and he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain, but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had chariots of iron.

20 And they gave Hebron unto Caleb, as Moses said: and he expelled thence the three sons of Anak.

21 And the children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem; but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem unto this day.

22 ¶ And the house of Joseph, they also went up against Beth-el: and the LORD was with them.

23 And the house of Joseph sent to descry Beth-el: (now the name of the city before was Luz.)

24 And the spies saw a man come forth out of the city, and they said unto him, Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city, and we will shew thee mercy.

25 And when he shewed them the entrance into the city, they smote the city with the edge of the sword; but they let go the man and all his family.

26 And the man went into the land of the Hittites, and built a city; and called the name thereof Luz: which is the name thereof unto this day.

27 ¶ Neither did Manasseh drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shean and her towns, nor Taanach and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns: but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

28 And it came to pass, when Israel was strong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute, and did not utterly drive them out.

29 ¶ Neither did Ephraim drive out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer; but the Canaanites dwelt in Gezer among them.

30 ¶ Neither did Zebulun drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol; but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

31 ¶ Neither did Asher drive out the inhabitants of Accho, nor the inhabitants of Zidon, nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob:

32 But the Asherites dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: for they did not drive them out.

33 ¶ Neither did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath: but he dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: nevertheless, the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and of Beth-anath became tributaries unto them.

19. But could not drive out, &c.] Because of their unbelief, whereby they doubted and distrusted God's power to destroy those who had chariots of iron, and so gave way to their own fear and sloth, whereby God was provoked to withdraw his helping hand from them, and so they were really made as impotent as they were unwilling.

24. Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city:] Shew us the weakest part of the city, where it may be attacked with the greatest advantage. They had no reason to enquire the way to the gate, that being easy enough to be found.

26. The man went into the land of the Hittites,] Probably a colony of that people, settled in Syria or Arabia.

Called the name thereof Luz.] Bochart thinks this place had its name from the great plenty of almonds growing there.

36. The coast of the Amorites, &c.] Hence we see, that the Israelites suffered a great number of the old inhabitants to continue in Canaan; and it is remarkable, that some of them remained there after our Saviour's time; for we find mention of the Gergesenes, Matt. 8. 28.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 1. An angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal.] The Jews are generally of opinion, that by this angel we are to understand a prophet, who was sent by God as a messenger, which the word imports. But certainly the person that here reproves the Israelites was something more than a created angel; for who but God can speak in this style, I made you to go up out of Egypt? No prophet, nor any created angel, would have ventured to have used so bold an expression; and therefore Christian interpreters have sufficient reason to conclude that it was the 34 ¶ And the Amorites forced the children of Dan into the mountain: for they would not suffer them to come down to the valley.

35 But the Amorites would dwell in mount Heres in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim: yet the hand of the house of Joseph prevailed, so that they became tributaries.

36 And the coast of the Amorites was from the going up to Akrabbim, from the rock, and upward.

C H A P. II.

1 An angel rebuketh the people at Bochim.—10 The wickedness of the new generation after Joshua.

AND an angel of the LORD came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said, I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you into the land which I swear unto your fathers; and I said, I will never break my covenant with you.

2 And ye shall make no league with the inhabitants of this land; ye shall throw down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice; why have ye done this?

3 Wherefore I also said, I will not drive them out from before you: but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you.

4 And it came to pass, when the angel of the LORD spake these words unto all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up their voice, and wept.

5 And they called the name of that place Bochim: and they sacrificed there unto the LORD.

6 ¶ And when Joshua had let the people go, the children of Israel went every man unto his inheritance to possess the land.

7 And the people served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great works of the LORD that he did for Israel.

8 And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died, being an hundred and ten years old.

9 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-heres, in the mount of Ephraim, on the north side of the hill Gaash.

10 ¶ And also all that generation were gathered unto their fathers: and there arose another generation after them, which knew not the LORD, nor yet the works which he had done for Israel.

11 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim:

12 And they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods, of the gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed themselves unto them, and provoked the LORD to anger.

13 And they forsook the LORD, and served Baal and Ashtaroth.

14 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he delivered them into the hands of spoilers, that Son of God, who is frequently styled in scripture, The angel of the covenant.

5. And they called the name of that place Bochim:] That is, weepers, because of the doleful lamentation the people then made; some, probably, from reflecting on their sins, and others from the dangers that threatened them.

6. And when Joshua had let the people go:] When he had distributed their inheritances, and dismissed them severally to take possession of them. This was done before this time, whilst Joshua lived; but is now repeated, in order to point out the time and cause of the people's defection from God, and of God's desertion of them.

9. Timnath-heres,] Called Timnath-serah. See Josh. 24. 30.

10. There arose another generation—which knew not the Lord:] Which had no experimental, nor serious and affectionate knowledge of God, nor of his works.

11. Served Baalim:] The gods of the nations, whose lands they possessed, and who were called by this general name, which signifies lords; for it must be remembered, that the heathens worshipped a multiplicity of gods. Their gods were great men deified. Baal (in Chaldee, Bel) the king of Babel, next after Nimrod, was the first that was deified and reputed a god after his death: thence they called all other daemons by the name of Baalim; which being the general name of the gods of Syria, Palestine, &c. there were as many Baals as there were nations. There was a Baal of the Amorites, Moabites, Ammonites, &c.

13. Served Baal and Ashtaroth:] i. e. The sun and moon, whom many heathens worshipped, though under divers names. Some by Ashtaroth understand Venus, which they supposed to have been worshipped in Canaan.

that spoiled them, and he sold them into the hands of their enemies round about, so that they could not any longer stand before their enemies.

15 Whithersoever they went out, the hand of the LORD was against them for evil, as the LORD had said, and as the LORD had sworn unto them: and they were greatly distressed.

16 ¶ Nevertheless, the LORD raised up judges, which delivered them out of the hand of those that spoiled them.

17 And yet they would not hearken unto their judges, but they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed themselves unto them: they turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, obeying the commandments of the LORD; but they did not so.

18 And when the LORD raised them up judges, then the LORD was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge: (for it repented the LORD because of their groanings, by reason of them that oppressed them, and vexed them.)

19 And it came to pass, when the judge was dead, that they returned, and corrupted themselves more than their fathers, in following other gods, to serve them, and to bow down unto them; they ceased not from their own doings, nor from their stubborn way.

20 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel: and he said, Because that this people hath transgressed my covenant which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkened unto my voice;

21 I also will not henceforth drive out any from before them, of the nations which Joshua left when he died:

22 That through them I may prove Israel, whether they will keep the way of the LORD, to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not.

23 Therefore the LORD left those nations, without driving them out hastily, neither delivered he them into the hand of Joshua.

CHAP. III.

1 The nations which were left to prove Israel.—5 By communion with them they commit idolatry.

NOW these are the nations which the LORD left to prove Israel by them; (even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan;

2 Only that the generations of the children of Israel might know, to teach them war, at the least such as before knew nothing thereof;)

3 Namely, five lords of the Philistines, and all the Canaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hivites that dwelt in mount Lebanon, from mount Baal-hermon unto the entering in of Hamath.

14. He sold them; i. e. He delivered them up to their enemies, who carried away their persons, and sold them for slaves. This was a just punishment upon this perverse people. God had long since declared, that if they served the gods of the people that were round about them, they should be slaves to those nations whose gods they worshipped.

16. Raised up judges, &c. Extraordinary rulers and governors, who led their armies to battle against their enemies, and delivered them out of the hands of those that spoiled them.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. These are the nations which the Lord left to prove Israel. These were left unsubdued, to prove whether the Israelites would continue to worship the true God, who had done such amazing things for their fathers; or revolt from him, and serve other gods, which neither they nor their fathers knew.

Even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan. Such as were born since the war was ended, and therefore had seen none of the wonderful works of God in the conquest of the land.

2. That the generations, &c. Another reason why some of the ancient inhabitants were suffered to remain; for this kept the Israelites from growing sluggish and careless, having powerful enemies surrounding them, to awaken and exercise their courage, and to keep up martial discipline among them; and that they might, at the same time, be induced to have frequent recourse to God for his assistance, by whose power alone their fathers had subdued them.

6. They took their daughters, &c. Which was a direct violation of the law of God, Deut. 7. 3, 4.

7. Forgot the Lord their God. They grew in time so very wicked, that they not only worshipped other gods together with the Lord, but entirely forgot him, and worshipped them alone.

Served Baalim and the groves. By groves we are to understand the images of their deities placed in the groves. Mr. Pilkington thinks it

4 And they were to prove Israel by them, to know whether they would hearken unto the commandments of the LORD, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

5 ¶ And the children of Israel dwelt among the Canaanites, Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Hivites, and Jebusites;

6 And they took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons, and served their gods.

7 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and forgot the LORD their God, and served Baalim and the groves.

8 Therefore the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Chushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia; and the children of Israel served Chushan-rishathaim eight years.

9 And when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, the LORD raised up a deliverer unto the children of Israel, who delivered them, even Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother.

10 And the Spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war; and the LORD delivered Chushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia into his hand; and his hand prevailed against Chushan-rishathaim.

11 And the land had rest forty years: and Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

12 ¶ And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD: and the LORD strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, because they had done evil in the sight of the LORD.

13 And he gathered unto him the children of Ammon and Amalek, and went and smote Israel, and possessed the city of palm-trees.

14 So the children of Israel served Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.

15 But when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, the LORD raised them up a deliverer, Ehud the son of Gera, a Benjamite, a man left-handed: and by him the children of Israel sent a present unto Eglon the king of Moab.

16 But Ehud made him a dagger (which had two edges) of a cubit length; and he did gird it under his raiment, upon his right thigh.

17 And he brought the present unto Eglon king of Moab: and Eglon was a very fat man.

18 And when he had made an end to offer the present, he sent away the people that bare the present.

19 But he himself turned again from the quarries that were by Gilgal, and said, I have a secret errand unto thee, O king: who said, Keep silence. And all that stood by him went out from him.

20 And should be rendered, instead of groves, They served Baalim and Ashtaroth; Baalim being a general name for idols of the male kind, and Ashtaroth for those of the female.

8. King of Mesopotamia. This country lay between the river Euphrates and the Tigris.

9. The children of Israel cried unto the Lord. They forsook their idolatrous worship, and returned to the Lord their God, earnestly begging pardon for their transgressions, and imploring his assistance.

10. The Spirit of the Lord came upon him. He had an extraordinary motion from God to take upon him the government of the people; which otherwise he durst not have undertaken.

12. The Lord strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, &c. The next enemy who oppressed the children of Israel were the Moabites; for, since they worshipped the gods of the people round about them, it was fit they should be punished by those very people.

13. Possessed the city of palm-trees; i. e. Jericho, for though Joshua had destroyed the town, yet, it is probable, fortifications were erected on the spot where it stood, that they might the better keep that fertile country in subjection.

15. A man left-hand. The word that answers this expression in the Septuagint signifies, A man who used both his hands as right hands.

16. A dagger—of a cubit length. Long enough for his design, and not too long for carriage and concealment.

Upon his right thigh. Which was most convenient, both for the use of his left hand, and for avoiding of suspicion.

19. The quarries that were by Gilgal. The Septuagint and Vulgate render it graven images, which is indeed the meaning of the Hebrew word in several places of scripture. Perhaps the Moabites might erect their idols here rather than in any other place, because it had been famous for the presence of God; and probably it was this affront, offered by the Moabites to Jehovah, that inspired Ehud with the resolution of revenging it, and delivering his people from oppression.

20. Ehud

20 And Ehud came unto him; and he was sitting in a summer-parlour, which he had for himself alone; and Ehud said, I have a message from God unto thee. And he arose out of his seat.

21 And Ehud put forth his left hand, and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly.

22 And the haft also went in after the blade: and the fat closed upon the blade, so that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly; and the dirt came out.

23 Then Ehud went forth through the porch, and shut the doors of the parlour upon him, and locked them.

24 When he was gone out, his servants came; and when they saw that, behold, the doors of the parlour were locked, they said, Surely he covereth his feet in his summer-chamber.

25 And they tarried till they were ashamed; and, behold, he opened not the doors of the parlour, therefore they took a key, and opened them: and, behold, their lord was fallen down dead on the earth.

26 And Ehud escaped while they tarried, and passed beyond the quarries, and escaped unto Seirath.

27 And it came to pass, when he was come, that he blew a trumpet in the mountain of Ephraim, and the children of Israel went down with him from the mount, and he before them.

28 And he said unto them, Follow after me: for the LORD hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand: and they went down after him, and took the fords of Jordan toward Moab, and suffered not a man to pass over.

29 ¶ And they slew of Moab at that time about ten thousand men, all lusty, and all men of valour; and there escaped not a man.

30 So Moab was subdued that day under the hand of Israel. And the land had rest fourscore years.

31 ¶ And after him was Shamgar the son of Anath, which slew of the Philistines six hundred men with an ox-goad; and he also delivered Israel.

C H A P. IV.

4 Deborah and Barak deliver Israel from Jabin and Sisera.—
21 Jael killeth Sisera.

AND the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the LORD, when Ehud was dead.

2 And the LORD sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor; the captain of whose host was Sisera, which dwelt in Harosheth of the Gentiles.

3 And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD; for Ehud said, &c.] He rose from his seat in reverence to God, whose words he supposed he was going to hear.

22. And the dirt came out:] Not at the wound, which was closed, but in the same manner as is common for persons who die a violent death; besides, there were, no doubt, violent convulsions raised in his bowels by this sudden stroke. But the Syriac and Arabic versions render it, And he went out hastily. It is not probable that Ehud would have staid so long as to have seen, or that the historian would have recorded, such a circumstance as the dung's coming out of the wound.

23. Ehud went forth through the porch:] He escaped down the privy stairs.

24. Surely he covereth his feet.] The most probable sense of this passage is, that he had retired to sleep, as was usual in those hot countries, 1 Sam. 24. 3.

28. The Lord hath delivered your enemies, &c.] He was assured that God, who had assisted him to perform his enterprise, whereby the Moabites were deprived of their chief, would accomplish what he had begun, and give them a perfect deliverance.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 2. Jabin king of Canaan.] Jabin was probably a general name for all the kings of this country, like that of Pharaoh among the Egyptians; for the king of Hazor, whom Joshua slew, was called by the same name, Josh. 11.

3. Israel cried unto the Lord, &c.] His power was so great, that the Israelites had no hopes of recovering their liberty, but by the help of the Lord.

He mightily oppressed the children of Israel.] Their frequent revolts from God had increased his anger, and therefore he punished them the more severely. The Canaanites were the old inhabitants of the land, and hated the Israelites for the injury they had done their ancestors; and therefore exercised the most cruel oppressions on them.

he had nine hundred chariots of iron: and twenty years, he mightily oppressed the children of Israel.

4 ¶ And Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, she judged Israel at that time.

5 And she dwelt under the palm-tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Beth-el in mount Ephraim: and the children of Israel came up to her for judgment.

6 And she sent and called Barak the son of Abinoam, out of Kedesh-naphtali, and said unto him, Hath not the LORD God of Israel commanded, saying, Go, and draw toward mount Tabor, and take with thee ten thousand men, of the children of Naphtali, and of the children of Zebulun.

7 And I will draw unto thee, to the river Kishon, Sisera the captain of Jabin's army, with his chariots, and his multitude; and I will deliver him into thine hand.

8 And Barak said unto her, If thou wilt go with me, then I will go: but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go.

9 And she said, I will surely go with thee: notwithstanding, the journey that thou takest shall not be for thine honour; for the LORD shall sell Sisera into the hand of a woman. And Deborah arose, and went with Barak to Kedesh.

10 ¶ And Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh; and he went up, with ten thousand men at his feet: and Deborah went up with him.

11 Now Heber the Kenite, which was of the children of Hobab, the father-in-law of Moses, had severed himself from the Kenites, and pitched his tent unto the plain of Zaanaïm, which is by Kedesh.

12 And they shewed Sisera, that Barak the son of Abinoam was gone up to mount Tabor.

13 And Sisera gathered together all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people that were with him, from Harosheth of the Gentiles unto the river of Kishon.

14 And Deborah said unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the LORD hath delivered Sisera into thine hand: is not the LORD gone out before thee? So Barak went down from mount Tabor, and ten thousand men after him.

15 And the LORD discomfited Sisera, and all his chariots, and all his host, with the edge of the sword, before Barak; so that Sisera lighted down off his chariot, and fled away on his feet.

16 But Barak pursued after the chariots, and after the host, unto Harosheth of the Gentiles: and all the host of Sisera fell upon the edge of the sword; and there was not a man left.

4. Deborah, a prophetess] The words prophet and prophetess, in the Old Testament, sometimes denote persons endowed with special, though not miraculous gifts or graces, for the better understanding and explaining the word of God; and of this sort were the sons of the prophets, or such as were brought up in the schools of the prophets. As, therefore, we read of no miraculous action that Deborah did, she was, perhaps, only a woman of eminent holiness, prudence, and knowledge of the holy scriptures, by which she was singularly qualified to judge the people; that is, to determine causes and controversies among them, according to the word of God.

5. She dwelt under the palm-tree of Deborah.] The Septuagint understands it, she sat under the palm-tree, when she administered judgment, and thence the tree was called by her name.

6. Go, and draw toward mount Tabor.] This is a very remarkable mountain in Galilee, near Kadesh, in the tribe of Zebulun, and in the confines of Issachar and Naphtali. It stands in the middle of the valley of Jezreel. Josephus tells us, that the height of this mountain is thirty stadia, or furlongs; and that on the top of it there is a beautiful plain of twenty stadia in circumference. Whence it appears how commodious a place this mountain was to be the rendezvous of Barak's forces, since it stood upon the confines of so many tribes, was inaccessible to the enemy's horses and chariots, and had on the top of it a spacious plain, where he might completely marshal and discipline his army.

7. River Kishon.] This river had its source in mount Tabor, and passing along the valley of Jezreel, now called the plain of Esdraelon, empties itself into the Mediterranean sea.

9. Not be for thine honour, &c.] It is a great part of the glory of a conqueror to take the general of the enemy's army, or to kill him with his own hand; which she tells him should be denied him, as a small punishment of his backwardness to do what he was desired: and as he would not go without a woman, so a woman (Jael) should take away this honour from him.

17. Sisera

17 Howbeit, Sisera fled away on his feet to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite: for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor, and the house of Heber the Kenite.

18 ¶ And Jael went out to meet Sisera, and said unto him, Turn in, my lord, turn in to me; fear not: and when he had turned in unto her, into the tent, she covered him with a mantle.

19 And he said unto her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water to drink, for I am thirsty: and she opened a bottle of milk, and gave him drink, and covered him.

20 Again he said unto her, Stand in the door of the tent; and it shall be, when any man doth come and enquire of thee, and say, Is there any man here? that thou shalt say, No.

21 Then Jael, Heber's wife, took a nail of the tent, and took an hammer in her hand, and went softly unto him, and smote the nail into his temples, and fastened it into the ground; (for he was fast asleep, and weary;) so he died.

22 And, behold, as Barak pursued Sisera, Jael came out to meet him, and said unto him, Come, and I will shew thee the man whom thou seekest. And when he came into her tent, behold, Sisera lay dead, and the nail was in his temples.

23 So God subdued on that day Jabin the king of Canaan before the children of Israel.

24 And the hand of the children of Israel prospered, and prevailed against Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had destroyed Jabin king of Canaan.

C H A P. V.

The song of Deborah and Barak.

THEN sang Deborah, and Barak the son of Abinoam, on that day, saying,

2 Praise ye the LORD for the avenging of Israel, when the people willingly offered themselves.

3 Hear, O ye kings; give ear, O ye princes; I, even I, will sing unto the LORD; I will sing praise to the LORD God of Israel.

4 LORD, when thou wentest out of Seir, when thou marchedst out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, the clouds also dropped water.

17. Sisera fled—to the tent of Jael.] For women had their tents apart from their husbands, Gen. 24. 67. and 31. 33. and here he thought to lurk more securely than in her husband's tent.

For there was peace, &c.] Not a league or covenant of friendship, which they were forbidden to make with that cursed people, but only a cessation of hostilities, which he afforded them because they were a peaceable people, abhorring war, and wholly minding pasturage.

18. Fear not.] This was a promise of security, and therefore she cannot be excused from dissimulation and treachery in the manner, though the substance of her act was lawful and worthy.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. Then sang Deborah and Barak.] It must not be supposed that they performed it alone, but with all the elders of Israel, who were called together to sing it with them.

2. Praise ye the Lord, &c.] The expressions of this song are so lofty and natural, that none of the Greek and Latin poets have equalled them. Deborah begins her song with ascribing the victory to God, acknowledging his wisdom and power in taking vengeance on their oppressors.

4. Seir.—Edom.] Seir and Edom are the same place; and these two expressions note the same thing, even God's marching at the head of his people, from Seir or Edom, towards the land of Canaan.

The earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, &c.] These poetical expressions denote the general consternation of all those countries, when they saw Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og the king of Bashan, suddenly overthrown, and their kingdoms taken by the Israelites.

5. The mountains melted.] i. e. All the inhabitants of those mountains.

6. In the days of Jael—the highways were unoccupied.] Travellers were obliged to seek for by-paths, the highways being rendered unsafe by robbers.

7. Villages ceased.] The fled to fortified towns, and other strong holds.

I arose a mother in Israel.] As men who govern well are styled fathers of their country, so it was proper for her to call herself a mother in Israel.

8. They chose new gods.] i. e. The Israelites served Baalim and Ash-taroth; which was the fountain of all their calamities.

10. Ye that ride on wild asses.] There were no horses in Judea but what was purchased in other countries, so that every one rode on asses; but those of a whitish colour, being highly esteemed, were used only by honourable persons.

Ye that—walk by the way.] i. e. You that now can safely travel about your business in those highways, which before you durst neither ride nor walk in. So great and mean persons are jointly excited to praise God.

No. 18.

5 The mountains melted from before the LORD, even that Sinai from before the LORD God of Israel.

6 In the days of Shamgar, the son of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were unoccupied, and the travellers walked through by-ways.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceased, they ceased in Israel, until that I Deborah arose, that I arose a mother in Israel.

8 They chose new gods; then was war in the gates: was their a shield or spear seen among forty thousand in Israel?

9 My heart is toward the governors of Israel, that offered themselves willingly among the people. Bless ye the LORD.

10 Speak, ye that ride on white asses, ye that sit in judgment, and walk by the way.

11 They that are delivered from the noise of archers in the places of drawing water; there shall they rehearse the righteous acts of the LORD, even the righteous acts toward the inhabitants of his villages in Israel: then shall the people of the LORD go down to the gates.

12 Awake, awake, Deborah; awake, awake, utter a song: arise, Barak, and lead thy captivity captive, thou son of Abinoam.

13 Then he made him that remaineth have dominion over the nobles among the people: the LORD made me have dominion over the mighty.

14 Out of Ephraim was there a root of them against Amalek; after thee, Benjamin, among thy people: out of Machir came down governors, and out of Zebulun they that handle the pen of the writer.

15 And the princes of Issachar were with Deborah: even Issachar, and also Barak: he was sent on foot into the valley: for the divisions of Reuben there were great thoughts of heart.

16 Why abodest thou among the sheep-folds, to hear the bleatings of the flocks? for the divisions of Reuben there were great searchings of heart.

17 Gilead abode beyond Jordan: and why did Dan remain in ships? Asher continued on the sea-shore, and abode in his breaches.

18 Zebulun and Naphtali were a people that jeopardised their lives unto the death, in the high places of the field.

19 The

11. From the noise of archers, &c.] She calls upon the shepherds also to join in the praises of Jehovah every time they came to water their flocks at the wells; where, before this deliverance, the archers who lurked in the adjacent woods shot their arrows at them.

Down to the gates.] Every man might now safely go down to the gate of his own city, where judgment was administered.

13. Have dominion.] The small remnant of Israel, who were now utterly dispirited by the oppression of Jabin, triumphed with Barak over the nobles of Canaan.

14. Out of Ephraim there was a root of them against Amalek.] The Amalekites were coming to join the army of Sisera, but were opposed in their passage by a small body of Ephraimites, here called a root. After thee, Benjamin, among thy people: Following the example of the tribe of Ephraim, who seem all to have followed Barak. Out of Machir: An eminent family in Manasseh, settled on the other side Jordan, which rendered their zeal the more remarkable. Came down governors: Some of the principal persons of the country. Out of Zebulun they that handle the pen of the writer: Men of letters, who studied and expounded the law; but on this occasion joined the army under Barak.

15. Even Issachar.] The people of that tribe followed the example of their princes, and were as forward as Barak to march against the enemy; for the Hebrew word which we translate also, signifies as, or like unto.

He was sent on foot into the valley.] He was sent down from mount Tabor, by order of Deborah, to fall upon Sisera in the valley.

For the divisions of Reuben, &c.] The Reubenites were so divided in their counsels, that none of them came to the assistance of their brethren, which occasioned great uneasiness in the Israelitish army.

16. Among the sheep-folds.] They were more concerned for their cattle than their religion, laws, and liberties.

17. Gilead abode beyond Jordan.] Under the name of Gilead are comprehended the Gadites, who dwelt in that country with the children of Machir.

Why did Dan remain in ships?] They regarded nothing but their merchandise, while their brethren hazarded their lives in the field.

Asher continued on the sea-shore.] This tribe also bordered on the Mediterranean, where they continued in their breaches or cheeks, and refused to join in the common cause of the nation.

18. Zebulun and Naphtali, &c.] They were the only people who unanimously despised life, in comparison with their religion and the liberty of their country.

19 The kings came and fought; then fought the kings of Canaan in Taanach by the waters of Megiddo; they took no gain of money.

20 They fought from heaven; the stars in their courses fought against Sisera.

21 The river of Kishon swept them away, that ancient river, the river Kishon. O my soul, thou hast trodden down strength.

22 Then were the horse-hoofs broken, by the means of the prancings, the prancings of their mighty ones.

23 Curse ye Meroz, (said the angel of the LORD,) curse ye bitterly the inhabitants thereof: because they came not to the help of the LORD, to the help of the LORD against the mighty.

24 Blessed above women shall Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite be; blessed shall she be above women in the tent.

25 He asked water, and she gave him milk; she brought forth butter in a lordly dish.

26 She put her hand to the nail, and her right hand to the workman's hammer: and with the hammer she smote Sisera: she smote off his head, when she had pierced and stricken through his temples.

27 At her feet he bowed, he fell, he lay down: at her feet he bowed, he fell: where he bowed, there he fell down dead.

28 The mother of Sisera looked out at a window, and cried through the lattice, Why is his chariot so long in coming? why tarry the wheels of his chariots?

29 Her wise ladies answered her, yea, she returned answer to herself.

30 Have they not sped? have they not divided the prey, to every man a damsel or two? to Sisera a prey of divers colours, a prey of divers colours of needle-work, of divers colours of needle-work, on both sides, meet for the necks of them that take the spoil?

31 So let all thine enemies perish, O LORD: but let them that love him be as the sun when he goeth forth in his might. And the land had rest forty years.

1 The Israelites for their sin are oppressed by Midian.—8 A prophet rebuketh them.—11 An angel sendeth Gideon for their deliverance, &c.

AND the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD: and the LORD delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years.

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel: and because of the Midianites, the children of Israel made them the dens which are in the mountains, and caves, and strong holds.

In the high places of the field:] On mount Tabor, from whence they went down into the plain, with a resolution to conquer or die.

19. The kings came and fought.] Jabin had several confederates, who joined their forces with his to subdue the Israelites.

They took no gain of money:] i. e. They were so enraged against the Israelites, that they would have spared no man's life had they conquered, though ever so large a sum had been offered for his redemption.

20. They fought from heaven.] God fought for the Israelites, by sending thunder, lightning, and hail-stones, from heaven upon the Canaanites.

The stars in their courses fought against Sisera:] The angels of heaven, who are called stars, Job 37. 7. Or, the stars might be said to fight against Sisera, by bringing an abundance of rain, whereby the Kishon was so high and rapid, as to sweep away the host of Sisera in attempting to ford it.

21. O my soul, thou hast trodden down strength.] This is an elegant apostrophe to herself; whose happiness she applauds, in beholding the enemies of her country vanquished by the commission she gave Barak from God, and by her prayers for his success.

23. Curse ye Meroz.] The generality of interpreters understand by Meroz a city near the field of battle, the inhabitants of which refused to join Barak against the Canaanites.

Said the angel of the Lord.] She would not have it thought that this curse proceeded from her anger, but from the authority of God himself, who, by his angel, had denounced it against Meroz.

26. She smote off his head.] The Septuagint has it, She nailed down his head; for there is not the least indication of her cutting off his head, but only striking it through.

30. To every man a damsel or two.] Young virgins were, by the ancients, reckoned the principal part of the soldiers' prey.

To Sisera a prey of divers colours—of needle-work, on both sides.] These were the richest part of the spoil, and so highly valued, that only the

3 And so it was, when Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east, even they came up against them;

4 And they encamped against them, and destroyed the increase of the earth, till thou come unto Gaza, and left no sustenance for Israel, neither sheep, nor ox, nor ass.

5 For they came up with their cattle, and their tents, and they came as grasshoppers for multitude; for both they and their camels were without number; and they entered into the land to destroy it.

6 And Israel was greatly impoverished, because of the Midianites; and the children of Israel cried unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And it came to pass, when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD because of the Midianites,

8 That the LORD sent a prophet unto the children of Israel, which said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth out of the house of bondage;

9 And I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppressed you, and drave them out from before you, and gave you their land:

10 And I said unto you, I am the LORD your God; fear not the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but ye have not obeyed my voice.

11 ¶ And there came an angel of the LORD, and sat under an oak which was in Ophrah, that pertained unto Joash the Abi-ezrite: and his son Gideon threshed wheat by the wine-press, to hide it from the Midianites.

12 And the angel of the LORD appeared unto him, and said unto him, The LORD is with thee, thou mighty man of valour.

13 And Gideon said unto him, O my Lord, if the LORD be with us, why then is all this befallen us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told us of, saying, Did not the LORD bring us up from Egypt? But now the LORD hath forsaken us, and delivered us into the hands of the Midianites.

14 And the LORD looked upon him, and said, Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites: have not I sent thee?

15 And he said unto him, O my Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? behold, my family is poor in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father's house.

16 And the LORD said unto him, Surely I will be with thee, and thou shalt smite the Midianites as one man.

17 And he said unto him, If now I have found grace in thy sight, then shew me a sign that thou talkest with me.

18 Depart not hence, I pray thee, until I come unto thee, and bring forth my present, and set it before thee. And he said, I will tarry until thou come again.

19 And most honourable persons were suffered to wear them; hence they seem to be appropriated to Sisera, as his part of the spoil.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 1. The children of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord.] After the death of Deborah and Barak they again relapsed into idolatry.

The Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian.] Although the generality of the Midianites had been cut off by Moses about 200 years ago, yet many of them doubtless fled into the neighbouring countries, whence afterwards they returned into their own land, and in that time might easily grow to be a very great number, especially when God furthered their increase, that they might become a fit scourge for his people Israel when they transgressed.

2. Made them the dens, &c.] i. e. They made them their retreat. Dr. Shaw says, that a great way on each side of Joppa, on the sea-coast, there is a range of mountains and precipices; and that in these high situations are generally found the dens, the holes, or caves, so frequently mentioned in scripture, and formerly the lonesome retreats of the distressed Israelites.

5. They came as grasshoppers.] It would be more properly rendered locusts, which have their very name from the great numbers wherein they come.

8. The Lord sent a prophet, &c.] Who this prophet was is not known. God continued to send them prophets, to put them in mind of their duty, and to call them to repentance, when they had forsaken him.

11. An angel of the Lord.] It seems the Israelites had listened to the prophet, and begun to reform their ways, on which the Lord sent his angel to appoint them a deliverer.

14. The Lord looked upon him:] He looked upon him with the eyes of benevolence, promised him his assistance, and bid him be of good courage.

Go in this thy might.] Or, go now, or, at this time, in thy might: the strength which thou hast already received, and dost now further receive from me, is sufficient with my help.

21. Put

19 And Gideon went in, and made ready a kid, and unleavened cakes of an ephah of flour: the flesh he put in a basket, and he put the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the oak, and presented it.

20 And the angel of God said unto him, Take the flesh, and the unleavened cakes, and lay them upon this rock, and pour out the broth. And he did so.

21 ¶ Then the angel of the LORD put forth the end of the staff that was in his hand, and touched the flesh, and the unleavened cakes: and there rose up fire out of the rock, and consumed the flesh, and the unleavened cakes. Then the angel of the LORD departed out of his sight.

22 And when Gideon perceived that he was an angel of the LORD, Gideon said, Alas, O Lord GOD! for because I have seen an angel of the LORD face to face.

23 And the LORD said unto him, Peace be unto thee: fear not; thou shalt not die.

24 Then Gideon built an altar there unto the LORD, and called it Jehovah-shalom: unto this day it is yet in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

25 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the LORD said unto him, Take thy father's young bullock, even the second bullock of seven years old, and throw down the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut down the grove that is by it:

26 And build an altar unto the LORD thy God upon the top of this rock, in the ordered place, and take the second bullock, and offer a burnt-sacrifice with the wood of the grove which thou shalt cut down.

27 Then Gideon took ten men of his servants, and did as the LORD had said unto him: and so it was, because he feared his father's household, and the men of the city, that he could not do it by day, that he did it by night.

28 ¶ And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was cast down, and the grove was cut down that was by it, and the second bullock was offered upon the altar that was built.

29 And they said one to another, Who hath done this thing? And when they enquired and asked, they said, Gideon the son of Joash hath done this thing.

30 Then the men of the city said unto Joash, Bring out thy son, that he may die: because he hath cast down the altar of Baal, and because he hath cut down the grove that was by it.

31 And Joash said unto all that stood against him, Will ye plead for Baal? will ye save him? he that will plead for him, let him be put to death, whilst it is yet morning: if he be a god, let him plead for himself, because one hath cast down his altar.

32 Therefore on that day he called him Jerubbaal, saying, Let Baal plead against him, because he hath thrown down his altar.

33 ¶ Then all the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east, were gathered together, and went over, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

34 But the Spirit of the LORD came upon Gideon, and he blew a trumpet; and Abi-ezer was gathered after him.

35 And he sent messengers throughout all Manasseh; who also was gathered after him: and he sent messengers unto Asher, and unto Zebulun, and unto Naphtali; and they came up to meet them.

36 ¶ And Gideon said unto God, If thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said, 37 Behold, I will put a fleece of wool in the floor; and if the dew be on the fleece only, and it be dry upon all the earth beside, then shall I know that thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said.

38 And it was so: for he rose up early on the morrow, and thrust the fleece together, and wringed the dew out of the fleece, a bowl-full of water.

39 And Gideon said unto God, Let not thine anger be hot against me, and I will speak but this once: Let me prove, I pray thee, but this once with the fleece; let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew.

40 And God did so that night: for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

C H A P. VII.

1 Gideon's army reduced to three hundred:—13 he is encouraged by the dream of the barley cake:—16 his stratagem of trumpets and lamps in pitchers.

THE N Jerubbaal (who is Gideon) and all the people that were with him, rose up early, and pitched beside the well of Harod: so that the host of the Midianites were on the north side of them, by the hill of Moreh in the valley.

2 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me.

3 Now therefore go to, proclaim in the ears of the people, saying, Whosoever is fearful and afraid, let him return and depart early from mount Gilead. And there returned of the people twenty and two thousand, and there remained ten thousand.

4 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The people are yet too many; bring them down unto the water, and I will try them for thee there; and it shall be, that of whom I say unto thee, This shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee: and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This shall not go with thee, the same shall not go.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water: and the LORD said unto Gideon, Every one that lappeth of the water with his tongue, as a dog lappeth, him shalt thou set by himself: likewise every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink.

6 And the number of them that lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, were three hundred men: but all the rest of the people bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

7 And

21. Put forth the end of the staff, &c.] For he appeared, it is probable, in the form of a traveller; for travellers were wont to walk with a staff.

22. Alas!—because I have seen an angel.] It was the opinion of good men in those days, that, if they saw apparently an inhabitant of the other world, they were immediately to die. See Gen. 32. 30. Exod. 33. 20.

23. The Lord said unto him.] Though the angel disappeared, yet the Lord convinced him he was still present, by speaking to him in an audible voice.

24. Built an altar, &c.] As a monument of that heavenly vision, and of the mercy promised to him, in that place where the angel stood. Jehovah-shalom; i. e. The Lord hath pronounced peace to me.

25. Cut down the grove; i. e. Demolish the oratory that is over it.

34. Abi-ezer was gathered after him; i. e. The Abi-ezrites came and offered their service to fight under his banner.

37. If the dew be on the fleece only, &c.] He supposed, that the dew which distilled from heaven was a divine gift, (as the scripture often testifies,) and therefore desired of God, that, though it commonly falls every where, it might now, by his extraordinary providence, water only his fleece. Some think he chose a fleece of wool, the better to express how the earth was shorn by the Midianites, as the sheep had been by him. When he begged the dew might fall on the fleece, it was to represent the kindness of God to him: on the whole ground, to represent his favour to all the people. Lastly, these two miracles, opposite to each other, display the state of the Jewish nation, which was moistened with the dew of heaven, (the knowledge of the Almighty,) when the rest of the world was dry; and now deprived of this benefit, when the rest of the earth is filled with the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 3. Whosoever is fearful and afraid.] The word which we translate afraid, is, in the Hebrew, Harod; from whence some have conjectured, that the well where they pitched, ver. 1. was called Harod, because here a great fear came upon most of Gideon's army.

Mount Gilead:] Not that famous mount Gilead which was beyond Jordan; for it is apparent that both the camps of the Israelites and of the Midianites were on this side Jordan; but another mount Gilead, in the tribe of Manasseh.

4. Bring them down unto the water.] Either that which ran from the well of Harod, mentioned ver. 1. or some other brook.

5. Every one that lappeth—water with his tongue, &c.] Commentators have been perplexed to find a probable reason for God's making a distinction between the soldiers who lapped water with their hands, and those who laid themselves down to drink. But it seems, God, intending to reduce Gideon's army to a very small number, took this method of performing it: for, as the season of the year was hot, and the generalty of the soldiers weary, faint, and thirsty, it was probable that most of them would lie down, as indeed they did, and refresh themselves with large draughts of water.

7 And the LORD said unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other people go every man unto his place.

8 So the people took victuals in their hand, and their trumpets: and he sent all the rest of Israel every man unto his tent, and retained those three hundred men: and the host of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

9 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the LORD said unto him, Arise, get thee down unto the host; for I have delivered it into thine hand.

10 But if thou fear to go down, go thou with Phurah thy servant down to the host,

11 And thou shalt hear what they say; and afterward shall thine hands be strengthened to go down unto the host. Then went he down with Phurah his servant unto the outside of the armed men that were in the host.

12 And the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and all the children of the east, lay along in the valley like grasshoppers for multitude; and their camels were without number, as the sand by the sea-side for multitude.

13 ¶ And when Gideon was come, behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his fellow, and said, Behold, I dreamed a dream, and, lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled into the host of Midian, and came unto a tent, and smote it that it fell, and overturned it, that the tent lay along.

14 And his fellow answered and said, This is nothing else save the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian and all the host.

15 ¶ And it was so, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream, and the interpretation thereof, that he worshipped, and returned into the host of Israel, and said, Arise: for the LORD hath delivered into your hand the host of Midian.

16 And he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put a trumpet in every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers.

17 And he said unto them, Look on me, and do likewise: and, behold, when I come to the outside of the camp, it shall be, that as I do, so shall ye do.

18 When I blow with a trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets also on every side of all the camp, and say, The sword of the LORD, and of Gideon.

19 ¶ So Gideon, and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outside of the camp, in the beginning of the middle watch; and they had but newly set the watch: and they blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

20 And the three companies blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands to blow withal; and they cried, The sword of the LORD, and of Gideon.

7. By the three hundred men that lapped will I save you, &c.] That all the world might be convinced it was of God, and not man, that caused the host of Midian to fly before so small a force.

14. This is nothing else save the sword of Gideon.] As there are many examples of significant dreams given by God to heathens, as Gen. 41. Dan. 2 and 4. so some of them had the gift of interpreting dreams, which they sometimes did by study and art, and sometimes by divine direction, as in this case.

15. When Gideon heard the telling of the dream:] Which he understood, though spoken in the Midianitish language, either because it was near akin to the Hebrew, being only a different dialect of it; or because the Israelites had now been accustomed to the Midianites' company and discourse for seven years.

16. And lamps within the pitchers:] Partly to preserve the flame from the violence of the wind and weather; and partly to conceal it, and surprise the enemy with sudden and unexpected flashes of light.

18. The sword of the Lord, and of Gideon.] He mentions his own name together with God's, not out of vain ostentation or arrogance, as if he would equal himself with God; for he mentions God in the first and chief place, and himself only as his minister; but from prudent policy, because his name was grown formidable to them, and so was likely to further his design, and their flight, as it did.

19. In the beginning of the middle watch:] i. e. Of the second watch: for though afterwards the night was divided into four watches by the Romans, Matt. 14. 25. yet, in more ancient times, and in the eastern 21 And they stood every man in his place, round about the camp: and all the host ran, and cried, and fled.

22 And the three hundred blew the trumpets, and the LORD set every man's sword against his fellow, even throughout all the host: and the host fled to Beth-shittah, in Zererath, and to the border of Abel-meholah, unto Tabbath.

23 And the men of Israel gathered themselves together out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, and pursued after the Midianites.

24 ¶ And Gideon sent messengers throughout all mount Ephraim, saying, Come down against the Midianites, and take before them the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and took the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan.

25 And they took two princes of the Midianites, Oreb and Zeeb; and they slew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and Zeeb they slew at the wine-press of Zeeb, and pursued Midian, and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other side Jordan.

C H A P. VIII.

1 Gideon pacifieth the Ephraimites.—17 Penuel destroyed.—

21 Gideon revengeth the deaths of his brethren.

AND the men of Ephraim said unto him, Why hast thou served us thus, that thou calledst us not when thou wentest to fight with the Midianites? And they did chide with him sharply.

2 And he said unto them, What have I done now in comparison of you? Is not the gleanings of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abi-ezer?

3 God hath delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb; and what was I able to do in comparison of you? Then their anger was abated toward him, when he had said that.

4 ¶ And Gideon came to Jordan, and passed over, he, and the three hundred men that were with him, faint, yet pursuing them.

5 And he said unto the men of Succoth, Give, I pray you, loaves of bread unto the people that follow me, for they be faint, and I am pursuing after Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.

6 ¶ And the princes of Succoth said, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thine army?

7 And Gideon said, Therefore, when the LORD hath delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into mine hand, then I will tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness, and with briers.

8 And he went up thence to Penuel, and spake unto them likewise: and the men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered him.

9 And he spake also unto the men of Penuel, saying, When I come again in peace, I will break down this tower.

10 ¶ Now

parts, it was divided into three. He chose the dark and dead of the night to increase their terror by the trumpets, whose sound would then be loudest and best heard, and the lamps, whose light would then shine most bright, to surprise them at disadvantage, and to conceal the smallness of their numbers.

21. And they stood every man in his place,] As if they had only been torch-bearers to the several companies.

22. The Lord set every man's sword against his fellow.] Being suddenly awaked from their sleep in the middle of the night, and thinking they were attacked by a powerful army, their fears prompted them to consider every one as an enemy, so that they killed one another.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Verse 2. Is not the gleanings of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abi-ezer?] This seems to have been a common proverb in those days, and used in commending the smallest action of one, as superior to the greatest of another; as if he had said, These scattered parties that you have gleaned and picked up at the fords of Jordan, are far more than those that I and my whole host have destroyed.

6. Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, &c.] First take the kings of Midian captive, and then demand bread for thine army. They thought there was nothing of God in this victory, and that he would not be able to perfect it.

9. I will break down this tower:] In which they confided, and perhaps pointed to, when they gave him their rude answers.

10 ¶ Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their hosts with them, about fifteen thousand men, all that were left of all the hosts of the children of the east: for there fell an hundred and twenty thousand men that drew sword.

11 ¶ And Gideon went up by the way of them that dwelt in tents, on the east of Nobah, and Jogbehah, and smote the host: for the host was secure.

12 And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he pursued after them, and took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and discomfited all the host.

13 ¶ And Gideon the son of Joash returned from battle before the sun was up,

14 And caught a young man of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him: and he described unto him the princes of Succoth, and the elders thereof, even threescore and seventeen men.

15 And he came unto the men of Succoth, and said, Behold Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom ye did upbraid me, saying, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thy men that are weary?

16 And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderness, and briers, and with them he taught the men of Succoth.

17 And he beat down the tower of Penuel, and slew the men of the city.

18 ¶ Then said he unto Zebah and Zalmunna, What manner of men were they whom ye slew at Tabor? And they answered, As thou art, so were they, each one resembled the children of a king.

19 And he said, They were my brethren, even the sons of my mother: as the LORD liveth, if ye had saved them alive, I would not slay you.

20 And he said unto Jether his first-born, Up, and slay them: but the youth drew not his sword: for he feared, because he was yet a youth.

21 Then Zebah and Zalmunna said, Rise thou, and fall upon us: for as the man is, so is his strength. And Gideon arose, and slew Zebah and Zalmunna, and took away the ornaments that were on their camels' necks.

22 ¶ Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son also: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian.

23 And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the LORD shall rule over you.

24 And Gideon said unto them, I would desire a request of you, that ye would give me every man the ear-rings of his prey: (for they had golden ear-rings, because they were Ishmaelites:)

25 And they answered, We will willingly give them. And they spread a garment, and did cast therein every man the ear-rings of his prey.

26 And the weight of the golden ear-rings that he requested was a thousand and seven hundred shekels of gold; besides ornaments, and collars, and purple raiment, that was on the kings of Midian, and besides the chains that were about their camels' necks.

27 And Gideon made an ephod thereof, and put it in his city, even in Ophrah: and all Israel went thither a whoring after it: which thing became a snare unto Gideon, and to his house.

28 ¶ Thus was Midian subdued before the children of Israel, so that they lifted up their heads no more: and the country was in quietness forty years in the days of Gideon.

29 ¶ And Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and dwelt in his own house.

30 And Gideon had threescore and ten sons of his body begotten: for he had many wives.

31 And his concubine that was in Shechem, she also bare him a son, whose name he called Abimelech.

32 ¶ And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age, and was buried in the sepulchre of Joash his father, in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

33 And it came to pass, as soon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Israel turned again, and went a whoring after Baalim, and made Baal-berith their god.

34 And the children of Israel remembered not the LORD their God, who had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side:

35 Neither shewed they kindness to the house of Jerubbaal, namely, Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shewed unto Israel.

C H A P. IX.

1 Abimelech made king.—7 Jotham foretelleth the ruin of the Shechemites.—56 Jotham's curse fulfilled.

AND Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, unto his mother's brethren, and communed with them, and with all the family of the house of his mother's father, saying,

2 Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the men of Shechem, Whether is better for you, either that all the sons of Jerubbaal, which are threescore and ten persons, reign over you, or that one reign over you? remember also that I am your bone and your flesh.

3 And his mother's brethren spake of him in the ears of all the men of Shechem all these words: and their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech; for they said, He is our brother.

4 And they gave him threescore and ten pieces of silver, out of the house of Baal-berith; wherewith Abimelech hired vain and light persons, which followed him.

5 And he went unto his father's house at Ophrah, and slew his brethren the sons of Jerubbaal, being threescore and ten persons, upon one stone; notwithstanding, yet Jotham the youngest son of Jerubbaal was left: for he hid himself.

6 And all the men of Shechem gathered together, and all the house of Millo, and went and made Abimelech king, by the plain of the pillar that was in Shechem.

7 ¶ And when they told it to Jotham, he went and stood in the top of mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice and cried, and said unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you.

8 The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them: and they said unto the olive-tree, Reign thou over us.

their idolatrous practices; converting this ephod to the use of Baal, by adorning his priests with it.

31. Whose name he called Abimelech;] i. e. My father the king; so he called him, probably, to gratify his concubine, who desired it either out of pride or design.

33. Made Baal-berith their god.] This deity implies, the god who presides over covenants and contracts, and is the punisher of those who wilfully violate them.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 5. Threescore and ten persons,] Wanting one, who is here expressed; and these synecdochical expressions are frequent in scripture.

Upon one stone.] This was probably intended to avenge the dishonour and injury done to Baal by Gideon, chap. 6. 27, 28. upon his children, whom he offered up as so many sacrifices to Baal upon this stone, which served for an altar; and for this reason it seems the money was taken out of Baal's house, because it was to be laid out in his service.

8. The trees went forth, &c.] A parabolical discourse, usual among the ancients, especially in the eastern parts; wherein, under the names of trees, men are represented.

The olive-tree;] By which he understands Gideon.

9. Honour

13. And Gideon—returned from battle before the sun was up:] By which it may be gathered, that he came upon them in the night, which was most convenient for him who had so small a number with him, and most likely both to surprise and terrify them by the remembrance of the last night's sad work, and the expectation of another like it.

16. With them he taught the men of Succoth:] He threshed and tore them, as he had threatened.

18. Resembled the children of a king:] Not for their garb, or outward splendour, for the family was but mean; but for the majesty of their looks: by which commendation they thought to ingratiate themselves with their conqueror.

21. For as the man is, so is his strength.] Thou excellest him, as in age and stature, so in strength: and it is more honourable, as well as easy, to die by the hand of a valiant man.

27. And Gideon made an ephod thereof.] He was willing to shew them that he did not request the ear-rings for his own use, but to dedicate them to God, by making a monument of his victory. For ephod, see Exod. 25. 7.

Israel went thither a whoring after it.] This seems to have happened after the death of Gideon, when the people began again to return to No. 18.

9 But the olive-tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness, wherewith by me they honour God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

10 And the trees said to the fig-tree, Come thou, and reign over us.

11 But the fig-tree said unto them, Should I forsake my sweetness, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

12 Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and reign over us.

13 And the vine said unto them, Should I leave my wine, which cheereth God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

14 Then said all the trees unto the bramble, Come thou, and reign over us.

15 And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon.

16 Now therefore, if ye have done truly and sincerely, in that ye have made Abimelech king, and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal, and his house, and have done unto him according to the deserving of his hands;

17 (For my father fought for you, and adventured his life far, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian:

18 And ye are risen up against my father's house this day, and have slain his sons, threescore and ten persons, upon one stone, and have made Abimelech the son of his maid-servant king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother;)

19 If ye then have dealt truly and sincerely with Jerubbaal, and with his house, this day, then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in you.

20 But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, and the house of Millo; and let fire come out from the men of Shechem, and from the house of Millo, and devour Abimelech.

21 And Jotham ran away, and fled, and went to Beer, and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.

22 ¶ When Abimelech had reigned three years over Israel,

23 Then God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and the men of Shechem; and the men of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech:

24 That the cruelty done to the threescore and ten sons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid upon Abimelech their brother, which slew them; and upon the men of Shechem, which aided him in the killing of his brethren.

25 And the men of Shechem set liers in wait for him in the top of the mountains, and they robbed all that came along that way by them: and it was told Abimelech.

26 And Gaal the son of Ebed came with his brethren, and went over to Shechem: and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

27 And they went out into the fields, and gathered their vineyards, and trode the grapes, and made merry, and went into the house of their god, and did eat and drink, and cursed Abimelech.

28 And Gaal the son of Ebed said, Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we should serve him? Is not he the son of Jerubbaal? and Zebul his officer? Serve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem: for why should we serve him?

29 And would to God this people were under my hand; then would I remove Abimelech. And he said to Abimelech, Increase thine army, and come out.

30 ¶ And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his anger was kindled.

31 And he sent messengers unto Abimelech privily, saying, Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed, and his brethren, be come to Shechem: and, behold, they fortify the city against thee.

32 Now, therefore, up by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field.

33 And it shall be, that in the morning, as soon as the sun is up, thou shalt rise early, and set upon the city: and, behold, when he and the people that is with him come out against thee, then mayest thou do to them as thou shalt find occasion.

34 ¶ And Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him, by night, and they laid wait against Shechem in four companies.

35 And Gaal the son of Ebed went out, and stood in the entering of the gate of the city: and Abimelech rose up, and the people that were with him, from lying in wait.

36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, Behold, there come people down from the top of the mountains. And Zebul said unto him, Thou seest the shadow of the mountains, as if they were men.

37 And Gaal spake again, and said, See, there come people down by the middle of the land, and another company come along by the plain of Meonenim.

38 Then said Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth, wherewith thou saidst, Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him? is not this the people that thou hast despised? go out, I pray now, and fight with them.

39 And Gaal went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 And Abimelech chased him, and he fled before him; and many were overthrown and wounded, even unto the entering of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah: and Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren, that they should not dwell in Shechem.

42 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the people went out into the field; and they told Abimelech.

43 And he took the people, and divided them into three companies, and laid wait in the field, and looked, and, behold, the people were come forth out of the city; and he rose up against them, and smote them.

44 And Abimelech, and the company that was with him, rushed forward, and stood in the entering of the gate of the city; and the two other companies ran upon all the people that were in the fields, and slew them.

45 And Abimelech fought against the city all that day, and he took the city, and slew the people that was therein, and beat down the city, and sowed it with salt.

46 ¶ And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard that, they entered into an hold of the house of the god Berith.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together.

48 And Abimelech gat him up to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him; and Abimelech took an axe in his hand, and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it, and laid it on his shoulder, and said unto the people that were with him, What ye have seen me do, make haste, and do as I have done.

49 And all the people likewise cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and set the hold on fire upon them: so that all the men of the tower of Shechem died also, about a thousand men and women.

50 ¶ Then

9. Honour God and man.] God and man are said to be honoured by oil, because it was offered in sacrifice to God, and fed the lamps of his house; and priests and kings were anointed with it.

And go to be promoted over the trees.] The word which is here rendered promoted, is never used in that sense, but signifies, to be moved to and fro, to wander, to stagger, to be shaken, to be tossed. The motion of the trees by the wind is remarkably expressed by this word, Isa. 7. 2. In these three passages, ver. 9, 11, and 13. it should be translated, Shall I leave, &c. and go to be tossed upon the trees? then we should have a lively image of the hazards and cares of government; as if the king of trees was to have his throne placed on the top of the highest trees in the forest, and be there exposed to every storm of wind that blowed.

12. Then said the trees unto the vine:] These, being all noble trees, signified, that better men than Abimelech had refused that of which he was ambitious.

14. Then said all the trees unto the bramble, &c.] The meanest of all trees, fit only for the fire, and intended to represent Abimelech, from whom they could expect no benefit, but a great deal of trouble and vexation.

23. God sent an evil spirit, &c.] Permitted the spirit of discord to break forth between Abimelech and the Shechemites.

45. Sowed it with salt.] By this action Abimelech intended to express his lasting abhorrence of the Shechemites, by wishing their city might for ever lie waste, and be a perpetual desolation.

50 ¶ Then went Abimelech to Thebez, and encamped against Thebez, and took it.

51 But there was a strong tower within the city, and thither fled all the men and women, and all they of the city, and shut it to them, and gat them up to the top of the tower.

52 And Abimelech came unto the tower, and fought against it, and went hard unto the door of the tower to burn it with fire.

53 And a certain woman cast a piece of a milstone upon Abimelech's head, and all to break his skull.

54 Then he called hastily unto the young man his armour-bearer, and said unto him, Draw thy sword, and slay me, that men say not of me, A woman slew him. And his young man thrust him through, and he died.

55 And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his place.

56 ¶ Thus God rendered the wickedness of Abimelech, which he did unto his father in slaying his seventy brethren.

57 And all the evil of the men of Shechem did God render upon their heads: and upon them came the curse of Jotham the son of Jerubbaal.

C H A P. X.

1 Tola judgeth Israel in Shamir.—7 The Philistines and Ammonites oppress Israel.

AND after Abimelech there arose, to defend Israel, Tola, the son of Puah, the son of Dodo, a man of Issachar: and he dwelt in Shamir in mount Ephraim.

2 And he judged Israel twenty and three years, and died, and was buried in Shamir.

3 ¶ And after him arose Jair, a Gileadite, and judged Israel twenty and two years.

4 And he had thirty sons that rode on thirty ass-colts, and they had thirty cities, which are called Havoth-jair unto this day, which are in the land of Gilead.

5 And Jair died, and was buried in Camon.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim, and Ashtaroth, and the gods of Syria, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines, and forsook the LORD, and served not him.

7 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he sold them into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hands of the children of Ammon.

8 And that year they vexed and oppressed the children of Israel eighteen years, all the children of Israel that were on the other side Jordan, in the land of the Amorites, which is in Gilead.

9 Moreover, the children of Ammon passed over Jordan, to fight also against Judah, and against Benjamin, and against the house of Ephraim: so that Israel was sore distressed.

53. A certain woman cast, &c.] Doubtless directed by a special providence of God. The death of Abimelech by a stone was the more remarkable, because he had slain all his brethren upon one stone.

56, 57. Thus God rendered the wickedness, &c.] These two verses conclude the foregoing narrative with a divine admonition, that no man should presume to think such things happened by chance; but that God, the righteous Judge of all the earth, punished both Abimelech and the men of Shechem according to their deserts, and made them the instruments of each other's destruction.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse 1. To defend;] Or, to save; which he did, not by fighting against and overthrowing their enemies, but by a prudent and pious government of them, whereby he kept them from sedition, and oppression, and tyranny, as also from idolatry, as may be gathered from ver. 6.

4. Rode on thirty ass-colts.] None but the most honourable among the Israelites rode on these creatures, which, in the eastern countries, were very tall and beautiful.

12. The Zidonians;] For, though we do not read of any oppression of Israel particularly by the Zidonians, yet there might be such a thing, as many things were said and done, both in the Old and New Testament, which are not recorded there; or, they might join their forces with the king of Mesopotamia, Judg. 3. 8. or with some other of their oppressors; for it is certain, these were left among others to prove Israel, Judg. 3. 1, 2, 3.

The Amalekites;] Of whom, see Judg. 3. 13. and 6. 3.

10 ¶ And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, saying, We have sinned against thee, both because we have forsaken our God, and also served Baalim.

11 And the LORD said unto the children of Israel, Did not I deliver you from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites, from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistines?

12 The Zidonians also, and the Amalekites, and the Maonites, did oppress you; and ye cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand.

13 Yet ye have forsaken me, and served other gods: wherefore I will deliver you no more.

14 Go and cry unto the gods which ye have chosen; let them deliver you in the time of your tribulation.

15 ¶ And the children of Israel said unto the LORD, We have sinned, do thou unto us whatsoever seemeth good unto thee; deliver us only, we pray thee, this day.

16 And they put away the strange gods from among them, and served the LORD: and his soul was grieved for the misery of Israel.

17 Then the children of Ammon were gathered together, and encamped in Gilead: and the children of Israel assembled themselves together, and encamped in Mizpeh.

18 And the people and princes of Gilead said one to another, What man is he that will begin to fight against the children of Ammon? he shall be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

NOW Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valour, and he was the son of an harlot: and Gilead begat Jephthah.

2 And Gilead's wife bare him sons; and his wife's sons grew up, and they thrust out Jephthah, and said unto him, Thou shalt not inherit in our father's house: for thou art the son of a strange woman.

3 Then Jephthah fled from his brethren, and dwelt in the land of Tob: and there were gathered vain men to Jephthah, and went out with him.

4 ¶ And it came to pass, in process of time, that the children of Ammon made war against Israel.

5 And it was so, that when the children of Ammon made war against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah out of the land of Tob.

6 And they said unto Jephthah, Come, and be our captain, that we may fight with the children of Ammon.

7 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, Did not ye hate me, and expel me out of my father's house? and why are ye come unto me now when ye are in distress?

Maonites.] Either, first, those who lived in or near the wilderness of Maon, in the south of Judah, 1 Sam. 23. 25. and 25. 2. whether Edomites or others: or, secondly, the Meunims, a people living near the Arabians, of whom, 2 Chron. 26. 7.—or, thirdly, the Midianites, whose oppression he would not omit; it being usual for one and the same person or persons to have two names; although the Midianites may be comprehended under the Amalekites, with whom they were joined, Judg. 6. 3, 33.—or, fourthly, some other people now unknown, and not expressed elsewhere in scripture.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. And he was the son of an harlot.] Though such were not ordinarily to enter into the congregation of the Lord, Deut. 23. 2. yet God can dispense with his own laws, and hath sometimes done honour to base-born persons, so far, that some of them were admitted to be the progenitors of the Lord Jesus Christ.

3. In the land of Tob.] This country is not mentioned any where else in scripture: probably it was the same with that called Ish-tob, 2 Sam. 10. 8. which lay in Syria, and so near the Amorites, that they hired forces from thence, as well as from other nations, to fight against David.

There were gathered vain men to Jephthah.] Men of no property, and therefore glad to join with so valiant a man as Jephthah, under whose conduct they could make incursions into the enemy's territory, and enrich themselves with their spoils.

12. What hast thou to do with me?] That is, what is the ground of thy quarrel? or, for what reason is this invasion made?

13. Because

mayest go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

9 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, and the LORD deliver them before me, shall I be your head?

10 And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, The LORD be witness between us, if we do not so according to thy words.

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and captain over them: and Jephthah uttered all his words before the LORD in Mizpeh.

12 ¶ And Jephthah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What hast thou to do with me, that thou art come against me to fight in my land?

13 And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Jephthah, Because Israel took away my land when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore restore those lands again peaceably.

14 And Jephthah sent messengers again unto the king of the children of Ammon,

15 And said unto him, Thus saith Jephthah, Israel took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon:

16 But when Israel came up from Egypt, and walked through the wilderness, unto the Red sea, and came to Kadesh;

17 Then Israel sent messengers unto the king of Edom, saying, Let me, I pray thee, pass through thy land: but the king of Edom would not hearken thereto. And in like manner they sent unto the king of Moab; but he would not consent: and Israel abode in Kadesh.

18 Then they went along through the wilderness, and compassed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came by the east side of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, but came not within the border of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 And Israel sent messengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon; and Israel said unto him, Let us pass, we pray thee, through thy land, unto my place.

20 But Sihon trusted not Israel to pass through his coast: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jahaz, and fought against Israel.

21 And the LORD God of Israel delivered Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they smote them: so Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that country.

22 And they possessed all the coasts of the Amorites, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and from the wilderness even unto Jordan.

23 So now the LORD God of Israel hath dispossessed the Amorites from before his people Israel, and shouldest thou possess it?

24 Wilt not thou possess that which Chemosh thy god giveth thee to possess? So whomsoever the LORD our God shall drive out from before us, them will we possess.

25 And now, art thou any thing better than Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab? did he ever strive against Israel, or did he ever fight against them,

26 While Israel dwelt in Heshbon and her towns, and in Aroer and her towns, and in all the cities that be along by the coasts of Arnon, three hundred years? why therefore did ye not recover them within that time?

27 Wherefore I have not sinned against thee, but thou doest me wrong to war against me: the LORD the Judge be judge this day between the children of Israel and the children of Ammon.

28 Howbeit, the king of the children of Ammon hearkened not unto the words of Jephthah which he sent him.

29 ¶ Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah, and he passed over Gilead and Manasseh, and passed over Mizpeh of Gilead, and from Mizpeh of Gilead he passed over unto the children of Ammon.

30 And Jephthah vowed a vow unto the LORD, and said, If thou shalt without fail deliver the children of Ammon into mine hands, 31 Then it shall be, that whatsoever cometh forth of the doors of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, shall surely be the LORD's, and I will offer it up for a burnt-offering.

32 ¶ So Jephthah passed over unto the children of Ammon to fight against them, and the LORD delivered them into his hands.

33 And he smote them from Aroer, even till thou come to Minnith, even twenty cities, and unto the plain of the vineyards, with a very great slaughter. Thus the children of Ammon were subdued before the children of Israel.

34 ¶ And Jephthah came to Mizpeh unto his house, and, behold, his daughter came out to meet him with timbrels and with dances; and she was his only child: besides her he had neither son nor daughter.

35 And it came to pass when he saw her, that he rent his clothes, and said, Alas, my daughter! thou hast brought me very low, and thou art one of them that trouble me: for I have opened my mouth unto the LORD, and I cannot go back.

36 And she said unto him, My father, if thou hast opened thy mouth unto the LORD, do to me according to that which hath proceeded out of thy mouth; forasmuch as the LORD hath taken vengeance for thee of thine enemies, even of the children of Ammon.

37 And she said unto her father, Let this thing be done for me: let me alone two months, that I may go up and down upon the mountains, and bewail my virginity, I and my fellows.

38 And he said, Go. And he sent her away for two months: and she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains.

39 And it came to pass, at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed: and she knew no man. And it was a custom in Israel, 40 That the daughters of Israel went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four days in a year.

C H A P.

13. Because Israel took away my land when they came up out of Egypt.] This was a mere pretence, the land not belonging to them, but to Sihon king of the Amorites: for, with regard to the country of the Ammonites, God expressly charged the Israelites not to meddle with it, because he had given it to the children of Lot for a possession, Deut. 2. 19.

24. That which Chemosh thy god giveth thee to possess.] He speaks according to their fond and absurd opinion. The Ammonites and Moabites got their land by right of war, and conquest of the old inhabitants, whom they cast out; and this success, though given them by the true God, for Lot's sake, Deut. 2. 9, 19. they impiously and ridiculously ascribe to their god Chemosh, whose gift they owned to be a firm and sufficient title.

31. Shall surely be the Lord's, and I will offer it up for a burnt-offering.] The particle which is here translated and, may more properly be taken in the disjunctive sense, or, as some judicious critics, both Christians and Jews, have solidly proved.

34. His daughter came out to meet him.] To welcome his return, and congratulate him on his victory, with timbrels, and with dances.

35. I have opened my mouth unto the Lord.] I have made a vow, which I cannot retract. Probably he told her what it was, though the sacred historian has not mentioned it.

36. She said unto him, My father, &c.] A rare instance of religion, fortitude, obedience to her parent, and love to her country.

37. Let this thing be done for me:] Grant me one request; it is an innocent one, and not contrary to the nature of your vow.

Bewail my virginity.] It was accounted the greatest misfortune, among the Israelites, to die without issue; therefore she desired a time to bewail her fate on the solitary mountains.

39. She returned unto her father, &c.] This passage has given occasion to a great controversy among commentators, whether Jephthah really offered his daughter for a burnt-offering, or consecrated her to the service of God. From the note on the 31st verse it appears, that she was not sacrificed, but devoted to the Lord. It is indeed evident, that this vow, in many cases, could not have been executed: for suppose a dog, an ass, or any other unclean animal, had first met him, could he have offered it up as a burnt-offering unto the Lord; such sacrifices being absolutely forbidden by the law of Moses? and can it be supposed that God, who had so often declared that human sacrifices were abominations to him, would have suffered a daughter of Israel to have been offered upon his altar? Besides, if Jephthah was obliged to offer his daughter, who should be employed in that work? Should the priests? They were ordered to do every thing in their

AND the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and went northward, and said unto Jephthah, Wherefore passedst thou over to fight against the children of Ammon, and didst not call us to go with thee? we will burn thine house upon thee with fire.

2 And Jephthah said unto them, I and my people were at great strife with the children of Ammon; and when I called you, ye delivered me not out of their hands.

3 And when I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in my hands, and passed over against the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivered them into my hand: wherefore then are ye come up unto me this day, to fight against me?

4 Then Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim: and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said, Ye Gileadites are fugitives of Ephraim, among the Ephraimites, and among the Manassites.

5 And the Gileadites took the passages of Jordan before the Ephraimites: and it was so, that when those Ephraimites which were escaped said, Let me go over; that the men of Gilead said unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? If he said, Nay;

6 Then said they unto him, Say now Shibboleth: and he said Sibboleth: for he could not frame to pronounce it right. Then they took him, and slew him at the passages of Jordan: and there fell at that time of the Ephraimites forty and two thousand.

7 ¶ And Jephthah judged Israel six years: then died Jephthah the Gileadite, and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8 ¶ And after him Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Israel.

9 And he had thirty sons, and thirty daughters, whom he sent abroad, and took in thirty daughters from abroad for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.

10 Then died Ibzan, and was buried at Beth-lehem.

11 ¶ And after him, Elon a Zebulonite judged Israel: and he judged Israel ten years.

12 And Elon the Zebulonite died, and was buried in Aijalon, in the country of Zebulun.

13 ¶ And after him, Abdon the son of Hillel, a Pirathonite, judged Israel.

14 And he had forty sons, and thirty nephews, that rode on threescore and ten ass-colts: and he judged Israel eight years.

15 And Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died, and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

their power to deter men from committing this abominable practice. Should the magistrates? They well knew such sacrifices were forbidden by God himself. Should Jephthah perform this inhuman office? Surely those who can conceive him capable of such a task, must, at the same time, think him as void of common sense as of natural affection.

She knew no man:] A strong proof that she was not sacrificed; for the sacred historian himself tell us, that after the vow was performed, she knew no man.

40. The daughters of Israel went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah.] The Hebrew word which we render lament, signifies also to talk with, and to praise. If we take it in the former sense, it demonstrates that she was not sacrificed; if in the latter, the sense will be, that they went yearly to praise the virtue of Jephthah's daughter. If it should be asked, why the continuing of a virgin was considered among the Israelites as the greatest misfortune? the answer is, They placed their greatest happiness in children, and all flattered themselves that the Messiah would come from their seed.

Verse 2. When I called you.] Hence it appears, that he craved their assistance, which they denied; though that be not elsewhere expressed.

3. I put my life in my hands:] I exposed myself to very great danger.

No. 19.

2 ¶ And there was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whose name was Manoah; and his wife was barren, and bare not.

3 And the angel of the LORD appeared unto the woman, and said unto her, Behold now, thou art barren, and bearest not: but thou shalt conceive, and bear a son.

4 Now therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine, nor strong drink, and eat not any unclean thing:

5 For, lo, thou shalt conceive, and bear a son; and no razor shall come on his head: for the child shall be a Nazarite unto God from the womb: and he shall begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines.

6 ¶ Then the woman came and told her husband, saying, A man of God came unto me, and his countenance was like the countenance of an angel of God, very terrible: but I asked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name:

7 But he said unto me, Behold, thou shalt conceive, and bear a son; and now drink no wine, nor strong drink, neither eat any unclean thing: for the child shall be a Nazarite to God, from the womb to the day of his death.

8 ¶ Then Manoah entreated the LORD, and said, O my LORD, let the man of God which thou didst send come again unto us, and teach us what we shall do unto the child that shall be born.

9 And God hearkened to the voice of Manoah; and the angel of God came again unto the woman: she sat in the field: but Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 And the woman made haste, and ran, and shewed her husband, and said unto him, Behold, the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me the other day.

11 And Manoah arose, and went after his wife, and came to the man, and said unto him, Art thou the man that spakest unto the woman? and he said, I am.

12 And Manoah said, Now let thy words come to pass: How shall we order the child? and how shall we do unto him?

13 And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah, Of all that I said unto the woman let her beware.

14 She may not eat of any thing that cometh of the vine, neither let her drink wine or strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: all that I commanded her, let her observe.

15 ¶ And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD, I pray thee, let us detain thee, until we shall have made ready a kid for thee.

16 And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah, Though thou detain me, I will not eat of thy bread: and if thou wilt offer a burnt-offering, thou must offer it unto the LORD: for Manoah knew not that he was an angel of the LORD.

17 And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD, What is thy name? that, when thy sayings come to pass, we may do thee honour.

18 And the angel of the LORD said unto him, Why askest thou thus after my name, seeing it is secret?

19 So Manoah took a kid, with a meat-offering, and offered it upon a rock unto the LORD; and the angel did wonderfully; and Manoah and his wife looked on.

He could not frame to pronounce it right:] Or rather, he did not frame or direct himself to speak so, or to speak right; i. e. so as he was required to do it. The Hebrew text doth not say, that he could not do it, but that he did it not; because he, suspecting not the design of it, uttered it speedily, according to his manner of expression.

22 And Manoah said unto his wife, We shall surely die, because we have seen God.

23 But his wife said unto him, If the LORD were pleased to kill us, he would not have received a burnt-offering and a meat-offering at our hands, neither would he have shewed us all these things, nor would, as at this time, have told us such things as these.

2 Samson desireth a wife of the Philistines:—5 killeth a lion: 8 findeth honey in the carcase:—10 his marriage-feast:—12 his riddle made known:—19 he spoileth thirty Philistines.

AND Samson went down to Timnath, and saw a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines.

2 And he came up, and told his father and his mother, and said, I have seen a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines: now therefore get her for me to wife.

3 Then his father and his mother said unto him, Is there never a woman among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, that thou goest to take a wife of the uncircumcised Philistines? And Samson said unto his father, Get her for me, for she pleaseth me well.

4 But his father and his mother knew not that it was of the LORD, that he sought an occasion against the Philistines: for at that time the Philistines had dominion over Israel.

5 ¶ Then went Samson down, and his father and his mother, to Timnath, and came to the vineyards of Timnath: and, behold, a young lion roared against him.

6 And the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him; and he rent him as he would have rent a rid, and he had nothing in his hand: but he told not his father or his mother what he had done.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman; and she pleased Samson well.

8 ¶ And after a time he returned to take her, and he turned aside to see the carcase of the lion: and, behold, there was a swarm of bees and honey in the carcase of the lion.

9 And he took thereof in his hands, and went on eating, and came to his father and mother, and he gave them, and they did eat; but he told not them that he had taken the honey out of the carcase of the lion.

10 ¶ So his father went down unto the woman, and Samson made there a feast; for so used the young men to do.

25. In the camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.] There was no army of the Danites encamped in the place where Samson displayed his valour; but this is the name of a place, in the Hebrew Machanadan, (the camp of Dan, where probably Samson lived, see chap. 18. 12.) where we find an account of an expedition of the Danites, which, though placed after, really happened before this transaction of Samson.

14 And he said unto them, Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness. And they could not in three days expound the riddle.

15 And it came to pass on the seventh day, that they said unto Samson's wife, Entice thy husband, that he may declare unto us the riddle, lest we burn thee and thy father's house with fire: have ye called us to take that we have? is it not so?

16 And Samson's wife wept before him, and said, Thou dost but hate me, and lovest me not: thou hast put forth a riddle unto the children of my people, and hast not told it me. And he said unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father nor my mother, and shall I tell it thee?

17 And she wept before him the seven days, while their feast lasted: and it came to pass on the seventh day, that he told her, because she lay sore upon him: and she told the riddle to the children of her people.

7 And Samson said unto her, If they bind me with seven green withs, that were never dried, then shall I be weak, and be as another man.

8 Then the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven green withs, which had not been dried, and she bound him with them.

9 (Now there were men lying in wait, abiding with her in the chamber:) And she said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he brake the withs, as a thread of tow is broken when it toucheth the fire: so his strength was not known.

10 And Delilah said unto Samson, Behold, thou hast mocked me, and told me lies: now tell me, I pray thee, wherewith thou mightest be bound.

11 And he said unto her, If they bind me fast with new ropes, that never were occupied, then shall I be weak, and be as another man.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. (And there were liers in wait abiding in the chamber.) And he brake them from off his arms like a thread.

13 And Delilah said unto Samson, Hitherto thou hast mocked me, and told me lies: tell me wherewith thou mightest be bound. And he said unto her, If thou weavest the seven locks of my head with the web.

14 And

the Hebrew name Schual is more general, and contains not only foxes, but another sort of creature very like to them, called thoes, whereof there were so many there, that sometimes two hundred of them have been met together in one company, as some who have lived in those parts have left upon record. But infidels are much scandalized at this history, and pretend, that it is incredible that Samson should catch so many foxes together; so nice and delicate is the faith of those men, in things concerning God and scripture, and yet can devour things ten times more difficult and absurd concerning the productions of the world, and of men, &c. But there is no cause of wonder here; for it is not said that Samson caught them all, either at one time, or by his own hands; for, being so eminent a person, and the judge of Israel, he might require assistance of as many persons as he pleased, and all his people would readily assist him; nor can it at all perplex any man's reason or faith, if it be allowed, that the God who made the world, and by his singular providence watched over Israel, and intended them deliverance at this time, could easily dispose things so, that they might be taken. He chose to do this exploit, not by his brethren, whom he would preserve from the envy, and hatred, and mischief, which that might have occasioned to them, but by brute creatures, thereby to add scorn and contempt to their calamity.

6. Burnt her and her father with fire.] Several MSS. read, Burnt her and her father's house; which reading is confirmed by the Syriac and other versions.

8. And he smote them hip and thigh.] It is not easy to explain the meaning of this expression. The Chaldee paraphrast interprets it, He smote both horsemen and footmen, the one resting on their legs, and the other on their thighs, as they sat close to their horses; but others suppose that he smote them on their legs and thighs, as they endeavoured to fly from him.

12. Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourselves.] Not that he feared them, or could not as easily have conquered them as he did the whole host of the Philistines; but because he would be free from all obligation or temptation of doing them any harm, though it were in his own just and necessary defence.

19. God clave an hollow place that was in the jaw, &c.] Lehi, which signifies a jaw-bone, is here the proper name of a place, and doubtless had its name from this prodigy of valour performed by Samson with the jaw-bone, and the miraculous fountain which God caused to burst out of the ground, to allay this hero's thirst: the passage therefore should have been rendered, And God clave an hollow place which was in Lehi. Modern travellers inform us, that, in the suburbs of Eleutheropolis, in all probability the ancient Lehi, the fountain which flowed on this occasion is still remaining, and called to this day, The fountain of the jaw.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 3. Took the doors of the gate of the city, &c.] He did not stay to break open the gates, but plucked the posts out of the ground, with the doors hanging, fast barred, upon them. This action so astonished the guards, that they had not power to follow him.

To the top of an hill that is before Hebron.] The Septuagint and Vulgate have it, that looketh towards Hebron: for it is not probable that he carried them to Hebron, which was near twenty miles distant from Gaza.

13. After this verse there is plainly a verse omitted, which the Septuagint has supplied—"Seven locks of my head with a web, and fasten them with a pin unto the wall; then shall I be weak, and be as another man. And it came to pass, when he slept, that Delilah took seven locks of his head, and wove them with a web, and fastened them with a pin," &c.

14 And she fastened it with the pin, and said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he awaked out of his sleep, and went away with the pin of the beam, and with the web.

15 ¶ And she said unto him, How canst thou say, I love thee, when thine heart is not with me? Thou hast mocked me these three times, and hast not told me wherein thy great strength lieth.

16 And it came to pass, when she pressed him daily with her words, and urged him, so that his soul was vexed unto death;

17 That he told her all his heart, and said unto her, There hath not come a razor upon mine head; for I have been a Nazarite unto God from my mother's womb: if I be shaven, then my strength will go from me, and I shall become weak, and be like any other man.

18 And when Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent and called for the lords of the Philistines, saying, Come up this once, for he hath shewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philistines came up unto her, and brought money in their hand.

19 And she made him sleep upon her knees; and she called for a man, and she caused him to shave off the seven locks of his head; and she began to afflict him, and his strength went from him.

20 And she said, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his sleep, and said, I will go out as at other times before, and shake myself. And he wist not that the LORD was departed from him.

21 ¶ But the Philistines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of brass: and he did grind in the prison-house.

22 Howbeit, the hair of his head began to grow again, after he was shaven.

23 Then the lords of the Philistines gathered them together, for to offer a great sacrifice unto Dagon their god, and to rejoice: for they said, Our god hath delivered Samson our enemy into our hand.

24 And when the people saw him, they praised their god: for they said, Our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy, and the destroyer of our country, which slew many of us.

25 And it came to pass, when their hearts were merry, that they said, Call for Samson, that he may make us sport. And they called for Samson out of the prison-house; and he made them sport: and they set him between the pillars.

26 And Samson said unto the lad that held him by the hand, Suffer me that I may feel the pillars whereupon the house standeth, that I may lean upon them.

27 Now the house was full of men and women; and all the lords of the Philistines were there: and there were upon the roof about three thousand men and women, that beheld while Samson made sport.

28 And Samson called unto the LORD, and said, O Lord God, remember me, I pray thee, and strengthen me, I pray thee, only this once, O God, that I may be at once avenged of the Philistines for my two eyes.

29 And Samson took hold of the two middle pillars, upon which the house stood, and on which it was borne up, of the one with his right hand, and of the other with his left.

30 And Samson said, Let me die with the Philistines: and he bowed himself with all his might; and the house fell upon the lords, and upon all the people that were therein. So the dead which he slew at his death were more than they which he slew in his life.

31 Then his brethren, and all the house of his father, came down, and took him, and brought him up, and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the burying-place of Manoah his father: and he judged Israel twenty years.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Of the money that Micah first stole, then restored, his mother maketh images,—5 and he, ornaments for them:—7 he birteth a Levite to be his priest.

AND there was a man of mount Ephraim, whose name was Micah.

2 And he said unto his mother, The eleven hundred shekels of silver that were taken from thee, about which thou cursedst, and spakest of also in mine ears, behold, the silver is with me: I took it. And his mother said, Blessed be thou of the LORD, my son.

3 And when he had restored the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said, I had wholly dedicated the silver unto the LORD, from my hand, for my son, to make a graven image and a molten image: now therefore I will restore it unto thee.

4 Yet he restored the money unto his mother: and his mother took two hundred shekels of silver, and gave them to the founder, who made thereof a graven image and a molten image: and they were in the house of Micah.

5 And the man Micah had an house of gods, and made an ephod, and teraphim, and consecrated one of his sons, who became his priest.

6 In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

7 ¶ And there was a young man out of Beth-lehem-judah, of the family of Judah, who was a Levite, and he sojourned there.

8 And the man departed out of the city from Beth-lehem-judah, to sojourn where he could find a place: and he came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah, as he journeyed.

9 And Micah said unto him, Whence comest thou? and he said unto him, I am a Levite of Beth-lehem-judah, and I go to sojourn where I may find a place.

10 And Micah said unto him, Dwell with me, and be unto me a father and a priest, and I will give thee ten shekels of silver by the year, and a suit of apparel, and thy victuals. So the Levite went in.

11 And

17. If I be shaven.] Not that his hair was in itself the seat or cause of his strength, but because it was the chief condition of that vow or covenant, whereby as he stood obliged to him, so God was pleased graciously to engage himself to fit him for, and assist him in, that great work to which he called him; but, upon his violation of his condition, God justly withdraws his help, and leaves him to himself.

20. Shake myself;] i. e. Put forth my strength to crush them, and deliver myself.

21. He did grind in the prison-house.] Before the invention of wind or water-mills, men made use of hand-mills, to grind their corn withal; probably in this prison where Samson was confined there was a public mill for that purpose.

23. Dagon;] Which is by most supposed to be an idol, whose upper part was like a man, and whose lower part was like a fish.

29. Samson took hold of the two middle pillars upon which the house stood.] The ingenious reader will be pleased to see the thoughts of the great Sir Christopher Wren on this famous fabric, which will give a more distinct idea of it than the conjectures of commentators, who are not such competent judges:—"In considering what this fabric must be, that could at one pull be demolished, I conceive it was an oval "amphitheatre, the scene in the middle, where a vast roof of cedar-beams, resting round upon the walls, centered all upon one short "architrave, that united two cedar pillars in the middle: one pillar "would not be sufficient to unite the ends of at least one hundred beams "that tended to the centre; therefore, I say, there must be a short

"architrave resting upon two pillars, upon which all the beams tending "to the centre of the amphitheatre might be supported. Now, if "Samson, by his miraculous strength, pressing upon one of these "pillars, moved it from its basis, the whole roof must of necessity "fall."

30. Let me die with the Philistines.] It has been doubted by many, whether Samson was not guilty of self-murder: but if it be considered that God raised him up as a scourge to the Philistines, and a judge and defender of Israel, he might devote his life to the public good, and the deliverance of his own people. And this purpose was in some measure answered: for the Philistines were so terrified and humbled at this closing scene of Samson's strength and courage, that when his brethren came to take away his body, to inter it in the burying-place of his father, they met with no molestation whatsoever.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 5. An house of gods.] It seems to have been Micah's intention to make an imitation of the house of God at Shiloh.

Teraphim.] See note on Gen. 31. 19.

7. Beth-lehem-judah:] So called here, as Matt. 2. 1, 5. to distinguish it from Beth-lehem in Zebulun, Josh. 19. 15. There he was born and bred.

8. To sojourn where he could find a place.] For employment and a livelihood; for the tithes and offerings, which were their maintenance, not being brought into the house of God, the Levites and priests must needs be reduced to great straits.

11 And the Levite was content to dwell with the man: and the young man was unto him as one of his sons.

12 And Micah consecrated the Levite; and the young man became his priest, and was in the house of Micah.

13 Then said Micah, Now know I that the LORD will do me good, seeing I have a Levite to my priest.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 The Danites send five men to seek out an inheritance:—
3 they consult with Jonathan:—7 search Laish.

IN those days there was no king in Israel: and in those days the tribe of the Danites sought them an inheritance to dwell in: for unto that day all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Israel.

2 And the children of Dan sent of their family five men from their coasts, men of valour, from Zorah, and from Eshtaol, to spy out the land, and to search it; and they said unto them, Go, search the land: who, when they came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah, they lodged there.

3 When they were by the house of Micah, they knew the voice of the young man the Levite: and they turned in thither, and said unto him, Who brought thee hither? and what makest thou in this place? and what hast thou here?

4 And he said unto them; Thus and thus dealeth Micah with me, and hath hired me, and I am his priest.

5 And they said unto him, Ask counsel, we pray thee, of God, that we may know whether our way which we go shall be prosperous.

6 And the priest said unto them, Go in peace: before the LORD is your way wherein ye go.

7 ¶ Then the five men departed, and came to Laish, and saw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careless, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and secure; and there was no magistrate in the land, that might put them to shame in any thing: and they were far from the Zidonians, and had no business with any man.

8 And they came unto their brethren to Zorah and Eshtaol: and their brethren said unto them, What say ye?

9 And they said, Arise, that we may go up against them: for we have seen the land, and, behold, it is very good: and are ye still? Be not slothful to go, and to enter to possess the land.

10 When ye go, ye shall come unto a people secure, and to a large land: for God hath given it into your hands; a place where there is no want of any thing that is in the earth.

11 ¶ And there went from thence of the family of the Danites, out of Zorah, and out of Eshtaol, six hundred men, appointed with weapons of war.

12 And they went up, and pitched in Kirjath-jearim, in Judah: wherefore they called that place Mahaneh-dan unto this day: behold, it is behind Kirjath-jearim.

13 And they passed thence unto mount Ephraim, and came unto the house of Micah.

14 ¶ Then answered the five men that went to spy out the country of Laish, and said unto their brethren, Do ye know that there is in these houses an ephod, and teraphim, and a graven image, and a molten image? now therefore consider what ye have to do.

15 And they turned thitherward, and came to the house of the young man the Levite, even unto the house of Micah, and saluted him.

16 And the six hundred men appointed with their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, stood by the entering of the gate.

17 And the five men that went to spy out the land went up, and came in thither, and took the graven image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image; and the priest stood in the entering of the gate, with the six hundred men that were appointed with weapons of war.

18 And these went into Micah's house, and fetched the carved image, the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image. Then said the priest unto them, What do ye?

19 And they said unto him, Hold thy peace, lay thine hand upon thy mouth, and go with us, and be to us a father and a priest: is it better for thee to be a priest unto the house of one man, or that thou be a priest unto a tribe and a family in Israel?

20 And the priest's heart was glad, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the graven image, and went in the midst of the people.

21 So they turned and departed, and put the little ones, and the cattle, and the carriage, before them.

22 ¶ And when they were a good way from the house of Micah, the men that were in the houses near to Micah's house were gathered together, and overtook the children of Dan.

23 And they cried unto the children of Dan: and they turned their faces, and said unto Micah, What aileth thee, that thou comest with such a company?

24 And he said, Ye have taken away my gods which I made, and the priest, and ye are gone away: and what have I more? and what is this that ye say unto me, What aileth thee?

25 And the children of Dan said unto him, Let not thy voice be heard among us, lest angry fellows run upon thee, and thou lose thy life, with the lives of thy household.

26 And the children of Dan went their way: and when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned, and went back unto his house.

27 And they took the things which Micah had made, and the priest which he had, and came unto Laish, unto a people that were at quiet, and secure: and they smote them with the edge of the sword, and burned the city with fire.

28 And there was no deliverer, because it was far from Zidon, and they had no business with any man: and it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob. And they built a city, and dwelt therein.

29 And they called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father, who was born unto Israel: howbeit, the name of the city was Laish at the first.

30 ¶ And the children of Dan set up the graven image: and Jonathan, the son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh, he and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan, until the day of the captivity of the land.

31 And

12. Micah consecrated the Levite.] A strange presumption in them both! Micah could pretend to no authority to consecrate; and the Levite was incapable of executing the priest's office, not being of the seed of Aaron. But such was the confusion of those times, for want of a judge, that Micah's superstition had no bounds, and the Levite's poverty and ambition induced him to accept of the proffered preferment.

13. The Lord will do me good, seeing, &c.] I am assured God will bless me. So blindly and grossly partial he was in his judgment, to think that one right circumstance would answer for all his substantial errors, in making and worshipping images against God's express command, in worshipping God in a forbidden place, and in that he, being an Ephraimite, presumed to make a priest.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

Verse 1. The tribe of the Danites; i. e. A part or branch of the tribe, consisting only of 600 men of war, ver. 16. with their families, ver. 21. Or, A family of the Danites; for the word Schehet, which properly signifies a tribe, is sometimes taken for a family.

14. Now therefore consider what ye have to do:] Whether it be not expedient, either to consult them again for your own satisfaction; or, rather, to take them away for your further use, as you shall have occasion; for their action is the best comment upon their words.

30. And the children of Dan set up the graven image.] This is the first account we meet with of an idol being set up in any city, to be resorted to by all the inhabitants.

The son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh.] Gershom was the son of Moses; and there are strong reasons for believing, that the word here was at first Moses, and not Manasseh. St. Jerom has expressed it Moses, and so the Vulgate reads it.

Until the day of the captivity of the land.] By the captivity of the land, is here meant the time when the ark of God was taken by the Philistines: and we find that this capture is in scripture styled a captivity: "He forsook the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent which he placed among men; and delivered his strength into captivity, and his glory into the enemies' hand," Psa. 78. 60, 61.

31 And they set them up Micah's graven image, which he made, all the time that the house of God was in Shiloh.

C H A P. XIX.

16 An old man entertaineth a Levite at Gibeah:—22 the Gibeabites abuse his concubine:—29 he divideth her into twelve pieces.

AN D it came to pass in those days, when there was no king in Israel, that there was a certain Levite sojourning on the side of mount Ephraim, who took to him a concubine out of Beth-lehem-judah.

2 And his concubine played the whore against him, and went away from him unto her father's house to Beth-lehem-judah, and was there four whole months.

3 And her husband arose, and went after her to speak friendly unto her, and to bring her again, having his servant with him, and a couple of asses: and she brought him into her father's house; and when the father of the damsel saw him, he rejoiced to meet him.

4 And his father-in-law, the damsel's father, retained him; and he abode with him three days: so they did eat and drink, and lodged there.

5 And it came to pass on the fourth day, when they arose early in the morning, that he rose up to depart: and the damsel's father said unto his son-in-law, Comfort thine heart with a morsel of bread, and afterward go your way.

6 And they sat down, and did eat and drink both of them together: for the damsel's father had said unto the man, Be content, I pray thee, and tarry all night, and let thine heart be merry.

7 And when the man rose up to depart, his father-in-law urged him: therefore he lodged there again.

8 And he arose early in the morning on the fifth day to depart: and the damsel's father said, Comfort thine heart, I pray thee. And they tarried until afternoon, and they did eat both of them.

9 And when the man rose up to depart, he and his concubine, and his servant, his father-in-law, the damsel's father, said unto him, Behold, now the day draweth toward evening, I pray you, tarry all night: behold, the day groweth to an end, lodge here, that thine heart may be merry: and to-morrow get you early on your way, that thou mayest go home.

10 But the man would not tarry that night, but he rose up and departed, and came over against Jebus, which is Jerusalem; and there were with him two asses saddled; his concubine also was with him.

11 And when they were by Jebus, the day was far spent; and the servant said unto his master, Come, I pray thee, and let us turn in unto this city of the Jebusites, and lodge in it.

12 And his master said unto him, We will not turn aside hither into the city of a stranger, that is not of the children of Israel; we will pass over to Gibeah.

13 And he said unto his servant, Come, and let us draw near to one of these places to lodge all night, in Gibeah, or in Ramah.

14 And they passed on, and went their way; and the sun went down upon them when they were by Gibeah, which belongeth to Benjamin.

15 And they turned aside thither, to go in and to lodge in Gibeah: and when he went in, he sat him down in a street of the city; for there was no man that took them into his house to lodging.

16 ¶ And, behold, there came an old man from his work out of the field at even, which was also of mount Ephraim: and he sojourned in Gibeah, but the men of the place were Benjamites.

17 And when he had lifted up his eyes, he saw a way-faring man in the street of the city: and the old man said, Whither goest thou? and whence comest thou?

18 And he said unto him, We are passing from Beth-lehem-judah toward the side of mount Ephraim; from thence am I: and I went to Beth-lehem-judah, but I am now going to the house of the Lord; and there is no man that receiveth me to house.

19 Yet there is both straw and provender for our asses; and there is bread and wine also for me, and for thy handmaid, and for the young man which is with thy servants: there is no want of any thing.

20 And the old man said, Peace be with thee: howsoever, let all thy wants lie upon me; only lodge not in the street.

21 So he brought him into his house, and gave provender unto the asses: and they washed their feet, and did eat and drink.

22 ¶ Now as they were making their hearts merry, behold, the men of the city, certain sons of Belial, beset the house round about, and beat at the door, and spake to the master of the house, the old man, saying, Bring forth the man that came into thine house, that we may know him.

23 And the man, the master of the house, went out unto them, and said unto them, Nay, my brethren, nay, I pray you, do not so wickedly; seeing that this man is come into mine house, do not this folly.

24 Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine; them I will bring out now, and humble ye them, and do with them what seemeth good unto you: but unto this man do not so vile a thing.

25 But the men would not hearken to him: so the man took his concubine, and brought her forth unto them; and they knew her, and abused her all the night until the morning: and when the day began to spring, they let her go.

26 Then came the woman in the dawning of the day, and fell down at the door of the man's house, where her lord was, till it was light.

27 And her lord rose up in the morning, and opened the doors of the house, and went out to go his way: and, behold, the woman his concubine was fallen down at the door of the house, and her hands were upon the threshold.

28 And he said unto her, Up, and let us be going: but none answered. Then the man took her up upon an ass, and the man rose up, and gat him unto his place.

29 ¶ And when he was come into his house, he took a knife, and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, together with her bones, into twelve pieces, and sent her into all the coasts of Israel.

30 And

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 1. A concubine;] i. e. A wife of the secondary sort, without such solemn espousals, or a dowry, as those called wives had. It is certain, such persons were really wives; and it was adultery in any one to lie with them but those who had married them.

2. Played the whore against him.] The Alexandrine copy of the Septuagint, and Aldus's edition, have it—was angry with him; neither the Septuagint nor Vulgate have any thing of fornication.

9. The day draweth toward evening;] Heb. It is the encamping time of the day; i. e. the evening; when armies, having marched in the day, begin to pitch their camps, and go to rest.

11. Let us turn in unto this city of the Jebusites, and lodge in it.] This was the city of Jerusalem, which had been taken by the children of Judah, but the Jebusites still kept possession of the strong fort of Zion till the days of David, from whence the children of Judah and Benjamin could not drive them out.

12. We will not turn aside—into the city of a stranger;] i. e. Of a strange nation; which the Canaanites possess: for though the city of Jerusalem had been taken by Caleb, Judg. 1. yet the strong fort of Zion was still in their hands, 2 Sam. 5. 6, 7.

15. There was no man that took them into his house.] The inhabitants of Gibeah had lost all notions of humanity; even the ancient hospitality, or custom of entertaining strangers, was quite abolished.

16. There came an old man from his work out of the field.] This man, who was himself only a sojourner, shewed that compassion on strangers which the wealthy inhabitants had denied.

24. Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine, &c.] We have a similar example in Lot, Gen. 19. 8. who, like this inhabitant of Gibeah, offered his daughters to the men of Sodom, to preserve inviolate the laws of hospitality.

26. Fell down at the door.] She fell down dead, through grief, and shame, and abuse.

29. And divided her.] This might seem to be a barbarous and inhuman act in itself; but will appear excusable, if it be considered, that the sadness of the spectacle did highly contribute to stir up the zeal of all the Israelites to avenge his concubine's death, and to execute justice upon such profligate offenders; and was necessary, especially in this time of anarchy and corruption, to awaken them out of that lethargy in which the tribes lay.

Into twelve pieces,] That every tribe might have a part, Benjamin not excepted; among whom, it was to be hoped, there were some who detested so foul a crime, and had courage to punish the cursed authors of it.

4 The Levite declareth his wrong.—14 The Benjamites make head against the Israelites,—21, 25, and destroy numbers.

THEN all the children of Israel went out, and the congregation was gathered together as one man, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, with the land of Gilead, unto the LORD in Mizpeh.

2 And the chief of all the people, even of all the tribes of Israel, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand footmen that drew sword.

3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up to Mizpeh.) Then said the children of Israel, Tell us, how was this wickedness?

4 And the Levite, the husband of the woman that was slain, answered and said, I came into Gibeah that belongeth to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to lodge.

5 And the men of Gibeah rose against me, and beset the house round about upon me by night, and thought to have slain me: and my concubine have they forced, that she is dead.

6 And I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed lewdness and folly in Israel.

7 Behold, ye are all children of Israel: give here your advice and counsel.

8 ¶ And all the people arose as one man, saying, We will not any of us go to his tent, neither will we any of us turn into his house.

9 But now, this shall be the thing which we will do to Gibeah: we will go up by lot against it:

10 And we will take ten men of an hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to fetch victuals for the people, that they may do, when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the folly that they have wrought in Israel.

11 So all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, knit together as one man.

12 ¶ And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, What wickedness is this that is done among you?

13 Now therefore deliver us the men, the children of Belial, which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evil from Israel. But the children of Benjamin would not hearken to the voice of their brethren the children of Israel.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. The congregation was gathered together as one man, from Dan even to Beer-sheba.] i. e. All Israel on both sides of Jordan. But the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, together with the Benjamites, must be excepted, who seem to have no sense of their wickedness. They were doubtless summoned as well as their brethren, but neglected to join them.

In Mizpeh.] The Mizpeh here mentioned stood on the confines of Judah and Benjamin. It was very conveniently situated for a meeting of all the people, who often assembled there in future times. It was not far from Shiloh, so that they could easily consult the Divine Majesty on any occasion.

2. And the chief of all the people.] Heb. the corners, i. e. the nobles and rulers; which are oft so called, because, like corner-stones, they unite, support, and adorn the whole building.

13. The children of Benjamin would not hearken to the voice of—the children of Israel.] They seem to have been as unanimous in the defence of this wickedness, as the rest of the tribes were in their endeavours to have it punished.

16. Seven hundred chosen men left-handed.] Seven hundred is mentioned, ver. 15. and therefore seems here to be redundant. The present German Jews, who are supposed to be of the tribe of Benjamin, are most of them left-handed.

23. And asked counsel of the Lord.] The phrase here used, upon both these consultations, of asking counsel of the Lord, often means no more than consulting their grand council or sanhedrim, with the high-priest at their head.

25. Eighteen thousand men.] In these two battles they destroyed forty thousand men, a much greater number than the Benjamites had in their 14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together out of the cities, unto Gibeah, to go out to battle against the children of Israel.

15 And the children of Benjamin were numbered at that time out of the cities twenty and six thousand men that drew sword, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbered seven hundred chosen men.

16 Among all this people there were seven hundred chosen men left-handed: every one could sling stones at an hair-breadth, and not miss.

17 And the men of Israel, besides Benjamin, were numbered four hundred thousand men that drew sword: all these were men of war.

18 ¶ And the children of Israel arose and went up to the house of God, and asked counsel of God, and said, Which of us shall go up first to the battle against the children of Benjamin? And the LORD said, Judah shall go up first.

19 And the children of Israel rose up in the morning, and encamped against Gibeah.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin: and the men of Israel put themselves in array to fight against them at Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came forth out of Gibeah, and destroyed down to the ground of the Israelites that day twenty and two thousand men.

22 ¶ And the people the men of Israel encouraged themselves, and set their battle again in array in the place where they put themselves in array the first day.

23 (And the children of Israel went up and wept before the LORD until even, and asked counsel of the LORD, saying, Shall I go up again to battle against the children of Benjamin my brother? And the LORD said, Go up against him.)

24 And the children of Israel came near against the children of Benjamin the second day.

25 And Benjamin went forth against them out of Gibeah the second day, and destroyed down to the ground of the children of Israel again eighteen thousand men: all these drew the sword.

26 ¶ Then all the children of Israel, and all the people, went up, and came unto the house of God, and wept, and sat there before the LORD, and fasted that day until even, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings before the LORD.

27 And the children of Israel enquired of the LORD, (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days;

28 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, stood before it in those days,) saying, Shall I yet again go out to battle against the children of Benjamin my brother, or shall I cease? And the LORD said, Go up: for to-morrow I will deliver them into thine hand.

29 And Israel set liers in wait round about Gibeah.

30 And

whole army. It has been asked, why the Israelites, in so just a cause, were defeated in two battles, especially as they had asked counsel of God? To which it may be answered, that though they had sent to the house of God to ask which of the tribes should go up first, and also whether they should again attack the Benjamites? yet they had never asked whether an enterprise of that nature would be pleasing to God or not. The truth is, they presumed upon his protection and assistance; and the vast superiority of their forces made them confident of success. But surely they should have asked whether God had decreed the destruction of their brethren; for to attack one of the tribes of Israel, without the approbation of Jehovah, who was the king of Israel, was an act of rebellion against him. But, supposing the grounds of the war justifiable, why might not God take this opportunity of punishing the Israelites by the hand of their brethren, for the tame permission of more enormous crimes than those they endeavoured to chastise? Did not they suffer spiritual adultery among them, at the very time they were so hot upon punishing carnal? The whole tribe of Dan had fallen into idolatry; but the rulers of Israel were so far from punishing it, that they connived at their apostacy: and therefore God thought proper to make use of the Benjamites as scourges, to punish their base connivance; for the wonderful wisdom of God's providence frequently employs the passions of men to fulfil his purposes, by making one wicked set of men the instrument of punishing another.

29. And Israel set liers in wait.] Though they were assured of the success, by a particular and absolute promise, yet they do not neglect the use of means, as well knowing that the certainty of God's purposes or promises doth not excuse, but rather require, man's diligent use of all fit means for the accomplishment of them.

ANNO-

30 And the children of Israel went up against the children of Benjamin on the third day, and put themselves in array against Gibeah, as at other times.

31 And the children of Benjamin went out against the people, and were drawn away from the city; and they began to smite of the people, and kill, as at other times, in the highways, of which one goeth up to the house of God, and the other to Gibeah in the field, about thirty men of Israel.

32 And the children of Benjamin said, They are smitten down before us as at the first. But the children of Israel said, Let us flee, and draw them from the city unto the highways.

33 And all the men of Israel rose up out of their place, and put themselves in array at Baal-tamar: and the liers in wait of Israel came forth out of their places, even out of the meadows of Gibeah.

34 And there came against Gibeah ten thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and the battle was sore: but they knew not that evil was near them.

35 And the LORD smote Benjamin before Israel: and the children of Israel destroyed of the Benjamites that day twenty and five thousand and an hundred men: all these drew the sword.

36 So the children of Benjamin saw that they were smitten; for the men of Israel gave place to the Benjamites, because they trusted unto the liers in wait which they had set beside Gibeah.

37 And the liers in wait hasted, and rushed upon Gibeah; and the liers in wait drew themselves along, and smote all the city with the edge of the sword.

38 Now there was an appointed sign between the men of Israel and the liers in wait, that they should make a great flame with smoke to rise up out of the city.

39 And when the men of Israel retired in the battle, Benjamin began to smite and kill of the men of Israel about thirty persons: for they said, Surely they are smitten down before us, as in the first battle.

40 But when the flame began to arise up out of the city, with a pillar of smoke, the Benjamites looked behind them, and, behold, the flame of the city ascended up to heaven.

41 And when the men of Israel turned again, the men of Benjamin were amazed: for they saw that evil was come upon them.

42 Therefore they turned their backs before the men of Israel unto the way of the wilderness; but the battle overtook them: and them which came out of the cities they destroyed in the midst of them.

43 Thus they inclosed the Benjamites round about, and chased them, and trode them down with ease over against Gibeah toward the sun-rising.

44 And there fell of Benjamin eighteen thousand men: all these were men of valour.

45 And they turned and fled toward the wilderness, unto the rock of Rimmon: and they gleaned of them in the highways five thousand men, and pursued hard after them unto Gidom, and slew two thousand men of them.

46 So that all which fell that day of Benjamin were twenty and five thousand men that drew the sword: all these were men of valour.

47 But six hundred men turned and fled to the wilderness, unto the rock Rimmon, and abode in the rock Rimmon four months.

48 And the men of Israel turned again upon the children of Benjamin, and smote them with the edge of the sword, as well the men of every city, as the beast, and all that came to hand: also they set on fire all the cities that they came to.

C H A P. XXI.

1 The people bewail the desolation of Benjamin.—8 By the destruction of Jabesh-gilead they provide them four hundred wives.—16 They advise them to surprise the virgins that danced at Shiloh.

NOW the men of Israel had sworn in Mizpeh, saying, There shall not any of us give his daughter unto Benjamin to wife.

2 And the people came to the house of God, and abode there till even before God, and lifted up their voices, and wept sore;

3 And said, O LORD God of Israel, why is this come to pass in Israel, that there should be to-day one tribe lacking in Israel;

4 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the people rose early, and built there an altar, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings.

5 And the children of Israel said, Who is there among all the tribes of Israel, that came not up with the congregation unto the LORD? for they had made a great oath concerning him that came not up to the LORD to Mizpeh, saying, He shall surely be put to death.

6 And the children of Israel repented them for Benjamin their brother, and said, There is one tribe cut off from Israel this day:

7 How shall we do for wives for them that remain, seeing we have sworn by the LORD, that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

8 ¶ And they said, What one is there of the tribes of Israel, that came not up to Mizpeh to the LORD? and, behold, there came none to the camp from Jabesh-gilead to the assembly.

9 For the people were numbered, and, behold, there were none of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead there.

10 And the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the valiantest, and commanded them, saying, Go and smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the edge of the sword, with the women and the children.

11 And this is the thing that ye shall do: ye shall utterly destroy every male, and every woman that hath lain by man.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred young virgins, that had known no man by lying with any male: and they brought them unto the camp to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 And the whole congregation sent some to speak to the children of Benjamin that were in the rock Rimmon, and to call peaceably unto them.

14 And Benjamin came again at that time; and they gave them wives which they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh-gilead: and yet so they sufficed them not.

15 And the people repented them for Benjamin, because that the LORD had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 ¶ Then the elders of the congregation said, How shall we do for wives for them that remain, seeing the women are destroyed out of Benjamin?

17 And they said, There must be an inheritance for them that be escaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel.

18 Howbeit, we may not give them wives of our daughters; for the children of Israel have sworn, saying, Cursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Then

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 3. One tribe lacking in Israel.] When the Israelites' fury against Benjamin was abated, and they began to consider seriously of what they had done; how they had almost totally destroyed one of the tribes of Israel, and had bound themselves by an oath never to marry their daughters to the poor remains of it, which must prove the extirpation of the whole; the joy and triumph of their late victory was turned into mourning and bitter lamentation.

10. Smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the—sword—women and children.] The massacre of the people of Jabesh-gilead, without ever sending to know the reason of their absenting themselves from the war, was a cruel expedient to extricate the Israelites from the difficulty in which their superstitious observance of an unlawful oath had involved them, and is a shocking instance of the iniquity and barbarity of those times; for surely, to slay the innocent with the guilty, to put the women and children to death, is the very height of injustice and cruelty.

11. Every woman that hath lain by man.] Here the Hebrew doctors raise a difficult question, as they account it, how they could know those who had lain with man, from those who had not, and give several fanciful solutions: but the plain account is no more than this, That they slew such as were not commonly reputed to be virgins, and saved those that were.

18. Cursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.] i. e. To this generation of Benjamites, who have made themselves guilty of this foul wickedness. But this oath did not extend to their posterity: and some think it had another exception, to wit, unless the surviving Benjamites could not otherwise be supplied with wives.

19 Then they said, Behold, there is a feast of the LORD in Shiloh yearly, in a place which is on the north side of Beth-el, on the east side of the highway that goeth up from Beth-el to Shechem, and on the south of Lebonah.

20 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying, Go, and lie in wait in the vineyards:

21 And see, and, behold, if the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch you every man his wife of the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin.

22 And it shall be, when their fathers or their brethren come unto us to complain, that we will say unto them, Be favourable unto them for our sakes: because we reserved not to each man his wife in the war: for ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye should be guilty.

23 And the children of Benjamin did so, and took them wives according to their number, of them that danced, whom they caught: and they went and returned unto their inheritance, and repaired the cities, and dwelt in them.

24 And the children of Israel departed thence at that time, every man to his tribe, and to his family, and they went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

25 In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

19. There is a feast of the Lord in Shiloh yearly.] All the three great festivals were to be observed at the place where God had settled his habitation, which was now at Shiloh, where the people assembled to praise God, and to feast one with another. The feast here meant was that of tabernacles, which was a time of great joy, because they had newly gathered their vintage: it was also the only season wherein the Jewish virgins were allowed to dance.

22. For ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye should be guilty.] It might more properly be rendered, Because ye did not give unto them at this time, ye are to blame.

23. And the children of Benjamin—took them wives according to their number.] Whatever may be said in justification of the Benjamites, the elders of Israel, who gave them this counsel and authority, had doubtless no right to dispose of the children of other persons without their consent and approbation. The rape of the Sabines is usually produced as a piece of history parallel to this: but it should be remembered, that Romulus, in whose reign it happened, was one of those princes who accounted every point that contributed to the establishment of his dominions not only lawful but glorious; and that every thing ceased to be a crime, when once it became necessary for reasons of state:

whereas the rulers of Israel either had, or should have had, different notions. They were governed by God, whose throne is established in righteousness, and certainly should have contrived some other means of establishing a diminished tribe, than those violent methods of rapes and forced marriages. But in one thing they did very well, that they permitted them to take wives only according to their number; i. e. every man a wife, and no more; by which we may see they had no very favourable opinion of polygamy, since they did not allow it in this case, when it might seem most necessary for the speedy reparation of a lost tribe.

25. In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes.] The sacred historian has here assigned the best reason for all the abuses committed in this and the preceding chapters. It was owing to this want of an established authority, that men committed many horrid actions, which were not publicly allowed. And this should teach us to be very thankful for the authority that is set over us, in order to prevent us from committing such enormous actions. Bad as the world is, we have every reason to believe it would be abundantly worse, were there no established authority, and every man left to do what is right in his own eyes.

REFLECTIONS ON THE BOOK OF JUDGES.

IT is impossible to read the history recorded by the Judges, without reflecting upon the ingratitude of the human heart, which shewed itself in a whole nation, even in the midst of their providential deliverances and unexpected success. No sooner was Joshua departed from them, than they forgot his injunctions, and their own repeated oaths and promises: they soon softened their attacks upon the idolaters; and, at last, we see them, in defiance of religion and policy, mix with them; and, in consequence of their folly and wickedness, draw upon themselves all the political evils which had been so repeatedly threatened. It would be of real service to those who read the Bible, if they would but carefully collect together, and reflect upon, the many circumstances, in the history of the Jews, which manifestly point out the necessity of religion and moral goodness, to the establishment of sound policy.

Human policy is not sound policy; it may blaze for a time, and make a short figure in the world, but, like a vapour, it soon dies away, and is never more to be rekindled.

One thing may be remarked in this Book; the great readiness of the Almighty to pardon their revoltings from him, upon any signs of repentance on their part. In their state of helpless wretchedness God pitied them. Their groaning, though not so much the cry of sorrow for sin as anguish for suffering, came before him, and he repented him of the evil. Soon he changed his dispensations towards them; and, though he might justly have left them to perish in their iniquities, yet, as beloved for the fathers' sake, and for purposes of his own glory, he raised them up Judges, men extraordinarily qualified to deliver them from their oppressors, and recover them from their backslidings. With these God vouchsafed his presence, blessing their labours, and giving success to their undertakings. Thus, in the Church's greatest distress and degeneracy, God does usually raise up some teachers eminently qualified, and as eminently zealous for his service, and the salvation of men's souls: whom God calls to his work, he will distinguish with his blessing.

The chief doctrine contained in this history is, the omnipotency and mercy of the great Creator, which we see exemplified in many instances. He frequently pardoned the offences of the Israelites; and led them to victory over their enemies by means which no human wisdom could foresee. It is therefore a great consolation, in human afflictions, to reflect, that there may be a way to extricate ourselves from them, though it may be known only to Him who made us.

THE BOOK of RUTH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS little Book, by whomsoever written, which is not material to know, is annexed to the Book of Judges, and by some of the Hebrew doctors, made a part of it. It is useful, as for many other points, so especially to shew the genealogy of David, and consequently of Christ, and the rise of Christ, from a Moabitish woman; which was an useful document, and a great encouragement to the Gentiles to believe in Christ.

CHAP. I.

- 1 Elimelech dieth at Moab:—5 also Mahlon and Chilion.—
8 Naomi dissuadeth her two daughters-in-law from going with her.—14 Orpah leaveth her, but Ruth accompanieth her.—19 They are gladly received at Beth-lehem.

NOW it came to pass, in the days when the judges ruled, that there was a famine in the land. And a certain man of Beth-lehem-judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab, he, and his wife, and his two sons.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife Naomi, and the name of his two sons Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah. And they came into the country of Moab, and continued there.

3 And Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died; and she was left, and her two sons.

4 And they took them wives of the women of Moab; the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelt there about ten years.

5 And Mahlon and Chilion died also both of them; and the woman was left of her two sons and her husband.

6 ¶ Then she arose with her daughters-in-law, that she might return from the country of Moab; for she had heard in the country of Moab how that the LORD had visited his people in giving them bread.

7 Wherefore she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her: and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi said unto her two daughters-in-law, Go, return each to her mother's house: the LORD deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me.

9 The LORD grant you that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband. Then she kissed them; and they lifted up their voice, and wept.

10 And they said unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 And Naomi said, Turn again, my daughters: why will ye go with me? are there yet any more sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands?

12 Turn again, my daughters; go your away; for I am too old to have an husband. If I should say, I have hope, if I should have an husband also to-night, and should also bear sons;

13 Would ye tarry for them till they were grown? would ye stay for them from having husbands? nay, my daughters; for it grieveth me much for your sakes that the hand of the LORD is gone out against me.

14 And they lifted up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law; but Ruth clave unto her.

15 And she said, Behold, thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods: return thou after thy sister-in-law.

16 And Ruth said, Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God:

17 Where thou diest will I die, and there will I be buried: the LORD do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.

18 When she saw that she was stedfastly minded to go with her, then she left speaking unto her.

19 ¶ So they two went until they came to Beth-lehem. And it came to pass, when they were come to Beth-lehem, that all the city was moved about them: and they said, Is this Naomi?

20 And she said unto them, Call me not Naomi, call me Mara: for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me.

21 I went out full, and the LORD hath brought me home again empty: why then call ye me Naomi, seeing the LORD hath testified against me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?

22 So

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. Beth-lehem-judah.] There were two places of the name of Beth-lehem; one in the tribe of Judah, and the other in that of Zebulun.

2. Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah.] So called, because this Beth-lehem is otherwise called Ephrath, or Ephratah, Gen. 35. 19. Mic. 5. 2. either from Caleb's wife of that name, 1 Chron. 2. 19. and 4. 4. or from the fertility of the soil about it; which title may therefore be used here, to shew the greatness of the famine, which affected even fertile parts.

4. They took them wives of the women of Moab.] This was absolutely forbidden by the Jewish law, unless the women were proselytes to the true religion.

8. Go, return each to her mother's house.] Not that they wanted fathers, Ruth 2. 11. but because daughters used to converse more frequently with their mothers, and to be most endeared to them, and to dwell in the same apartments with them, which then were distinct from those parts of the house where the men dwelt.

11. Are there yet any more sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands?] According to the ancient custom, Gen. 38. and the express law of God, Deut. 25. 5. which doubtless she had acquainted them with before, among other branches of the Jewish religion wherein she did instruct them.

15. Thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods.] Hence it appears, that Orpah was not a convert to the Jewish religion, but still continued to worship the gods of her country. This, however, did not hinder her from loving her husband while he lived, and retaining an affection for her mother-in-law after his death.

20. Call me not Naomi, call me Mara.] She was desirous her name should be conformable to her condition; the former signifying prosperity, and the latter bitterness, or grief.

ANNO-

22 So Naomi returned; and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, with her, which returned out of the country of Moab: and they came to Beth-lehem in the beginning of barley-harvest.

C H A P. II.

1 Ruth gleaneth in the fields of Boaz:—4 Boaz taking knowledge of her,—8 sheweth her great favour.

AND Naomi had a kinsman of her husband's, a mighty man of wealth, of the family of Elimelech; and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi, Let me now go to the field, and glean ears of corn after him in whose sight I shall find grace. And she said unto her, Go, my daughter.

3 And she went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her hap was to light on a part of the field belonging unto Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech.

4 ¶ And, behold, Boaz came from Beth-lehem, and said unto the reapers, The LORD be with you: and they answered him, The LORD bless thee.

5 Then said Boaz unto his servant that was set over the reapers, Whose damsel is this?

6 And the servant that was set over the reapers answered, and said, It is the Moabitish damsel that came back with Naomi out of the country of Moab:

7 And she said, I pray you, let me glean, and gather after the reapers among the sheaves: so she came, and hath continued even from the morning until now, that she tarried a little in the house.

8 Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Hearest thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here fast by my maidens.

9 Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after them: have I not charged the young men, that they shall not touch thee? and when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels, and drink of that which the young men have drawn.

10 Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou shouldest take knowledge of me, seeing I am a stranger;

11 And Boaz answered, and said unto her, It hath fully been shewed me all that thou hast done unto thy mother-in-law since the death of thine husband; and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not heretofore.

12 The LORD recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the LORD God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to trust.

13 Then she said, Let me find favour in thy sight, my lord; for that thou hast comforted me, and for that thou hast spoken friendly unto thine handmaid, though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.

14 And Boaz said unto her, At meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar. And she sat beside the reapers: and he reached her parched corn, and she did eat, and was sufficed, and left.

15 And when she was risen up to glean, Boaz commanded his young men, saying, Let her glean even among the sheaves, and reproach her not:

16 And let fall also some of the handfuls of purpose for her, and leave them, that she may glean them, and rebuke her not.

17 So she gleaned in the field until even, and beat out that she had gleaned: and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 ¶ And she took it up, and went into the city: and her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned: and she brought forth, and gave to her that she had reserved, after she was sufficed.

19 And her mother-in-law said unto her, Where hast thou gleaned to-day? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that did take knowledge of thee. And she shewed her mother-in-law with whom she had wrought, and said, The man's name with whom I wrought to-day is Boaz.

20 And Naomi said unto her daughter-in-law, Blessed be he of the LORD, who hath not left off his kindness to the living and to the dead. And Naomi said unto her, The man is near of kin unto us, one of our next kinsmen.

21 And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said unto me also, Thou shalt keep fast by my young men, until they have ended all my harvest.

22 And Naomi said unto Ruth her daughter-in-law, It is good, my daughter, that thou go out with his maidens, that they meet thee not in any other field.

23 So she kept fast by the maidens of Boaz to glean, unto the end of barley-harvest, and of wheat-harvest; and dwelt with her mother-in-law.

C H A P. III.

6 Ruth layeth herself at the feet of Boaz.—8 Boaz acknowledgeth the right of a kinsman.

THEN Naomi her mother-in-law said unto her, My daughter, shall I not seek rest for thee, that it may be well with thee?

2 And now is not Boaz of our kindred, with whose maidens thou wast? behold, he winnoweth barley to-night in the threshing-floor.

3 Wash thyself, therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor: but make not thyself known unto the man until he shall have done eating and drinking.

4 And it shall be, when he lieth down, that thou shalt mark the place where he shall lie, and thou shalt go in, and uncover his feet, and lay thee down; and he will tell thee what thou shalt do.

5 And she said unto her, All that thou sayest unto me I will do.

6 ¶ And she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother-in-law bade her.

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drunk, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of provision in general, with which they had vinegar for sauce, it being very cooling and refreshing in hot seasons.

17. About an ephah of barley.] An ephah is about seven gallons, two quarts, and about half a pint, wine measure.

18. That she had reserved.] Ruth brought what she had left when she was feasted with the reapers, and gave it to her mother-in-law.

21. Thou shalt keep fast by my young men.] The word which we render young men signifies all young people, and particularly the maidens, to whom he had bid her keep close, ver. 8.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. Shall I not seek rest for thee?] A life of rest, and comfort, and safety, under the care of a good husband.

2. Behold, he winnoweth.] This was commonly done in the evening, when the heat of the day was over, and cool breezes began to rise. See Gen. 3. 8.

3. Wash thyself therefore, and anoint thee.] Frequent bathings are necessary, and still used, in those hot countries, for cleanliness; and anointing, for smoothing the skin, and making it appear more amiable.

Until he shall have done eating and drinking.] Upon such occasions they made feasts for the labourers in the harvest.

4. Uncover his feet, and lay thee down.] This design of Naomi seems at first sight not very modest; but, as it had no other intention than what was agreeable to the law of God, it prospered accordingly.

7. He

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 2. After him in whose sight I shall find grace.] Either she did not know, that poor strangers had an equal right with the poor of Israel to glean after the reapers; or her modesty would not suffer her to challenge it as a right, but, on the contrary, to acknowledge it as a favour.

4. Lord be with you.] This is the first time we meet with this religious salutation, which we afterwards find was familiar, and continued even to the time of our blessed Saviour, when the angel saluted the blessed Virgin after this manner, Luke 1. 28.

7. She tarried a little in the house.] Not in Naomi's house, as may be gathered from verse 18, 19. but in the little house or tent, which was set up in the fields at these times, and was necessary in those hot countries, where the labourers or others might retire for a little repose or repast at fit times.

12. The Lord recompense thy work, &c.] He considered her leaving all that was dear to her in the world, to become a worshipper of the true God, as a very noble act of faith and virtue.

Under whose wings, &c.] This metaphor seems to be taken from the cherubims, who spread their wings from one side of the holy place unto the other, upon which the Divine Majesty sat.

13. Though I be,] A person more mean, necessitous, and obscure, being a stranger, and one born of heathenish parents, and not of the holy and honourable people of Israel, as they are.

14. Eat of the bread.] Under the word bread is comprehended of corn: and she came softly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.

8 ¶ And it came to pass at midnight, that the man was afraid, and turned himself: and, behold, a woman lay at his feet.

9 And he said, Who art thou? and she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid; for thou art a near kinsman.

10 And he said, Blessed be thou of the LORD, my daughter: for thou hast shewed more kindness in the latter end than at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followedst not young men, whether poor or rich.

11 And now, my daughter, fear not: I will do to thee all that thou requirest: for all the city of my people doth know that thou art a virtuous woman.

12 And now it is true, that I am thy near kinsman: howbeit, there is a kinsman nearer than I.

13 Tarry this night, and it shall be in the morning, that if he will perform unto thee the part of a kinsman, well; let him do the kinsman's part: but if he will not do the part of a kinsman to thee, then will I do the part of a kinsman to thee, as the LORD liveth: lie down until the morning.

14 ¶ And she lay at his feet until the morning: and she rose up before one could know another. And he said, Let it not be known that a woman came into the floor.

15 Also he said, Bring the veil that thou hast upon thee, and hold it. And when she held it, he measured six measures of barley, and laid it on her: and she went into the city.

16 And when she came to her mother-in-law, she said, Who art thou, my daughter? and she told her all that the man had done to her.

17 And she said, These six measures of barley gave he me; for he said to me, Go not empty unto thy mother-in-law.

18 Then said she, Sit still, my daughter, until thou know how the matter will fall: for the man will not be in rest, until he have finished the thing this day.

C H A P. IV.

6 The kinsman of Boaz refuseth the redemption.—9 Boaz buyeth the inheritance:—10 marrieth Ruth:—13 who beareth Obed.

THEN went Boaz up to the gate, and sat him down there: and, behold, the kinsman of whom Boaz spake came by; unto whom he said, Ho, such a one! turn aside, sit down here. And he turned aside, and sat down.

2 And he took ten men of the elders of the city, and said, Sit ye down here. And they sat down.

3 And he said unto the kinsman; Naomi, that is come again out of the country of Moab, selleth a parcel of land which was our brother Elimelech's.

4 And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it; but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it besides thee; and I am after thee. And he said, I will redeem it.

5 Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must buy it also of Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of the dead, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.

6 ¶ And the kinsman said, I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I mar mine own inheritance: redeem thou my right to thyself, for I cannot redeem it.

7 Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming, and concerning changing, for to confirm all things: A man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel.

8 Therefore the kinsman said unto Boaz, Buy it for thee: so he drew off his shoe.

9 And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi.

10 Moreover, Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of Mahlon, have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witnesses this day.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders, said, We are witnesses: The LORD make the woman that is come into thine house like Rachel and like Leah, which two did build the house of Israel: and do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Beth-lehem.

12 And let thy house be like the house of Pharez, (whom Tamar bare unto Judah,) of the seed which the LORD shall give thee of this young woman.

13 ¶ So Boaz took Ruth, and she was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the LORD gave her conception, and she bare a son.

14 And the women said unto Naomi, Blessed be the LORD, which hath not left thee this day without a kinsman, that his name may be famous in Israel.

15 And he shall be unto thee a restorer of thy life, and a nourisher of thine old age; for thy daughter-in-law, which loveth thee, which is better to thee than seven sons, hath borne him.

16 And Naomi took the child, and laid it in her bosom, and became nurse unto it.

17 And the women her neighbours gave it a name, saying, There is a son born to Naomi; and they called his name Obed: he is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

18 ¶ Now these are the generations of Pharez: Pharez begat Hezron,

19 And Hezron begat Ram, and Ram begat Amminadab,

20 And Amminadab begat Nahshon, and Nahshon begat Salmon,

21 And Salmon begat Boaz, and Boaz begat Obed,

22 And Obed begat Jesse, and Jesse begat David.

7. He went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn.] Such was the simplicity of these early times, that the most wealthy persons looked after their own business, both at home and in the field. These threshing floors were covered at the top, to keep off the rain; but open on all sides, to give a free passage to the wind for winnowing the corn. They seem, however, to have been shut up at night, to prevent robbers from entering them, and stealing the corn and instruments of husbandry, which were commonly left there.

9. Spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid.] i. e. Take me to be thy wife, and perform the duty of an husband to me. This phrase is used in this sense, Deut. 22. 30. and 27. 20. Ezek. 16. 8. either, because the wife is admitted into the same bed with her husband, and both are covered with one and the same covering; or, rather, from an ancient ceremony of the husband's throwing the skirt of his garment over her head, in token both of her subjection, 1 Cor. 11. 5, 6, 10. and appropriation to him, being hereby as it were hid from the eyes of others; and also of that protection which he oweth to her.

10. Inasmuch as thou followedst not young men.] This is an high commendation of her modesty, that she did not seek a husband to please her own taste, but to preserve the memory of him who was dead.

15. Bring the veil that thou hast upon thee.] Dr. Shaw thinks this veil was something like what the Arabians now wear, called a hyke, which serves for a complete dress by day, and for a covering by night: it is usually about six yards long, and five or six feet broad.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 1. Up to the gate.] Where the judges determined causes.

3. Naomi—selleth a parcel of land, which was our brother Elimelech's.] He calls him their brother because he was a near kinsman; and mentions Naomi's return out of the country of Moab, to intimate, that her poverty obliged her to sell the inheritance her husband had left her.

5. Thou must buy it also of Ruth, &c.] There are here some errors in the original, which, when corrected by the authentic MSS. and versions, will make the translation run thus: "Then said Boaz, On the day thou takest the land of the hand of Naomi, thou must also take Ruth the Moabitess."

6. I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I mar mine own inheritance.] He had already a wife and family, and therefore was apprehensive that this marriage might be attended with many inconveniences.

7. A man plucked off his shoe, &c.] A sufficient evidence that he transferred all his rights to the person to whom he delivered his shoe. The reason of this custom is plain, it being a natural indication that he resigned his interest in the land by giving the other his shoe, on which he used to walk in it, that he might enter and take possession of it himself. This ceremony was different from that mentioned Deut. 25. 9.

11. Do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Beth-lehem.] These are two different names for the same place, where Boaz and Ruth both lived, and who they prayed might be a shining example of virtue to the inhabitants of that city.

12. Like the house of Pharez.] All the Beth-lehemites derived their origin from Pharez, whose family was very illustrious in Israel.

17. They called his name Obed.] That is, a servant; intimating, that he was appointed to take care of Naomi in her old age.

He is the father of Jesse, the father of David.] This book seems to have been written principally for the sake of this genealogy, it being necessary to trace the family to its origin, as the Messiah was to spring from it; and accordingly it is traced, in the following verses, from Pharez, the grandson of Jacob, to David.

THE FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL,

OTHERWISE CALLED

The First Book of the Kings.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE two Books of Samuel are public histories of the transactions under the two last Judges, Eli and Samuel, and under the two first kings, Saul and David, comprising the compass of about one hundred years. The Jews in general, with great probability, assert, that the first four and twenty chapters were written by Samuel himself, and the rest by the prophets Nathan and Gad; which assertion they found on this passage, in 1 Chron. 29. 29.—Now the acts of David the king, behold, they are written in the book of Samuel the seer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer. The Books of Samuel and Kings, being a continued history of the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah, are therefore called the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Books of Kings.

CHAP. I.

3 Elkanah worshippeth yearly at Shiloh:—5 he cherisheth Hannah,—9 who in grief prayeth for a child.—19 She beareth Samuel,—24 and presenteth him to the LORD.

NOW there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim, of mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephrathite.

2 And he had two wives; the name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

3 And this man went up out of his city yearly, to worship and to sacrifice unto the LORD of hosts in Shiloh: and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the priests of the LORD, were there.

4 ¶ And when the time was that Elkanah offered, he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and her daughters, portions:

5 But unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion; for he loved Hannah: but the LORD had shut up her womb.

6 And her adversary also provoked her sore for to make her fret, because the LORD had shut up her womb.

7 And as he did so year by year, when she went up to the house of the LORD, so she provoked her: therefore she wept, and did not eat.

8 Then said Elkanah her husband to her, Hannah, why weepest thou; and why eatest thou not? and why is thy heart grieved? am not I better to thee than ten sons?

9 ¶ So Hannah rose up, after they had eaten in Shiloh, and after they had drunk: (now Eli the priest sat upon a seat by a post of the temple of the LORD:)

10 And she was in bitterness of soul, and prayed unto the LORD, and wept sore.

11 And she vowed a vow, and said, O LORD of hosts, if thou wilt indeed look on the affliction of thine handmaid, and remember me, and not forget thine handmaid, but wilt give unto thine handmaid a man-child, then I will give him unto the LORD all the days of his life, and there shall no razor come upon his head.

12 ¶ And it came to pass, as she continued praying before the LORD, that Eli marked her mouth.

13 Now Hannah, she spake in her heart; only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard: therefore Eli thought she had been drunken.

14 And Eli said unto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? put away thy wine from thee.

15 And Hannah answered and said, No, my lord, I am a woman of a sorrowful spirit: I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but have poured out my soul before the LORD.

16 Count not thine handmaid for a daughter of Belial; for out of the abundance of my complaint and grief have I spoken hitherto.

17 Then Eli answered and said, Go in peace: and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition that thou hast asked of him.

18 And she said, Let thine handmaid find grace in thy sight, So the woman went her way, and did eat, and her countenance was no more sad.

19 ¶ And they rose up in the morning early, and worshipped before the LORD, and returned, and came to their house to Ramah: and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife; and the LORD remembered her.

20 Wherefore it came to pass, when the time was come about, after Hannah had conceived, that she bare a son, and called his name Samuel, saying, Because I have asked him of the LORD.

21 And the man Elkanah, and all his house, went up to offer unto the LORD the yearly sacrifice, and his vow.

22 But Hannah went not up; for she said unto her husband,

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. I.

Verse 1. Now there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim.] It is called Ramah, ver. 19. The title of Zophim, a watch-tower, seems to be added, from its having an high place or tower, where watchmen were placed in time of war.

4. And—he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and her daughters, portions;] i. e. Part of the peace-offerings, which belonged to him that offered them, except the fat, and the breast and right shoulder; whereby they had communion with the Lord, by partaking with him of his sacrifice.

No. 20.

5. Unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion;] Or, a double portion; in token of his extraordinary respect and kindness to her.

6. Her adversary—provoked her sore;] i. e. Peninnah was wont to deride her for being barren.

16. A daughter of Belial;] A person of an infamous character, regarding neither God nor man.

20. Samuel.] It is contracted from Saul-meel, i. e. asked of God: a name she chose to give him, to put him in mind that she had obtained him from God by ardent prayers.

husband, I will not go up until the child be weaned, and then I will bring him, that he may appear before the LORD, and there abide for ever.

23 And Elkanah her husband said unto her, Do what seemeth thee good; tarry until thou have weaned him; only the LORD establish his word. So the woman abode, and gave her son suck until she weaned him.

24 ¶ And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, with three bullocks, and one ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and brought him unto the house of the LORD in Shiloh; and the child was young.

25 And they slew a bullock, and brought the child to Eli.

26 And she said, Oh, my lord, as thy soul liveth, my lord, I am the woman that stood by thee here, praying unto the LORD.

27 For this child I prayed: and the LORD hath given me my petition which I asked of him:

28 Therefore also I have lent him to the LORD; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the LORD. And he worshipped the LORD there.

CHAP. II.

1 Hannah's song.—12 The sin of Eli's sons.—18 Samuel's ministry.—22 Eli reproveth his sons.

AND Hannah prayed, and said, My heart rejoiceth in the LORD; mine horn is exalted in the LORD; my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies; because I rejoice in thy salvation.

2 There is none holy as the LORD: for there is none besides thee; neither is there any rock like our God.

3 Talk no more so exceeding proudly, let not arrogance come out of your mouth: for the LORD is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.

4 The bows of the mighty men are broken, and they that stumbled are girded with strength.

5 They that were full have hired out themselves for bread: and they that were hungry ceased: so that the barren hath borne seven; and she that hath many children is waxed feeble.

6 The LORD killeth, and maketh alive: he bringeth down to the grave, and bringeth up.

7 The LORD maketh poor, and maketh rich: he bringeth low, and lifteth up.

8 He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghill, to set them among princes, and to make them inherit the throne of glory: for the pillars of the earth are the LORD's, and he hath set the world upon them.

9 He will keep the feet of his saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness: for by strength shall no man prevail.

10 The adversaries of the LORD shall be broken to pieces; out of heaven shall he thunder upon them: the LORD shall judge the ends of the earth; and he shall give strength unto his king, and exalt the horn of his anointed.

23. Only the Lord establish his word;] Or, The Lord establish his work; i. e. Perfect what he hath begun, by making the child grow till he was fit to attend on his service.

28. I have lent him to the Lord.] Verse the 11th, she says, I will give him unto the Lord: the original word is capable of the same signification, and should be translated alike in both places.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. II.

Verse 1. Hannah prayed, and said.] This little hymn is an instance how far superior several parts of scripture are to the finest composition of the heathen writers: here we have the truest sublimity of language, the boldest and justest metaphors of poetry, and the most exalted strains of devotion.

4. Are girded with strength.] Girdles were a principal part of the military habit among the ancients, and are elegantly translated to signify strength, or warlike power: hence the apostle, among his spiritual armour, exhorts the Ephesians to be girt about with truth, Eph. 6. 14.

5. The barren hath borne seven.] Hannah here foretels the great increase of the church: for the word seven signifies a multitude.

8. The pillars of the earth are the Lord's, &c.] The earth is the work of his hands, and upheld by his power.

10. Exalt the horn of his anointed.] This was literally fulfilled in David, who, by the help of his God, triumphed over all his enemies,

11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his house; and the child did minister unto the LORD before Eli the priest.

12 ¶ Now the sons of Eli were sons of Belial; they knew not the LORD.

13 And the priest's custom with the people was, that when any man offered sacrifice, the priest's servant came, while the flesh was in seething, with a flesh-hook of three teeth in his hand:

14 And he struck it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot; all that the flesh-hook brought up the priest took for himself. So they did in Shiloh unto all the Israelites that came thither.

15 Also before they burned the fat, the priest's servant came, and said to the man that sacrificed, Give flesh to roast for the priest; for he will not have sodden flesh of thee, but raw.

16 And if any man said unto him, Let them not fail to burn the fat presently, and then take as much as thy soul desireth; then he would answer him, Nay, but thou shalt give it me now: and if not, I will take it by force.

17 Wherefore the sin of the young men was very great before the LORD: for men abhorred the offering of the LORD.

18 ¶ But Samuel ministered before the LORD, being a child, girded with a linen ephod.

19 Moreover, his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice.

20 ¶ And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, the LORD give thee seed of this woman, for the loan which is lent to the LORD. And they went unto their own home.

21 And the LORD visited Hannah, so that she conceived and bare three sons, and two daughters: and the child Samuel grew before the LORD.

22 ¶ Now Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel; and how they lay with the women that assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

23 And he said unto them, Why do ye such things? for I hear of your evil dealings by all this people.

24 Nay, my sons: for it is no good report that I hear; ye make the LORD's people to transgress.

25 If one man sin against another, the judge shall judge him; but if a man sin against the LORD, who shall entreat for him? Notwithstanding, they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the LORD would slay them.

26 And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favour both with the LORD, and also with men.

27 ¶ And there came a man of God unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Did I plainly appear unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house?

28 And did I choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to offer upon mine altar, to burn incense, to wear an ephod before me? and did I give unto the house and was the most eminent type of the great King of all, the Lord Christ, to whom these words in the fullest sense belong, whose dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. It is remarkable, that the word Messiah, anointed, occurs here for the first time in the sacred writings; so that, though several had before prophesied of him, Hannah was the first that mentioned him by name.

12. The sons of Eli were sons of Belial;] Very wicked men.

21. The child Samuel grew before the Lord;] Not only in stature, but also in wisdom and virtue; of such unspeakable benefit is it to instil into the minds of children an early sense of God and religion, which will continue with them to the end of life, and constantly improve as they increase in years.

23, 24. Why do ye such things, &c.] This reproof is given in the language of an indulgent father, not that of a zealous judge; who ought to have punished them for such notorious crimes as they were guilty of in a very severe and exemplary manner.

25. They hearkened not, &c.] Or, as the words may be better rendered, "They did not hearken to their father, wherefore it pleased the Lord to slay them;" or, "They hearkened not—though the Lord threatened to slay them for their disobedience."

27. There came a man of God, &c.] Who this prophet was is not known. It is the safest way to own our ignorance of what the sacred historian has not thought proper to discover to us.

house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israel?

29 Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice, and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation; and honourest thy sons above me, to make yourselves fat with the chiefest of all the offerings of Israel my people?

30 Wherefore the LORD God of Israel saith, I said indeed, that thy house, and the house of thy father, should walk before me for ever: but now the LORD saith, Be it far from me; for them that honour me I will honour, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed.

31 Behold, the days come that I will cut off thine arm, and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an old man in thine house.

32 And thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation, in all the wealth which God shall give Israel: and there shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.

33 And the man of thine, whom I shall not cut off from mine altar, shall be to consume thine eyes, and to grieve thine heart: and all the increase of thine house shall die in the flower of their age.

34 And this shall be a sign unto thee, that shall come upon thy two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day they shall die both of them.

35 And I will raise me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to that which is in mine heart, and in my mind: and I will build him a sure house, and he shall walk before mine Anointed for ever.

36 And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left in thine house shall come and crouch to him for a piece of silver, and a morsel of bread, and shall say, Put me, I pray thee, into one of the priests' offices, that I may eat a piece of bread.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of the Lord revealed to Samuel.—11 The destruction of Eli's house foretold.

AND the child Samuel ministered unto the LORD before Eli: and the word of the LORD was precious in those days; there was no open vision.

2 And it came to pass at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not see;

3 And ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the LORD, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to sleep;

4 That the LORD called Samuel: and he answered, Here am I.

5 And he ran unto Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou calledst me. And he said, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

6 And the LORD called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called not, my son; lie down again.

7 Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD, neither was the word of the LORD yet revealed unto him.

31. I will cut off thine arm.] The Septuagint has it, Thy seed, and the seed, &c.

32. Thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation:] Rather, as in the margin, Thou shalt see the affliction of the tabernacle: which he did; for he saw the tabernacle deprived of its glory, the ark of the Lord, and lived to hear that it was taken by the Philistines.

There shall not be an old man in thine house for ever:] There shall not one of thy seed be promoted to any dignity.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. III.

Verse 1. Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli:] He performed such services at the tabernacle as Eli directed him.

The word of the Lord was precious in those days; there was no open vision.] Precious implies scarce. Whatever revelations God might think proper to impart to some pious persons privately, there was, at this time, none publicly acknowledged for a prophet, unto whom the people might resort to know the mind of God.

4. Called Samuel.] By an audible voice out of the tabernacle.

5. He ran unto Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou calledst me.] Persuaded that Eli had called him, he ran to know his pleasure.

6. And the Lord called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel arose, &c.] He knew that they only were in the tabernacle, and therefore concluded that Eli alone must call him.

8 And the LORD called Samuel again the third time; and he arose, and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And Eli perceived that the LORD had called the child.

9 Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go, lie down: and it shall be, if he call thee, that thou shalt say, Speak, LORD; for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 And the LORD came, and stood and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speak; for thy servant heareth.

11 ¶ And the LORD said to Samuel, Behold, I will do a thing in Israel, at which both the ears of every one that heareth it shall tingle.

12 In that day I will perform against Eli all things which I have spoken concerning his house; when I begin, I will also make an end.

13 For I have told him, that I will judge his house for ever, for the iniquity which he knoweth; because his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not.

14 And therefore I have sworn unto the house of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering for ever.

15 ¶ And Samuel lay until the morning, and opened the doors of the house of the LORD: and Samuel feared to shew Eli the vision.

16 Then Eli called Samuel, and said, Samuel, my son. And he answered, Here am I.

17 And he said, What is the thing that the LORD hath said unto thee? I pray thee hide it not from me: God do so to thee, and more also, if thou hide any thing from me of all the things that he said unto thee.

18 And Samuel told him every whit, and hid nothing from him. And he said, It is the LORD: let him do what seemeth him good.

19 ¶ And Samuel grew, and the LORD was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.

20 And all Israel, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the LORD.

21 And the LORD appeared again in Shiloh: for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the LORD.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Israelites overcome by the Philistines.—8 They fetch the ark, to the terror of the Philistines, &c.

AND the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Now Israel went out against the Philistines to battle, and pitched beside Eben-ezer: and the Philistines pitched in Aphek.

2 And the Philistines put themselves in array against Israel: and when they joined battle, Israel was smitten before the Philistines; and they slew of the army in the field about four thousand men.

3 ¶ And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath the LORD smitten us to-day before the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark

7. Samuel did not yet know the Lord, &c.] He was ignorant of the manner in which God revealed his mind unto the prophets.

8. The Lord called Samuel again the third time.] This repetition of the voice induced Eli to conclude that it was the Lord; by this means he was disposed to give credit to what Samuel should tell him, as an oracle of God.

12. When I begin, I will also make an end.] When I begin, I will not desist till all my threatenings are fulfilled. For the whole was not accomplished till Abiathar was deprived of the priesthood, when the family of Eli lost its dignity and honour.

18. It is the Lord: let him do what seemeth him good.] The foregoing sentence, pronounced by an artless child, who did not know the voice of the Lord till he instructed him, was much more terrible to Eli than the message before delivered by the prophet, and deeply affected him; for he here humbly acknowledges the justice of God, and submits to his sentence with a truly penitent heart.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IV.

Verse 1. The word of Samuel came to all Israel.] The revelation of God's will, which had been very scarce among them in former days, now grew more plentiful.

Pitched beside Eben-ezer.] This place is here mentioned prophetically; for it had not this name till about twenty years after, when Samuel totally defeated the Philistines here. It lay on the north borders of Judah, not far from Mizpeh.

ark of the covenant of the LORD out of Shiloh unto us, that, when it cometh among us, it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.

4 So the people sent to Shiloh, that they might bring from thence the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts, which dwelleth between the cherubims: and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there, with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth rang again.

6 And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews? And they understood that the ark of the LORD was come into the camp.

7 And the Philistines were afraid; for they said, God is come into the camp. And they said, Woe unto us! for there hath not been such a thing heretofore.

8 Woe unto us! who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty Gods? these are the Gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness.

9 Be strong, and quit yourselves like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you: quit yourselves like men, and fight.

10 ¶ And the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten, and they fled every man into his tent; and there was a very great slaughter: for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen.

11 And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were slain.

12 ¶ And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day, with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli sat upon a seat by the way-side, watching: for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city, and told it, all the city cried out.

14 And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, What meaneth the noise of this tumult? And the man came in hastily, and told Eli.

15 Now Eli was ninety and eight years old; and his eyes were dim, that he could not see.

16 And the man said unto Eli, I am he that came out of the army, and I fled to-day out of the army. And he said, What is there done, my son?

17 And the messenger answered and said, Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there hath been also a great slaughter among the people, and thy two sons also, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God is taken.

18 And it came to pass, when he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off the seat backward by the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died; for he was an old man, and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years.

19 ¶ And his daughter-in-law, Phinehas's wife, was with child, near to be delivered: and when she heard the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she bowed herself, and travailed; for her pains came upon her.

20 And about the time of her death, the women that stood by her said unto her, Fear not, for thou hast born a son. But she answered not, neither did she regard it.

21 And she named the child I-chabod, saying, The glory is departed from Israel: (because the ark of God was taken, and because of her father-in-law, and her husband.)

22 And she said, The glory is departed from Israel; for the ark of God is taken.

CHAP. V.

2 The Philistines place the ark in the house of Dagon,—4 who is smitten down and broken in pieces.

AND the Philistines took the ark of God, and brought it from Eben-ezer unto Ashdod.

2 When the Philistines took the ark of God, they brought it into the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagon.

3 ¶ And when they of Ashdod arose early on the morrow, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. And they took Dagon, and set him in his place again.

4 And when they arose early on the morrow morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground before the ark of the LORD: and the head of Dagon, and both the palms of his hands, were cut off upon the threshold; only the stump of Dagon was left to him.

5 Therefore neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's house, tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod unto this day.

6 But the hand of the LORD was heavy upon them of Ashdod, and he destroyed them, and smote them with emerods, even Ashdod and the coasts thereof.

7 And when the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said, The ark of the God of Israel shall not abide with us: for his hand is sore upon us, and upon Dagon our god.

8 They sent therefore, and gathered all the lords of the Philistines unto them, and said, What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? And they answered, Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about unto Gath. And they carried the ark of the God of Israel about thither.

9 And it was so, that, after they had carried it about, the hand of the LORD was against the city with a very great destruction: and he smote the men of the city, both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts.

10 Therefore

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. V.

Verse 1. Unto Ashdod,] Called also Azotus; a great and famous city, and most eminent for the worship of their great god Dagon.

2. The Philistines—brought it into the house of Dagon.] It was a custom among the ancient heathens to carry in triumph the gods of such nations as they vanquished. Thus Isaiah prophesies, that Cyrus would treat in this manner the gods of Babylon: "Bel boweth down, Nebo stoopeth; their idols were upon the beasts and upon the cattle—and themselves are gone into captivity," Isa. 46. 1, 2.

3. Behold, Dagon was fallen, &c.] They found him lying in the most humble posture before the ark of the Lord, acknowledging, as it were, the God of Israel to be above all gods.

4. And the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off.] The head is the seat of wisdom; the hands, the instruments of action: both are cut off, to shew that he had neither wisdom nor strength to defend himself, nor his worshippers.

Only the stump of Dagon was left to him:] Heb. Only Dagon; i. e. That part of it from which it was called Dagon, to wit, the fishy part of it, for dag, in the Hebrew, signifies a fish. And hence the opinion seems most probable, that this idol of Dagon had in its upper parts an human shape, and in its lower parts the form of a fish.

5. Therefore neither the priests, &c. tread on the threshold of Dagon:] Out of a religious reverence, supposing this place to be sanctified by the touch of their god, who first fell here, and being broken here, touched it more thoroughly than he did other parts. This superstition of theirs was noted and censured long after, Zeph. 1. 9.

8. Mighty gods.] The words which we render mighty gods, are, by Theodoret, translated the strong God, which better agrees with the preceding exclamation, God is come into the camp.

9. That ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you.] The Israelites had been kept in slavery by the Philistines all the time of Eli and of Samson, Judg. 13. 1.

11. And the ark of God was taken.] Which God justly and wisely permitted; partly, to punish the Israelites for their profanation of it; and partly, that by taking away the pretences of their foolish and impious confidence, he might more deeply humble them, and bring them to true repentance.

13. Eli sat upon a seat by the way-side.] He had probably caused a seat to be placed for him by the side of the gate of the city, that he might hear any tidings from the army, especially any thing that concerned the ark.

16. I am he that came out of the army.] I speak not what I have by uncertain rumours, but what mine eyes were witnesses of.

18. His neck brake, and he died.] Eli, though too indulgent a father, was not so affected at the death of his sons, and the slaughter of the people, as at hearing that the ark of the Lord was taken. This was a stroke too heavy for him to bear: he sunk under it, dropped from his seat, and expired.

19. And when she heard, &c.—she bowed herself, and travailed.] Her pains came upon her before her time, which is often the effect of great terror, both in women and in other creatures, Psa. 29. 9. The word translated bowed herself, signifies she fell on her knees, as the manner was in those countries.

21. She named the child I-chabod.] i. e. Inglorious; for the reason given in the text, the glory is departed from Israel.

10 Therefore they sent the ark of God to Ekron: and it came to pass, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, saying, They have brought about the ark of the God of Israel to us, to slay us, and our people.

11 So they sent, and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines, and said, Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it go again to his own place, that it slay us not, and our people: for there was a deadly destruction throughout all the city; the hand of God was very heavy there.

12 And the men that died not were smitten with the emerods: and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

C H A P. VI.

2 The Philistines take counsel how to send back the ark.—

10 They bring it unto Beth-shemesh.

AN D the ark of the LORD was in the country of the Philistines seven months.

2 And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying, What shall we do to the ark of the LORD? tell us wherewith we shall send it to his place.

3 And they said, If ye send away the ark of the God of Israel, send it not empty; but in any wise return him a trespass-offering: then ye shall be healed, and it shall be known to you why his hand is not removed from you.

4 Then said they, What shall be the trespass-offering which we shall return to him? They answered, Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines: for one plague was on you all, and on your lords.

5 Wherefore ye shall make images of your emerods, and images of your mice that mar the land; and ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel: peradventure he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land.

6 Wherefore then do ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? when he had wrought wonderfully among them, did they not let the people go, and they departed?

7 Now therefore make a new cart, and take two milch-kine, on which there hath come no yoke, and tie the kine to the cart, and bring their calves home from them.

8 And take the ark of the LORD, and lay it upon the cart: and put the jewels of gold, which ye return him for a trespass-offering, in a coffer by the side thereof; and send it away, that it may go.

9 And see, if it goeth up by the way of his own coast to Beth-shemesh, then he hath done us this great evil: but if not, then we shall know that it is not his hand that smote us: it was a chance that happened to us.

10 ¶ And the men did so: and took two milch-kine, and tied them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home.

12. The men that died not were smitten with the emerods, &c.] Some were stricken with the pestilence as soon as the ark came thither; and others lingered under intolerable pains, which made them cry out in an inexpressible manner. See Deut. 28. 27. Probably emerods is a contraction of hemorrhoids, or piles.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VI.

Verse 4. Five golden emerods, and five golden mice.] All nations were formerly of opinion, that the gods, when angry, could only be appeased with honorary gifts; and it was also customary among them, to consecrate such monuments of their deliverance to them as represented the evils from which they had been delivered, or the members which had been disordered.

5. Images of your mice, &c.] Their country was infested by mice, which had eaten their corn, and other fruits of the earth.

Ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel:] The glory of his power in conquering you, who seemed and pretended to have conquered him; of his justice in punishing you; and of his goodness, if he shall relieve you.

7. And take two milch-kine, on which there hath come no yoke:] Partly in respect to the ark, and partly for the better discovery, because such untamed heifers are wanton, and apt to wander, and keep no certain and constant paths, as oxen accustomed to the yoke do, and therefore were most unlikely to keep the direct road to Israel's land.

And bring their calves home from them:] Which would stir up natural affection in their dams, and cause them rather to return home than to go to a strange country.

8. And put the jewels—in a coffer by the side thereof:] For they durst not presume to open the ark, to put them within it.

12. The kine took the straight way to the way of Beth-shemesh.] Though they had no visible director, they took the straight road to Beth-shemesh,

No. 20.

11 And they laid the ark of the LORD upon the cart, and the coffer with the mice of gold and the images of their emerods.

12 And the kine took the straight way to the way of Beth-shemesh, and went along the highway, lowing as they went, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left; and the lords of the Philistines went after them unto the border of Beth-shemesh.

13 And they of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat-harvest in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it.

14 And the cart came into the field of Joshua a Beth-shemite, and stood there, where there was a great stone; and they clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

15 And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great stone: and the men of Beth-shemesh offered burnt-offerings, and sacrificed sacrifices, the same day unto the LORD.

16 And when the five lords of the Philistines had seen it, they returned to Ekron the same day.

17 And these are the golden emerods which the Philistines returned for a trespass-offering unto the LORD; for Ashdod one, for Gaza one, for Askelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one.

18 And the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines, belonging to the five lords, both of fenced cities, and of country villages, even unto the great stone of Abel, whereon they set down the ark of the LORD: which stone remaineth unto this day, in the field of Joshua the Beth-shemite.

19 ¶ And he smote the men of Beth-shemesh, because they had looked into the ark of the LORD, even he smote of the people fifty thousand and threescore and ten men: and the people lamented, because the LORD had smitten many of the people with a great slaughter.

20 And the men of Beth-shemesh said, Who is able to stand before this holy LORD God? and to whom shall he go up from us?

21 ¶ And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim, saying, The Philistines have brought again the ark of the LORD: come ye down, and fetch it up to you.

C H A P. VII.

1 The ark brought into the house of Abinadab.—5 The Israelites solemnly repent at Mizpeh.—13 The Philistines are subdued.

AN D the men of Kirjath-jearim came, and fetched up the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the house of Abinadab in the hill, and sanctified Eleazar his son, to keep the ark of the LORD.

2 And it came to pass, while the ark abode in Kirjath-jearim, without the least deviation, lowing all the way they went after their calves that had been taken from them, and to whom they would doubtless have returned, had not they been under the guidance of a higher Power, which conducted them forward to the land of Judah.

14. The cart came into the field of Joshua a Beth-shemite, &c.] Another miraculous particular, that the kine as soon as they came to Beth-shemesh, which was a city of the priests, should stop, and refuse to go any farther.

19. And he smote the men of Beth-shemesh, because they had looked into the ark of the Lord.] Having now an opportunity which they never yet had, nor were ever likely to have, it is not strange they had a vehement curiosity and desire to see the contents of the ark, or whether the Philistines had taken them away, and put other things in their place; and they thought they might presume the more, because the ark had been polluted by the Philistines, and now was exposed to open view, and not yet put into that most holy place, which they were forbidden to approach.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VII.

Verse 1. The men of Kirjath-jearim came, and fetched up the ark of the Lord.] If it be asked, why they did not carry the ark of the Lord to Shiloh, its ancient seat? It may be answered, that the Philistines had destroyed that place; and the tabernacle, on the death of Eli, was removed to Nob, where it remained till the death of Samuel.

Into the house of Abinadab in the hill.] This place they chose, because it was both a strong place, where it would be most safe, and an high place, and therefore visible at some distance, and to many persons; which was convenient for them, who were at that time to direct their prayers and faces toward the ark, 1 Kings 8. 29, 30, 35. Psal. 28. 2. and 138. 2. Dan. 6. 10. And for the same reason David afterwards placed it in the hill of Zion.

jearim, that the time was long; for it was twenty years: and all the house of Israel lamented after the LORD.

3 ¶ And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye do return unto the LORD with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods, and Ashtaroth, from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the LORD, and serve him only: and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.

4 Then the children of Israel did put away Baalim and Ashtaroth, and served the LORD only:

5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the LORD.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured it out before the LORD, and fasted on that day, and said there, We have sinned against the LORD. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpeh.

7 ¶ And when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard it, they were afraid of the Philistines.

8 And the children of Israel said to Samuel, Cease not to cry unto the LORD our God for us, that he will save us out of the hand of the Philistines.

9 ¶ And Samuel took a sucking lamb, and offered it for a burnt-offering wholly unto the LORD; and Samuel cried unto the LORD for Israel; and the LORD heard him.

10 And as Samuel was offering up the burnt-offering, the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel; but the LORD thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philistines, and discomfited them; and they were smitten before Israel.

11 And the men of Israel went out of Mizpeh, and pursued the Philistines, and smote them, until they came under Beth-car.

12 Then Samuel took a stone, and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Eben-ezer, saying, Hitherto hath the LORD helped us.

13 ¶ So the Philistines were subdued, and they came no more into the coast of Israel: and the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.

14 And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron even unto Gath; and the coasts thereof did Israel deliver out of the hands of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.

15 ¶ And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life.

16 And he went from year to year in circuit to Beth-el, and Gilgal, and Mizpeh, and judged Israel in all those places.

17 And his return was to Ramah; for there was his house: and there he judged Israel; and there he built an altar unto the LORD.

C H A P. VIII.

5 The Israelites ask a king of Samuel.—6 Samuel is comforted by God:—19 he yieldeth unto the importunity of the people.

6. Drew water, and poured it out before the Lord.] This passage in the most probable signification, in the eastern manner of expression, denotes the highest degree of grief and contrition: and thus the Chaldee paraphrast interprets it; They poured out their hearts in penitence, as water before the Lord. Grotius says, The effusion of water signifies tears.

11. And the men of Israel—pursued the Philistines, and smote them.] Quest. Whence had they weapons wherewith to smite them? Ans. Divers of them probably brought them to the assembly; others borrowed them at Mizpeh, or the neighbouring places; and the rest might be the arms of the Philistines, which they threw away to hasten their flight, as is usual in such cases.

12. Eben-ezer;] The stone of help. This total overthrow of the Philistines put an end to the forty years tyranny mentioned in Judg. 13. 1.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

Verse 3. His sons walked not in his ways, but—took bribes.] It has been asked, why God did not punish Samuel, as he had done Eli, for the wickedness of his sons? To which it may be answered, that Samuel's sons were far less guilty than those of Eli; for there is a wide difference between the taking bribes privately, and openly profaning the tabernacle, and rendering the worship of God contemptible.

7. That I should not reign over them.] Quest. 1. Did not God reign over them when they had kings? Ans. Yes, in a general way; but not in such a peculiar manner as he did by the judges, who were generally raised and called by God's particular appointment, endowed and sanctified by his Spirit, directed and assisted by his special providence upon all emergencies; whereas all things were for the most part contrary in their kings.—Quest. 2. Was it simply unlawful for the people to desire

AND it came to pass, when Samuel was old, that he made his sons judges over Israel.

2 Now the name of his first-born was Joel; and the name of his second, Abiah: they were judges in Beer-sheba.

3 And his sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment.

4 Then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah,

5 And said unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.

6 ¶ But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, Give us a king to judge us: and Samuel prayed unto the LORD.

7 And the LORD said unto Samuel, Harken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them.

8 According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt, even unto this day, wherewith they have forsaken me, and served other gods; so do they also unto thee.

9 Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit, yet protest solemnly unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reign over them.

10 ¶ And Samuel told all the words of the LORD unto the people that asked of him a king.

11 And he said, This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and to be his horsemen: and some shall run before his chariots.

12 And he will appoint him captains over thousands, and captains over fifties, and will set them to ear his ground, and to reap his harvest, and to make his instruments of war, and instruments of his chariots.

13 And he will take your daughters to be confectonaries, and to be cooks, and to be bakers.

14 And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your olive-yards, even the best of them, and give them to his servants.

15 And he will take the tenth of your seed, and of your vineyards, and give to his officers and to his servants.

16 And he will take your men-servants, and your maid-servants, and your goodliest young men, and your asses, and put them to his work.

17 He will take the tenth of your sheep: and ye shall be his servants.

18 And ye shall cry out in that day, because of your king which ye shall have chosen you; and the LORD will not hear you in that day.

19 ¶ Nevertheless, the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, Nay; but we will have a king over us,

20 That we also may be like all the nations; and that our king may judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles.

21 And

a king? Ans. No; as appears from Deut. 17. 14. but herein was their sin, that they desired it upon sinful grounds, of which see ver. 7. and in an imperious manner, and at an unseasonable time, and without asking leave or advice from God, which, in so weighty and difficult a case, they could not neglect without great sin.

11. This will be the manner of the king, &c.] Samuel does not, in this and the following verses, define what are the just rights of kings, but describes only such practices as the despotic princes of the east, who looked upon their subjects as so many slaves, were generally accustomed to; and his reason for drawing a king in these black colours seems to be, because the Israelites desired such a one as their neighbours had, who were all under the absolute dominion of their princes.

19. Nay, but we will have a king over us.] Though Samuel had painted the arbitrary power of the eastern monarchs in the strongest colours, yet they peremptorily demanded a king, notwithstanding he had told them, that this was throwing off the government of God, who had always heard their cry when they were oppressed by their enemies, but would now refuse to listen to their complaints, when they groaned under the oppression of a tyrant.

20. That we also may be like all the nations.] Hence it is plain, that their motives for demanding a king were no other than vanity and ambition: they thought themselves inferior to other nations, because they were destitute of the pomp and pageantry of state, which they vainly imagined would procure them the blessings of peace and tranquillity; whereas it was their glory and happiness that they were unlike all other nations, Numb. 23. 9. Deut. 33. 28. as in other glorious privileges, so especially in this, that the Lord was their only and immediate King and Lawgiver.

6 Saul takes counsel of his servant.—11 Is directed by young maidens.—18 Cometh to Samuel, who bringeth him on his way.

NOW there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a mighty man of power.

2 And he had a son whose name was Saul, a choice young man, and a goodly: and there was not among the children of Israel a goodlier person than he: from his shoulders and upward he was higher than any of the people.

3 And the asses of Kish, Saul's father, were lost: and Kish said to Saul his son, Take now one of the servants with thee, and arise, go seek the asses.

4 And he passed through mount Ephraim, and passed through the land of Shalisha, but they found them not: then they passed through the land of Shalim, and there they were not: and he passed through the land of the Benjamites, but they found them not.

5 And when they were come to the land of Zuph, Saul said to his servant that was with him, Come, and let us return; lest my father leave caring for the asses, and take thought for us.

6 And he said unto him, Behold now, there is in this city a man of God, and he is an honourable man: all that he saith cometh surely to pass: now, let us go thither; peradventure he can shew us our way that we should go.

7 Then said Saul to his servant, But, behold, if we go, what shall we bring the man? for the bread is spent in our vessels, and there is not a present to bring to the man of God: what have we?

8 And the servant answered Saul again, and said, Behold, I have here at hand the fourth part of a shekel of silver: that will I give to the man of God, to tell us our way.

9 (Before-time in Israel, when a man went to enquire of God, thus he spake, Come, and let us go to the seer: for he that is now called a Prophet was before-time called a Seer.)

10 Then said Saul to his servant, Well said: come, let us go. So they went unto the city where the man of God was.

11 ¶ And as they went up the hill to the city, they found young maidens going out to draw water, and said unto them, Is the seer here?

12 And they answered them, and said, He is; behold, he is before you: make haste now, for he came to-day to the city; for there is a sacrifice of the people to-day in the high place.

13 As soon as ye be come into the city, ye shall straightway find him, before he go up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat until he come, because he doth bless the sacrifice; and afterwards they eat that be bidden. Now therefore get ye up; for about this time ye shall find him.

14 And they went up into the city: and when they were come into the city, behold, Samuel came out against them, for to go up to the high place.

15 ¶ Now the LORD had told Samuel in his ear a day before Saul came, saying,

16 To-morrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be captain over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hand of the Philistines; for I have looked upon my people, because their cry is come unto me.

17 And when Samuel saw Saul, the LORD said unto him, Behold the man whom I spake to thee of: this same shall reign over my people.

18 Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, where the seer's house is.

19 And Samuel answered Saul, and said, I am the seer: go up before me unto the high place; for ye shall eat with me to-day, and to-morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart.

20 And as for thine asses that were lost three days ago, set not thy mind on them; for they are found: and on whom is all the desire of Israel? is it not on thee, and on all thy father's house?

21 And Saul answered, and said, Am not I a Benjamite, of the smallest of the tribes of Israel? and my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? wherefore then speakest thou so to me?

22 And Samuel took Saul and his servant, and brought them into the parlour, and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden, which were about thirty persons.

23 And Samuel said unto the cook, Bring the portion which I gave thee, of which I said unto thee, Set it by thee.

24 And the cook took up the shoulder, and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, Behold that which is left; set it before thee, and eat; for unto this time hath it been kept for thee, since I said, I have invited the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day.

25 ¶ And when they were come down from the high place unto the city, Samuel communed with Saul upon the top of the house.

26 And they arose early: and it came to pass, about the spring of the day, that Samuel called Saul to the top of the house, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel, abroad.

27 And as they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant pass on before us, (and he passed on,) but stand thou still a while, that I may shew thee the word of God.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. IX.

Verse 2. From his shoulders and upward, he was higher than any of the people.] A tall stature was much valued in a king in ancient times, and in the eastern countries.

3. Kish said to Saul his son—Arise, go seek the asses;] Which were there of great price and use, Judg. 10. 4. and 12. 14. because of the scarcity of horses, Deut. 17. 16. and therefore not held unworthy of Saul's seeking, at least in those ancient times, when simplicity, humility, and industry, were in fashion among persons of quality.

7. And there is not a present to bring to the man of God.] Such presents were then made to the prophets, 1 Kings 14. 2, 3. 2 Kings 4. 42. and 8. 8. either as a testimony of respect to him as their superior; (upon which account subjects made presents to their kings, 1 Sam. 10. 27. and the Persians never came to their king without some gift;) or, as a grateful acknowledgment of his favour; or, for the support of the prophets themselves.

9. A prophet was before-time called a Seer,] Because he did discern and could discover things secret and unknown to others.

12. In the high place.] This is the first instance we find of sacrifices being offered to God in high places, and is thought to have given rise to the synagogues and oratories, which were afterwards built in so many parts of the kingdom.

19. I—will tell thee all that is in thine heart:] Either all that thou desirest to know, as concerning the asses; or rather, the secret thoughts of thy heart, or such actions as none know but God and thy own heart; that so thou mayest be assured of the truth and certainty of that which I am to acquaint thee with.

24. For unto this time hath it been kept for thee, since I said, I have invited the people.] He told the cook he had invited some other persons besides the inhabitants of the city, and for these strange guests he would have this shoulder to be reserved; hence Josephus calls this part, the royal portion.

25. Upon the top of the house.] The tops of their houses were flat, and covered with a strong plaster of terras, which was guarded with a parapet-wall, battlements, or balustrades. Here several offices were performed, such as drying linen and flax, preparing figs and raisins; here likewise they enjoyed the refreshing breezes of the evening, conversed with their friends, and offered up their devotions.

27. Bid the servant pass on before us, &c.] He would have none to hear but himself; because he now meant only to give him private satisfaction, that God had chosen him to be the king of his people, before whom afterwards he was publicly chosen by lot.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. X.

Verse 1. Then Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it upon his head;] Which was the usual rite in the designation, as of priests and prophets, so also of kings, as 1 Sam. 16. 1, 13. 1 Kings 1. 39. 2 Kings 9. 1, 3, 6. whereby

2 When thou art departed from me to-day, then thou shalt find two men by Rachel's sepulchre, in the border of Benjamin, at Zelzah: and they will say unto thee, The asses which thou wentest to seek are found: and, lo, thy father hath left the care of the asses, and sorroweth for you, saying, What shall I do for my son?

3 Then shalt thou go on forward from thence, and thou shalt come to the plain of Tabor, and there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Beth-el, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine:

4 And they will salute thee, and give thee two loaves of bread; which thou shalt receive of their hands.

5 After that thou shalt come to the hill of God, where is the garrison of the Philistines: and it shall come to pass, when thou art come thither to the city, that thou shalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place with a psaltery, and a tabret, and a pipe, and a harp, before them; and they shall prophesy.

6 And the Spirit of the LORD will come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be turned into another man.

7 And let it be, when these signs are come unto thee, that thou do as occasion shall serve thee; for God is with thee.

8 And thou shalt go down before me to Gilgal; and, behold, I will come down unto thee, to offer burnt-offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace-offerings: seven days shalt thou tarry, till I come to thee, and shew thee what thou shalt do.

9 ¶ And it was so, that when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, God gave him another heart: and all those signs came to pass that day.

10 And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a company of prophets met him; and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them.

11 And it came to pass, when all that knew him before-time saw, that, behold, he prophesied among the prophets, then the people said one to another, What is this that is come unto the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?

12 And one of the same place answered and said, But who is their father? Therefore it became a proverb, Is Saul also among the prophets?

13 And when he had made an end of prophesying, he came to the high place.

14 ¶ And Saul's uncle said unto him, and to his servant, Whither went ye? And he said, To seek the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel.

15 And Saul's uncle said, Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said unto you.

whereby was signified the pouring forth of the gifts of God's Spirit upon him, to enable him for the administration of his office. This does not seem to have been sacred oil taken from the tabernacle, but common; for Samuel was not a priest, and therefore could not touch what was reserved in the sacred place, which was now at a great distance from Ramah.

And kissed him,] In token of subjection and reverence to him, according to the custom of the times, 1 Kings 19. 18. Psa. 2. 12.

5. The hill of God.] It seems to have been called the hill of God, because there was here a school of the prophets, who were called men of God. Here youth were instructed in the knowledge of the law, and the precepts of religion, and thence called the sons of the prophets. And it should be observed, that, though the Philistines had a garrison there, they spared those places which were set apart for the study of religion.

They shall prophesy:] That is, they shall sing the praises of God, as the word prophesy often signifies. See Exod. 15. 21.

6. The Spirit of the Lord will come upon thee, &c.] This sign could not fail of convincing Saul, that Samuel had done nothing of himself, but by the divine appointment of God himself; who could alone inspire him with such a remarkable gift, and endow him with such extraordinary prudence and courage.

8. Sacrifices of peace-offerings: seven days shalt thou tarry, &c.] These words should have been pointed in the following manner: "Behold, I will come unto thee to offer burnt-offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace-offerings, seven days. Thou shalt tarry till I come to thee," &c. Hence we see how great a fault Saul afterwards committed in not staying for Samuel, when the prophet had so fully assured him, that he would not fail to meet him.

9. God gave him another heart.] So great was the goodness of God towards him, that he immediately fulfilled the last and chief of these signs; for he was no sooner gone from Samuel, than he felt himself filled with wisdom and fortitude, to qualify him for the government of the people.

16 And Saul said unto his uncle, He told us plainly that the asses were found. But of the matter of the kingdom, whereof Samuel spake, he told him not.

17 ¶ And Samuel called the people together unto the LORD at Mizpeh;

18 And said unto the children of Israel, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all kingdoms, and of them that oppressed you:

19 And ye have this day rejected your God, who himself saved you out of all your adversities and your tribulations; and ye have said unto him, Nay, but set a king over us. Now therefore present yourselves before the LORD by your tribes, and by your thousands.

20 And when Samuel had caused all the tribes of Israel to come near, the tribe of Benjamin was taken.

21 When he had caused the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri was taken, and Saul the son of Kish was taken: and when they sought him, he could not be found.

22 Therefore they enquired of the LORD further, if the man should yet come thither: and the LORD answered, Behold, he hath hid himself among the stuff.

23 And they ran and fetched him thence: and when he stood among the people, he was higher than any of the people, from his shoulders and upward.

24 And Samuel said to all the people, See ye him whom the LORD hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? And all the people shouted, and said, God save the king.

25 Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the LORD: and Samuel sent all the people away, every man to his house.

26 ¶ And Saul also went home to Gibeah; and there went with him a band of men, whose hearts God had touched.

27 But the children of Belial said, How shall this man save us? And they despised him, and brought him no presents: but he held his peace.

CHAP. XI.

1 Nahash offereth them of Jabesh-gilead a reproachful condition. —4 They send messengers to Saul.—12 Saul confirmed, and his kingdom renewed.

THEN Nahash the Ammonite came up, and encamped against Jabesh-gilead: and all the men of Jabesh said unto Nahash, Make a covenant with us, and we will serve thee.

2 And

10. He prophesied among them.] The Chaldee paraphrast understands, by prophesying, adoring God, and singing praises to him. See ver. 5.

11. Is Saul among the prophets?] They were astonished at this sudden change in him, well knowing that his education gave them no reason to expect any such thing; for, instead of studying in the schools of the prophets, his whole attention had been engrossed by the care of his herds and flocks.

12. Who is their father?] The Septuagint and Vulgate read, Who is his father?

22. Behold, he hath hid himself among the stuff:] Among the carriages or baggage of the people there assembled. This he might do, because he either had, or at least would be thought to have, a modest sense of his own unworthiness, which was a likely way to commend him to the people.

27. The children of Belial—brought—no presents.] It was customary among the eastern nations, and is even to this day, to accompany their first salutation of a new king with presents; which were received as tokens of peace, joy, friendship, subjection, and obedience. These children of Belial were probably persons of consequence, and despised Saul, because he was of a small tribe, and obscure family; he acted, therefore, a very prudent part in holding his peace, being unwilling to create any disorder or tumult in the beginning of his reign.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. Then Nahash the Ammonite.] He was either the king or general of the Ammonites, who had before made war against Israel, which was the reason for their desiring a king.

Came up, and encamped against Jabesh-gilead.] This town lay on the east side of Jordan, and not far from the Ammonites, who besieged it. Its inhabitants were remarkable for their grateful remembrance of the services done them by Saul, by the honour and respect they shewed to his dead body, chap. 31. 11, 12.

2 And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may thrust out all your right eyes, and lay it for a reproach upon all Israel.

3 And the elders of Jabesh said unto him, Give us seven days' respite, that we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel: and then if there be no man to save us, we will come out to thee.

4 ¶ Then came the messengers to Gibeah of Saul, and told the tidings in the ears of the people: and all the people lifted up their voices, and wept.

5 And, behold, Saul came after the herd out of the field; and Saul said, What aileth the people that they weep? And they told him the tidings of the men of Jabesh.

6 And the Spirit of God came upon Saul, when he heard those tidings, and his anger was kindled greatly.

7 And he took a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the coasts of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, Whosoever cometh not forth after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done unto his oxen: and the fear of the LORD fell on the people, and they came out with one consent.

8 And when he numbered them in Bezek, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand.

9 And they said unto the messengers that came, Thus shall ye say unto the men of Jabesh-gilead, To-morrow, by that time the sun be hot, ye shall have help. And the messengers came and shewed it to the men of Jabesh; and they were glad.

10 Therefore the men of Jabesh said, To-morrow we will come out unto you, and ye shall do with us all that seemeth good unto you.

11 And it was so on the morrow, that Saul put the people in three companies; and they came into the midst of the host in the morning watch, and slew the Ammonites until the heat of the day: and it came to pass, that they which remained were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.

12 ¶ And the people said unto Samuel, Who is he that said, Shall Saul reign over us? Bring the men, that we may put them to death.

13 And Saul said, There shall not a man be put to death this day: for to-day the LORD hath wrought salvation in Israel.

14 Then said Samuel to the people, Come, and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there.

15 And all the people went to Gilgal, and there they made Saul king before the LORD in Gilgal: and there they sacrificed sacrifices of peace-offerings before the LORD: and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

CHAP. XII.

1 Samuel testifieth his integrity:—6 reproveth the people:—16 terrifieth them with thunder in harvest time:—23 comforteth them in God's mercy.

2. On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I—thrust out all your right eyes.] He was desirous of effectually disabling them from serving for the future in war; for, as the manner of fighting in those days was chiefly with bow and arrow, sword and shield, the loss of the right eye rendered them incapable of either; yet he did not think proper to put out both their eyes, because they would then have been disabled from doing him any service, or paying him tribute.

3. Give us seven days, &c.] It may seem strange, that Nahash should be willing to allow the Jabeshites the respite of the seven days. Josephus assigns this reason for it, viz. that he had so mean an opinion of the people and of Saul, who indeed had been appointed king, but not having as yet taken upon him the government, Nahash was persuaded he could not levy an army in so short a space, and consequently that there was no danger in granting them the respite they desired.

5. And—Saul came after the herd out of the field.] By this it appears, that some men, not only refusing to submit to him, but despising him, he went and lived a retired rustic life, leaving all to the management of Samuel.

7. Whosoever cometh not forth after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done unto his oxen.] Hence it appears, that the kings of Israel assumed such a power as Samuel had described, chap. 8. one part of which consisted in making war, and raising soldiers, by their sole authority, and punishing those who refused to join the army on their summons.

13. And Saul said, There shall not a man be put to death this day:] I will No. 20.

AND Samuel said unto all Israel, Behold, I have hearkened unto your voice in all that ye said unto me, and have made a king over you.

2 And now, behold, the king walketh before you: and I am old, and gray-headed, and, behold, my sons are with you: and I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.

3 Behold, here I am: witness against me before the LORD, and before his anointed: whose ox have I taken? or whose ass have I taken? or whom have I defrauded? whom have I oppressed? or of whose hand have I received any bribe to blind mine eyes therewith? and I will restore it you.

4 And they said, Thou hast not defrauded us, nor oppressed us, neither hast thou taken ought of any man's hand.

5 And he said unto them, The LORD is witness against you, and his anointed is witness this day, that ye have not found ought in my hand. And they answered, He is witness.

6 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, It is the LORD that advanced Moses and Aaron, and that brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt.

7 Now therefore stand still, that I may reason with you before the LORD of all the righteous acts of the LORD, which he did to you and to your fathers.

8 When Jacob was come into Egypt, and your fathers cried unto the LORD, then the LORD sent Moses and Aaron, which brought forth your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place.

9 And when they forgot the LORD their God, he sold them into the hand of Sisera, captain of the host of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab, and they fought against them.

10 And they cried unto the LORD, and said, We have sinned, because we have forsaken the LORD, and have served Baalim and Ashtaroth: but now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will serve thee.

11 And the LORD sent Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and ye dwelled safe.

12 And when ye saw that Nahash the king of the children of Ammon came against you, ye said unto me, Nay, but a king shall reign over us; when the LORD your God was your king.

13 Now, therefore, behold the king whom ye have chosen, and whom ye have desired: and, behold, the LORD hath set a king over you.

14 If ye will fear the LORD, and serve him, and obey his voice, and not rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then shall both ye, and also the king that reigneth over you, continue following the LORD your God.

15 But if ye will not obey the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then shall the hand of the LORD be against you, as it was against your fathers.

16 ¶ Now therefore stand and see this great thing which the LORD will do before your eyes.

not destroy any of those whom God hath so graciously preserved, nor sully the mirth of this glorious and comfortable day with the slaughter of any of my subjects; and therefore I freely forgive them. Wherein Saul shewed his policy as well as his clemency; this being the most likely way to gain his enemies, and secure his friends, and establish his throne in the hearts of his people.

14. Renew the kingdom:] i. e. Confirm our former choice, to prevent all such seditious expressions and actions as we had experience of at the former election.

15. And there they made Saul king:] i. e. They recognized him, or owned and accepted him for their king by consent; for, to speak properly, Saul was not made or constituted king by the people, but by the Lord's immediate act. See chap. 8. 9. and 10. 1.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XII.

Verse 5. That ye have not found ought in my hand:] i. e. Any thing which I have gotten by bribery or oppression.

11. Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel.] This is certainly wrong; there is no such name as Bedan. The Septuagint reads Barak: the Syriac and Arabic versions have also Barak; and they both read Samson as the last deliverer mentioned, where the Hebrew has Samuel. Samson was more likely to be celebrated by Samuel. He is also mentioned by St. Paul; Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah.

17 Is it not wheat-harvest to-day? I will call unto the LORD, and he shall send thunder and rain; that ye may perceive and see that your wickedness is great, which ye have done in the sight of the LORD, in asking you a king.

18 So Samuel called unto the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day: and all the people greatly feared the LORD and Samuel.

19 And all the people said unto Samuel, Pray for thy servants unto the LORD thy God, that we die not: for we have added unto all our sins this evil, to ask us a king.

20 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, Fear not: (ye have done all this wickedness: yet turn not aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart;

21 And turn ye not aside: for then should ye go after vain things, which cannot profit nor deliver; for they are vain.)

22 For the LORD will not forsake his people, for his great name's sake: because it hath pleased the LORD to make you his people.

23 Moreover, as for me, God forbid that I should sin against the LORD, in ceasing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way.

24 Only fear the LORD, and serve him in truth with all your heart: for consider how great things he hath done for you.

25 But if ye shall still do wickedly, ye shall be consumed, both ye and your king.

C H A P. XIII.

4 Saul calleth the Hebrews to Gilgal against the Philistines.—

6 The distress of the Israelites.—9 Saul sacrificeth.—11 Samuel reproveth him.—19 The Philistines suffer no smith in Israel.

SAUL reigned one year; and when he had reigned two years over Israel,

2 Saul chose him three thousand men of Israel: whereof two thousand were with Saul in Michmash and in mount Beth-el, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent every man to his tent.

3 ¶ And Jonathan smote the garrison of the Philistines that was in Geba, and the Philistines heard of it: and Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, Let the Hebrews hear.

4 And all Israel heard say, that Saul had smitten a garrison of the Philistines, and that Israel also was had in abomination with the Philistines: and the people were called together after Saul to Gilgal.

5 ¶ And the Philistines gathered themselves together to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and people as the sand which is on the sea shore in multitude: and they came up, and pitched in Michmash, eastward from Beth-aven.

6 When the men of Israel saw that they were in a strait, (for the people were distressed,) then the people did hide themselves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in high places, and in pits.

7 And some of the Hebrews went over Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead: as for Saul, he was yet in Gilgal; and all the people followed him trembling.

8 ¶ And he tarried seven days, according to the set time that Samuel had appointed: but Samuel came not to Gilgal; and the people were scattered from him.

9 And Saul said, Bring hither a burnt-offering to me, and peace-offerings. And he offered the burnt-offering.

10 And it came to pass, that as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt-offering, behold, Samuel came, and Saul went out to meet him, that he might salute him.

11 ¶ And Samuel said, What hast thou done? and Saul said, Because I saw that the people were scattered from me, and that thou camest not within the days appointed, and that the Philistines gathered themselves together at Michmash:

12 Therefore said I, the Philistines will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not made supplication unto the LORD: I forced myself therefore, and offered a burnt-offering.

13 And Samuel said to Saul, Thou hast done foolishly: thou hast not kept the commandment of the LORD thy God, which he commanded thee: for now would the LORD have established thy kingdom upon Israel for ever.

14 But now thy kingdom shall not continue: the LORD hath sought him a man after his own heart, and the LORD hath commanded him to be captain over his people, because thou hast not kept that which the LORD commanded thee.

15 And Samuel arose, and gat him up from Gilgal unto Gibeah of Benjamin: and Saul numbered the people that were present with him, about six hundred men.

16 And Saul and Jonathan his son, and the people that were present with them, abode in Gibeah of Benjamin: but the Philistines encamped in Michmash.

17 ¶ And the spoilers came out of the camp of the Philistines, in three companies: one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ophrah, unto the land of Shual.

18 And another company turned to the way to Beth-horon: and another company turned to the way of the border, that looketh to the valley of Zeboiim toward the wilderness.

19 ¶ Now there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel: (for the Philistines said, Lest the Hebrews make them swords or spears:)

20 But

17. Is it not wheat-harvest to-day? St. Jerom observes, that the wheat-harvest began in Judea about the end of June, in which season thunder and rain were never known, but only in the spring and autumn; the one called the former, and the other the latter rain: therefore Samuel intended to signify the greatness of the miracle God was going to work; who could in an instant, when they least expected it, deprive them of all the comforts of life, for rejecting him and his prophets.

21. Then should ye go after vain things. So idols are called, Deut. 32. Jer. 2. 5. and so they are, being mere nothings, 1 Cor. 8. 4. having no divinity nor power in them; no influence upon us, nor use or benefit to us.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

Verse 1. Saul reigned one year. This verse, taking the Hebrew in its present state, is an inextricable difficulty. The Septuagint entirely omits it; and there is no want of a proper connection of the history, when it is left out. The meaning seems to be, that in the first year of his reign he performed those things mentioned in the two preceding chapters; and, when he had reigned two years, these things fell out which we read in this chapter.

3. And Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land: i. e. He sent messengers to tell them all what Jonathan had done, and how the Philistines were enraged at it, and made great preparations for war, and therefore what necessity there was of gathering themselves together, and coming to him, for his and their own defence.

5. Thirty thousand chariots. It must not be supposed, that all these chariots were chariots of war; for none, even of the most powerful nations, ever had so prodigious a number. The Syriac and Arabic versions make them three thousand, which is far the more probable; for, in the accounts of all armies, the cavalry is always far more numerous than the war-chariots; which is not the case here.

6. Hide themselves in caves; Whereof there were divers in those parts for this very use, as we read in Josephus, and in the holy scripture.

8. Tarried seven days. Not seven complete days; for that the last day was not finished plainly appears from Samuel's reproof, which had then been groundless and absurd, and he had falsely charged Saul with breaking God's command therein, ver. 13. And as Samuel came on the seventh day, and that with intent to sacrifice, so doubtless he came in due time for that work, which was to be done before sun-setting, Exod. 29. 38, 39. So Saul waited only six complete days, and part of the seventh, which is here called seven days: for the word day is often used for a part of the day, as among lawyers, so also in the sacred scripture, as Matt. 12. 40. where Christ is said to be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights, i. e. one whole day, and part of the other two days.

13. Thou hast done foolishly: i. e. Wickedly; because his impatience prompted him, not only to distrust God's providence, but to usurp the priest's office.

Have established thy kingdom—for ever. How could this be true, when the kingdom was promised to Judah? Gen. 49. 10. It is answered, that the phrase for ever, in scripture, often signifies no more than a long time, as Gen. 43. 9. Exod. 21. 6. 1 Sam. 28. 2. and so the meaning is, that he would have enjoyed the kingdom as long as his posterity lasted.

14. A man after his own heart. Though this may be understood of David as a private man, yet doth it more immediately belong to him as a public character. He was a man after God's own heart, because he ruled his people Israel according to the Divine will: he did not suffer idolatry.

17. The spoilers came out, &c. The Philistines, finding no army to oppose them, detached three parties to ravage the country.

19. Now there was no smith found, &c. This was a politic course of the Philistines, which also other nations have used. So the Chaldeans took away their smiths, 2 Kings 24. 14. Jer. 21. 1. and 29. 2. And Por-

20 But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines, to sharpen every man his share, and his coulter, and his axe, and his mattock.

21 Yet they had a file for the mattocks, and for the coulters, and for the forks, and for the axes, and to sharpen the goads.

22 So it came to pass in the day of battle, that there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathan: but with Saul and with Jonathan his son was there found.

23 And the garrison of the Philistines went out to the passage of Michmash.

C H A P. XIV.

1 Jonathan smiteth the Philistines' garrison.—15 A divine terror maketh them beat themselves.—37 Saul asketh counsel.—47 His strength and family.

NOW it came to pass upon a day, that Jonathan the son of Saul said unto the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over to the Philistines' garrison, that is on the other side. But he told not his father.

2 And Saul tarried in the uttermost part of Gibeah, under a pomegranate tree which is in Migron: and the people that were with him were about six hundred men;

3 And Ahiah the son of Ahitub, I-chabod's brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the LORD's priest in Shiloh, wearing an ephod: and the people knew not that Jonathan was gone.

4 ¶ And between the passages, by which Jonathan sought to go over unto the Philistines' garrison, there was a sharp rock on the one side, and a sharp rock on the other side: and the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.

5 The forefront of the one was situate northward over against Michmash, and the other southward over against Gibeah.

6 And Jonathan said to the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over unto the garrison of these uncircumcised: it may be that the LORD will work for us: for there is no restraint to the LORD, to save by many or by few.

7 And his armour-bearer said unto him, Do all that is in thine heart: turn thee; behold, I am with thee according to thy heart.

8 Then said Jonathan, Behold, we will pass over unto these men, and we will discover ourselves unto them.

9 If they say thus unto us, Tarry until we come to you; then we will stand still in our place, and will not go up unto them.

10 But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the LORD hath delivered them into our hand; and this shall be a sign unto us.

11 And both of them discovered themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines: and the Philistines said, Behold, the Hebrews come forth out of the holes where they had hid themselves.

12 And the men of the garrison answered Jonathan and his armour-bearer, and said, Come up to us, and we will shew you a thing. And Jonathan said unto his armour-bearer, Come up after me; for the LORD hath delivered them into the hand of Israel.

13 ¶ And Jonathan climbed up upon his hands and upon his feet, and his armour-bearer after him: and they fell before Jonathan; and his armour-bearer slew after him.

14 And that first slaughter, which Jonathan and his armour-bearer made, was about twenty men, within as it were an half acre of land, which a yoke of oxen might plow.

15 And there was trembling in the host, in the field, and among all the people: the garrison, and the spoilers, they also trembled; and the earth quaked: so it was a very great trembling.

16 And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and, behold, the multitude melted away, and they went on beating down one another.

17 Then said Saul unto the people that were with him, Number now, and see who is gone from us. And when they had numbered, behold, Jonathan and his armour-bearer were not there.

18 And Saul said unto Ahiah, Bring hither the ark of God. For the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel.

19 ¶ And it came to pass, while Saul talked unto the priest, that the noise that was in the host of the Philistines went on and increased: and Saul said unto the priest, Withdraw thine hand.

20 And Saul and all the people that were with him assembled themselves, and they came to the battle: and, behold, every man's sword was against his fellow, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreover, the Hebrews that were with the Philistines before that time, which went up with them into the camp from the country round about, even they also turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

22 Likewise all the men of Israel which had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines fled, even they also followed hard after them in the battle.

23 So the LORD saved Israel that day: and the battle passed over unto Beth-aven.

24 ¶ And the men of Israel were distressed that day: for Saul had adjured the people, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food until evening, that I may be avenged on mine enemies. So none of the people tasted any food.

25 And

senna obliged the Romans by covenant, that they should use no iron but in the tillage of their lands. It may, however, seem strange, that after the total overthrow of the Philistines at Eben-ezer, the Israelites should neglect to restore those artificers, to furnish themselves with proper weapons against the next occasion. But it should be remembered, that an art, once lost, is not easily recovered; especially among a people extremely addicted to sloth and negligence, destitute of iron mines, and wholly intent upon the feeding of cattle.

20. The Israelites went down to the Philistines.] Not to the country of the Philistines, for that was too far off, but to their garrisons which they held among them.

22. There was neither sword nor spear, &c.] This want of swords and spears is not affirmed concerning all Israel, but is restrained unto those 600 who were with Saul and Jonathan, whom God by his providence might suffer to be without those arms, that the glory of the following victory might be wholly ascribed to him; as, for the very same reason, God would have but 300 men left with Gideon, and those armed only with trumpets, and pitchers, and lamps, Judg. 7. So also, in the famous victory which the Israelites gained over Sisera, Judg. 5. 8. But they had bows, and arrows, and slings, which the men of Gibeah could manage with surprising advantage, Judg. 20. 16.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIV.

Verse 1. Now it came to pass—that Jonathan, &c.] This action of Jonathan's, considered in itself, was rash, and contrary to the rules of war; which prohibit all under command from entering upon any enterprise without the general's order: but Jonathan seemed to be divinely impelled, by seeing the Philistines appearing as if they intended to assault Gibeah, and on the information received of the great spoil the three parties had taken from the poor inhabitants of the villages.

2. Under a pomegranate tree.] As the pomegranate tree is but low of growth, and very unfit to pitch a tent under, Sir Thomas Brown supposes the original word to stand for the name of a place.

12. Come up—and we will shew you a thing.] They mocked at them, thinking that they durst not attempt to climb up.

14. About twenty men, within as it were an half acre of land, which a yoke of oxen might plow.] This passage is very much confused: the Septuagint reads it thus: "That first slaughter was about twenty men, with darts, and stones, and flints of the field." This in all probability is the genuine reading: it is adopted by the learned Mr. Hallet in his Notes on the Scripture.

15. There was trembling in the host, &c.] How two men could put a whole army into such consternation, may seem somewhat extraordinary: but our wonder will cease when we consider, that they climbed up a way never before attempted; that they surprised the enemy unawares—perhaps when the greatest part were asleep; that God might infuse a panic fear into the host of the Philistines, which will make the stoutest tremble, and the most heroic spirits betake themselves to flight. The Hebrew is, "There was a trembling of God," i. e. which God sent among them; namely, a panic.

17. Number now, and see who is gone from us.] For he probably supposed, that not only Jonathan, but also some considerable number of his army, was gone, and that by them that slaughter was made.

19. Withdraw thine hand.] Trouble not thyself in putting on the breast-plate, with the ephod, to enquire of God; for I now plainly discern the matter; the business calls not for prayer, but for action.

21. The Hebrews that were with the Philistines.] The Septuagint properly reads, "The slaves that," &c. meaning such Hebrews as the Philistines had taken captive.

26. Behold,

25 And all they of the land came to a wood, and there was honey upon the ground.

26 And when the people were come into the wood, behold, the honey dropped; but no man put his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the oath.

27 But Jonathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipped it in honey-comb, and put his hand to his mouth: and his eyes were enlightened.

28 Then answered one of the people, and said, Thy father straitly charged the people with an oath, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food this day. And the people were faint.

29 Then said Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land: see, I pray you, how mine eyes have been enlightened, because I tasted a little of this honey.

30 How much more, if haply the people had eaten freely to-day of the spoil of their enemies which they found? for had there not been now a much greater slaughter among the Philistines?

31 ¶ And they smote the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon: and the people were very faint.

32 And the people flew upon the spoil, and took sheep, and oxen, and calves, and slew them on the ground: and the people did eat them with the blood.

33 ¶ Then they told Saul, saying, Behold, the people sin against the LORD, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye have transgressed: roll a great stone unto me this day.

34 And Saul said, Disperse yourselves among the people, and say unto them, Bring me hither every man his ox, and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and eat; and sin not against the LORD in eating with the blood. And all the people brought every man his ox with him that night, and slew them there.

35 And Saul built an altar unto the LORD: the same was the first altar that he built unto the LORD.

36 ¶ And Saul said, Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and spoil them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoever seemeth good unto thee. Then said the priest, Let us draw near hither unto God.

37 And Saul asked counsel of God, Shall I go down after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Israel? But he answered him not that day.

38 And Saul said, Draw ye near hither, all the chief of the people: and know and see wherein this sin hath been this day.

39 For as the LORD liveth, which saveth Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die. But there was not a man among all the people that answered him.

40 Then said he unto all Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side. And the people said unto Saul, Do what seemeth good unto thee.

41 Therefore Saul said unto the LORD God of Israel, Give a perfect lot. And Saul and Jonathan were taken: but the people escaped.

26. Behold, the honey dropped.] It has been observed by many travellers and writers, that bees do oft-times settle themselves, and make their hives and honey in the trunks of trees, or clefts of rocks, or holes of the earth; and this in divers countries, but eminently in this of Canaan, as may be gathered from Deut. 32. 13. Psa. 81. 16. whence it was called, a land flowing with milk and honey.

27. His eyes were enlightened:] i. e. His spirits and strength, which were quite spent with long abstinence from food, were restored, and he was enabled to proceed with fresh vigour in the pursuit of the enemy.

32. Eat them with the blood.] They did eat it raw, or but half-roasted; their hunger being so very sharp, that they forgot their duty.

33. Roll a great stone unto me:] That the cattle might be all killed in one place, under the inspection of Saul, or some other appointed by him for that work; and upon the stone, that the blood may sooner and better flow out.

39. But there was not a man—answered him.] Though many knew that Jonathan had transgressed his father's charge, ver. 28. yet he was so beloved, that none would discover him, especially as they were satisfied that his ignorance excused him.

44. Thou shalt surely die, Jonathan.] The temper of Saul here is very extraordinary, who would not spare his virtuous son, though in the next chapter he scrupled not to pardon a wicked king.

42 And Saul said, Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son. And Jonathan was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, Tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said, I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and, lo, I must die.

44 And Saul answered, God do so, and more also: for thou shalt surely die, Jonathan.

45 And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.

46 Then Saul went up from following the Philistines: and the Philistines went to their own place.

47 ¶ So Saul took the kingdom over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, and against the children of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines; and whithersoever he turned himself, he vexed them.

48 And he gathered an host, and smote the Amalekites, and delivered Israel out of the hands of them that spoiled them.

49 ¶ Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui, and Melchi-shua: and the names of his two daughters were these; the name of the first-born Merab, and the name of the younger Michal:

50 And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz: and the name of the captain of his host was Abner, the son of Ner, Saul's uncle.

51 And Kish was the father of Saul; and Ner the father of Abner, was the son of Abiel.

52 And there was sore war against the Philistines all the days of Saul: and when Saul saw any strong man, or any valiant man, he took him unto him.

CHAP. XV.

1 Saul sent to destroy Amalek.—6 Favouresth the Kenites.—10 God's rejection of him for his disobedience.—25 Saul's humiliation.—34 Samuel and Saul part.

SAMUEL also said unto Saul, The LORD sent me to anoint thee to be king over his people, over Israel: now therefore hearken thou unto the voice of the words of the LORD.

2 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I remember that which Amalek did to Israel, how he laid wait for him in the way, when he came up from Egypt.

3 Now go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy all that they have, and spare them not; but slay both man and woman, infant and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and ass.

4 And Saul gathered the people together, and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Judah.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek, and laid wait in the valley.

6 ¶ And

45. The people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die? &c.] The people were so highly pleased with the heroic actions of Jonathan, that they would not suffer his father to put him to death, in consequence of his rash oath; though they did not rescue him by force, but by their unanimous petitions.

47. Saul took the kingdom over Israel:] He ruled with greater authority over his people.

49. Now the sons of Saul, &c.] Ish-bosheth, Saul's other son, is here omitted, because he intended to mention only those of his sons who went with him into the battles here mentioned, and who were afterwards slain with him.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XV.

Verse 3. Smite Amalek, &c.] This sentence was long before pronounced, Exod. 17. 14. renewed at the Israelites' entrance into Canaan, Deut. 25. 19. and now ordered to be put in execution.

4. And ten thousand men of Judah;] Who are particularly noted here, as also chap. 11. 8. either as select persons of extraordinary strength and courage; or, to commend that tribe, which, though the kingdom had been promised to their own tribe, yet were forward in serving and obeying a king of another, and that a far meaner tribe.

6. Saul

6 ¶ And Saul said unto the Kenites, Go, depart, get ye down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed kindness to all the children of Israel, when they came up out of Egypt. So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 And Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah until thou comest to Shur, that is over against Egypt.

8 And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.

9 But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, and of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not utterly destroy them: but every thing that was vile and refuse, that they destroyed utterly.

10 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Samuel, saying,

11 It repenteth me that I have set up Saul to be king: for he is turned back from following me, and hath not performed my commandments. And it grieved Samuel: and he cried unto the LORD all night.

12 And when Samuel rose early to meet Saul in the morning, it was told Samuel, saying, Saul came to Carmel, and, behold, he set him up a place, and is gone about, and passed on, and gone down to Gilgal.

13 And Samuel came to Saul; and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the LORD: I have performed the commandment of the LORD.

14 And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

15 And Saul said, They have brought them from the Amalekites; for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto the LORD thy God; and the rest we have utterly destroyed.

16 Then Samuel said unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what the LORD hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

17 And Samuel said, When thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel, and the LORD anointed thee king over Israel?

18 And the LORD sent thee on a journey, and said, Go, and utterly destroy the sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them until they be consumed.

19 Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of the LORD, but didst flee upon the spoil, and didst evil in the sight of the LORD?

20 And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the LORD, and have gone the way which the LORD sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.

21 But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the things which should have been utterly destroyed, to sacrifice unto the LORD thy God in Gilgal.

22 And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt-offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice; and to hearken than the fat of rams.

23 For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry: because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king.

24 ¶ And Saul said unto Samuel, I have sinned; for I have transgressed the commandment of the LORD, and thy words; because I feared the people, and obeyed their voice.

25 Now, therefore, I pray thee, pardon my sin, and turn again with me, that I may worship the LORD.

26 And Samuel said unto Saul, I will not return with thee: for thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD hath rejected thee from being king over Israel.

27 And as Samuel turned about to go away, he laid hold upon the skirt of his mantle, and it rent.

28 And Samuel said unto him, The LORD hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to a neighbour of thine, that is better than thou.

29 And also the Strength of Israel will not lie, nor repent: for he is not a man that he should repent.

30 Then he said, I have sinned: yet honour me now, I pray thee, before the elders of my people, and before Israel, and turn again with me, that I may worship the LORD thy God.

31 So Samuel turned again after Saul; and Saul worshipped the LORD.

32 ¶ Then said Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag the king of the Amalekites. And Agag came unto him delicately. And Agag said, Surely the bitterness of death is past.

33 And Samuel said, As thy sword hath made women childless, so shall thy mother be childless among women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the LORD in Gilgal.

34 ¶ Then Samuel went to Ramah; and Saul went up to his house to Gibeah of Saul.

35 And Samuel came no more to see Saul until the day of his death; nevertheless, Samuel mourned for Saul: and the LORD repented that he had made Saul king over Israel.

C H A P. XVI.

4 Samuel cometh to Beth-lehem.—13 He anointeth David.—19 Saul sendeth for David to quiet his evil spirit.

AND the LORD said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? fill thine horn with oil, and go, I will send thee to Jesse the Beth-lehemite: for I have provided me a king among his sons.

2 And Samuel said, How can I go? if Saul hear it, he will kill me. And the LORD said, Take an heifer with thee, and say, I am come to sacrifice to the LORD.

3 And call Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will shew thee what

6. Saul said unto the Kenites.] They were of the posterity of Jethro, and dwelt among the Amalekites in the rocky part of the country, Numb. 24. 21.

7. Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah until thou comest to Shur:] That is, the whole country of Amalek, Havilah lying at one extremity, and Shur at the other.

9. Saul—spared Agag.] Josephus seems to hint, that Saul saved this king alive, because he was taken with the comeliness and majesty of his person; but others rather think, that he intended him to decorate his triumph.

But every thing that was vile, &c.] Thus they obeyed God only so far as they could without inconvenience to themselves; they destroyed only what was not worth keeping, nor fit for their use.

12. Behold, he set him up a place:] Or, he erected a triumphal arch, having brought Agag with him to make his triumph the greater; which arch probably was in the form of an hand, as the Hebrew word, here translated place, signifies.

19. Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of the Lord?] Who cannot be deceived by thy fair profession of religion, but knows very well that thou didst not seek sacrifice for God, but prey for thyself.

22. To obey is better than sacrifice:] Because obedience to God is a moral duty, constantly and indispensably necessary; but sacrifice is but a ceremonial institution, sometimes unnecessary, as it was in the wilderness; and sometimes sinful, when it is offered by a polluted hand, or in an irregular manner.

No. 21.

29. The Strength of Israel.] The word in the original, which we translate strength, imports victory; and therefore the words should have been rendered, he that giveth victory, or, the triumphant King of Israel.

32. And Agag came unto him delicately:] Or walking in an affected and delicate manner.

The bitterness of death is past:] I, who have escaped death from the hands of a warlike prince in the fury of battle, shall certainly never suffer death from an old prophet in time of peace.

33. Samuel hewed Agag in pieces.] It has been matter of wonder to many, how Samuel could thus slay a captive prince, even in the presence of Saul, who, out of his clemency, had spared him. But it must be remembered, that the death of this prince had been predicted above four hundred years before; that he had been a very bloody tyrant, and therefore was cut off for his own merciless cruelties; and that it does not follow, that Samuel slew Agag himself, because what he commanded might be called his own act, though it were done by the public executioner.

35. Nevertheless, Samuel mourned for Saul:] He had a sincere value for his country, and therefore could not help lamenting the sad condition of its king.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

Verse 1. The Lord said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul?] Since God had so positively told him that the sentence against Saul was irreversible, it was in vain to mourn for him.

what thou shalt do : and thou shalt anoint unto me him whom I name unto thee.

4 And Samuel did that which the LORD spake, and came to Beth-lehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and said, Comest thou peaceably?

5 And he said, Peaceably : I am come to sacrifice unto the LORD ; sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.

6 ¶ And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the LORD's anointed is before him.

7 But the LORD said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature ; because I have refused him : for the LORD seeth not as man seeth ; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the LORD looketh on the heart :

8 Then Jesse called Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, Neither hath the LORD chosen this.

9 Then Jesse made Shammah to pass by. And he said, Neither hath the LORD chosen this.

10 Again, Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, The LORD hath not chosen these.

11 And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children ? and he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him : for we will not sit down till he come hither.

12 And he sent and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look to. And the LORD said, Arise, anoint him ; for this is he.

13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren : and the Spirit of the LORD came upon David from that day forward. So Samuel rose up, and went to Ramah.

14 ¶ But the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the LORD troubled him.

15 And Saul's servants said unto him, Behold, now, an evil spirit from God troubleth thee.

16 Let our lord now command thy servants, which are before thee, to seek out a man who is a cunning player on an harp : and it shall come to pass, when the evil spirit from God is upon thee, that he shall play with his hand, and thou shalt be well.

17 And Saul said unto his servants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 Then answered one of the servants, and said, Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse, the Beth-lehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in matters, and a comely person, and the LORD is with him :

19 ¶ Wherefore Saul sent messengers unto Jesse, and said, Send me David thy son, which is with the sheep.

20 And Jesse took an ass laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and sent them by David his son unto Saul.

21 And David came to Saul, and stood before him ; and he loved him greatly, and he became his armour-bearer.

22 And Saul sent to Jesse, saying, Let David, I pray thee, stand before me : for he hath found favour in my sight.

13. Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren.] It should have been, from the midst of his brethren ; that is, he singled him out from the rest, and privately anointed him. It is not to be supposed that Samuel did then explain the whole mystery of his anointing to David ; which might have had some fatal consequence, had it come to Saul's ears : but as it was usual to anoint men to the office of prophet, as well as to the regal dignity, it is most likely, that he left them to suppose the former ; as David was not much above fifteen years of age, therefore too young to be taken for a warrior. Had his brethren suspected that he had been anointed to the regal dignity, it is not credible they would have used him with such roughness as they did, when their father sent him to them to Saul's camp.

The Spirit of the Lord came upon David.] Hence we see the power of the Almighty, who, by the wonderful efficacy of his Spirit, raised 23 And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand : so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The armies ready for battle.—4 Goliath challengeth the Israelites.—20 David goeth to his brethren.—28 Eliab chideth him :—30 he is brought to Saul :—32 sheweth the reason of his confidence.—49 He slayeth the giant.—55 Saul taketh notice of David.

NOW the Philistines gathered together their armies to battle, and were gathered together at Shochoh, which belongeth to Judah, and pitched between Shochoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim.

2 And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together, and pitched by the valley of Elah, and set the battle in array against the Philistines.

3 And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side : and there was a valley between them.

4 ¶ And there went out a champion out of the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath, of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span.

5 And he had an helmet of brass upon his head, and he was armed with a coat of mail ; and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of brass.

6 And he had greaves of brass upon his legs, and a target of brass between his shoulders.

7 And the staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam ; and his spear's head weighed six hundred shekels of iron : and one bearing a shield went before him.

8 And he stood and cried unto the armies of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come out to set your battle in array ? am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul ? choose you a man for you, and let him come down to me.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants : but if I prevail against him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us.

10 And the Philistine said, I defy the armies of Israel this day : give me a man, that we may fight together.

11 When Saul and all Israel heard those words of the Philistine, they were dismayed, and greatly afraid.

12 ¶ Now David was the son of that Ephrathite of Beth-lehem-judah, whose name was Jesse ; and he had eight sons : and the man went among men for an old man in the days of Saul.

13 And the three eldest sons of Jesse went and followed Saul to the battle : and the names of his three sons that went to the battle were Eliab the first-born, and next unto him Abinadab, and the third Shammah.

14 And David was the youngest : and the three eldest followed Saul.

15 But David went and returned from Saul, to feed his father's sheep at Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philistine drew near morning and evening, and presented himself forty days.

17 And Jesse said unto David his son, Take now for thy brethren an ephah of this parched corn, and these ten loaves, and run to the camp to thy brethren ;

18 And carry these ten cheeses unto the captain of their thousand, and look how thy brethren fare, and take their pledge.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

Verse 4. There went out a champion, &c.] When Joshua drove the Anakims out of Canaan, they retired to Gath, and there propagated a race of giants, of which Goliath was one.

Whose height was six cubits and a span.] According to the English standard, the height of this champion will be twelve feet eight inches.

19 Now Saul, and they, and all the men of Israel, were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines.

20 ¶ And David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and took, and went, as Jesse had commanded him; and he came to the trench, as the host was going forth to the fight, and shouted for the battle.

21 For Israel and the Philistines had put the battle in array, army against army.

22 And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper of the carriage, and ran into the army, and came and saluted his brethren.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, there came up the champion, the Philistine of Gath, Goliath by name, out of the armies of the Philistines, and spake according to the same words: and David heard them.

24 And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him, and were sore afraid.

25 And the men of Israel said, Have ye seen this man that is come up? surely to defy Israel is he come up: and it shall be, that the man who killeth him the king will enrich him with great riches, and will give him his daughter, and make his father's house free in Israel.

26 And David spake to the men that stood by him, saying, What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistine, and taketh away the reproach from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should defy the armies of the living God?

27 And the people answered him after this manner, saying, So shall it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 ¶ And Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men; and Eliab's anger was kindled against David, and he said, Why camest thou down hither? and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride, and the naughtiness of thine heart; for thou art come down that thou mightest see the battle.

29 And David said, What have I now done? Is there not a cause?

30 ¶ And he turned from him toward another, and spake after the same manner: and the people answered him again after the former manner.

31 And when the words were heard which David spake, they rehearsed them before Saul: and he sent for him.

32 ¶ And David said to Saul, Let no man's heart fail because of him; thy servant will go and fight with this Philistine.

33 And Saul said to David, Thou art not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him: for thou art but a youth, and he a man of war from his youth.

34 And David said unto Saul, Thy servant kept his father's sheep, and there came a lion, and a bear, and took a lamb out of the flock:

35 And I went out after him, and smote him, and delivered it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by his beard, and smote him, and slew him.

36 Thy servant slew both the lion and the bear: and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, seeing he hath defied the armies of the living God.

37 David said moreover, The LORD that delivered me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine. And Saul said unto David, Go, and the LORD be with thee.

38 ¶ And Saul armed David with his armour, and he put an helmet of brass upon his head; also he armed him with a coat of mail.

39 And David girded his sword upon his armour, and he assayed to go; for he had not proved it. And David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these; for I have not proved them. And David put them off him.

40 And he took his staff in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of the brook, and put them in a shepherd's bag which he had, even in a scrip; and his sling was in his hand: and he drew near to the Philistine.

41 And the Philistine came on, and drew near unto David; and the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 And when the Philistine looked about, and saw David, he disdained him: for he was but a youth, and ruddy, and of a fair countenance.

43 And the Philistine said unto David, Am I a dog, that thou comest to me with staves? And the Philistine cursed David by his gods.

44 And the Philistine said to David, Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beasts of the field.

45 Then said David to the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield; but I come to thee in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom thou hast defied.

46 This day will the LORD deliver thee into mine hand; and I will smite thee, and take thine head from thee; and I will give the carcases of the host of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the air, and to the wild beasts of the earth; that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel.

47 And all this assembly shall know that the LORD saveth not with sword and spear: for the battle is the LORD's, and he will give you into our hands.

48 And it came to pass, when the Philistine arose, and came and drew nigh to meet David, that David hasted, and ran toward the army to meet the Philistine.

49 And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead, that the stone sunk into his forehead; and he fell upon his face to the earth.

50 So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him; but there was no sword in the hand of David.

51 Therefore David ran, and stood upon the Philistine, and took his sword, and drew it out of the sheath thereof, and slew him, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philistines saw their champion was dead, they fled.

52 ¶ And the men of Israel and of Judah arose, and shouted, and pursued the Philistines, until thou come to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron. And the wounded of the Philistines fell down by the way to Shaaraim, even unto Gath, and unto Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and they spoiled their tents.

54 ¶ And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem; but he put his armour in his tent.

55 ¶ And when Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner, the captain of the host, Abner, whose son is this youth? And Abner said, As thy soul liveth, O king, I cannot tell.

56 And the king said, Enquire thou whose son the stripling is.

57 And as David returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philistine in his hand.

58 And Saul said to him, Whose son art thou, thou young man? And David answered, I am the son of thy servant Jesse the Beth-lehemite.

8. Am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul? i. e. Though I am a chief ruler in Gath, and therefore subject to none, I will condescend to fight with any of Saul's servants.

37. The Lord—will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine. To silence all objections, he declares that he was possessed with a full persuasion, that God would deliver Goliath into his hand, as he had done the lion and the bear; for he felt himself animated by that Spirit which then assisted him.

40. His sling, &c. A weapon, in the management of which some, in these early years, were remarkably dexterous.

42. He disdained him, &c. He contemned him, because he was but a youth, unaccustomed to war.

49. David—smote the Philistine in his forehead. Probably this arrogant champion, in disdain, might advance forward with his helmet turned back, and his forehead bare; or, if his face was covered, David might level the stone so right as to hit the very place in the helmet left open for his adversary's eyes; for we must acknowledge that the stone was directed by the unerring hand of the God of Israel. The Septuagint reads, "The stone broke through his helmet into his forehead."

C H A P. XVIII.

1 Jonathan loveth David.—10 Saul seeketh to kill him in his fury.—12 feareth him for his good success.—17 offereth him his daughter for a snare.—22 David is persuaded to be the king's son-in-law.—28 Saul's hatred and David's glory increaseth.

AND it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his father's house.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul.

4 And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

5 ¶ And David went out whithersoever Saul sent him, and behaved himself wisely: and Saul set him over the men of war, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

6 ¶ And it came to pass, as they came, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, that the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet king Saul, with tabrets, with joy, and with instruments of music.

7 And the women answered one another as they played, and said, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.

8 And Saul was very wroth, and the saying displeased him: and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousands, and to me they have ascribed but thousands: and what can he have more but the kingdom?

9 And Saul eyed David from that day and forward.

10 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that the evil spirit from God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of the house: and David played with his hand, as at other times: and there was a javelin in Saul's hand.

11 And Saul cast the javelin: for he said, I will smite David even to the wall with it. And David avoided out of his presence twice.

12 ¶ And Saul was afraid of David, because the LORD was with him, and was departed from Saul.

13 Therefore Saul removed him from him, and made him his captain over a thousand; and he went out and came in before the people.

14 And David behaved himself wisely in all his ways; and the LORD was with him.

15 Wherefore, when Saul saw that he behaved himself very wisely, he was afraid of him.

16 But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and came in before them.

17 ¶ And Saul said to David, Behold, my elder daughter Merab, her will I give thee to wife: only be thou valiant for me, and fight the LORD's battles: for Saul said, Let not mine hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philistines be upon him.

18 And David said unto Saul, Who am I? and what is my life, or my father's family in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?

19 But it came to pass, at the time when Merab, Saul's daughter, should have been given to David, that she was given unto Adriel the Meholathite to wife.

20 ¶ And Michal, Saul's daughter, loved David: and they told Saul, and the thing pleased him.

21 And Saul said, I will give him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. Wherefore Saul said to David, Thou shalt this day be my son-in-law, in the one of the twain.

22 ¶ And Saul commanded his servants, saying, Commune with David secretly, and say, Behold, the king hath delight in thee, and all his servants love thee: now therefore be the king's son-in-law.

23 And Saul's servants spake those words in the ears of David: and David said, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a king's son-in-law, seeing that I am a poor man, and lightly esteemed?

24 And the servants of Saul told him, saying, On this manner spake David.

25 And Saul said, Thus shall ye say to David, The king desireth not any dowry, but an hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to be avenged of the king's enemies. But Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines.

26 And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well to be the king's son-in-law: and the days were not expired.

27 Wherefore David arose and went, he and his men, and slew of the Philistines two hundred men; and David brought their foreskins, and they gave them in full tale to the king, that he might be the king's son-in-law. And Saul gave him Michal, his daughter, to wife.

28 ¶ And Saul saw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal, Saul's daughter, loved him.

29 And Saul was yet the more afraid of David; and Saul became David's enemy continually.

30 Then the princes of the Philistines went forth: and it came to pass, after they went forth, that David behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul; so that his name was much set by.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

[Verse 7. Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.] This is a triumphal song, or at least the chorus or burden of one, similar to that in Exod. 15. 21. which Miriam and the women sung; which see.

8. Saul was very wroth.] He began to be jealous that they would soon place David on the throne of Israel, as they now so highly magnified him above their king.

25. The king desireth not any dowry, but an hundred foreskins of the Philistines.] The reason of this desire was to prevent all cheat and collusion, and that he might be sure they were only Philistines whom he killed. Had he demanded the heads only of so many men, David might, he thought, cut off those of his own subjects, and bring them instead of the Philistines.

29. Saul became David's enemy continually.] Notwithstanding David had done every thing that Saul requested, yet, instead of being reconciled to him, his hatred increased continually, and every day strengthened the resolution he had taken to destroy him; though he must, at the same time, be sensible that he had God for his friend.

There is an ancient version of these two foregoing chapters, viz. the Vatican, which appears to have been made from an Hebrew copy, which had none of the many verses which are here supposed to be interpolated, and not genuine; which whoever considers, will find the accounts there given regular, consistent, and probable. As the nature of this work requires brevity, suffice it just to enumerate some of the verses that are supposed to be inserted by some transcriber. Those that choose to examine these chapters further, may peruse Mr. Pilkington's excellent Remarks on Passages of Sacred Scripture, p. 62, &c.; Mr. Kennicott's Dissertation, see Index to Texts; and Dr. Wall's Critical Notes. The first passage, which is not translated in the Vatican copy, is no less than twenty verses, viz. from the 11th to the 32d verse of the 17th chapter, which contains an account which, if seriously examined, will not carry much probability along with it. Without these verses, the connection stands thus:—Ver. 11. "When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistines, they were dismayed, and greatly afraid." Ver. 32. "Then David said unto Saul, Let no man's heart fail because of him," &c. No connection can be more proper.—The next passage omitted in the Vatican copy is the 41st verse, though not specified by Mr. Pilkington; and then the 50th, which seems to be a needless recapitulation.—The next interpolation is nine verses, viz. the four last of the 17th chapter, and the five first of the 18th. Leave these out, and the connection is entire, and the whole account consistent. Chap. 17. 54. "David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem; and he put his armour in his tent." Chap. 18. 6. "And as they came, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistines, the women came out," &c.—The other verses of the 18th chapter, which are supposed not to be genuine, are the 9th, 10th, 11th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and the 30th. On the whole, the Vatican copy is looked upon as the genuine translation of this part of David's history. However, whether this be universally allowed or not, it is very remarkable, that the omissions and alterations therein are such as fully clear the whole passage from all manner of inconsistencies, improbabilities, difficulties, and obscurities.

ANNO.

and Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father seeketh to kill thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thyself until the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thyself:

3 And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art, and I will commune with my father of thee; and what I see, that I will tell thee.

4 ¶ And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath not sinned against thee, and because his works have been to thee-ward very good:

5 For he did put his life in his hand, and slew the Philistine, and the LORD wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and didst rejoice; wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?

6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan: and Saul swore, As the LORD liveth, he shall not be slain.

7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan shewed him all those things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as in times past.

8 ¶ And there was war again: and David went out, and fought with the Philistines, and slew them with a great slaughter; and they fled from him.

9 And the evil spirit from the LORD was upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his javelin in his hand: and David played with his hand.

10 And Saul sought to smite David even to the wall with the javelin; but he slipped away out of Saul's presence, and he smote the javelin into the wall: and David fled, and escaped that night.

11 Saul also sent messengers unto David's house to watch him, and to slay him in the morning: and Michal, David's wife, told him, saying, If thou save not thy life to-night, to-morrow thou shalt be slain.

12 ¶ So Michal let David down through a window: and he went, and fled, and escaped.

13 And Michal took an imago, and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow of goats' hair for his bolster, and covered it with a cloth.

14 And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, He is sick.

15 And Saul sent the messengers again to see David, saying, Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may slay him.

16 And when the messengers were come in, behold, there was an image in the bed, with a pillow of goats' hair for his bolster.

17 And Saul said unto Michal, Why hast thou deceived me so, and sent away mine enemy, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go; why should I kill thee?

18 ¶ So David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuel to Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and dwelt in Naioth.

19 And it was told Saul, saying, Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah.

20 And Saul sent messengers to take David: and when they saw the company of the prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as appointed over them, the Spirit of God was upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied.

21 And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likewise. And Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they prophesied also.

22 Then went he also to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu: and he asked and said, Where are Samuel and David? And one said, Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramah.

23 And he went thither to Naioth in Ramah; and the Spirit of God was upon him also, and he went on and prophesied, until he came to Naioth in Ramah.

24 And he stripped off his clothes also, and prophesied before Samuel in like manner, and lay down naked all that day and all that night. Wherefore they say, Is Saul also among the prophets?

CHAP. XX.

1 David consulteth Jonathan.—11 Jonathan and David renew their covenant.—18 Jonathan's token to David.—24 Saul missing David, seeketh to kill Jonathan.

AND David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and said before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity, and what is my sin before thy father, that he seeketh my life?

2 And he said unto him, God forbid; thou shalt not die: behold, my father will do nothing, either great or small, but that he will shew it me: and why should my father hide this thing from me? it is not so.

3 And David swore moreover, and said, Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes; and he saith, Let not Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved: but truly, as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, there is but a step between me and death.

4 Then said Jonathan unto David, Whatsoever thy soul desireth, I will even do it for thee.

5 And David said unto Jonathan, Behold, to-morrow is the new-moon, and I should not fail to sit with the king at meat: but let me go, that I may hide myself in the field unto the third day at even.

6 If thy father at all miss me, then say, David earnestly asked leave of me, that he might run to Beth-lehem his city; for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the family.

7 If he say thus, It is well; thy servant shall have peace: but if he be very wroth, then be sure that evil is determined by him.

8 Therefore thou shalt deal kindly with thy servant; for thou hast brought thy servant into a covenant of the LORD with thee; notwithstanding, if there be in me iniquity, slay me thyself; for why shouldst thou bring me to thy father?

9 And Jonathan said, Far be it from thee: for if I knew certainly, that evil were determined by my father to come upon thee, then would not I tell it thee?

10 Then said David to Jonathan, Who shall tell me? or what if thy father answer thee roughly?

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

Verse 6. Saul swore, As the Lord liveth, he shall not be slain, &c.] Probably he spake the real intentions of his mind at this time; though it does not appear that this alteration proceeded from any affection he bore to David, but from a sense of his own ingratitude, in endeavouring to destroy a person that had done him so many services: but he soon forgot his promise, and relapsed into his former hatred.

17. Why should I kill thee?] If thou dost not permit me to escape without discovery, I shall be forced for my own defence to kill thee. Though it is most likely this was a lie, and a fiction of her own.

20. Saul sent messengers to take David.] His implacable hatred had obliterated all respect and reverence for Samuel, under whose protection David now was, and for the college of the prophets, which was considered as a kind of asylum for those who fled to it.

They also prophesied:] i. e. They praised God in hymns, which the prophets composed and sang to them.

23. And the Spirit of God was upon him also.] It came upon him in the way; whereas it came not upon his messengers till they came to the place. Whereby God would convince Saul of the vanity of all his designs against David, and that in them he fought against God himself.

24. And he stripped off his clothes:] To wit, his military or royal garments; which he did, either that he might suit himself and his habit to the rest of the company; or, because his mind, being altogether taken up with divine things, he did not understand nor heed what he did.

And lay down naked:] i. e. Stript of his upper garments, as was said before, and as the word naked is often used, as Isa. 20. 2. Mic. 1. 8, &c.

Is Saul also among the prophets?] The same proverb which was taken up upon a like occasion, 1 Sam. 10. 12. is here remembered and revived.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XX.

Verse 1. David fled from Naioth in Ramah, &c.] While Saul was in his ecstasy, David had an opportunity of escaping, and immediately went to his friend Jonathan.

5. To-morrow is the new-moon, and I should not fail to sit with the king at meat.] The Israelites performed solemn sacrifices every new-moon, and after the sacrifices feasted together; and David, being one of the king's family, by marrying his daughter, used to eat with them on these occasions; and he thought that Saul, by being inspired by the Spirit of God at Naioth, might possibly have forgot his anger, and make a favourable enquiry after him. From this passage it is plain, that sitting at a table was a more ancient custom than either lying or leaning at meat. The Egyptians and the Hebrews sat at table at Joseph's entertainment, Gen. 43. 33.

11 ¶ And Jonathan said unto David, Come, and let us go out into the field. And they went out both of them into the field.

12 And Jonathan said unto David, O LORD God of Israel, when I have sounded my father, about to-morrow any time, or the third day, and, behold, if there be good toward David, and I then send not unto thee, and shew it thee;

13 The LORD do so and much more to Jonathan: but if it please my father to do thee evil, then I will shew it thee, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace: and the LORD be with thee, as he hath been with my father.

14 And thou shalt not only, while yet I live, shew me the kindness of the LORD, that I die not:

15 But also thou shalt not cut off thy kindness from my house for ever: no, not when the LORD hath cut off the enemies of David, every one from the face of the earth.

16 So Jonathan made a covenant with the house of David, saying, Let the LORD even require it at the hand of David's enemies.

17 And Jonathan caused David to swear again, because he loved him: for he loved him as he loved his own soul.

18 Then Jonathan said to David, To-morrow is the new-moon: and thou shalt be missed, because thy seat will be empty.

19 And when thou hast stayed three days, then thou shalt go down quickly, and come to the place where thou didst hide thyself when the business was in hand, and shalt remain by the stone Ezel.

20 And I will shoot three arrows on the side thereof, as though I shot at a mark.

21 And, behold, I will send a lad, saying, Go, find out the arrows. If I expressly say unto the lad, Behold, the arrows are on this side of thee, take them; then come thou: for there is peace to thee, and no hurt; as the LORD liveth.

22 But if I say thus unto the young man, Behold, the arrows are beyond thee: go thy way, for the LORD hath sent thee away.

23 And as touching the matter which thou and I have spoken of, behold, the LORD be between thee and me for ever.

24 ¶ So David hid himself in the field: and when the new-moon was come, the king sat him down to eat meat.

25 And the king sat upon his seat, as at other times, even upon a seat by the wall: and Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Saul's side, and David's place was empty.

26 Nevertheless Saul spake not any thing that day: for he thought, Something hath befallen him; he is not clean; surely he is not clean.

27 And it came to pass on the morrow, which was the second day of the month, that David's place was empty: and Saul said unto Jonathan his son, Wherefore cometh not the son of Jesse to meat, neither yesterday nor to day?

28 And Jonathan answered Saul, David earnestly asked leave of me to go to Beth-lehem:

29 And he said, Let me go, I pray thee; for our family hath a sacrifice in the city; and my brother, he hath commanded me to be there: and now, if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me get away, I pray thee, and see my brethren. Therefore he cometh not unto the king's table.

33. Saul cast a javelin at him to smite him.] Saul's fury was so great that he regarded not what he did. If it be asked, how it happened that Saul had always a javelin or spear at hand to execute his evil purposes? It may be answered, that spears were the sceptres of those ages, which kings always carried in their hands.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

Verse 1. Then came David to Nob.] It is evident, from chap. 22. 19. that this was a sacerdotal city: it is generally thought to have stood not far from Gibeah.

30 Then Saul's anger was kindled against Jonathan, and he said unto him, Thou son of the perverse rebellious woman, do not I know that thou hast chosen the son of Jesse to thine own confusion, and unto the confusion of thy mother's nakedness?

31 For as long as the son of Jesse liveth upon the ground, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom: wherefore now send and fetch him unto me, for he shall surely die.

32 And Jonathan answered Saul his father, and said unto him, Wherefore shall he be slain? what hath he done?

33 And Saul cast a javelin at him to smite him: where- by Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to slay David.

34 So Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no meat the second day of the month: for he was grieved for David, because his father had done him shame.

35 ¶ And it came to pass in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field, at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him.

36 And he said unto his lad, Run, find out now the arrows which I shoot. And as the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him.

37 And when the lad was come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

38 And Jonathan cried after the lad, Make speed, haste, stay not. And Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows, and came to his master.

39 But the lad knew not any thing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40 And Jonathan gave his artillery unto his lad, and said unto him, Go, carry them to the city.

41 ¶ And as soon as the lad was gone, David arose out of a place toward the south, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times: and they kissed one another, and wept one with another, until David exceeded.

42 And Jonathan said to David, Go in peace, forasmuch as we have sworn both of us in the name of the LORD, saying, The LORD be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed for ever. And he arose and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

1 David obtaineth of Ahimelech hallowed bread.—8 Taketh Goliath's sword.—10 Feigneth himself mad at Gath.

THEN came David to Nob, to Ahimelech the priest: and Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David, and said unto him, Why art thou alone, and no man with thee?

2 And David said unto Ahimelech the priest, The king hath commanded me a business, and hath said unto me, Let no man know any thing of the business, where- about I send thee, and what I have commanded thee: and I have appointed my servants to such and such a place.

3 Now, therefore, what is under thine hand? give me five loaves of bread in mine hand, or what there is present.

4 And the priest answered David, and said, There is no common bread under mine hand; but there is hal- lowed bread, if the young men have kept themselves at least from women.

5 And

To Ahimelech the priest:] To wit, the chief priest, brother to that Ahiah, chap. 14. 3. and, he being now dead, his successor in the priest- hood; for they were both sons of Ahitub, 1 Sam. 14. 3. and 22. 11. Doubtless his intention of coming hither was to recommend both him- self and cause to God, and to beg his advice and protection.

And Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David:] Suspecting some extraordinary cause of his coming in such a manner, and fearing the worst, as men usually do in such cases.

2. The king hath commanded me a business.] This seems to be a plain lie, extorted from him by fear and necessity. Whence David afterwards declares his repentance for this sin of lying, Psa. 119. 29.

5 And David answered the priest, and said unto him, Of a truth women have been kept from us about these three days, since I came out, and the vessels of the young men are holy, and the bread is in a manner common, yea, though it were sanctified this day in the vessel.

6 So the priest gave him hallowed bread: for there was no bread there, but the shew-bread that was taken from before the LORD, to put hot bread in the day when it was taken away.

7 Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the LORD; and his name was Doeg, an Edomite, the chiefest of the herdmen that belonged to Saul.

8 ¶ And David said unto Ahimelech, And is there not here under thine hand spear or sword? for I have neither brought my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king's business required haste.

9 And the priest said, The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom thou slewest in the valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod: if thou wilt take that, take it; for there is no other save that here. And David said, There is none like that; give it me.

10 ¶ And David arose, and fled that day for fear of Saul, and went to Achish the king of Gath.

11 And the servants of Achish said unto him, Is not this David the king of the land? did they not sing one to another of him in dances, saying, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands?

12 And David laid up these words in his heart, and was sore afraid of Achish the king of Gath.

13 And he changed his behaviour before them, and feigned himself mad in their hands, and scrabbled on the doors of the gate, and let his spittle fall down upon his beard.

14 Then said Achish unto his servants, Lo, ye see the man is mad: wherefore then have ye brought him to me?

15 Have I need of mad-men, that ye have brought this fellow to play the mad-man in my presence: shall this fellow come into my house?

C H A P. XXII.

1 Companies resort unto David at Adullam.—6 Saul going to pursue him, complaineth of his servants.

DAVID therefore departed thence, and escaped to the cave Adullam: and when his brethren and all his father's house heard it, they went down thither to him.

2 And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him, and he became a captain over them: and there were with him about four hundred men.

3 ¶ And David went thence to Mizpeh of Moab: and he said unto the king of Moab, Let my father and my mother, I pray thee, come forth, and be with you, till I know what God will do for me.

4 And he brought them before the king of Moab: and they dwelt with him all the while that David was in the hold.

6. The priest gave him hallowed bread, &c.] Neither Ahimelech nor David committed any sin; for invincible necessity dispensed with all the ritual laws, as the Jews themselves confess.

7. Detained before the Lord.] Not by force from others, but by his own choice. He fixed his abode there for that day, either because it was the sabbath-day, on which he might not proceed in his journey, or other business; or for the discharge of some vow.

10. And went to Achish the king of Gath.] It may be asked, Why did he go to the Philistines, who were the inveterate enemies of the Israelites, and not to some other neighbouring nation? It is answered, That all these nations were at peace with Saul, and therefore would have delivered him up upon Saul's demanding him; whereas it was natural for the Philistines to protect one who was at variance with Saul, their common enemy.

11. Is not this David the king?] Perhaps they heard of his being designed to be king instead of Saul.

5 ¶ And the prophet Gad said unto David, Abide not in the hold; depart, and get thee into the land of Judah. Then David departed, and came into the forest of Hareth.

6 ¶ When Saul heard that David was discovered, and the men that were with him; (now Saul abode in Gibeah under a tree in Ramah, having his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him;)

7 Then Saul said unto his servants that stood about him, Hear now, ye Benjamites; will the son of Jesse give every one of you fields and vineyards, and make you all captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds;

8 That all of you have conspired against me, and there is none that sheweth me that my son hath made a league with the son of Jesse, and there is none of you that is sorry for me, or sheweth unto me that my son hath stirred up my servant against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

9 ¶ Then answered Doeg the Edomite (which was set over the servants of Saul) and said, I saw the son of Jesse coming to Nob, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitub.

10 And he enquired of the LORD for him: and gave him victuals, and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine.

11 Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, the priests that were in Nob: and they came all of them to the king.

12 And Saul said, Hear now, thou son of Ahitub: and he answered, Hear I am, my lord.

13 And Saul said unto him, Why have ye conspired against me, thou and the son of Jesse, in that thou hast given him bread, and a sword, and hast enquired of God for him, that he should rise against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

14 Then Ahimelech answered the king, and said, And who is so faithful among all thy servants as David, which is the king's son-in-law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is honourable in thine house?

15 Did I then begin to enquire of God for him? be it far from me: let not the king impute any thing unto his servant, nor to all the house of my father: for thy servant knew nothing of all this, less or more.

16 And the king said, Thou shalt surely die, Ahimelech, thou, and all thy father's house.

17 ¶ And the king said unto the footmen that stood about him, Turn, and slay the priests of the LORD; because their hand also is with David, and because they knew when he fled, and did not shew it to me. But the servants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the priests of the LORD.

18 And the king said to Doeg, Turn thou, and fall upon the priests. And Doeg the Edomite turned, and he fell upon the priests, and slew on that day fourscore and five persons that did wear a linen ephod.

19 And Nob, the city of the priests, smote he with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and sucklings, and oxen, and asses, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.

20 ¶ And one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Abitub, named Abiathar, escaped and fled after David.

21 And Abiathar shewed David that Saul had slain the LORD's priests.

22 And David said unto Abiathar, I knew it that day, when tribe of Judah, of considerable note; and near it was a rock of the same name, in which was a cave naturally strong, and well fortified, and here David retreated. Most of the mountains of Palestine were full of caverns, whither the inhabitants of the villages generally retired for safety in time of war.

6. Saul abode—under a tree in Ramah, having his spear in his hand;] Or, Under a grove in a high place, having a sceptre in his hand.

16. Thou shalt surely die, Ahimelech.] Ahimelech could not be considered as guilty, since he did not know that David was flying from the king, but imagined he was sent on some business of public concern.

18. Slew—fourscore and five persons.] This act of abominable cruelty in Saul did yet fulfil a purpose of God against Eli's house; and so Josephus applies it. The Septuagint makes the number slain 305, and Josephus 385.

19. Nob, the city of the priests.] His fury transported him to deal worse with his own people than he had done with the Amalekites, merely to deter them from giving any assistance to David.

1 David rescueth Keilah.—7 God shewing him the coming of Saul, he escapeth from Keilah.—14 In Ziph Jonathan comforteth him.—19 The Ziphites discover him to Saul.—25 At Maon he is rescued from Saul.

THEN they told David, saying, Behold, the Philistines fight against Keilah, and they rob the threshing-floors.

2 Therefore David enquired of the LORD, saying, Shall I go and smite these Philistines? And the LORD said unto David, Go, and smite the Philistines, and save Keilah.

3 And David's men said unto him, Behold, we be afraid here in Judah: how much more then if we come to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?

4 Then David enquired of the LORD yet again. And the LORD answered him, and said, Arise, go down to Keilah; for I will deliver the Philistines into thine hand.

5 So David and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philistines, and brought away their cattle, and smote them with a great slaughter. So David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 And it came to pass, when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah, that he came down with an ephod in his hand.

7 ¶ And it was told Saul that David was come to Keilah. And Saul said, God hath delivered him into mine hand; for he is shut in, by entering into a town that hath gates and bars.

8 And Saul called all the people together to war, to go down to Keilah, to besiege David and his men.

9 ¶ And David knew that Saul secretly practised mischief against him; and he said to Abiathar the priest, Bring hither the ephod.

10 Then said David, O LORD God of Israel, thy servant hath certainly heard that Saul seeketh to come to Keilah, to destroy the city for my sake.

11 Will the men of Keilah deliver me up into his hand? will Saul come down, as thy servant hath heard? O LORD God of Israel, I beseech thee, tell thy servant. And the LORD said, He will come down.

12 Then said David, Will the men of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul? and the LORD said, They will deliver thee up.

13 ¶ Then David and his men, which were about six hundred, arose and departed out of Keilah, and went whithersoever they could go. And it was told Saul that David was escaped from Keilah; and he forbore to go forth.

14 And David abode in the wilderness in strong holds, and remained in a mountain in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul sought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hand.

15 And David saw that Saul was come out to seek his life: and David was in the wilderness of Ziph in a wood.

ANNOTATIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

Verse 1. Then they told David, saying, Behold, the Philistines fight against Keilah.] It is natural to suppose, that David undertook this expedition purely to shew the value he had for his country, and convince the Israelites how serviceable he could be to them, provided he was again restored to his dignity.

They rob the threshing-floors;] Which usually were without the cities, in places open to the wind.

6. He came down with an ephod in his hand;] Or, with the ephod, to wit, the high-priest's ephod, in which were the Urim and the Thummim, which, when Ahimelech and the rest of the priests went to Saul, were probably left in his hand, and to his care; which gave him the opportunity both of escaping, whilst Doeg the butcher was killing his brethren, and of bringing away the ephod, which Saul had often grossly neglected, and now was justly deprived of.

16 And Jonathan, Saul's son, arose and went to David into the wood, and strengthened his hand in God.

17 And he said unto him, Fear not: for the hand of Saul my father shall not find thee; and thou shalt be king over Israel, and I shall be next unto thee; and that also Saul my father knoweth.

18 And they two made a covenant before the LORD: and David abode in the wood, and Jonathan went to his house.

19 ¶ Then came up the Ziphites to Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doth not David hide himself with us in strong holds in the wood, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the south of Jeshimon?

20 Now, therefore, O king, come down, according to all the desire of thy soul to come down; and our part shall be to deliver him into the king's hand.

21 And Saul said, Blessed be ye of the LORD; for ye have compassion on me:

22 Go, I pray you, prepare yet, and know and see his place where his haunt is, and who hath seen him there: for it is told me, that he dealeth very subtly.

23 See therefore, and take knowledge of all the lurking-places where he hideth himself, and come ye again to me with the certainty, and I will go with you: and it shall come to pass, if he be in the land, that I will search him out throughout all the thousands of Judah.

24 And they arose, and went to Ziph before Saul: but David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the plain on the south of Jeshimon.

25 Saul also and his men went to seek him. And they told David: wherefore he came down into a rock, and abode in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he pursued after David in the wilderness of Maon.

26 And Saul went on this side of the mountain, and David and his men on that side of the mountain: and David made haste to get away, for fear of Saul; for Saul and his men compassed David and his men round about to take them.

27 ¶ But there came a messenger unto Saul, saying, Haste thee, and come: for the Philistines have invaded the land.

28 Wherefore Saul returned from pursuing after David, and went against the Philistines: therefore they called that place Sela-hammah-lekoth.

29 ¶ And David went up from thence, and dwelt in strong holds at En-gedi.

And Saul went in to cover his feet;] i. e. To sleep. The eastern, and some other nations of old, wore no breeches; in place of which they had loose short coats, (such as are used in the Highlands of Scotland to this day,) their feet and legs being in a great part uncovered: when therefore they were to sleep in their garments, it was necessary to cover their feet, not only to prevent the inconveniences of cold, but likewise for the sake of decency, see Gen. 9. 21. Thus we read that Boaz's feet was covered when he lay down to sleep in the threshing-floor, Ruth 3. 4—7. Hence it became a common phrase, when a person was going to sleep, that he went to cover his feet.

8. David day of which the LORD said unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, that thou mayest do to him as it shall seem good unto thee. Then David arose, and cut off the skirt of Saul's robe privily.

5 And it came to pass afterward, that David's heart smote him, because he had cut off Saul's skirt.

6 And he said unto his men, The LORD forbid that I should do this thing unto my master the LORD's anointed, to stretch forth mine hand against him, seeing he is the anointed of the LORD.

7 So David stayed his servants with these words, and suffered them not to rise against Saul: but Saul rose up out of the cave, and went on his way.

8 ¶ David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David stooped with his face to the earth, and bowed himself.

9 And David said to Saul, Wherefore hearest thou men's words, saying, Behold, David seeketh thy hurt?

10 Behold, this day thine eyes have seen how that the LORD had delivered thee to-day into mine hand in the cave: and some bade me kill thee; but mine eye spared thee: and I said, I will not put forth mine hand against my lord; for he is the LORD's anointed.

11 Moreover, my father, see; yea, see the skirt of thy robe in my hand: for in that I cut off the skirt of thy robe, and killed thee not, know thou and see, that there is nither evil nor transgression in mine hand, and I have not sinned against thee; yet thou huntest my soul to take it.

12 The LORD judge between me and thee, and the LORD avenge me of thee: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.

13 As saith the proverb of the ancients, Wickedness proceedeth from the wicked: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.

14 After whom is the king of Israel come out? after whom dost thou pursue? after a dead dog, after a flea?

15 The LORD therefore be judge, and judge between me and thee, and see, and plead my cause, and deliver me out of thine hand.

16 ¶ And it came to pass, when David had made an end of speaking these words unto Saul, that Saul said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And Saul lifted up his voice, and wept.

17 And he said to David, Thou art more righteous than I: for thou hast rewarded me good, whereas I have rewarded thee evil.

18 And thou hast shewed this day how that thou hast dealt well with me: forasmuch as, when the LORD had delivered me into thine hand, thou killedst me not.

19 For if a man find his enemy, will he let him go well away? wherefore the LORD reward thee good for that thou hast done unto me this day.

20 And now, behold, I know well that thou shalt surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in thine hand.

21 Swear now therefore unto me by the LORD, that thou wilt not cut off my seed after me, and that thou wilt not destroy my name out of my father's house.

22 And David sware unto Saul: and Saul went home; but David and his men gat them up unto the hold.

8. David—cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king.] A bold attempt, to venture into the presence of an enraged enemy!—but his innocence and confidence in God animated him, especially as he had now in his hand so strong an evidence of his integrity.

14. Dost thou pursue—a dead dog—a flea? He represents himself as contemptible as possible, that he might convince Saul it was not for his honour to kill him. Shall a king triumph over a dog, or a lion hunt a flea?

22. David sware unto Saul.] It has been asked how David, after his solemn promise, could slay so many of his sons, as mentioned, 2 Sam. 21. 8. To this it may be answered, that the promise or oath made by David to Saul could only be conditional; for, if any of Saul's family had joined in rebellion, they would, notwithstanding this oath, have become obnoxious to the sword of justice. Besides, this execution was done at the desire of the Gibeonites, to whom God himself had promised that satisfaction should be made for Saul's bloody endeavours to destroy them.

1 Samuel dieth.—2 David in Paran sendeth to Nabal:—10 Nabal's churlishness.—18 Abigail taketh a present,—23 and by her wisdom,—32 pacifieth David.—36 Nabal dieth.—39 David taketh Abigail and Abinoam to be his wives.

AND Samuel died; and all the Israelites were gathered together, and lamented him, and buried him in his house at Ramah. And David arose, and went down to the wilderness of Paran.

2 And there was a man in Maon, whose possessions were in Carmel; and the man was very great, and he had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats: and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.

3 Now the name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail: and she was a woman of good understanding, and of a beautiful countenance: but the man was churlish and evil in his doings; and he was of the house of Caleb.

4 ¶ And David heard in the wilderness, that Nabal did shear his sheep.

5 And David sent out ten young men; and David said unto the young men, Get ye up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and greet him in my name:

6 And thus shall ye say to him that liveth in prosperity, Peace be both to thee, and peace be to thine house, and peace be unto all that thou hast.

7 And now I have heard that thou hast shearers: now thy shepherds which were with us, we hurt them not, neither was there ought missing unto them, all the while they were in Carmel.

8 Ask thy young men, and they will shew thee. Wherefore let the young men find favour in thine eyes: for we come in a good day: give, I pray thee, whatsoever cometh to thine hand, unto thy servants, and to thy son David.

9 And when David's young men came, they spake to Nabal according to all those words in the name of David, and ceased.

10 ¶ And Nabal answered David's servants, and said, Who is David? and who is the son of Jesse? there be many servants now-a-days that break away every man from his master.

11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it unto men whom I know not whence they be?

12 So David's young men turned their way, and went again, and came and told him all those sayings.

13 And David said unto his men, Gird ye on every man his sword. And they girded on every man his sword; and David also girded on his sword: and there went up after David about four hundred men; and two hundred abode by the stuff.

14 ¶ But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to salute our master; and he railed on them.

15 But the men were very good unto us, and we were not hurt, neither missed we any thing as long as we were conversant with them, when we were in the fields:

16 They were a wall unto us both by night and day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep.
